Chairman, Vice Chairman To Be Elected

County Commission Faces Reorganization

By Paul C. Schaefer
Herald Staff Writer

Seminole County Commissioners will likely elect a new commission chairman Tuesday.

The commission will hold their annual organizational meeting at 1:30 p.m. in the County Services Building, 1101 East First Street, Sanford.

Commission chairman Bob Sturm said last week that he is willing to serve a third consecutive year as chairman, but doubted he would be nominated, saying that chairmen usually serve no more than two consecutive terms.

Commissioner Fred Streetman has been mentioned by county officials as the likely replacement for Sturm. Streetman has been in office two years, and is the board's vice chairman.

Streetman has refused to say if he wants the job, but added he would serve as chairman or vice chairman if elected by his peers on the board. "If I'm not elected to anything, I would accept that, too," Streetman said.

Duties of the commission chairman include presiding over commission meetings, and acting as the commissions representative at events.

Other previous chairmen now on the board include Sandra Glenn and Bill Kirchoff. Ms. Glenn has said her duties representing the county on other panels prevents her from considering the chairmanship, while Kirchoff refused to say if he would nominate a fellow commissioner, or accept a nomination if offered.

Commissioner Barbara Christensen

said she is not interested in the chairmanship, but would favor the nomination of Ms. Glenn or Streetman. She also said that two consecutive years as chairman for anyone is enough.

Sturm and Ms. Glenn will be sworn in for new four year terms in office Tuesday afternoon as well. Sturm won re-election after a Republican primary challenge by Bob Desmond, and a general election challenge by Democrat Bob French. Ms. Glenn had no opposition in either the primary or general election.

Hotel Fines:

One Off One On

By Karen Talley
Herald Staff Writer

After 35 days, the city of Sanford is apparently ready to settle a $250-a-day fine leveled against Florida Hotel owner Peggy Nestor for violating off-street parking requirements. The fine, charged since Oct. 15, adds up to $8,750 as of Thursday, the date recommended for its determination.

Another fine, $25-a-day since Sept. 16, will continue to run until Mrs. Nestor installs a sprinkler system in the hotel to safeguard 26 doors the city's building department has judged to be fire hazards. Sanford code enforcement board members say, The fine totaled at $1,750 as of today.

According to reports, it was a city staffer, not Mrs. Nestor, whose actions will probably enable the fine's termination as of Thursday. The stop date, recommended by Sanford Engineering and Planning Director Bill Simmons, must still be sanctioned by the code board when it meets Dec. 2.

While compliance reviews are usually requested by property owners, Simmons said he took it upon himself to survey the lot Thursday and feels it's in compliance with city commissioner's requirements. The city's engineering department initially said the lot was complete as of Oct. 30, although the code board's decision to lift the fine as of that date was placed on hold when a member questioned staff's evaluation. Board member Joyce Malone said she didn't feel the lot met the commission's requirements, and her position was subsequently concurred in by Commissioner John Mercer.

Last month commissioners agreed to Mrs. Nestor's request for the lot to be mulched, rather than paved as building codes require. Commissioners also said Mrs. Nestor would have to border the lot to keep the mulch in.

Mercer told her at the commission's Nov. 11 meeting that he had seen the lot and the border installation wasn't finished. He said the $250-a-day fine should continue to run until the necessary work was done and the code board affirmed his recommendation when it met Nov. 18.

Simmons said he told Mercer about the lot Thursday and the commissioner is now "satisfied" all requirements have been met.

Accepting the challenge, runners set their paces in the 1986 Florida Challenger run Saturday in Lake Mary at Heathrow. Purpose of the seven-kilometer run was to raise donations to build a Astronaut Memorial at the Kennedy Space Center on Merritt Island. It was one of more than five dozen runs planned in every county in Florida Saturday. Plans are also underway to build an education facility at the space center for science programs and to provide scholarships.

Marina Isle Boat Parking Plan Scuttled

By Karen Talley
Herald Staff Writer

A plan to severely limit the number of boat trailers that can park on the city of Sanford's marina isle is dead in the water following its loss of support from an original proponent.

Chuck Volk, a lessor on the city-owned isle, said this morning he will not pursue a parking limitation proposal he submitted to Sanford Engineers late last week. Volk's decision came after being told John Smith, another isle lessor, had pulled his original support of the plan.

In light of Smith's position, "I'm not going to pursue it," Volk said of the proposed plan. "It was just a suggestion I made to control things out here."

The plan had been slated for city commission consideration in January.

Smith said his decision to withdraw support "came after careful consideration. As a businessman on the isle, I don't feel it would be wise to support the plan. I don't think it's best for the citizens of Sanford and people on the isle."

Volk's proposal would have allowed only 20 boat trailers to park in the isle's main lot and prohibited them completely from an adjacent field used by the Rivership Romance. Volk said the additional boat trailers could have used the city's municipal field, located across from the isle, off Seminole Boulevard. Some already do now, when the isle lot is full.

Volk's Monroe Harbour Marine lies at the main parking field's eastern corner, while Smith's soon to be opened 14,000 square foot commercial complex lies in the lot's northern corner.

Volk's proposal would have amended a parking plan city commissioners approved last winter for Smith's commercial complex, One Harbour Place. The original plan has yet to be implemented. In addition to One

Reagan Under Pressure To Fire His Top Aides

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Reagan, his sense of personal loyalty put to a severe test, is under mounting pressure from friends and supporters to fire top aides at the center of the political maelstrom over secret arms sales to Iran.

"Cut your losses," Senate Republican leader Robert Dole of Kansas advised Reagan in a television interview Sunday. "Richard Nixon never did that."

"We need a visible sign that things will go differently in the future," said Sen. David Durenberger, R-Minn. Such a signal could be provided by "some personnel changes," he added.

Amid speculation that heads still may roll, White House spokesman Roman Popaduk said there had been "no talk of resignations."

But The Washington Post reported Sunday some of Reagan's longtime California friends, including Attorney General Edwin Meese and former Interior Secetary William Clark, are pressing Reagan to remove White House chief of staff Donald Regan, national security adviser John Poindexter and Secretary of State George Shultz.

Dole said on CBS's "Face the Nation" that Regan told him the story was "news to him."

The Post reported today another White House insiders' argument arose over advice communications director Patrick Buchanan gave Reagan to admit at his news conference Wednesday night that the entire Iran operation was a mistake.

The advisers considered an alternative for Reagan in which he would have said it was a mistake to sell arms to Iran while he publicly called for an arms embargo. Reagan rejected both sets of advice and told the nation he believed what he did was right.

The California group was reported to have the encouragement of first lady Nancy Reagan, who is known to be upset by the damaging revelations on Iran. Reagan said last week he had no plans "to fire anybody."

Some presidential aides contend that while Poindexter, who ran the clandestine contacts with Iran, is the clearest target for criticism, the operation also exposed Regan as insensitive to political and diplomatic risks and inept at dealing with the resulting fallout.

Privately, these aides portray the Iran operation — which preceded the release of three American hostages held by pro-Iranian terrorists in Lebanon — as the latest in a succession of foreign policy snafus attributable, in part, to Regan's lack of expertise in politics and foreign affairs.

The outlook for Shultz, despite a vote of confidence from Reagan, is even more uncertain.

Crash Kills Youth

A Sanford youth was killed in a car crash early Sunday in Volusia County near Osteen on his way home after visiting his girlfriend.

Dead is Ricky Allen Rogers, 17, of 102 Laguna Court, according to the Florida Highway Patrol.

Rogers, who attended local schools, apparently fell asleep and left the road, according to a relative. His girlfriend lives in south Volusia County.

Rogers was southbound on state Road 415 around 1:30 a.m. when his 1986 Dodge drifted into the northbound lane then left the road. The vehicle ran into a palm tree, striking it with the front driver side. The vehicle then spun and stopped on the grassy east shoulder of the road.

At the time of the accident, three miles south of Osteen, the car was traveling within the speed limit, according to an FHP accident report.

Rogers was alone in the vehicle and no other vehicle was involved. There was no indication alcohol was involved, said FHP.

Rogers, a construction worker, was an avid sports fan, his relative said. He has a 12-year-old sister attending local schools.

POLICE

IN BRIEF

Rape, Kidnapping, Grand Theft Charges Filed In Abduction Case

An Altamonte Springs man was arrested on several rape and kidnapping charges involving his former girlfriend and theft of her car.

The woman told deputies her former boyfriend called her at work Nov. 17 and asked for a ride to an insurance company to take care of some business. She picked him up at his residence. He directed her to drive to an unknown residence in Altamonte Springs, saying he was looking for a friend. It was around 11:30 a.m.

She told him she couldn't drive him around too much because she had to go back to work. He then struck her with his hand, telling her to do what he said. He told her to drive back to his residence and took a pocket knife out of his brief case. Once there, he ordered her to take off her clothes and have sex, records show. Afterwards, she told him he should let her go. He said he would if they had sex again. Afterwards, they got in her car and he drove to Deltona, stopping an unknown construction site. There he spoke with a person she identified as the suspect's friend. The suspect and the victim then returned to his residence and had sex again, according to reports.

They then drove back to Deltona and stopped at the house of some friends. After leaving the house, the woman got out of the car and flagged down a Volusia County Sheriff's Deputy, reports show.

Two days later, the suspect called the sheriff's department and said he wanted to return the woman's vehicle to avoid theft charges. He said he was calling from an uncle's residence in Jacksonville.

A deputy then went to the suspect's residence and found the woman's car but did not locate the suspect. Friday the man showed up at the sheriff's office and was arrested.

According to the report, the man admitted taking the car but denied other charges.

Being held without bond Saturday in the Seminole Correctional Facility was Duemetric Esqualant LaMar, 21, of 100 Spring St. He was charged with three counts of rape, one count of kidnapping and one count of grand theft.

Arrest Follows Murder Indictment

A Longwood man indicted Thursday on a charge of first-degree murder was arrested on the same charge and was being held Saturday without bond.

Arrested was Donn Morris Durham, 22, of 108 Kilkenny Ct. He is charged in the strangulation death of Karen Barkley, 20, of 2198 Springs Landing Blvd., Longwood.

Miss Barkley's body was found in her car Sept. 19 parked behind an Altamonte Springs cinema. Durham, a grade-school chum of Miss Barkley, was arrested after unusual comments he made before and at the woman's funeral.

Durham, arrested Friday at 12:45 p.m. at the jail, is also charged with robbery in the case.

Bounced To Jail On Bad Checks

A Sanford woman was arrested on forgery charges after reportedly bouncing two checks, one to a Parent Teachers Association.

According to a Sanford arrest report, the woman wrote a bad $125 check to a car dealership in October and a bad $79 check this month to the Idylwild Elementary School PTA for candy.

Arrested on two counts of forgery, two counts of uttering a forgery, and two counts of petty theft was Eddie Lee Robinson, 51, of 2045 W. 20th St. She was being held Saturday on $1,000 bond.

Suspicious Act Leads To Arrest

A Longwood man was arrested on a drug charge after an officer on routine patrol saw two people acting suspiciously in a grocery store parking lot.

The officer reported he was patrolling through the parking lot of Publix at State Road 436 and Palm Springs Drive at 8:10 p.m. Friday when he saw a man and a woman in a car with the overhead light on. The man was doing something in his lap and the woman was watching, the officer reported.

The officer said he drove close to the car, then got out and approached it from behind. He said the man had a mirror on his lap and was chopping a white powdery substance.

The man was asked to step out of the vehicle and then was arrested on a cocaine charge. A baggie of green leafy material was found in a purse in the vehicle but no one was charged with possession of marijuana because the officer did not see it in anyone's possession.

Charged with possession of cocaine was Mark Alan Adler, 18, of 531 Estate Place. Bond was set at $1,000.

Sex Forced On Student

An 18-year-old high school student with a learning disability told police a male forced her to perform a sex act.

According to an incident report, the student said a male was near her home with three other males. None of their ages were indicated in the report. She said one of them asked her to go for a walk. They did and entered woods near her south Seminole County home. In the woods, the man reportedly forced her to briefly perform a sex act. The incident occurred Friday around 5:45 p.m.

Afterward, a woman saw the student sitting near her home and asked her what happened. The girl broke into tears and told her. The woman copied the license number from the suspect's car and called the sheriff's department.

Deputies have a Winter Park suspect, records show.

Burglaries And Thefts

Tony Douglas Lanham, 41, of 417 Wekiva Cove Road, Longwood, reported to sheriff's deputies his 1987 Ford van with keys inside was stolen Thursday at his home. The van is valued at $20,000.

A $169 television was stolen along with a silver dollar necklace and another silver coin from the home of Betty W. Farrell, 73, of 551 E. Semoran Blvd., E-3, Fern Park, Thursday, a sheriff's report said.

Tracing Blood Clots

Someday doctors may be able to rapidly locate a blood clot in the body by sending a radioactive agent to find the trouble spot and then viewing it with an X-ray camera.

Tests of the new system on laboratory animals have been successful and clinical trials are awaiting approval by the Food and Drug Administration, according to a report in the Journal of Nuclear Medicine.

The system may be useful in the treatment of heart attacks, strokes and thrombosis, according to researchers who developed it at Summa Medical Corp. in Albuquerque, N.M.

Aquino Plans Cabinet Purge

MANILA, Philippines (UPI) — President Corason Aquino plans to accept the resignations of "between two and four people" as part of a Cabinet purge that began with the sacking of Defense Minister Juan Ponce Enrile and a thwarted coup attempt, her spokesman said today.

In a rare show of strength amid repeated reports of a military coup, Aquino fired Enrile Sunday and requested letters of resignation from the rest of her 25-member Cabinet, saying her beleaguered government needed a "fresh start."

Briefing reporters on a failed weekend coup attempt and the president's moves, Press Secretary Teodoro Benigno said Enrile's decision to step down allowed the president "to remove a bone from her throat."

He said the coup attempt, reportedly planned by a small group within the military, "never got off the ground," because its ranks had been "infiltrated." He said Enrile's role in the "checkmated" coup bid, if any, was unclear.

Aquino named Gen. Rafael Ilicto as her new defense chief and warned the nation's powerful communists that her patience was running out and they had only a week to reach a peace agreement with the government.

Aquino said she ordered her negotiators to produce a ceasefire in the 4-month-old peace talks with communist rebels by the end of the month or the discussions will be terminated. "We need a fresh start."

Aquino told the nation in announcing her first Cabinet change since she came to power Feb. 25 in the largely peaceful revolution that sent Ferdinand Marcos, ruler of the Philippines for 20 years, into exile in Hawaii.

"Of late, my circumspection has been viewed as weakness, and my sincere attempts at reconciliation as indecision," Aquino said in a nationwide television and radio address Sunday. "This cannot continue."

Benigno said Aquino may announce action this week on more resignations that she requested from Cabinet ministers. Asked how many would go, Benigno replied, "Probably between two and four ... that's the most."

"What is confirmed," Benigno told reporters, is "a manager resembling what is a chief of staff in the White House will eventually be named."

Enrile, 62, a major force behind the "people-power" revolution that swept Aquino to power in February, told fellow officers in a tearful address that he would go quietly.

The nation, surprised on a quiet Sunday by the firing of Enrile, was calm following weeks of uncertainty over repeated rumors of an impending coup attempt.

The military, placed on the highest state of readiness during the weekend, was in "full control," Armed Forces Commander Gen. Fidel Ramos said.

Simply Smashing

Edward Haerter smashes bricks with his hand on the head of Donna McClelland to entertain the crowds at the Arts and Crafts Festival in the Longwood Historical District Saturday. Both are from the Y.K. Kim's Tae Kwon Do School.

Ramos said a coup plot by some military politicians from the ousted regime of Ferdinand Marcos and supported by some military elements had been "aborted without loss of life."

Western Floods Strand Hundreds

By United Press International

Floods fed by relentless rain and melting snow in the Pacific Northwest closed or washed out more than a dozen roads in Washington today, forcing evacuations, stranding hunters and trapping 1,000 skiers at a resort.

The floods in western Washington — described as potentially the worst in 27 years — were blamed for the death of a fireman who was hit by a train Sunday night while helping evacuate a nursing home near Sultan, northeast of Seattle.

More rain was expected, and floods capable of causing "major damage" were possible today on four rivers — the Skykomish, Snohomish, Skagit and Puyallup — said Linda Wearing of the Washington state emergency services department.

Dozens of families were ordered evacuated in Skagit, King, Clallam, Whatcom and Snohomish counties. Hunters were cut off in Mason County and between forks of the Snoqualmie River, east of Seattle.

Melting snow and a week of rain that fell in downpours during the weekend closed a section of Interstate 90, the state's main east-west route, and more than a dozen other roads in western Washington, officials said.

Floods pouring from Boulder Creek washed out State Route 542, the only road to the Mount Baker ski resort, some 100 miles north of Seattle.

"The road became impassable — not even our large tractors could get through anymore. They lost the road," said Neil Clement of the Whatcom County emergency services agency.

"The water from one edge to the other edge was described to be 60 to 70 yards wide, so it's a pretty significant area that's been washed out."

About 1,000 skiers who flocked to the resort for the first snow of the season were stranded. Also cut off were about 200 residents of nearby Glacier and several hundred ski resort workers, Clement said.

"They're being well cared for. There's plenty of lodging for them," Clement said of the skiers. "The Glacier Fire Department has been coordinating all the shelter and food needs."

Officials said it could take days to reopen the road. In Grays Harbor County, about eight families were stranded by high water.

A Red Cross shelter was set up in Snoqualmie for travelers stranded on I-90, which was closed at the Snoqualmie pass.

In Southern California, Santa Ana winds caused $200,000 in damage to a house being built in the Los Angeles suburb of Glendale. A neighboring home was hit with timbers and concrete and sustained $30,000 in damage.

The Snoqualmie River also was rising at Carnation, east of Seattle, and King County officials issued sandbags to residents along the river's forks.

"Based on the records in King County, this could be the worst flooding since 1959," said King County public works spokeswoman Rochelle Ogershok.

Storms also drenched the Gulf Coast, prompting flash flood watches today for southeast Texas and much of Louisiana.

Protectionism Can Only Hurt

The early returns had barely been counted on election night when the leader of the new Senate Democratic majority, Robert C. Byrd of West Virginia, declared before the television cameras that Congress would place a comprehensive trade bill on President Reagan's desk early next year. "Trade" legislation is the congressional euphemism for protectionism.

Protectionist measures routinely masquerade on Capitol Hill as the means to spur American trade. But, in fact, their consequence over the long term is nearly always a contraction of commerce and an overall decline in economic activity. That means lower living standards for America's workers as well as for those of its trading partners.

The United States has just received a fresh taste of the bitter fruits of protectionism. It has come in the form of a budding trade war with Canada, this country's largest foreign market. If the new Democrat-controlled Congress continues the headlong rush toward protectionism, the flap with Canada will be remembered as only the first skirmish in an escalating worldwide trade war that no nation will win and every nation will lose.

In August, the president vetoed a trade bill intended to protect the American textile and apparel industries by restricting imports from foreign competitors. The Democratic House came within a few votes of mustering the two-thirds vote necessary to override the veto. With the Democrats now assuming control of the Senate, the dangers of protectionism are multiplying. The trade measure promised by Sen. Byrd may be veto-proof when it reaches the White House.

To understand why the United States and Canada are reducing their level of trade, to the detriment of workers in both countries, is to grasp how futile and pernicious protectionism is.

Twice in the last five months, the Reagan administration, ordinarily a champion of free trade, succumbed to the protectionism pressures that already have overpowered many lawmakers. With the midterm election approaching and Canada acquiring an ever-bigger share of the American market for cedar shingles and shakes, the United States imposed a tariff on those products imported from north of the border. Later, with the balloting only days away and the troubled U.S. lumber industry pleading loudly for more protection against its foreign competitors, the Reagan administration slapped a 15 percent tariff on Canadian softwoods.

Because Canada depends heavily on commerce with the United States to sustain its economy, Ottawa could hardly watch its markets be closed without a fight. It countered by imposing a retaliatory duty of $1.05 on every bushel of imported American corn. The penalty was stiff, given that the price of U.S. corn on the world market is only $1.40.

Ottawa's countervailing will, of course, make U.S. corn less competitive in Canada, thereby forcing American farm exporters to surrender a share of their foreign markets. The direct result, then, of the Reagan administration's protectionist moves on behalf of the lumber industry is a loss of income and jobs in the already severely depressed corn belt.

Consider, too, the damage done to the Canadian economy from the reduction of its wood-export market. A weakened Canadian economy has fewer dollars with which to purchase American products and commodities.

Now magnify this trade tiff on a global scale, with new barriers by scores of nations dampening international commerce, and the lesson of protectionism becomes clear. The ruinous result of such a policy is that even the most parochial of lawmakers can hardly discount it.

Why They Marched For Peace In 1986

The 1986 "peace march" from California to the nation's capital is now history. It ended in mid-November with marching, rallies and concerts in Washington, D.C.

Neither the march across the country nor the final events in Washington produced the huge crowds that gathered in the late 1960s to protest the Vietnam War.

But the small band that, for nine months, made its way across the country despite scant financial support and difficulties obtaining food and lodging has to be one of the most valiant groups in American history. In my book they are the truest patriots in the country. They love the nation and their fellow humans enough to call us away from the foolish and dangerous policies now being pursued by a popular but wrongheaded president.

In 1968 and 1969 I addressed crowds at anti-war rallies in Washington, Boston and elsewhere that sometimes numbered nearly a million people. At most, 5,000 or 6,000 people assembled to hear the speakers featured at the end of the recent peace march.

It was comparatively easy to see the folly of our involvement in the Vietnam War by the late 1960s. It is more complicated apparently for many people to see the folly of Mr. Reagan's dream of extending nuclear arms into outer space. But I have no doubt that history will deal kindly with the peace marchers. Some day historians will try to understand why so few of our citizens had the wisdom and the courage to protest the drift toward disaster.

What were the convictions that kept these marchers on the road for so many difficult months? If one can judge from the press interviews, speeches and other statements, the marchers acted from a number of convictions:

— They are convinced that if the United States and the Soviet Union do not soon reach an agreement to reverse the arms race, it is just a matter of time until by accident, miscalculation or design a nuclear catastrophe will take place.

— They are convinced that their own government is not really pursuing a meaningful arms control policy. The failure of President Reagan to seize the historic opportunity at Reykjavik to reverse the arms buildup obviously sharpened the concerns of the peace marchers.

The formula that the president rejected in Iceland called for a 50 percent reduction in strategic nuclear weapons, the withdrawal of intermediate range missiles from Europe and a comprehensive nuclear test ban if Mr. Reagan would agree to confine Star Wars to research for the next 10 years. Since the president and his associates have said that one of the reasons for Star Wars is to use it as a bargaining chip to secure an arms control agreement with the Soviets, one can only ask, "What better bargain could we have had on which to play our chip than the one Mr. Reagan walked away from in Iceland?"

— Many of the peace marchers are convinced that our national priorities are wrong. They do not believe that the nation's greatest need is for more missiles at a time when we can already pulverize the planet several times over. Rather, with the federal deficit skyrocketing, they see a need to divert some of the arms spending to strengthening education, defending the environment against contamination, assisting hard-pressed farmers and feeding the hungry.

Reagan's Policies Explained

By Arnold Sawilak
WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Washington Answer Man, who retired on disability after explaining the Carter energy program, has been called back to his country's service to explain the Reagan policy on terrorism.

Q. Welcome back, sir. We've missed your pithy explanations of what is going on at the White House.

A. It's no pleasure, I can assure you. I was all but finished with my memoirs, "Euphemisms, Elusions and Evasions," when Don Regan insisted I come back to help out the White House Spin Squad, which is suffering from centrifugal burnout.

Q. Well, shall we get down to business? Just what is our policy on terrorism?

A. Very simple. We abhor it. We will combat it in every form and every place it appears. We will punish those who practice, support or condone it. If you do any of that, we'll send jets to bomb your house. Ask Col. Gadhafi.

Q. That's very clear. Now, is hostage-taking terrorism?

A. Of course. We abhor it. If you do it, we'll bomb your house if we can learn your address. If we can't, we'll withdraw our ambassador.

Q. Now, isn't the present government of Iran the same one that was responsible for holding 52 American diplomats hostage just seven years ago?

A. Of course, it is the same government in Iran. But it isn't the same government in the United States. The U.S. Embassy hostages were not seized during this administration. They were released during this administration.

The president made clear in 1980 that he wasn't going to negotiate with terrorists and the Iranians released those hostages as soon as Mr. Reagan moved into the White House in 1981.

Q. I'll take your word for it. But aren't the Iranians now supporting some of the people who are seizing hostages in Lebanon? And aren't these gifts really ransom to get those hostages released?

A. Absolutely not. This administration does not pay ransom to free hostages. You will recall we got Nicholas Daniloff out of jail and didn't pay the Russians a red cent.

Q. Now, sir, how about Gennadi Zakharov's being permitted to return to Russia when Daniloff was released? And how about the Rev. Weir, Father Jenco and Mr. Jacobsen being released in Lebanon just after our gifts arrived in Iran?

A. That, my boy, is coincidence. And you, I can see, are a potential customer for my book.

Former Officials Pursued Iran Deal

By Jack Anderson
And Dale Van Atta
WASHINGTON — Two former high-ranking government career officials were an integral part of the secret arms/hostage negotiations with Iran. They are retired Maj. Gen. Richard V. Secord and Thomas Cline, a one-time top man in the CIA's covert operations branch.

We were first to disclose the secret negotiations with Iran. We reported early this year that Israel was the designated conduit for the sale of arms to Tehran until the National Security Council decided late last year to "regularize" the weapons shipments by sending them directly from the United States.

We also reported that former CIA and Pentagon officials were involved in the secret talks with Iran over the hostages and other issues. The Reagan administration appealed to Bomb Plot Encouraged?

LONDON (NEA) — Could the United States, Britain and Israel have blocked — weeks or even months before — the attempt was finally made — the Syrian-inspired plot to blow up an El Al flight from London to Tel Aviv? By not doing so, did they actually encourage the attempt last April in order to embarrass Syria?

These questions have emerged in European capitals following publication of an interview with French premier Jacques Chirac that appeared in the Washington Times. The interview was conducted by Washington Times editor Arnaud de Borchgrave.

Chirac was quoted as saying he had been told by Chancellor Helmut Kohl that West Germany believed the whole plan had been staged and monitored by Mossad, the Israeli intelligence agency, working with dissidents within the Syrian government in an effort to embarrass the Assad regime. Chirac was also quoted as saying he himself believed the theory to be true.

While the report has not received wide coverage in the United States, it has been front-page news in Europe, causing a storm of denials and outraged comments. Chirac first denied the report, but de Borchgrave produced a tape of the interview. The French premier eventually conceded the accuracy of the quotes, but said the remarks were supposed to have been kept "off the record." He also told the French parliament that the idea that the Mossad may have been involved in a phony bomb scheme was an "absurd hypothesis."

For his part, Kohl had denied ever saying such a thing to Chirac. He insisted that the West German government did not believe the bomb attempt was a Mossad plot.

Israel called the whole theory "outrageous rubbish," an invention by Chirac, who was trying to curry favor with Syria.

Britain denied, in the strongest terms, that "manufactured" evidence was produced at the trial of Nezar Hindawi, the Jordanian convicted of giving a suitcase containing a bomb to his pregnant Irish girlfriend and putting her aboard the flight.

Chirac had said the West Germans also believed the evidence was manufactured.

This furor occurred on the eve of a major gathering of European Economic Community foreign ministers here in London, a meeting Britain demanded to consider tough, unified sanctions against Syrian terrorism. Amid much bickering the ministers agreed to watered-down sanctions, which allowed Britain to save face.

But the Chirac interview was the number-one topic behind the scenes, especially among intelligence experts at the gathering. Sources privy to those meetings report that German intelligence agents believe Chirac either purposely misstated or simply misunderstood the information.

Basically put, the Germans believe several intelligence services — including those of Britain, the United States and Israel — had learned of the plot so far in advance that they could easily have nipped it in the bud. But instead, in order to develop more information about Syrian intelligence activities in the West — and to embarrass Syria and President Hafez al-Assad — they allowed the plot to be played out almost to its final act.

Inside Trading Secret

By Larry Doyle
UPI Science Writer
CHICAGO (UPI) — Below the clatter and cacophony of the trading pits, Margaret Brahm cried out for hours at a time, unheard, a hoarse rustle beneath the roar of more robust brokers.

Brahm had lost a trader's most valuable asset: her voice.

"On a busy day, there's about 500 or 600 people who all stand in the pit, so you do a lot of yelling," she says. "And I obviously didn't yell right, because I was losing my voice by Wednesday."

"And I can't make any money if people can't hear me."

So Brahm, working the Chicago Board of Options Exchange for the firm of Drexler, Burnham and Lambert, found herself in a precarious job situation.

"About a month into the trading I was still losing my voice and decided I needed to go for training."

Brahm sought help at the department of communication sciences and disorders at Northwestern University in Evanston, a city just north of the Chicago Board of Trade, the Mercantile Exchange and the CBOE.

Jerilyn Logemann, director of the program there, says she sees a lot of people like Brahm, who make their living using and often abusing their voices. She has developed a program to treat the injuries and train the voices of traders, actors and baseball vendors.

First, strained and swollen vocal chords are examined by an otolaryngologist, who may recommend surgery to remove polyps and nodules that may have developed over time. This will often provide immediate but not permanent relief, Logemann says.

Speech and language pathologists then take over, training the traders in the ways of muscle control, pitch and loudness, effort and breath control.

In Brahm's case, she was making a very simple mistake, one every student of voice student knows.

"I had been yelling from my throat rather than using my stomach muscles and that's what was putting such a strain on it," she says. The correction was "projection," a common technique practiced by actors.

"It made a terrific difference," Brahm says. "Now I can yell and yell and I don't lose my voice."

There are limitations, however. "If I've been yelling for six or seven hours, it's still a little sore at the end of the day," she says. "But I can still do it. And that's the important thing."

Jubilant Democrats Savor Wins, Presidential Hopes Look To '88

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Jubilant Democrats, savoring their 1986 election victories, are ready to talk 1988.

And at a weekend gathering of the Democratic National Committee, they did, as potential candidates for the 1988 presidential nomination came to congratulate and curry support in low-key campaigning.

Jesse Jackson, Rep. Richard Gephardt of Missouri, Sen. Joseph Biden of Delaware, Gov. Bruce Babbitt of Arizona and Sen. Gary Hart of Colorado made the obligatory rounds of the state chairmen and national committee members. New York Gov. Mario Cuomo did not.

Party Chairman Paul Kirk soon is going to ask them to do something more concrete — renounce, in advance, any negative campaigning and promise to support the winner.

Kirk also said at a news conference he will urge the party's many diverse special interest groups not to impose "litmus tests" on candidates in return for their support and called for an end to petty squabbling over party rules.

Congress To Regulate Greed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Congress will get tough with Wall Street because of the Ivan Boesky insider-trading scandal, but Sen. Alfonse D'Amato, R-N.Y., admits it may be impossible to regulate greed.

"There is a basic need for reform," said D'Amato, a member of the Banking Committee, who called for new securities laws protecting stock investors.

D'Amato, appearing Sunday on ABC's "This Week with David Brinkley," said the Securities and Exchange Commission should have "additional resources" to police stock markets.

D'Amato also insisted on prison terms for people convicted of breaking trading rules, but added: "I don't know that a new law is ever going to eliminate greed."

Boesky, on Nov. 14, was fined $100 million by the SEC and faces five years in prison. Wall Street's king of corporate raiders was also banned from playing the stock market. The SEC began monitoring Boesky in September.

Development Urged On Refuge

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Interior Department plans to recommend Congress open part of Alaska's environmentally sensitive Arctic National Wildlife Refuge for oil and gas development, a draft report scheduled for release today says.

A portion of the department's report, to be released at a news conference today, labeled the reserve at the tip of northeast Alaska "the most outstanding oil and gas frontier remaining in the United States."

The suggestion promises to trigger widespread debate in Congress, oil industry and environmental circles on a topic that already is Alaska's hottest conservation issue.

After six years of study, the agency said there is a 95 percent likelihood that ANWR's coastal plain contains more than 4.8 billion barrels of oil and 11.5 trillion cubic feet of natural gas.

The department also said its data indicate vast resources may lie under the fragile terrain. There is a 5 percent possibility that more than 29.4 billion barrels of oil and 64.5 trillion cubic feet of gas lie beneath the refuge's lush tundra and permafrost earth.

11 Miners Killed In Weekend Fighting

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (UPI) — A weekend outbreak of violence left 11 black miners dead and 20 wounded at the Vaal Reefs gold mine, a company official said today. In a related development, the National Union of Mineworkers claimed today that one man was killed and many were hurt

Sunday night in a clash with security officials at the Kinross mine.

John Kingsley-Jones, a spokesman for the Anglo American Corporation, said fighting broke out Sunday evening when trade union members sought to close down a company beer hall at the Vaal Reefs mine about 85 miles southwest of Johannesburg.

He said 11 men died and at least 20 were wounded before mine security officials broke up the fight.

The fighting followed another clash Saturday in which two men died.

"Gasoline bombs were thrown at the shaft's beer hall on Friday night, and this was followed by the murder of two employees on Saturday night," Kingsley-Jones said.

It was the second major outbreak of interethnic violence at the mine this year.

Fourteen men died and at least 74 were wounded in three days of fighting that ended March 18.

The black National Union of Mineworkers accused the company of busting in Basotho tribesmen to tackle rival Xhosa workers in that incident.

"We reject the claim," an Anglo American spokesman said at the time.

NUM spokesman Marcel Golding said today mine security officials attacked about 600 men returning from a union meeting at the Kinross mine about 80 miles northeast of Johannesburg on Sunday night.

"Our people were attacked with tear gas, whips and rubber bullets," he said. "As far as we can establish, one man was killed and a number were injured."

"It seems to be part of a continuing crackdown on the union at Kinross," he said.

Kinross was the scene on Sept. 16 of an underground fire that killed 177 men. It was the worst gold-mine disaster in the country's history.

Cooper Saga Lacks Ending

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI) — Fifteen years ago tonight, skyjacker D.B. Cooper tied a pouch containing $200,000 to his waist and parachuted from a Boeing 727 into the cold Northwest rain — and into the pages of folklore legend.

Former FBI agent Ralph Himmelsbach sought until his retirement six years ago to close what remains the nation's only unsolved air piracy case, and he is still intrigued by the mystery of what happened to Cooper, America's first airliner hijacker.

But for now, until proven otherwise, he believes Cooper was just a "sleazy" con man out to make one more big score — and that he died doing so.

Himmelsbach, 61, has gathered his inside details of the case in "NORJAK: The Investigation of D.B. Cooper," a new 135-page book written with Thomas K. Worcester. NORJAK was the FBI code name for "Northwest Airlines Skyjacking."

"I have always very bitterly resented this guy being considered a folk hero," said Himmelsbach. "He was a very common, desperate criminal with nothing to be admired. I still think he is a sleazy, rotten crook."

Several books and songs have been written about Cooper over the years, and a bar in Salt Lake City bears his name. A Hollywood movie and dozens of T-shirts also have immortalized the crime, and a bowling alley in Seattle has sponsored a "D.B. Cooper Bowling Sweepstakes."

Himmelsbach's book is touted as the first insider's account of the investigation into the 1971 Thanksgiving Eve takeover of Northwest Airlines Flight 305 by a swarthy passenger who showed a stewardess a "bomb" in an attache case.

The passenger, who used the name Dan Cooper, threatened to blow up the plane unless he was given $200,000 in $20 bills and four parachutes upon landing in Seattle, the flight's destination.

The airline responded with the money and the parachutes, one of them a training chute considered unreliable.

Cooper, after allowing the passengers to disembark in Seattle, ordered the crew to fly toward Reno. His last voice communication with the crew via the plane's intercom was over the Washington-Oregon border Nov. 25, where the crew believed he jumped from the rear hatch, using the least reliable parachute.

The FBI said his chances of survival were slim because he wore only a business suit, regular street oxfords, jumped into a howling wind and freezing rain in a parachute not likely to work, and hit the earth's surface at a speed of between 50 and 70 mph.

The FBI believed Cooper was at the bottom of Lake Merwin, 30 miles north of Portland, or that his bones were so enmeshed with giant wild blackberry bushes in the remote area that they would never be found.

In 1980, Brian Ingram, 8, found $5,800 in decaying $20 bills on a beach along the Columbia River in Vancouver, Wash. Authorities said it was part of the $200,000 Cooper loot.

Himmelsbach said the name D.B. Cooper was attached to the case after an FBI agent told UPI the night of the hijacking that officials were checking up on a man with those initials in the Portland area. The man was questioned and dismissed as a suspect, but the initials stuck.

Second Japanese Island Feels Violent Volcanic Eruptions

TOKYO (UPI) — A volcano on a second Japanese island sent a boulder through a hotel roof three days after the violent eruption of Mount Mihara forced the evacuation of the 10,000 residents of Izu Oshima.

Authorities said five people were injured Sunday when Mount Minamidake's 206th eruption this year sent an 8-foot boulder crashing into the lobby of the one-story hotel.

They said the 3,400-foot mountain on the volcanically active southern island of Sakurajima, 600 miles southwest of Tokyo, spewed steam and belched ashes into the air.

Officials of the Meteorological Agency, however, did not link the Minamidake blast to Friday's violent eruption of Mt. Mihara on Izu Oshima, about 60 miles south of the capital.

Both mountains are listed among Japan's four major active volcanoes.

The 2,500-foot Mihara awakened from a 12-year dormancy and exploded in its worst eruption in more than 200 years Friday, spewing fiery flows of lava and triggering earthquakes that forced the evacuation of about 10,000 island residents.

Newspaper Reveals Massacre

TOKYO (UPI) — A Japanese newspaper said today that Japanese troops in World War II massacred hundreds of Indonesians on the island of Barbar and that the Japanese army subsequently covered up the atrocity.

The authoritative Asahi Evening News said an unidentified 65-year-old former company commander, the "central figure in the massacre," admitted in an interview "that his unit had committed the massacre."

The revelation is significant because of several recent disputes concerning Japan's role in the war and how it should be taught in Japanese schools.

Nations attacked by Japan during the war, including South Korea and China, have protested recent efforts to revise Japanese textbooks which they say distort or diminish Japan's responsibility.

The newspaper said the massacre came to light when Japanese historian Tomio Taketomi, 62, obtained a confidential document prepared by officers of the Japanese Army's Fifth Division involved in the atrocity.

Guerrillas Capture Village

SIDON, Lebanon (UPI) — Palestinian guerrillas captured most of a Christian village in south Lebanon today in a major offensive in their 5-week-old war with Shiite Amal militiamen, police sources said.

They said the local police station, which was disarmed by the Palestinians, also fell into guerrilla hands. Initial reports indicated heavy losses on both sides, including seven Palestinians killed and 30 Palestinian and Lebanese civilians wounded.

Amal militia casualties were not immediately known.

An Al Fatah Palestinian field commander said his men captured seven of the nine Amal positions in and around the village of Maghdoush and surrounded 40 Amal militiamen and "warned them to surrender or else."

Lady Hawks' Title Dream Runs True

Lake Howell's Team Effort Easily Outdistances Largo, Winter Park

By Chris Fister
Herald Sports Writer
DELAND — At the conclusion of the Class 4A portion of the State Cross Country Championships, all the runners, coaches, parents and fans gather around a platform where the results are announced. The announcer always goes from top to bottom, with the first-place team announced last.

Over the last three years, Lake Howell's Lady Silver Hawks dreamed of being the last team announced. But, all three times, it wasn't to be.

After a spectacular team performance on the tough DeLand Airport course, it was pretty evident Lake Howell would take top honors Saturday. The members of the team weren't sure right after the race, but started to get the idea when opposing coaches congratulated them. Still, the Lady Hawks were holding back their celebration until that final announcement was made:

"The 1986 girls 4A State Champion—Lake Howell."

While Largo and Winter Park had solid top-two performers, Lake Howell showed that it was a total team effort that wins championships. The Lady Hawks finished with a team score of 76 compared to 103 for Largo and 104 for Winter Park. It was the first state championship in the school's 11-year history.

"I was pretty sure we had it, but I had to wait until it was official," senior Lisa Samocki said. "It really didn't sink in until the announcement on the loud speaker. This is something we've dreamed about for four years and it has finally come true."

The Lady Hawks' title was the first ever team championship in the 13-year history of Lake Howell High. Lake Howell's girls had previously finished second (1985), fourth (1984) and third (1983).

"It's fantastic for the team, the coaches and the whole school," Lake Howell Principal Dick Evans said. "We felt this would be the year. It was a total team effort and that's what the coaches and the girls wanted."

Lake Howell coach Tom Hammonree said it was team unity that paid off for the Lady.

Rogers Is 10th, Earns All-State

By Mark Blythe
Herald Sports Writer
DELAND — With a strategic plan and a fine effort, Lyman High's Robin Rogers completed his junior season by accomplishing his final goal.

Rogers, who has been the number one Seminole County runner all year, finished in 10th place overall Saturday with a time of 15:48.8 in the 4A State Meet at the DeLand Airport.

Favored Tampa Leto took the team title Saturday while Lauderdale Lakes Boyd Anderson's Mike LaValle successfully defended his individual title.

Rogers and Lyman coach Fred Finke had a good idea of how the race would develop going into the state meet and planned accordingly.

"We knew there would be two groups up front," Finke said. "We planned on both LaValle and (Clearwater Countryside's) Roger Letchworth."

Rogers' plan was to stay with Angelo Bonnarigo, Melbourne Palm Bay's front runner and Rogers was able to do so until the final half mile giving him all-state honors.

"I wanted to stay with him (Bonnarigo) because I battled him for the first mile in the regionals, and that took a lot out of me," Rogers said. "I stayed right behind him today hoping to stay with him all the way."

The two packs developed and Rogers stayed behind Bonnarigo until the half mile mark when Bonnarigo and Alfred Dujovne of Melbourne picked it up for the finale of the race.

"The two packs developed like we thought and Robin (Rogers) did great," Finke said. "It's great to finish all-state with such a strong field."

LaValle won the race with a time of 15:00.8. Ken Gamber, of Winter Park and the District 4A-5 champion, came through with an excellent performance as he finished second overall with a time of 15:28.8. Gamber came through with his best effort of the season as he paced the Wildcats to a seventh place team finish.

Rogers and Finke will now look forward to the upcoming track season. "His potential on the track is unlimited, I'm really looking forward to working with him on the track," Finke said.

While Rogers was running alone Saturday, the Lake Howell boys team was trying to make a run at the top ten if not the top five. The Silver Hawks, though, finished 13th overall, but both the team and head coach Joe Corso were pleased.

Tampa Leto won the team race with a low score of 82, Melbourne Palm Bay was a surprising second at 100, Orlando Colonial finished its season nicely with a top ten finish, the Grenadiers combined for 229 points good for ninth place.

"They ran as well as they could today," Corso said of his team. "We've been a little sick but the team ran a real good race."

The Silver Hawks had both lead runners Jeff Van Buskirk and Chuck Buster come into the race with a slight case of the flu. The two seniors, though, stuck it out and came away with respectable finishes.

Van Buskirk led the way with a time of 16:38 good for 39th place, Buster finished a couple of steps behind in 41st with a time of 16:46.

"We're both coming down with colds," Van Buskirk said. "We ran as well as we could."

Buster, who has been steadily coming back was pleased with his performance, though feels he could do better. "We ran well as a team," Buster said. "I feel I could of run much better though had I not been sick for the past few weeks."

"Sometimes you have to run a little harder on a tough course," Corso said. "This course was tough on Steve Steffy, Kavan Howell and Jason Springhart, they were always in a pack and never could get into their rhythm."

Other finishers for the Silver Hawks were senior Steffy who finished at 17:02 good for 87th place, Howell finished 92nd at 17:36, Luis Caban a consistent performer all year for Lake Howell, finished 96th at 17:44. Senior Andy Terchenok placed 99th at 17:55 and freshman Springhart finished 108th at 18:08.

Corso believes his team could have performed much better if the pack was able to move up among the cluster of runners. "It's hard to find your cadence with so many people bunched up," Corso said.

Lyman's Chuck Reinighaus steadies himself before the 100 free final. He finished fourth to help Lyman to a second-place state finish.

Lyman Loses Heartbreaker — Lady Pats Finish Second

By Chris Fister
Herald Sports Writer
ORLANDO — In almost any other year, Seminole County would have come away from the 4A State Swimming Championships Saturday night with two first-place trophies.

But this was no ordinary year.

Winter Park High's string of seven consecutive boys titles was snapped Saturday night at the Justus Aquatic Center. The team most people thought could snap Winter Park's reign was Lyman's Greyhounds. But little-known Pensacola Washington surprised most everyone by taking the championship with a score of 144 compared to 140 for Lyman.

"Our goal was to beat Winter Park," Lyman coach Don Clark said. "We figured if we did that we'd win the state meet. At the end of the meet, all the Winter Park people were congratulating us. They thought we won the meet. We waited 30 minutes and they (meet officials) came out and said Washington won by four points. It was heartbreaking to say the least."

With some of the best swimmers in the nation flocking to the Mission Bay training facility, Boca Raton Spanish River inherited a girls team that was invincible. As expected, Spanish River's Lady Sharks devoured the competition Saturday with 387 points compared to 165 for Lake Brantley's Lady Patriots.

"Considering their (Spanish River's) situation, we knew they'd be out in front," Brantley coach Clay Parnell said. "Our goal was to beat Winter Park for second place and we're happy to have done that."

Although the first place trophies were not to be had, the second place team finishes by the Lyman boys and Brantley girls are the highest ever for a Seminole County swimming team. A year ago, Lyman was third in the boys meet and Lake Brantley's girls fifth.

Swimming

Lyman racked up its 140 points with just four swimmers competing in individual events and with its 400 free relay team winning in all-American fashion. As far as top-notch individuals went, Lyman had the edge of Pensacola Washington. All four of Lyman's individuals placed seventh or higher in the finals while Washington had just two individuals finish higher than seventh. Washington was boosted by a first place in the 200 medley relay and by its depth in the consolation finals.

"Washington won it in the consolations," Clark said. "They had a lot of guys finish in the 9-16 places (16 places are scored in the state meet). No one was watching Washington and they just sneaked up and took the state title from us."

Rose, a senior, concluded his prep career by repeating as champion in the 200 individual medley, taking second in the 100 backstroke and swimming the anchor leg on the 400 free relay. Rose went all-american in both individual events.

Joining Rose on the free relay team, which took first with an all-american time of 3:12.33, were sophomore Chuck Reinighaus, junior Sam Renard and senior Tom Mooney. The Lyman foursome teamed to outswim the second place team (West Orange) by nearly four seconds.

Mooney also placed in two individual events as he took third in the 100 back with an all-american time of 53.93 and sixth in the 200 free (1:43.49), both times being personal bests.

Reinighaus sprinted to a fourth place in the 100 free with a personal best, school record and junior national qualifying time of 47.84. Reinighaus also took ninth in the 200 IM at 1:58.

Handyman Hillery Held Key To Homecoming Win

By Sam Cook
Herald Sports Editor
J.J. Partlow kicked the winning 27-yard field goal and Dwayne Willis carried the rushing load with 91 yards but Seminole High's homecoming victory wouldn't have materialized Friday night without Herb Hillery.

Hillery, a senior handyman, stepped into the quarterback role and except for two slips — forward lateral and interception — performed with the poise of a veteran in his inaugural starting role.

The 5-10, 150-pounder knew Monday that he would start. He said he felt more nervous than most of his teammates since he was assuming the most important position on the team. Dwayne Willis or Jerry Governal had quarterbacked the first nine games when the Tribe went 3-6.

The coaching staff said Hillery made "great strides" during the past three weeks. Head coach Dave Mousure and offensive line coach Glenn Maiolini said they felt Hillery had mastered the position to the point where he could handle the job against DeLand.

With Hillery at QB, Willis returned to halfback to join Curtis Rudolph. Earnie "Sackman" Lewis and Rick Kelley — two excellent linebackers — were borrowed from the defense for double duty. Randy Bryant, a 6-3, 225-pound tackle, moved over to center. Seniors

Football

Wendell Springfield and guard Keith Redwine remained at tackle and guard, respectively.

It was that offensive line, along with the running prowess of Willis and Rudolph, and the ballhandling of Hillery which moved the Seminoles to a touchdown and a field goal in the 10-7 victory over DeLand.

Ten points might not sound like much, but for an offense which had not scored in five weeks (four games), the defense must figure it was playing for the Miami Hurricanes.

Hillery said he felt like a combination of Vinny Testaverde and Jim McMahon.

"I feel like I threw for 2,000 yards," he said after Friday's season finale. "It's like winning the Super Bowl. We all had faith in each other."

Modestly, he pointed to the efforts of Willis and Partlow as providing the difference. "Willis was really fired up. He did a heckuva job," Hillery said. "J.J. was confident. I told him, 'It's just like practice. Don't do anything different.'"

Hillery's first big contribution came in the second quarter. With Seminole facing a crucial third-and-14 at DeLand's 41, Hillery rolled to his left and unloaded a long pass down the left sideline toward Walter "Dunkman" Hopson. Two defenders were in front of Hopson but the ball spiraled just over their outstretched fingers. Hopson curled his large hands around the ball at the DeLand 10 and fell backwards to the 7.

It was a perfect throw and perfect catch: the most shocking play of the first half. Willis chugged the remaining seven yards into the end zone untouched on the next play as the line opened a gaping hole. Partlow's PAT gave the 'Noles a 7-0 lead with 5:01 left in the first half.

"It was a 91-spot," Hopson, promising 6-4 junior with great leaping ability, said. "Herb hung it up and I got under it. I just wanted it."

Hillery completed 3 of 10 passes for 54 yards and one interception, but he two others dropped. Statistics aside, it was Hillery's stability at quarterback which allowed Seminole the luxury of finally pairing Willis and Rudolph.

"Herb did a damn good job," Willis said. "He really handled the ball well and made some great throws."

After Hillery's effort, the question was obvious: Could the switch have been made sooner in the season?

"That's something that everybody will ask," Maiolini said. "It's tough to answer but we just didn't think Herb was ready earlier. Playing quarterback involved a lot of things. He didn't really get them down until the past few weeks."

Mousure agreed. "I'm sure we'll be

Hillery

second-guessed, but he just wasn't ready until the past couple weeks," he said. "But I was especially happy for Dwayne. He made the sacrifice to play quarterback without complaining. He was able to blossom a little bit Friday."

Maiolini agreed. "People got to see the kind of running back Dwayne Willis really is," he said. "With a team like Lake Howell, he would have ran for 2,000 yards."

Ninety-one were just enough Friday.

WUEZ-AM 14 play-by-play announcer Steve Luba had to be corrected by partner Stan Lee a couple of times for confusing Hillery and Willis in Friday's game.

Luba had a good comeback, though. "Listen," he told Lee. "It's been Willis pitches to Hillery all year. I can't get used to Hillery pitches to Willis."

All Or Nothing For Howell Tonight

County Teams Prepare Plans For Postseason

The high school football regular season came to an end Friday night. For most teams it is time to think of what could have been. For others, it is time to prepare for the postseason.

The Lake Howell Silver Hawks, Seminole Athletic Conference champions, are a team that has proved time and time again that brute strength usually prevails.

Lake Howell, 9-1, will participate in Kansas tiebreaker tonight at Apopka High School to determine the District 5A-5 champion. Lake Howell, Winter Park, and Apopka all finished with 4-1 district records.

Last Tuesday the names of the three schools were put in a box. The first draw was to determine the site and Apopka was picked out of the box. Since there are three teams in the playoff, one team would receive a bye. Apopka was also chosen to receive the bye. The Blue Darters were very lucky to be the host, and receive the bye.

Winter Park and Lake Howell will square off first with the winner to take on Apopka. Lake Howell crushed Winter Park 31-14 earlier in the season while falling to Apopka 10-7.

Although playing first may seem to be a disadvantage on the surface, it may actually be quite an advantage. Here's why: The winner of the first tie-breaker is going to be sky high. The team is going to be very confident after posing a win. Apopka, meanwhile, will be watching the first tiebreaker from the sidelines. The Darters will have to come in cold and the mental advantage, which is very important since high school football is so emotional, will go to the team that won the first tiebreaker.

The team that wins the playoff won't have any picnic in the playoffs as the winner will face District 5A-6's Vero Beach, a 13-10 overtime winner over Merritt Island. The game will be played on Friday at Vero Beach.

Lake Howell got another sound performance last Friday in the Hawks 21-0 dumping of Oviedo. The nine wins gives Lake Howell its best record in school history. Running back Nate Hoskins went over the 1,000 yard mark for the season as the rugged senior rushed for 108 yards and a pair of touchdowns.

The Lake Mary Rams, 7-3, are heading for the Rotary Bowl on Wednesday against Orlando Evans, 7-3. Lake Mary has won its last six games in a row thanks to a tenacious defense. Lake Mary has only given up 20 points in its last six games. With that kind of defense, it is easy to see why Lake Mary is winning.

The Rams held the inept Lyman offense in check as most teams have this season. Lyman threw four interceptions with one being returned 23 yards for a touchdown by Mike Smith.

The Lake Mary-Evans Rotary Bowl should be a very interesting game. The game will be held at Lyman. Kickoff is at 8. Tickets are $3 will all of the proceeds going to charity.

Seminole ended its season with a bang as kicker J.J. Partlow booted a 27-yard field goal to lift Seminole to a dramatic 10-7 upset win over DeLand. For Partlow it was an opportunity that all kickers cherish.

Seminole ended the season 4-6, but coach Dave Mosure said the win will carry over to next season. "This win was a big injection of enthusiasm," Mosure said. "It will help us preparing for next year."

Oviedo ended its season 6-4 with a very young team. The Lions were simply overpowered by Lake Howell. Oviedo surprised a lot of people this year and should be proud of its record.

The Lyman Greyhounds ended the season 4-6. Lyman scored a total of 59 points. The Greyhounds did lead the county in one category: shutouts. Lyman was shut out four times this season (Mainland 14-0, Spruce Creek 9-0, Lake Howell 25-0, and Lake Mary 17-0). Lyman, however, played sound defense all season but never established any type of offensive consistency.

Let's hear it for the Lake Brantley Patriots! Brantley finally won a game as the Pats tamed Boone, 33-14. In the "Winless Bowl," the win broke a 10-game losing streak.

By Mike Andrew
Special to the Herald

The season began all the way back last spring in shorts and helmets. Slowly, the stiffness, and pain began to work itself out in the hot sunshine. Shoulder pads and girdles were donned and finally there was full contact drills, and then the dreaded "two-a-days."

Over the summer, much of the time was spent in the weight room. Burning muscles and grilling teeth. All working for the upcoming season, and a shot at the district crown.

Then came the fall, with the regular season was just around the corner. It was practice, practice, and more practice.

Ten games were played, leaving a lot of blood and flesh on the field for the glory of the team. More than flesh and blood and sweat, a lot of heart was poured out on the gridiron.

All of this, and the season comes down to eight plays — four offensive and four defensive.

Tonight's district playoff between Winter Park, Lake Howell and Apopka features a three-way Kansas tiebreaker in which each team will have four plays from their 10-yard line to try to score — in an all or nothing duel.

Some might argue that this isn't the fairest way to settle the tie, and others will say that one lucky play could decide the winner. However, the other district teams at Orlando Evans, Winter Garden West Orange, and Lake Brantley would gladly have their season extended by eight plays.

No, it might not be the best way to settle the three-way tie in 5A-5, but the Silver Hawks will take it. Just ask Howell quarterback Mark Wainwright.

"We can't wait," Wainwright said. "This is what we've been waiting for all season. We worked all year for the district championship and now we get a chance."

Tonight's playoff pits the Silver Hawks against Winter Park in the first series at 7:30 at Apopka High School. The winner then faces off against the host Blue Darters immediately following. Each team has a 4-1 district record and each team has lost to one of the other teams involved tonight.

Apopka handed the ninth-ranked Silver Hawks their only loss of the year, 10-7, on Oct. 3. The Silver Hawks, in turn, soundly defeated Winter Park, 31-14. And Apopka lost its only district game just as convincingly, 25-0, in the second game of the season against the Wildcats.

It seems as if each team has a score to settle, and tonight is the night.

"I hope we get a chance to play Apopka again," Lake Howell coach Mike Bisceglia said. "I'd like to make up for that loss, but we play Winter Park first, and don't forget, they have a score to settle too."

The winner earns the right to advance to the regional playoffs, and into the state tournament with a victory there.

All past records and scores are now tossed out the window and everyone starts anew.

"We are all looking forward to playing," Howell linebacker Jeff Harris said. "I just hope we get another shot at Apopka. We've got something we need to rectify."

"The district is the most important thing to us," Harris continued. "But, I think the fact that we might get another shot at Apopka makes it that much better. We're playing really well now, and want to make up for that only loss. I'm sure Winter Park feels the same way about us, though."

Harris' teammate, Craig Wagner, admits that the Silver Hawks were looking forward to this earlier, in preparation for the playoff.

"I think we might have been looking past Oviedo (the Silver Hawks defeated Oviedo 21-0 on Friday) a little to this," Wagner said. "Even though we didn't talk about it much, we were all thinking about what we're going to have to do, in the tiebreaker, we won't be able to make any mistakes."

Bisceglia concedes, that although each team enters on equal ground, Apopka might have the advantage.

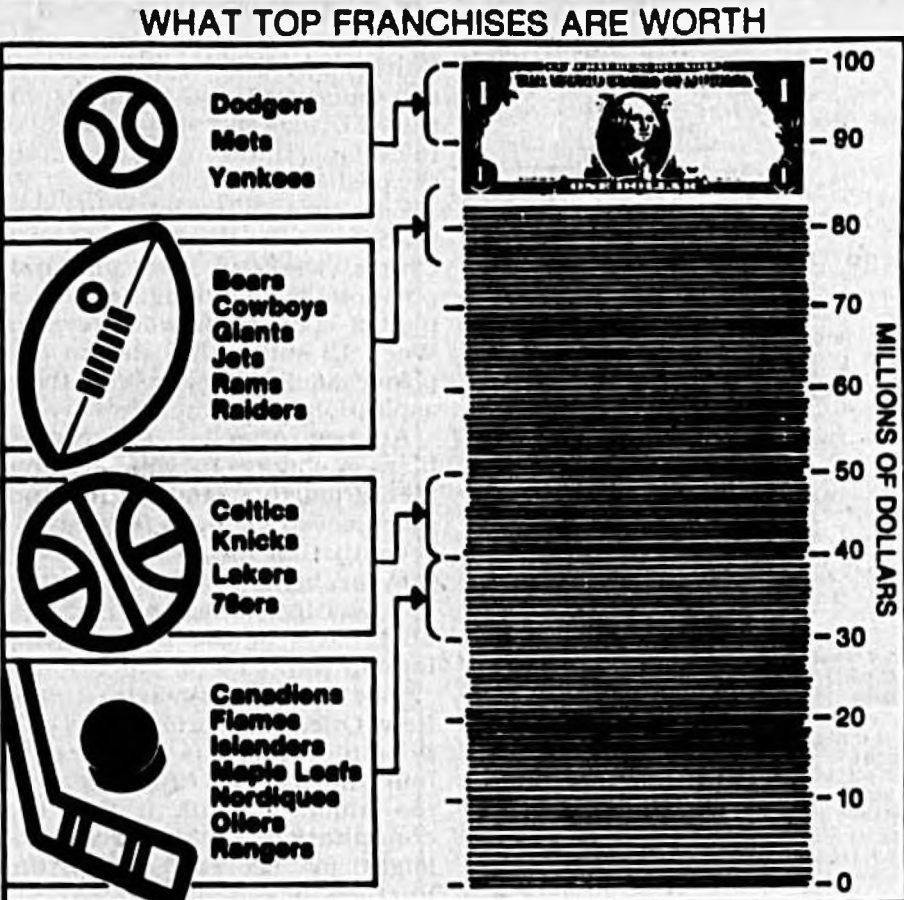

"Apopka has it all in their favor," Bisceglia said. "They've had a week off, they have a bye in the first round, and it's at their place."

"Each team will be preparing for the tie-breaker," Bisceglia added. "But we're all kind of limited. There just isn't that much you can do from the 10. You won't see any wide-open offenses, or defenses. We'll just work on a couple of different plays that will give us options down there for each situation."

"Defensively we won't change," he continued. "We're not going to adjust anything that's working well. Again, we'll just try to be sharp."

The winner of tonight's playoff will advance to the Region 5A-3 playoff on Friday against Vero Beach at Vero Beach.

Houston's 3-Point Bombs Destroy Manatee, 82-73

By Sam Cook
Herald Sports Editor

Malcolm Houston hasn't found a way to double his basketball pleasure yet — but he's getting close.

Houston, Seminole Community College's sharpshooter freshman guard, gunned home six, three-pointers Saturday night as the Raiders won their ninth consecutive game, 82-73, over Manatee in junior college basketball at Bradenton.

The 9-0 Raiders are second-ranked in the state poll and eagerly anticipating tonight's new rankings. Coach Bill Payne's crew finally returns home Tuesday night when it hosts Florida College at 7:30 at the SCC Health Center. There is no charge for admission.

Houston, who is averaging a team-leading 19.4 points per game, helped put 1-4 Manatee into an early hole Saturday. The 6-0 second guard erased a 2-0 Manatee advantage with a pair of bombs as SCC ran to a 14-2 advantage.

Early foul trouble, which sent 6-6 Claude Jackson, 6-8 Vance Hall and Houston to the pine, however, allowed Manatee to get back into 'he game. The trio had 25 points in the first 11 minutes. Without them, Manatee rallied for a 36-36 deadlock at halftime.

MCC jumped out to a 47-44 lead after intermission but Jackson, who finished with 16 points, stole the ball and drove the length of the court for a dunk. He was fouled and converted the three-point play for a tie game.

Hall led all scorers with 22 points and 12 boards. Barry Dunning chipped in nine rebounds. Darris Gallagher continued his find point play with 13 points, nine assists and three steals.

LADY RAIDERS TOP PENSACOLA IN OT

SCC's Lady Raiders also enjoyed a successful Saturday as they avenged an earlier loss with a 78-73 overtime victory over Pensacola in the consolation final of the Lady Raider Basketball Classic at SCC's Health Center. Miami Dade topped Edison, 77-67, in the title game.

Paula White and Pam Jackson combined for 10 points in the overtime to ignite the victory.

Tyson Hurdles Berbick, Eyes Undisputed Crown

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — Mike Tyson, the youngest man to ever win a heavyweight title, plans on becoming the first undisputed heavyweight champ in nearly a decade.

Tyson captured the World Boxing Council heavyweight championship with a devastating showing Saturday night. He dropped Trevor Berbick twice and stopped him at 2:35 of the second round to become the youngest man to own a heavyweight title.

Tyson, who turned 20 on June 30, will next try to add the World Boxing Association title March 7. In that bout he will meet the winner of a Dec. 12 fight between champ Tim Witherspoon and Tony Tubbs. The winner of the March 7 fight advances to the heavyweight unification fight against International Boxing Federation champ Michael Spinks. The last undisputed world heavyweight champion was Muhammad Ali in 1978.

"I'm the youngest champion in the world. It will live forever," Tyson said. "I don't think this record will ever be broken."

Tyson passed the stiffest test of his 20-month pro career with frightening ease. He dropped Berbick with four straight right-left combinations 19 seconds into the second round. Berbick arose at the count of three but his head never cleared. Tyson pounded away and a short left hook to the temple finished him.

Berbick went down on his back, then fell through the ropes while trying to rise. He made another attempt to get up, but tumbled to the canvas before popping up in a neutral corner. Referee Mills Lane said Berbick was up at nine but was in no shape to continue.

Boxing

Tyson, of Catskill, N.Y., improved to 28-0 with 26 knockouts and replaced Floyd Patterson as the youngest heavyweight champion in history.

His showing drew rave reviews from ringside viewers.

"That boy's got something in those hands," said George Foreman, who slugged his way to the heavyweight title in 1973, and is talking of making a comeback.

Angelo Dundee, who trained Ali throughout his career, trained Berbick for Saturday night's fight and admitted he underestimated Tyson.

"He had more hand speed than I thought," he said. "He hit my guy with some beauties. I like that right to the kidney, right uppercut, hook to the head — that's his own combination."

Spinks, who will be a heavy underdog if he meets Tyson, said he was not impressed. Spinks said Berbick simply fought poorly.

"I'd have been fighting back," Spinks said. "I'm not going to just stand there. I thought Berbick didn't fight back. I'll fight back."

"It looks as though Tyson hits awfully hard but he's no George Foreman. George could hurt you with an open hand, he could slap you and hurt you. I was surprised by Berbick's approach. He didn't do the right things."

But while Spinks was running down Tyson, his promoter, Butch Lewis, said he talked to Gerry Cooney's manager Dennis

LSU Slips By Notre Dame; Geography Next Obstacle

United Press International

The biggest obstacle separating Louisiana State from a Sugar Bowl berth is geography.

The eighth-ranked Tigers have finished their Southeastern Conference schedule with a 5-1 mark. No. 9 Alabama could tie the Tigers for the SEC title with a victory against No. 14 Auburn Saturday in Birmingham, but LSU has already beaten the Crimson Tide.

LSU was hoping its 21-19 victory against Notre Dame would prompt a Sugar Bowl invitation, but LSU has been put on hold by an indecisive group of officials.

The sticking point is the proximity of LSU's Baton Rouge home to New Orleans. Many Tiger fans would come to the Sugar Bowl only on the day of the game while Alabama partisans would flood New Orleans with tourist dollars.

"The bid won't be decided now," said Bill Martinez, chairman of the Sugar Bowl Selection Committee. "We're not trying to play hard to get — we just want to make the right decision."

LSU Coach Bill Arnsparger sounded miffed by the Sugar Bowl officials' actions.

"The only team that can catch us, we've already beaten," Arnsparger after freshman Tom Hodson threw three touchdown passes to edge Notre Dame. "We have to take care of our job on the field and the Sugar Bowl Committee has to take care of their job in that room of theirs. Championships are won on the field."

Unlike LSU, Michigan and Oklahoma secured their bowl berths with comeback victories Saturday. No. 3 Oklahoma scored 13 fourth-quarter points in Lincoln to beat No. 5 Nebraska 20-17 and earn an Orange Bowl berth, while sixth-ranked Michigan rebounded from an early 14-3 deficit to edge No. 7 Ohio State 26-24 in Columbus to land a Rose Bowl spot.

The Sooners captured the Big Eight title on Tim Lashar's 31-yard field goal with six seconds left, while Jamie Morris ran for a career-high 210 yards and two TDs to help Michigan Coach Bo Schembechler win a school-record 166th game and propel the 10-1 Wolverines into a matchup with Pac-10 champion Arizona State. The Buckeyes will settle for a Cotton Bowl berth against the Southwest Conference champion.

Barring a monumental upset, this year's national championship will be won at Tempe, Ariz., where No. 1 Miami and No. 2 Penn State will meet in the Fiesta Bowl Jan. 2. The Nittany Lions, 11-0, whipped Pittsburgh 34-14 as Blair Thomas returned a kickoff 91 yards for a TD and ran 2 yards for another score. Miami, 10-0, winds up the regular season against East Carolina Thursday night.

It was also a memorable day for individual achievement as Kevin Sweeney threw for 216 yards and a touchdown to become the NCAA career passing leader in Fresno State's 14-7 victory over Utah State. Sweeney finished his career with 10,623 yards passing, surpassing Doug Flutie's record of 10,579.

The nation's leading rusher, Paul Palmer, set an NCAA single-season record for all-purpose yardage as his Temple Owls beat Rutgers 29-22. Palmer ran for 89 yards and added 82 on kickoff returns to increase his career mark to 2,633, topping the 1981 record set by Marcus Allen at Southern Cal.

Three Top 20 teams in the West were upset. No. 15 Arizona, bound for the Aloha Bowl against North Carolina, whipped No. 4 Arizona State 34-17, and Freedom-bowl bound UCLA routed No. 10 Southern Cal 45-25. The Trojans will face Auburn in the Florida Citrus Bowl. Freshman Mike Ford scored on a 47-yard run to spark California past No. 16 Stanford 17-11. The Cardinals are headed for the Gator Bowl against Clemson.

No. 11 Texas A&M moved within a victory of a second straight SWC crown by trouncing Texas Christian 74-10. The 8-2 Aggies can clinch the conference title Thursday by beating Texas.

No. 13 Arkansas, 9-2, beat Southern Methodist 41-0 and will go to the Cotton Bowl if the Longhorns upset Texas A&M. No. 17 Baylor, 8-3, topped Texas 18-13 to earn a Bluebonnet Bowl berth opposite Colorado.

Barkley Gambles, Sparks Sixers' Win

United Press International

Charles Barkley gambled with his season Sunday night and was lucky.

Barkley, who missed nine games after suffering a spleen injury Nov. 4, returned to the lineup against a doctor's recommendation, and scored 12 points in the Philadelphia 76ers' 114-104 victory over the Houston Rockets.

"I was scared a lot," said Barkley, who had 8 rebounds and 5 assists in 23 minutes. "I didn't play as aggressively as I wanted to. I don't want to take any chances. I want to take it slow."

Trail Blazers 108, Pacers 95

At Portland, Ore., Kiki Vandeweghe scored 23 points to power the Trail Blazers and defeat Pacers Coach Jack Ramsay in his first game against his former team. The Trail Blazers extended their home-court winning streak to five games. It was the Pacers' third straight loss.

Lakers 127, Bucks 117

At Inglewood, Calif., Magic Johnson scored 23 points and dished off 10 assists to rally the Lakers to their ninth straight victory. Kareem Abdul-Jabbar added 21 points, and Michael Cooper came off the bench to score 20 for the Lakers. Ricky Pierce led the Bucks with 22 points.

Bucs' Mire Thickens, 38-17

By Ira Kaufman
United Press International
TAMPA (UPI) — The Tampa Bay Buccaneers remained mired in an undistinguished past Sunday while the Detroit Lions gleefully unveiled their future.

Jeff Chadwick caught an 18-yard touchdown pass and set up another score with a 73-yard reception as the Lions beat the Buccaneers 38-17. Detroit improved to 5-7 overall and 4-3 on the road — the first time since 1971 Detroit has won four road games in a season.

Making his NFL debut, first-round draft choice Chuck Long joined the fun, capping the scoring with a 34-yard touchdown pass to Leonard Thompson on his first pass attempt. Detroit opened a 28-10 advantage late in the third period on two touchdowns within an 86-second span as the Buccaneers fell to 2-10. Tampa Bay has won just 12 of its last 80 games and the Leeman Bennett era has opened with a 4-24 slate.

Football

"I'm not part of the Buccaneer organization, so I don't know about their talent," said Detroit's Jimmie Giles, a four-time Pro Bowl tight end waived by Tampa Bay last month. "I left there five weeks ago and I know they've had a lot of changes."

Obviously, not enough of them.

Long replaced veteran Joe Ferguson in the final minutes and burned the league's weakest defense by finding Thompson in the left corner on fourth down with 1:34 remaining.

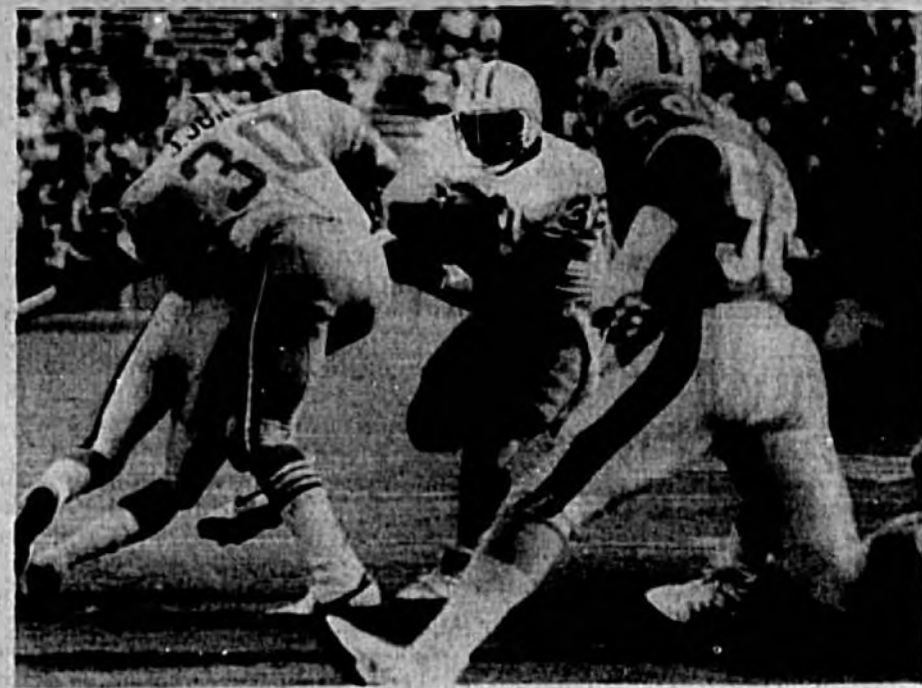

"I think I'm coming around," Long said. "It was a real thrill starting off my career with a TD pass. During the first three running plays, the line wanted me to throw the ball. On the fourth down, the line came all excited when I was told to throw the ball downtown."

After Tampa Bay pulled within 14-10 on James Wilder's 11-yard TD catch midway through the third quarter, Ferguson directed a 75-yard drive capped by the scoring pass to Chadwick with 1:42 left in the period. Rookie safety Devon Mitchell intercepted Steve Young at the Tampa Bay 19 two plays later and rookie Garry James made it 28-10 with a 13-yard TD burst off left tackle.

Eddie Murray added a 20-yard field goal for Detroit before Buccaneer rookie running back Pat Franklin caught a 2-yard TD pass with 2:14 left.

James Jones opened the scoring with a 1-yard plunge after Chadwick's 73-yard catch — Detroit's longest play from scrimmage this season and the longest reception of Chadwick's four-year career. Thompson caught a 4-yard TD pass from Ferguson late in the second quarter to give the Lions a 14-3 halftime lead.

SPORTS IN BRIEF

6 County Schools Kick Off Soccer Tuesday At Lake Mary

The Seminole Athletic Conference boys soccer jamboree will be held Tuesday night at Lake Mary High.

The jamboree starts at 6 p.m. with Oviedo playing Seminole High while Lake Mary takes on Lake Howell at 7 and Lake Brantley faces Lyman at 8. Each match will be a 40-minute half. Admission is $2 for adults and $1 for students.

Oviedo has two of the premier players in the SAC in high-scoring forward Greg Brick and goalkeeper Gordon King. Seminole is led by Matt Albert.

Lake Howell is led by Erik Bird, Jerry Phillips and Jeff Phillips while among Lake Mary's top performers are Scott Schmitt and Chris Riske.

Lyman returns scoring mashing Gerard Mitchell (16 goals last season) with George Kourlis another top returnee while Brantley is led by the trio of Paul Ahrens, Chad Maric and Corey Sheffield, all three of whom played for the Florida Select team this past summer.

The regular season for SAC teams starts the week of Dec. 1.

Girls' Booters 'Jam' Tonight

The Seminole Athletic Conference girls soccer jamboree is scheduled for tonight with three, 40-minute halves at Lake Mary High.

The opening half, starting at 4 p.m., matches defending SAC champion Lyman against Oviedo's Lady Lions. At 5 p.m., Lake Howell battles Seminole High while Lake Mary and Lake Brantley square off at 6. Admission is $2 for adults and $1 for students.

Lyman's Lady Greyhounds, second in the state last season, are led by all-state defender Karen Abernethy while Oviedo's Lady Lions are led by Kelly Price and Jill Knutson.

Lake Howell has almost everyone returning from last year's improved team while Seminole is led by all-state keeper Sherri Rumler and Vicky "Spuffy" Pakovic.

High-scoring Kelley Broen and Donna Rohr lead Lake Mary while all-state defender Reenie Deaver and leading scorer Julie DelRusso are among Brantley's top players.

Double Faults Aid Zivojinovic

HOUSTON (UPI) — Slobodan Zivojinovic capitalized on consecutive double-faults by Scott Davis to post a 6-1, 4-6, 6-3 victory Sunday in the finals of the $279,000 WCT Houston Shootout for his first Grand Prix title.

The Yugoslavian seized control when Davis faltered in the sixth game of the third set. Trailing 3-2 but even on serve, Davis led 30-15 in the sixth game when he committed the back-to-back double faults.

Zivojinovic increased his lead to 5-2 and 40-love, but it took four match points before he captured the first prize of $44,000.

Martina Thrashes Graf In Slims

NEW YORK (UPI) — From Martina Navratilova to all comes hearty wishes for a happy holiday.

She knows she will enjoy her extended vacation to the fullest, without nagging questions from well-meaning people asking her "how come?"

Navratilova saved herself the bother of a lot of needless conversation when she thrashed Steffi Graf, 7-6 (8-6), 6-3, 6-2, Sunday to win the $1 million Virginia Slims Championships for the fourth successive time.

"I'm glad that I came though," Navratilova said.

Bowls: Half An Orange?

United Press International
The Orange Bowl picture is only half complete, but the rest of the Florida bowl games extended their bids Saturday to complete the post-season college football lineup while Florida State accepted a bid to play in the All-American Bowl.

Top-ranked Miami declined to make any announcements about officially accepting a bid until after its Thanksgiving night game with East Carolina. If Miami wins, the Hurricanes will play Penn State in the Fiesta Bowl in Tempe, Ariz., Jan. 2.

The third-ranked Sooners will play either second-ranked Penn State, No. 11 Texas A&M, or No. 13 Arkansas New Year's night in the Orange Bowl. In the other Florida bowl games, it will be Georgia and Boston College in the Hall of Fame Bowl in Tampa Dec. 23, Clemson and Stanford in the Gator Bowl Dec. 27 in Jacksonville, and Auburn and UCLA in the Citrus Bowl Jan. 1.

Oklahoma, 10-1, will find out its opponent Thanksgiving night. If Miami defeats East Carolina and Texas A&M beats Texas to win the Southwest Conference championship, Arkansas will make its second Orange Bowl appearance. If Miami loses to 2-8 East Carolina, Penn State has the option of playing Oklahoma in the Orange Bowl or the Hurricanes in the Fiesta Bowl.

If Texas A&M loses and Miami wins, the Aggies will play in the Orange Bowl. The SWC runner-up would play in the Fiesta Bowl if Penn State opted to come to Miami.

Penn State Coach Joe Paterno earlier this week said the Nittany Lions would play in the Orange Bowl if Miami was upset by East Carolina. Orange Bowl President Stan Marks said.

In Tallahassee, the Florida State Seminoles accepted a bid to play Indiana in the All-American Bowl in Birmingham, Ala., Dec. 31. Florida State is 6-3-1, while Indiana is 6-5.

"We practiced on East Carolina this morning and we've just got to make sure that we concentrate on business," Johnson said.

Hawks in the end.

"The best thing about it is the girls won it the way it should be won," Hammontree said. "They believed in themselves and their ability and they never acted superior to anyone. To be able to do it on those terms is a tremendous testimony to them."

Samocki and senior Martha Fonseca were again a solid one-two punch for the Lady Hawks. Samocki finished fourth overall and third in the team scoring with a time of 11:50 while Fonseca came in 10th at 12:05.

Largo, top-ranked going into the meet, looked strong as junior Mylan Moffatt took the individual title with a time of 11:45.2 and freshman Jenni Soles was third at 11:48.1. Winter Park had senior Kim Bovis in fifth (11:55.8) and senior Janice Wilder seventh (12:00.2).

"I knew who was in the top 10," Martha Fonseca said. "And our top-two wasn't the highest. But I had no idea where the rest of our team was. About 10 minutes after the race, people started to indicate that we had won. It was a great team effort. The third through seventh runners really came through."

After the top two for Lake Howell, Largo and Winter Park came in. It was a toss up until Mary Fonseca, Jenny Bolt, Bonnie Oliver and Tammy Bolt and Diane Madison gave the Lady Hawks a top seven that looked unbeatable.

Mary Fonseca completed a prep career hampered by injuries with a tremendous senior season. Fonseca finished 12th in the team scoring Saturday with a time of 12:32.

"I felt really strong today," Mary Fonseca said. "I usually run close to (Mary) Glasgow of Winter Park and when I passed her I knew Winter Park was out of it. I thought it would be close between us and Largo. When the Largo coach came over and congratulated us, I knew we had it. But I still wanted to hear it announced."

Jenny Bolt, a sophomore, further strengthened the Lady Hawks hold on first place as she too passed Winter Park's number three runner (Glasgow) in the last 50 yards and finished 22nd overall and 17th in the team scoring at 12:40.

Oliver, a junior, was Lake Howell's fifth runner and she finished 35th at 13:06. Oliver's performance was a notable one since she came in at least 10 places ahead of the number five runners for Largo and Winter Park.

Sophomore Tammy Bolt gave the Lady Hawks a solid number six as she came in 38th at 13:10 and also finished ahead of both Largo and Winter Park's fifth runner. Madison, a senior runner in her first state meet, finished 15th. Burgess swam a 1:01.89 to establish a school record. "Cissy did a real good job against some older competition," Seminole coach Donalyn Knight said. "It was a great state meet with some excellent competition."

Moon had an excellent state meet in taking fourth in the 100 free (54.19) and fifth in the 50 free (25.03). Lake was seventh in the 50 free (25.24). Davis took third in the 100 breaststroke at 1:08.06, and again it was Spanish River taking the top two places.

"The team performance was excellent," Parnell said. "That's what we were shooting for. We've got everyone but our number one diver coming back next year so we hope to do real well again."

Stocks Open Lower

NEW YORK (UPI) — Prices opened lower today in active trading of New York Stock Exchange issues, stalling a rally that pushed prices higher despite the disruption of the biggest insider-trading scandal in history.

The Dow Jones Industrial average, which gained 19.97 last week, was down 3.52 to 1890.04 shortly after the market opened.

Declines led advances 567-403 among the 1,456 issues crossing the New York Stock Exchange tape.

Early turnover amounted to about 13,350,000 shares.

The stock market advanced in tumultuous trading last week, rebounding from an early sell-off spurred by the Ivan Boesky insider-trading scandal.

After losing 56 points on the first two days of the week, the Dow Jones Industrial average climbed 76 on the final three days.

The Boesky scandal prompted selling Monday, especially among issues at the center of rumored or announced takeover developments.

Selling accelerated Tuesday: the Dow plunged 43.31 points. Panicked dumping of potential takeover issues led to talk that arbitrage desks at major brokerage houses had suffered substantial losses.

On Wednesday, investors sought safe haven in the heavily capitalized blue chip stocks that comprise the Dow Jones Industrial average. Buying spread from those issues to the broader market Thursday: the Dow jumped 34.03 points.

Dollar Shows Gain As Gold Declines

By United Press International

The U.S. dollar was higher on most major world money markets today in light trading. The price of gold moved lower.

In Frankfurt the dollar rose to 2.026 German marks, against Friday's close of 2.0152.

In Zurich the dollar opened at 1.6945 Swiss francs, against a previous of 1.6805; in Paris at 6.6315 French francs, against 6.602 on Friday; in Amsterdam at 2.289 Dutch guilders, against 2.276; and in Milan at 1,402.75 lira, against a previous close of 1,395.35.

In London the pound fell slightly to $1.4175, against a previous of $1.4195 on Friday.

The Tokyo Foreign Exchange was closed for a national holiday.

In early New York trading the dollar was narrowly mixed in light trading against major foreign currencies.

Dealers in New York said the market was "on hold" awaiting this week's economic news on the nation's consumer price index, due to be released on Tuesday.

Gold fell $11 an ounce in Zurich to $379.50 an ounce, against Friday's close of $390.50.

In London gold opened $4 an ounce lower at $379.25, against a previous close of $383.25.

The morning fixing in London was $380.40, off $2.85 from Friday's close.

Silver fell 20 cents at the opening in Zurich to $5.25 an ounce, against Friday's close of $5.45; in London it lost 14 cents an ounce opening at $5.24, against $5.38.

In earlier trading in the Far East, gold closed at $379.35 an ounce on the Hong Kong Bullion Exchange, off $9.20 from Friday's close.

In early trading on New York's Comex, a 100-troy-ounce gold futures contract for current delivery in November opened at $380.30 an ounce, up $1.40 from Friday's close.

Decision Due On Eastern Takeover

MIAMI (UPI) — A federal judge in Miami is expected to rule today on a request by a coalition of unions representing Eastern Airlines' employees to delay for 30 days the takeover by Texas Air Corp. Chairman Frank Lorenzo.

Eastern shareholders are scheduled to meet in New York Tuesday to approve the $676 million deal. Lorenzo already owns 51 percent of Eastern's stock, assuring shareholder approval.

Lawyers for financially troubled Eastern said in a hearing Friday a court-ordered delay of a merger would cost the carrier $135 million.

Lawyer F. Lee Bailey, representing the union coalition, said his clients were asking for 30 days to enable them to show U.S. District Judge Lawrence King that the merger decision was not properly reached.

Bailey said Eastern's board of directors agreed to the merger with Texas Air only because members feared they would be sued.

Harbour Place, Smith also plans to build a yacht club or 10,000 square foot retail structure on additional land he leases from the city. This parcel lies just east of the 14,000 square foot structure.

Smith and city staff worked up the original parking plan last winter, when Sanford's Planning and Zoning Board said One Harbour Place would crowd boat trailers off the site.

Volk said he had proposed the revisions because the same will hold true for both his and Smith's customers if the city used the original plan.

The city's plan states approximately 55 double spaces for either car or trailer parking. Volk's revisions did not pare the number of double spaces, but limited boat trailer parking to 20 of them. His revisions also prohibited all trailers from the field used by the Rivership Romance, which operates under sub-lease to Volk.

Volk also rents space in the Monroe Harbour Marine building to Smith for his Bada Marine operation. Under Volk's proposal, the paved area in front of the marina building would be formally designated for "boat display." Right now the area is used by Smith's Bada Marine for this purpose without the formal designation.

Smith has rented the Bada Marine office from Volk for two years. He said possible impacts his decision would have on his business relationship with Volk "haven't been discussed" and "would remain to be seen."

When contacted by the Sanford Herald Saturday Smith said he supported the parking plan, but this morning he said he's reconsidered the decision and "if I was asked by the city for my opinion, I'd oppose it." Volk's proposed revisions to the plan included a letter indicating Smith's support.

"At first blush it seemed the (revised) plan would be beneficial," Smith said. "It would be convenient without a lot of trailers on the site, but these people spend money on the site and in downtown Sanford. After careful consideration, I feel there's a lot more benefit with them continuing to use the lot."

Volk acknowledged he's been aware of the original parking plan since its development, but said "Since the design, I saw a need for its changing."

He also acknowledged the amendments "would probably not have gone over well" with boaters, but added, "there didn't seem to have been much choice. By 8 a.m. on weekends and holidays the lot is completely filled with trailers."

The site has been longtime center for pleasure boaters who launch from a ramp in the main field's southern corner. Volk said rather than park in the field after launching, the boaters could go across to the city's municipal lot.

Volk also although the amended plan "would be a burden on some of the people who come to launch, I feel the city has an obligation (to its lessors) to have adequate parking for our own customers.

"We pay the city to use this land, boaters who park here don't," Volk said.

Sanford Planning and Engineering Director Bill Simmons said his department did not plan to recommend in favor of either plan.

Pope Arrives In Australia

WELLINGTON, New Zealand (UPI) — Pope John Paul II urged world leaders Sunday to put ideological issues aside, but carefully avoided mentioning New Zealand's anti-nuclear policy that has led to a rift between Wellington and the United States.

Anti-nuclear activists hoped the pontiff would comment on Prime Minister David Lange's decision to bar all nuclear-armed or nuclear-powered ships — including U.S. vessels — from New Zealand's ports.

But John Paul carefully avoided any reference to the sensitive issue because of its political nature, Vatican spokesman Joaquin Navarro said.

The pope has made it a policy to refrain from commenting on issues that could involve the Vatican in political controversies. In a speech Monday in Christchurch, he called on whites and native Polynesians to get along.

In a stern address, John Paul defended the rights of indigenous peoples throughout the South Pacific and warned others who came as settlers not to exploit or belittle Polynesians.

"The peoples coming from Europe, and more recently from Asia, have not come to a desert," the pontiff declared. "They have come to a land already marked by a rich and ancient heritage, and they are called to respect and foster that heritage as a unique and essential element of the identity of this country."

Speaking at Christchurch's major sports park on the seventh day of a two-week tour of Asia and the Pacific, the pope warned that attitudes of "racial and cultural superiority, exploitation or discrimination" hinder justice and destroy harmony and peace.

The pontiff, who regularly defends the rights of indigenous peoples in his frequent travels around the world, said New Zealand's native Maoris must learn to live in harmony with European and Asian settlers.

Maoris make up 9 percent of New Zealand's population, compared to 89 percent whites, mainly of British origin.

His outdoor address was briefly stalled by a fierce rainstorm that sent priests scurrying to protect chalices and other religious objects and forced the crowd to seek shelter. But 10 minutes later the rain stopped.

During the pope's speech, a woman broke through police lines and ran to the altar. She was hustled away by police who later said the woman was incoherent and posed no threat.

Immediately after the mass, the pontiff left for Australia aboard an Air New Zealand

Boeing 767. John Paul, at the half-way point of his 14-day tour of Asia and the Pacific, arrived in Canberra at the Fairbairn Royal Australian Air Force base at 3:12 p.m. Monday (11:12 p.m. EST Sunday) after a three-hour, 15-minute flight.

The pope appeared Sunday in Wellington at an outdoor mass in chilly weather for 25,000 people gathered at Athletic Park, anointed the sick and met with the country's bishops.

He did not speak of Lange's tough anti-nuclear stand that has triggered a controversy with the United States and France, which conducts nuclear testing on its overseas territory of Mururoa Island, 1,900 miles northeast of Wellington.

Last summer the United States indefinitely suspended its commitment to New Zealand's security, called for by the ANZUS regional pact between the two countries and Australia.

In a meeting with diplomats, the pope said, "Excessive self-interest can only lead to strategies of injustice, repression and violence, whether within a nation or between nations."

Catholics make up 14.4 percent of New Zealand's population, compared to 25.6 percent Anglicans, 16.5 percent Presbyterians and 4.7 percent Methodists.

Press," said Shultz has lost "some credibility," particularly among U.S. allies. At the same time, he said "it would be a supreme paradox" to dismiss a man who opposed the arms deal.

Nunn said the fundamental problem is that Reagan "still is not clear on what his administration has done."

Former Secretary of State Henry Kissinger indicated Shultz undercut his position by exposing his opposition to the arms deal with Iran.

"In the end," Kissinger said, "it is the duty of the secretary of state to get along with the president, not the president to get along with the secretary of state."

The Post said the Californians want former Transportation Secretary Drew Lewis to replace Reagan and Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger to replace Shultz. Former U.N. Ambassador Jeane Kirkpatrick was mentioned as a successor to Poindexter.

To succeed, the Californians would have to overcome the intense loyalty Reagan has displayed to his staff in times of crisis.

But Mrs. Reagan's involvement could prove decisive. Intensely protective, she is regarded as more sensitive to political trouble than her husband — and more willing to jettison those responsible.

"It always bothers her when the president is criticized," said Elaine Crispin, Mrs. Reagan's press secretary. "She certainly has a wifely concern, but never has mentioned any particular person. They're very, very close, so it hurts when he is attacked."

The effort to persuade Reagan to move against his own advisers reflects a growing belief even among some of his staunchest supporters that the Iranian connection, if not bad policy from the start, has become a major blunder that threatens his leadership.

Able in the past to escape damage to his credibility or popularity by explaining his actions to the American people, polls show Reagan has suffered a blow to both despite a televised address to the nation and a prime-time news conference.

To the dismay of some supporters, he stridently defended his actions instead of admitting the full consequences had not been considered when he authorized the sale of arms to Iran in January.

Opinion Split About Boy 'Opting For Abstinence'

DEAR ABBY: Hallelujah! My faith in the younger generation has been restored after reading the letter from the 17-year-old young man signed "Opting for Abstinence." He said he has had sex, and thinks that bowling is more fun. How refreshing for a teen-ager to request more letters about barking dogs, people who are too fat, too short or were born on Christmas — anything but sex, for a change. You would do well to listen to him, Abby.

SEVENTY AND SICK OF SEX

DEAR ABBY: Please don't listen to that 17-year-old kid who is "Opting for Abstinence." At 17, what does he know? I like the way you choose a variety of subjects. You deal with human problems, and sex happens to be a part of being human — and a very important part, in case "Opting" isn't aware of it. Just keep on giving us whatever comes in your mail, Abby. We don't need censorship by weeding out the letters dealing with sex.

OPTING FOR TRUTH IN DENVER

DEAR ABBY: Re the young man who said bowling was more fun than sex: Please publish the address of his bowling alley.

EDREDD

DEAR ABBY: "Opting for Abstinence" has a right to opt for anything he wants, but please don't change your format. I've learned a lot from your column over the years (I'm a 37-year-old married man now), and am all the better informed for it. I have yet to see anything I considered harmful for a child to read. Our daughter is 11, and she reads it every day. Your column has opened some healthy discussions in our family. Keep up the good work.

H.H.J., SEATTLE

DEAR ABBY: I think your column is a very interesting peek at people, their attitudes, insights, concerns and problems. I look forward to it daily because it lets men know that I am not alone. Sex is very important to a lot of people; that's why it's such a popular topic. Let's hope "Opting" will mature enough to appreciate its value. There is a real need today for psychiatrists, psychologists, priests and Dear Abby. Nobody else will listen.

JUNE IN SAN DIEGO

DEAR ABBY: I have a message for that 17-year-old boy who says sex is boring and bowling is more fun. I have tried both, and sex has it all over bowling. Besides, you don't have to change your shoes.

Your Heart Problem May Require Surgery

Dr. Gott

DEAR DR. GOTT — I had rheumatic fever when I was 14. As a result, I have a grade III systolic murmur in the apex and mitral insufficiency. I have pain and burning in my left shoulder and arm, shortness of breath, weakness and fainting. Should I be on medication? Is surgery the only answer? What can I expect as I get older? I'm now 27.

DEAR READER — The mitral valve is one of the heart valves that prevents backflow of blood. Years ago, when rheumatic fever — a consequence of some streptococcal infections — was common, patients were apt to develop mitral disease, as you did. In most cases, mitral stenosis (a rigid valve that does not open readily) or mitral insufficiency (a flail valve that doesn't close completely) were complications that needed correction.

Murmurs are extra sounds in the heart, caused by eddy currents and turbulence as the blood either has trouble passing through the valve or is inappropriately squirted backwards through a valve that doesn't close completely. In both instances, the normal flow of blood is disrupted and the heart has to work harder to do its job.

New tests, such as ultrasound exams and cardiac angiography, enable specialists to determine with precision which part of the heart valve is malfunctioning and to what extent.

Your murmur is loud (grade III) and your symptoms seem to indicate that your circulation is faulty because of mitral disease. Surgery may be the best option for you. However, this decision can be made only after appropriate tests are made on your heart.

In my opinion, you need treatment: medicine to reduce the work of the heart or surgery to repair (or replace) the valve. As you grow older, the situation is likely to worsen, because few health problems improve with age: your heart eventually will tire after many years of trying to compensate for mitral insufficiency. I suggest that you seek a consultation with a cardiologist and agree to have the necessary tests to determine which type of treatment would be best for you. Be informed about prescription drugs: Send for Dr. Gott's new Health Report, CONSUMER TIPS ON MEDICINES. For your copy, send $1 and your name and address to P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428. Be sure to mention the title.

WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby

Jimmy Kauder comes from a bridge-playing family. His late father was a well-known life master; his mother, Mary Jane Farrell, won numerous North American and international championships. Jimmy was a formidable adversary, but I have not seen him for a while at North American championships. However, this report from a friend who played with Kauder recently at a California rubber bridge club shows that he is as sharp as ever.

Although you may not like the bidding, accept it and then place yourself in the East chair with Jimmy Kauder. Against the four-heart contract, partner leads the two of spades. Declarer wins the ace and plays a diamond to dummy's queen immediately. You win the king of diamonds. What next? If you routinely return a spade, note the consequence. Declarer will win the king and play A-K of hearts. When declarer realizes trumps are not breaking, he will resort to making the contract by scoring his trumps 'en passant.' He will play a diamond to the ace and ruff a diamond, then a club to the queen and another diamond ruff. Finally, a club to the ace and another club. If at any time East trumps in front of him, South will shed his little spade. If East discards a spade, South will make the 10th trick with another small trump.

Kauder casually dropped a monkey wrench into all of this intricate bridge machinery by playing a club back after winning the diamond king. Now declarer could not return to dummy the required number of times to get three ruffs in, and the contract had to fail.

HOROSCOPE

What The Day Will Bring...

YOUR BIRTHDAY NOVEMBER 25, 1988

Additional revenues will come your way in the year ahead, but you must manage each situation prudently. The same type of opportunity might not come around again for a long time.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Your public image is a trifle more fragile today than you may realize. Don't put yourself in a position where envious associates could take potshots at you. Know where to look for romance and you'll find it. The Astro-Craph Matchmaker set instantly reveals which signs are romantically perfect for you. Mail $2 to Matchmaker, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Usually you are a rather consistent person, but today there's a chance you might be both unduly negative and unrealistically optimistic.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Today, try to get more out of your head than you do out of your purse. Don't spend money for something that you can acquire through shrewd trading.

FISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) You will be judged today by the company you keep. Be sure to select companions who will enhance your image instead of detracting from it.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) If you are handling a delicate matter for another today, treat it with the same respect you have for your personal affairs. Carelessness could be costly.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) This is not a good day to take financial risks in areas about which you know little. If you are going to gamble, at least be sure you know the ground rules.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Be extremely careful how you handle critical negotiations today. You could win all the small points at the expense of losing the big ones.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) You've inflated the value of an idea you've been toying with, but this doesn't mean you should discard it completely.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Strive to be mindful of your budget today. Don't go on a spree, hoping you'll have funds later to cover what you spend now.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Be the one who calls attention to any faux pas you make today. If you do, associates will help rectify matters, rather than embarrass you about them.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) If you do not put a proper value on your services today, persons for whom you work won't do so either. Misplaced modesty reduces your compensation.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Today, you might be appointed spokesperson for something that involves your group of friends. Start out with tight plans so that things don't get out of hand.

FLORIDA

IN BRIEF

Marijuana Sting Operation Nets Eleven From Six States

CHIEFLAND (UPI) — A series of marijuana stings in north Florida that suspects thought would net them a total of 1,100 pounds of pot worth about $250,000 netted eleven arrests and capped a two-month undercover investigation, according to the Florida Department of Law Enforcement.

FDLE spokesman Fred Schneyer said Sunday the stings were conducted on "independent contractors" from six states at parking lots, restaurants and fast-food drive-through windows.

The suspects came to Levy and Taylor counties in north Florida to negotiate deals with a Miami man, Schneyer said. The arrests were made between noon and midnight Saturday.

The eleven showed up to meet with agents posing as smugglers, and were arrested as soon as the "deals" were complete, Schneyer said. The suspects wanted to buy a combined 1,100 pounds of marijuana for a total of about $250,000, he said.

"The arrests took place at a series of places around Chiefland — restaurants, parking lots, the drive-through windows of fast-food places, wherever the undercover people could arrange to meet them," Schneyer said.

All 11 face federal charges of conspiracy to possess marijuana with intent to distribute.

Comatose Patient Still Stable

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Despite misgivings about disconnecting an artificial feeding tube that was nourishing their daughter, the parents of a 28-year-old comatose patient said they had no choice.

Raymie Zahn, whose artificial feeding tube was removed under court order last Friday, remained in stable condition late Sunday, according to a nursing supervisor.

"My wife was upset at the thought that we were starving her to death," William Zahn said earlier. "But she's in a vegetative state now. What else could we do?"

Zahn has been in a coma at Memorial Hospital since February 1985, when a surgical accident cut off the flow of oxygen to her brain. Doctors say she is brain dead.

At her parents' request, Broward County Circuit Court Judge Raymond Hare ordered Thursday that the hospital disconnect the tube that was sending nourishment and medication into her stomach.

She was taken off an artificial feeding tube Friday and is not expected to live more than a week or so, Zahn had been taken off heart and breathing machines several months ago.

Bundy Wished Unhappy Birthday

STARKE (UPI) — If the Guardian Angels had their way, sex killer Ted Bundy would not be celebrating his 40th birthday today.

About 20 of the self-proclaimed guardians against street crime showed up outside the Florida State Prison, where Bundy is incarcerated, to protest the serial killer's latest court victory that stopped his execution last Tuesday. He had been scheduled to die in Florida's electric chair for the 1978 murder of a Lake City, Fla., schoolgirl Kimberly Leach.

Elderly Under Attack

CHICAGO (UPI) — The nation's elderly are under attack by members of their own family, with as many as a million people over 65 being chronically abused or neglected in their own homes, a major study indicates.

"Some people will be shocked by these numbers, but it's our feeling that we've probably underestimated the problem," said Karl Pillemer, of the Family Research Laboratory of the University of New Hampshire at Durham.

Surprisingly, the report presented at a national meeting of the Gerontological Society of America Friday also found that abusers of the elderly are primarily spouses, not children, and are typically dependent on the abused senior citizen rather than vice versa.

"This pretty much explodes the myth that elder abuse is perpetrated by children or caretakers who are overburdened by their dependent elder and are otherwise well-meaning but taking out their frustrations," Pillemer said Friday.

Pillemer and colleague David Finklehorn supervised the study, which involved 1,911 telephone and personal interviews with people over the age of 65 in the Boston area. An additional 109 primary caregivers were also interviewed.

Physical abuse was defined as at least one act of violence, verbal abuse as at least 10 threats in the previous year, and neglect as multiple instances in which the person was deprived of assistance needed for important activities of daily living. Economic exploitation, a form of abuse recognized by many social service groups, was not included in the study.

The survey identified 63 cases of elder abuse, or 32 per 1,000, with physical violence being cited more frequently than verbal aggression or neglect.

Attending 50th Reunion

Billy Graham Liked Pranks

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (UPI) — As a teenager, Billy Graham was an occasional prankster who liked "pretty girls, pretty cars and pretty clothes," classmates of the famous evangelist recalled at his 50th high school reunion.

Graham called the Sunday reunion of the Sharon High School Class of 1936 "thrilling and wonderful."

"We've been talking to each other like we were 16 again," said the 68-year-old evangelist who has served as spiritual adviser to several presidents.

"It's nice to bask in the glory of someone as famous as he is," said Bill Smith, a Greensboro stockbroker. "As I often tell people, the fact that I graduated with him was my claim to fame."

Sam Paxton recalled that Graham, who was known as Billy Frank to classmates, was fun-loving but never got into serious trouble.

Winston Covington recalled that in the eighth grade, "We were always doing anything to disrupt class."

He said one day when "we ran out of things to do," he and Graham set fire to a wastebasket, which filled the schoolhouse with smoke and forced everyone to flee the building.

Covington said the principal took the boys home, where they were reprimanded by their parents.

Classmates said Graham, with his wavy blond hair and the keys to his mother's 1934 Plymouth, was popular with the girls.

"We double-dated a whole lot and he really did like to do a little smooching," Covington said. "Maybe his wife wouldn't appreciate that but I know he did. He liked pretty girls, pretty cars and pretty clothes."

"I had my share of romantic interests," Graham admitted, "but I never touched a girl in the wrong way."

Covington also recalled Graham was a less than spectacular student who, after failing to do his homework, was told by one teacher: "You will never amount to anything."

Covington said shortly before Graham turned 17, he attended a revival meeting in Charlotte and found religion.

"He liked to witness for Christ," said Covington. "We would go to different churches together and he would just get up and tell his story about what Christ meant to him and being saved."

Random Pilot Drug Tests Proposed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The government should order random drug testing of pilots and other airline employees, Sen. John Danforth, R-Mo., chairman of the Senate Commerce Committee, said Friday.

The request, in a letter to Transportation Secretary Elizabeth Dole, resembles a proposal Danforth submitted to Federal Aviation Administrator Donald Engen last May.

Dole's office said she had not yet received the letter, made public by Danforth's office.

In the letter, the senator noted that he also had proposed random alcohol and drug testing in an omnibus drug bill.

"I did so out of concern that we are facing a severe problem in the aviation area," he wrote.

His measure was not included when the bill passed the Senate.

Danforth said he acted in part because of reports that a USAir pilot, who was near death, was treated for a cocaine overdose in September. Later, he said, Pittsburgh area hospitals reported treating 23 other USAir employees for drug overdoses.

Danforth also cited reports the Transportation Department is expected to issue a study indicating that as many as 16,000 pilots — including up to 1,000 commercial pilots — are still flying, even though their automobile driving licenses have been revoked for driving under the influence of drugs or alcohol.

In his earlier letter to Engen, Danforth said the FAA's failure to adopt rules calling for drug testing of airline personnel was "particularly surprising" in light of an agency crackdown on alcohol and drug use by air traffic controllers.

However, Danforth also said testimony at hearings before the committee had indicated there was "very little alcohol and drug abuse among airline pilots."

A spokesman for the FAA said rules on drug and alcohol testing are still in the early stages of study. Compulsory drug testing, he said, was one of the options under consideration.

A spokeswoman for Danforth said Engen, in response to the earlier letter, had said the FAA viewed the issue seriously, but had found little evidence to indicate drug and alcohol abuse is a serious problem.

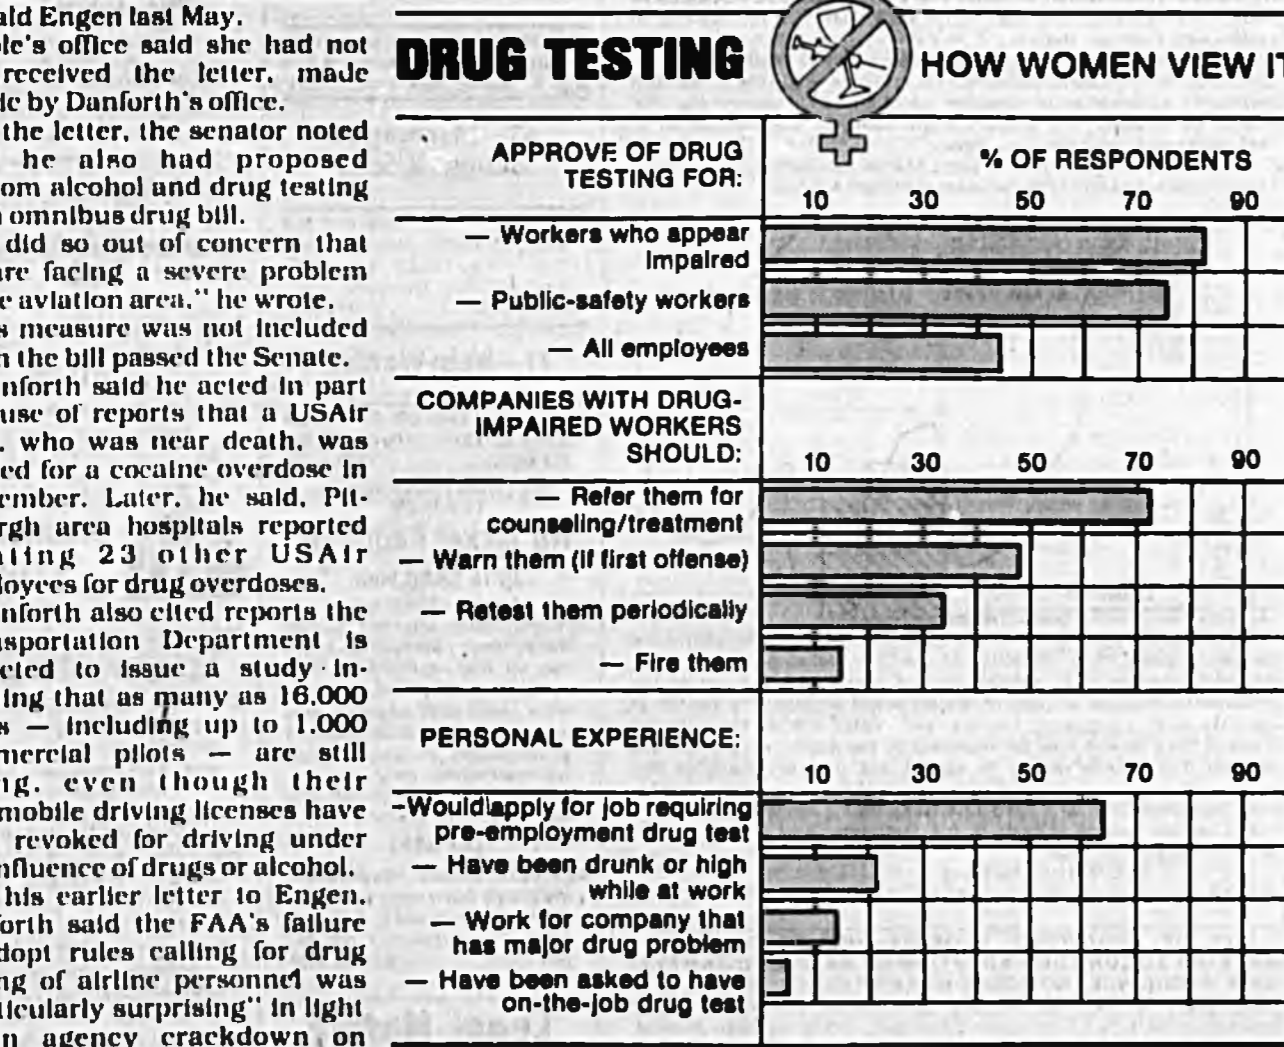

Persons interested may appear and be heard at the time and place specified.

Rightists Suspected

Helicopter Springs Two Prisoners

ROME (UPI) — The gunmen who hijacked a helicopter ambulance and plucked two inmates from a prison exercise yard knew exactly the men they wanted to fly to freedom.

"You see those two people standing apart from the other inmates?" one of the hijackers told the pilot, who was later released. "Go down quickly and pick them up."

Investigators said they believe the operation was masterminded by a rightist group using international arms and drug trafficking to finance its activities.

state-run television RAI reported today.

The two convicts who escaped in the aerial bustout were Andre Bellache, 35, a Tunisian-born Frenchman wanted in France for murder, and Gianluigi Esposito, 30, an extreme rightist suspected of killing a member of the anti-terrorist police unit that rescued U.S. Brig. Gen. James Dozier from the leftist Red Brigades in 1982.

The two gunmen who engineered the breakout first robbed a car and then commandeered the Agusta Bell

The Glare Of Free Agency

Future So Bright Raines Has Got To Wear Shades

By Sam Cook
Herald Sports Editor

There's a song circulating the FM stations and MTV by Timbuk 3. It's a catchy little jingle about someone who has it made.

It's called: The Future's So Bright I've Got To Wear Shades.

Timbuk 3 probably didn't have Tim Raines in mind when the tune was released, but a better comparison would be impossible to draw.

The former Seminole High School four-sport standout just completed his sixth major-league season with the Montreal Expos and became eligible for free agency this year. He filed for free agency on the first day he could.

Now, Raines and his wife Virginia, along with sons Tim Jr., 6, and Andre, 2, play the waiting game. They must decide whether to return to Montreal or play elsewhere.

Although Detroit pitcher Jack Morris and Atlanta first baseman Bob Horner are two of the better free-agent plums, it is doubtful that either is in a better position than Raines. As the best leadoff hitter in the game, the durable Raines, who has averaged 155 games per year over the past five seasons, could write his own ticket as a free agent.

The future, indeed, is so bright that Tim and Virginia have donned shades. Raines couldn't have picked a better time to put himself on the market. He capped his best season ever in '86 by winning the National League batting title with a .334 average. He stole 70 bases for the sixth consecutive season, a major-league record. He led the Expos in seven of 12 offensive categories.

Raines was named the Expos' Player of the Year as voted by Montreal's Chapter of the BBWAA. It was the second consecutive year he has won the award outright. He shared it with Andre Dawson in 1983.

Raines, who turned 27 years old on Sept. 16, has yet to reach his prime and he is already considered one of the top players in the game. He was sixth in the National League MVP balloting.

The Future's So Bright...

If past performance is any indication, Raines will continue to improve, something he has done the past three years. After batting .304 in his strike-shortened rookie season, Raines encountered a problem with cocaine addiction in 1982. It showed in the field and at the plate as his average dropped to .277 and he misplayed several balls in left field.

After checking into a rehabilitation center after the season, Raines has worked tirelessly to rid himself of the addiction and just as hard to clean up his image.

He has done both. As one of the most respected spokesmen against drug use, the personable superstar is in demand regularly to talk to school groups about staying away from drugs.

Ian McDonald, a sports writer who covers the Expos for the Montreal Gazette, had this to say in The Sporting News: "Raines is a superb example of how people can straighten themselves out after nearly being devoured by drugs. An electrifying performer on the field, Raines always has a captive audience."

Raines commands that same attention on the playing field. Already a six-time all-star, Raines has improved his batting average each season since 1982. He batted .296 in '83, raised it to .309 in '84 and jacked it up to .320 in '85 before adding 14 more points this past year.

A blazing base stealer who picks his spots,

'Nobody Does Hit Better'

Tim Raines Reigns: .334

1981

Tim Raines broke into the major-league scene in his usual manner — quickly. Raines set a rookie stolen base record with 71 bases in 88 games in the strike-shortened season. He was honored by The Sporting News as the N.L. Rookie Player Of The Year...

1984

Raines led the N.L. in steal for the fourth consecutive season and also earned his fourth All-Star Game appearance. Moving to center field, Raines hit .368 with runners in scoring position. By stealing his 300th base he became the all-time percentage theft leader...

1982

Raines would just as soon forget a cocaine-plagued year. Despite the addiction, which he later kicked, he hit .277 and stole 78 bases. Raines was named to the N.L. All-Star team for the second consecutive year...

1985

Raines stole 70 or more bases for the fifth consecutive year and batted a career-high .320. He was named the Expos' Player of the Year and was voted most popular by the fans. He appeared in his fifth consecutive All-Star Game...

1983

Raines bounced back by leading the N.L. in runs (133) and steals (90). He and was named Expos' co-Player of the Year with Andre Dawson. He was the starting left fielder in the All-Star Game and was the first player since Ty Cobb to steal 70 bases and drive in 70 runs...

1986

Raines put together his most complete season, capped by winning the N.L. batting title on the last day with a .334 average. He played in his sixth consecutive All-Star Game, was Expos' Player of the Year and stole 70 bases again. He also finished sixth in N.L. MVP voting...

Confused? Free Agency's 3 Key Dates

By Sam Cook

Herald Sports Editor

Free agency can be confusing. There are several dates, nonetheless, that determine a player's situation with the team.

Here's a look at the three key dates:

●Dec. 7: Clubs must let their free agents know by that date whether or not they are offering to go to salary arbitration. If the club doesn't tender an offer, it cannot sign the player until

May 1.

●Dec. 19: If the club does offer arbitration, the player must decide whether to reject or accept the arbitration by this date.

●Jan. 8: If the player accepts, he is considered a signed player, with his salary determined by the arbitrator. If he declines, the club has until this date to sign him. If the club fails to sign him, it cannot negotiate with him until May 1.

Of course, if the Expos don't sign Tim Lincecum before Jan. 8, they won't sign him. It's doubtful that he would sit out spring training and the first month of the season. He would sign with another ball club.

The free-agent question would be more cut and dried except last year, the owners didn't chase the players as they had in years past. The Major League Players Association charge the owners with collusion: a secret agreement for a deceitful or fraudulent purpose.

The owners, though, said they were being more money conscious. The charge went to an arbitrator, who was later fired by the owners, and it was never resolved.

Regardless, last year there were 62 free agents, with Detroit's Kirk Gibson and California's Donnie Moore being the biggest names. Both re-signed with their own ball clubs for much less than they expected from other teams.

Tim Lincecum slides safely into second with another steal against the Mets. Lincecum is the best percentage stealer in baseball.

...Future

Lincecum's theft totals (71, 78, 90, 75, 70, 70) are made that much more impressive because he seldom gets caught. He has been successful on 461 of 530 attempts. That figure — 87 percent — is the best in major-league history.

The Future's So Bright...

Lincecum, as might be expected, is vague about discussing his future. He said he would prefer to stay in the National League and would like to play in a warm climate. He has mentioned Atlanta, Los Angeles and San Diego as preferred choices.

Lincecum, himself, said the best is yet to come. He said he doesn't believe a long-term contract — whether it comes from Montreal or elsewhere — will dampen his competitive juices.

"God's given me a talent and I don't really know how good of player I can be," Lincecum, who moved into Heathrow last year, said. "I just keep reaching for sky. I don't feel I've reach my peak. I'm three or four years away from my peak. Knowing I'm still young and learning gives me incentive to work harder and become better."

Lincecum, who played his youth baseball at Seminole Pony and the Sanford Recreation Department, has always been a winner. He attributes that early success as the cornerstone of his career.

Success on the football field (1,000 yard his senior year and a 10-0 season before it was erased by an ineligible player) and baseball field (Florida Junior League State Tournament MVP and (Final Four appearance in high school baseball tournament during his senior year) became commonplace.

"I feel that every since I started playing, not only baseball but other sports, I have been pretty much on winning clubs," he said. "When you grow up around winning, you know you have to do a lot to make your clubs win a lot. I grew up with that winning experience."

"When you win you have to play well. From the age of 5, I realized that I was a good player and I realized that I could win. Winning makes you go out and push harder. When I was younger, I was a shy guy from wanting to be noticed but I've always been a tough competitor. I've always wanted to be best at whatever sport I played."

The Future's So Bright...

Lincecum said he is not satisfied with the way negotiations have gone in the past with the Expos. He has wanted a long-term contract for several years, but Montreal has stood firm on one-year pacts. Lincecum signed a $1.5 million contract last year. Montreal has softened its stance somewhat, offering a $4.8 million deal over three years, but it might be too late.

"It isn't their choice," Lincecum said. "For six years they've had the choice to either sign me or lease me. This year's a different story. This year the choice is mine. And there's nothing they can do about it."

"They really haven't pushed that hard. They do things that contradict themselves. They want their fans to know we'll be back so they can sell season tickets."

"I tell everybody in Montreal that I will be back, but deep down I know there is a chance I might not," he added.

Lincecum said he would like to play for a contender and get into a World Series. He knows that no matter what he accomplishes individually with .500 ball clubs, until he gets into the showcase of the October Classic, he will not be recognized accordingly.

"Being in Montreal and being on a losing club tends to hurt you," he said. "I would love to play in a World Series, but I don't know if the Expos are working hard enough to get there."

The Future's So Bright...

Wife Virginia said she doesn't think the Montreal organization is putting forth the effort either. She said Tim has earned his right to security contract-wise and him get his due by playing with a winner.

"What we're really looking for is a five-year contract," she said. "We want something that is constant for us. Tim wants to get on a winning team and the Expos are not real sure if they want to win."

"Montreal, I love. The place is beautiful. But the team, finishing in third and fourth place is no good. Tim wants to go to World Series. I want to go, too. I want to see what it's like I want to see that ring."

"By playing with the Expos, he may never get that chance."

Virginia, too, talks about Atlanta, Los Angeles and San Diego — in that order. "I think Tim would love nothing more than playing for the Braves," Virginia said. "If not the Braves, then the Dodgers. If the Expos can go out this winter and pick up some good players that would be fine. If not, we would leave Montreal."

Virginia also said Atlanta's proximity appeals to her. "It's close to home and Tim has a lot of friends there," she said. "All the Braves need is a good leadoff guy and they can go somewhere."

The Future's So Bright...
