Herring's Letter Blisters Vihlen

Dangers To Life, Property Told

By CHRIS NELSON
Herald Staff Writer

Seminole County Commissioners and staff today poured over details submitted at their request from the State Attorney Abbott Herring's office on allegations of dangers to life and property stemming from Herring's probe into the building department and the electrical review board.

Herring said he and the grand jury, in the nine other instances specified by his covering letter and the transcripts, based their remarks solely on sworn testimony from past or present building department employees.

"I think it is one of the finest editorials that was ever written as it makes you proud to be an American. I want you to read this editorial two or three times, and then publish it in your paper when you have the space. If you and the news media would forget the Watergate deal and realize the political honeymoon is over, and publish constructive news, it would have a great effect in uniting this country of ours."

The letter was signed by Floyd Palmer. We will print the editorial. However, it depends on what one calls constructive. If all of the dirty lies from Watergate produces a better country by removing the crooks from government, how much more "constructive" can one get?

Challenged by commissions for specific instances of danger to life and property, Herring said his office personally inspected only one project — Shadowwood Village, a residential cluster in The Springs, outside of Leesville on SR 44.

Other specific locations detailed in the transcripts, and included in a list attached to Herring's letter, are: a private residence in Sweetwater Oaks, English Woods, Sterling Park, Mayberry Club on Lake Howell, Green Meadow Apts., Cherry Wood Apts., Stebbins School of Dance, Fair Lanes Bowling Lanes, and the Sportsman's Den night club, outside Casselberry.

The Sportsman's Den was hit by a fire six months ago which, sources say, was caused by electrical problems.

Ms. Dando noted in order to challenge state election laws requiring qualifying fees.

Paulette Dando, 31, employed as a laboratory technician with the county's pollution control office, said, "I intend to qualify for the office one way or another. If my court action is not successful, I will try the petition route and if not successful there, I will borrow the money and qualify."

She insisted the requirement that those who do not pay the qualifying fee must gather signatures carrying one per cent of the registered voters is equally prohibitive.

Ms. Dando noted in order to challenge the courts.

gather the 1,400 signatures she would have to acquire a voters' list which costs more than $400.

According to supervisor of Elections Camille Bruce, one may look at the voter rolls, but may not copy any information.

A voters' list can be purchased, however, for one cent per name.

"I sincerely feel any governing body that has to make decisions affecting large numbers of people, cannot make unbiased decisions as long as its membership is limited," she said.

Ms. Dando said with only the financially well-off and those with vested interests able to qualify because of high fees, types of candidates are limited.

"I have made reference to page numbers of sworn testimony dealing with specific locations where fire hazards and unsafe conditions exist," the letter reads, continuing "I am sure you can appreciate the fact that this testimony deals with the tip of the iceberg and not a complete coverage of the problem area."

A quick reading of portions of the transcripts, particularly that of building inspector Douglas Kerr, confirms the debate held several weeks ago when the commission, the inspectors, the review board and the uniform code committee, in which sloppy building practices were more the cause of inspector's displeasure than were outright violations of the electrical code.

Commission Vice Chairman John Kimbrough, whose Nov. 6 letter to Herring requesting details prompted Friday's release, said he and the commission were not interested in squabbling with Herring, but identifying hazardous conditions, if any, and correcting them.

Kimbrough said he will recommend the commission hire an outside expert to accompany a county inspector to each of the sites listed for an unbiased opinion on what violations exist, and what precautions can be taken.

Herring, in his letter, says that Fulewider and then-electrical inspector Will LaPointe visited and photographed Shadowwood Village, and confronted the foreman with "photographs of violations of the code."

"The electrical foreman on this job admitted to the violations, but he said 'this is the way we have always done it.' You saw these photographs on September 25, 1973," the letter reads.

Herring's reference to the September meeting was to a verbal briefing he gave Vihlen and Marsos of the details of the report submitted in writing Friday afternoon.

Vihlen, who previously gave 9, 1973.

negotiators, who had continued contract talks through the night. Sources said final contract language was being worked out as the 10 a.m. deadline passed.

"Yes, there's been a settlement," said Dallas Sells, UAW regional director in Indianapolis. "We just got a call, but we don't have any details of the settlement."

The agreement would complete national bargaining with the three major automakers. Agreements were reached earlier with Chrysler and Ford.

Tony Zone, president of Local 1112 at the GM Veep plant in Lordstown, Ohio, said he received word of the settlement at 8:15 a.m. EST, less than two hours before the contract was to expire.

Negotiations continued through the night in an effort to reach agreement before 10 a.m., when a series of "ministrikes" against individual GM plants was expected to begin.

No details of the reported settlement were available immediately. The UAW represents 415,000 GM workers.

A spokesman for the union at the Lordstown plant, one of those listed to be hit with a "ministrike," reported earlier that the local had been told to "hold tight" while talks continued here in the early morning hours.

The union has said there will be no national strike.

Sanford Mother Of 4 Challenges Election Law

Retirees Face Park Eviction

By JEAN PATTESON
Herald Staff Writer

Residents of the Seminole Trailer Park in Fern Park met this morning to hear assurances from Michael Alexatos, trustee for the new owners who purchased the park Nov. 1 for $500,000 that residents will not have to move from the park for at least 15 months.

In a letter mailed to all residents shortly after the sale, Alexatos told residents former owner and manager of the park, Ed Flower, would continue as manager for at least one year. Alexatos said the owners did not anticipate any changes in management for at least one year, and in the event of any change they would receive a minimum of 90 days notice.

He told them under no circumstances would there be any change in the property's status as a park prior to 1975. He said he could give no assurances the property would remain a park after '75.

Residents were informed their rent would be raised to $50 a month, and Alexatos said this morning he hoped the rent would not have to be raised "too much more" during the coming year.

There is great consternation among the residents, all of whom are retired, as to where they will go should the park close after that time.

There are few trailer parks in Seminole and Orange counties which will accept trailers over two years old, and the resale value on used trailers is low.

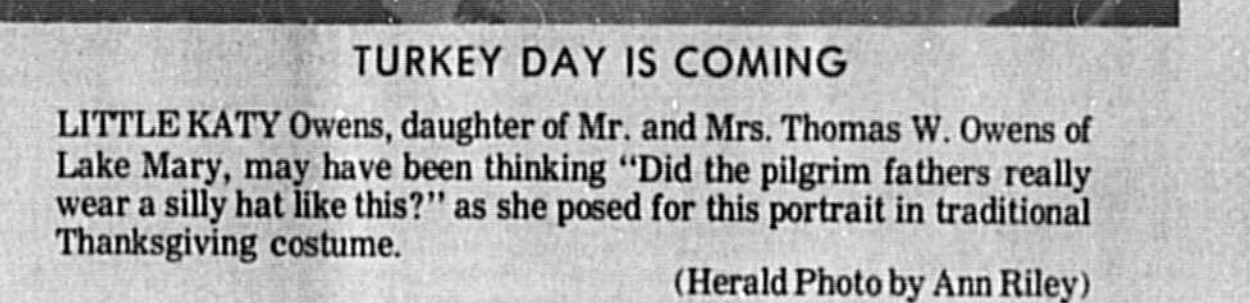

Flower said the few parks in Seminole county which will take older trailers do not cater for his type of older and retired clients.

"There are parks, but who wants to live in them," commented one resident. Another said he has been to every park in the county but no one will offer him even $2,500 for the trailer he purchased new for $2,500 six years ago.

Flower said the refusal of the Seminole County Commissioners to rezone land for new trailer parks was to blame for the problem facing Seminole Park residents.

"There's a bunch of men on the Commission who don't care what happens to you. They think you're trash, and I'm at the bottom of the barrel because I run this place," Flower told residents today.

Flower said he would do everything in his power to help relocate those persons who want to move to different parks. He said he would waive his usual five per cent fee to help persons who want to sell their homes and dispose of their trailers.

Not Anxious For Change

Democrats Need Richard Nixon

By JOHN PINKERMAN
Editor, Copley News Service

Despite lots of noise to the contrary, hard-nosed professional Democratic politicians do not want President Nixon to resign, nor do they wish to convict him in an impeachment proceeding. The current situation is just right for Democrats looking forward to 1976 elections and they want to keep it that way. The President, however, may be personally, is presiding over a scandal-racked administration. This makes him a ready and constant target, a visible reminder to the American public that come 1976 it will be proper to "chase the rascals out." His foes would much prefer him to stay in the White House as a living symbol of GOP corruption.

Their thinking might be compared to that of ex-Nixon confidante John Ehrlichman concerning L. Patrick Gray, briefly FBI director and a tragic victim of Watergate. Ehrlichman's brutal verdict on whether to help Gray was, "We ought to let him hang there, let him twist slowly, slowly in the wind."

Should Mr. Nixon resign or be "fired" in an impeachment trial the Democrats will lose their whipping boy. The succession of Gerald Ford to the presidency would be in the nature of a cleaning process and the Republicans, in a sense, would be out from under. This reaction already has occurred in the resignation of former Vice President Spiro Agnew. He was in much worse shape than Mr. Nixon is. He was sentenced in court as a felon, but he has disappeared from the scene, already almost forgotten.

Other Thoughts

A recent, loose reference to a "Yankee dime" really doesn't mean a "Nixon penny." A "Yankee dime," once viable in Eastern Carolina, meant a kiss. Apparently, the initial phrase, and one of Southern origin, meant "payment in full with a kiss."

and no longer a politically alive blot on the GOP. Additionally, the removal of Mr. Nixon would propel Ford into the highest office, and this is the last thing Democrats planning for '76 would want. Ford has been called a lightweight and he has been criticized as not being of presidential timber. However, he comes forth as a Mr. Clean, a decent man with the human frailties that appeal to Americans who are becoming more than a little bit suspicious of the clever politician.

American Energy Has A Goal

The energy crisis which first emerged two years ago as a distant threat to the United States of America has now leaped directly into our lives. The fuel shortage described by President Nixon in his report to the nation is an acute and immediate problem. The Middle East war has robbed us of the luxury of time in planning ways to match our consumption of energy with the resources at hand to supply it. Our energy use must be cut right now.

As Mr. Nixon pointed out, we can get through the coming winter without actually suffering from the curtailment of oil shipments from the Arab states if we are willing to make sacrifices. Those he outlined—cooler homes, slower speeds on freeways, less outdoor lighting and others—could have sufficient impact on our limited energy consumption to keep the fuel crisis from cutting into the productive muscle of our country.

The responsibility for making this conservation program work will involve state and local governments as well as Congress and the administration and ultimately will fall upon every American. The more we can voluntarily cut the "fat" consumption, the less necessary there will be for draconian measures at the government level. Failure of the program, as Mr. Nixon pointed out, would leave no

Irreverence Can Bring Anguish

It is with real anguish that I remember throwing out a basement full of Mason Jars.

As all collectors know, these are now desirable and valuable items, especially the blue tinted kind or the ones with bail handles.

Now that the nostalgia craze is upon us, I am forever being reminded of fortunes I dissipated due to lack of foresight. For example, the time my mother-in-law moved and offered me an attic's worth of tin tea canisters, nail-barrels, and wicker peacock chairs.

And I said, "No thanks."

Or the wedding ring quilt made by my grandmother that my kids used for a backyard tent.

Or the silver chain evening bag my mother tried to pass on, that we both agreed was hideously old-fashioned, and now see hanging in

Europe's press speaks out

Western European newspapers generally denounced the recent pro-Arab declaration by the nine foreign ministers of the European Common Market in reply to oil blackmail threats.

Words like "appeasement" were frequently used, and numerous papers compared the failure to rally to the support of Holland, the only European target so far of a total oil boycott, with the sellout to Hitler in 1938.

"Our leading politicians are prisoners of a Munich complex," said Gazet van Antwerpen of Belgium.

"The solidarity we show with Holland is like that with Czechoslovakia in 1938," said the French news magazine L'Express. "It is an economic Munich."

"One can compare Israel to Czechoslovakia," agreed L'Aurore of Paris. "For the governments of Europe, the existence of a little country is a question of central heating."

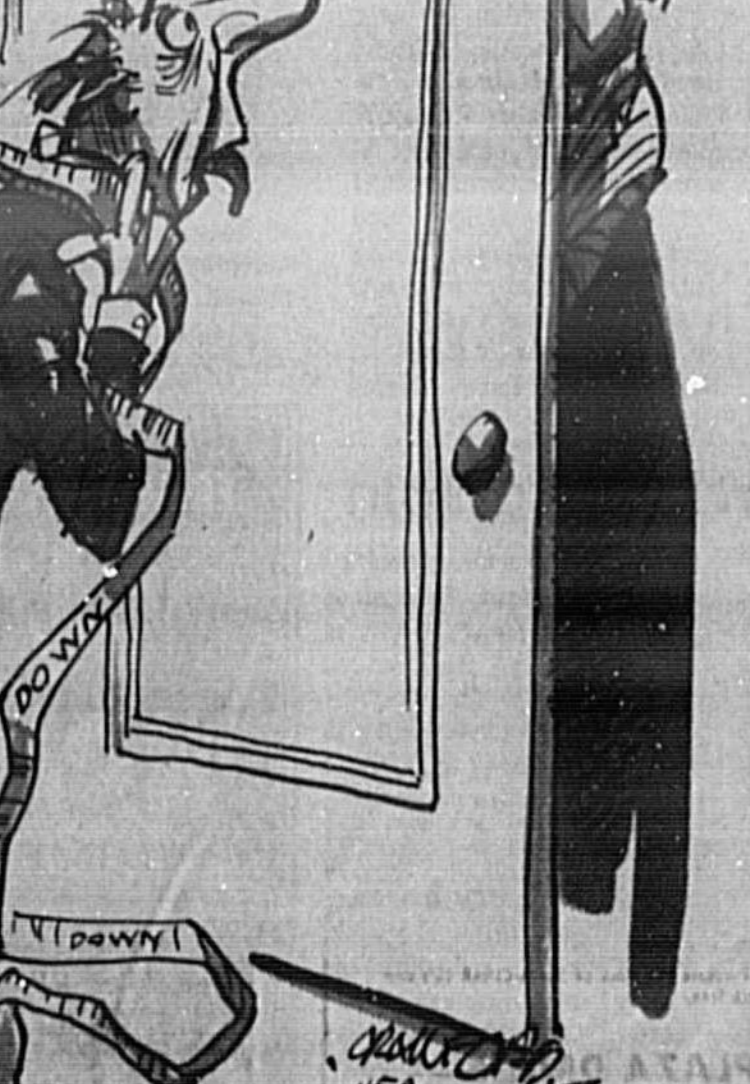

"There is not much reason to think that the Arabs can be so easily appeased," said the more reserved Times of London.

The British Financial Times labeled the declaration, which condemned the "acquisition of territory by force" and urged Israel to withdraw, as "appeasing the Arabs." It would be surprising, it added, if the Arabs did not ask for more.

At least the press of Western Europe is alive and well, even if that area's governments exhibit a disturbing deficiency of backbone—and inability to remember their own history.

president. He is popular, however, and he makes friends easily and he inspires trust among those who know him intimately and those he meets for the first time. He would enjoy the same "honeymoon" that any vice president is accorded when he takes over the awesome responsibilities of the presidency in an emergency. Harry Truman had full support of the nation when Franklin Roosevelt died. Lyndon Johnson enjoyed a brief honeymoon when he succeeded John F. Kennedy after the assassination.

President has posed for the ahead, and meeting the longer-American people is actually a range energy crisis that was due one—squeezing through clearly visible even before the the fuel shortage immediately Arab boycott on oil.

"We're having tape troubles, too!"

Person with no reverence for tradition, that is.

It is not only the family treasures that I regret parting with. It's the other stuff that I once possessed and highly disposed of. Like my Capt. Midnight Secret Decoder Ring, for instance. My Shirley Temple doll. My Wonder Woman comic books.

But I've learned. Not only is my house crammed with all the junky, rickety old furniture I can get my hands on, it is also cluttered with nine years of Playboy, a complete set of Nancy Drew, a doll collection ranging from Barbie to Cherilyn Tearful and a slew of Peter Max posters.

Pessimistically though, I feel sure these are not the objects the "in sets" will be craving 20 years hence. No. The big thing will probably be the Smiley pins my daughter pronounced passee and threw out yesterday.

Soviets pick up Mideast marbles

The preliminary peace agreement negotiated between Egypt and Israel through the good offices of Secretary of State Henry Kissinger may turn out to be a triumph for American diplomacy. As of now, however, the U.S.S.R. looks like the only gainer from the latest Middle East conflict.

The Soviet Union, claims Aviation Week & Space Technology magazine, "is on the verge of completing a successful power play that will gain all of the Middle Eastern objectives it has sought during the past five years."

Even though Russian-equipped Arab armies failed to defeat Israel on the battlefield, writes editor Robert Hutz, their initial success and the length of the conflict now make it possible for the Soviets to achieve the goals that have consistently eluded them in this area. These include:

- Opening the Suez Canal to the Soviet fleet to provide easy access to its new Indian Ocean base complex where it can sit astride the Persian Gulf tanker routes to Europe, Japan and the United States.
- Mobilizing the Arab oil boycott against Western Europe and demonstrating how control of this oil flow to Europe can be used to impose political policy changes on Western Europe.
- Driving a wedge into NATO between Europe and the United States. Major NATO nations withheld support from the U.S. in its efforts to supply Israel — except for Portugal — even denying landing and fueling rights to U.S. planes on NATO airfields.
- Re-establishing a strong Soviet military presence in the Arab countries from which the Russians had been expelled several years ago. Moscow is again dictating Arab strategy, says the magazine.
- If this is "detente," bring back the Cold War.

President Wastes Fuel

by Jack Anderson
Copyright, 1973 by United Feature Syndicate, Inc.

WASHINGTON — To save critical fuel, President Nixon has called upon his fellow Americans to turn down their thermostats. "That means in this room, too," he said solemnly.

He also cut back the allocations of jet fuel for aircraft and asked government agencies to reduce highway speeds to 50 miles per hour. Afterwards, he showed up late for a dinner honoring his wife Pat and cracked: "I'm sorry I'm late. I could drive only 50 miles an hour."

The truth is that the President and his aides haven't been practicing the austerity they have been preaching. He drafted his public appeal in balmy Key Biscayne, Fla., where the warm sun kept his temperatures comfortable. His luxury jet burned 8,000 gallons of fuel to make the round trip.

The following weekend, he helicoptered to his Camp David retreat, which is only about an hour from the White House at 50 miles per hour. The round trip took an estimated 140 gallons of fuel.

Not has the military curtailed personalized worldwide flight service for junketing congressmen and other assorted VIPs. Three days after the President's TV appeal to save fuel, the Army ferried a plane load of congressmen and military officers to West Point for the Army-Miami University football game.

Throughout the government, indeed, the bureaucrats are burning more gas than ever. Government automobiles burned 34 million more gallons of gasoline in 1973 than in 1972. And despite the oil squeeze, the projected increase for 1974 is an additional 30 million-gallon increase.

Down the line, the bureaucrats apparently take their example from the President who has his own fleet of five jetliners, 15 helicopters, 11 Jetstars, 23 limousines and a yacht.

Technically, the aircraft are owned by the military which has asked Congress for money to buy 17 new choppers to replace those now in use. Two more jumbo communications planes are also being outfitted and the White House is shopping for four more medium-range jets.

Dog Must Share
He has made one concession to the fuel pinch, according to our White House sources. His Irish Setter, King Timahoe, who is a difficult helicopter passenger, used to follow the President to Camp David in solitary splendor in the back seat of a chauffeur-driven limousine. Now the dog must share his limousine with low-ranking White House aides.

For a man who has devoted a lifetime to arriving to reach the White House, Richard Nixon spends less time there than any past president. But a spokesman told us the President has no plans to curtail his travel.

The men around the President have also displayed little spirit of sacrifice. Rieher, car John Love, who wants his fellow citizens to drive slower and drive less, is whisked around Washington in a Chrysler New Yorker from the White House motor pool. His chauffeur picks him up at his home in the mornings and deposits him at his doorstep at night.

Interior Secretary Rogers C. B. Morton declared on national television that "energy has been too cheap" in the United States. Gasoline is $1.35 a gallon in Italy, he remarked, in an obvious hint that American motorists should be paying more for their gas.

His Gas Paid For
The taxpayers, of course, pay for Morton's gasoline. As a concession, he has given up his White House Chrysler and now gets around in a government-owned Plymouth chauffeur-driven, of course.

When he flies, the six-foot-seven-inch Morton goes first class, courtesy of the taxpayers — because he is too

Test Flights
When the President isn't using his personal air force, the planes are routinely taken aloft for test flights so they will also be in top condition when he calls. Usually, a back-up plane and a press plane accompany the President on all major flights, carrying everything from the hot line phone to the First Lady's hairdresser.

These Boeing 707 jetliners each consume about 2,000 gallons of fuel per hour. A round-trip to San Clemente, in other words, uses up 20,000 gallons. If all three presidential planes make the flight, as they normally do, the fuel consumption adds up to a staggering 60,000 gallons every time the President decides to spend a few days at San Clemente.

Meanwhile, Nixon has lowered the temperature at the White House — where his staff works while he is at San Clemente or Key Biscayne.

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — A gular-playing, 2,000 pound elephant seal named "El Google" and "Shamu," a two-ton, trained killer whale, were among 45 marine animals airlifted aboard a flying ark Sunday to Sea World of Florida.

Editors Hear Baker

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — U.S. Senator Howard Baker, R-Tenn., was to appear at the Associated Press Managing Editors' Convention today following President Nixon's charge before the group that Senate Watergate Committee hearings have destroyed the reputations of his former top aides.

Baker, vice chairman of the committee, was to highlight "Watergate Day" of symposiums at the Disney World convention of some 400 editors.

The ranking Republican on the Watergate Committee, Baker was expected to be questioned by President Nixon's critical comment, which occurred during a question and answer session with the newsmen Saturday night.

Nixon was asked whether he still believed former aides H.R. Haldeman and John Ehrlichman were guiltless in the Watergate affair.

The President replied that he thought the two would "come out all right" when all the facts were known.

But then he added that "probably does not make any difference, unfortunately, whether the grand jury indicts them or not, because, unfortunately, they have already been convicted in the minds of millions of Americans by what happened before a Senate committee."

The "Watergate Day" program also was to include a panel discussion by editors and reporters from the Washington Post, which helped break the Watergate cover-up story, and other sessions on press treatment of the scandal.

Algae Contaminate Gulf Coast Shellfish

SARASOTA, Fla. (AP) — Several dozen small helicopters are being used along a 65-mile stretch of Florida's southern Gulf Coast to warn people not to eat shellfish.

Health officials began using the warning system Sunday after a 10-year-old boy was hospitalized in critical condition when he ate clams contaminated with red tide algae.

Dr. John McGarry, director of the Sarasota County Health Department, said a ban on all shellfish harvesting is in effect from Boca Grande Island near Fort Charlotte to Mullet Key, north of Bradenton.

"We don't want to cause any panic, because this is the first case of its kind we've had here in eight years," McGarry said. "But we want to warn people in the strongest terms against collecting shellfish."

What we learned from the experts on caring for your electric range and oven.

Here's some of what we learned.

1. Keep the range drip pans clean and free of grease. Remove them and wash with soap and water. Grease may drip on the electric wires near the drip pans, causing them to short out and burn up.
2. Lining your drip pans with aluminum foil could be dangerous. Foil can come in contact with electrical wires and give you a shock.
3. Never use aluminum foil on the bottom of the oven. You could block circulation of air causing the oven to build up too much heat and ruin the heating element.
4. Protect oven doors from breaking. Don't rest heavy pans on them. Rather, rest pans on the oven rack, pulled out halfway and safely locked into position.
5. Wipe up oven spills immediately. Keeping your oven clean helps prevent smoking and fires.
6. Keep oven cleaner off the gasket door seal and the aluminum trim. It deteriorates the gasket, wasting heat and electricity. And removes the anodized finish of the aluminum trim.

Sports Spotlight

By J. Richards
Herald Sports Editor

You think it's all on merit alone, just as it should be. This is a real situation for Theodore White. Let's call it "Selling Of The Heisman — 1973."

We all know about it. It's on TV with innumerable references to both its monetary value at contract time and its seeming paradoxical quality of turning gold into lead come gametime. The Heisman Trophy. It's the Cy Young Award, the Masters and the Empire State Building all rolled into one, and more people talk about it from now than its presentation date than almost anything else (gas, war and Watergate excluded). We know the rules, both written and unwritten.

Strange Rules

Mostly, they are: quarterbacks and halfbacks only, married, white and with a good television personality. One of the most vital statistics is television appearances, contrary to rushing, passing, tackling or intercepting (the last two items are thrown in if someone still harbors the illusion linemen and defensive players are still considered.)

Heisman talk begins long before the general public is ever aware of it. It usually starts sometime just before the winner's name is announced for this year and doesn't limit the subject matter to just one year ahead of schedule. For a genuine candidate to have a real shot, his school's SID (Sports Information Director) is usually "talking him up" during his sophomore year.

If you've ever read Mr. Whities' famous President books you're sure to appreciate the continuing drama of this "best seller."

Best Seller is what it is all right. The award should be returned to be awarded to the best offensive back and the best punting man in the country. Give two trophies, one with a football and helmet, and the other with a typewriter and martini glass and that would solve a lot of problems.

Trying to pick a "best" at anything when so many people are involved in it is sheer suicide. It ranks on the order of placing Notre Dame or USC ahead of Alabama.

Jealousy Prevails

Oh, yes, another rule is: each section of the country will jealously guard its inherent right to ignore likely candidates who do not come from their own regions. That's to sustain the myth the East plays better than the West, the Southeast better than the Southwest, and everyone agrees the Midwest doesn't play football, just runs a lot, and scores 70 points a game. No one, it seems, ever thought football is just played differently in different parts of the country.

So, like its "real world" political vice, presidential counterpart, the Heisman winner is more often than not a compromise. "You vote for my man to keep their man out of it," isn't that far out of the realm of reality?

Maybe, not only to sustain the suspense, but also to make more money for the public relations people who get involved in such things, we'll soon have "Runoff" Heismans, with each region getting its "champion." Heisman winner will be judged for the last award. Sort of a "Super-Bowl" Heisman, if you will.

The Heisman conveniently ignores such men as centers, guards, tackles and ends, as well as their defensive opposites. It's as if only robots exist on that order, and, you know, linemen can't sell shave cream over TV anyway.

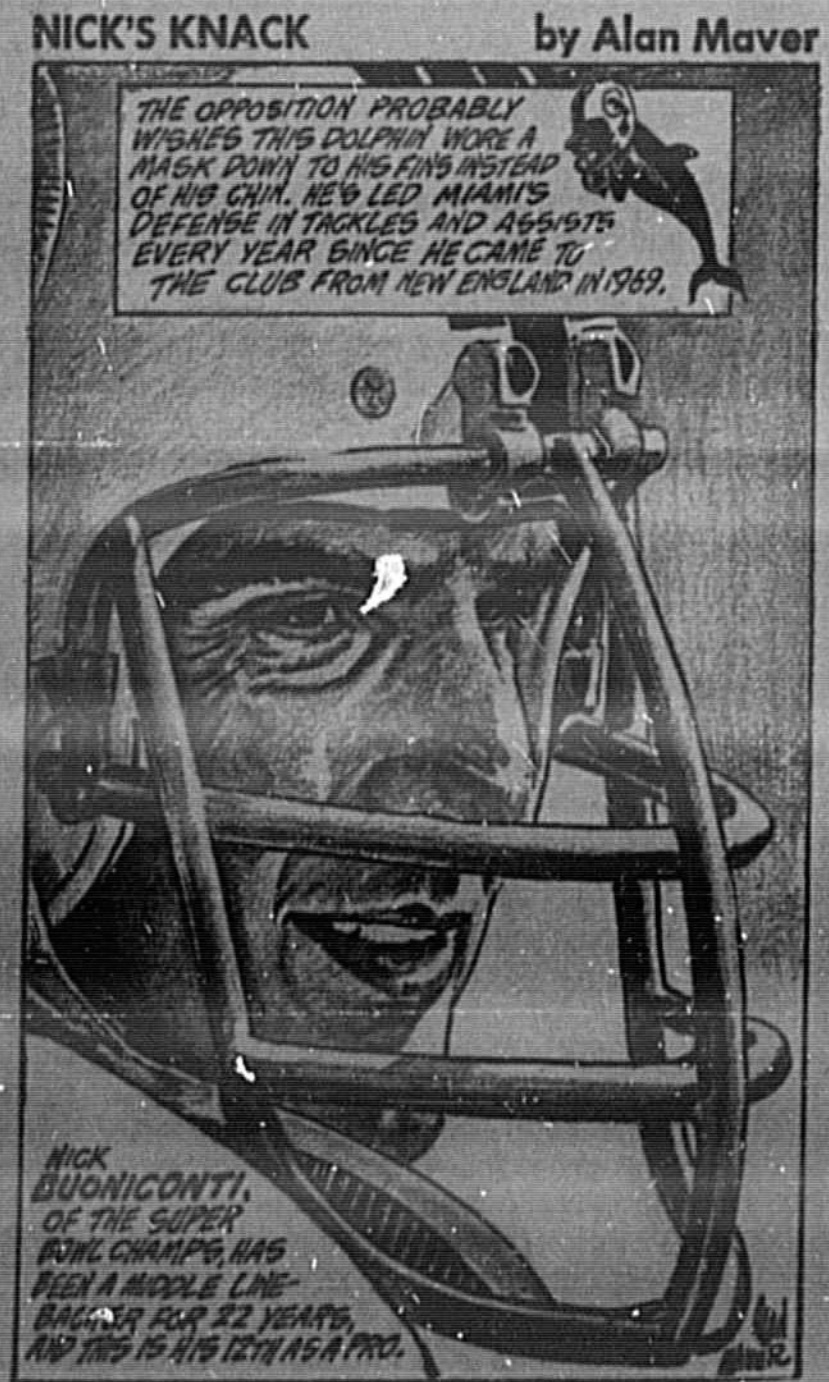

The Heisman winner makes more money at contract time, the school gets more "clout" with its recruiting, the pro team can use his name to lure in more season tickets and, perhaps best of all, the television sports commentators have something else to talk about during all those boring breaks in the play, and sometimes boring play.

Especially if your man didn't get it, highly over-rated and the cause of more columns in sports pages throughout the country than just about anything else, with the exception of Russian basketball and blind olympic referees.

Right Perspective

This isn't to say, recognition for superior performances should be cut out across the board. Quite the contrary, let's recognize the outstanding athletes who weekie take up so much of our time and interest during the football season, but don't over do it. Laurels traditionally are awarded the winner, not his public relations man.

Down through the ages we have lauded our athletes in the western world, and that is as it should be, but only partly so. The ancient Greeks, from whom we take this tradition thought a perfectly conditioned body was nothing without an equally conditioned mind. Of course, today's pro-gridder or pro-anything for that matter is hardly a dummy. There's just too much for him to learn to stay on top of the sports picture, but, as old friend Howard says, "It just isn't in the right perspective, Danderoo."

What Did You Expect? Dolphins Clinch Playoffs... Again

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

Mercy Morris smiled when somebody mentioned the fact that Miami's defending Super Bowl champions had clinched a National Football League playoff berth.

"What did you expect?" asked Morris. "That's what we're supposed to do."

Winning has become a way of life for the Dolphins. They are 9-1 this season following Sunday's methodical 17-0 victory over Buffalo, their second straight shutout. Over two seasons, their log reads 25-1.

Morris, who gained 73 yards against the Bills, looked at his 1973 championship ring. "This is what we're after again," he said. "Today was just one more to getting another one of these."

There are other teams with Super Bowl ambitions too and Sunday was a good day for some of them but not so good for others. Washington maintained its piece of first place in the National Conference East, defeating stubborn Baltimore 22-11 while Dallas was pounding Philadelphia 31-10.

Kansas City took over first place in the American Conference West, ripping Houston 33-14 while Cleveland was knocking off Oakland 7-0 and dropping the Raiders into third place. Denver edged into second place just one-half game back, stunning Pittsburgh's AFC Central leaders 23-13.

Los Angeles protected its lead in the NFL West, beating San Francisco 31-13 to open a 14-game margin over Atlanta which hosts unbeaten Minnesota tonight.

Elsewhere, New England slugged Green Bay 33-24, the New York Giants overtook St. Louis 24-13, Cincinnati topped the New York Jets 20-14, Detroit thumped Chicago 30-7 and San Diego took New Orleans 17-14.

Buffalo ran up some impressive individual statistics against Miami with O.J. Simpson rushing for 120 yards and Jim Braxton getting 119. But they pay off on points and the Bills went nowhere in that department against the Dolphins' defense.

Simpson shrugged off the yardage that pushed his 10-game total to 1,323... 540 yards short of Jim Brown's all-time pro record with four games to go. "This was another game," said

Simpson, "and what was important was that we lost it."

What was important to Kansas City's Chiefs was their victory over Houston and Cleveland's stunner over Oakland and the combination moved KC into first place in the AFC West and plummeted the Raiders to third.

Mike Livingston tossed two TD passes and scored another, putting the Chiefs to a third straight victory since taking over for injured Len Dawson. Asked if the youngster might now be the Chiefs' No. 1 quarterback, Coach Hank Stram said: "Until Livingston proves otherwise, there's no question about it."

Oakland coped by bowing to Cleveland with the Browns scoring on Mike Phipps' seven-yard pass to Fair Hooter in the first half and then finishing the narrow lead stand up the rest of the way.

The victory moved the Browns to within 1 1/2 games of Pittsburgh in the AFC Central after the Steelers were defeated by Denver. Cleveland plays Pittsburgh next week.

Jim Turner kicked three field goals, the last one a 42-yard tikebreaker that ticked the crossbar on the way over.

Largo 'Runs Away' With State CC Title

By JOHN CHERWA
Herald Correspondent

Largo High School literally ran away with the class Four-A cross country title Saturday on the "Whispering Hills" Golf Course in Titusville.

Despite the excellent performance of Largo the main topic of conversation dealt with finding a new system of choosing the teams eligible to compete.

Most of the coaches in attendance were dismayed at the size of the pack competing. There were numerous complaints that the course was too small for the size of the group running, and there was speculation future state meets will have to be preceded by a regional playoff to cut the field down to a reasonable size, from the 39 schools competing.

While Largo was raising quite a few local district titles, well local district teams, Winter Park, Evans and Lyman were having a rough go of it.

The defending state champion Wildcats finished 10th with 365 team points. Daytona Seabreeze was 14th finishing with 399. Metro school Evans was 21st and Seminole County through Longwood Lyman placed 25th.

For the newly crowned champion Largo squad 54 team points was enough. South Plantation took second with 97 followed by Tampa Chamberlain at 134. Other top ten schools were John Leonard, 4th; Brandon, 5th; Fort Lauderdale Nova, 6th; Miami Southwest, 7th; Coconut Creek, 8th; Twin Lakes, 9th; and Jacksonville Edward White finished 10th.

Capturing individual honors was Largo harrer Edward Palmer in a time of 12:11. South Plantation runner Stephen Biernacki took second nine seconds behind the pace. Third went to Terry Crews of Chamberlain.

The race strategy for the leaders was simple. Get in front as fast as possible because after 100 yards the course narrowed to five yards wide. The only way to advance there was either to go out of bounds or over the top, and both methods were illegal.

To illustrate the point 49th through 50th place all finished in the same time.

For the local Greyhounds Kenny Duncan took the top 5th spot. He finished the 2.5 mile course in 13:25, good enough for 51st position. Also finishing in a time of 13:25 was Mark Bousquet who was 58th. Despite the disappointing performance of this team Coach David Huggins termed the year as "good." He was pleased the Greyhounds accomplished their goal of going to state and definitely looks forward to the future as a majority of his team will not graduate this year.

The third high school finisher was Jim Donaldson in 14:51 just 35 seconds behind Duncan and Bousquet at 14:00. Donaldson also finished in a pack of runners.

Donaldson and Bousquet are both in their first year at Lyman with Bousquet hailing from Illinois and Donaldson from New York.

Jimmy Brinker was the next Greyhound to cross the line in 17:04 place. Dennis Burns was close behind in 18:01. The remaining Lyman harrier to complete the race was Jimmy Copeland who took 19th.

The likeable Irishman, a natural light heavy at 173 pounds, has been showing a total disregard for defense, and not enough offensive firepower to get away with it, especially against a heavyweight, fits the 190 pound Walker to a tee. I have seen him working in the gym and he is a real "bricklayer." His right hand is shot straight from the shoulder and usually follows right on the heels of a stiff left jab.

At the weigh-in Wednesday afternoon in a motel across the street from matchmaker Malcom Tait's Hungry Bear Restaurant, I spoke with Bill Gore about the McKinney fight and why he had accepted it. The octogenarian informed me that he had been led to believe that Walker was less than 175 pounds, and said if he wasn't that the fight would never take place.

Dickey Says Chances Slim For Gators To Get Bowl Bid

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (AP) — "I'm sure our players would be receptive to a bowl bid, but our chances are slim," Coach Doug Dickey of the Florida Gators said after a 20-18 victory over Kentucky.

"We have the state championship to play for now," Dickey added Sunday as Florida started preparations to play at Miami this week and finish at home Dec. 1 against Florida State.

The Gators' victory over Kentucky at homecoming Saturday was their third straight over a favored Southeastern Conference foe. The Florida record went to 5-4. And if Georgia loses to Georgia Tech on Dec. 1, Florida could get a Peach Bowl invitation.

Although Florida went into the fourth quarter with a 20-3 lead, its vaunted pass defense broke down under a desperate attack through the Florida's No. 2 quarterback, Ernie Lewis.

"Dickey and many Gator players agreed that Lewis was able to drive the previously puny Wildcat 88 yards for one touchdown and 45 for another, partly because Florida's defense went down."

Kentucky out-executed us on a few things and came up with two or three big plays on scrambles," Dickey said. "The Wildcats might have pulled out a victory if they had kicked a field goal after reaching the Florida's No. 2 in the closing seconds."

But Coach Fran Curci had no apologies for trying to get closer with another pass.

Wayne Fields intercepted and returned the Florida pass to the end zone, but Bethune bounced back into a 13-13 lead on the fourth field goal by Ernest Hendrix with 1:36 left to play.

Collins then ran 44 yards to clinch the triumph.

Season Showdowns Soon Most Bowl 'Goodies' Gone

By HERSHEL NISSENSON

The holiday week is here and most of the bowl goodies have been dispersed, but the country's top college football teams will have no picnic with the showdowns for the national championship about to reach epic proportions.

For holiday openers Thursday, fifth-ranked Notre Dame entertains the Air Force, followed by the Southeastern Conference' brohaha at Baton Rouge. La., between second-ranked Alabama and Louisiana State, seventh in The Associated Press ratings.

On Friday, third-ranked Oklahoma hosts No. 10 Nebraska with a chance to nail down the Big Eight crown. The Chicago Bulls have won 14 ballgames in 18 attempts this season and Coach Dick Motta thinks he knows why.

"Maybe we just have more desire than the other teams," said the fiery Motta. "We play very hard, we drive for loose balls, we just have more desire."

Motta's Bulls have more than their share of squeakers this National Basketball Association season and they pulled another one off Sunday night, edging the injured Detroit Pistons 104-102, proving Detroit Guard Van Lier sack was his replacement, freshman Ron Bass, the outcome might have been worse than the third highest point total ever scored on FSU and the second biggest margin of defeat.

Bass ran for 115 yards, including one yard for a touchdown and 51 yards to set up an offense that could move against the Gator defense, one of the toughest in the South. The FSU offense was stymied for three quarters by South Carolina, which has been the region's most porous defenses.

The Seminoles didn't get on the scoreboard until the fourth period Saturday and by then the game was out of reach. The game came on a pass by quarterback Billy Sexton, who will be ineligible against Florida, a member of the Southeastern Conference, because of his transfer from Alabama, also in the SEC.

Florida State did have 316 yards total offense, but the Gamecocks' defense has been giving up an average of 392 yards and 25 points a game.

"It was a terrible exhibition," said Seminole Coach Larry Jones. "It was the worst of the year." The injuries and inexperience have caught up with us."

The Seminoles should be thankful that South Carolina Coach Paul Dietzel was thinking ahead to Gamecock interstate rival Clemson next Saturday.

Dietzel said he held quarterback Jeff Grantz out of the game because doctors said that if he hurt his ankle again he would miss the Clemson contest.

"And everybody knows how important that game is," Dietzel said.

If Grantz had been any tougher on the Seminoles than

It Never Happened

One of the interesting sidelights to last Wednesday's triple-header at the Orlando Sports Stadium, are the facts about "The Fight That Never Happened."

"Iridi" Mike McKinney had been signed to meet Clint Walker in a six-rounder.

The signing caused a lot of eyebrows to be raised as it seemed a poor move on the part of McKinney's manager, Lou Viscusi, and his trainer, Bill Gore, two men who rarely make mistakes.

The likeable Irishman, a natural light heavy at 173 pounds, has been showing a total disregard for defense, and not enough offensive firepower to get away with it, especially against a heavyweight, fits the 190 pound Walker to a tee. I have seen him working in the gym and he is a real "bricklayer." His right hand is shot straight from the shoulder and usually follows right on the heels of a stiff left jab.

At the weigh-in Wednesday afternoon in a motel across the street from matchmaker Malcom Tait's Hungry Bear Restaurant, I spoke with Bill Gore about the McKinney fight and why he had accepted it. The octogenarian informed me that he had been led to believe that Walker was less than 175 pounds, and said if he wasn't that the fight would never take place.

20 Pounds More

True to his word Gore refused to allow his fighter to step into the ring with a man that outweighed him by almost 20 pounds.

It does my heart good to see McKinney's welfare and future came first ahead of the few dollars that could have been picked up, for in the truest sense it could have really been "blood money."

I am hopeful that McKinney will be fed a diet of heavy middleweights, the men that come in around 165 to 170. These fighters normally do not have the weight to be outstanding punchers, but they do have the hand speed to catch Mike often enough to make him realize that he has to start working on his defense.

Fistic Foresight

In last week's column I picked Quarty, Bugner, Pinesy, Licata and White to win their respective matches. I came out correct on all three Orlando bouts, just missing the 6th round K.O. of Ljody, I forecast his stoppage in five.

Over a Merry Old England 11 split even, dropping the Quarty contest while scoring with Bigger over Mac Foster on a 10-9 round decision.

My current record is that of 7-3 with both losses coming in Quarty battles. It seems late, I'm the only man Quarty can pin a loss on.

McTier, Perez Win

Solomon M-tier and Vic Perez were impressive winners as professional bouting returned to East Saturday night.

McTier, the 45-year-old self-styled Central Florida Heavyweight Champion put on a performance that any showman would have been proud of.

His entrance into the ring was accompanied by rock music and the "Solomon Dancers," a group of teeny-boppers that logrolled all the way down to the ring.

Once his battle with "Sweet" LeRoy Alexander started M-tier was relentless in battering his opponent around the ring. Still carrying a powerful punch, the full-time trainer and part-time fighter from Eastis swept every round from the third through the eighth, when the 220 pound Alexander decided to call it quits while still on his stool awaiting the ninth.

Perez, at 190 pounds had a much easier time with Ivry Gifford, a 155 pounder from Orlando, than he did three days before when he faced John Pinney in a losing effort at the Orlando Sports Stadium.

The Sanford fighter won all of the six rounds with the style switching Gifford, but was unable to knock him down or even really close to it.

Gifford seemed more interested in lasting the distance than in taking the decision, as he remained on his "bicycle" the whole time he was in the ring.

When asked if he was satisfied with the fight Perez answered "Yes, I felt it was a good workout and it should help sharpen me for my next fight."

"He was very quick and I need to work with guys like this. Most of the time I have to spy with heavyweights because they are the only ones that are available while I am training."

Perez next fight is Nov. 28 in Orlando.

Orlando's Clint Walker, 192 pounds, the man that was supposed to have fought 173 pound Mike McKinney before Bill Gore wisely pulled the Irishman out of the scheduled Orlando fight, left fourth-round puncher Dive Rue the loser after 1:05 of the fourth round.

James "Doc Holiday" Morales of Orlando, at 100 pounds, stopped an out-lashed Mt. Dora boxer, Eddie Walker, 140 pounds, in 1:30 of the third round.

Senate Nearing Passage On Energy Legislation

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Senate smarting from charges of inaction is hearing expected passage of emergency legislation that would give President Nixon more of the powers he says he needs to meet the energy crisis.

But the bill, which was scheduled for a final vote late this afternoon, could not become law until some time next week at the earliest, since it also must pass the House which does not return from Thanksgiving recess until Nov. 26.

In his Saturday news conference, President Nixon said Congress had not acted on energy proposals he had made as long as two years ago. Nixon said Congress had sent him only one of his seven pieces of priority energy legislation, the Alaska pipeline bill.

Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., reacted to the President's statement by saying flatly, "It is wrong."

Appearing Sunday on NBC's "Meet the Press," Mansfield accused the President of being long on rhetoric and proposals but short on specific legislative programs.

Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., appearing on CBS' "Face the Nation," said Nixon's statement was "very hard to understand."

Proxmire said "the President simply hasn't grasped" the severity of the situation, which according to a Library of Congress study could result in fuel shortages of up to 35 per cent.

David Rockefeller, head of the Chase Manhattan Bank in New York, predicted that the crisis could lead to a zero growth rate for the nation next year and a 6 per cent drop in industrial production.

Rockefeller, interviewed on ABC's "Issues and Answers,"

Skylab's Record Flight May Be Cut Short

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) Space officials say that if a space station cooling system cannot be revitalized, the Skylab 3 astronauts' planned record flight might have to be cut short.

Gerald P. Carr, William R. Pogue and Edward G. Gibson brought from earth a repair kit to fill the leaky refrigeration loop with a fluid called Coolant. They were to punch a hole in a service line this afternoon and attach a container of the fluid.

The space agency said Saturday night that Alan B. Shepard, chief of the astronaut office, had reprimanded commander Carr for an attempt by the spareman to conceal that one of them had been sick.

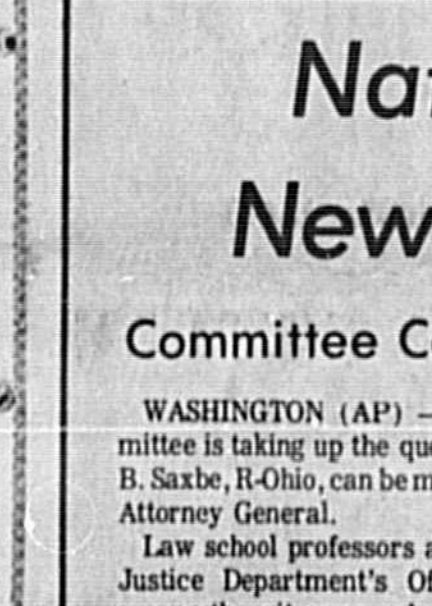

Shepard told Carr his action was "a fairly serious error in judgment." Carr replied, "Okay, I agree with you. It was a dumb decision."

For the last two days, the astronauts have been activating Skylab systems and moving several hundred pounds of film, recording tape and tools from the Apollo ferry ship into the 118-foot-long station.

They also started medical experiments that will continue throughout their planned 84-day flight to assess the affect of long-term space travel.

The troublesome cooling system — for water, certain electronics and some food compartments — developed a slow leak while the Skylab 3 crewmen were aboard in August. They switched to a backup loop. Mission control said that if the repair job was unsuccessful and the secondary loop fails, the mission might have to be cut short because some food would spoil and some electronics might fail.

Committee Considers Saxbe

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Judiciary Committee is taking up the question of whether Sen. William B. Saxbe, R-Ohio, can be made eligible for appointment as Attorney General.

Law school professors and deans and the head of the Justice Department's Legal Council were among the witnesses scheduled for today's hearing.

At issue is whether legislation to roll back the attorney general's salary would clear away a constitutional barrier to Saxbe's nomination, announced by President Nixon more than two weeks ago but not yet submitted to the Senate.

Wallace Talks To Mayors

TUSKEGEE, Ala. (AP) — Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace has made an unannounced appearance here before the Southern Conference of Black Mayors.

Wallace spoke at the final session Sunday about education, industrial development and social services.

The governor, who for a decade opposed desegregation, said he had worked for a better life for all people, regardless of race, creed or color.

Wallace was interrupted by an outburst of laughter when he said: "Perhaps this is not the time to discuss busing ... but I would like to say a few words about the Alabama school bus system." He said any Alabama student, "white or black, can catch a school bus almost in front of his own home and ride to classes."

2 Charged In Trooper's Murder

SARASOTA, Fla. (AP) — One of two men charged with murder in the shooting death of a Florida Highway Patrolman says he was only hitchhiking, police say.

Sheriff's officers Sunday arrested Henry Lorenzo Payne, 23, of Zephyrhills and Roy E. Stevens, 26, of Charlotte, N.C., in the death of Trooper Claude Baker, 32.

Baker was shot and killed late Saturday near Venice on Florida's southern Gulf Coast after he radioed in that he was stopping a car reportedly stolen earlier in the day from a rape victim.

Police said Payne was wanted in the rape and robbery of a 20-year-old Tampa woman. Stevens told police he was hitchhiking and was picked up by Payne.

Payne and Stevens were being held without bond after an arraignment before Circuit Judge Edwin Cumner.

"The trooper's last radio message was a description of the car and a report that he was stopping it," Sarasota County Sheriff James Hardcastle said. "He said it was occupied by one male."

The two men were arrested in Charlotte County four hours after police threw up roadblocks in a three-county area.

"I understand one of them was in the car and one was on the side," a police spokesman said. "They apparently put up no real resistance to the arrest."

Officers said they found a .38-caliber revolver in the car. A motorist found Baker's body lying next to his patrol car on U.S. 41. The motorist said he had seen Baker's car pass a few minutes before in pursuit of an auto and several minutes later came upon the trooper lying by the side of the highway.

Tanks In Use

ATHENS (AP) — The Greek government is promising to continue steps toward the restoration of democracy but is using tanks and troops to halt opponents apparently dissatisfied with its timetable.

"Our mission still is to prepare the nation for elections as soon as possible after order is restored," Spyridon Zouratzis, chief government spokesman, told a news briefing Sunday night. He reiterated the position of Premier Spyros Markezinis, who has promised free parliamentary elections in 1974.

At the same time the government disclosed that the death toll in the civil unrest had climbed to nine, five killed Friday and four on Saturday. The Athens medical examiner said six of the victims were bystanders, including a 22-year-old Norwegian woman and a 5-year-old Greek boy.

Palace Bombed

PHNOM PENH (AP) — A Cambodian air force fighter bombed President Lon Nol's palace compound this afternoon with four 250-pound bombs, witnesses reported.

They said Lon Nol was unharmed, but three other Cambodians were reported killed and 10 wounded.

Anti-aircraft gunners around the palace said the plane, a propeller-driven T28, approached the compound from the east and dropped two bombs at 4:30 p.m.

The pilot, Lt. Pech Lim Kaong, was on a mission to bomb on Phnom Penh's southern perimeter around the Highway 2 region, military sources said.

Fierce Fighting

PHNOM PENH (AP) — Fierce fighting continued today around several small government outposts on supply Highways 4 and 5, military sources reported.

On Highway 5, Khmer Rouge ground attacks on Kompong Tralach and Trapeang Treng villages, 41 miles north of the capital, declined somewhat but insurgent shelling increased, the informants said.

A Cambodian air force spotter plane observed a Khmer Rouge concentration marching on Highway 5 north of Sala Leu Prum, 39 miles north of Phnom Penh, and 728 fighter planes were called in to bomb the positions. No details were reported.

Insurgent forces occupy a five-mile strip of road. The highway has been closed since Sept. 6.

On Highway 4, Phnom Penh's route to the seaport at Kompong Som, military sources said the Communist-led rebels continued to shell and attack three government positions at Talat, 41 miles west-southwest of Phnom Penh.

Leader Critical

TEL AVIV (AP) — David Ben-Gurion, who led Israel from its violent birth in 1948 into modern statehood, was in critical condition today after suffering a stroke, hospital officials said.

A Tel Hashomer Hospital spokesman said that the 87-year old former premier had been "calm and sleeping" since he entered the hospital Sunday after being stricken at his apartment here.

Ben-Gurion's personal physician, Dr. Boleslaw Goldman, said a blood clot on the right side of Ben-Gurion's brain had paralyzed the right side of his body.

Dr. Goldman said Ben-Gurion was conscious and "feeling better" after receiving treatment throughout the night.

"We have hopes for his recovery, but they are guarded," he said.

Small Arms Fire Kills An Egyptian

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

An Egyptian soldier was killed when Israeli soldiers exchanged small arms fire along the Suez Canal early today. No Israeli casualties were reported.

A command spokesman said a fire fight erupted near Tallinn on the western bank of the canal and another near Ayun Musa in the Sinai Desert near the Gulf of Suez where he said Egyptian forces were trying to advance their positions.

He said the Egyptian was killed near Mt. Ataka on the western side of the canal.

Israel said that it will begin a judicial probe into charges of military mishandling during the first stage of the October war when Egyptian tanks and men stormed across the Suez Canal and captured the eastern bank.

But he said the October war succeeded in breaking the Middle East stalemate and changed the image of Egypt and the Arabs as a whole. He said that Egypt militarily was in a better position on Oct. 22 — the date of the first U.N. cease-fire — than it was on Oct. 6 when the war began.

Egypt has charged that Israel violated the cease-fire on Oct. 22 and expanded its foothold on the western bank of the canal prior to a second ceasefire on Oct. 24. Military experts say that movement resulted in the isolation of the Egyptian 3rd Army on the eastern bank of the Suez Canal and of Suez city on the southern tip of the canal.

The announcement of the Israeli investigation came amid continued furor over initial setbacks the Israeli army suffered when war broke out with Egypt along the Suez Canal and with Syria in the Golan Heights on Oct. 6. Defense Minister Moshe Dayan has said that Israel had no intention of taking war until the morning the shooting began.

A cabinet statement said that the investigation will cover the army's deployment for war in general, its preparedness to shell and attack the war and its actions until it held back the enemy."

Industrial Stocks Down A Fraction

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market was nearly unchanged this morning after a previous week of wild and busy trading.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was down a fraction near the opening while advancing stocks balanced losses on the New York Stock Exchange.

Brokers said the Arabs' insistence that the lifting of their oil embargo for most European nations did not mean relief for the United States undercut President Nixon's optimistic remarks of last week. However, brokers also indicated that the President's distinction toward rationing might be interpreted favorably.

Whirlpool led Big Board trading, unchanged at 28, followed by Citicorp, up 1/2 at 55, Mountain Fuel Supply, off 1/4 at 48, and Boeing, ahead 1/4 at 16 1/2.

The market bobbed dramatically last week, revealing its sensitivity to the Arab oil embargo. After prices plunged early in the week, they recovered largely on technical fac-

PSC Gets Rate Block Attempt

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Atty. Gen. Robert Shevin's second attempt to block rate increases given to three utilities was to go before the Florida Public Service Commission today.

The commission rejected on Oct. 25 Shevin's first attempt to block the $7.9 million increase that would allow the utilities to pass part of their corporate income taxes on to consumers.

Shevin wants the PSC to reconsider its action and roll back the hikes until the Florida Supreme Court settles a suit that is challenging the commission's decision.

Snack Party Fun

By CECILY BROWNSTONE Associated Press Food Editor When you're entertaining in the afternoon or evening and want to serve a snack, you might enjoy offering an interesting combination: fresh Bartlett pear wedges with a curried cheese ball rolled in chopped pecans. Pears and curry seasonings have an affinity for each other.

The cheese ball is a large one, but we found that under refrigeration a leftover portion kept well for several weeks; to offer the remainder attractively, we packed it into a small serving bowl. For a trial run, the recipe may be easily halved.

BARTLETT PEARS WITH CURRIED CHEESE BALL: 6 ounces Swiss or Monterey Jack cheese, grated medium-fine (about 1 1/2 cups) 4 ounces medium-sharp cheddar cheese, grated medium-fine (about 1 cup) 1 package (8 ounces) cream cheese 1 tablespoon finely grated onion, pulp and juice 1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce 2 dashes tabasco sauce 3 teaspoons curry powder 1 cup finely chopped pecans Fresh Bartlett pears, ripe and chilled

Into a medium mixing bowl turn the cheese and all the seasonings except the curry powder; beat until smooth. Beat in the curry powder a teaspoon at a time, tasting as each is added so you can decide how much you want; the entire amount of curry powder called for produces pungent flavor. Stir in 1/2 cup of the pecans. Makes about 2 1/2 cups.

Chill cheese mixture, covered, until firm enough to shape into a large ball; roll in remaining 1/2 cup pecans. If you like, you may garnish the top with pecan halves. Refrigerate, covered, for several hours or overnight to allow flavors to blend. Serve straight from the refrigerator with the pears, cut in wedges with seeds and stem structure removed. Eaters will be able to cut off neat slices of the cheese ball for topping the wedges of pear.

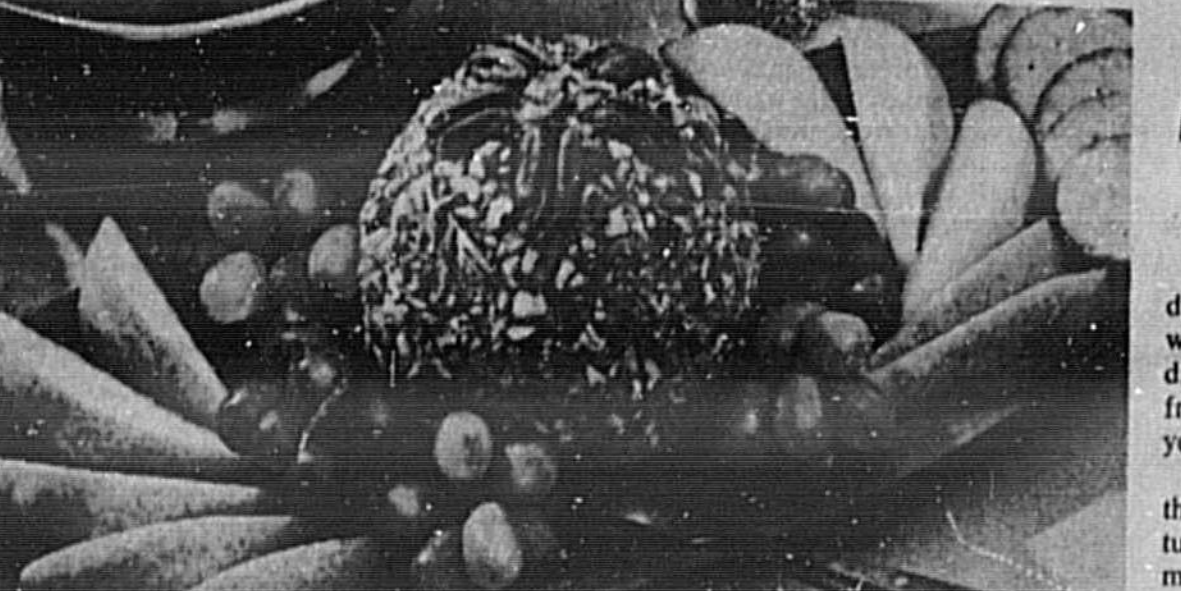

GOLDEN CUSTARD AND APPLES 4 Washington State apples, cored 1 egg 1/2 cup sugar 1/2 cup milk Grated rind of 1 lemon 1 tablespoon lemon juice 3 tablespoons butter, melted

Pare apples half-way down from the stem end. Place in one and one-half quart baking dish, stem end up, quite close together. Cover and bake at 350-degrees for 45 minutes or until tender. Heat together the egg, sugar, milk, lemon rind, lemon juice and butter. Add any juice from the apples and mix well. Pour over apples and bake, uncovered 10 minutes. Place in dessert dishes and serve at once with the custard. Makes 4 servings.

LEAVING HOME IS NO LAUGHING MATTER... But the Welcome Wagon hostess can make it easier to adjust to your new surroundings, and maybe put a smile on your face!

Barleycorn Makes The Party

by Ede Strickland "The problem is I don't drink, I don't know much about wine and I don't like soft drinks," wailed a recently single friend of mine after twenty years of sheltered marriage. Even as a still-young forty the world had completely turned for this attractive woman and she was bewildered with the dating and social mores of 1973. "I feel foolish standing around at a party sipping water, and a person can drink just so much orange juice," she complained. She'd had some very worthwhile dates whom she felt came self-conscious with a woman who merely sat smiling at them while they had a few drinks during an evening, or who toyed with a ginger ale for two hours. But there are also men who do not care for hard liquor and who have the reverse problem: how to put a woman who enjoys a highball or two at her case—especially when the waiter always deposits the bourbon in front of the man and the limeade in front of the lady. The fact is that most people at a party or on a date drink something in moderation, be it beer, wine, liquor or a liqueur, and enjoy a companion who joins them in the relaxing ritual of gently taking the edge off the day. Now it's one thing for an 18-year old to ask for a sweet apricot sour before dinner, and it's another when an adult over twenty-five kills both appetite and appreciation of good food by making the taste of liquor with a sweet fruit liqueur. The answer is, as I said to my new-to-the-date-circuit friend, sophistication. There are lightly alcoholic drinks which are easy to take and which will put the most worldly of men (and women) at ease with your company. Many of these "sophisticated" drinks are from Europe where hard cocktails made inroads only recently—and it is considered very chic in the U.S. to sip a wine spritzer.

By Gayle R. Maddox
A World Soy Protein Conference was held in Munich, Germany, recently to analyze and to provide information on the value of soy protein in the human diet. Technological improvements in the processing of the soybean into ingredients easily and quickly prepared for human consumption were high on the agenda.

In general the purpose was to pinpoint soy potential as a food for people. It is a roaring success as cattle food and a leading cash crop for U.S. farmers based on livestock feeding. There are signs of growing interest in soy products as a basic and acceptable protein food for humans.

But even at the conference there was a gap. Dr. Fred R. Senti explained "The conference stressed the processed form of soybeans. It gave no attention to dried soybeans to cook at home. The thinking was that most women today don't want to spend time in the kitchen. Soybeans require hours of cooking." Senti, of the USDA Agricultural Research Service, was program committee chairman.

Food technology plays an important role in the soy picture. To transform soybeans into soy flour and soy concentrates demands skill.

Full-fatted and defatted soy flour is used by bakers. Soy flour mixed with wheat can replace non-fat dry milk in bread. It is much cheaper.

Soy isolated protein is used to fortify foods deficient in protein content. Extended textured soy protein is used in analogues — food in which soy is used to simulate ham, chicken, seafood, etc. in appearance and taste.

"Some say they cannot tell the difference between the analogue and the fresh meat product. Others say they can. Continued progress in technology will narrow the difference," Senti said.

"Use of textured soy protein in meat or in analogues is in a definite upward during these times of higher food costs. As the product is better made and better distributed, it will play a larger and more welcome role in helping the public get more protein at a lower cost for its diets."

Turkish Dishes Add Variety

By Aileen Claire NEA Food Editor

Hande Surmelioglu, deputy director of the Turkish Tourism and Information office in New York City, enjoys introducing Americans to the interesting foods of her homeland. She shares some of her favorite recipes (adapted for American tastes) for those who are at wit's end for something different to serve during the many days and nights of holiday entertaining.

Chilled Yogurt Soup or Relish
1 cucumber, pared and coarsely grated
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 small clove garlic, crushed
2 tablespoons vinegar
2 containers (8 ounces each) plain yogurt
2 tablespoons chopped fresh mint, 1 tablespoon dried mint
2 tablespoons olive oil
1 cup crushed ice

Grate cucumber into small bowl and sprinkle with salt. Let stand for 10 minutes; drain. In medium bowl, mix cucumber, garlic, vinegar, yogurt, mint and oil. Chill. Add crushed ice just before serving. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

TUNA APPETIZER BALLS
2 cans (5 1/2 or 7 ounces each) tuna in vegetable sauce
4 slices white bread, finely crumbed
2 eggs
2 tablespoons sliced scallions
3 tablespoons chopped pignolia nuts
2 tablespoons currants
2 tablespoons chopped fresh dill, or 1 tablespoon dried dill weed
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon allspice
1/4 cup flour
1 cup salad oil

Drain tuna and flake finely in medium bowl. Add bread crumbs, eggs, scallions, nuts, currants, dill, salt and allspice. Mix well. Form into small balls, about 1 tablespoon each. Chill for 30 minutes. Coat balls with flour. Heat oil in large skillet. Add balls and fry until golden brown. Drain well and keep warm in chafing dish over canned heat. Makes 18 appetizer servings.

Portokal Peltesi Orange and Grapefruit Pudding
1-1/2 cups sugar
1/2 cup cornstarch
2 cups orange juice
2 cups grapefruit juice
4 cups water
4 oranges, sectioned*
2 grapefruit, sectioned*
2 cups sliced almonds

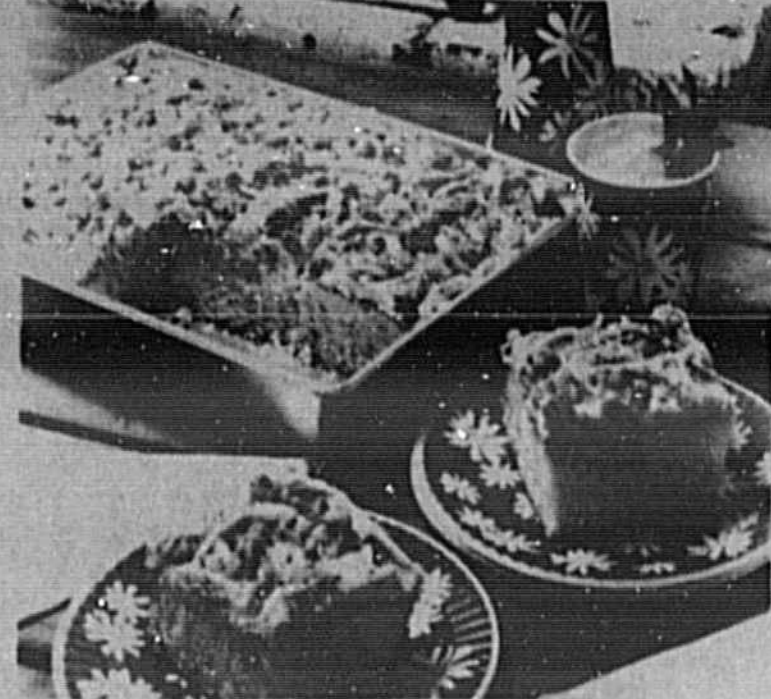

In medium saucepan mix sugar and cornstarch. Stir in orange and grapefruit juices and water. Cook, stirring constantly, over medium heat until mixture thickens and comes to a boil. Simmer 1 minute; remove from heat. Add orange and grapefruit sections and almonds. Pour into individual glasses or into a large bowl. Chill until set. Makes 8 servings.

*To section oranges and grapefruit, cut slice from top, then cut off peel in strips from top to bottom, cutting deep enough to remove white membrane, then cut slice from bottom. Or cut off peel round and round spiral fashion. Go over fruit again, removing any remaining white membrane. Cut along side of each dividing member from outside to inside of core. Remove section by section over bowl to retain juice from fruit.

Nut Cake Fine Snack

By Aileen Claire
NEA Food Editor

Finger foods always are welcome, especially by school children as a pick-me-up snack after school. A peanut butter frosted cake goes well with a glass of milk and adds just that little bit more nutrition to a youngster's diet. Make the cake using a quick ready mix or make it from scratch.

Frosted peanut butter cake pleases after-school nibblers.

PEANUT BUTTER FROSTED CAKE

QUICK MIX
1 package (18 1/2 ounces) yellow cake mix
2 eggs
1 1/3 cups water
Grated rinds of 1 lemon and 1 orange

MAKE-YOUR-OWN-MIX
2 1/2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
1 1/2 cups sugar
1 1/2 tablespoons baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup vegetable shortening
3 eggs
1 cup milk
Grated rinds of 1 lemon and 1 orange

For quick version, combine cake mix, eggs, water and rinds and beat until smooth. For make-your-own cake, combine flour, sugar, baking powder, salt, shortening, eggs, milk and rinds. Beat with an electric mixer until smooth. Pour batter into a greased and floured 12x2-inch pan. Bake in a preheated 350-degree oven for 40 to 45 minutes for cake mix or 45 to 55 minutes for make-your-own cake. Bake until cake shrinks in slightly from edges of pan. Cool cake in pan. Frost with Peanut Butter Frosting and sprinkle with crushed peanut bits. Makes one 9x13x2-inch cake.

PEANUT BUTTER FROSTING
1 can (16 1/2 ounces) vanilla frosting
1/2 cup peanut butter
1/2 cup crushed peanut brittle

Combine frosting and peanut butter and mix until smooth and well blended. Spread on cake and then sprinkle with brittle. To crush brittle place brittle pieces in plastic bag. Pound with wood mallet, rolling pin or other sturdy object to desired fineness.

DELICATE DESSERT PANCAKES
1 egg
1/2 teaspoon sugar
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup cold water
1/2 cup light cream
1/2 cup unsifted all-purpose flour
Tart Cherry Sauce

Beat egg with a rotary beater, electric mixer, or in an electric blender until very light and frothy. Then beat in sugar and salt. Add water and cream alternately with the flour, a small amount at a time, beating well after each addition. Pour batter onto a hot well-buttered griddle, making about 3 1/2-inch circles, and turning to brown both sides. Brush hot pancakes with melted butter. Place a small amount of sauce on each pancake, roll up and place on serving plates. Top with remaining sauce. Makes eight to 10 pancakes or four to five servings.

TART CHERRY SAUCE
1 cup maple-flavored syrup
1 1/4 cups whole fresh red sour pitted cherries, or frozen red sour pitted cherries, thawed and drained (or use 1 can, 16 oz., red sour pitted cherries, drained)

Bring syrup to a boil over medium heat and boil five minutes. Remove from heat. Add cherries. Cool slightly. Serve warm. Makes 1 1/2 cups.

Dessert Pancakes Mealtime Stars

By SUSAN DELIGHT
Copley News Service

Dessert pancakes, closely akin to crepes, are lacking in prestige reputation, but not the versatility of the French cakes. They can star at a breakfast, brunch, luncheon or supper party. Or they can be impressive as meal enders. Pancakes can be rolled around a filling, topped with a fruit sauce, or sandwiched with a sauce and stacked, then cut into wedges. Representative of the two recipes which follow — Delicate Dessert Pancakes with Tart Cherry Sauce and Sky-High Filled Pancakes with Hot Cinnamon Prune Syrup.

The first recipe is both rolled around and topped with a tart-sweet sauce. The latter features wedges of pancakes ribboned with a fruit filling and topped with warm, spicy cinnamon prune syrup.

SKY-HIGH FILLED PANCAKES WITH HOT CINNAMON PRUNE SYRUP
2 cups pancake mix

1 egg
Filling:
4 cups plumped pitted prunes, chopped
1 cup sugar
Juice and grated rind 1/2 large lemon
1 cup water
1/2 cup sherry (or fruit juice)
Pinch salt
Cinnamon Prune Syrup:
2 cups unsweetened prune juice
1/2 cup sugar
1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
1/4 teaspoon cinnamon
1 teaspoon cornstarch

Prepare pancake mix according to package directions. Add egg for a richer batter. Use about 3/4 cup batter to make one large cake. (If batter is thin, use slightly less, slightly more if thicker.) Wrap pancakes in foil to keep moist until ready to fill.

To make filling: Combine all ingredients and mix well. Simmer over moderately low heat, stirring constantly until thick — about the consistency of a jam or preserve. Cool.

Cinnamon Prune Syrup:
Combine prune juice, sugar, lemon rind and cinnamon. Heat for about 45 minutes. Blend into hot prune liquid. Continue to stir and cook until mixture thickens. Add vanilla. Serve hot.

To serve: Alternate pancakes and filling on a heat proof dish or platter, ending with a pancake. Spread each filling layer evenly so final stack will be fairly level. Cover with foil and place in a moderate oven, 375 degrees, 15 minutes.

Home Baked Bread Requires Kneading

As cool blustery winds blow autumn leaves about, more and more homemakers are busy in warm kitchens baking homemade bread. But many have never used yeast or kneaded dough, so they have questions.

To make it simpler for first-time bakers the test kitchens of Fleischmann's Yeast developed the Rapidmix Method. Active dry yeast is mixed with some of the other dry ingredients. Liquids are heated to very warm (120-130°F.). An electric mixer is used to combine ingredients which help start the action of the yeast. One question the novice might have relates to kneading. It does take a little know-how. Start by forming the dough into a round ball. Fold it toward you with the fingertips of both hands, then with the heels of your hands, push the dough away from you using pressure. Turn the dough a quarter of a turn and keep repeating for 8 to 10 minutes. With practice, you'll pick up speed and rhythm. The purpose of kneading is to stretch the gluten in the flour. This forms the structure of the finished bread. Here the Rapidmix Method is used in a recipe to please new bread bakers and pros alike.

HONEY-WHIT CINNAMON BREAD
4 1/4 cups unsifted white flour (about)
2 cups unsifted whole wheat flour
1 tablespoon salt
1 package Fleischmann's Active Dry Yeast
2 cups water
1 1/4 cup honey
3 tablespoons Fleischmann's

cup flour mixture, or enough flour mixture to make a thick batter. Beat at high speed 2 minutes, scraping bowl occasionally. Stir in raisins and enough additional flour mixture to make a soft dough. (If necessary, add additional white flour to obtain desired dough.) Turn out onto lightly floured board. Cover dough with bowl; let rest 10 minutes. Knead until smooth and elastic, about 8 to 10 minutes. Place in greased bowl, turning to grease top. Cover; let rise in warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about 1 1/2 hours. Bake in preheated oven (400°F.) about 30 to 35 minutes, or until done. Remove from pans and cool on wire racks. If desired, brush with melted Fleischmann's Margarine. Makes 2 loaves.

Divide dough in half. Roll 1/2 the dough into a 12 x 8 x 8 inch rectangle. Brush lightly with melted Fleischmann's Margarine. Sprinkle with 1/2 cinnamon-sugar mixture. Roll tightly from the 8-inch side up for jelly roll. Seal edges firmly. Seal ends of loaf and fold underneath. Place loaf, seam side down, in greased 4-1/2 x 4-1/2 x 2-1/2 inch loaf pan. Repeat with remaining dough. Cover; let rise in warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about 1 1/2 hours. Bake in preheated oven (400°F.) about 30 to 35 minutes, or until done. Remove from pans and cool on wire racks. If desired, brush with melted Fleischmann's Margarine. Makes 2 loaves.

ITALIAN SWEET—A frozen chocolate confection holds a surprise: maraschino cherries that have been soaked in rum.

Italian Chocolate Cherry

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Here's an incredibly good dessert adapted from one served at the Tre Scalin restaurant in Rome, Italy. It's a frozen chocolate and maraschino cherry concoction that can be made well ahead. Definitely worthy, your guests are bound to think it's great.

ITALIAN CHOCOLATE CHERRY DESSERT
1 jar (8 ounces) red maraschino cherries, drained
1 cup rum
3 ounces unsweetened chocolate
3 egg yolks
1 cup sugar
2 cups milk
2 ounces semi-sweet chocolate, finely grated (use a hand-operated rotary grater)
1/2 cup heavy cream, whipped
12 red maraschino cherries, with stems

Soak the drained cherries (from the sauce jar) in the rum for 1 hour; drain. In a 1 1/2-quart saucepan over very low heat melt the unsweetened chocolate. Meanwhile in a small mixing bowl beat egg yolks until thickened and lemon color; gradually beat in sugar; add 1/2 cup of the milk and beat well. Add the melted chocolate, all at one time, and beat until smooth. Return chocolate mixture to saucepan; add remaining 1 1/2 cups milk. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until mixture is thickened — about 15 minutes; do not boil. Remove from heat and cool slightly. Line 12 muffin-pan cups with paper cupcake liners and place 2 or 3 rum-soaked cherries in the bottom of each cup. Pour chocolate mixture over top, about 1/2 cup per liner. Freeze. Just before serving, peel the liners from the frozen desserts; roll in the grated semi-sweet chocolate and garnish with whipped cream and the stem-on cherries. Serve at once. Makes 12 servings.

PAPAYA TUNA SALAD
1 can (3 1/2 ounces) tuna, drained and flaked
1/2 cup mayonnaise
1 teaspoon chopped green onion
1/8 stalk celery, chopped finely finely
1/2 teaspoon lemon juice
Salt and pepper
1 pint small curd cottage cheese
1 Hawaiian papaya
Paprika

Blend tuna, mayonnaise, onion, celery and lemon juice. Season to taste with salt and pepper. Chill to serve. Cut papaya in half. Discard seeds. Fill cavities with cottage cheese dressing top. Spoon tuna dressing over cottage cheese. Garnish with paprika. Makes 2 servings.

Or use one-half cup left-over diced chicken or shrimp. For single serving use one-half cup small curd cottage cheese and save one-half of tuna dressing to serve over crisp greens for another meal. Seal leftover papaya in plastic wrap, refrigerate and use within three to five days.

Cut bacon slices in half and wrap each half around a can of water chestnut; secure with toothpicks. Broil, turning once, until bacon is crisp. Serve with chutney sauce as a dip.

Sunday Driving Curtailment Considered Administration May Close Gas Stations

WASHINGTON (AP) — Nixon administration officials say a curtailment of Sunday driving is being considered as one way to conserve fuel.

White House energy adviser John A. Love said Monday the administration may soon require the closing of gasoline stations on Sundays.

His deputy, Charles DiBona, told a congressional joint economic committee that a ban on Sunday driving and closing of public parks to automobiles are steps under consideration.

"Knocking out Sunday driving is a real possibility," said DiBona, the President's special assistant for fuel matters.

Asked about a ban on non-essential Sunday driving, Love said, "I don't think it is to be couched in terms of a ban" and then added that there may be an announcement on "the closing of filling stations on Sunday across the nation."

DiBona said a Sunday driving ban would save 600,000 barrels of gasoline a day. Some consideration is being given to making the ban partial so people could go to church, he said.

The administration is also considering instituting Sunday blue laws to close commercial stores and shortening store hours during the week, he said.

Meanwhile, the Senate passed and sent to the House emergency energy legislation that would give President Nixon the power to order gasoline rationing.

And the House Democratic leadership responded to Nixon's criticism of Congress' performance in the energy crisis by accusing the President of "unwillingness to acknowledge the magnitude of the crisis and ... lack of any direction in dealing with it."

Elsewhere on Capitol Hill, Treasury Secretary George P. Shultz told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee the nation would have to be "sharp and relentless" in limiting consumer use of energy.

In a speech to the National Science Foundation, Love indicated the biggest immediate problem was the shortage of residual oil which is used heavily in the power plants along the East Coast.

Solon Asks Session On Energy Powers

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — A Republican leader in the Florida legislature next week to give Gov. Reubin Askew broad powers to cope with the mounting energy crisis.

House minority leader Jim Tillman, R-Sarasota, said Monday the nationwide fuel shortage "is far more grave than has been reflected in the news."

He said the legislature should go into special session next week to pass legislation that would encourage Floridians to conserve precious fuel.

Tillman said the speed of many drivers who passed him when he was motoring at a self-imposed limit of 50 miles per hour on a superhighway convinced him the public is not yet serious about conserving energy.

"We must impress the people of Florida with the seriousness of the situation, as it is evident too few of our citizens are working to conserve energy," he said. "This applies not only to fuel for transportation and heating, but to all phases of energy."

The GOP leader suggested a package of legislation to expand Askew's powers, reauthorizing daylight savings time, putting state employees on a four-day work week, imposing fines on businesses that squander fuel and exempting from lawsuits businesses required by the state to cut energy use.

Without such actions Tillman contended that tourism "may be severely hurt."

Democratic leaders in Florida have said they preferred to wait until Congress acts on national energy conservation standards.

Exploiting oil fields under the Gulf of Mexico off west Florida is cited by some as one way out of the fuel shortage.

County Study May Hit Longwood Fill

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

A study which could lead to court action against the City of Longwood was ordered today by Seminole County commissioners.

County Commissioners in a letter to the city asked the delay to give time to gather professional information from an independent, neutral, private engineer, and protect both city citizens and those in the unincorporated areas.

Mayor Eugene Jacques "deplored" the county's questioning of the city's engineer, Charles Tibbles of the U.S. Geologic Service at the city council meeting said the federal agency takes no official position concerning development in flood prone areas. He added that a maximum elevation of 86 feet will mean the holding pond either must be dyked or it will overflow.

Tibbles also said in view of September storms this property does not retain storm runoff on site and does increase runoff into the main body of Island Lake to the south. "And the outlet from Island Lake is insufficient," he said.

Tibbles said the records available show the average water level of the lake since Nov. 1972 is recorded at 83 feet. Pointing to the 1960 hurricane, (Cont'd On Pg. 2A Col. 3)

Reflections . . . on Mr. Nixon's appearance before the Associated Press Managing Editors at Disney World.

The President came off well in the eyes of the public. My opinion has not been altered.

Those editors . . . should be ashamed of themselves for asking astute questions such as they did. I believe that most sixth graders could have volunteered more probing queries (unless there were some strings about the kind of questions that would be accepted???)

Had a woman caller complain that "if we were so concerned about saving gasoline, then how 'cum the Sanford garbage trucks not only picked up the trash, but later returned to the same areas between Sanford and Maitland Avenues for no other reason than to turn the cans upright and put the lids back onto them?"

Williamson Says Klosky Erred In Park Allegation

LONGWOOD—Councilman E.E. Williamson, recuperating from major surgery, denied today that he approves the proposed Georges St. Laurent office park on the Range Line Road.

Council Chairman Bill Klosky, after the city council voted 4-0 rezoning the St. Laurent office park Monday night, announced that Williamson is in favor of the rezoning and the planned project.

Williamson told The Herald today that Klosky asked his opinion on the rezoning Monday. "I told him that if I were by the meeting, I would consider two things—the engineering report and the wishes of the people. I don't know how he could make anything out of that."

He added, with the opposition the planned development has generated, he could not have voted in favor of it. "I also told Klosky that I am not up to being involved in politics until I get

Bills Proposed For Four-Day Work Week, Daylight Savings Time And Fuel Conservation

Fuel Crisis Strikes

Seminole County will be "short at least 5,000 gallons of gas a month, as of Jan. 1, roads superintendent J. C. Lavender revealed today.

Lavender, noting President Nixon's fuel allocation program has slated the county for its 1971 level of 4,000 gallons a month, said county vehicles currently consume 14,000 gallons.

The arthropod control program alone consumes 7,000 gallons per month, Lavender told county commissioners, adding that if the proposed federal fuel allocations go through, "we won't even have half enough."

Vice Chairman John Kimbrough directed Lavender to investigate converting county vehicles to propane or butane gas, as the City of Orlando has already done, noting cars running on such gas will meet 1976 air pollution emission standards.

Commissioners have ordered a 50 m.p.h. speed limit for all county vehicles, and have joined with Port Authority officials in searching for a source of bulk purchases.

Dickinson Confirms IRS Probe

MIAMI (AP) — State Comptroller Fred O. Dickinson has confirmed that Internal Revenue Service agents are checking the banking division of his Tallahassee office and auditing his personal tax returns.

But Dickinson would not discuss the extent or purpose of the investigation or audit. Miami television station WFLG reported Monday that Dickinson was the subject of both a criminal investigation and a civil audit.

WFLG said IRS agents are concentrating the banking division investigation on applications for new bank charters and records involving approval or rejection of such charters by the division.

The television newscast said the team of IRS agents started the probe two weeks ago.
