B CLASSES IR DERBY ARE ALF FINISHED

Spirit Of St. Paul Leading In Class B At First Of Last Leg Of Long Flight

Two Of Class B Planes Are Lost

Nine Of 15 Class A Planes Make St. Paul Jump In 10 Hours

Winging their way westward, leading entrants in class and class B of the transcontinental air derby race from New York to Spokane and covered over half of the distance of their flight early today.

Leslie Miller, Dea Moines, Iowa, flying the "Spirit of St.
Paul," and C. W. Myers, Detroit, Mich., leading in class B, having left St. Paul, Minn., early this morning for the last leg of their journey.
The two pilots are being fighting at first place almost since the start of the race. They are due to land in Spokane this afternoon.

Other entrants in the class B are trailing all the way behind Chicago and Bismark, N. D., and the class B planes are unaccounted for. Gerald Smith, Tacoma, Wash., who left St. Paul late yesterday for Fargo, N. D., has been heard from. A. M.
Smith, Philadelphia, failed to show up in St. Paul last night after flying Chicago yesterday morning. No word has been received of either pilot.

Nine of the 15 class A planes left St. Paul this morning after making the jump between New York and St. Paul in less than 10 hours. Five planes took off from the St. Paul airport this morning with the class A planes in class A that is now in New York yesterday morning. One was withdrawn, four were at dawn, and one crashed with a pilot at the wheel.

The nine class A planes, all but one had shown up at midnight. B. D.
ST. PAUL, Minn., Sept. 21 (INS)— Two pilots flying in class B of the trans-continental air derby were missing early today as derby officials have checked up on over-night stops of the contestants.

Herald Smith, Tacoma, Wash., flying No. 42, an Eagle, plane, left here at 4:15 P. M. yesterday, a few minutes before the deadline for takeoff, bound for Fargo. At midnight, he had not arrived there, officials learned.

The other missing flyer is A.
Banks, Philadelphia, who left Chicago at 11:15 P. M. yesterday for St. Paul. He has not reached here, and no word has come from him to the officials. It is believed that he may have been forced down for fuel at some obscure point and was stranded there or landed accidentally on account of darkness.

The straggler of the race proved last night to be the "Spirit of St.
Paul," which is being piloted by Leslie Miller, leader of the class B flies, made two, one in a snowstorm, and finally was forced to abandon the race and return here.

E. E. Drake, Pittsburgh, who left Chicago a short time before pilot checks, made a forced landing for fuel at Fraterville, Wis., and checked here just before darkness was flying hazardous. He held officials he did not see Bank's ship.

Officials here are not concerned by the two missing planes, believing them forced down at some outlet of the way place by darkness. If, however, they are not heard from today, a search will be begun.

tely chosen today as the American Legion convention site for 1928.

SPECIAL TERM OF COURT IS CALLED ON NEXT MONDAY

Investigation Of Local Bank Is Expected To Be The Main Purpose Of Term; Several Lawyers To Assist Scarlett

Pursuant to a request by Governor John W. Martin, Judge Wallace W. Wright has called a special term of the circuit court for next Monday morning at 10 o'clock.
Although the extra session has been called for a consideration of general matters, it is believed that it is for the purpose of permitting a grand jury to make a complete investigation of the affairs of the Bemidji County Bank and certain alleged irregularities as contained in warrants that have been sworn out against Forrest Lake and A.
R. Key.

Judge Wright was in receipt of a message this afternoon announcing that Judge Ira A. Hutchinson of west Florida has been assigned to preside over the special term and that F. A. B. Ijalak, of Pensacola, state's attorney for the first judicial circuit, and J. McHenry Jones of Tallahassee, assistant to the attorney general, have been named to represent the state along with State Attorney J. A. Scarlett of Deland.

Both Judge Wright and State Attorney Scarlett were unable this morning to state definitely whether the bank case would be brought before the grand jury today, before the grand jury might be.

It is generally believed in court house circles that if indictments are brought in the bank case, immediate trial of the accused men would follow. This belief was based upon Governor Martin's recent instructions to State Attorney Scarlett to investigate the case and push the prosecution of guilty parties.

The sheriff's deputies were busy today issuing subpoenas to 36 people from whose number a grand jury will be selected Monday morning. Following the selection of the jury it will immediately go into session. In the meantime the court will recess until the jury is ready to report the results of its findings.

Those called for possible jury duty are: W. F. Bosaday, C. C.
Pearson, L. M. Williams, John Mc-Naughton, A. W. Smith, Carl Strong, J. L. McGowan, G. E. Fuller, Ralph F. Geiger, G. W. Huff, merlin, R. A. Cobb, A. H. Bowers, nell, James Bellows, C. E. Hunter,

ATLANTA GOLF STAR DEFEATS MISS COLLETT

In American Women's Golf Championship Mrs. Alex Sterling Fraser Beats For- mer Champ TwoUpAndOne

Glenna Trimmed Her Once Nine And Eight

Mrs. Fraser Learned Her Golf From Stewart Maiden, Man Who Taught "Bobby" Jones

CHERRY VALLEY CLUB, GAR-DEN CITY, N. Y., Sept. 21—(INS)— Mrs. Alex Sterling Fraser, of the Royal Ottawa Golf club, three-times holder of the American women's championship, advanced a step nearer her possible fourth title today when she defeated Miss Conn. country club, 2 and 1 in the most thrilling match of the tournament.

Mrs. Fraser who, as Alex Sterling, learned her golf from Stewart Maiden at the famous Eased Lake course in Atlanta, Ga., played remarkably steady golf to defeat the girl who in 1925 overhauled her by a score of 9 and 8 in the final round of the championship of that year.

She did not quite reverse the score on Miss Collett, but she played a much sounder game.

They played par golf to halve the first three holes, but on the long fourth Glenna got into the rough with her second shot and in getting back onto the fairway had to play through a tree. This proved fatal, and Mrs. Fraser took the hole with another par 5.

The halved the fifth and sixth but on the seventh Mrs. Fraser learned what trouble is. She played short hole with an iron to land just on the out of bounds line in a farrow behind a bunker, while Glenna was trapped in the right short of the hole. At this point the Connecticut girl played a beautiful explosion shot to land eight feet from the pin. Mrs. Fraser got the bunker on her second and almost chipped into the trap on her next, stopping on the edge of the green.

It was Miss Collett's hole and she took the most when Mrs. Fraser drove out of bounds to lose both stroke and distance.

But the ninth found Mrs. Fraser steady. She was right down the center of the fairway with her first and second, while Miss Collett found a trap with her second, a spoon shot. This enabled Mrs. Fraser to win the hole with par 6 and square the match again.

On the tenth the former Atlantan got an eagle 4 to make her 1 up and she added another hole when she won the eleventh with another par 6 and she added halved the remaining holes.

Mrs. Fraser 454 545 565—43
Miss Collett 454 545 565—43
Mrs. Fraser 454 545 565—43
Miss Collett 454 545 565—43
Mrs. Fraser 2 up and 1 to play.

Grover C. Bergdoll U. S. Draft Dodger Would Come Back

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21 (NS)— Grover Cleveland Bergdoll, the Philadelphia draft dodger, is seeking a way to enter the United States from Germany where he lived the war, it was learned at the State Department today.

John E. Kehl, American consul at Stuttgart, reported to the department that he had received a detailed account of the championship fight. The results will begin coming in at 7:30 o'clock and the main bet is expected to get under way near 10 o'clock, Sanford time,
although Promoter Tex Rickard
has the right to stage the title
match as early as 8 o'clock in case
of threatening weather.

Everything to insure the comfort
of the fans will be arranged. It was announced this morning. Final preparations for the show were in
made this morning and everything was in readiness this afternoon.

It was also announced that a special section has been reserved for negroes interested in hearing the returns.

LONG DISTANT FLIGHT

VIENNA, Sept. 21—(INS)— An airplane, presumed to be the one in which Otto Koennecke, German spy, is attempting a flight from Berlin to Japan, was reported heard over Belgrade shortly after midnight this morning, according to dispatches from that city.

Herr Koennecke left Berlin at 2:30 P. M. yesterday for Angora, France, the first stop on his contemplated long-distance flight.
Belgrade is approximately 500 miles from Berlin.

Mayor Walker Ends Tour Of Europe And Takes Boat Train For Port Of Havre

PARIS, Sept. 21—(INS)—Mayor J. Walker terminated his tour of Europe at 4 o'clock this afternoon when he boarded the boat train for Havre where he will board the French liner Le De France, enroute back to New York.

The Mayor arrived at the station with a scant five minutes to spare before his train pulled out. "They should have told me this train left at 10 o'clock, and then I should have been able to make it comfortably," he observed.

The Mayor appeared in a happy mood over his return to New York.
"I'll be back in time to pitch the first ball in the World Series for the New York Yankees, I hope," he said.

He reiterated his previous declaration that the next time he returns to Paris he will not be in public office. Mr. Walker could not leave Paris without creating a final "wisecrack."

"Now I will have to get accustomed to synthetic gin again," he said. Before leaving, Mr. Walker invited Police Commissioner Chiappe of Paris to visit New York.

IRISH POLITICIANS TURN ATTENTION TO CASH AFFAIRS

DUBLIN, Sept. 21. (INS)— With the recent general election over in which the Irish Free State government of President William T. Cosgrave won a bare majority of four seats in the Dail Eireann, and a possible majority of six seats, both factions turned their attention to the rehabilitation of the country's finances.

Ernest Blythe, vice-president of the executive council, and minister of finance, announced a new national loan of $50,000,000 would be floated in December.

Emmon De Valera, Republican leader and foe of the government, issued a post-election statement declaring the "main efforts of the country must now be concentrated to the task of rehabilitating the nation economically."

Political circles today were eagerly awaiting the next move by the Cosgrave government, but all indications were that Cosgrave would carry on, at least for the time being.

Vice President Blythe issued a government would certainly take office, and that it did not anticipate defeat on any major issue for at least a year.

Large Crowd Fight Fans Expect To Get Legion Returns

Because of the widespread interest in the approaching championship battle between Gene Tunney and Jack Dempsey, members of the American Legion expect a large crowd to be present on Thursday night at the City Hall where the complete returns of the big bout will be received over a special wire of the Postal Telegraph Company.

The Legion has planned to receive the returns and charge a small admission in order to raise funds for the purchase of uniforms of the bugle and drum corps, sponsored by the organization. Accompaniments for 1,000 fans have been arranged and a special packed train is expected by those in charge of the show.

L. J. Bolt will announce the results which will include preliminaries, sideights on the crowd and a detailed account of the championship fight. The results will begin coming in at 7:30 o'clock and the
main bet is expected to get under
way near 10 o'clock, Sanford time,
although Promoter Tex Rickard
has the right to stage the title
match as early as 8 o'clock in case
of threatening weather.

Everything to insure the comfort
of the fans will be arranged. It was announced this morning. Final
preparations for the show were in
made this morning and everything was in readiness this afternoon.

GUARDSMEN POSTPONE Thursday Night Bout

Members of Company D, Florida National Guard, who had previously planned to stage a boxing match and receive returns of the Tunney-Dempsey fight on Thursday night, have postponed the affair, according to an announcement made today.

The action was taken by the guardsmen because of the desire to co-operate with the American Legion in staging its fight show for the benefit of the drum and bugle corps.

DEMSEY TAKES REST

DEMSEY'S CAMP, LINCOLN
FIELD, Ill., Sept. 21—(INS)— His training paraphernalia laid aside, Jack Dempsey rested in the solitude of his camp today, considering the belief that he is physically fit for the gigantic task that confronts him at Soldier's Field tomorrow night.

SWINDLERS AT FIGHT, CAMPS WORKING HARD

Fake Tickets, Special Police For Boxers' Protection, And Big Onrush Of Fans Mark Camps' Last Minute News

Moderate Weather Expected Tomorrow

Both Dempsey And Tunney Ap- pear Confident As Final Stage Of Training Is Begun

Chicago, Sept. 21.—Fake tickets and swindling, special police precautions to guard Gene Tunney and Jack Dempsey, a tremendous inrush of fight fans from all parts of the country, and prohibition raids on disorderly places contributed today to the teeming undercurrent of excitement that has gripped Chicago with the opening round of the Tunney-Dempsey battle a little more than twenty four hours away.

Cool and fair weather for tomorrow night was predicted by the weather bureau and Tex Rickard, the promoter, estimated that at least 150,000 fans would view the spectacle from the vast expanse of Soldier's Field. The gate receipts, it is figured, will total close to $2,500,000, perhaps more as there has been a big eleventh-hour demand for seats.

On the eve of the battle, both Dempsey and Tunney expressed themselves confident of victory.
"I am supremely confident," said the rugged Dempsey. "I hope to score a knockout."

In his quiet, assured way, Tunney said: "I will win decisively." Precautions almost as great as those accorded a president were taken to protect Tunney and Dempsey at their respective camps.
Dempsey at the Lincoln Field race track and Tunney at his headquarters on the shores of Fox Lake.
Both camps were heavily guarded, telephone service to them was disrupted and visitors refused admission to the premises. Tunney went into complete seclusion and Dempsey would see only his closest friends and relatives, including his father, Hiram Dempsey, who has come all the way from Utah, "to see my boy win back the championship."

Both fighters have completed training. They plan to engage in only catfights, and rest. Tomorrow they will come to Chicago under an escort of state highway police and will put up at Loop Hotels and will have a very busy 10 P. M. tomorrow night—when they will settle their dispute in a twenty foot ring pitched on the shore of the breezy lake front.

Rickard, meanwhile, was active in cooperating with the authorities in an effort to break up a counterfeit ticket swindle. Chicago detectives found that phony tickets were being sold in large blocks in clear stores and poolrooms in the downtown district. The tickets were in all denominations, from the 35 cents to the $40 variety, and were so well made that, according to Rickard, they may cause some confusion at the stadium tomorrow night. After 5,000 counterfeit tickets had been seized by the police Rickard issued warning advising the fans to purchase their tickets only at the accredited box offices.

Fans flocked to the box offices in great numbers today, snapping up even the barest corners of seats, it has been stated that some of these cheap seats are "A mile from the ring"—actually, however, about 225 yards away or some 300 or more rows back. An enterprising newspaper man counted the distance of the worst seats as 318 rows from the ring.

The influx of fight fans resulted in a further "opening up" of this liberally-conducted town. The result has been a renewal of activity by prohibition agents who swept through the city in a series of raids in an effort to keep the big fight dry. Liquor was seized at a number of "bright spots," arrests were made and cafe and hotel keepers warned that further violations will result in padlock proceedings.

Every incoming train this morning brought its quota of visitors.
Soon the fight specials will be dis-gorgeing thousands more and by lightfall the throng of out-of-towners now filling hotel lobbies with cigar smokes and fight gossip will have been tremendously suggested.

Conspicuous among the visitors is Jack Dempsey's father, Hiram Dempsey, who shyly told reporters his son is the best fighter in the world and "should win by a knockout in seven rounds."

Dempsey has furnished tickets for all of his relatives, who are here and 30 more for members of the camp retinue. The ex-champ-ion's wife, Estelle Taylor, will not attend the fight. However, she will remain in attendance at the Esgewater Beach hotel and will not even hear the fight over the radio.

Legion Convention Suggests Separate Aerial Department

Resolution Ends In A Stormy Battle Over Addition Of Phrase Soon As Warranted

"Billy" Mitchell Fights On Clause

Long Debate Precedes Vote On Resolution, Feeling Runs High

TROCADERO PALACE, Sept.
21.—The American Legion convention today adopted a resolution recommending the creation of a separate department of aviation in the United States government, "as soon as is warranted." The adoption of the resolution ended a stormy battle on the convention floor, precipitated by the presentation of the annual report of the national standing committee on aeronautics, favoring such a stand by the convention.

Former Brig. General William Mitchell, long a storm centre in the American Army Air service, and his friends, fought strenuously for the elimination of the clause "as soon as is warranted," but the convention voted down his objections by a vote of 828 to 283.

Former Governor McGovern of Wisconsin, supporting Mitchell, denounced the words "as soon as is warranted" as a "waste of words." Considerable debate preceded the vote on the resolution, and for a time feeling ran high. Floyd Woolley of Washington, D. C., created a furor by charging the aeronautics committee with bringing in a report "backed" by General Benjamin D. H. Harbo MacNider and other War Department conservatives.

Brig. General Roy Hoffman of Oklahoma, chairman of the aeronautics committee, heatedly denied Woolley's charge. Delegate Children of Ohio restored peace by moving that Woolley's charges be stricken from the records, which was done.

Mitchell, speaking from the platform, declared that the United States army and navy heads are getting their inspiration from the past, and that they are blind to the future.

The vote revealed a varied lineup on the dispute. Illinois voted solidly against Mitchell, and New York voted just as solidly for him.
The Ohio, Indiana, California, New Jersey, and Pennsylvania delegations split.

The resolution put the Legion on record as favoring the consolidation of all branches of national defense into one department, with individual secretaries for each branch, the army, navy, and aviation.

VERDUN, France, Sept. 21—Declaring that they came to Verdun to visit the battlefields, and not to hear speeches, hundreds of American Legionnaires walked out from the official luncheon tabled them in the market place here today, leaving Premier Poincaré speaking to an almost empty hall.

"We're not in the army now, let's go," the Legionnaires exclaimed when the prolonged insistence and the length of the official speeches promised to cut short the Legionnaires' visit to the battlefields. They went forthwith.

Among the notables present at the luncheon, in addition to Premier Poincaré, were General Pershing, General Petain, General Gouraud and the Prefect of the department of Meuse.

The Legionnaires, who had arrived at Verdun from Paris shortly after noon, were scheduled to leave for the battlefields at 6 o'clock, right after luncheon. But the task of serving the 1,000 Legionnaires taxed the capacity of the serving staff, with the result that the luncheon was not finished until 2:30 o'clock.

Mrs. Poincaré, undisturbed by the rush for the exits, continued her speech to the end, his words being highly praised by the departing Legionnaires as long as 100 Legionnaires were leaving the hall while hearing the Premier's speeches and drink to the victory of the French over the Germans.

CONSAIRS STILL HAVE EDGE UPON 2ND PLACE CLUBS

Pirates Lead Giants And The Cardinals By Three And A Half Games; Dazzy Vance Is Arsenal To Pittsburgh

NEW YORK, Sept. 20.—Although Pittsburgh's lead over New York in the National League scramble had been cut to 3 1/2 games today by Brooklyn's victory over the Pirates while the Giants and Cardinals were winning, the Consairs still have a mathematical edge over their rivals.

The Giants have 10 games to play and Pittsburgh has 13. If the Giants can get all 10 of the Pirates need only six out of 13 to tie. While the Cardinals are half a game behind the Giants, they do not have to take on the tough Pirates. In order to stay in the running the Giants must sweep their four games series with Pittsburgh, starting Thursday.

Dazzy Vance of Brooklyn, strike out King of the National League, neatly kaoshined the Bucs yesterday, 3 to 0, after they had won 11 straight. Carmen Hill pitched without a hit except for a featured leop in the sixth inning when he was railed by a rally featured by Hans Herman's double.

Harleigh Grimes chalked up his fourteenth consecutive victory as the Giants outslugged the Reds, 10 to 6. Bill Terry smacked two homers, triple and his fifth homer of the trip. The homer was the longest walk ever poked into the Portville night field bleachers.

With Fred Frankhouse, rookie pitcher, winning his fourth game in as many starts, the world's champion Cards smothered the Phils again, 12 to 5.

Wattie Holm, converted outfielder who has replaced Les Bell at third for the Cards, hit three doubles and Sunny Jim Bottomley, who is on a home run rampage, again hit for the circles. Cy Williams of the Phils, walked his 25th homer, forging ahead of Hank Wilson in the race for National League circuit, clotting honors.

Frank Frisch got his 69th assist of the season, establishing a new National League record. Arthur Nehf, former world's series hero who could not win when with the Reds, pitched the Cubs to a 6 to 0 victory over the Braves. Nehf held his own game with a double and a single.

In the only game played in the American League, the Senators took a five inning contest from Cleveland, 4 to 1. Hadley, a rookie, outpitched the veteran George Uhl.

Miss Ada Mackenzie, with a 77 yesterday has good opportunity to win title in National Golf Tournament

FOREIGN GOLFERS PLAYING WELL IN WOMEN'S MATCH

CHERRY VALLEY CLUB, GARDEN CITY, N. Y., Sept. 20.—Foreign women golfers held a strong hand in the first match round of the women's National Championship which his to be played over the 18 hole course of this club today. Miss Ada Mackenzie of Ontario, Canada, women's champion title in the amateur and open classes, with her medal winning round of 77 in yesterday's qualifying play, apparently has a splendid opportunity to make things uncomforably interesting for the American girls who are striving for the title.

Miss Mackenzie played almost flawless golf to score five under par in her qualifying round, one under Miss Matreese Orsuth of New York. Metropolitan district champion, Miss Orsuth, posted in a 78 for her first day's work and tied with Mrs. Miriam Burns Beck of the Milburn Club of Kansas City, Mo., for the runner-up place.

Not far behind Miss Mackenzie, however, as a leading contender in the match play, honors is Mrs. Grant Fraser of the Royal Canadian Golf Club of Canada. Mrs. Fraser is also a former winner of the three-time winner of the women's title in women's golf and the steadiness of her play in the qualifying round indicates that she has regained her form.

Miss Glenna Collett, of the Greenwich C. C., formerly of Providence, R. I., although she trailed well behind the leaders in medal play, she is regarded as having excellent chances to regain the title she lost two years ago.

MISS GLENNA COLLETT

CINCINNATI.—A table and lamp made of 17,854 pieces of wood helped to save the life of George L. Hathaway, disabled veteran of the World War. He was engaged in a race with death. Hathaway worked for months in making his table, which contains 71 varieties of wood. His idea was to leave his work as a memorial, but after a year's work his health had become so feeble that he could not complete the job.

Jack Dempsey Insists He Will Knock Gene Tunney Out In The Fourth Round

Chicago, Sept. 20.—Jack Dempsey says he will win by a knockout in the fourth round. Dempsey so declared himself today when he returned from his run on the road. The declaration was made to Jeremiah Luvadis, the big masseur and witch, hazel man from the locker room, and although the writer admits he wasn't hiding under the Persian rug for the occasion, a transcript of the testimony was given me by a mutual friend who happened to be present.

"Bet the shirt on me this time; I'm right," was Dempsey's tip to the little half-illiterate Greek who has made a god of the man. He has rubbed and petted and slapped into condition or out. Crouse and his man Friday live again in the persons of this pair, and Dempsey would rather lose his index finger than cross this loyal soul, born to be a bootblack but fated to bask in the reflected glory of an ex-champion of the heavyweights. "Jerry, I'm set," Dempsey added. "You have been loyal and true to me and I want you to cash. I know in my heart that I can't miss this one."

This may or may not be the ravings of the usual passe athlete who never knows the truth about himself until that truth is the jest of every bar room. It may be the story of a prematurely aged man who knows himself less than he knows the countless thousands of casuals who persist in glad-handling him. As to that I cannot say.

COURT CHANGES IN PHILIPPINES ARE IN DEMAND

Reformation and Improvement Are Urged. Whole System of Island Court Procedure

WASHINGTON, September 19, (INS)—Administration of justice and the conduct of the lower courts in the Philippines are sadly in need of reformation and improvement according to officials of the Bureau of Insular Affairs. Both the Bureau officials and the late Governor-General Wood have been inclined to attribute that state of affairs to native political influence. Many incumbent judges of the lower courts, it is said, "are so strongly entrenched and backed by such powerful local influences that the poorer class of people consider it worse than suing to even protest, and suffer in silence."

One of the principal remedies Wood tried to apply, and this he had the wholehearted backing of Washington officials, was the Americanizing of the Philippine bench. It was the governor-general's plan to continue appointing Americans "until a reasonable proportion of judges are Americans." There are now only two men of that nationality on the bench out of 55 judges and auxiliary judges of the primary law courts.

Lower Courts Clogged.—While the Supreme Court last year was able to dispose of all but six of the 1,700 cases pending before it, the lower courts cleared only 22,991 cases from its dockets of 46,210, a proportional decrease from the previous year when 23,050 cases out of 45,993 were cleared. So far, this year the dockets are jammed worse than ever.

This situation, Wood called "one of the gravest problems confronting the government," adding that it "is largely due to frequent delays due to postponements which are granted for trivial reasons or on account of political pressure."

The inefficiency of the court system has also brought its reaction from the native population. Last year a score or more charges were filed against judges of the courts of duty and seemingly unreasonable delays. Most of these cases are still pending or awaiting submission to the Supreme Court.

Justices Suspended.—At the same time charges were filed against 207 justices of the peace. Although the greater number of these was not sustained, twelve justices were suspended and 14 removed from office last year. Other cases of similar nature have arisen this year.

In his last annual report, Wood said, "The administration of justice is not such that the public generally has confidence that perjury and political influences do not carry weight with the courts. At present there is a very general conviction that these do carry undue weight. This is particularly true in the justice of the peace courts and in some of the courts of first instance. There have been cases of delay in some instances which were scandalous."

In the appointment of justice of the peace every effort is made to secure men of good character and attainments, but it is very difficult to secure men who do not have some personal or political obligations.

"On the whole it is felt that the

However, I can say and I will that Dempsey called up intimate friends before the Sharkey fight and gave them the same tip—to go on him until the elastic was worn thin. They did and he cashed in for them.

"I'll get him before the fourth round," Dempsey has told close friends. "As a matter of fact I may get him earlier. What I am figuring on doing is to go in there and start slugging. If I miss I'll go out. If Gene misses, he'll go out. It's all very simple" and what about a foul.

Well they have had foul punches in "big shots" before and perhaps it will be no novelty to have one now. Anyhow the referee will be picked today by the boxing commission and the general understanding is that Dave Miller can't go wrong. He has handled the big fights here, he has the backing of Mayor William Hale Thompson and he happens to be a man who knows what it is all about.

His only contestant is Emil Emil Thiry, who is older than last winter's boot. Emil just can't get around and David can, does and will.

Even though the referee situation remains undecided Dempsey admirers, flocking here on every train, are showing willingness to get their money down on the ex-champion. The result has been that in the last 24 hours there has been a revision of the betting odds.

TOBACCO BELT IS READY FOR AUCTION SALE

First Sales Expected To See Record Breaking Prices On Bumper North Carolina Crop

RALEIGH, N. C., Sept. 17.—Millions of pounds of bright-leaf, flue-cured tobacco lay in neatly assorted piles on the floors of Piedmont North Carolina's giant warehouses today, ready to be turned into money for the grower tomorrow when auction sales begin on the Middle Belt.

Tobaccoists expected that tomorrow's sales would start the belt off on a record-breaking season, in view of the large sales reported on the earlier markets, and the price average of more than $20 a hundred that has been maintained. Government estimates have placed North Carolina's weed production this year at more than 28,000,000 pounds above last year's.

It is estimated that if the Middle Belt markets get their share of the predicted increase, it would exceed by several million pounds in bumper sales of 133,799,000 pounds last year. The 1926 figures represented an increase of 26,465,736 pounds over the 1925 sales figures for the Middle Belt.

Possible Congestion Tobacco has been pouring into the warehouses for several days, and it was thought that a possible congestion existed two weeks ago when the Eastern North Carolina markets opened, causing millions of pounds of the weed to go over until the next day's sales.

Growers of the Middle Belt have been observing closely the price ranges on the Eastern Carolina markets that have just opened. Despite the fact that opening prices are always low because of the inferior grades of leaf that are invariably offered, reports from these markets indicated that an average in the neighborhood of $20 per hundred was being maintained.

Accurate figures on the sales and prices on the Eastern North Carolina markets will not become available until about the middle of next month when the State Department complex and issues of the various markets standings. Growers also are eagerly awaiting the reports expected within a few days stating the sales and price averages on the North Carolina border markets which opened last month.

Daily Letter

By International News

ROCHESTER, N. Y.—Rochester police were treated to a new stunt and the proprietor of a convalescent home is sadder and wiser today, the latter a loser of more than $700 in jewelry and personal belongings.

Several months ago, according to the police statement, Estelle Eberhart, a veteran of the syndust and accomplished ventriloquist, came to the home to take treatment and the drug cure. When her bill had reached the $600 mark and the proprietor of the home became pressing, the one time circus star left the home without warning, leaving a note that she had gone to visit her lawyer.

Several days later a masculine voice over the telephone pleaded the proprietor of his convalescent home with the statement that he was Miss Eberhart's lawyer and that he was engaged in settling an estate, which would provide the money to meet her bill. The "man" used the name of a well known Rochester lawyer.

A cordial reception and welcome home greeted the circus performer on her return.

Her say lasted just long enough to loot the house of all portable valuables.

When taken into custody by police Miss Eberhart admitted that it was her gift of ventriloquy that had deceived her landlady over the phone.

The nearest approach to the realization of a bar fly's dream was discovered here by "Fighting Jack" Johnson, leader of Rochester's prohibition squad, when his famous sledge hammer battered his way into one of Rochester's largest garages.

The statement by the garage manager that the top floor was used for storage only was given the lie when agents turned a water tap in the basement. A clear, cool stream of the real old brew responded. Search of the top floor revealed a modern and expensively equipped brewery.

The product was piped to the basement where barrels and trucks were loaded.

Rochester customs officers recently had their watchful waiting rewarded by discovery of a brand new method of smuggling. Canadian ale into their territory.

Acting on the tip that ale was being landed right in the center of a summer colony, several agents unobserved themselves back of a vacant cottage for a long afternoon's wait.

From the next door cottage came two men in bathing suits. On the porch of their cottage was a woman holding a baby. The domestic scene cooled the ardor of the watchers but duty was duty.

Laughing and spashing in the cool waters of Lake Ontario, the men jumped into a skiff equipped with an outboard motor and chug-back and forth. Their course gradually led them out into the lake where the dim outline of a speedily cutter could be seen.

Glasses brought into play revealed a meeting between skiff and cutter and several suspicious looking objects being transferred.

A sudden descent on the returning "bathers" sent them scurrying to cover, leaving ten bags of a well known Canadian ale.

Neighbors were absolutely unaware of what had been going on under their noses, an investigation revealed.

In buying advertising a merchant must consider what portion of the territory served the medium selected will cover. The cost of advertising should always be judged by results, for results alone are what count.

Paradise Found By Film Extras In The Movie, All Gamblers

Discovered — an extra's idea of Paradise.

It was an accidental discovery made during a study of realism. No extensive research work preceded it.

The art director for Paramount was recently given specifications which called for an elaborate night club. He hung purple and gold drapes here and there, built a platform for a ten-piece jazz orchestra, arranged tables about an oval dancing floor, strung vari-colored lights—and turned it over to James Cruze.

Mr. Cruze furnished the Paradise touch. He asked that all the tables be equipped with chicken, pieces of steak, celery, olives, salads—and all the other things that go to make up an elaborate New York's eve dinner in a night club.

He wanted the extra players to seem natural. A kitchen was installed with flaming chafing dishes, tables of deserts, etc.

Two hundred extras in evening clothes were summoned one morning for a scene in Thomas Meighan's new picture "We're All Gamblers" which will be at the Milane Theatre today. While they were receiving instructions they gazed absent-mindedly toward the tables and the busy chefs.

A request that they take their seats was followed by a stampee. Chickens, salads and other viands began to disappear as if by magic even before the electricians had finished setting the lights.

"Wit, wait," shouted Mr. Cruze. "You're supposed to eat only when the cameras are grinding."

His instructions were lost in the rattle of knives and forks. It was noon and the chefs were exhausted before the scene was finished. An atmosphere of perfect bliss spread over the place when the coffee and cigarettes arrived. Paradise had temporarily settled over that corner of Hollywood.

Parent-Teachers' City Council Holds Session On Tuesday Afternoon

On Tuesday afternoon a meeting of the city council of the Parent-Teachers' Association of Sanford was held at the home of the chairman Mrs. L. N. Hansell on Oak Avenue.

Plans were made for programs to be given this year and work also outlined.

The annual reception to have been tendered the teachers of the public schools, has been canceled due to financial conditions, and it was decided that instead, each school would have a social hour at its Parent-Teachers' meeting in order to bring about a closer relationship between the teachers and parents.

Mrs. Fred Daiger announced the morning matinees given each Saturday morning at the Milane Theatre, sponsored by the Woman's Club and urged the co-operation of all the organizations in making this venture a success.

The district meeting of the Parent Teachers' association will be held in Orlando October 13.

The discussion of dates of meeting of the various organizations was held and arranged so that there would be no conflict of dates and it was decided that on the first Thursday of each month the South Side Primary P. T. A. would meet; second Thursday, the Grammar School; third Thursday, the East and West Side Primary schools; the first Tuesday, the Seminole High School and the third Tuesday would be the date of meeting for the Junior High School. Mothers are asked to bear these dates in mind and arrange to attend these meetings.

Representatives from each of the local organizations were present.

Funeral Services For Mrs. Lee Held Here

Funeral services for Mrs. W. H. Lee, who died last Thursday following an operation at the Fernald Hospital, were held Monday afternoon at the Woman's Club with Rev. K. A. McCauley in charge. Two duets followed by a touching tribute by the minister composed the impressive services.

Burial followed in the Municipal Cemetery.

There were many beautiful floral offerings attending the services with which Mrs. Lee was held by many friends here and elsewhere over the state. Besides friends from Sanford, Orange City and Benson Springs there were many relatives present at the funeral, among them being a daughter, Miss Hazel Lee of New York and a son, Fay Lee of South Dakota.

Mrs. Lee was born April 8, 1864 at Rochester, Minn. She was educated in the public schools of South Dakota and was a graduate of the South Dakota State Academy. She was married to W. H. Lee in 1887.

Mrs. Lee was a member of the Seventh Day Advent Church and was active in its work. She is survived by her husband and seven children.

Chas. Sistrunk returned home Tuesday from Jacksonville where he spent his vacation with friends.

Mrs. Chares M. Powell Entertains Circle Of Presbyterian Church

The business girls circle of the Presbyterian Church was most pleasantly entertained Tuesday evening as the guests of Mrs. Charles M. Powell Jr., at her attractive home in Rose Court.

A delicious buffet supper was served at 7 o'clock. The dining table was spread with a lace cloth and centered with a large crystal bowl of pink zinnias and lavender asters.

After supper a short business session was held followed by the bible study, which was led by Mrs. W. M. McKinnon. The subject for the evening was "Life and Character of the prophet Jeremiah."

Matinees For Children Held Under Direction Of Educational Society

Judge Is Dead From Shots Fired In Court

OWENSBORO, Ky., Sept. 21.—(INS)—County Judge J. L. Patton, 62, of Hartford, Ohio county, died at a hospital here early today from bullet wounds suffered late Tuesday, as he sat on the bench in his courtroom, holding court. He was shot by James Johnson, 45, a disabled former marine, who lives at the National Military Home, at Dayton, O.

Johnson is held in the county jail here, and probably will be charged with murder today.

The shooting followed an inquiry which Johnson is said to have directed to the Judge concerning payment of his pension, which by court order, had been paid recently to Johnson's guardian, A. B. Tiehner, who was in the courtroom. Officers said these behind the shots which killed Judge Patton were intended for Tiehner.

Banker Finds Silver-Piece Recalling Memories Of Old Ante Bellum South

MOBILE, Ala., September 20.—(INS)—Bringing back memories of the old Ante-bellum South, a small silver piece, which on one side bears the inscription "The Mobile Jockey Club," and "Members Medal," on the other side the legend "Transferable, 1853," was recently found by Tom Horst, who is connected with the Merchant National Bank, while rummaging through some old possessions.

Between the two lines on the face of the medallion stands the impression of a graceful horse.

Looking at the little silver disk, about the size of a quarter and worn almost smooth, a curtain is lifted for a moment and one sees the Mobile of other days; sophisticated in old world ways and shadowed with an air of glamour and romance. High silk hats and whiskeys; hoop-skirts and waist-lines; fast stepping thoroughbreds; crackling whips and gayly clad jockeys.

Those were the days when gambling was taken just as seriously as eating and vast fortunes were won and lost on the speed of a horse.

The little medallion then was something to be highly prized as a southern gentleman's honor, for the old association was once revered in the dim obscurities of the past. In the old city that is rapidly becoming modernized, only a few families, a few who had grandfathers who were members of the old club, can recall it. All that is left is the medallion in the home of Mr. Horst.

TARPON TOURNAMENT WILL BE STAGED AT FORT MYERS

$1,000 In Prizes Is Offered In Angling Contest Which Claims Attention Of Sportsmen On Southwest Coast

FORT MYERS, Fla., Sept. 10.—(INS)—With $1,000 in prizes and a handsome engraved silver cup to be offered, a tarpon tournament and a general angling contest will be staged in Fort Myers this season. It was announced Tuesday following a meeting of sportsmen when tentative plans were outlined to be presented to the chamber of commerce for approval. While the chamber of commerce has taken no definite action as yet, it is expected that the sportsmen will unanimously favor the event.

While the exclusive tarpon tournament would not be opened until June 1, the sportsmen point that other fishing contests could be held during the winter months. It is tentatively planned to offer cash prizes in fishing events for fish small and large varieties of fish. Special awards will be provided for women and the grand prize will go to the man or woman hooking the largest fish during the season.

With Fort Myers being headquarters for the National Tarpon club and with the Caloosahatchee river being famous for its fishing facilities, it is expected that hundreds of contestants will be entered in the tournaments. The chamber of commerce will be asked to sponsor the movement and to arrange for registration, rules and regulations and official weight. More than 5,000 tarpon were pulled from the Caloosahatchee last season and were an fishermen declare that indications point to a greater supply of the giant fish next year.

N. Y. Mayor Rejects High French Award Of Legion Of Honor

PARIS, Sept. 21.—(INS)—Mayor James J. Walker's excessive modesty today caused him to decline the highest honor that France could bestow and to request that no elaborate arrangements be made for his reception here in New York.

He declined the decoration of commander of the French Legion of Honor, which was to have been bestowed on him by President Doumergue. Soon after he told Grover A. Whalen, chairman of the mayor's welcoming committee of New York, that he wanted no tug to meet the S. S. Ile de France when it arrived in New York harbor next Tuesday.

Mayor Walker declined the Legion of Honor decoration when his friends advised him that acceptance of it might give the impression that he had "haggained" for the honor. They recalled that he had supported the French government in asking the federal government of the United States to rescind taxes due by France on a parcel of land in Brooklyn used by the French as a supply depot during the war.

Mayor Walker, also, hesitated to accept because he feared his admission into the Legion of Honor might detract from the decoration to be given Howard P. Savage, national commander of the American Legion.

Insane Wife Admits Killing Her Husband Because She Loved Him

TUSCALOOSA, Ala., Sept. 21.—(INS)—"I killed him because I loved him," Mrs. J. D. Hoskins said here in admitting the killing of her husband in Birmingham last week. "I did not want him to die before me," she said.

The attack was made with a flat-iron on Hoskins' carpenter, who was the second in three months by his wife. After the first, from which the husband recovered after being in hospital for several weeks, Mrs. Hoskins was confined to Alabama Hospital for the insane here. Believing her husband's hand took back home two weeks ago.

The second attack was made as he slept last week. Mrs. Hoskins fled from the house and was not found until Monday when a letter she had written from a boarding house was received by Birmingham relatives. The woman was taken back to the sanitarium pending further examination.

Chicago Crooks Find Selves Stumped By Simple Questions; Standard Intelligence Tests Are Used By Experts

CHICAGO, Sept. 21.—(INS)—"Say this: 'Where is Kitty?'" "Count backwards from 20 to 1." "Listen, say 4, 2, Now say, 6, 4, 1."

No, gentle reader, the scene is not in one of Chicago's kindergarten schools.

The local is the psychopathic hospital, where Chicago's battling gangsters and gunmen are being given mental tests.

Of more than a score of men examined, many, according to the officials conducting the tests, have been found deficient, several "had the minds of children" and one was held for a sanity hearing.

The questions given the gunmen are from the considered guide for the Stanford revision of the Binet-Simon intelligence tests, written by Lewis M. Terman, professor of education at Stanford university, California.

Before The Examination

In spite of the simplicity of the queries several of those examined were confused and failed to answer quickly and accurately. Other of the "simple" questions asked are: "Can you say 'nice kitty?'" "Now say 'I have a little dog.'" "What ought to do when you are cold?" "What ought you do when you are hungry?"

The gunmen also are given blocks of wood and asked to tell quickly which of the blocks are heaviest. They are shown four pennies in a row and told to count them. They are then asked to point out and are given credits for correct count, tallying with pointing.

Advanced Tests
In more advanced tests some of the questions given are: "Name the days of the week." "What day comes before Tuesday?" "What is the difference between a fly and a butterfly?" "Count backwards from twenty to one."

"What is a balloon, a tiger, a soldier, a football?" "What do you call a piece of money?" "Still further advanced questions, representing early high school age, include: "There are three main differences between a king and a peasant; what are they?" "What is the difference between laziness and idleness?" "What is the difference between evolution and revolution?" "What is the difference between misery and poverty?"

In the advanced tests the gunmen are read passages from books and asked to repeat. They are read numbers and asked to repeat rapidly backwards.

Other Hard Tests
In other tests for supposedly advanced types, that is those believed normal, but who are asked to define such words as orange, bonfire, straw, roar, haste, affect, guitar, mallow, impolite, plumbing, and so on.

By International News Service... CAP GRIS NER, MILANO, Sept. 21.—After twenty years of experience, "Old Bill" Burgess, second man to swim the English Channel, has decided that he knows nothing about the freshwater waters between Cap Gris Ner and Dover.

"I started to swim the Channel only once said 'Old Bill,' recounting his experiences. 'I have trained scores of swimmers for the crossing. Few have succeeded. I hate going into the water now and avoid it when I can.'"

Burgess, a busy training the American Zigzag swimmer, who, he believes, have the three qualifications for success: money, a proper boat and pilot and the right temperament. The fourth essential, good weather, he hopes to choose.

VIENNA, Sept. 21.—(INS)—A large number of Jugo-Slav troops and Macedonian insurgents were reported dead or wounded today, as a result of an all-night pitched battle in which the Warsaw River Valley last night according to a report reaching here from Belgrade.

The battle occurred when a number of Jugo-Slav police troops, searching the valley for persons suspected of having bombed a train in that vicinity yesterday, encountered the Macedonian band of insurgents.

The Jugo-Slav government today dispatched reinforcements to the valley with instructions to clear the country of the Macedonian recalcitrants.

Daily Fashion Hint

Nothing could be lovelier than this printed silk, which may go on many week-ends or a long vacation and still remain Parisian in style. A draped skirt is cleverly suggested by gathers at the front. The lower edge of the front is cut in an upward direction and then gathered to each side of a tab which extends over the skirt. The sleeves are long and fitted at the wrists, while the neck is V-shaped. Medium size requires 3 1/2 yards 39-inch material.

GANGSTERS TESTS SHOW THEM WITH CHILDREN'S MIND

CHICAGO, Sept. 21.—(INS)—"Say this: 'Where is Kitty?'" "Count backwards from 20 to 1." "Listen, say 4, 2, Now say, 6, 4, 1."

No, gentle reader, the scene is not in one of Chicago's kindergarten schools.

The local is the psychopathic hospital, where Chicago's battling gangsters and gunmen are being given mental tests.

Of more than a score of men examined, many, according to the officials conducting the tests, have been found deficient, several "had the minds of children" and one was held for a sanity hearing.

The questions given the gunmen are from the considered guide for the Stanford revision of the Binet-Simon intelligence tests, written by Lewis M. Terman, professor of education at Stanford university, California.

In spite of the simplicity of the queries several of those examined were confused and failed to answer quickly and accurately. Other of the "simple" questions asked are: "Can you say 'nice kitty?'" "Now say 'I have a little dog.'" "What ought to do when you are cold?" "What ought you do when you are hungry?"

The gunmen also are given blocks of wood and asked to tell quickly which of the blocks are heaviest. They are shown four pennies in a row and told to count them. They are then asked to point out and are given credits for correct count, tallying with pointing.

Advanced Tests
In more advanced tests some of the questions given are: "Name the days of the week." "What day comes before Tuesday?" "What is the difference between a fly and a butterfly?" "Count backwards from twenty to one."

"What is a balloon, a tiger, a soldier, a football?" "What do you call a piece of money?" "Still further advanced questions, representing early high school age, include: "There are three main differences between a king and a peasant; what are they?" "What is the difference between laziness and idleness?" "What is the difference between evolution and revolution?" "What is the difference between misery and poverty?"

In the advanced tests the gunmen are read passages from books and asked to repeat. They are read numbers and asked to repeat rapidly backwards.

Other Hard Tests
In other tests for supposedly advanced types, that is those believed normal, but who are asked to define such words as orange, bonfire, straw, roar, haste, affect, guitar, mallow, impolite, plumbing, and so on.

By International News Service... CAP GRIS NER, MILANO, Sept. 21.—After twenty years of experience, "Old Bill" Burgess, second man to swim the English Channel, has decided that he knows nothing about the freshwater waters between Cap Gris Ner and Dover.

"I started to swim the Channel only once said 'Old Bill,' recounting his experiences. 'I have trained scores of swimmers for the crossing. Few have succeeded. I hate going into the water now and avoid it when I can.'"

Burgess, a busy training the American Zigzag swimmer, who, he believes, have the three qualifications for success: money, a proper boat and pilot and the right temperament. The fourth essential, good weather, he hopes to choose.

DAYTONA BEACH BANK'S AFFAIRS TO BE PROBED

Grand Jury To Begin Investigation In November, Avers State's Attorney Scarlett

DAYTONA BEACH, Sept. 21.—The sordid story of the tangled affairs of the East Coast Bank & Trust Company and the American Bank & Trust Company will be presented to the Volusia grand jury at its first session in November. Assurances that the bank cases would be placed before the grand jury were given today by Joseph A. Scarlett, state's attorney.

"I want to say that the affairs of the East Coast and American banks of Daytona Beach have been investigated, and being investigated will continue to be investigated, and that the whole story will be placed before the grand jury just as soon as it convenes for its November session," Mr. Scarlett said.

Mr. Scarlett's promises of action in the bank cases will probably mean that depositors of the bank who have been planning organized effort to bring about criminal prosecution, will await developments of the grand jury probe. Mr. Scarlett, in his capacity as state's attorney is the properly authorized official to initiate criminal proceedings against former officers of the banks and it is believed that those who have interested themselves in the movement to force criminal action will give Mr. Scarlett's office whole-hearted support. Should the grand jury fail to return indictments it is expected that other legal methods will be restored to in an effort to bring the alleged bank wreckers before a criminal court.

A Federal Probe
 C. incident with the announcement by Mr. Scarlett is the report from authentic sources that

TO GIVE COURTESY CARDS

ORLANDO, Fla., Sept. 21.(INS) "Courtesy Cards," exempting out-of-town visitors to Orlando from arrest for violation of parking rules in the business district, and permitting parking for ten hours consecutively will be issued during this by Chief of Police H. F. Baker. The police department will within the next two weeks send a registration automobile to every city in a radius of sixty miles of Orlando to give the cards. Plans have been made to issue the tags later on at the police station.

BIG CITRUS YEAR

ORLANDO, Fla., Sept. 21.(INS) The most prosperous citrus year in Florida's history has been predicted for 1927-28 by Frank L. Skelly, official of the American Fruit Growers here.

Dr. J. A. Van Valzah left Daytona Beach today for Washington, D. C., where he will present to federal authorities certain letters and other evidence which is understood to be claims made by officials of the East Coast Bank & Trust Company used the United States mails to defraud. It is claimed that statements were sent out by bank officials making fraudulent representations which induced many persons to buy stock in the bank or to convert certificates of deposits into what virtually amounted to bank stock. It is not known, of course, whether the postal authorities will make an investigation of the case or not. If they are convinced that the mails have been used to defraud the public it is practically certain that a federal probe will be instigated.

Both Parties Have Stormy Times Ahead In Selecting Nominees For 1928 Election

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21.—Stormy times lie ahead both for the Republicans and the Democrats when they get around to picking presidential nominees next year.

President Coolidge's "do not choose" statement let down the bars for a host of candidates, and the Republicans are running around in circles in their efforts to determine upon a successor. New candidates are advanced also every day. This situation probably will continue right up to the convention.

The Democrats field also is wide open, now that William Gibbs McAdoo has taken himself out of the race.

There is no doubt that Governor Al Smith of New York will go into the convention with a greater number of votes than any other candidate. His opponents admit he will have at least 350 delegates, but his friends average that the figure will be nearer 450 votes, nearly half of the convention. This means then that the fight in 1928 will be Al Smith against the field. The field will be divided this time, instead of being aligned behind McAdoo as in 1924. Smith will benefit greatly by this.

Smith's opponents are urging Democratic state leaders to send favorite sons or uninstructed delegations to the convention. They want to be in a strategic position to maneuver their forces for the battle against the New York Governor.

No one here believes that Al Smith will withdraw from the race as is being suggested by southern Democrats in the interest of harmony and new leadership in the party. Smith has never said he was a candidate and everything that is being done for him is being done by friends without any public approval from him.

Smith, however, may be forced into the open after the meeting in Ogden, Utah, this Friday and Saturday of his adherents in a dozen states. Fred W. Johnson, a wet lawyer of Rock Springs, Wyoming, and Joseph Chez of Ogden, who is voluntarily looking out for the Smith interests in the far west, arranged the conference. Leaders here said Tamany took no initiative in summoning the meeting.

Indications are that the final choice of the McAdoo people will be a fry from the west. This faction maintains that the Democrats must have an alignment of the West and South if they are to beat the Republicans. They will make much of agricultural distress, and the refusal of the Coolidge administration to help the farmers. The week-end boom of McAdoo's friends were almost entirely in the middle west. They included:

Evans Woolen of Indiana, who was defeated for the Senate last time; E. T. Meredith of Iowa, secretary of agriculture in the Wilson cabinet; Governor Dan Moody of Texas; Governor Donahue of Ohio; and Senator Walsh of Montana.

It was even said that McAdoo might support Senator Reed of Missouri, but this was given little weight as Reed is as wet as Smith, and furthermore, he is an opponent of the Wilson-Dryan international policies.

Friends of all these withdrew aid their candidacies. That may be true. It is certain that McAdoo's ardent support has opened the race to a big field which will be out to beat the odds—on favor, Al Smith.

Accused

Lorena Trickery, one of the best-known cowgirls of the west, is held at Lake View, Ore., to await grand jury action in connection with the death of her cowboy husband, "Slim" Harris. Harris was stabbed to death while he and his wife were outing; the knife has been identified as one she bought a few days before.

Juvenile Bathing Beauties

Low Wentz, multi-millionaire oil operator of Ponca City, Okla., has started an annual bathing beauty contest for young ladies under five—and he's shown here with the prize winners in this year's contest. Holding the cup is Juanita Georgia Jones; seated is Angelina Jane Hardy.

"Shorts" are being favored by women in both the glove silk blouse with a yoke and the little yoked flaring panties that end midway to the knee.

Striking is a hand-blocked linen jacket suit in a cherry pattern in red and white with a red silk blouse.

Short little panties, of pastel colored silk, linen or silk, or of fancy figured material, gather into a yoke that fits snugly over the hips, buttoning on the side.

Rubbed-in patterns in colorful animated prints, will be good for beach coats and caps this summer.

The vogue for massive jewelry reaches the peak. A distinguished woman wore a huge pair of Russian gypsy earrings that almost reached her shoulders.
