Chinese Spies Charged With Stealing Japan Secret Data

TOKYO (UPI) - A Chinese spy ring in Tokyo apparently obtained thousands of secret documents from Japan's Defense Facilities Agency over a period of 10 years, police said today.

An intensive investigation to determine the source of the leaks was under way. The Yomiuri newspaper of Tokyo, which broke the story on its front page today, said some stolen documents were reports on missile research and troop deployments in the Japanese islands.

She's An 'Ambassador' For Her Dad

By DONNA ESTES Herald Staff Writer

"Dad thinks it's great having the kids involved. We're loyal and we're cheap," said Nancy Eckerd, 20-year- old Wheaton College, Massachusetts, student daughter of GOP gubernatorial candidate Jack Eckerd, during a visit to Seminole County. Traveling with a girlfriend who is a student at Florida State University (FSU) to coordinate "Young Floridians for Eckerd," Miss Eckerd said her job is to give her father input on the needs and concerns of the young people of the state.

"I'm doing a lot of legwork for dad. I'm being an ambassador for dad and Paula (Hawkins, Eckerd's running mate). I stop by the campaign headquarters in each county to listen and find out what the biggest problems are in every county, what the people are mad about. When dad comes into the county then he has a knowledge of what's on people's minds," she said. Miss Eckerd, last Christmas took a one-year leave of absence

In her campaigning, she has visited 50 to 60 of Florida's counties. "When this is over I will take another swing and see it all again," she said.

Her schedule calls for her to be on the road for two weeks and then go home to rest for one week. She does her laundry on the road, taking with her on her trips only simple wash and wear clothing. "Before I start each trip I manage to get out of the house with a couple of mother's things," she said.

There's no romance in Nancy's life at this point. "It's hard to find someone who wants to put up with the schedule of someone involved in politics," she said.

Miss Eckerd said her father doesn't give her guidelines on what she should and should not say during her campaigning. "But if I say something wrong, he finds out. I do not discuss his position on the issues," she said.

"Not enough young people are voting," she said, noting apathy is part of the problem and "Watergate didn't help. This year it is going to be different.

The Psychology Of The Dollar

Even though economic developments ordinarily make dull reading for many, the spectacular plunge of the U.S. dollar against foreign currencies, especially the Japanese yen, is sufficiently serious to alarm and arouse the nation. For the first time in history, the U.S. dollar fell below the psychologically important 200-yen level on the Tokyo foreign exchange market despite massive support by the Bank of Japan, which purchased $500 million from panicky dollar sellers. The dollar stood at 199.4 July 24, and continued downwart to 188.70 on Friday. No one can be sure where it will bottom out.

The ominous meaning of this shrinkage in our monetary value becomes clear in the light of the yen-dollar ratio of 270 only a year ago. Why is this happening?

What does it mean? The immediate cause is psychological.

On July 22, a group of economic experts from the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries agreed the weakening U.S. dollar should be replaced by a basket of currencies as the world's oil pricing unit.

This was an alarming development for traders and financiers in Japan, German and Switzerland who collectively hold more surplus dollars then even the OPEC nations, according to the Treasury

With the Arabs seeking to unload dollars, our chief trading partners fear heavy losses from a depreciation of U.S. money they hold.

But Arabs, Japanese and Europeans alike have become more skittish since the Bonn economic summit conference in mid-July because they see nlittle chance that President Carter will, or can, ⁴make good on his general promise to strengthen the "dollar by reducing inflation and U.S. oil imports. It is the chronic weakness of the dollar that makes it so vulnerable to adverse psychology.

More than $270 billion has piled up in European banks alone — not counting what the Arabs and nese hold - because the United States is buying so much more than it is able to sell abroad. Oversupply, under economic law as inexorable as the law of gravity, means a loss of value — 30 percent devaluation of the dollar against the yen in only 18 months.

What the yen-dollar crisis means, according to aTreasury Secretary Michael Blumenthal, is a boost for the U.S. economy.

This Pollyanna reaction of the administration is not without some truth because cheapened U.S. exports will be easier to sell abroad and more expensive imports will be more difficult to buy

But Mr. Blumenthal's rosy reaction ignores the darker significance of the dollar's fall; it's like hailing cancer as a quick way of losing excess

The darker side is that the dollar, the measure of U.S. economic strength, is weak and getting weaker because of our material gluttony and our

The Europeans sum up our problem by observing that we insist on keeping our airconditioned homes cooler in the summer than in the

We're unwilling to make the necessary sacrifices in energy consumption - not even observing the 55-mph speed limit.

Congress and the administration are as unable to reduce the $65 billion federal deficit as they are unable to increase U.S. energy production and reduce its consumption by deregulating petroleum and natural gas prices.

The worst of it is that our profligacy is threatening the Free World's economy, which has been tied closely to the dollar since World War II. Unless we accept the remedies that are so clearly indicated, namely balancing our budget and our foreign trade, we could drag the other industrial democracies down with us.

Lower Deficits; No Relief

WASHINGTON - Regardless of what liberal economists may argue, most Americans are firmly convinced that big federal deficits are a prime contributor to inflation.

President Carter is now responding to that perception, putting the screws on Congress and his own department heads to hold down federal

His crusade will no doubt draw cheers in most quarters, but there is another element to the deficit crackdown that may not prove so popular. That is a conscious administration decision to abandon any further tax reductions beyond the modest cuts Congress is likely to enact this year.

With a big Social Security tax increase kicking in next year, and inflation driving all wage-earners into higher income tax brackets, the practical effect of Carter's decision will be to rease the total federal tax burden on a majority of Americans.

James McIntyre, Carter's director of the Office of Management and Budget, confirmed in an interview last week that "current policy" precludes any new tax relief in the fiscal 1980 WASHINGTON WORLD budget the president will send to Congress in

The primary emphasis, McIntyre indicated, will be on reducing the deficit - a goal which could not be achieved if revenues drop. The federal deficit reached its all-time peak of $66.4 billion in fiscal 1976, under the Ford Administration. The fiscal 1977 budget, after a transitional quarter in which the government shifted the starting date of the fiscal year from July 1 to October 1, carried a deficit of $45 billion.

When the Carter administration took office, unemployment was the leading economic problem and stimulus policies were the order of the day. Although the president originally estimated that the deficit for the current fiscal year (1978) would be almost $62 billion, it is now expected to wind up at $51.1 billion.

Most of the drop is due to spending "shortfalls" by government agencies, although some is attributable to cost-cutting. For fiscal 1979, which begins on October 1, the administration is in the $35 to $40 billion range for fiscal 1980, and shortly afterwards he called in a group of key still is.

"We're very serious about a tight budget for 1980," McIntyre said. "The size of the deficit has a tremendous psychological impact. The American people feel deficit spending does have a significant effect on inflation, so we've got to

Meanwhile, the Carter administration's spiteyour-nose-to-cut-off-your-face policy on human rights accred another "victory." Red Cross Advice: Ride Out The Hurricane Safely

Of course, hurricanes do not respect age

- or geography. Two years ago, we left our south Florida home in the height of the hurricane season to visit our family in New York City. Florida was spared from the hurricane, but New York took quite a battering. Our children even had to be evacuated from their nearby summer beach house. We can't do anything to prevent violent weather. But we can take steps to insure operated radio, flashlights, extra batwe will be as safe and comfortable as teries, extra flashlight bulbs (something I possible if a hurricane strikes. Who's Vandalizing?

I have long wondered about the water meters in Sanford. Our defective water meters have been changed four times in the past two and a half years. At least one of these was "vandalized" by a city employee who was trying to read it. Water meters are a problem, and expensive; however, I see two serious drawbacks to the solution proposed by citizens, who can barely pay their regular utility bills, would be adversely affected, as they lack the financial and physical resources to fight city hall. I hope that the city commission will not approve such regulations as this, which would be a detriment to our city's growth, as well as to the current residents. The team of Sanford all-stars will be vying for the first state championship in baseball for Sanford. The squad was runner-ups in the 1973

They play their first game Monday at 2 p.m. at James Messer Park against the Southwest Miami Boys Club, winners of the district eight tournament. West Palm Beach is the defending champion in the eight-team, doubleelimination tournament.

Freddie Howard, who hit for a .467 average in the district tournament in addition to pitching a no-hitter, will start on the mound for the Sanford squad. Howard had 29 strikeouts in his two district tournament victories and as lead-off hitter tripled to open the final two Tracy Walker, who had a one-hitter in that district tournament, is set to start the second game in Tallahassee.

Brett Von Herbulis, who hit for a .357 average in the district tournament, will bat second and play left field. Tony Little, the team's third starting pitcher, will bat third and play third base. Chip Saunders, who hit for a .400 average and struckout only once in the district tournament, will bat cleanup and play second Little, Saunders and Bernard Merthie, who will alternate at first base, played freshman ball at Crooms High School this year. Saunders was the team's top hitter with a .460

Merthie will alternate at first base with Eugene Rogero, who led the team with 18 putouts in the district tournament. Kevin Driscoll, who hit for .375 in the district tourney, will start in center field and bat fifth.

Jimmy Johnson and Bobby Bridges will alternate at catcher. Bridges was a replacement for the injured Johnson in the district tournament and came through with a .333 average and a pair of RBIs.

Right field is open and decision on who will start will be made in Tallahassee, according to assistant coach Gary Taylor.

The remainder of the squad includes: Jimmy Williams, Steve Sensakovic, Greg Register, John Polk, Bo Graham, Vernon Law

ATLANTA (UPI) - Hank Aaron, who has been there, says if Pete Rose had asked him for one piece of advice, he'd have told him to "be prepared for a letdown.

"It's like someone sticking a pin in a balloon," recalled Aaron. "He knew he was right there. I don't know that anyone else in our era will have a 44-game hitting streak.

"Pete's going to relive that one pitch (the strikeout pitch that ended the streak) over and over in his mind. He's got to forget Aaron feels that the pressure on Rose "was more intense on a game to game basis" than it was on him while he was chasing Babe Ruth's home run record. "Mine lasted longer," said Aaron. "But, I knew that it was just a matter of time before I'd break Ruth's record. That is, if I didn't break a leg or an arm or somebody knocked an eye out. "Pete didn't have time on his side. He had to get a hit every game. The pressure had to be building when he was 0-and-2 or 0and-I and not knowing if he would get another pitch he could hit." Aaron said the greatest pressure on him came in the months

"In a way, it was pressure I put on myself," said Aaron. "I could have broken the record in 73. It would have been no problem getting a couple more home runs, but I stuck to my plan of not playing but so many nights in a row, of not playing in a day the privilege of including the spitter and other doctored deliveries. But modern pitching is better because of two factors: 1.) the development of the slider, a cross between a fast ball and a curve, whose chief apostle has been pitching tutor John Sain, and 2) the trend to young, hard-throwing relief pitchers coming at the batters in waves as managers are no longer reluctant to yank tired starters.

Q. So many baseball injuries seem to occur in collisions between a russer and the exteher at home plate. Is it legal for the exteher to block home plate before the ball arrives?- T.J.,

No, according to the rule book. Rule 2.00 states specifically:

Obstruction is the act of a fielder who, while not in possession of the ball and not in the act of fielding the ball, impedes the progress of any runner." But in practice, unpires have overlooked catchers blocking home plate before the ball arrives. just as they wink at the pivot men not touching second base on double plays. Aaron said the pressure on Pete Rose in his effort to catch Joe DiMaggio had to be more intense than that on DiMaggio after the "Yankee Clipper" got past game 45 in his 56-game hitting streak. "You've got to remember," said Aaron. "Once past Keeler, Joe DiMaggio was not chasing anyone's record."

Aaron said he told his wife the night before Rose's streak ended that the Reds third baseman "just might lose his streak in a lopsided game where all the pressure is on him, not on the pitcher. Watson Leads Tourney By Four Strokes

OAKMONT, Pa. (UPI) - Golf, as any weekend hacker knows. is a furny game and the point was perfectly illustrated by what happened to Jack Nicklaus and Tom Watson at the PGA Cham-

Watson, playing like a backer from tee to green, was rescued by his magic putter for the second stright day Friday. He shot a 69 for a 36-hole score of 136, 6-under-par, and led the championship by four strokes over Tom Weiskopf, Ben Crenshaw and Joe Inman going into today's third round.

Nicklaus, who appeared to be his old self through 11 holes when he stood 3-under for the round, then began swinging as though he had an ax in his hands and there was no magic in his putter to rescue him. He carded a 3-over-par 74 for a 153 total and missed the cut - the first time he has failed to survive the second round in a major championship since the 1968 PGA at San Antonio,

Watson, who shared the lead going into the final round, was unable to rescue his wayward driving with his putter, shot in the mid 70s and blew his chance of winning the championship for a third time. Nicklaus, meanwhile, made every makeable putt and came from behind to win the title for the third time, thus ending a three-year drought in major events.

"I just played badly," Nicklaus said in the sanctuary of the locker room. "It's no major catastrophe. We all do it once in a while. I don't like it, but I have no excuses. I had an opportunity to get back into the tournament, but three double bugeys in seven holes is ridiculous, just plain stupid."

His double bogeys came at the 12th, 15th and 18th holes. Exit Jack Nicklaus, who came into the championship the favorite after having won his last two tournaments: the British Open and the Philadelphia Classic. Arnold Palmer was another of golf's magic names who failed to make the cut, which was set at 148. He shot a 74-152.

"My round was a scrambling round that was saved by a golden putter," said Watson. "From tee to green my game was not very But when you consider that Watson needed only three putts on Weiskopf, who started the day at 2-over, shot a 67; Ben Crenshaw, two behind Watson at the start of the day, carded an even par 71, and Inman added a 68 to his opening round 72. Johnny Miller, who appears to have regained his putting touch, shot a 72 to be alone at 141.

GCHOOLS New Alarm Systems In Works

School Vandals: Beware

By LEONARD KRANSDORF Herald Staff Writer

Vandals Hit Elementary School 3 Times," Another School Hit By Vandals." It is the incidents behind these headlines which thus far this school year has cost the Seminole County school system about $30,000 in combined vandalism and stolen property costs. To reduce the figure, the school system has for the past several years been installing alarm systems at county schools. When school opens later this month, about half of the county's 40 schools will have Additionally, vandals or burglars apprehended in the schools are fully prosecuted. The first school to have an alarm installed and follow through in the prosecution of the persons was Sanford Middle School. Its principal, Dan Pelham, finds both aspects of ultimately found that the system we use now is the most effective," he said. Pelham installed the system with a friend at a cost of between $200 and $250. The school's system has since been updated. Depending on the type school and extent of the ilarm system, it could cost about $1,500, according to Hugh Carlton, county director of auxiliary ser-

The alarm is silent and is triggered at several contact points throughout the school, according to

Once contact is made the alarm automatically alerts the police department and then the principal. If at any time one line is busy, the alarm is programmed to call back until a response is made. Carlton said

"We were having almost a break-in at least once or twice a week before we had the system," Pelham said, noting that the school was particularly

He noted that since the alarm system was installed there have been 12 break-ins and all 12 have been caught and prosecuted.

"You have to be willing to go all the way and I made it clear in the beginning that if anyone was caught we would prosecute," Pelham said. He added, "I definitely believe it is a deterrent, because if people hear that they will be released they will continue to break in whether you have an alarm or not." In agreement with Petham is Seminole High School Principal Don Reynolds.

"You have to go as far as you can to prevent this sort of thing," he said. While the alarm system at the middle school covers the entire school, the system at the Reynold's school covers selected areas.

"Because our school is so spread out it would

Doubling Hangar Sites

Central Florida Airport in Sanford plans to nearly double its hangar space to meet the demands of local pilots. The airport is taking bids on 22 T-hangars to increase its hangar capacity from the present 32 to 54. Construction is scheduled to be completed in March. Bids will be accepted until Sept. 12.

"We have 32 new T-hangars that we put in about three years ago," said Airport Manager J.S. (Red) Cleveland. "Those are all filled now and we have a waiting list of about 20."

The hangars, according to Cleveland, are "like a garage for a fellow to put his plane in."

The hangars will have openings on two sides allowing planes to be parked closer together, according to Cleveland. In addition, the hangars will have restroom facilities. "Most hangars like this don't have restrooms," noted Cleveland. "These are real nice. In fact, I think they are going to be some of the nicest T-hangars in the southeast The hangars will also have lights for inside and outside. Doors on the hangars will measure 40 feet.

"With those doors, the hangars will be able to accomodate any single-engine plane and most twin engines," commented

In addition to the hangars, the airport will have to install taxiways leading from the hangars to the runway. "When you put in a new taxi area, you have to naturally do Today some leveling and grading," said Cleveland.

The hangars will not mean an immediate cash benefit to the airport, Cleveland concedes, but it will be a benefit. "The overall benefit to the airport is like putting a parking lot in He was greeted by Foreign downtown Sanford," said Cleveland. "It means more people will Minister Ibrahim Karnel and be able to come here and do business here."

Cleveland declined to speculate on what the expansion will cost. to the Mediterranean summer "It's not one of those things that can pay for itself tomorrow, but resort city of Alexandria. it's a service we feel we have to provide," said Cleveland.

Sanford Middle School principal Dan Pelham checks alarm installed in his school to alert authorities against vandals. The alarm first calls the police station and then the school's principal. More than half of county schools are expected to have similar alarms by the time school opens Aug. 28,

Pope Voting Ritual Begins; Paul VI Burial Saturday

Sanfordite Won't Forget Pope Paul's 'Obituary'

While Roman Catholics in Seminole County were mourning the death of Pope Paul VI today by attending special services at the five catholic churches in Seminole County, Mrs. Nancy Farrow of Sanford had her own personal memories of the pontiff. Mrs. Farrow was in Rome on June 30, and attended the mass celebrated by Pope Paul on the feast day of St. Paul when he told the faithful that he had few days of life left. "He was very ill and he felt his time was fast approaching," said Mrs. Farrow, whose brother, Rev. John Rotelle, an Augustinian priest, has served in the international level position at the Vatican of executive director of the Bishops' Committee on the Liturgy. Father Rotelle was not in Rome when the pope died, but is in Washington, D.C. briefly. arranging for the publication of one of numerous books on church liturgy he has "The mass was at 5 in the afternoon," Mrs. Farrow remembers. "The Holy Father was on a chair," something the Pope normally uses only on special occasions. "Everyone was clapping. He was about four feet from me. He celebrated the entire Mass and his sermon included his obituary. It's something I'll never forget."

Special masses in memory of the pontiff were held this morning at All Souls Church, Sanford; St. Augustine Church, Casselberry; St. Peter and Paul Parish in Goldenrod; and St. Mary-Magdalen, Altamorte Springs.

In addition, a special mass is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. at the Church of the Nativity, Lake Mary, according to Rev. William Neidert. One is to be held at 7 p.m. today at St. Mary-Magdalen, Altamonte Springs, according to pastor, Rev. Patrick Caverley, and Rev. William Ennis, pastor of All Souls, the oldest Catholic Church in the county, said a "sung" Mass will be celebrated at his church at 10:30
