Death of Baltimore Citizen Removes Barrier to Fortune Lying in New Orleans Bank

BALTIMORE, Md., Feb. 9.—A fortune of $2,500,000, which has been held from the heirs for half a century may soon be claimed as a result of the death of Constantine Lynch, a picturesque character in Maryland political affairs. The money is lying in a New Orleans bank. Miss Margaret McDonough Lynch, his sister, said Sunday. The money, says Miss Lynch, was bequeathed to her stepmother, Mrs. Andrew A. Lynch, by John McDonough, one of Maryland's first millionaires. The facts of her story are as follows: Mrs. Lynch's father was Dr. Albert A. Lynch of Cantonville. At her birth, her mother died, and her father became enamored of Rosalinda Ludden, daughter of Lemuel Ludden, her mother's dearest friend. McDonough Was Rival. A rival appeared for Dr. Lynch, however, in the person of McDonough, who also was deeply in-

LOCAL PROS WILL PAIR WITH HAGEN AND KIRKWOOD

Golf Match on Sanford Links
Expected to Draw Large
Gallery and Bring This City
Much Favorable Publicity

Playing mates for Walter Hagen, British open champion and unofficial champion of the world by virtue of his recent triumph over Cyril Walker, American open champion, and Joe Kirkwood, Australian trick shot expert, who will play the Sanford Golf course Friday afternoon beginning at 1:30 o'clock, have been provided in Otis George, the local professional, and Dow George, of Winter Park. Otis George will team with Hagen while Dow George will be the partner of Kirkwood.

Both of the George brothers are known in this section as sterling golfers and require no introduction to golf followers in central Florida. Dow George, who is of Winter Park, has frequently played on the Sanford course and has a large following here. In Hagen, officials of the Sanford Golf club have secured the outstanding player of the United States. He was holder at one time of another of all the leading open championships in the world. There is no player it is declared, in the country, with the possible exception of Bobby Jones, who approaches Hagen.

Kirkwood is known as the best shotmaker in the world. For five years he has been recognized as one of the world's leading golfers though he has only a few championships to show for it. He has won the Australian Open and the Corpus Christi Texas open tournament. Unlike Bobby Jones, Kirkwood has been unable to shake off the jinx that has pursued him though his golf has been declared equal if not superior to the winners in the tournaments in which he has entered.

Match Will Bring Publicity
"In bringing Hagen and Kirkwood to Sanford, officials of the Golf Club have taken the best course possible in securing favorable publicity to the local course." This is the opinion expressed Monday morning by Harry Ehle, Sanford's leading young amateur who is acquainted with both Kirkwood and Hagen. Mr. Ehle has played much in Asheville, N. C., where he frequently was seen on the links with the Australian champion.

"Hagen and Kirkwood," Mr. Ehle said, "know a good golf course when they see it. There is no question but that the Sanford course is one of the best in the state and these golfers will recognize it as such." They are constantly traveling and what they will truthfully say about the Sanford course will be of inestimable value. Tickets for the Hagen-Kirkwood match are now on sale. Men will be admitted to the match for $2 tickets while ladies will be charged one-half this amount. Every effort is being made to get every person who possibly can attend the links for the match.

Two Killed, 50 Injured
In New York Collisions

NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—Two men were killed and more than 50 persons were hurt in a series of collisions on New York's transit lines today while one of the heaviest fogs in recent years enveloped the city. Harbor and river traffic was virtually paralyzed as a result of lowering of fog which is reported in general extending along most of the Atlantic seaboard, affecting traffic on land and sea over a wide area.

Former Government Fliers to Be Questioned By House
Committee During This Week

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—The source of fuel for the aircraft controversy appeared Sunday to have shifted temporarily from the Capitol to the War Department when the reply of Brigadier General Mitchell, assistant chief of the Army Air Service, to Secretary Weeks' demand for substantiation of the testimony before Congressional committees, is before officials for consideration.

The house aircraft committee, which last week made public the general's letter before it had reached the Secretary, is in recess until Thursday. Secretary Weeks announced the world issue statement on the matter on noon as he had time to examine the reply, which reiterated some of the statements objected to as having "seriously reflected" on the Department.

ignores Mitchell's Reply.
In a statement made public Saturday, Secretary Weeks declared those charged with the drafting of army policies, including General Pershing, and who differed with the Mitchell air program, had been subjected to "supercilious criticism" but made no direct reference to the assistant air chief's letter, and another statement dealing with this is expected.

Former Fliers to Be Questioned.
Upon resumption of its inquiry Thursday, it was announced by Representative Perkins, Republican, New Jersey, aircraft committee chairman, several "fliers" with World War experience, but not now in Governmental service will be called for testimony.

Drunken Drivers Pay Heavily Under
New Ordinance in Municipal Court

Seven cases growing out of liquor, four of which charged operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor, contrary to the new ordinance adopted by the City Commission a short time ago, were heard in Municipal Court Monday morning and the sentences imposed enriched the city treasury $600 despite the fact that two were postponed for later hearing. Fines of $100 and costs were imposed on each offender arrested on the charge of operating an automobile while drunk. All were considered as first offenses and the minimum sentence of the ordinance was imposed. Police declare their determination to break up the practice of operating a car while drunk and promise offenders arrested for a second time on this offense the limit of the ordinance: $200 and probably a term of imprisonment.

Rain Proves Obstacle To Work Of Rescuers

HOLIDAY CROWDS
FLOCK TO PRISON
CAVE OF COLLINS

Curiosity Seekers Began To Arrive at Dawn and Continued Throughout Sunday;
Picnic Lunches Are Served

CAVE CITY, Ky., Feb. 9.—Gigantic holiday crowds came to Cave City Sunday and made the six mile trip to Sand Cave where Floyd Collins passed the ninth day of his entombment. Long before noon, a continuous stream of automobiles wound over the rough road to the rescue camp. At 11 a. m. there were two wild lines, going and returning. For three miles along the way the motors, two abreast, almost touched fenders.

During the morning the crowd standing outside the carbed wire enclosure which protects the work area numbered 6,000 and constantly was changing. The first hundred arrived almost with the dawn and their numbers grew with the hours. A spontaneous religious service was held. The group moved to a hilltop northwest of the cave entrance and prayed for Collins. They sang and the song drifted down the valley echoing from the narrow ravine where the shaft and mouth of the cave are located.

Additional lunch stands made their appearance; lunch baskets were brought from the cars and men, women and children sat about in family groups. The morning crowd, packed by whom the imprisoned man largely had been forgotten and whose interest was in the spectacle brought about by rescue efforts.

CAVE CITY, Ky., Feb. 9.—Floyd Collins, should he not be taken from his underground tomb alive, will be the third person who lost his life in the caves here, says Lee Collins, his father.

B. Williams. Members of the City Commission will make their inspection at 3 o'clock.

Cave Heroes

Johnnie Geraldus top, is ill with pneumonia contracted from his attempts to rescue Floyd Collins from Sand Cave, near Cave City, Ky. The Collins' rescuer, Floyd's father, pleaded for persons throughout the country to pray for his son's release. Normal Parker, below, was the last man to talk to Collins. He was in the cave when the passage to Collins was blocked the second time.

Cave Sidelights

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Feb. 9.—In their search for pictures of Collins, newspaper photographers Sunday discovered a print of Collins, posed in Crystal Cave just ten days before he was trapped, showing him crawling through a foot high crack between two ledges, in almost exactly the same position in which he is now lying imprisoned. No photographs have been taken of Collins' present predicament.

Marshall Collins, the victim's brother, is very well satisfied with the rescue work which has been done. Homer Collins, another brother, declared the matter, however, "I could have gone down in the cave myself and got through to Floyd faster than the shaft," he declared.

Original Survey Exact
A third test to determine the accuracy of the location of the shaft was made today by means of an electro-magnetic compass and the pneumatic drill. The compass was taken into Sand Cave as far as it is possible to go and the drill was lowered into the sixty foot hole which preceded the shaft. Dr. (Continued on page 2)

Miners' Efforts Are Greatly Hampered By Torrents Which Fell Sunday Night

Military Court To Probe Operation

Shaft Had Reached A
Depth of 30 Feet
Early This Morning

CAVE CITY, Ky., Feb. 9.—Mother nature today added another obstacle to efforts to rescue Floyd Collins in the grip of a boulder trap in the depths of Sand Cave, sending torrents of rain Sunday night and with promise of more today. The tenth day of imprisonment ended at 10 o'clock this morning and found the shaft less than half way to Collins.

Circumstances surrounding the trapping of Collins and efforts of volunteer rescuers to release him will be made the subject of a military court inquiry, Brig. Gen. H. H. Denhardt, in command of the quartermen here, announced today. "We hope by the court of inquiry to lay at rest all suspicions and whisperings of Collins' entrapment that are not genuine," the General said.

When rock slides blocked the tunnel cave Thursday, use of banana oil was seized upon as a means of finding the back end of the latest cave, but the experiment when tried Sunday night was unsuccessful. Despite a strong down draft of air into the cave no trace of odor was located in any other nearby cave.

The shaft was approximately 30 feet deep at nine o'clock this morning, four days after it had been started. At the present rate, the level, where Collins is thought to be, will not be reached before Thursday or Friday.

Five electric tests, conducted with five amplifiers today, continued H. T. Collins in charge of rescue work that Collins is still alive.

Thomas Lawson Will Be Buried Tuesday

BOSTON, Feb. 9.—Thomas W. Lawson, spectacular financier and author of the "Gentleman Farmer" will be buried Tuesday beside his wife in his magnificent country estate. That is the only haven from the wreck of his fortune years ago, where he died suddenly yesterday at a hospital here.

Chaplin Settlement
Negotiations Halted

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 9.—Negotiations between attorneys for Charlie Chaplin and those for his wife, formerly Lita Gray have been halted and the screen comedian and his 15 year old bride have decided "not to have anything more to do with lawyers." The Los Angeles Times today quotes Mrs. Lillian Spencer, the bride's mother, as saying,

The Fort Mellon Development Company Wishes to express its sincere appreciation for the generous support being given its sales organization by the investing public in furthering the development of the historic Fort Mellon. The demand for lots in this beautiful subdivision has far exceeded the fondest hopes of the owners and amply justifies their wisdom in the selection of the property for Sanford's Finest Subdivision. There are still a few choice buys remaining. We will be glad to call for you and drive you through the exquisite property.

Rescue Efforts Are Hampered By Rain Falling In Torrents

W. D. Fulkerson, geologist from the University of Kentucky, pronounced the original survey was nearly exact. The electro-magnetic compass pointed toward the north in the same direction previous calculations had placed it.

These latest observations, Dr. Fulkerson stated, indicated the shaft would reach the victim's level 10 or 11 feet away from him and slightly behind or to one side of him.

Tunnel Not Yet Struck

An unknown number of feet remain to be penetrated by the shaft, however, variously estimated to be from 32 to 35 feet more, making a total depth of 55 to 75 feet. The drill hole, now sixty feet deep, has not yet struck any tunnel. None of the men working in the mine have lost hope of reaching Floyd Collins. The natives, however, are divided in opinion, some believing Collins has been dead several days, and some that he is not in the cave at all. Members of the family still retained hope today.

Many of the cave county folk were pronounced today in asserting their doubts that he really is trapped. The other tunnel discovered Saturday by Homer Collins, his brother, leading in the general direction of the Crystal Cave, Floyd Collins has described to rescue parties, includes many of those who know Floyd Collins will, to the belief that there may be exits known only to Floyd or that he may have a cache of food hidden somewhere.

Is Called Shiftless

But the few outside rescuers, who actually reached Collins finally, are convinced his leg is caught so he cannot release himself. The near neighbors of the Collins family are outspoken in their characterization of Floyd Collins as a shiftless fellow, supported by his father although he was 38 years old, who spent all his time crawling around the numerous tunnels and caverns of the region. His principal achievement, they say, in earning a living was the discovery in 1917 of Crystal Cave on his father's farm, and its commercial exploitation as a show place for tourists.

It is this cave, Crystal, about which the neighbors say a dissension sprang up in the Collins family. Equal owner with the father in Crystal Cave, the natives tell of the differences over division of the guide fees from tourists which caused Floyd to stay away from home for long periods. When his exploration of Sand Caves led to his imprisonment, he was staying at the home of the tenant on whose farm Sand Cave belongs. Floyd's father last summer agreed to lease Crystal Cave to one of the more enterprising natives, who might make more out of it instead of spending his time in search of other caverns. Floyd's opposition to this plan deepened the family disagreement.

The shaft last night measured 24 1/2 feet, after the debris of two small dynamite explosions had been cleared away. A limestone ledge was discovered which had to be blasted.

Volunteers for the digging became scarce tonight, as the relief work settled to a monotonous grind of steady toil. Those who remained were rewarded with the first home cooked supper they had enjoyed since they started last Friday. Bob Garter, who lives near the cave, sent over hot biscuits and similar delicacies to feed 100 men.

Collins tonight had been four days without food or water except such as dripped from the roof of his prison, and at 10 p. m. had been underground nine and a half days.

Public Wedding Will Mark Shrine Circus In Week of Feb. 16.

The Sanford Shrine club will hold a public wedding at the Shrine Circus at the conclusion of one of the night shows during the week of Feb. 15. It was announced Monday morning. The names of the bride and groom are being withheld until the night of the ceremony.

A number of wedding presents have been promised by both local merchants and individuals. Individuals are at present, it is said, of numerous presents when the ceremony is performed.

A committee consisting of Fred Dorney, chairman; Sherman Moore, Tom Meredith and Martin Hledson, has been appointed to arrange for the ceremony. Other details incident to the ceremony will be announced as they are determined upon by the committee.

ATLANTA, Feb. 5.—Motions of defense to continue the trial of F. L. Sartan and L. J. Fletcher, former warden and deputy respectively of the Atlanta Federal Penitentiary and Lawrence Hild of Columbus, O., on charges of conspiracy and bribery, were overruled today by Judge Robert T. Irwin of the United States District Court.

NEW AIRPLANE SHAPED LIKE FISH

Metropolitan Opera Stars in Radio Music Memory Contest

CAN YOU RECOGNIZE THESE FAMOUS OPERATIC STARS BY THEIR VOICES?

METROPOLITAN Opera Stars will be heard in the greatest move for the advancement of musical education in this country commencing on February 23, according to the Brunswick-Balke-Collender Company and the Radio Corporation of America. The Brunswick Music Memory Contest will be conducted through the medium of radio broadcasting stations WJZ, New York City; WGY, Schenectady, and WRC, Washington, being scheduled to broadcast the unusual programs simultaneously every Tuesday night during February. World famous artists will sing and play before the microphone in programs totally unannounced, neither the names of the artists or organizations nor the compositions rendered being disclosed to the listening public. Radio listeners will guess who the artists and what the selections are, $5,000 in awards being made each month to the persons guessing the largest number correctly. A brief essay on a subject to be announced will also be required of contestants.

The following artists of the Metropolitan Opera Company may participate in the Music Memory Contest program during February: Karla Branzell, Michael Bohren, Mario Chamlee, Giuseppe Danise, Florence Easton, Friedrich Schorr and Elisabeth Retberg. Instrumentalists for the February programs will be chosen from among the following list of internationally famous artists: Mischel Piastro, Willem Willeke, Josef Hoffman, Ely Ney, Max Rosen, and the Elshuco Trio. Never before has a Music Memory Contest been conducted on such a gigantic scale, and never before have such noted artists participated in such an important step in the movement to increase the appreciation for and understanding of good music in America.

BRITISH PLACE VIEW OF DEBTS BEFORE FRENCH

There is little doubt that the proposition will provoke debate on Mr. Churchill's note to M. Clemenceau, and it is not unlikely that the chief point of the attack will be that under the stipulation that French repayments cannot be dependent upon a full yield of the Dawes plan, France would, in the event of a German default, find herself in the position of paying reparations to Great Britain.

The attitude hitherto has been that France only can pay either Great Britain or the United States if she gets reparations from Germany; and this attitude probably will find a deal of support among the Liberal and Labor members of the House of Commons.

Should the hoped-for conference in London materialize, it probably will be found that Chancellor Churchill advisedly omitted details from his note to France in order to give an open field for negotiations. He is eager to reduce the income tax burden, but with the admirably pressing for a bigger naval building program and with only the smallest hope for reducing the national expenditure, his only resource seems to be to get some off-set from France for the heavy debt payments to the United States. Therefore, the British Government likely will be indulgent if France makes any possible acceptable proposition.

Chancellor Churchill's reply to M. Clemenceau starts by saying explicitly that "His Majesty's Government adhere to the principle of the Balfour note." Then, explaining that certain of former Premier Monar Law's suggestions in connection therewith no longer are applicable because they were made prior to the Dawes plan.

John Bull Note Hailed

LONDON, Feb. 5.—John Bull, through the editorial columns of this morning's papers, was proclaimed a generous fellow for the manner in which he offered to treat with France with reference to her war debt. The British note to France published Sunday declines to agree with France's payment to be dependent upon Germany's full payment of the Dawes plan annuities and declares Great Britain is willing to accept fixed annual payments, irrespective of the Dawes proceeds.

HOLIDAY CROWDS FLOCK TO PRISON CAVE OF COLLINS

It never was learned whether it was that of a cave explorer, or some one buried there by Indians. The first death known to present settlers was that of Pike Chapman, a native of Nebraska, 30 years ago, who was buried in falling sand and pebbles while being lowered into a shaft on Old Grand Daddy cave.

The other was Edwin Turner of New York, who discovered and developed Great On Cave, one of the most peculiar ones in this region. His health was so impaired by underground labors that he died soon after and was buried in Mammoth Cave.

May Renew Argument Over Tariff Body

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—Renewal of controversy in congress over tariff commission appeared probable today as a result of an announcement by chairman Greenhouse of the way and means committee that he will seek repeal of flexible tariff provisions accomplished nothing and proved detrimental to usefulness of the tariff commission.

Mantanzas Bridge To Receive U. S. Approval

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—Application for a bridge across the Mantanzas Inlet near St. Augustine, will be approved by army engineers this week it was said today at engineers headquarters here.

Roll Of Education Students Increase At Girls' College

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., Feb. 5.—Growth of enrollment in the School of Education at the Florida State College for Women shows tendencies that must be provided for if the needs of the profession of teaching in Florida are to be met by public enterprise, declares the dean of that department, N. M. Salley, in his annual report, which is now in the hands of the state budget committee for consideration.

Dean Salley calls attention to the present number of students in his department, who total 523, as compared with 120 in June, 1922. "This great increase in the demand for teacher training is the basis for the proposed expansion of facilities," the report continues. "A demonstration school to give effectiveness to teacher training is put down as a first need. The minimum amount needed is $80,000 for the teacher training that Florida's demanding faculty is suggested to take care of the increasing numbers. At least two professors of education, one assistant professor of industrial arts, and two demonstration school teachers will be needed to give the service demanded by the state."

It is shown by Dean Salley's report that the student body in the school of Education has increased an average rate of practically 80 per cent for each of the two years just past. "A very significant feature of this general growth," he says, "has been the increase in the number of students taking the four-year course leading to the degree, Bachelor of Science in Education; the enrollment of 13 in the four-year course in June, 1922, has grown to 165 in June, 1924." The number is said to be even much larger during the present school year.

LAKE HOLDS BOND ELECTION TRAVELERS, Feb. 5.—Bond elections in three cities of Lake county have been authorized by the county school board, for proposed school improvement, totalling $215,000. Mar. 5 Eastis will vote on an issue of $125,000, and on unannounced dates Leachure will vote on $60,000 worth and Umattilla $30,000 worth. Mr. Dora now is circulating a petition asking for an election on an issue of $125,000, it is reported.

FORMER CHIEF DEAD JACKSONVILLE, Feb. 5.—Former Chief of Police W. F. Ivers of this city is dead at the age of 71 years, after an illness extending over six months. He is survived by three sons and one daughter. For many years he was in the contracting and building business here, and was for a long time superintendent of bridges for the Florida East Coast railroad. He had served also as captain of police and was appointed chief in 1897, later resigning to reenter business.

Baptists To Hold Banquet on Tuesday

The February Men's banquet at the First Baptist Church will be held Tuesday night at 7:30 o'clock, it was announced Monday morning. Speakers who will address the banquet are E. P. Forster, "The New Sanford"; W. T. Scoggin, "Will We Meet the Challenge?"; and Dr. C. W. Duke, of Tampa, "The Church and the City." A male quartet will provide music during the function.

Children Exempted From 6 Month Fees

MIAMI, Feb. 5.—There is NO law on the statute books of Florida that justifies the charging of fees for school children whose parents have been in the state less than six months, according to an opinion by Attorney-General Rivers H. Buford, which has been received here. It would be proper, says the attorney-general, for school officers in doubtful cases to require affidavits of the parties to the effect that they have in good faith taken up and established what they intend to be a permanent residence within the district, in which they claim the right of school privileges.

Value of Statue Is Realized In 600 Years

LINCOLN, England, Feb. 5.—For long regarded as of very little value, the statue of Queen Margaret on the south porch of the cathedral here, has now been acclaimed by an authority on architecture as "possibly the finest and most perfect example of medieval portrait sculpture left in Europe."

Search is now being made for the name of the sculptor. After 600 years of exposure only the hands and the lower parts of the draperies are appreciably damaged. A suggestion that the statue should be removed from its present exposure and placed in a specially prepared niche at the back of the altar screen in the Angel Choir has not been favorably received by the dean and chapter, but it has been enclosed in a wooden case to prevent further damage.

Bartow.—Building construction during 1924 totaled $424,333, compared with $184,960 in 1923, and $132,569 in 1922.

Arcadia.—Arcadia Golf Club lets contract for erection of club building.

COMMERCE OFFICIALS TOUR

TALLAHASSEE, Feb. 5.—John M. Hager and B. C. Getzinger, of the federal bureau of foreign and domestic commerce, are on a visit to Florida studying economic conditions in this state as part of a program that covers the southeastern states. One of the first points visited by them was the capital city. From here they planned to go to South Florida cities, and to remain in Florida for about two weeks, seeing as much of the state as possible in that time.

LATVIA AFTER BOOTLEGGERS

RIGA, Latvia, Feb. 5.—The anti-alcohol wave is sweeping over Latvia. A law has been passed which is tantamount to prohibition, and it has been seized upon by the city authorities of Riga to descend upon some 60 hotels and restaurants on the grounds that they were selling liquor. The city fathers are now considering whether these places should not be made to close down for good.

"Flapper Aunt" Of Seventy And Her Youthful Romeo Cause Family Worry

CHICAGO, Feb. 9.—Aunt Elizabeth has been stepping out late at her age, which is 70 plus, such romances are naturally regarded with some anxiety by her relatives, who think she ought to be tucked in bed early after a simple but nourishing supper. They also think she should be saving her money for her old age, since nobody can remain forever in the giddy and golden time of 70 plus.

possessed only an annuity instead of a lump sum.
Her first husband was Richard Lomborn, a contractor, who died two years ago, leaving her the money, and leaving her also the liberty to venture forth by night and find out what people do inside those places where the bright lights shine.
One reason why her relatives prefer that she refrain from marrying O'Malley lies in the remote that he has a wife already, although Aunt Elizabeth understands there has been a divorce.
The records show that Mrs. Mabel O'Malley, 5937 South La Salle Street, filed a divorce suit against Frank in November, 1923, charging that even after she had borne him twins he threatened to kill and otherwise injure her. She

An Industrial Investment

HOW MANY visitors to Miami know the real Coral Gables, and the broad appeal it makes to those who come here for either rest or recreation, or for the purpose of buying a home, or to invest in a profitable business? All know it to be distinctively in a class of its own as regards residential property; most people know how profitable investments have proved here within the past three years; but that here at Coral Gables are not only residential features, but apartment house and business sections, and in a very special way a most unique Crafts Section is probably known only to those who have been in touch with Coral Gables' activities for some time.

In the Crafts Section will be developed a high order of shops engaged in the making scores of goods required not only in the construction work at Coral Gables, but in every part of Florida. The market for these goods is here now. We have been buying them for three years in Havana, in Spain, in every State of the Union. It has always been difficult to obtain them, and making them here will solve many problems.

Mr. F. I. Seeley took the homespun industry of Asheville and made it a financial and industrial success as the basis of the Liltmore Industries. Elbert Hubbard built up the Roycroft Shops at East Aurora, N. Y., into a national asset, and in even a larger way William Morris in Hammersmith, England, created new ideas and ideals which have been a potent factor in the artistic world for generations. Yet none of these important movements had so auspicious a beginning or so ready a market for its products as that which awaits the Coral Gables Crafts Section.

The Crafts Section has more interesting features than any section which has been initiated at Coral Gables, and we are confident that it will be the most successful of all sections which have been planned here. Plans are already under way for at least fifty industries which will be established in this section within a year.

Rapid increases in values have attended the opening of every new section at Coral Gables. The Crafts Section will create new records in increased values for the reason that the solid foundation of business here fostered will create a larger demand for plots. The center of this section will be given over to crafts. There are business and residential plots also, and the latter will be especially desirable because the craftsmen engaged in the shops will desire to live in the section. Several large contractors have already made reservations of lots for this reason. Those who buy now—taking full advantage of the first offer in prices—will be among the fortunate ones who in a very short time will take a large profit on their purchases.

For the ideal home setting—for the establishment of a business in a most productive field—for the rebuilding of an industry where a market is already fixed—Coral Gables presents its advantages today. And as an investment in real estate based on either or all of these, it has no peer in the great Miami district.

You are cordially invited to visit Coral Gables and hear Hon. William Jennings Bryan lecture on "Florida and its Opportunities." Transportation is free in our Deluxe Highway Pullman Coaches, leaving the local Coral Gables Office each week. For all particulars and reservation, call at the Coral Gables Office.
