Memorial Service Set For Passengers Of Korean Jet

By Donna Estes
Herald Staff Writer

A memorial service for the 269 passengers and crew on Korean Airlines Flight 007, which was shot down by a Soviet military aircraft last week, and a symbolic "half-burning" of the Russian flag is slated to be held Tuesday by the students and faculty of the Northside Church of Christ Christian School in Altamonte Springs.

Rev. John Butler Book, pastor of the church, announced the 1:30 p.m. memorial service, saying the 145 students and faculty at the kindergarten through 12th grade private school and other guests will participate. He said 269 white flowers surrounding a cross will hold an honored place at the service.

After scripture reading, a telegram sent to Book by Kathy McDonald, widow of the Georgia congressman killed in the crash, will be read.

Fifty of the students will hold American flags during the ceremony. The flags are to be sent on to the 50 members of the U.S. Senate which suggestions on how Russian should be treated henceforth.

Book said an American flag which has flown over the U.S. capitol and was sent to Book by U.S. Sen. Paula Hawkins, R-Winter Park, will be flown upside-down at the church indicating distress along side a South Korean flag at half-staff. The Korean flag later will be replaced with a replica of an old American revolutionary flag that is imprinted with the words, "Don't Tread on Me."

A "half-burning" of the Russian flag will also be part of the service.

The half-burned flag, a copy of Mrs. McDonald's telegram, a bible and a cover letter from Book will be sent to the Kremlin. Book said the charred flag is an attempt to show the Soviet Union that any nation with only half an honor deserves to be trusted half of the time and deserves only half a flag.

While the Russian government has little regard for the bible, Book said, "we will remind that had they followed the golden rule taught in that book, they would not be receiving the wrath of the world for their barbaric act."

"I'm inviting any representative of the Soviet Union who wishes to come and defend the nation and its action and that is more than they gave the 269 passengers on Flight 007," he said. "We think not only our students but the students of our country would like to hear their explanation and an answer to the question of why we should trust them for any disarmament talks."

Book said along with the flags sent to the senators will go a suggestion that all economic aid to Russia be cut off and that any further disarmament talks, which he termed "ludicrous," be stopped. He said he will also suggest that a warning be issued to the USSR that any further flights of Russian military or naval vessels that penetrate American airspace or seaways will be shot down.

Bulging Seminole Schools May Need More Teachers

By Micheal Beha
Herald Staff Writer

It's still too early to know for sure, but several Seminole County schools may need extra teaching help.

First day attendance in the Seminole County School District was about 36,100, up about 1,800 from opening day last year and some school officials believe that's an indication that overall enrollment will be up. District officials have projected that by the end of the school year 37,476 students will be enrolled.

"There are some indications that some schools will need more teachers," said Owen McCarron, assistant superintendent for administrative services.

At least four schools have already exceeded enrollment projections. Jackson Heights Middle School has 1,046 students, 47 over the district's projection of 999; Rock Lake Middle School has 1,523 students, 49 higher than the district's projection of 1,474; Teague Middle School has 1,262 students, 74 more than the district's projection of 1,188 and Tuskawilla Middle School has 1,131 students, 24 above the projection of 1,107.

But McCarron and others are waiting to see whether enrollment continues to climb or levels off. "When attendance is up on the first day it's usually up later too," said Owen McCarron, assistant superintendent of administrative services.

Traditionally, many students do not show up for school until after Labor Day because of family vacations or late summer moves from another state, said Karen Coleman, the district's director of public information.

The district will again count enrollment on Sept. 13. At that point, McCarron, Superintendent Robert Hughes, Assistant Superintendent for Facilities Benny Arnold and Assistant Superintendent for Instruction Dan Dagg will look at the figures and determine what moves are necessary to deal with the increased enrollment.

At Jackson Heights, Teague, Rock Lake and Tuskawilla it is likely more teachers will be needed, McCarron said.

Hiring additional teachers would not affect the local tax rate since state funding is adjusted in line with student population, according to school officials.

There are no short term plans to cope with crowding at the middle schools, all of which exceed capacity of the school buildings.

However a new middle school, planned for the Lake Mary-Longwood area, is expected to provide relief by the 1985-86 school year. The new school will allow attendance zones for the other middle schools to be reduced.

Despite the increased enrollment, Hughes said the opening of school was the smoothest he can remember.

'Flip-Flop Flapjack Breakfast' Honors Hospital Employees

By Kay Bartholomew

Labor Day came early to Central Florida Regional Hospital when the administrative staff and department managers took over some of the more mundane jobs throughout the hospital such as cooking, serving, mopping floors, mowing the lawn and working the telephone center.

At precisely 6 a.m. Friday, Jim Tesar and Mike Potter, administrator and assistant administrator, reported to Dietary to cook flapjacks and man the serving line for employees coming off night duty and those just reporting to work.

Billed as a "Flip-flop Flapjack Breakfast," the meal of plain and blueberry flapjacks, complemented with a wide range of toppings, was held for two hours with department managers taking turns cooking and serving. The department managers, dressed in gleaming white chef's hats and aprons, included Emmett Carr, John Liem, Ralene MacDonald, Jack Durham, Randy Kiser, Jewell Rose, Ann Cole, Stanley Robinson and Kay Bartholomew.

The flip-flop is indicative of what happened all day. Joe Waechter, controller, volunteered to mow the lawn as maintenance workers stood by to tell him how. Jewel Rose, Materials Management, took her turn at the pressure laden telephone switchboard, while Kay Bartholomew, Director of Public Relations, learned first hand how hectic the information desk can get. Members of the CFRH Auxiliary are in charge of that communications center.

Later in the day, Randy Kiser, head of Pharmacy, and Nancy Edwards, RN, Assistant Director of Nursing for Education, did stints in the dark room and did other chores in the Imaging Department (X-Ray).

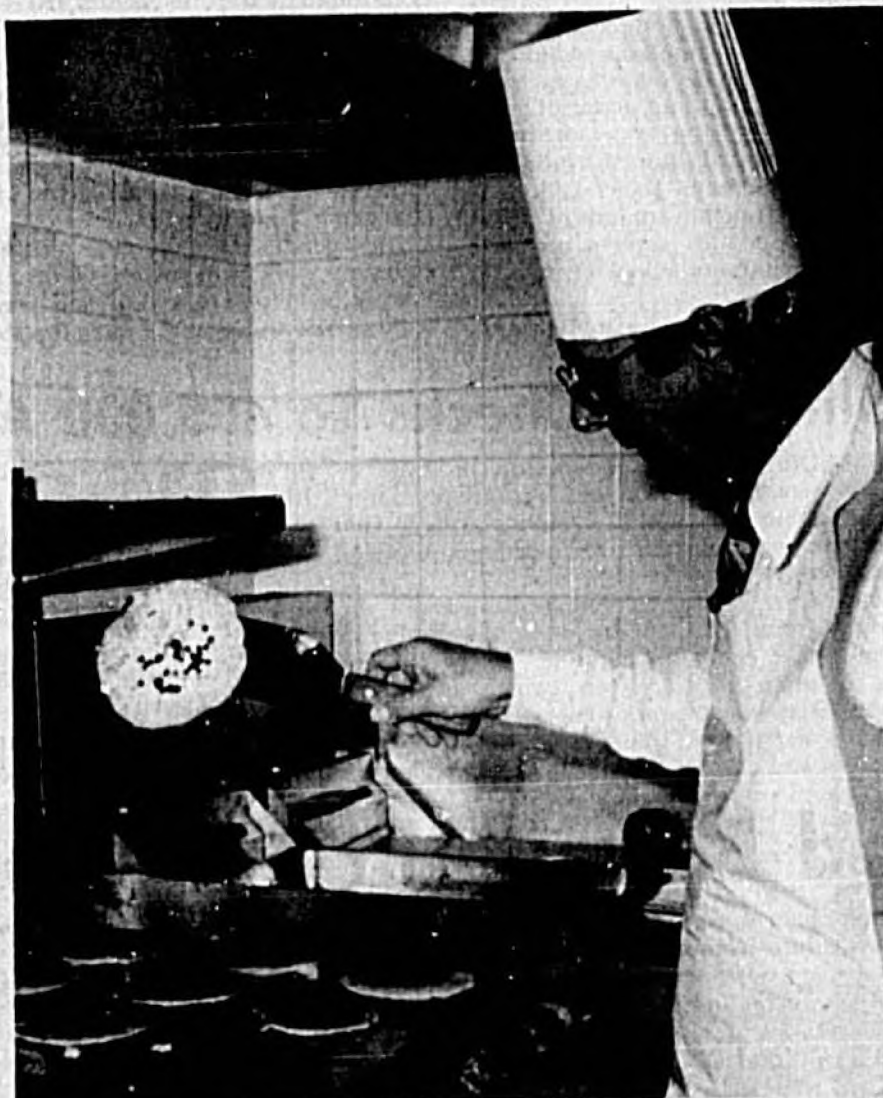

A number of jobs, such as washing dishes, affixing labels and vacuuming, went begging. And, of course, the critical jobs filled by health care professionals were not on the exchange list as they require specially trained personnel.

An "Upside-down Sundae Party" was staged for the 3-11 p.m. shift. A cart, laden with all the sweets — rich trimmings topped with a variety of ice cream flavors — was wheeled to nursing units and various departments by Ruth Hofon, Administrative Assistant to James Tesar, and Tom Meachum, Business Services director. Edna Robinson, RN, and Kay Orr, RN, Director and Assistant Director of Nursing, built the sundaes as fast as they could.

Maintenance workers dug out an old hand mower for Joe Waechter to use rather than the more comfortable riding mower. But then he relented and said, "We just might oil it since he is new and we wouldn't want him to think we were bad guys."

Typical of the good-natured kidding that went on during the Labor Day observation was the exchange between Alice Keller, a popular baker in Dietary and the administrator. Watching the ease with which Jim Tesar prepared the blueberry flapjacks, she asked, "Does your wife know how well you do that?" "No!" exclaimed the administrator. "And don't you tell her," he added with a smile.

James Tesar, CFRH administrator flips a flapjack during his "flip-flop" job Friday in observance of Labor Day.

Festival Planning Underway

Planning is underway for the seventh annual Arts and Crafts Festival to be held in the historic district of downtown Longwood in November. Meanwhile, the Longwood Village Inn, in the center of the district, has been acquired by new owners and will undergo renovations soon.

Fred Gaines, vice president of the Central Florida Society for Historic Preservation, which owns two buildings in the district, said the annual festival displaying the arts and crafts of some 240 Central Florida artists will be held Nov. 19 and 20.

The district is bounded by County Road 427, Warren Avenue, Wilma Street and Church Avenue.

City Administrator David Chacey said he has seen plans for the 1880 vintage inn renovations which include expanding the kitchen and dining facilities, the installation of an elevator in the three story structure and renovating the third floor to provide office space.

The second floor of the old hotel was renovated and became offices some years ago. Chacey said he doesn't know the name of the new owner or the amount of money paid to acquire the historic facility that occupies the half-block between Warren and Church Avenues.

The hotel was built by the city's founder, Edward W. Henck of Boston, and the community was named after a section of Boston.

The city is asking drivers to avoid using the square block historic district, except CR 427, during the festival when arts and crafts displays will line the streets and the alleyway along the police station and health department building between Warren and Wilma, as well as the Inn parking lot.

Gaines said applications have already been received by the society from more than 150 artists and craftsmen seeking to participate.

Last year police estimated festival attendance at 20,000 to 40,000 persons.

Profits from the event are used to maintain the Bradley-McIntyre House at the corner of Warren and CR 427 and make payments on its mortgage.

The Bradley-McIntyre House was built in 1888 by Nathaniel J. Bradley in Altamonte Springs at what is now State Road 436 and Matland Avenue. It was acquired in 1904 by the S.M. McIntyre family and thus its name.

With the house scheduled for destruction to make way for progress, it was offered to the historic society in 1971. In October, 1972, the house was put on the National Registry of Historic Places and in April, 1973, it was moved to its present site in Longwood.

The society also owns the "inside-outside house," the first pre-fab house ever constructed in Central Florida, built in the 1800's. It was originally constructed in Boston then taken apart piece by piece and shipped to Altamonte Springs. It is now being leased by the society and used as a "Christmas Shop."

Man Charged In Sex Attack

A 31-year-old Sanford area man, who is accused in the rape of a woman, was released from Seminole County jail today after paying $2,500 bond.

Aaron Lewis Howard, of 2710 Midway Avenue in Midway, is charged with sexual battery in connection with an attack on a 19-year-old Midway woman at about 2 a.m. Sunday.

The woman told Seminole County deputy sheriffs that she was at the Club Two-Spot in Midway early Sunday and asked a man to give her a ride home.

She said the man agreed and the two got into his green and white Chevrolet and the man drove her to an area near a residence off Byrd Avenue in Midway.

The woman said the man forcibly raped her and she struck him in the face with a tire jack she found in the car, jumped out of the car and ran, deputies said.

The woman called deputies and a patrol car which responded.—Charles Cobb

Highway Death Toll Stands At 15

The Florida Highway Patrol reports that through 7:30 a.m. today 15 persons have been killed in traffic accidents since the Labor Day weekend began at 6 p.m. Friday.

No fatalities have been reported in Seminole County.

In the closest thing to come from Russian authorities so far in the way of explanation of the shooting down of a South Korean jetliner last week, a Soviet general says the plane may have been mistaken for a U.S. spy plane. However, the chief of staff of Moscow's anti-aircraft defense forces still would not go so far as to admit Soviet fighters actually shot down the unarmed aircraft. See story, page 2A.

Stowaway Seeks Asylum; Cites Religious Persecution

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Religious persecution in Communist China drove a 21-year-old Cantonese peasant to swim to Hong Kong, hide on a Mexican freighter and jump ship in the San Francisco Bay Area, seeking asylum in the United States.

"I love America because I can practice my religion without fear," said Yew Wai Hung, who attends the Chinese Christian Church.

Yew said he has been persecuted in China since the age of 14 because of his belief in Jesus Christ. Last April, he dived from a Mexican freighter in Oakland harbor across the bay from San Francisco and swam to shore.

Close to death from hypothermia, Yew spent three days in Letterman Army Hospital in San Francisco before being taken to Oakland City Jail, where he was held for four months on charges of illegally entering the country. He is now free on $7,500 bail.

8 Die In Cessna Crash

ALTUS, Okla. (UPI) — Officials say a fire in one engine probably caused a twin-engine plane to flip over during takeoff, crash and explode, killing eight people who were flying home from a church reunion.

Highway Patrol Sgt. Randy Moss said the Cessna 421 Golden Eagle appeared to be banking to the east immediately after the takeoff from Altus Municipal Airport at about 4 p.m. Sunday, when one engine stalled.

The plane turned upside down, then the nose section and one wing hit the ground, he said. It skidded about 100 feet before stopping and a few seconds later it exploded.

All eight people aboard were killed and names of the victims were being withheld pending notification of relatives. They were tentatively identified as three couples, a son of one of the couples and one other person, all from Bartlesville, Okla.

WEATHER

NATIONAL REPORT: Much of the nation suffered through a steamy Labor Day weekend, with triple-digit temperatures from Kansas to California and record highs in Maine and Michigan. Forecasters said the sticky, hazy heat was going to last. "It doesn't look like there's going to be a lot of relief," said Harry Gordon of the National Severe Storms Forecast Center. He predicted highs in the 100s today in the desert Southwest. Temperatures Sunday shot past 100 in at least six states. Hobbs and Deming, N.M. hit 103 and Alamogordo, Tuleameari and Carlsbad hit 101. Caribou, Maine reported a record high of 85 and Alpena, Mich. peaked at a record 90. Flint, Mich. set a record with 90, as did El Paso, Texas with 101. Records were tied at Midland, Texas where the mercury hit 99, and at Albuquerque, N.M. with 97. Chicago's 95 also tied a record for Sept. 4. Amarillo, Texas hit a stifling 102 — not a record. In Kansas, Garden City, Salina, Topeka and Beloit all hit 100 but fell short of a record — as did Wichita Falls, Texas and Gage, Okla. Midwesterners who suffered through the driest, hottest summer since the Dust Bowl, were ready for a cool break. "August ended the second worst summer of the century for Illinois," said meteorologist Stanley Changnon Jr., chief of the Illinois Water Survey. Thunderstorms with winds gusting to 58 mph raced through the Dakotas and Minnesota and showers were scattered from Colorado to Wisconsin and from the Gulf Coast to New York state. The weekend storms, packing high winds and large hail, did some damage in the West. High winds that fueled heavy storms Saturday night knocked a tree onto a family's tent near Springville, Utah killing a 15-year-old boy and injuring his mother and sister. Several hikers were trapped on the Timpanogos Mountains north of Provo, Utah, during a windy storm. They suffered exposure and had to be rescued from the slope.

AREA READINGS (8 a.m.): temperature: 80; overnight low: 75; Sunday's high: 94; barometric pressure: 30.08; relative humidity: 84 percent; winds: southwest at 4 mph; rain: .20 inch; sunrise: 7:05 a.m., sunset 7:42 p.m.

Jetliner Mistaken For U.S. Spy Plane?

MOSCOW (UPI) — A Soviet general, charging a "rude provocation," said the South Korean airliner downed last week over the Sea of Japan apparently was mistaken for a U.S. spy plane.

Col. Gen. Semyon Romanov, chief of staff of Moscow's anti-aircraft defense forces, stressed Sunday that Moscow had the right to fire at the Korean Air Lines 747 jumbo jet that strayed over Soviet airspace.

He said nine alleged intrusions of Soviet Far East airspace by U.S. combat planes this year created suspicion that influenced the Russian action.

Earlier Soviet statements claimed the KAL jet was flying without navigation lights. Romanov went further. "It flew with extinguished lights and its outlines resemble much those of the American reconnaissance plane RC-135," he said.

In Washington, U.S. officials confirmed an RC-135 electronic surveillance jet had been in the vicinity Thursday when a Soviet warplane attacked KAL Flight 007 with 269 people aboard, but insisted the American aircraft was far outside Soviet airspace.

Romanov's version, in comments transmitted by the official Soviet news agency Tass, said a Soviet pilot only fired "warning shots with tracer shells along the course of the intruder plane."

He neither confirmed nor denied U.S. charges that Soviet jet fighters shot down the airliner on its New York-to-Seoul flight. Among the 61 American passengers was Rep. Larry McDonald, D-Ga., and head of the anti-Communist John Birch Society.

"The plane seemed to be stalking under the cover of night above our territory," Romanov said.

"And there are no doubts that this was a deliberate action designed as a rude provocation. It is not difficult to guess who and for what purpose needed this provocation."

Earlier statements by the Soviets indicated the unidentified "intruder plane" continued on its flight in the direction of the Sea of Japan after the warning shots were fired and that radar contact was lost within about 10 minutes.

Space Shuttle

Back Home Again After Near Perfect Eighth Mission

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (UPI) — Space shuttle Challenger glided out of the early morning darkness to a perfect night landing on a floodlit ribbon of concrete today, capping a textbook mission that put America's first black in space.

Unlike past landings, the ship with astronauts Richard Truly, Daniel Brandenstein, Gulon Bluford, Dale Gardner and William Thornton aboard did not appear until the bluish-hued floodlights caught it only 10 to 12 feet above the runway.

The fliers returned from six days in orbit. They circled Earth 97 times and rolled Challenger's odometer up to a total of 6.1 million miles for three missions.

They brought back six white rats, six batches of purified pancreas, kidney and pituitary gland cells, the 4-ton dumbbell-shaped simulated satellite they used to exercise the ship's robot arm and a wealth of engineering data.

Malcolm Smith, a project official, said the rats were "alert and appear to be in fine shape" after the landing. He said they will be flown to NASA's Ames Research Center, Mountain View, Calif.

The astronauts also successfully tested the new $100 million Tracking and Data Relay Satellite needed for the next flight. All 19 communications tests with the satellite were completed.

Left in space was the versatile communications and weather-watching satellite the astronauts launched for India last Wednesday.

Bluford and Thornton made a bit of history themselves. Bluford was the first of four black astronauts in the NASA corps to fly in space and Thornton, at 54, was the oldest man in orbit.

The base was closed to the general public and viewing at Edwards was invitation-only.

Among the black leaders on hand for the landing was John McDonald, president of the Los Angeles chapter of the NAACP.

"In a symbolic way, we are showing our kids that everyone has access to the American dream," he said.

It was the first night landing in the 28 months the winged space freighters have been flying. And flight directors said it was the smoothest of all eight shuttle missions.

Nader Says OSHA 'Demoralized'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Under the Reagan administration, OSHA has become less of an enforcement agency against industrial hazards and more of an "industry-indentured" bureaucracy, consumer advocate Ralph Nader charges.

"The Reagan administration pretends that safe working conditions can be best achieved through a 'cooperative relationship' between business and government," Nader said Sunday in releasing a 103-page study of the Occupational Safety and Health Administration.

The report, prepared by the Center for Study of Responsive Law, said interviews with OSHA inspectors, union officials and workers, revealed a "widespread loss of confidence in OSHA by both American workers and the agency's own compliance inspectors."

The report said OSHA inspectors have been less likely under the Reagan administration "to issue negligent companies serious citations or recommend adequate fines."

Under President Reagan, Nader said, "Cooperation" means less government protection in all directions, from inspections to issuing standards to compliance actions.

The administration, "using code words such as 'voluntary compliance' and 'non-adversarial' has shackled OSHA and changed it from an enforcement agency against industrial hazards to an industry-indentured, demoralized bureaucracy," Nader said.

From 1980 to 1982, the total dollar amount of OSHA fines against companies dropped 78 percent, and the number of its most serious citations fell more than 90 percent, the report said.

It cited several examples of how it said administration

Ralph Nader
...claims OSHA, under Reagan administration direction, is handling industry with kid gloves policies harmed workers.

In Pompton Plains, N.J., the Unique Plastics Co. was declared safe by OSHA and exempted from routine inspection despite chemical hazards and unsafe conditions found by state inspectors, the report said.

In another New Jersey plastics plant, seven of 17 workers suffered from lead poisoning, but the plant was deemed safe by OSHA.

In one case, an OSHA inspector fined a company $4,999 and issued a "willful violation" charge — the agency's most serious accusation — but after a conference the fine was reduced to $100 and the citation changed to "non-serious."

The agency has done nothing to improve standards covering worker exposure to formaldehyde, ethylene dibromide, ethylene oxide and other hazardous substances, the report said, calling the present rules lenient.

State Mailing $386 Checks To 455,000 Alaskans

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (UPI) — In most states people pay income tax and are lucky if they get a refund. In Alaska, the state is mailing out checks for $386.15 to every eligible man, woman and child.

The payments come from the Alaska Permanent Fund, the result of the huge revenues the state gets from the petroleum industry. Last year, qualified residents each got $1,000.

The checks for $386.15 will be sent out by mid-September. About $175.6 million will be split among 455,000 Alaskans applying for the cash.

The amount is about one-third of the revenue distributed last year under the unique program, said Colleen Brown of the state Department of Revenue. Some $480 million was applied for last year. The 1982 payments were the first to be distributed. They represented three years of accrued interest in the program. The payments also included some money from the state general fund placed in the special account by the Legislature.

This year's payment represents interest from 1982 and 1983, Ms. Brown said.

"Next year's check is probably going to be less."

Masked Bandits Rob McDonald's; Tie Up Janitor

Authorities are searching for two gunmen who robbed a southwest Seminole County restaurant and tied up a janitor.

Two men wearing camouflage outfits and orange ski masks entered the McDonald's at 3142 State Road 436 near Apopka at 3:40 a.m. Saturday, Seminole County deputy sheriffs said.

Each man drew a blue steel revolver and pointed it at the janitor who was cleaning up and ordered him to take them to the safe, deputies said.

One of the gunmen, who apparently knew the safe's combination, opened the safe and ordered the janitor to remove the cash and place it in a brown leather portfolio, deputies said.

The gunmen then forced the janitor into the ladies' room, tied him up and told him to wait 15 minutes and then untie himself, deputies said.

The 18-year-old janitor was not harmed. The amount of cash taken was not disclosed.

ROBBERIES REPORTED
Charles McNabb, 34, of 300 Magnolia Ave., Sanford, told police that a camera and television antenna were stolen from his apartment between 7:30 a.m. and 8:30 p.m. Thursday.

He said the items were valued at $441.
Thomas Weiss, 53, of Village Rest Garage on French Ave., Sanford, told police an air wrench, valued at $400, was stolen from his garage between 3 p.m. Tuesday and 4:21 p.m. Wednesday.

Judith Roe, 41, of 1809 Summerlin Ave., Sanford, told police a man took her purse and $230 from atop a car hood in the parking lot of Uncle Nick's Oyster Bar on French Avenue.

Ms. Roe said she was standing in the parking lot between 1 and 1:30 a.m. Thursday talking when the man took her purse.

Harry Morris, 28, of 109 Hayes Drive in Sanford told police a 10-speed bicycle was stolen from his yard between 6 p.m. Tuesday and 1 p.m. Wednesday.

BLOWS WHISTLE
A 72-year-old South Seminole woman scared a burglar from her porch by blowing a whistle.

Dorothy Smith, of 5012 N. Orange Ave. near Winter Park, said she heard a noise at her back door at about 10:20 p.m. Thursday. She suspected that a burglar was on her back porch and blew the whistle, literally.

She heard a screen door on the porch close and called Seminole County deputy sheriffs who found that the screen around a lock on the back door had been cut and a jalousie window had been broken off the door. Apparently nothing was taken.

DUI ARRESTS

The following persons have been arrested in Seminole County on a charge of driving under the influence:
—Andrew Louis Skultety, of 22, 831 Sutters Loop, Longwood, was arrested at 2:21 a.m. Thursday on Tuskawilla Road near Dike Road after police clocked him at 105 miles per hour and observed him driving on both sides of the road. He was also charged with reckless driving.
—Louis A. McGlashing, 43, of 198 Windsor Court, Sanford, was arrested Aug. 27 at 12:01 a.m. on U.S. Highway 17-92 near Lake Mary Road after police saw his car run off the road.
—Thomas John Gorman, 19, of 1921 Puritan Ave.,

Romanov largely repeated previous Soviet statements, although his comments were the first attributed to a specific official.

After the KAL jumbo jet failed to respond to attempts to establish radio contact, he said, the Soviet pilot flashed his aircraft's lights and rocked its wings — internationally accepted signals to order an intruding aircraft to obey an interceptor's commands.

"Neither wagging nor flashing, however, brought the necessary result," Romanov said. "The intruder plane continued the flight in night conditions at the height of 8,000 to 10,000 meters above the territory of the Soviet Union."

Tass followed the Romanov account of events with a harsh list of accusations against the United States.

"The U.S. administration continues its dodging tactics and avoids giving straight answers to questions concerning its criminal actions," Tass said.

"They do not mention that responsibility for the provocation rests with the American services, which sent the plane on a spying mission along the route that cut inside Soviet territory," Tass said.

Salvadoran Rebels Assault San Miguel In New Offensive

United Press International

A bold attack on El Salvador's third largest city by thousands of leftist rebels who destroyed bridges, power pylons and buildings before withdrawing marks the beginning of a new guerrilla offensive, the rebels warned.

A Salvadoran army spokesman said rebels of the Farabundo Marti National Liberation Front pulled back Sunday after a 10-hour assault on San Miguel, a city of 100,000 some 69 miles southeast of San Salvador.

"We have surrounded the biggest garrison of the armed forces," said rebel commander Joaquin Villalobos in a broadcast on the clandestine rebel Radio Venceremos, "causing them more than 300 casualties, destroyed three of the most important bridges in the country and two of the biggest coffee mills."

An army spokesman confirmed guerrillas destroyed the Hato Nuevo and El Sitio coffee mills, adding "indiscriminate bombing" by guerrilla artillery shells killed "an undetermined number of civilians."

Venceremos also said the attack was the first strike of "our new national offensive: independence, liberty and democracy for El Salvador."

At the height of the attack, rebels toppled electricity pylons, blacking out the provinces of San Miguel, Usulután, La Unión and Morazan — 40 percent of El Salvador's territory.

Military spokesmen in San Salvador said six soldiers were killed and 35 wounded when leftist rebels launched a fierce mortar attack on the 3rd Infantry Brigade in downtown San Miguel.

The source said rebels also ambushed two columns of relief forces from La Unión, 25 miles southeast of San Miguel, just as they were reaching the battle zone. There were no casualty reports.

Another source said the air force moved wounded troops to the military hospital in San Salvador in at least 10 medical evacuation flights.

Rebel Leader Ready To Fight French in Chad

NDJAMENA, Chad (UPI) — Libyan-backed rebels hold a key eastern town in Chad and are ready to confront French troops backing the Chadian government, ousted president and insurgent leader Goukouni Weddeye warns.

Goukouni spoke at a news conference Sunday at Bardai, in the Libyan-occupied Aouzou strip of northern Chad. The appearance, reported on French television, dispelled reports he had disappeared or been killed.

Government officials said Sunday that Chadian troops were mopping up pockets of resistance in eastern Chad, two days after inflicting a heavy defeat on Goukouni's forces.

The rebel leader, ousted from power last year by President Hissene Habre, also warned his troops were prepared to fight French soldiers "if they were deployed across his route."

Soviet Plane Crashes

MOSCOW (UPI) — A Soviet passenger plane crashed on a domestic flight last week near the capital of the Kazakhstan Republic, killing everyone aboard, a regional newspaper reaching Moscow today said.

The newspaper did not give a death toll but the plane — a TU-134 — had a capacity of 72 passengers. Soviet planes on domestic routes are almost always filled to capacity.

The newspaper said a special commission has been set up to investigate causes of the crash.

FLORIDA IN BRIEF

Foreign-Born Teachers Must Pass English Test

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — In an effort to help students who can't understand their teachers, the Legislature has enacted a new law requiring foreign-born professors at state and community colleges to pass a test of spoken English.

By the end of the year, all professors except those whose primary job is to teach foreign languages will be required to pass the test.

Guidelines on testing and grading procedures are to be established by the state Board of Regents. The board must also decide what to do with professors who fail.

According to a poll, students consider the problem of understanding their professors second only to the problem of obtaining financial aid.

The problem lies mainly in the technical departments, such as engineering, which are more likely to hire foreign faculty members because high-paying jobs in private industry draw off most American graduates, administrators at state universities said.

Sparing The Rod

MIAMI (UPI) — Counseling will replace paddling at a Miami school that spanked more than 500 disorderly students two years ago and more than 200 last year, school officials said.

Miami Edison Middle School principal Jim Cash, who is also a minister, recently announced he would spare the rod and paddle no more.

Cash is not the only principal to end physical punishment. Across Dade County, school officials are putting away the paddles and turning to counseling instead. Last year, 9,260 students were paddled, compared to 13,920 students two years before.

S. Florida Becoming Haven For Mobsters

MIAMI (UPI) — More mobsters than ever before are operating in south Florida and turning the Gold Coast into a stronghold for gang-backed extortion, bookmaking, bribery and drug peddling, law enforcement officials say.

Police estimate 350 Mafia members and several hundred close associates are now living along the Atlantic coast from Miami to Boca Raton, the Miami Herald reported today.

Alarmed law enforcement officials are looking for new ways to fight back against the powerful, old-line Mafia families whose roots are in New York, but whose influence reaches deep into Florida.

Earlier this year, the Fort Lauderdale office of the state Division of Alcoholic Beverages and Tobacco linked three of New York's five major Mafia families to the planned $4 million purchase of an Oakland Park nightclub.

Part of the money for the abortive deal allegedly came from fraudulent Medicaid billings for leg braces.

The beverage department concluded the case Feb. 28 by denying a liquor license.

But Sgt. David Shomers, the investigator who worked the case, doubted the action would have much impact.

"When we nip a $4 million investment in the bud, it is met by a yawn from the mob and then the same people pop up again on the other side of town. Even with our successes — and we've had quite a few of them lately — we feel like they are gaining on us, gaining in strength."

Police intelligence and corporate records show that organized crime figures in south Florida are currently backing or running a court reporting service, a poultry firm, a hot dog vending cart company, an electrical contracting company, a travel agency, a management consulting firm, a jewelry store, an auto body shop, several vending machine companies, valet parking services and dozens of bars, nightclubs and restaurants.

But budget cutbacks for law enforcement agencies and state attorneys have made it more difficult to successfully investigate and prosecute cases against high-level mobsters, said Scott Palmer, chief of the statewide prosecution unit.

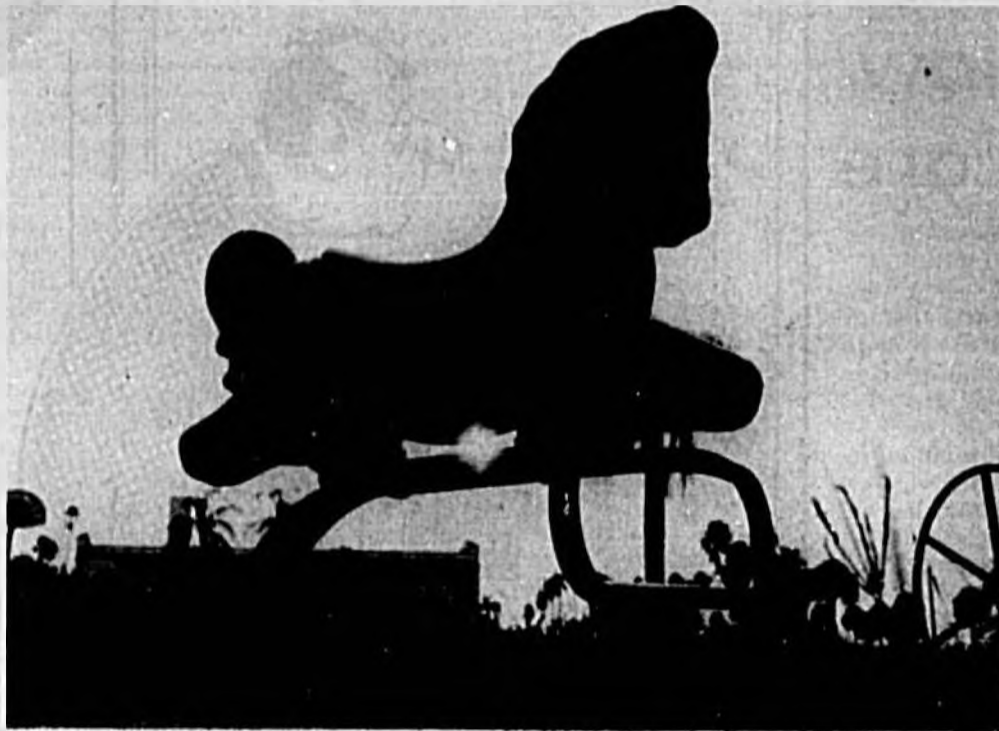

"The track record in Florida isn't very good, probably deplorable is a good word for it," Palmer said. "And the worse part is that we barely know what the problem is because there's been so little funding."

Florida's heavy drug trade has also helped divert attention away from organized crime, said Florida Law Enforcement Commissioner Robert Dempsey.

"It (drug trafficking) has transcended everything else so organized crime has been low-keyed," Dempsey said.

But law enforcement officials believe there is reason to hope the situation will improve.

The Florida Racketeer Influenced and Corrupt Organization Act, patterned after an older federal law, makes it easier to prosecute organized crime.

Lonely Pony

This pony stands at the ready against the early morning sky waiting for a young rider to hop on his back and gallop off into the sunrise. The pony, 'stabled' at the playground at Fort Mellon Park on the shore of Lake Monroe, will no doubt be the center of attention in a few hours when school lets out and many a would-be cowboy lines up to take a spin around the park.

Labor Day Activities Turn Into Anti-Reagan Protests

By Drew Von Bergen
UPI Labor Reporter

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Union leaders prepared for today's Labor Day demonstrations by denouncing President Reagan's economic and social policies that Reagan maintains are bringing "real jobs" to Americans.

Solidarity Day III rallies, parades and demonstrations were scheduled in about 150 cities. AFL-CIO President Lane Kirkland planned to march in parades in New York and Chicago today and later give a speech in Omaha, Neb.

AFL-CIO leaders made clear the effort is aimed at ousting Reagan from the White House in 1984. The federation is expected next month to endorse former Vice President Walter Mondale for the Democratic presidential nomination.

"It is the approaching prospect of replacing Reagan, and a growing realization of the key role labor will play in the process, that sends a ray of sunshine through the cloud that hangs over us today," John Leyden, executive director of the AFL-CIO's Public Employee Department, said.

In a Labor Day message, Reagan saluted the workers of the nation and touted the economic recovery:

"The endeavors of today's workers and their unions assure that our country will have an even brighter future. ... Americans still believe that all work is noble.

"The resurgence of our economy is bringing real jobs — jobs with a future — in the private sector.

"The improved economic climate we now enjoy promises all Americans a prosperous future.

The civilian unemployment rate reported last week was 9.5 percent, meaning 10.7 million Americans were seeking work, compared to a record 101.6 million on the job.

Kirkland, devoting most of his comments to the federation's reasons for endorsing a candidate before the first primary is held next year, said Labor Day statements from the White House "have sounded empty and false."

"These once-a-year statements of appreciation would be welcome if they were matched by some indications of concern on the other 364 days of the year," he said.

Railway Clerks President Richard Kilroy urged organized labor to "redouble our political action ... not to just return fair policies to the White House, but also to recapture the Senate, where we've seen progressive legislation defeated time after time."

Charles Pillard, president of the electrical workers union, said, "The economic and social policies of the Reagan administration are the most anti-labor and anti-people since the 1920s."

"There is pain and stress and suffering in every segment of the economy save one — the very rich," Food and Commercial Workers President William Wynn said.

Teamsters President Jackie Presser devoted his Labor Day message to calling for an end to unfair foreign competition.

"I do not understand our government's inaction," Presser said. "If we don't respond strongly and soon, America will quickly become a second-rate nation."

As customary, the National Right to Work Committee's Labor Day message was one that would not be welcomed by most union leaders.

"We cannot let this day pass without honoring the right to work — the freedom to choose whether or not to support a labor union," said the committee, which is opposed to compulsory union membership.

White House Playing Space Politics

NEW YORK (UPI) — In a bit of space politics, the White House ordered NASA not to portray Democratic presidential candidate John Glenn as a "superhero" during the space agency's 25th anniversary.

In its current edition, Newsweek said the White House also was unhappy with NASA Administrator James Beggs, claiming he had a "lack of political sensitivity."

Ducking Out On Those Debts

The recession of 1981-82 was not a bust but a boom in bankruptcy court. A spurt in bankruptcies is an inevitable result of a business downturn and high unemployment. But there is more to the recent bankruptcy statistics than evidence of an economy in trouble.

Consider the number of personal bankruptcies in the last five years as reported by the administrative office of the federal court system:

1978 — 179,223
1979 — 228,532
1980 — 409,798
1981 — 457,365
1982 — 450,102

The filings took their biggest leap in the 1979-81 period, before the economy slid into recession. What lifted personal bankruptcies into the 400,000 range was legislation adopted by Congress in 1978 which made it much easier for individuals and couples to declare bankruptcy. The amount of debt being canceled through Chapter 7 bankruptcy is now so great that there is a strong movement in Congress to reopen the consumer bankruptcy laws to mend the mistakes of 1978.

People who cannot pay their debts for one reason or another deserve an opportunity to make a fresh start. They do not deserve an opportunity to duck out on their obligations when there is a reasonable chance that they can discharge all or part of their debts by stretching out payments to their creditors.

The 1978 reforms made it easier to file under Chapter 7, which clears debtors of their obligations altogether after they liquidate their non-personal assets and pay their creditors as much as they can raise. The alternative is Chapter 13, which allows petitioners to keep their assets but obliges them to pay off their debts under a court-supervised agreement with their creditors.

A study by the General Accounting Office released last month lends support to complaints from the banks and credit associations that Chapter 7 is being abused. The study showed that 42 percent of debtors taking Chapter 7 had the same levels of income, assets and debts as those who are qualifying for Chapter 13. In other words, they are shedding their debts at the expense of their creditors when they are probably in a position to pay them off in full under a Chapter 13 arrangement. Another study by Opinton Research Corp. indicated that one out of four Chapter 7 cases would have qualified for Chapter 13.

A reform bill which has passed the Senate and is waiting action in the House would end the "bankruptcy on demand" which has prevailed under the 1978 legislation, and would steer more debtors away from Chapter 7 and toward Chapter 13. Judges would be empowered to deny bankruptcy petitions when they suspect the law is being abused, and counseling would be required to determine if filers have the means to pay their debts under Chapter 13 instead of taking Chapter 7.

The leading industry estimates that unneeded bankruptcies are costing creditors about $1.25 billion a year — a cost of doing business which eventually is passed on to other consumers. Bankruptcy laws which are easy to abuse provide protection to the deadbeat at the expense of all who conscientiously try to pay their debts.

The bankruptcy reform bill, HR 1800, would not close the doors of bankruptcy to anyone whose plight deserves consideration, but it would keep the same court from being used as an escape hatch for those who aren't willing to work their way out of debt the hard way. The bill deserves high priority on the house agenda when it returns from its recess this month.

BERRY'S WORLD

"Hot enough for ya? Oh — sorry, friend!"

By Charles Cobb

Earning extra dollars, in addition to regular income, is an appealing thought. Particularly if it would take only a minimum amount of time working at home.

However, the Better Business Bureau of Central Florida recently concluded an investigation of several work-at-home promotions, randomly selecting from newspapers, which showed: Persons wanting to supplement their incomes by investing in work-at-home opportunities were losing their money to unscrupulous promoters using misleading advertising claims.

Consumers should be aware of the abundance of these schemes and must realize it is their responsibility to closely examine any offer which promises or guarantees income from work-at-home programs.

The common denominator for work-at-home schemes is that interested workers must buy something before beginning to "work". For example, when responding to ads offering huge profits, a typical flyer will state to get started right away, simply fill out the application form and send it in with your $15 deposit.

For their initial investment, consumers generally receive information on how to set up their own business or to conduct the same scheme as the advertiser's. No actual employment exists.

Before falling prey to such schemes: ●Realize if money is required to get work to be done at home, be on guard. It may only be a plan to sell something. Firms offering salaried home employment do not advertise. They get their workers by word of mouth advertising.

●Realize that plans to earn money at home in spare time are often fraudulent, and at best they seldom result in any real earnings.

● Watch for signs that a promoter is promising more than he will deliver. He may never offer regular salaried employment but will promise huge profits. He may use personal testimonials but never identify the persons so that they can be contacted.

Or he may require money for instructions or merchandise before telling how the plan operates.

Any consumer wanting to check about such schemes may phone the Better Business Bureau at its Orlando office at 843-8873.

SCIENCE WORLD Machine May Allow Home Care

By Lidia Wasowicz
UPI Science Writer

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A new machine that uses the old heat therapy — with some sophisticated modern twists — may one day allow some cancer patients to be treated at home, researchers say.

The machine, currently used in research facilities around the United States and in hospitals in Canada, will be available for public use in this country when the Food and Drug Administration gives its blessing, said Steve Trank, marketing vice president of International Institute for Medical Sciences, which manufactures the ThermoTech 2000.

It operates on the principle of hyperthermia — the use of elevated temperatures to kill cancer cells. It is most often used as an adjunct to surgery, radiotherapy and chemotherapy and is still considered experimental.

However, Dr. Rudy Falk, head of cancer surgery at Toronto General Hospital, said there is growing evidence that heat shrinks large, previously inoperable tumors so they can be removed surgically and increases the speed of chemical reactions so fewer drugs are needed.

Because of reduced blood flow in tumors and greater sensitivity of cancer cells to heat, as compared to normal tissue, tumors heat up to lethal levels while adjacent healthy organs remain cooler and uninjured, Falk said.

Trank said use of elevated temperatures to treat cancer has been around since 1800s after doctors saw how patients with high fevers miraculously fought off cancers.

"Doctors then started to induce fevers to make cancers regress," Trank said. "Over the years, people have tried lots of variations on this heat treatment, such as hot blankets, melted wax and heated blood."

The problem, however, was that the entire body, rather than just the diseased region, was overcome by cell-destroying heat.

"The key is to selectively heat the tumor tissue without injuring healthy tissue. We found the most precise way to do this is by using radio frequency," Trank said.

Although there are three or four manufacturers experimenting with microwaves to produce heat, New York-based IIMS is the only one to use microwaves, Trank said.

Falk, who has used the device and its less sophisticated, bulkier predecessor since 1981, said the machine "could get to be like home dialysis" (used by kidney patients).

Once a doctor makes the diagnosis and prescribes treatment, a nurse can take over, treating the patient at home with the new 40-pound unit that includes electrode paddles attached to a box that monitors the radio frequency range.

During treatment, which consists of 10 doses of one to four hours each, two to six small flexible paddles are placed externally around the tumor region. Radio-frequency beams create a column of heat that passes from one paddle to another, attacking the cancer cells in the direct line of fire.

Labor Day: Hopelessness In Ghetto

WASHINGTON — The economic recovery has bypassed the ghettos where the unemployed, most of them restless blacks, have nothing to celebrate on this Labor Day.

To look at the faces behind the statistics, I sent a reporter into the ghettos. I also spoke to social and church workers who deal with the street people.

They paint a stark mural: The ghettos are places of harsh realities: of boarded-up storefronts, padlocked doors and wailing police sirens; of rundown rental properties and public housing projects; of violence and danger, occupied at night by police and those on the far side of the law. These inner cities are populated by desperate, streetwise men, faceless, leaden-eyed women and their listless, anonymous children. The destitute cannot escape; they have no place to go. They prowl the back alleys — scavengers sifting through garbage.

Worrisomely, they are becoming a permanent underclass. Yet they are thoroughly human, with the same

Media Focus On Clark

It's a good thing that national security advisor William Clark is the least flappable man in the world, because he is in for a prolonged media campaign targeted on him. It will be instructive, reader, if thus alerted you monitor this whole operation.

The New York Times Magazine of August 14 began the action with a photo on its cover of Clark in his White House office and a full-scale article inside by Steven R. Weisman depicting Clark as academically mediocre, undistinguished as a judge, and ignorant of foreign affairs. Weisman conceded Clark's abilities as an administrator.

James Reston, the Times' elder pundit, followed up with a column devoted to the thesis that though Clark may be loyal to Reagan he is the wrong man for the national security post.

On August 22, the Christian Science Monitor, in a lead editorial, found Clark's role "worrisome," and undertook to support Secretary of State George Shultz against the presumed growing power of Clark.

It remained for Newsweek to provide the words for this growing chorus of anti-Clark music: "Reagan's big-stick policy was only the last straw (for Shultz). With Clark and UN Ambassador Jeane Kirkpatrick pressing their own points of view on Central America, State has lost considerable influence over policy in that area... Shultz has not helped in the ongoing struggle by his generally bland, unassertive personality and his admittedly uncertain grasp of many key issues. Still, this may prove an opportune time for the secretary to establish his foreign policy primacy. Congress, too, was angered by the lack of prior consultation on the Central American maneuvers, and Clark also has drawn criticism inside the White House for falling — in the midst of the president's gender gap problems — to include a woman on the Kissinger commission."

Well, as was said of Samuel Johnson, if his pistol did not go off he would hit you with the butt. If you can't hit Clark with Central America, you can always try the "gender gap."

The fact of the matter is that the assault upon Clark has to do entirely with policy and nothing to do with Clark's presumed lack of expertise.

I myself have known Clark since 1968, when he was chief of staff in Reagan's office in Sacramento. Clark characteristically functions as a calm, reasonable conduit of various points of view to, then, the governor, and today, the president. Men in such a position as Clark do not have to possess expert knowledge on everything that comes before them, and indeed they could not possess such knowledge. But they have access to individuals who do possess it. Clark is completely capable of making the best analyses available to the president.

The point of the gathering assault upon Clark, however, has nothing to do with these abilities, and everything to do with a firm American policy in El Salvador. The administration has decided to try to prevent a communist takeover in that country, and its critics both in the Democratic Party and the media — while offering no real alternatives to that policy — are hostile to it.

About six months ago, a similar campaign was mounted against UN Ambassador Jeane Kirkpatrick, complete with commencement-time flaps at prestigious colleges. Kirkpatrick is tough, she offered her resignation to Reagan, who indicated his total support by declining it. Kirkpatrick thus reinforced, returned to the policy battles.

Bill Clark is also tough, and very capable, and I doubt that he will ever have to reassure himself of the president's support by offering his resignation.

There is also in the cards a breakthrough on arms control with the Soviets, who are not dumb, they surely have now concluded that a) Reagan will run for re-election and win, and b) that they are in a better bargaining position with him before the election than after it. They have already been burned by the election results in Germany and England. Look for a deal next summer, with Clark standing beside Reagan as he signs the big agreement.

ROBERT WALTERS

It's A Political So What?

ORLANDO, Fla. (NEA) — Does anybody out there know or care that former Vice President Walter F. Mondale displayed surprising strength at the recent meeting of the Broward County Democratic Executive Committee?

Most of Florida's citizens aren't especially interested because they have more immediate and routine concerns — notably the concurrent opening of the hurricane season, the school year and the professional football season.

But the state's political circuit is agog over what one newspaper here describes as former Florida Gov. Reubin Askew's "stunning defeat" by Mondale in Broward, the state's second most populous county which includes the communities of Fort Lauderdale, Hollywood and Pompano Beach.

The significance (to the extent that there is any) of that development relates to Askew's poor showing despite his status as a native son and presumably favorite son of Florida in the contest for next year's Democratic presidential nomination.

Mondale supporters elected 107 of the 114 Broward County delegates to capture almost 94 percent of the delegation. Moreover, Mondale also scored surprisingly well in Duval County, which includes the city of Jacksonville, where 80 percent of the delegates are ostensibly committed to him.

There's only one problem: All of those delegates hold the dubious distinction of being selected to attend a statewide Democratic convention in late October which has no official status whatsoever in the elaborate process of selecting the party's presidential candidate.

That convention, to be held in Hollywood, will include only a non-binding straw poll of dubious value. Florida doesn't actually select its delegates to the 1984 Democratic National Convention until it holds a primary in mid-March of next year.

Florida, however, is not alone in staging such political events whose highly premature and generally irrelevant nature fails to deter candidate enthusiasm.

In New Hampshire, for example, Askew received 1,066 of the 1,143 votes cast in a straw poll at the midsummer picnic of the Manchester Democratic Committee — after Askew political operatives purchased hundreds of admission tickets for people loyal to their candidate.

Sen. Alan Cranston, D-Calif., scored a similar coup at the statewide convention of Alabama's Young Democrats. After he hosted a riverboat cruise for convention participants, the senator received 52 percent of the votes in a straw poll — but only 124 ballots were cast, a sample so small that it probably didn't accurately reflect sentiment even within the sponsoring organization.

Much of this activity is the product of a sincere but misguided decision by the Democratic National Committee to confine virtually all of the party's official delegate selection functions — statewide primaries and caucuses — to a three-month period in 1984.

That action not only has had the unintended effect of encouraging unofficial, preliminary political maneuvering, but there's reason to believe that the limitations are the product of flawed reasoning.

In South Dallas, my reporter suddenly found himself in the middle of a chaotic street scene. Police leaped out of a car, cornered two young blacks, faced them against a car, their legs and arms outstretched. They were searched and manacled and shoved into a police car. The scene drew no crowd. Just a few casual glances. Arrests are commonplace in the Dallas ghetto.

But there is a problem. As a hustler on the streets of Gary, Ind., put it, "There ain't much left here to steal." It means he'll have to do his hustling in Chicago's nearby, affluent white neighborhoods.

The same sentiments were heard in other ghettos. Blacks in South Dallas, for example, may not have much, but they intend to hang onto what they do have. A bitter black activist, named Bill Stoner, told my reporter: "There are a lot of angry black Vietnam veterans out there ready to take to the streets... They're gonna start taking some of those skills they learned in Vietnam and start applying them in the streets."

Here are a few other observations:

— In the ghettos, there are few unskilled jobs available; precious little job training is being offered; welfare benefits have been slashed; and low-cost housing is disappearing. Neither the federal government nor corporate employers have accepted responsibility for retraining laid-off workers for new jobs.

— With more emotion than evidence, impoverished blacks across the country blame Ronald Reagan for their deteriorating economic condition. Under Reagan, they repeat, "the poor get poorer, and the rich get richer." This perception heightens their frustration which is turning to anger.

— President Reagan wants to establish urban free-enterprise zones and offer special concessions to encourage businessmen to set up shop in the inner cities. However plausible the idea may appear on paper, it won't work in the streets. At the same time that the president is offering businesses incentives to return to the ghettos, market analysts are telling them to stay away.

Lions Need Line To Spring Loose Explosive Backs

By Chris Flister
Herald Sports Writer

A lot of vacancies were left at key positions by Oviedo's graduating seniors, but the Lions' most productive offensive weapons — running backs J.W. Yarborough and Barry Williams — are returning. If Oviedo's inexperienced offensive line can pave the way, Williams and Yarborough will rack up a lot of points for Oviedo in '83. The defense also has some big shoes to fill as All-County First Team linebacker Tom Johnson and All-County defensive lineman David Butterfield are gone.

"We've got a long way to go," said Oviedo coach Jack Blanton after his youngsters dropped both ends (Jones, 7-0; Osceola, 6-0) of the jamboree Friday at Kissimmee. "We've got good people at the positions. It's just they haven't played much. We're really inexperienced."

Oviedo ended up with a 8-3 record in 1982, winning its last seven games in a row. The Lions open the season at home this Friday night against 4A Melbourne.

Blanton, nevertheless, is hoping everything will fall into place by the beginning of the season. Blanton is assisted by Ken Kroog, Paul Greer, Ken Cain and John Horn.

OFFENSE

Backfield — Williams and Yarborough are both seniors and they should be a dynamic combination in '83. In 1982, Yarborough was second in the county in rushing with 844 yards and Williams was third with 820 yards. Adding even more fuel to the backfield fire is junior fullback Larry Grayson, a promising performer in '82. At quarterback, Oviedo will go with junior Kevin Thompson. Thompson attended Oviedo as a freshman, then moved to North Carolina. His father, who is in the military, has been stationed in Germany, so Thompson moved back to Oviedo. "Kevin looks good in practice," said Blanton. "He wasn't eligible for the jamboree, but he'll be in there Friday." Oviedo will move Charles "Pop" Bowers back to wingback. Bowers, a speedster, plays quarterback in the spring. Cory Batson, a promising sophomore, will backup Thompson.

If the Lions are to continue their seven-game winning streak, though, the combination of Yarborough and Williams must click. "It will be the nucleus of the team," Blanton said of the backfield. "We have a lot of talent there and hope to get a lot of production from them this season."

Receivers — Two of the top three receivers graduated including All-County First Team selection Ken Ashe who had 28 receptions in 1982 and big Dan Lott who had 10 receptions and a 19 yard average. Returning for his senior year will be Howard Lingard, who was also among the best in the county in '82 with seven catches and a 26.4 average per catch. Lingard will be counted on to be a big play man in '83. Chris Boston, who played as a sophomore, returns at one wide receiver where he will split time with Chuck Johnson.

Barry Williams

J.W. Yarborough

Line — May be the key for Oviedo in '83. Oviedo lost its entire starting offensive line of '82 to graduation. That included center Eric Putman, guards David Butterfield and Craig Wheeler and tackles David Wilson and Vernon Beckstrom. The Lions also lost their top offensive lineman over the summer. Rich Griffin, a 6-2, 230-pounder, received an academic scholarship to a North Carolina school.

"We've been alternating a lot of people on the line," said Blanton. "These guys are going to have to come through if we're going to be any good." Tim Willis will probably start at center with Pat MacCartney and E.J. Rossow at the guards. Both are converted defensive backs. Brett Morton and John Lowrie will be at the tackles.

DEFENSE

Line — Senior nose guard Kevin Yentz will be the defensive leader in '83. Yentz had an outstanding junior year in '82 with 42 solo tackles and 22 assists for a total of 66, ranking him 10th in the county. The muscular senior is up to 190 pounds now, and is bench-pressing 300. At defensive tackle, Kerry Raffety and Chris Finch are the starters. Defensive end Larry Grayson is a good one.

Linebacking — "The Headhunter," Tom Johnson, is now playing at UCF and his presence will be missed on Oviedo's defense. Johnson was an All-County First Team performer in '82. Oviedo also lost its other starting linebacker, Clark Herman, to graduation. Willie Wiggs and Mark Howell are both quality performers who should make up for the loss of Johnson somewhat.

Secondary — The defensive backfield is pretty well stocked with returning players including '82 starters John LaPorta and Tim Turbyfield a pair of seniors who will bolster the secondary. Eddie Norton, who started in the Lake Howell defensive backfield last year, should be one of the top defenders in the county after moving into the Oviedo district. Junior Dave Wood is pushing for a starting spot ahead of LaPorta while speedy sophomore Andrew Smith has nailed down a starting job at cornerback.

Kicking — Place-kicker Rob Moody is back for his senior year after hitting on 20 of 24 extra points in '82. Moody also added two field goals for a total of 26 points.

OUTLOOK

How fast the offensive line matures will be a key for Oviedo in '83. Meanwhile, Yentz will be counted on for guidance on defense and the Lions hope the rest of the defense follows his example. Yarborough and Williams are good enough to get through the smallest of holes and there is a possibility of a pair of 1,000 yard rushers in the same backfield if the offensive line comes through.

No 'Quackenslack' For Howell At QB

By Sam Cook
Herald Sports Editor

The day of the two-headed quarterback at Lake Howell High School has apparently met the guillotine. Troy Quackenbush, who runs very well, and Darin Slack, who passes very well, are in a head-to-head battle for the job of the Hawks' number one signal caller. No more "Quackenslack" for the gifted seniors, who split time last season at QB.

"We called them both into the office before practice and put it right on the line to them," said coach Mike Biscaglia who feels the Howell offense will function much better with just one head. "Both are capable of winning the quarterback spot, so we told them what we are going to do as part of their evaluation."

The evaluation includes constant monitoring during practice. Completions, attempts and interceptions are kept during scrimmages, then the coaching staff pours over the data, trying to determine who is ahead.

Biscaglia is serious about going with just one QB. Serious, to the point, whereas he advised each to learn another position if he does not win the battle for the QB spot.

"We suggested that both should learn another position," said Biscaglia. "Quackenbush went to strong safety, but Slack decided he didn't want to learn a second position. But, he understands that if he doesn't start at quarterback, he will be number two for that game."

Quackenbush may have had an edge during the practice drills, where his completion percentage was better than Slack's. Slack, however, improved his stock during the jamboree last Friday by guiding the Silver Hawks to the winning touchdown in a 7-6 victory over Lake Mary. Quackenbush didn't have a very good first half. He tossed an interception, fumbled a snap and was sacked twice by Lake Mary's Jeff Reynolds.

The biggest test, though, will come this Friday in a nonconference game against Bishop Moore. "Each will play a half against Bishop Moore," said Biscaglia. "And then we will make a decision who will start the next ballgame (Spruce Creek). It will be a week by week evaluation."

Biscaglia was noncommittal on who was ahead at this point, but he did offer that "Slack has a better arm, but Quackenbush has better mechanics for the running game."

A move toward Slack would be a shift in philosophy for Biscaglia who has always favored a ground-oriented, ball-control attack in the past. "We had planned to throw the ball more this year no matter who we have at quarterback," said Biscaglia. "That was brought out in the spring (jamboree) when we threw the ball successfully for two quarters."

It doesn't hurt that Lake Howell has an excellent corps of receivers either. John "No Relation" McKay, Jimmy Daniel, Allan Jack, Jeron Evans, Jeff Solomon and Jack Colson can all catch the ball. Fullback Jay Robey and halfback Bill Lang are equally as dangerous coming out of the backfield.

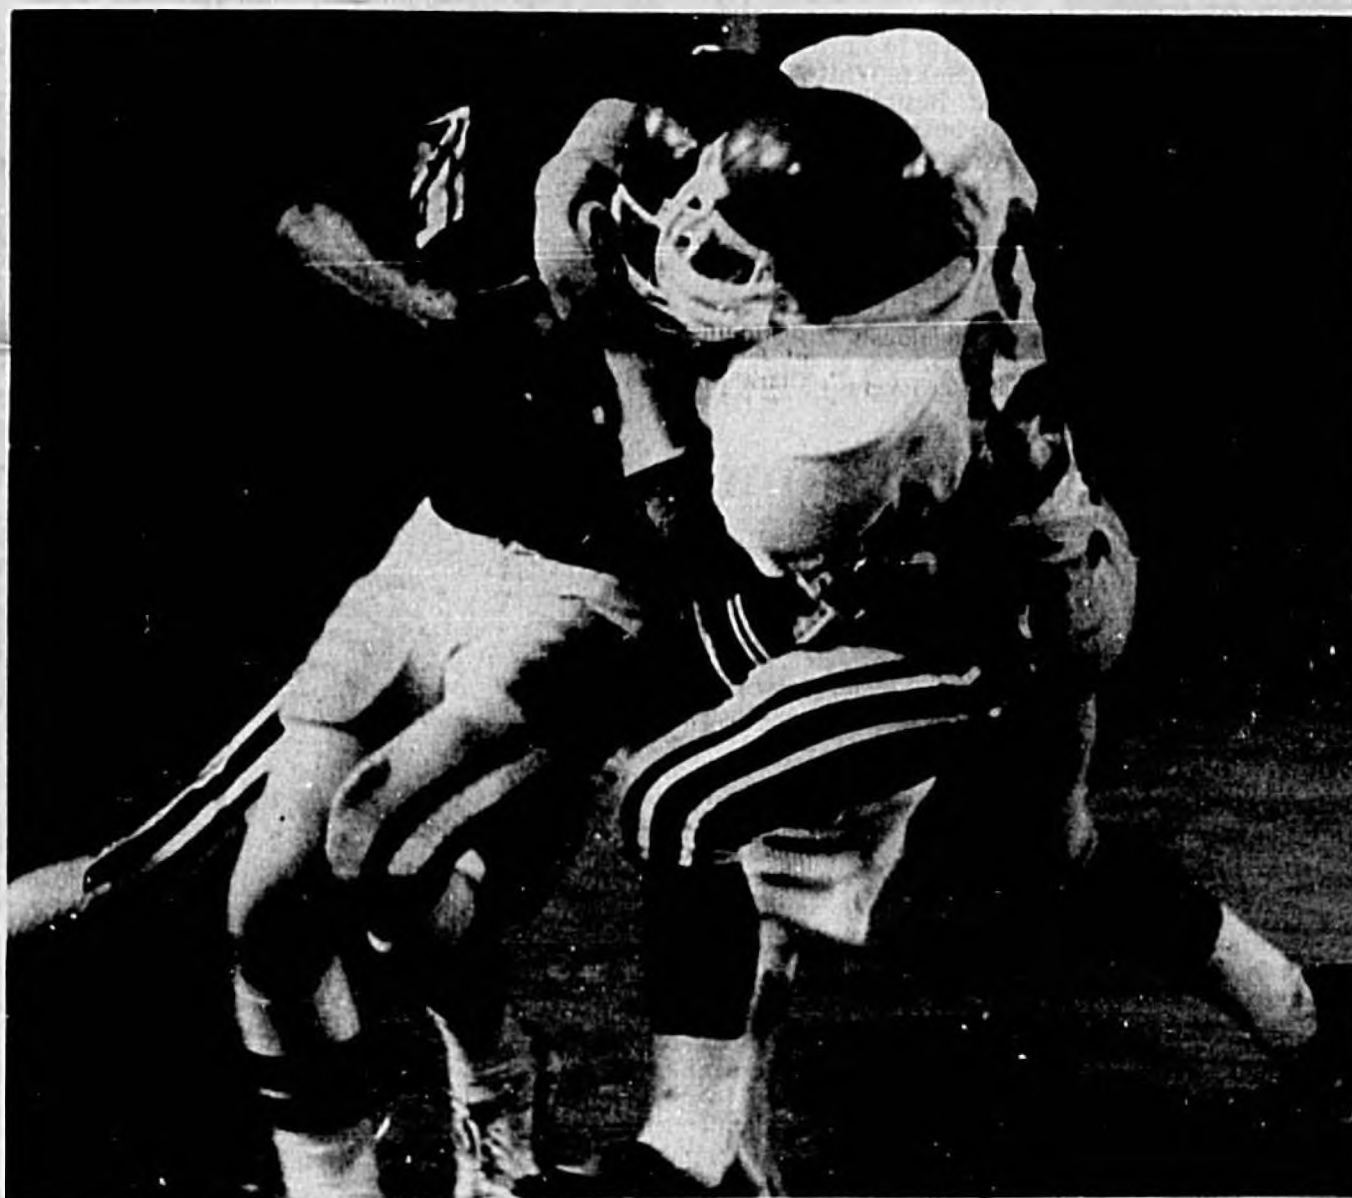

Although the competition has been very stiff between Quackenbush and Slack, Biscaglia is impressed with the reaction of both. "There are both mature competitors," he said. "They're both taking it in a very positive manner. Some kids might say, 'Hey, I'm going to move out of district and go to another school if I can't start.'"

Gay Ruins Day For Tampa Bay — Miami Blanks Bills

TAMPA (UPI) — The Detroit Lions defense — and William Gay in particular — dominated the Tampa Bay Buccaneers Sunday.

Gay, a hard-charging defensive end harassed Tampa Bay's two quarterbacks all day long as the Lions clawed out an 11-0 opening game victory Sunday.

Gay was credited with five unassisted sacks, one partial sack, six tackles and two assists.

While the Lions defense was battering the Bucs, the Detroit offense centered around Ed Murray, who kicked three field goals for the Lions.

The only other score came on a safety when defense tackle Doug English sacked Jerry Golsteyn, Tampa's starting quarterback, in his own end zone for a first period safety.

"It was one of those days everything seemed to work," Gay said after the game.

"It was a good way to start the season, to beat the Bucs down here," said Lions coach Monte Clark. "It was a great job by the defense. Bill Gay in particular played a super football game."

Murray had a first period field goal of 29 yards, a third period field goal of 48 yards and a fourth period field goal of 38 yards.

He was wide right on a 36-yard attempt in the final period.

"I talked myself out of that last one," he said. "I was standing there telling myself to direct it and when I do that, I lean everything off to the right. I forgot to tell myself to follow through."

"They had a good defense and with that good defense we had to rely on Eddie (Murray)," said Detroit starting quarterback Eric Hipple. "Once we got inside the 20, we couldn't put it in. We'll have to work on that."

Dolphins 12, Bills 0

ORCHARD PARK, N.Y. (UPI) — To the Buffalo Bills and the Miami Dolphins, the scene was familiar.

The Bills were running up and down the field, but failed to put the football in the end zone. The Dolphins, on the other hand, played tough defense, but their offense couldn't penetrate the Buffalo goal line.

The outcome was also familiar Sunday as Miami rode four Uwe von Schamann field goals to a 12-0 victory over Buffalo in the season-opener for both clubs.

For Miami coach Don Shula, the game was sort of deja vu. Last year in the first game following the players strike, Shula brought his club to Buffalo and watched them fall on offense. But Miami walked away with a 9-7 victory thanks to von Schamann's three field goals.

"I'll take the wins any way we can get them," Shula admitted. "The last two times we've come in here we did not score a touchdown and yet we have two wins."

Jets 41, Chargers 29

Like two mighty heavyweights, the New York Jets and the San Diego Chargers went toe-to-toe to the finish Sunday and when it was over, it was the Jets who had delivered the knockout punch.

The Jets, who earned a berth in the

Pro Football

American Conference title game last season, and the Chargers, who set a ton of offensive records in making the playoffs, played it conservatively for three periods and then let go with the heavy punches in a 34-point final period. The Jets, with 1982 league rushing leader Freeman McNeil showing the way, surged to three touchdowns in that last quarter and held off the Chargers 41-29.

Broncos 14, Steelers 10

Steve Deberg took over when million-dollar rookie quarterback John Elway bruised an elbow in his NFL debut and flipped a 2-yard TD pass to Ron Eglhoff with 2:54 left to play as Denver upset Pittsburgh. Elway, the first pick in the NFL draft, completed just one of eight passes for 14 yards during the first two periods. He had one interception, was called once for intentional grounding, lost a fumble and was sacked four times for 26 yards.

Packers 41, Oilers 38

David Whitehurst, who sat on the bench while Lynn Dickey was one of the best days in team history, led Green Bay on a 59-yard overtime march to set up Jan Stenerud's 42-yard field goal that lifted the Pack over Houston. Stenerud's kick 5:55 into overtime ended a wild game that saw almost 1,000 yards total offense. Dickey completed his first 18 passes, had a club record-tying five TDs and was 27-for-31 for 333 yards before leaving with dizzy spells.

Raiders 20, Bengals 10

Marcus Allen scored twice on 1-yard runs and Chris Bahr kicked two field goals to lead Los Angeles over Cincinnati. Allen's TDs capped drives of 84 and 77 yards and Bahr had field goals of 38 and 39 yards. The Bengals scored on a 36-yard field goal by Jim Breech and a 9-yard TD pass from Ken Anderson to M.L. Harris with a minute left to play.

Falcons 20, Bears 17

Steve Bartkowski's second TD pass of the game — a 21-yarder to Alfred Jenkins midway through the final period — lifted Atlanta past Chicago and gave Dan Henning a victory in his coaching debut. Bartkowski, who hit William Andrews on a 23-yard TD in the first period, connected with Jenkins with 9:17 left.

Vikings 27, Browns 21

Ted Brown scored on runs of 1 and 5 yards and caught a 10-yard TD pass from Tommy Kramer as Minnesota downed Cleveland. Kramer hit on 22 of 33 passes for 198 yards and Brown rolled up 79 yards on 17 carries and caught six passes for 63 yards.

Saints 28, Cardinals 17

George Rogers rushed for a team-record 206 yards and scored two third-period TDs to power New Orleans past St. Louis. Rogers scored twice in a 2:24 span. He broke through the middle, fought off a tackler and raced 76 yards for one score and after an interception, went over on a 1-yard plunge.

Colts 29, Patriots 23 (OT)

Linebacker Johnnie Cooks picked up Tony Collins' fumble and returned it 52 yards on the second play of overtime to lift Baltimore past New England. The victory ended a nine-game Baltimore losing streak, dating to Dec. 20, 1981, and also was the first NFL win for Colts Coach Frank Kush, now in his second year. The loss was the seventh without a victory for New England in overtime games.

Rams 16, Giants 6

Vince Ferragamo threw TD passes of 8 and 42 yards to Mike Barber, and Los Angeles' revamped defense had five sacks and forced five turnovers in beating the Giants and bringing first-year coach John Robinson his first NFL victory.

Chiefs 17, Seahawks 13

Bill Kenney threw a 9-yard TD pass to Henry Marshall and halfback Jewerl Thomas had an 18-yard scoring pass to Carlos Carson to carry Kansas City over Seattle and make a winner out of John Mackovic in his head coaching debut. Seattle rookie Curt Warner had a 60-yard run and carried 12 times for 93 yards.

Saturday Eagles 22, 49ers 17

Backup Joe Pisarcik threw a 17-yard TD pass to Hubie Oliver in the third period and Tony Franklin kicked three field goals to lift Philadelphia over San Francisco. Pisarcik, filling in for injured Ron Jaworski, hit eight of 10 passes for 108 yards in the second half to rally the Eagles from a 10-3 deficit.

Raines' Single Whips Dodgers; Braves Win

United Press International
 Though Chris Speler has lost his job, he is still trying to help the Montreal Expos find their way.

Speler scored the winning run on a single by Tim Raines with none out in the bottom of the 12th inning Sunday to give the Expos a 3-2 victory over the Los Angeles Dodgers at Montreal.

The victory moved the Expos within 1 1/2 games of first-place Pittsburgh in the NL East, while Los Angeles' lead over second-place Atlanta in the Western Division fell to 2 1/2.

Speler opened with a double to center off loser Pat Zachry, 5-1, and Raines singled down the right-field line to make a winner of Dan Schatzeder, 5-2, who worked three innings of relief.

Speler, who lost his starting shortstop job two weeks ago when the Expos acquired Manny Trillo and shifted Doug Flynn to Speler's spot, was in the game as a defensive replacement for Bryan Little at second base.

"It's funny, I was actually more concerned with adapting to playing second base, since it is a strange position for me," Speler said. "I was just hoping that there would not be a double-play situation when I was in there. Luckily there wasn't. I got a chance to get a key hit and I produced and I am happy about that."

It was the 13th game-winning RBI for Raines. "I certainly hope it's lucky," Raines said. "It was a long time in coming, but I had a chance to win the game for the team and I took advantage of it. He gave me a good pitch and I drilled it down the line."

The Expos tied the score 2-2 in the eighth inning. Little led off with a double and Andre Dawson was safe on an error by first baseman German Rivera. Al Oliver hit into a double play. Little advancing to third, Gary Carter followed with a single to right off reliever Steve Howe.

Los Angeles took a 1-0 lead in the first. Steve Sax singled, stole second and scored on a sacrifice fly when R.J. Reynolds flied out to Warren Cromartie in deep right field. On the play, Cromartie went to the fence to make the catch and by the time he turned around to throw the ball, Sax was rounding third and beat the play to the plate.

Oliver's seventh home run of the season, in the fourth, tied the score 1-1.

Giants 10, Phillies 4
 At Philadelphia, Darrell Evans and Jack Clark cracked two-run homers to lead San Francisco. Andy McGaffigan, 3-9, pitched 4 1/3 relief innings. Greg

A.L./N.L. Baseball

Minton entered in the seventh and gained his 18th save. Kevin Gross, 4-5, took the loss.

Padres 7, Mets 5
 At New York, Terry Kennedy's two-run homer highlighted a six-run fifth inning and sparked San Diego. Kennedy's home run, his 12th of the season, knocked out starter Ed Lynch, 9-9. Sid Monge, 6-2, picked up the victory in relief of starter Andy Hawkins and Elias Sosa collected his first save.

Cardinals 5, Reds 4
 At St. Louis, Willie McGee singled in Lonnie Smith from second base with none out in the ninth for the Cardinals. McGee lined an 0-and-1 pitch from Ben Hayes, 4-3, to center and Lonnie Smith beat the throw from Eddie Milner. Jeff Lahti, who relieved in the top of the inning, got the win to raise his record to 3-1.

Braves 5, Pirates 4
 At Atlanta, pinch runner Brett Butler raced home on a throwing error by first baseman Lee Mazzilli in the eighth inning to help the Braves snap a six-game losing streak. Reliever Terry Forster, 3-2, notched the victory and Steve Bedrosian notched his 19th save.

Cubs 9, Astros 7
 At Chicago, rookie Carmelo Martinez capped a four-run eighth with a two-out, three-run homer to rally the Cubs. Warren Brusstar, the fourth Cubs pitcher, raised his record to 3-1. Lee Smith notched his 24th save.

Orioles 9, Twins 6
 Baltimore Manager Joe Altobelli knows the party in the AL East is far from over.

"It has been a real rat race in the division and the fun is just beginning," Altobelli said after John Shelby singled in two runs in a three-run eighth inning Sunday, breaking a 5-5 tie and propelling the Orioles to a 9-6 victory over the Minnesota Twins at Minneapolis.

The triumph was Baltimore's 11th in its last 12 games and the Orioles lead New York and Detroit by 4 1/2 games and Milwaukee by five in the Eastern Division.

"We needed to do that and we did," he said, referring to how his team put the game away after Minnesota tied it. "We've been good in late and extra innings."

Winner Storm Davis, 12-5, gave up seven hits in seven innings. Tippy Martinez worked the last two innings and notched his 14th save.

Tim Raines was all concentration Sunday in the 12th inning against Los Angeles. Raines lined a basehit to score Chris Speler as the Expos tripped L.A., 3-2. Montreal moved to within 1 1/2 games of first-place Pittsburgh while the Dodgers' lead over Atlanta fell to 2 1/2 games as the Braves nipped the Pirates, 5-4.

Eddie Murray led off the eighth with a double off loser Ron Davis, 3-7, who then walked pinch hitters Al Bumbry and Jim Dwyer to load the bases. John Lowenstein delivered a pinch-hit sacrifice fly to center to bring in Murray with the go-ahead run. Todd Cruz beat out an infield single to re-load the bases and Shelby laced a single over second to score Bumbry and Dwyer.

"Davis has a good fastball," Shelby said. "The first couple he threw by me, but the 2-2 pitch was another good fastball, low and inside, and it just happened to hit the bat."
 Glenn Gulliver hit a sacrifice fly in the ninth for the Orioles' final run.

Blue Jays 6, Tigers 3
 At Toronto, Ernie Whitt's second home run of the game — a three-run shot with two out in the 10th — lifted the Blue Jays. Whitt's homer, his 15th of the season, came on a 3-and-1 pitch from Aurelio Lopez, 9-8. Dave Stieb, who struck out a career-high 11, upped his record to 14-11.

Red Sox 6, White Sox 3
 At Boston, Bruce Hurst pitched a four-hitter for his sixth complete game of the season and Tony Armas drove in three runs to lead Boston. Hurst, who gave up Ron Kittle's 30th home run, struck out eight and walked three in raising his record to 11-10. Britt Burns fell to 8-9.

Angels 5, Brewers 3
 At Anaheim, Calif., Doug DeCinces hit a three-run homer with two out in the sixth inning to lift the Angels and hand Don Sutton, 7-12, his seventh straight defeat. Tommy John, 10-11, scattered 11 hits over 8 2-3 innings for the victory.

Yankees 4, Mariners 3
 At Seattle, Ron Guidry tossed an eight-hitter over 8 2-3 innings and Omar Moreno drove in two runs to lead the Yankees. Guidry, 17-8, walked none and struck out six. He missed his league-leading 17th complete game when Steve Henderson hit a two-run homer with two out in the ninth.

Indians 9, A's 2
 At Oakland, Calif., Pat Tabler keyed a five-run fifth inning with a two-run single and Rick Sutcliffe pitched a complete game to pace the Indians. Sutcliffe, 16-9, stranded 10 while tossing a seven-hitter. He struck out eight while walking three. Steve McCatty, 5-7, took the loss.

Rangers 3, Royals 2
 At Arlington, Texas, Dave Stewart pitched 8 2-3 sparkling innings, helping the Rangers. Stewart, 2-1, scattered eight hits and walked two while striking out five in his fourth start for the Rangers since he was traded by the Los Angeles Dodgers on Aug. 19.

Notch-Year Babes To Tighten Belts

DEAR ABBY: If you want to do a good deed, please print the following message:

If you are drawing Social Security and were born in 1917, 1918, 1919, 1920 or 1921 (called "the notch years"), you are being unjustly penalized by receiving lower benefits than those born prior to and after the above-mentioned years. For example, if you worked until you were 65 before starting to draw Social Security, you are receiving about $100 less in your monthly check than those born before 1917 or after 1921.

A bill in Congress to correct this unfair situation (HR-5469) failed to make the committee and died at the end of the 1982 session.

If you are in this age group, write to your congressman requesting that this bill be reintroduced, or a new bill be introduced to correct this unfair situation.

NOTCH-YEAR BABY

DEAR BABY: Thank you for an important message. I checked your facts, and they are accurate. Readers who do not know in which district they reside, or who their representative is, should look in their telephone directory under "U.S. Government." Listed there will be "Congress." Any congressional office will be able to tell you who your congressman is and how to write to him. Your congressman is your elected representative. Let him know that you want this inequity corrected.

DEAR ABBY: I have just inherited some beautiful furs — a mink coat, a leopard jacket and a silver fox muff and hat. They are gorgeous! My husband is an animal lover and can't stand the sight of fur garments. He says it makes him both sad and furious when he thinks of the way the animals died.

Should I wear them anyway, or give them away?

TORN

DEAR TORN: Sell the furs and give the proceeds to your local animal shelter. And consider yourself lucky to have such a caring, sensitive husband.

DEAR ABBY: To "The Children," whose father has inoperable cancer and his wife refuses to tell him: Our family was in exactly the same situation years ago. Mom refused to tell Dad, and we reluctantly went along with it. I will always regret that decision.

As a result, we all acted like nothing was seriously wrong with Dad. Meanwhile, he grew sicker and sicker. We created a false atmosphere of hope and optimism that was more painful than the real one.

No honest or meaningful conversations ever took place because no one admitted that there was anything wrong. I'm sure Dad knew he was dying, but he held back so as to prolong Mom's avoidance of reality.

What a terrible, terrible loss! We could have comforted each other, cried and hugged and spoken what was in our hearts and minds, but we didn't.

I'm glad you advise people to be honest with each other in such situations. It's the only way.

TOO LATE FOR US

Factional Fighting Intensifies; 4 Marines Wounded

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — The war between Christian and Moslem Druze militiamen for control of the Israeli-occupied mountains east of Beirut escalated today, and U.S. Marines shelled the hills adjacent to their Beirut airport positions after four American peacekeepers were wounded.

"We fired five mortar rounds into the hills a mile and a half southeast of Khalde," a Marine spokesman said. "The target was a mobile rocket launcher but we do not know if we hit it."

The Marines were only slightly wounded and other casualty reports were not officially available. But the independent newspaper Al Nahar said 35 people were killed and 79 others wounded over the past 24 hours alone.

The spokesman said the Marines fired back after four American peacekeepers were slightly wounded by shrapnel from shells crashing near their Beirut airport positions. Another U.S. Marine and an Italian peacekeeper were slightly wounded by similar shelling Sunday.

In the mountains east of Beirut, the Christians said Syrian and Palestinian forces joined in the fighting in a bid to capture the strategic town of Bhamdoun, 12 miles east of Beirut.

Independent confirmation of direct Syrian involvement was not immediately available, but the Christians said they crushed the "Joint Syrian-Palestinian-Druze attack."

Marine spokesman Maj. Robert Jordan said three of the American peacekeepers were treated on the spot but the fourth was taken to one of the U.S. Navy vessels off the Beirut coast "because he was bleeding" in the neck.

"All four were slightly wounded during the early hours of today by shrapnel from shells crashing in our vicinity. We are also getting some small arms fire," Jordan said.

South of the Beirut airport Marine positions, the Lebanese army consolidated its grip of the coastal highway at Khalde despite a massive Druze artillery barrage from adjacent hills.

Jordan said the Lebanese army was well entrenched in Khalde, 9 miles south of Beirut, and "digging out pockets of resistance."

The all-out Christian-Druze mountain war, now in its second day, erupted hours after the Sunday pullout by Israeli troops.

Israel Tells Syrians To Keep Out Of Vacated Areas

TEL AVIV, Israel (UPI) — Israel, its troops safely watching factional warfare in Lebanon's Shouf Mountains today from new positions to the south, bluntly warned Syria against trying to take over territory the Israelis vacated.

"We made it clear we do not want hostile forces entering the area we leave," Defense Minister Moshe Arens said at a news conference Sunday night as Israel's massive "Operation Grindstone" ended.

"It should be clear to the Syrians that includes them," Arens said. "We do not want Syrian forces entering areas we leave. I think that message is well-understood in Syria."

About 25,000 Israeli troops, who swept far north into Lebanon 15 months ago, pulled back 25 miles to the Awali River, which some believe could be the boundary of a partitioned Lebanon for a long time.

Israeli war jets strafed a number of Syrian tanks that tried to roll west along the Beirut-Damascus highway and Army Chief of Staff Moshe Levy called it "a sign we do not intend to permit entry into this area."

Arens also said he hoped the Syrians take the strafing "as a signal" and do not test Israel's word.

Arens called on the multinational peacekeeping force, including the U.S. Marines, to help the Lebanese maintain order in the Shouf Mountains, where fighting broke out as the Israelis departed.

Lebanon declared "frozen" its May 17 agreement with Israel for the withdrawal of foreign troops from the nation. Christian and Druze Moslem factions fought artillery battles that continued into today.

Syria had refused to recognize the agreement. It immediately began to advance into one area vacated by the Israelis and said the withdrawal meant "Lebanon becomes partitioned."

Soviet Pilot Tapes To Be Made Public

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States will soon make public the tapes of "very excited" conversations between three Soviet fighter pilots just moments before they shot down a South Korean airliner, a White House aide says.

President Reagan took the unusual step of playing eight minutes of the taped radio transmissions for top congressional leaders and Cabinet officials Sunday.

"The room was in total silence" as they listened, an aide said. "The voices of the Soviet pilots were very excited."

At one point, one of the pilots uttered a profanity, but "it was broken off," the aide said.

The tapes will be made public in the near future, aides said, probably at the United Nations where the United States has accused the Soviet Union of a "brutal ... inhuman ... cold blooded" act.

But it was decided not to air them in the president's nationally televised address on the plane tragedy scheduled for 8 p.m. EDT today in which Reagan was expected to reveal what action he will take against the Soviets in retaliation for the air attack.

Deputy press secretary Larry Speakes said the administration believes it has "irrefutable" evidence the Soviets knew the identity of the Korean Air Lines passenger jet when they destroyed it with a heat-seeking missile.

Senate Republican leader Howard Baker and other congressional leaders said they were impressed by the tapes.

"It is clear beyond any doubt that the Soviets did shoot down an unarmed commercial plane," Baker told reporters.

But the tapes do not indicate whether the Soviet pilots were getting their orders from a commander on the ground.

Speakes said Reagan opened the meeting by asking for a moment of silent prayer for the 269 persons, including Rep. Larry McDonald, D-Ga., and 60 other Americans, who were aboard the ill-fated plane and for Sen. Henry Jackson, D-Washington, who died of a heart attack Thursday.

Then an eight-minute recording of the voices of three Soviet pilots was played in segments to permit an English translation in the hushed room.

A presidential aide said the pilots only identified the plane as "the target." The pilot who fired the missile finally reported: "Target destroyed."

The White House played only selected parts of the top-secret tapes, which were supplied by the government's intelligence gathering agencies. There were indications some of the recordings were supplied by Japan as well.

Thousands Protest Soviet Attack On Plane

More than 1,000 protesters angry over a shot-down South Korean jet stormed a Soviet diplomatic retreat in Glen Cove, N.Y., injuring five policemen, and 1,000 demonstrators in Honolulu donned black armbands and carried signs saying "Russian murderers."

In Miami Sunday, a group of 300 people including Korean-Americans massed at the "Torch of Friendship," burning the Russian flag, reading a list of passengers on the plane and chanting "We want action, an eye for an eye."

"What we want the president to do is get an apology from those people," said Mary Collins, state committee woman for the Florida Republican Party, which sponsored the protest against last Wednesday's attack on a South Korean Air Lines 747 carrying 269 passengers.

"So far they're very arrogant about the whole thing and they don't seem the least bit contrite."

In Honolulu, police said an hour-long demonstration at the state Capitol that drew about 1,000 people, including nearly two dozen uniformed Korean Air Lines pilots and stewardesses, was "very peaceful, very proper."

Many of the protesters at the rally sponsored by a coalition of Korean and religious groups wore black armbands and carried signs emblazoned with slogans including "Russian murderers."

The Long Island group, carrying signs that read, "Kill the Russians" and chanting anti-Soviet slogans, begun to gather outside Glen Cove High School early Sunday morning and grew to more than 1,000 by 10 a.m.

From there they marched to the Soviet's 36-acre Killenworth state where they burned a Soviet flag.

The charge on the luxurious compound came shortly after 10 o'clock and was led by about 70 members of the Korean Association of New York.

The protesters broke through the gates surrounding the compound and tried to force their way into the main building, police said.

But they never made it. The demonstrators were stopped by armed Soviet guards as well by Nassau County and Glen Cove police.

Answer to Previous Puzzle

B-12 Treats Anemia; Shots Often Needed

DEAR DR. LAMB — When I was growing up one of the reasons we were told to eat liver was that it would prevent anemia. It was supposed to provide vitamin B-12 and iron. I have always followed the practice of eating liver once a week because of its beneficial effects. Now I am told I have pernicious anemia and I need B-12 shots.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I am a 47-year-old female. For the last five years I have had a breaking out on my nose. The doctor said my blood was dirty and gave me tetracycline, 250 milligrams. It clears it up in a couple of days. Then, if I quit taking it, I break out again in about a week. I hate to be dependent on any medicine, although I only take one every other day.

DEAR READER — Much of what you have been told is true. In fact, Dr. George Whipple discovered that you could feed raw beef liver to dogs with pernicious anemia and save them. Still later it was discovered that large amounts of liver also helped humans with this problem. Pernicious anemia was a fatal disease until these discoveries were made about 1926.

What causes this problem? I hardly drink alcohol. I don't smoke, but I eat anything, which makes me think it has to do with what I eat. I certainly would like to correct this problem without taking a prescription drug for the rest of my life.

DEAR READER — You probably have acne rosacea. It is fairly common and causes the red nose with some acne-like activity. It is not the same thing as acne but it has some features in common.

It can progress to a large bulbous, reddened deformed nose, often attributed to alcohol. But it does occur in people who do not drink alcohol at all.

Taking B-12 by mouth, if you don't have enough intrinsic factor, does not guarantee it will be absorbed. But when it is injected that is no problem and your body gets the amount it needs.

Tetracycline is often very helpful in controlling the problem. And much larger doses are often used every day until the condition has been controlled for a long period of time. Some require a maintenance dose similar to the amount you take.

A B-12 deficiency causes much more than anemia. You need to read The Health Letter 4-5. Vitamin B-12, Folic Acid, Pernicious Anemia, which I am sending you.
