STEWART'S WASHINGTON LETTER

WASHINGTON, June 21. — Mystery in the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railroad failure? A good many public men think so. So much so that it probably will be concessionally investigated next winter. Bankers' influence is suspected—an attempt to freeze out the smaller fry. Otherwise how could so great and prosperous a system go on the rocks so suddenly? "NO mystery at all," says D. F. Yoakum, dean of the country's big transportation men. "The St. Paul road," he continued, "grew great and rich with the growth of the great, rich, agricultural middle northwest. But its territory was limited. "Finally a time came when the management realized it must expand, build to the Pacific. Otherwise it inevitably was going to be swallowed up by other powerful roads which were readier to do so."

Establishing a record for the Summer time

A FEW years ago if you had suggested the idea of trying to sell lots in a subdivision in the summer months you would have been branded as an idiot. In those days the winter season was the time to sell property, for the summer months things were supposed to be quiet and slow in the real estate line.

BUT what a change, has come to pass in the last year or two. Today finds Sanford property selling faster than it did during the winter months which have just passed.

FIFTEEN lots were sold in Oak Hill during the week which ended Saturday. We consider this a compliment to Oak Hill.

AND we doubt if there is any other development in Sanford making a better record than Oak Hill. When fifteen lots are sold in one week's time, and all of them at private sales, one is forced to recognize the merits of the property and the good judgment of those who buy it.

ON July first the prices of all lots in Oak Hill will be increased one hundred dollars. Only a short time remains in which purchases at the present low prices can be made. We suggest you act quickly if you wish to invest in this subdivision of great opportunity.

ORGANIZATION OF COAL MINING MEN BEING ADVOCATED

In Address to National Coal Association Convention, R. K. Cassatt Advocates Joining Various Organizations

CHICAGO, June 22.—Consolidation of coal mining companies in the interest of economy was advocated here Wednesday by Robert K. Cassatt, Philadelphia banker, addressing the National Coal Association convention.

Advantage of mergers, Mr. Cassatt held, are "economy in overhead and selling expense; economy in the purchasing department, and correction of destructive competitive conditions as distinguished from combinations to control prices."

No banker could do justice to the subject of extension of credit to coal companies, the banker said, without pointing out the "question of labor supply and its compensation." In districts where the compensation demanded by labor seems excessive, he said, bankers will hesitate to advance funds. Where profits depend on abnormally low wages, bankers will be cautious in making loans.

"I know that I am here on delicate ground," Mr. Cassatt continued, "and that the law is intended to prevent any approach of monopoly, but what I have in mind is very different. No monopoly in the bituminous coal trade is in my opinion possible. I doubt if any one company has ever mined over four per cent of the national production, and I do not believe that either the law making bodies or the public will object to efforts by you men tending to the elimination of loss and the realization of a reasonable profit."

"Larger companies mean greater financial strength, which in turn permits the installation of the most modern machinery with consequent reduction in cost."

"A company operating a large number of mines has a tremendous advantage over the operation of a single unit. It can get cheaper power; it can give better service to its customers and it can in times of surplus production secure greater economy in operation through shutting down some units and operating others on full time."

3-DAY FASCISTI CONGRESS OPENS IN ROME SUNDAY

Thousands of Members Flock To Big Amphitheater Where Sessions Are Held; Party Is Praised By Mussolini

ROME, June 22.—Fresh from their triumphant midnight session in the chamber at which the Fascist deputies earned Mussolini's praises for their adoption of the last of the series of measures intended legally to fascitize the state, members of the Fascist party Sunday began in the Augusteo amphitheater a three day national congress. Fascists from all parts of the country, wearing black shirts and decorated with insubria and medals, were in attendance.

The members of the government occupied the royal box, the other boxes were filled with invited guests. Mussolini occupied a special throne-like seat dominating the entire assembly. Strong detachments of police and carabinieri patrolled the grounds surrounding the building and Fascist militiamen were on duty within.

Whereas the entire theater galleries were filled only members of the Fascist national directorate, members of the cabinet, Fascist senators, and officials of the provincial directorates comprising the Fascist deputies, were permitted to participate in the discussion. The right to vote was granted only to provincial secretaries, expressing the will of the directorates and memberships.

Journalists, with the exception of the editors of newspapers and magazines officially recognized by the party, were excluded. The party's press bureau will issue communiques regarding the sessions. Tuesday evening the final session will be opened to the public and Mussolini will deliver an address.

Deputy de Vecchi, in his opening speech, reviewing the Fascist achievements, declared: "Our efforts will not be relaxed until ultimate victory, which nothing can prevent. Meanwhile all must understand that our chief cannot be touched without passing over our dead bodies."

This evoked an outburst of enthusiasm for Mussolini.

Health Workers Show Faith In Preventives

HARRISBURG, Pa., June 22.—The Pennsylvania state department of health has placed in operation a plan by which it hopes to have every child in Bedford, Somerset, Tioga, Potter and Wyoming counties physically fit when he enters school next fall. A health and dental motor car in charge of experts left recently to visit these counties this summer.

Field workers have mapped out the itinerary and will notify parents of children of school age when the health clinic will be able to examine their children. After the children's physical defects have been diagnosed, they then will be turned over to the home community physician for treatment.

Censor Earns Thanks Those Who Stutter

LONDON, June 22.—Protest against the ridicule of stammering on the stage was filed recently with Sir George Crichton, controller of the lord chamberlain's office, by J. Herbert Miall, head of an institute for defects in speech, who contends that there is much humanity in jesting with this disability as there would be in the case of blindness, deafness or other physical ailments.

In his reply to Mr. Miall Sir George said that, while questions of bad taste do not properly constitute a ground for censorship so long as personal allusions are not implied, nevertheless the lord chamberlain, who has authority to suppress any part thereof, will take the Miall protest into consideration so as to avoid, so far as possible, causing pain and humiliation to those afflicted with defects such as stuttering.

The radio listener should become acquainted with his local stations and enjoy them during the summer and be satisfied with the long distance records he has made or will make in the winter. In other words he should get the best there is in radio during all seasons, and above all, he should be reasonable.

DOUBLY CHIC SPORTS FROCK

Because it is made in two pieces, with the effect of a one-piece model, this sport dress in flannel is doubly chic. The blouse buttons up the front with lace buttons, and the skirt fastens under a deep plait, beginning where the blouse ends. A round collar of self-material and colorful knit-silk tie are pert features of the design. Medium size requires 3 1/4 yards 54-inch flannel.

Teeth Are Affected By Various Vocations

BERLIN, June 22.—In an article on the relation of various vocations and dental diseases, the Social Democratic News Service points out that bakers and pastry cooks are the worst sufferers from bad teeth, believed to result from the excess of sugar they consume. Leather workers are inclined to develop a brown discoloring of the teeth, while the molars of lead and silver workers have a tendency to turn blue.

Copper workers, unless they brush their teeth incessantly, soon find them turning green in color.

"The levy of an income tax at proper rates, is a fair and economically sound means of raising the immense revenues required for operation of the government," says Secretary of the Treasury Mellon, "but the tax must not be levied at rates so high as to hamper business, slacken initiative, distort investment and encourage avoidance of the tax."

The Miami Conservatory of Music

IN the group which makes up the great scheme and plan of the University of Miami at Coral Gables, Florida, there are several institutions which are now endowed and absolutely assured. One of these is the Conservatory of Music, long established in Miami and most successful under the direction of Miss Bertha Foster. The new affiliation will bring to the Conservatory an enlarged field for work which will assure greater success than ever.

Around the Conservatory will be grouped the Schools of Art, Philosophy, Science, Law and other branches of higher education. Near it will be built the University High School, Shriners' Club and Sports Centers, new Florida East Coast Station, Sanitarium and other splendid features. Nearly 500 acres in the Riviera Section at Coral Gables will be devoted to these splendid institutions, golf courses and yacht basins.

The Riviera Section is the largest section which Coral Gables has offered at any one time. Its area is 2000 acres. It is also the most carefully planned section, with extensive tropical landscaping, 100-foot boulevards, fine 300-foot waterways, and other delightful features. It will also be the finest residential area in the suburban city. More than 200 homes costing from $25,000 to $200,000 each already are financed for this section, and will be built in the next year.

Every one of the Riviera's institutional features is a great enhancement factor. With their construction there will be great increases in values of plots. The early buyer — the man who invests now — has all the advantage of getting in at the lowest prices which will ever prevail there. Those who know Miami best — and the profits taken here year after year in real estate — will grasp this advantage.

A visit to Coral Gables is part of every complete Florida tour — and it makes a delightful outing. Call at our local office and let us tell you how you may see Coral Gables with no transportation cost to you.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

They shall beat their swords into plowshares and their spears into pruning hooks; nation shall not lift up sword against nation, neither shall they learn war any more.—Isaiah 2:4.

AMERICAN DEMOCRACY

American Democracy, Round which our hearts entwine, Our heritage from Jefferson, Whose principles divine, Have shaped the Nation's destiny, Shall steer our course aright, And lead us on, unerringly, Into sublimer light.

American Democracy, To which the Nation now Look for the laurels of relief, To ease her anxious brow; Should never more be handicapped By inharmonious strife— For peace within the party ranks, Means power to the life.

American Democracy— By greed and graft despised— Could settle all the grievances, That error has devised; If those in high authority, Would be as true and just, As Washington and Jefferson, Were to their every trust.

American Democracy— To her hope lifts its hat— May no man who presumes to call Himself a Democrat; For put his personal desires— No matter what befall— Above Democracy's demands— Above his Party's call.—By Horace C. Carlisle.

Love at first sight is alright but sometimes you find out later that your vision was slightly impaired at the time.

Real estate men report even greater activity in Sanford property now than was experienced during the busy winter months. A good indication of what the future holds.

If Sanford's business section is to grow some one will have to construct some more store buildings. No better opportunity for making big earnings on business investments can be found and some far-sighted persons will reap great profits by providing suitable store buildings in the downtown section of the city.

Counting Mr. Ford's Money

Being quick at figures, and doting on the sound of money—regardless of how remote the jingle rings—take this nice, cool evening to figure up how much kale has been collected by Mr. Henry Ford in the few brief years since you got your first view of an automobile.

The magazine of Wall Street, that same Wall Street which is viewing with consternation the coming of Ford as a competitor banker into its very midst—The Magazine of Wall Street, we repeat, has undertaken to make an estimate of the wealth belonging to the alien spirit who dared to pay big wages, dared to make small profits, and yet produce a fortune that has reached a prodigious sum.

"Last year," the Magazine of Wall Street explains, "the Ford Motor Company earned a trifle more than $100,000,000 or more than $581 per share on the outstanding stock. Ford's banner year was the twelve months ended February 8, 1923, when the company showed $691 per share on its stock.

"One hundred million dollars," the magazine continues, "is a 10 per cent annual return on a billion dollars and a 6 per cent return on $1,600,000,000. We will leave it to the reader to decide whether he would be willing to buy the Ford company on a 6 per cent or a 10 per cent return basis.

"In consideration Ford's personal wealth outside of the Ford Motor Company," the Wall Street publication concludes, "we are entering into the realms of pure conjecture. What he and the members of his family own in the way of securities, real estate, investments, personal property, etc., nobody knows. In the twenty-two years of its history the Ford Motor Company has paid out many millions in dividends. Ford's former partners received a very large share of those dividends, but Ford received a greater part. If Henry Ford is not potentially twice a billionaire today, he will be in a very few years."

Accepting these figures as very likely close to the facts in the case, take your slate and pencil and write down the amount of money, at that rate of increase, Mr. Ford will have ten years hence. And then—

But it's a big job, isn't it? The Herald agrees that it would be more profitable to make a study of the Ford way of doing things. His "square deal" methods that have won him so many enemies among Big Business seem to be "good business" after all.

Get Full Value For Your Money

Prosperous communities are often the center of operations of worthless stock salesmen. People who have nothing are seldom bothered with visits from the smooth-tongued individual who is in a position to "let just a few persons in on the ground floor" in his scheme for getting rich quick.

Florida is telling the world about the money being made here, about its wonderful prosperity, and its great opportunities, and as a result of this advertising there are many thousands of homeseekers coming south. On the same train come also crooks and unscrupulous persons who believe that in the prosperous sections they can more easily work their games of selling worthless securities.

Fake stock salesmen think they have in Florida a fertile field for their operations.

There are some things it might be well to bear in mind should you be approached by men offering what appears to be stock in sound and valuable enterprises. In the first place good stock doesn't as a rule go begging. Endorsement of the local banks and the chamber of commerce can easily be secured for legitimate and worth while securities, and the proposition of merit seldom requires the hawking of stock for the purpose of securing capital.

It is always a wise investor who consults his banker before buying stock in enterprises concerning which he knows nothing. Here in Sanford the bankers can furnish reliable information and they are glad to do so. Play safe when investing and get full value for your money.

MY FAVORITE STORIES

By IRVIN S. COBB

A youth from the uncivilized lands moved into a Scotch village. He felt it would give him a social distinction if he joined the kirk. So after rather a lengthy preparation he offered himself to the minister for examination as a preliminary to taking his first communion with the flock. As he emerged in a drowsy state from the dominie's study, the young man was hailed by an acquaintance just coming up for a similar inquisition. "How did you make out?" asked his friend. "Well, not so bad," he replied, "you'll never get through."

Where Corned Beef Leads In Popularity

TIMES-UNION.

Is New York returning to the simple life, eating sparingly and of plain food, retiring early, and all that? The question is occasioned by reading in the news dispatches that by recent vote, and by a plurality of 4,162, corned beef and cabbage is elected as the most popular dish served in Gotham restaurants. While that is cheering news to the cabbage growers of Florida and other states, it may be more indicative of the growing inclination, on the part of New Yorkers, those native to the city as well as the considerably larger number whose real homes are in nearby Hoboken or Jersey City, or even Nutley—may be indicative of the growing inclination to live the simple life, more generally, in that city of gastronomic temptations.

Only within the recent past some of New York's most famous lobster palaces have closed their doors, have been padlocked, in fact, due to failure to heed the admonitions of one named Volstead, and the statutes made and provided, in accordance with what he thinks to be right and proper in the safeguarding of frail humanity against the seductive beverages that, from the time whereof the memory of man runneth not to the contrary, have accompanied Epicurean feasts, that were believed to be of mighty assistance to celebrations of

Meager Attainment. A Good Young American. She Saw a Hanging. Royalty Matters Little. By ARTHUR BRISBANE (Copyright 1925)

SENATOR LA FOLLETTE is dead. Even when he knew that life was ending he said, "I have earned a rest," turned his face toward the wall and died.

AN ULTRA-CAPITALISTIC newspaper says: "Senator La Follette left behind him a meager record of attainment." What is ATTAINMENT?

If the same editor had been writing nineteen hundred years ago about the death of Golgotha he probably would have said of the greatest of all public servants, "He left behind him a meager record of attainment."

La Follette died fighting, and died poor. His children will get from him little but his name. Many a man that has piled up millions, when his time comes to turn toward the wall, would gladly exchange those millions for such a name as La Follette leaves as his sole "attainment."

THREE TIMES Governor of Wisconsin, and as good as Governor as any state in this Union ever had, four times elected by his state to the United States Senate, La Follette running for President, with no party and no money behind him, received the votes of more than four millions of Americans. And he ran at a time when the price of wheat was rapidly rising. Without that rising wheat, his vote would probably have been doubled. Such is public appreciation.

IT IS SUGGESTED by one foolish representative of reaction that with La Follette dead, Wisconsin will return to old-fashioned conservatism. The author of that opinion doesn't know Wisconsin.

A more probable suggestion is that Wisconsin will send La Follette's widow to take his place in the Senate. The state that is honored in his life will be glad of any opportunity to honor La Follette in his death.

AMUNDSEN IS back from "almost to the pole," and if he lives and can raise the money he will start again. His ambition is to be the only man that ever stood "on both tops of the earth."

He discovered the South Pole. Peary got to the North Pole ahead of him. But Amundsen means to go there anyhow, that they may write on his tomb the two dates upon which he stood at the North and South poles of this earth.

LINCOLN ELLSWORTH, the young American on the Amundsen trip, represented his country well. First he financed the expedition, but the role of a benevolent money-lender did not satisfy his ambition. He flew with Amundsen as an observer. The record of the trip tells how he saved from drowning in the Arctic waters, Dietrichsen, pilot, and Omdahl, mechanic of the plane in which he rode. Had he not saved those men the entire expedition would now be inside the Arctic circle and probably dead.

IN CHICAGO, at dawn yesterday, they hanged Willie Sam, a negro who killed a policeman. A young girl from a theatre chorus, dressed as a boy, was there. The sheriff saw that she was a girl, but allowed her to stay and see. He didn't have the heart, presumably, to deprive her of a little innocent pleasure.

This is the first time any woman has witnessed an official hanging in Chicago.

In Chicago's stock yards, they forbid women visitors to enter the department where sheep and lambs have their throats cut. "The sight is too pitiful," they say.

Which would you consider the more pitiful sight, a lamb having its throat cut, or a negro being choked to death?

MAFALDA, DAUGHTER of the Italian King, is reported engaged to Prince Philip of Hesse. A Papal dispensation will probably be necessary. The German Prince is a Protestant.

Twenty years ago such an announcement would have seemed highly important, strengthening the alliance between the Italian King and his "All Highest Royal and Imperial Majesty the Kaiser."

BUT IN the war that Italian-German alliance was burned up with other scraps of paper. "All Highest" is living quietly in Holland, hoping many things that won't happen. One of his generals, old enough to be his father, is President of the German Republic. Mussolini is the real boss of Italy. It matters little now whom royal princes and princesses marry.

War, as Napoleon proved, tends in our age, to make royalty ridiculous.

TRUE, NEVERTHELESS

ST. PETERSBURG TIMES

For nearly three-score years a remark pertaining to the character of war credit to Gen. Sherman has been repeated until it is inseparably linked with that famous warrior's name. Now a Civil war veteran who was dispatch bearer for Gen. Sherman and who claims to have been presented at the time the sententious truth was alleged to have been uttered, give a different version which robs the remark of much of its force and the general of an utterance that is no less true, if he didn't say it.

This inconceivable says that Gen. Sherman, when he met the mayor and officials of Fayetteville, N. C., and was asked not to enter the city, among other things remarked: "War is cruel." A correspondent who was present strengthened the general's expression in transmitting it. The latter version has become an apothegm and is always associated with Gen. Sherman.

Why this veteran delayed his correction so long, not explained. He must have known how general was the misstatement of the remark. Granting that what he says is true, perhaps the correspondent appreciated that "war is cruel" didn't have the punch to make it famous and thought he could improve it to the benefit of Gen. Sherman's reputation in art of expression. We now know that the sentiment is an under-estimate of the fact as applied to war in this day, though it comes about as near to expressing the idea as near to restrictions of our language, inadequate when discussing the subject of war, will permit. At the same time this man who undertakes to combat the authority of so universally accepted a remark may have allowed the lapse of time to cloud his memory. His recollection may be less accurate than he thinks. Perhaps Gen. Sherman did say it.

EVERYTHING IS LOVELY

MACON TELEGRAPH

Judge T. Blake Kennedy's decision in the Sinclair Oil Lease sprays an ill-smelling proposition for more than a year. Judge Kennedy not only sprayed perfumes over the persons of Mr. Fall and Mr. Sinclair, but he went out of the way to pin a boutonniere on the lapels of Mr. Deuby, the Secretary of the Navy Mr. Roosevelt, the assistant, Rear Admiral Robinson and all the others connected with the entire mess.

He said that the fact that Fall had received money from a Canadian company that Sinclair had organized, did not prove anything; he said that Fall's bank accounts, in the face of admissions from Doherty and Sinclair that they had lent him money, did not prove anything. He said in other words, that Mr. Fall was patriotic and that Mr. Sinclair, whom we had considered a financier and a business man, was in reality doing the government a favor by taking the lease.

The comforting thing about it is that another judge, presiding in the case of Doherty, ordered him to surrender the contract for the California Naval Reserve, the twin brother of Teapot Dome, for cancellation because the contracts were arrived at by fraud. The California judge held that the President had exceeded his power when he transferred the supervision of the Reserves from the Navy to the Department of the Interior and that the Secretary of the Navy had not attended diligently to the business of the people.

The issue goes before the Supreme Court of the United States. We hope Mr. Fall doesn't come out of the mess with a Distinguished Service medal.

Five Thousand Visitors Are Expected To Visit Southern Baptist Assembly Grounds

ASHEVILLE, N. C., June 20.—Five thousand visitors are expected at Ridgecrest, the Southern Baptist Assembly Grounds, 18 miles east of Asheville, on the Blue Ridge Divide, during the season of summer conferences, June 18 to September 1.

A program of extensions and improvements involving an expenditure of $300,000 was authorized recently by the Southern Baptist Convention. This program will be carried over a period of two years. When the assembly opens this year, however many improvements will be already made. Pritchell Hall, the hotel, has been enlarged by 20 rooms and now has 73 guest-rooms. Under the direction of E. L. Draper, landscape architect, the grounds have been beautiful throughout. New roads have been built. Shrubbery has been set out and a new concrete swimming pool has been built in the rear of the hotel. Bath houses have been erected and a baseball diamond laid out. Three tennis courts have also been constructed and a children's playground with complete equipment is now being completed.

The assembly is under the educational board of the Southern Baptist Convention, which serves a total membership 3,750,000 in 18 states.

Improvements that have been authorized for Ridgecrest include a new hotel to cost $150,000 and numerous other additions over the 940 acres of the assembly grounds. The first assembly is that of the Young Women's Auxiliary of the South, under the direction of the Woman's Missionary Union. This will last for ten days, commencing on June 16. It will be directed by Miss Kathleen Mallory, of Birmingham, Alabama, secretary of the Women's Missionary Union; Miss Juliette Mather, also of Birmingham, young people's correspondent of the Women's Missionary Union; and Mrs. W. J. Cox, of Memphis, Tenn., recently elected president of the Union. An attendance of 250 is expected at this conference. More than 50 able church leaders will be present, including men and women from all sections of the United States courses in Sunday School work and training will be offered as well as in Missions, Baptist Young People's Manual, Vocation and Bible.

The program of activities includes: June 16-25: Young Women's camp. June 28 to July 5: College Work. July 1-11: Work for Junior leaders. July 6-17: Baptist history. July 13-17: Church pageantry. July 19-August 28: Training school for Christian workers. July 19-21: Denominational Missionaries. July 27-28: Within Our Borders. August 3-9: Foreign Missionaries. August 10-17: Evangelism. August 18-23: The Baptist opportunity. August 24-30: Baptist prospects at home.

The Reverend R. T. Staples was recently elected business manager of Ridgecrest.

Among the speakers, who, it has been announced, will appear at the conferences this summer are: Dr. George Truitt, Dallas, Texas, a native of the mountains of North Carolina; Dr. George McDaniel, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Richmond, Va., and president of the Southern Baptist Convention; Dr. J. W. McClothlin, president of Furman University; Dr. S. P. Brooks, president of Baylor University, Waco, Tex.; Dr. R. J. Bate-ingham, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Asheville, N. C.

Four of the Americans, Barnes, Roulges Grant, Joe Kirkwood, and John Bredemus, will play their first qualifying round today over the old course at Troon. The other two Americans, Smith and A. S. Bourne, will play over the new courses.

Single, Steal and an Error Put Over Winning Run For New York Team; Braves Down St. Louis Cardinals

CINCINNATI, June 22.—New York made it three out of five in the series by nosing out Cincinnati 4 to 3 here Sunday. A belated eighth inning rally which netted two runs brought the Reds within grasping distance of the game, but a single, a steal and an error had brought in the winning run in the Giants' half. Scott held the locals to one run during the first seven innings while his team mates bunched hits off Luke for two runs in the second inning and one in the third.

Two-Winged Tornado Again Sweeps Over National And American League Circuits

Gather New Force, Striking Baseball Peaks and Tossing Lofty Tenants of The Various Circuits Helter-Skelter

Both Leagues Feel Results of Blows

Pittsburgh In National And Senators in American Do Majority Of The Winning

NEW YORK, June 22.—Gathering new force the two-winged tornado which swept through both major leagues two weeks ago struck the baseball peaks again last week and tossed lofty tenants of the circuits helter-skelter.

Rising out of Pittsburgh and hurling forward the aggressive Pirate crew, one wing of the base hit storm caught the leading Giants and the once running-up Brooklyn club with such force that what looked like a National League parade before the western invasion tonight had developed into a four-cornered fight for the championship.

Shifting its course in the American, which had almost torn the Athletics out of first place the week before turned from Quaker-town and directed its destructive path toward the west. From a desperate position which had left them only a half game margin over the Senators, the Mackin machine was hurled forward, with the tenacious Harris team clinging to their flying coat tails. As a result, the Athletics were once more breathing freely with an advantage of two full games at the close of the week.

The American League disturbance was a hitting hurricane, for the Athletics continued throughout the week to get unsatisfactory pitching, despite the return to the line-up of Sam Gray. Terrific slugging put Mack's team temporarily out of danger with six straight victories following an initial defeat at the hands of Cleveland as the week opened. In every game the junior league pace-makers loaded the box score with 10 or more hits, and twice they gathered in nineteen safeties.

The Senators, hanging on the fringe of the tornado, were carried along to five victories on superb pitching from Johnson, Zachary, and Coveleskie. Their hitting was the lightest of the week in the American, but the blows were timely and Goose Goslin featured with three homers in one day against Cleveland, tying the modern major league record.

Moving along at the expense of the Yankees and Red Sox, the Tiger slipped back into sixth place, while Cleveland, jolted hard at Washington, resigned fourth place to the St. Louis Browns.

Boston and Chicago retained eighth and third places respectively although the latter team gave no sign of producing sufficient strength to make the American race more than a two-team affair. At the close of the week, second place Washington was no less than nine full games behind the White Sox.

Electricity In Brook Causes Death Horse

SCHIFFERSTADT, Germany, June 22.—A brook charged with electricity proved fatal to one of a team of horses recently when the owner drove into the stream to wash the wheels of his carriage. As soon as the horses touched the water one of them dropped dead, while the other after frantic efforts managed to break loose from the harness and galloped out of the water.

Investigation showed that the brook was charged with electricity, transmitted from a subterranean installation of power plant.

Clermont—Park site leased for construction of 6-story hotel.
