Dale files charges to oust SHA board

By Dan Ping
Editor

Housing board members refuse to resign 'for the good of the city'

SANFORD — With less than one week left in his term, Sanford Mayor Larry Dale presented the City Commission with six specific reasons why the Sanford Housing Authority (SHA) Board of Directors should be removed.

In addition, Dale set a hearing for April 11 for SHA board members to explain why they should not be removed for inefficiency and negligence.

The board and its director, Timothy Hudson, have come under intense scrutiny following allegations the housing authority has been mismanaged. Officials with the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) conducted a lengthy investigation into SHA policies, procedures and practices, and released a preliminary report that is highly critical of Hudson and the board. The report lists 40 findings regarding problems with operations, fiscal controls, reporting requirements and maintaining adequate living conditions.

While the city has no oversight or control of the housing authority's operations — that duty is left to SHA board and HUD — the mayor, with the consent of the city commission, can appoint or remove board members.

Dale said he asked each board member to voluntarily resign "for the good of the city," but each refused.

"Shirley Allen even refused to accept my call and refused to accept my letter delivered by the sheriff's office," Dale said.

Dale sent a letter dated March 29 notified each board member he plans to remove them for inefficiency and negligence of duty. Dale outlined six specific

3,000 student converge on SCC to compete in 22nd annual Physics Olympics

SANFORD — Two students from Maynard Evans High School watched while more weight was added to the bridge they recently constructed. If the bridge broke, they knew they were probably goners.

As more weight was added, the duo from Orlando became more confident. Finally, the maximum weight of 120 pounds was added, and the wooden support remained intact. While other bridges crumbled under less weight, their bridge stood the test of strength.

At the end of the morning, eleventh-graders Tara Sutton and Lymnie Beauvoir took home a third-place ribbon in the bridge building contest. Evans High School swept the contest, taking home all three ribbons and the title of the area's best miniature bridge builders.

"We were somewhat confident our bridge would do well," Beauvoir said. "But, it did surprise us that it held so much weight."

The bridge building contest was one of 19 events held during Thursday's 22nd annual Central Florida Physics Olympics. More than 3,000 students from 15 schools gathered at Seminole Community College's main campus to participate in the event.

Many of the activities, including the bridge building contest, required physics students to start planning weeks before the Airport posts big numbers in February

SANFORD — February may be the year's shortest month, but according to statistics released this week by the United States Department of Transportation (DOT), it was a solid performance month for the Orlando Sanford International Airport.

The DOT's International Analysis for the 12 month period ending March 2001 indicates Orlando Sanford International (OSI) was ranked 16th in the nation for nonstop passenger volume and operations to and from Europe.

OSI was also ranked number one in the United States by the DOT with the highest load factor (percentage of filled seats) on flights to and from Europe.

For the month of February, OSI serviced a total of 60,864 passengers, of those 21,918 were domestic travelers while 38,946 were international passengers. Total passenger traffic was up 25 percent over last February's statistics with domestic travel showing a 77 percent increase and international travel up seven percent over February 2000.

Total operations at OSI were up a healthy six percent for the same period. In total, the air-

SANFORD — When Jerry Moore looks you in the eye, he tends to look you directly in the eye.

He speaks in articulate tones — half drill sergeant, half Father Flannigan. His well rounded shoulders and pumped up biceps compliment his crisply starched fatigue trousers and spit polished combat boots. He carries himself with the air of a man who knows where he's been, and has a direct bead on where's he's going. His entire persona suggests, "Do not mess with this man."

That persona was honed during a 23-year Naval career, heavily devoted to training and career service in the U.S. Navy's Nuclear Power Program. He's

Governor selects McIntosh as judge

By Nick Pfeiffauf
Staff Writer

Governor Jeb Bush has announced the appointment of Donna McIntosh as judge in the 18th Judicial Circuit Court. The circuit covers Seminole and Brevard Counties. She will be filling the vacancy created by the resignation of Judge Seymour Benson.

McIntosh, 45, has been with the firm of Stenstrom, McIntosh, Colbert, Whigham & Simmons, PA, of Sanford since 1993. She has been serving as city attorney for the cities of Lake Mary and Casselberry.

In commenting on the appointment, Lake Mary Mayor Thom Greene said, "This is a bitter-sweet situation for Lake Mary. We are going to be sorry to see her leave, but we are very proud of her and happy for her appointment."

"It is difficult to keep five politicians happy, even when the city attorney must say no to a proposal, but Donna was able to do this," Greene added. "She did an excellent job for Lake Mary."

Her name was submitted to the Eighteenth Circuit Judicial Nominating Commission in late January of this year. She was originally one of 14 candidates for the position.

Following interviews by the commission, the candidates were trimmed down to four, and their names were submitted to Governor Bush on Feb. 19. The Governor then had 60 days from the receipt to name the appointment.

The official decision was announced Thursday.

In addition to her municipal responsibilities, McIntosh is also assistant city attorney for the cities of Sanford, Oviedo, Orange City, and Palm Coast.

She is currently president of the Florida Council of Bar

Just a reminder — spring forward on Sunday

By Nick Pfeiffauf
Staff Writer

It happens every year — people change their clocks as most of the nation observes Daylight Saving Time.

It begins at 2 a.m. this Sunday, April 1, which, when you correct your clocks, will become 3 a.m. It's a coincidence that the day is also April Fool's Day, or All Fools Day. Many folks however, may think themselves foolish when they show up at church an hour late for the service.

The designation is the result of the Uniform Time Act of 1966, amended in 1986 by Public Law that provides that Standard Time in each zone be advanced on hour from 2 a.m. on the First Sunday in April, until 2 a.m. on the last Sunday in October. The only exceptions are Hawaii, and parts of Arizona and Indiana, where the state legislatures have voted against the change.

Many people use the popular rule, "Spring forward, fall back" to remember which way to turn their clock.

Butch Strine with the city of Sanford Public Works Department is responsible for changing the time on the city's clock at Magnolia Square.

"In the fall, when we set the clocks back and hour, it's a simple matter," he said. "To change it this time of year, we just turn the clock off, wait one hour, then turn it on again."

In the spring however, when the hands must be moved forward, it is a matter of opening up the controls at the base of the clock and making adjustments.

See Time, Page 10A

Sanford's Magnolia Square clock will be reset Monday morning.

SEMINOLE SUMMARY

A GLANCE AROUND OUR COUNTY

'Do unto others before they do it unto you'

This Sunday is April 1, referred to as April Fool's Day or All Fool's Day. While various pranks are generally played on this day, the basic premise is to deceive people by sending them on frivolous and nonsensical errands, to pretend they are wanted when they are not, or to betray them into some supposed ludicrous situation so you can say to them, "April Fool."

For today's history lesson, let's look into the origins of April Fool's. Some people say the event started in France in 1564. April 1 was New Year's Day until the French changed the holiday to Jan. 1. People who would celebrate New Years on April 1 were called fools.

Others say the event is an ancient one. The Romans had such a day, as did medieval monasteries when the abbot or bishop was replaced by a common monk, who would order his superiors to do unusual tasks, such as scrub the floor of the monastery or wash the windows.

During the past years, one of my sources for April Fool's pranks has been the Central Florida Zoo. Andrea Farmer, the zoo's public relations manager, has told me people generally call and ask to speak to such people as Mr. Lyon, Ellie Phant, and Monk Key.

Most April Fool's pranks end up being played over the telephone. Call a neighbor, "Is your refrigerator running? Better stop it." Or call a business, "Is Ima Nerd there?"

In addition to April Fool's Day, the month of April is also: (add "month" to the following) Alcohol Awareness, Animal Cruelty Prevention, Cancer Control, Couple Appreciation, Fresh Florida Tomato, Holy Humor, Home Improvement Safety, Informed Women, International Amateur Radio, International Customer Loyalty, International Legacy, Keep America Beautiful, Mathematics Education, Month of the Young Child, National Autism Awareness, National Child Abuse Prevention, National Humor, National Lawn and Garden, National Pecan, National Poetry, Pet First Aid Awareness, Self-Publishing Month, Youth Sports Safety, School Library and Siraw Hat, (among others of an individual nature).

For weeks, (add "week" to each of these), Consider Christianity, Dumb, Blue Ribbon, National Medical Patient Advocacy, Passion, and others.

But getting back to April Fool's Day, when it comes to making a fool out of someone, perhaps the fact that April 1 through April 7 is also Golden Rule Week, should serve as the way to act. The observance is held to remind everyone the importance of making this a better world by "doing unto others as you would have others do unto you."

Or, it's also Humor Month, so you could "do unto others before they do it unto you." Whatever!

Pigs and kisses

Crooms Academy teacher Richard Colon kisses a pig held by Pat Milligan. The students at Crooms Academy decided Colon, along with teacher Jetta Woodall, had to kiss the pig as part of a fund-raiser for the senior class. More than $300 was raised and will be Measuring Up? During a lighter moment this week at the Winter Springs City Commission meeting, Mayor Paul Partyka found himself surrounded by the very tall and talented members of Winter Springs High's three-time state finals women's basketball team. Partyka, who stands all of five-foot-nothing, was reminded of his diminutive stature half way through reading a proclamation honoring the team when an audience member shouted out, "Hey Mayor, stand up."

Measuring up #2. Partyka took some heavy shots from audience members during a public input session over a proposed Respite Center for the homeless. The Winter Springs mayor brokered the land deal that resulted in the sale of a four acre parcel to HCCH for the proposed facility, a deal worth $240,000. Several audience members accused him of lining his pockets at the expense of Winter Springs residents and homeowners who adamantly oppose the facility. Partyka responded that he was required to sell the property to any qualified buyer or risk losing his real estate license for discrimination.

Speak now or ... The hearing to oust all five Sanford Housing Authority Board members comes at an awkward time for the City Commission. Under state law, only the mayor may bring charges against the board. The commission, of course, must approve it by a majority vote after board members have been allowed to answer the charges. With Brady Lessard taking over as mayor on Tuesday, that means Lessard will conduct the hearing on charges brought by out-going Mayor Larry Dale, who will present his findings as a private citizen. While the process shouldn't be affected by the transition, the two joked about the unusual predicament.

"This means I'm going to have to call him 'Your Honor,'" Dale said.

"And it means I have to let you talk," Lessard responded.

Pomp and circumstance. On Wednesday, four of the five city commissioners attended a ceremony at Seminole High School to honor the school's faculty. During the ceremony, Commissioner Whitley Eckstein, who teaches at the school, got in a couple of zingers on the commission's two Generation-X members, and Baby-Boomer, Yelma Williams. "Everybody knows Commissioner Williams, she graduated from Crooms Academy in 1941," Eckstein said. "And two of our commissioners, Brady Lessard and Randy Jones, will graduate this spring."

Jones said he and Lessard had to sneak off campus as they left the ceremony.

"Whitley blew our cover. We've been cutting class for the last nine weeks," Jones quipped.

Diamond in the rough. Locals who have followed second baseman David Eckstein since his Sanford sandlot days have to be heartened this spring. Following a stellar minor league career with the Boston Red Sox, Eckstein was given the shaft by the Boston franchise when they released him from AAA Pawtucket last summer. Quickly picked up by the Anaheim Angels, Eckstein has had a solid spring with his new club, hitting .316 as of Friday, and appears to be a lock to make the Angels' 25-man opening day roster. Anaheim has played him at second base, third, and shortstop, perhaps solidifying a permanent spot on the major league roster when injured starter Adam Kennedy recovers from a broken knuckle. If memory serves the Clock correctly, didn't the Red Sox also trade Babe Ruth?

Business as usual? Seems as if Sanford Seminole Chamber of Commerce CEO Ron Rose and organizers of the recent Miss Seminole County Scholarship Pageant have their noses bent over Herald staffer Art Zellinski's "Man on the Street" question in this week's newspaper. Our Polish Prince from Pittsburgh simply asked a number of folks if they thought beauty pageants were outdated. Organizers whined this week that their event is a "scholarship" pageant, not a beauty pageant. Let's see, there was an evening gown competition, a swimsuit competition and a talent competition. All of the contestants looked like they just finished a photo shoot for a Vogue Magazine cover. We need to bring Bert Parks in as part of Zellinski's defense team. While we are at it, somebody get Johnny Cochran (if the evening gown doesn't fit, you must acquit). As director of the chamber, maybe Rose should spend more of his time promoting business and economic development and less time worrying about what they call an event with a bunch of pretty ladies showing off their bodies.

New meaning to one-on-one. From our little bird department comes this item. Seems Mayor-elect Brady Lessard took Gary Lowell, who sits on a number of volunteer city boards, behind closed doors last week for a little friendly chat. Apparently Lessard was miffed that Lowell supported one of Lessard's opponents, Kerry Lyons, in the recent mayoral election. Guess the new mayor wants to make sure everybody is on the same page here.

Prostitution

Sarah Ann Willis, 51, SR-46, Sanford, was arrested by sheriff's deputies Thursday, as the result of an undercover operation against prostitution. She was reportedly located at Main Street and Beardall Avenue in Midway where she is said to have propositioned an undercover officer. She was arrested on charges of assignment to commit prostitution and possession of narcotics equipment. After being taken to the John E. Polk Correctional Facility, it was also found she was wanted on an active Seminole County warrant for failing to appear on a misdemeanor charge.

Shoplifting

Patricia Diann Smith, 37, Cowan Mouton Terrace, and Johnnie Clinton Swain, 40, of Granby Street, both of Sanford, were arrested by Sanford police Thursday at a retail store in the 2400 block of South French Avenue. Smith was said to have taken four T-shirts, valued at $20, and Swain had five disposable cameras and two sardines, valued at $28. Both were said to be taking the items from the store without paying. Each was charged with shoplifting-petty theft.

Traffic Stops

• Darrell Wayne Robertson, 46, Mainsail Court, Lake Mary, was stopped by Longwood police early Friday on Highway 17-92. He was charged with driving under the influence of alcohol and driving with a suspended license.

• Ryan Joseph McGinti, 18, of Casselberry, was stopped by Lake Mary police on Towne Center Blvd. west of Rinehart Road Thursday. He was charged with driving with a suspended license and possession of under 20 grams of cannabis.

• Darryl Craig Tate, 42, West 14th Street, Sanford, was arrested by Sanford police Friday.

Officers said he had been involved in a collision with another vehicle on West 6th Street. He was identified to officers by a witness. He was located at his residence and charged with hit & run, leaving the scene with property damage, driving with a suspended license, failing to exhibit registration, and careless driving.

Drug Sting

Peter Shaun Aduet, 38, of Dubose Street, Sanford, was arrested by member of the City/County Investigative Bureau (CCIB) Thursday during an undercover sting in Bookertown subdivision. He was charged with possession of a controlled substance, possession of cocaine with intent to sell/distribute, and possession/use of narcotics equipment.

Caught In The Act

Erin Hillstrom, 31, Dorchester Square, Lake Mary, was arrested by sheriff's deputies early Friday. An officer, going to her house on an unrelated matter, saw what he believed to be a man and woman in the living room, sharing a smoke. Upon investigation, marijuana was located in the residence. Hillstrom was arrested on charges of possession of under 20 grams of marijuana.

Sleeping

Clemente Cazares, 30, of Lake Wales, was arrested by Sanford Police early Friday. Police were called to Regatta Shores Apartments by a security guard who reportedly found a man sleeping in his vehicle with the motor running.

After police arrived, they charged Cazares with driving under the influence of alcohol, reckless driving and no proof of insurance.

Family Owned & Serving Central Florida Since 1889

We are alarmed by the decision of some corporately owned funeral homes to remove PreNeed trust funds from the Trust. Florida Law does allow a funeral home to buy a bond in lieu of depositing PreNeed funds in a state approved trust.

At the time you pre-arranged your funeral we told you your money would be deposited in a state approved trust fund according to the requirements of Florida Statutes. As promised, the proper deposits have been made to the trust fund.

Our promise to provide a loving and respectful funeral according to your wishes will be honored. Your peace of mind is important to us... so we send this assurance that your money will stay in the trust fund until we certify to the trustee that death has occurred and we have provided the services and merchandise.

Our funeral home is family owned and operated and we thank you for knowing our family is good to our word. If you have any questions, please call us.

Bush's proposal to bankroll religions not too popular

The U.S. constitution dictates that Congress "shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion."

Chris Matthews

It's right there in the First Amendment, even before the guarantees of free speech, press and assembly.

The question is whether the Congress is preparing to violate this treasured "establishment," which separated this country from those our freedom-seeking forebears left behind in Europe.

I'm talking about the surprising unpopularity of the Bush administration proposal to bankroll religions in their provision of social services. People like the idea only if it means more money and added prestige for their brand of religion.

"Do you think it is a good or a bad idea," a recent New York Times poll asked, "for the federal government to give money to religious organizations so they can provide social services like job training and drug treatment counseling?"

Two-thirds agreed it was a "good idea." But not so fast!

"What if that meant the federal government would be giving money to religious organizations such as the Nation of Islam, the Church of Scientology and the Hare Krishnas?" the Times survey asked in follow-up. "Then do you think it would be a good idea or a bad idea?"

Two-thirds answered that it would be a "bad idea."

There's quite a lesson here. A "good idea" becomes a "bad idea" by the introduction of a fresh new thought. Money dispensed to the church and synagogue will also be dispensed to mosque, storefront and street. Federal dollars that win goodwill for the familiar religions will do the same for those the majority finds strange.

This is precisely why the founding fathers wrote the First Amendment. Members of mainstream religions may not hear the church-state wall crumbling when their own church is getting the booty. They hear the cracking loud and clear when word passes to them that some Hare Krishna or scientologist may be lining up for a fat federal subsidy.

This explains the odd jamboree joining up to fight President Bush's "faith-based initiative." The good folk don't mind a teensy violation of the "establishment" clause when it comes to them and their close religious neighbors. But breathe a word about spreading some of the government's loose change to the street-level "faiths," and you're looking at the tower of Babel.

Rose appreciates Herald's support

To the editor:
The Sanford/Seminole County Chamber of Commerce extends sincere appreciation to the Seminole Herald for assisting the Chamber in promoting the successful Larry Dale Roast. It was a wonderful salute to our Mayor for his hard work, accomplishments and leadership over the past four years. We salute the Herald's commitment to building a stronger community and chamber. Thank you for your support and partnership, which is so important to the overall success of our fund-raising events.

At colleges there's fear of free speech

Abraham Foxman, national director of the Anti-Defamation League, is a friend of mine. I applauded him in this column when he accused Sen. Joseph Lieberman of trying to turn his vice-presidential campaign into a religious test for public office. But Foxman — in a letter printed in the March 23 edition of The New York Times — is sounding like all too many college students across the land who cry "racism" and "bigotry" when an article in a college paper offends them.

Foxman's letter was about the controversial advertisement that conservative David Horowitz tried to place in a large number of college newspapers. The headline of the advertisement read "Ten Reasons Why Reparations for Slavery is a Bad Idea — and Racist Too."

As of this writing, 32 college papers have refused to run the ad, and three of the few papers that published it have apologetically apologized. A Brown University newspaper did print the Horowitz ad, and Foxman accuses the paper of complicity in Horowitz's alleged act of "fomenting racism and hate."

First, although the ad offended many students, there is as yet no constitutional amendment protecting Americans from being offended. Second, the ad is neither bigoted nor racist.

It's part of a continuing debate. And to call Horowitz a racist is to cheapen the word and diminish its moral clout. Horowitz himself cheapens the word by describing the argument for reparations as "racist."

In criticizing the Brown student newspaper, Abraham Foxman ignores the fact that in the interest of encouraging a free exchange of ideas — which is what colleges are for — the Brown Daily Herald gave the students protesting the ad a free page of advertising to refute it, and donated the $750 the Herald received from Horowitz to the Third World Student Coalition. Moreover, the paper enlarged its space for opinion articles on the subject.

Foxman also neglected to report that some of the offended Brown students stole 4,000 copies of the edition of the Herald that had the ad in it. And student critics at the University of California at Berkeley — home of the Free Speech Movement in 1964 — stole copies of the Daily Californian, a campus newspaper that ran the ad. The editor of that paper, yielding to pressure, has since apologized for running this "inflammatory and inappropriate" ad.

The editor of the Harvard Crimson, which — like any newspaper, on or off campus — has the right to reject any ad, gave as his reason for refusing Horowitz's that it would have "aggravated" the Crimson's readers.

And in New York, the editor of the Columbia Spectator, which also rejected the ad, said "I don't think it's the newspaper's responsibility to create an atmosphere of free speech on campus. It's not our power."

But his newspaper did exercise its power to restrict campus debate on reparations.

Leon Botstein, the president of Bard College in New York, commented on the climate for a diversity of ideas on college campuses in a letter to The New York Times. "We say we believe in dissent, but we actually do not practice it well."

Many students react to ideas they don't like as though they were apprentice members of the Chinese Politburo. And a dismaying number of college professors and administrators remain silent as "subversive" newspapers are stolen, trashed and sometimes made into celebratory bonfires. The destruction of dissenting newspapers is in the tradition of pro-slavery mobs attacking abolitionist papers — as demonstrated in Michael Kent Curtis's new book, "Free Speech" (Duke University Press, 2000).

At the University of Wisconsin, the independent Badger Herald printed the Horowitz ad. Its editor and reporters were confronted by crowds of yelling students accusing them of spreading "racist propaganda." The Badger Herald erred only in refusing to run an ad by the outraged Multicultural Student Coalition accusing the Badger Herald itself of chronic racism. Why not run it — and answer it? That would have been a consistent First Amendment manifesto.

I asked John Nichols, the editorial page editor of The Capitol Times in Madison, Wis., where the Badger Herald is being besieged, whether any professors had spoken in support of the student paper's courage in wielding the Excalibur of the First Amendment.

Nichols told me he didn't know of any such brave professors. "What about the law school?" I asked. "Oh, we have some First Amendment experts there," Nichols said, "but no one said anything."

When the anti-free-speech hordes arise, too many faculty members and administrators fear being called racists or bigots. Their silent cowardice further encourages students to forget that — as Justice William Brennan of the Supreme Court told me — it is from the First Amendment and its spirit of free speech and a free press that all our other liberties flow. From the students of today will come the teachers, lawyers, journalists and other influential citizens of the future. That is scary.

SHIPS (CARRYING EXPELLED SPIES) THAT PASS IN THE NIGHT

From A to Z

Art Zielinski asks people what they think ...

The days of television shows like "Father Knows Best" and "I Love Lucy" are long gone. Welcome to the year 2001. Television violence is everywhere, and sex doesn't come in a plain brown wrapper anymore. Network executives deliver it right into your living room. So our question today is, "Do you object to the amount of sex and violence on television today?"

Yes, I think it's excessive and on too early in the evening — you even see it in prime time. There's even violence in cartoons. It's unnecessary and it doesn't add anything to the story.
Jackie Nesley, Tennessee

Yes, I object. We can't sit down as a family and watch a television show. Today, I don't feel I can watch TV with my granddaughter. We have no wholesome family shows to watch.
Linda Moore, Sanford

Absolutely I object. It's a very poor example for our young people. Kids have too much access to the television, and I blame it on poor parental guidance. Turn the TV off!
Faye Siler, Sanford

Yes I object, but I think you see more sex on television than violence. And it's very explicit. I also hate that they are paying the actors to smoke on television.
Laura Stubbe, Sanford

I definitely object. There were more family type shows on TV when we were kids. Today the violence is glorified and has become commonplace. Everything is death and destruction.

Sanford to participate in Front Porch Florida Program

Governor Jeb Bush selected Sanford's Goldsboro neighborhood to participate in the "Front Porch Florida" program. The program is designed to advance an urban policy that will release the power of local communities in Florida's urban core to rebuild their neighborhoods through redevelopment process that is neighborhood driven, assist-based, and focused on community relationships. The Sanford/Seminole County Chamber of Commerce and the City of Sanford has aggressively lobbied the Governor for Sanford's Goldsboro neighborhood to be chosen as a Front Porch Florida neighborhood since the program was announced in the Spring of 1999. Florida House Speaker and Sanford/Seminole County Chamber Board Member Tom Feeney stated, "I am thrilled that Sanford was selected to be the beneficiary of 'Front Porch Florida'. Sanford represents a historic and cultural core of the greater Orlando area, and is an exciting opportunity for the community to serve as an example of urban revitalization."

"Front Porch Florida" employs a comprehensive approach, empowering residents to define and develop solutions to their problems, with influences in the areas of higher quality education, economic growth and environmental preservation. When the program was announced in 1999 the Chamber and Commissioner Velma Williams hosted a meeting of approximately 65 people met at the Chamber of Commerce to get the city's name on the table. The Governor set a goal of designating 20 Front Porch communities by the end of 2002.

"From the beginning City Commissioner and Sanford/Seminole County Chamber Board Member Velma Williams has been a tireless advocate for Sanford to be the recipient of 'Front Porch Florida' and her efforts along with outgoing Mayor Larry Dale have been tremendously successful," stated Chamber President Ronald Rose.

The program dollars initially could be allocated to Sanford for expenses such as; establishment as a 501 (c)(3) organization, funding a local Front Porch Neighborhood coordinator or funding neighborhood planning meetings. The city will be required to provide fiscal and technical assistance and the Chamber will continue its community leadership role and will work to maintain enthusiasm for the program.

Sanford Exhibit Takes 1st Place Ribbon At Fair

The Sanford community display at the Central Florida Fair was awarded First Place Community Pride. The exhibit was sponsored by the Sanford/Seminole County Chamber of Commerce. The theme of the 2001 fair was, "Where Fair Days Are A Family Tradition". "This was a community effort," said Ronald Rose, Chamber President/CEO who designed the display. "The community display was a great opportunity for the Chamber to showcase all the positive progress taking place in Sanford, and why Sanford is an ideal place to open the doors of a new business, raise a family, educate our children and call home." Contributors to the community booth display include the City of Sanford, Sanford Museum, Central Florida Zoo, Orlando Sanford Airport, ACE Hardware, Todd's Tomatoes and Produce, Carpet Works, Stairs Property Management and Real Estate, Student Museum, Central Florida Regional Hospital, Sanford Main Street, and the Helen Stairs Theatre.

"Each of our community displays are a celebration of the traditions found throughout each of our diverse communities in Central Florida," said Val Hagen, Marketing Director of the Fair. The Central Florida Fair is Central Florida's oldest and largest non-profit fair. The fairgrounds are located on West Colonial Drive in Orlando. Next year's fair dates are February 31 through March 10, 2002.

The statue of community humanitarian Dr. Lewis M. Perez, on display in the Chamber of Commerce, was recently refurbished courtesy of Shirley Schilke. Ms. Schilke was president of the Chamber in 1987 and Chairperson of the Dr. Lewis M. Perez Humanitarian Award Selection Committee.

Presentation of the prestigious award is made during the Chamber's annual installation of officers and presentation of awards banquet. The award honors individuals for their meritorious service to society demonstrating exceptional concern and welfare and happiness of all. Recipients of the award which started in 1988 include: Dr. Luis Perez, George Touchy, Dr. Vann Parker, Lucia Weaver, Mother Bell Weaver, Irene Brown, Phyllis Cowkin, Jeanette Stiffey, Gary Rudolph, Lee P. Moore, Thelma Mike, Leonard Williams and Don Knight.

System. As crusty as he seems on the outside, Moore turned to genuine jello Wednesday when a young, 17-year-old, red-head, walked into the Juvenile Justice Week celebration at County offices housed in the "Reflections" Center on Lake Mary Boulevard.

"I hear good things about you Roy," Moore said. "I was bragging about your success to some of the kids you've left in the dust just yesterday. I'm proud of you. And you should be proud of yourself."

The Roy that Moore referred to is Roy Corbett, a typical example of the type of young man or woman involved at some level in the Seminole County Juvenile Justice System.

For Corbett, freshly armed with a high school diploma and a full-time job at McDonald's, the visit brought former mentor and pupil together again. They spent months together as tormentor and tormentee in a Level Six lockdown facility surrounded by barbed wire. While Wednesday's reunion was upbeat, the story wasn't always that rosy.

Corbett began using drugs when he was just 10. Falling prey to peer pressure he eventually found himself on the wrong side of the law and entered the system in his early teens. Thanks to the efforts of Moore and others who represent a kaleidoscope of services and help, Corbett has apparently rounded the corner and targeted in to his own future. Following his 5 a.m. to 2 p.m. gig at McDonald's, he heads to Seminole Community College for night classes in the school's private pilot ground program.

His short term goals are to stay out of trouble, make some money, and get an apartment. His long-term goals are to train with Comair at the Orlando Sanford International Airport and eventually fly for Delta.

Corbett has had some soul-searching decisions to make in the past two years, decisions that would ultimately ground him for life, or give flight to his dreams and future. With Moore's no nonsense help, young Corbett is back on the

Juvenile crime rate drops in Seminole

By Joe DeSantia
Staff Writer

SANFORD — Bolstered by a formal Seminole County Proclamation, and encouraged by declining juvenile crime statistics, agencies involved with Seminole County's Juvenile Justice System took some time this week to celebrate networking opportunities and commemorate "Juvenile Justice Week."

"Juvenile Crime rates are dropping faster in Seminole County than any other county in Florida," said Captain Kip Beacham of the Seminole County Sheriff's Office.

Beacham oversees the County's Juvenile Justice Center and is often the initial contact point for a young boy or girl who has strayed off the straight and narrow path. He was joined in Wednesday's open house by a host of other agencies that form the network of groups that deal with juveniles, including The Grove Counseling Center, the Juvenile Assessment Center, Families in Recovery, Boys Town, Dr. English Associates, and the State Attorney's Office.

"Those juvenile crime rates are dropping because of the increased level of partnership between the Juvenile Justice Center, the County School Board, the State Attorney's Office and the other agencies that serve the 10-17 year old population," said Beacham. "Today's open house gives us even more of an opportunity to network our various services and to invite the public, particularly parents in, so they can see the services available that can help parents take a more proactive approach before their kids have to get involved in the system."

That networking approach between the various agencies appears to be paying dividends. While Seminole County's population of 10- to 17-year-olds grew by three percent last year, the volume of cases entering the juvenile justice system decreased by five percent.

According to Juvenile Justice Circuit 18 Manager Teresa Ponchak, whose coverage area includes Brevard and Seminole Counties, there were a total of 2,087 referrals to the Department of Juvenile Justice that accounted for a total of 3,286 separate cases in Fiscal Year 1999-2000. Those numbers represent an overall drop of 10 percent in referrals from the previous year and a six percent drop in separate cases handled by the system.

"We're really pleased with the numbers," said Ponchak. It's reflective of the partnership between the agencies and the increased involvement of adults with kids in that age population. Those statistics are a result of the coordinated efforts of the various agencies since 1994.

Beacham also attributed the drop in numbers to local citizens and businesses who step forward to help address the issue, reflected by the more than 36,000 volunteer hours donated by individuals, groups, and businesses last year.

"Residents step up, Neighborhood Watch Programs step up, and businesses like Wal-Mart, Target, McDonald's and others come to the table in a number of ways to help," said Beacham.

He added that Faith-based components, aided by the help of local churches, are also playing an increasingly significant role in the breadth of approaches taken by service providers in the juvenile justice arena.

runway to a brighter tomorrow.

"I was dumb, got into drugs and trouble early," Corbett openly admitted during the reunion. "I was more a follower than a leader. I finally got to the point in my mind and set my foot down that it was a waste of time and money to keep getting into trouble. It got to the point where it simply wasn't worth it. I finally realized I have to brush off temptation because with that temptation comes costs and consequences."

"Like Roy, I try to teach these kids to have vision and to dream," said Moore. "Society has become far too liberal. We treat the truth like truth is a lie. And the truth is many of the kids I deal with, kids like Roy, fundamentally lack knowledge and education. They have no self esteem because they've trusted adults in the past and adults have cast them aside and damaged them in some way. I try to introduce them to values and morals.

"Believe me, they are hungry for that, they sometimes fight against it, but deep inside they thirst for it. They want structure, they want someone to show some caring and some control over what happens to their lives. My job is to convince them to accept themselves and empower who they are as individuals so they can accomplish their goals."

With Moore's education and military background he could have easily gone into any number of fields with far more attractive pay, power, and prestige following his Navy career. Watching him interact and communicate with troubled kids like Roy for just five minutes is enough to convince any observer that Moore has found a higher reward, much more substantive and tangible than a big pay check at the end of the month.

"To many of these kids I'm both the mother and father that's been missing in their lives," he shared. "I don't do this for the money, I do it because I have a genuine desire to help these kids develop some depth to their character, to help them capitalize on their abilities and to show them how to formulate will power and impose that will toward their goals, showing them how to lead a life with purpose."

Moore and Corbett wrapped up their Wednesday reunion with a solid hand shake and a fatherly bear hug.

"Remember," Moore told young Roy Corbett. "The amount of success you have in life is equal to the amount of adversity you can handle."

I-4 ramp closes April 4

By Nick Pfeiffau
Staff Writer

SANFORD — The Florida Department of Transportation will be closing the Interstate-4 eastbound on-ramp at the U.S. Highway 17-92 interchange west of Sanford, for approximately five hours, Wednesday afternoon, April 4th.

The on-ramp will be closed from 2 p.m. until 7 p.m. to evaluate the effect of the closure on I-4's afternoon rush-hour traffic.

Traffic counts on the Interstate and other Seminole County eastbound on-ramps will be compared with similar counts made Wednesday. A similar test conducted last June was invalidated when afternoon rains and an eastbound accident in Volusia County just north of the I-4 bridge over the St. Johns River, made comparison with traffic on an earlier incident-free day impossible.

Steve Homan, spokesman for the Department of Transportation in DeLand, indicated that should there be heavy rains on Wednesday the project may be postponed.

"We don't know if it will rain hard on that day," he said, "but if it does, or anything else goes wrong, such as another accident, we'll have to change the closure until some other Wednesday."

Homan said the DOT believes Wednesdays are the best day of the week in which to judge homeward bound rush hour traffic.

Additionally, U.S. 17-92 south of DeBary in Volusia County was in the process of being widened to four lanes last summer. With that widening project now completed, northbound U.S. 17-92 is a viable option for commuters headed into Volusia County.

The U.S. 17-92 eastbound on-ramp has a very short acceleration area that ends at the concrete abutment on the west end of the I-4 St. Johns River bridge. In addition to safety issues, some officials believe the on-ramp contributes to rush hour eastbound backups on I-4 as merging on-ramp traffic causes sudden braking of mainline traffic.

The FDOT is also considering ramp closures during construction of the replacement to the St. Johns River bridge. That project, due to begin early this summer, includes a new eastbound on-ramp at U.S. 17-92 that will be longer, and will merge into three eastbound lanes on a bridge with a wide outside shoulder. Closing the existing on-ramp during construction, if it has no major impact on rush hour traffic, may help improve project phasing.

Sanford to participate in Front Porch Florida Program

Governor Jeb Bush selected Sanford's Goldsboro neighborhood to participate in the "Front Porch Florida" program. "The Front Porch Florida" initiative seeks to advance an urban policy that will release the power of local communities in Florida's urban core to rebuild their neighborhoods through redevelopment process that is neighborhood driven, assist-based, and focused on community relationships.

The Sanford/Seminole County Chamber of Commerce and the City of Sanford has aggressively lobbied the Governor for Sanford's Goldsboro neighborhood to be chosen as a Front Porch Florida neighborhood since the program was announced in the Spring of 1999.

Florida House Speaker and Sanford/Seminole County Chamber Board Member Tom Feeney stated,

"I am thrilled that Sanford was selected to be the beneficiary of 'Front Porch Florida'. Sanford represents a historic and cultural core of the greater Orlando area, and is an exciting opportunity for the community to serve as an example of urban revitalization."

"Front Porch Florida" employs a comprehensive approach, empowering residents to define and develop solutions to their problems, with influences in the areas of higher quality education, economic growth and environmental preservation.

When the program was announced in 1999 the Chamber and Commissioner Velma Williams hosted a meeting of approximately 65 people met at the Chamber of Commerce to get the city's name on the table. The Governor set a goal of designating 20

Front Porch communities by the end of 2002.

"From the beginning City Commissioner and Sanford/Seminole County Chamber Board Member Velma Williams has been a tireless advocate for Sanford to be the recipient of "Front Porch Florida" and her efforts along with outgoing Mayor Larry Dale have been tremendously successful," stated Chamber President Ronald Rose.

The program dollars initially could be allocated to Sanford for expenses such as; establishment as a 501 (c)3 organization, funding a local Front Porch Neighborhood coordinator or funding neighborhood planning meetings. The city will be required to provide fiscal and technical assistance and the Chamber will continue it's community leadership role and will work to maintain enthusiasm for the program.

Sanford Exhibit Takes 1st Place Ribbon At Fair

The Sanford community display at the Central Florida Fair was awarded First Place Community Pride. The exhibit was sponsored by the Sanford/Seminole County Chamber of Commerce. The theme of the 2001 fair was, "Where Fair Days Are A Family Tradition".

"This was a community effort", said Ronald Rose, Chamber President/CEO who designed the display. "The community display was a great opportunity for the Chamber to showcase all the positive progress taking place in Sanford, and why Sanford is an ideal place to open the doors of a new business, raise a family, educate our children and call home."

Contributors to the community booth display in clude the City of Sanford, Sanford Museum, Central Florida Zoo, Orlando Sanford Airport, ACE Hardware, Todd's Tomatoes and Produce, Carpet Works, Stairs Property Management and Real Estate, Student Museum, Central Florida Regional Hospital, Sanford Main Street, and the Helen Stairs Theatre.

"Each of our community displays are a celebration of the traditions found throughout each of our diverse communities in Central Florida", said Val Hagen, Marketing Director of the Fair.

The Central Florida Fair is Central Florida's oldest and largest non-profit fair. The fairgrounds are located on West Colonial Drive in Orlando. Next year's fair dates are February 31 through March 10, 2002.

The statue of community humanitarian Dr. Lewis M. Perez, on display in the Chamber of Commerce, was recently refurbished courtesy of Shirley Schilke. Ms. Schilke was president of the Chamber in 1987 and Chairperson of the Dr. Lewis M. Perez Humanitarian Award Selection Committee.

Presentation of the prestigious award is made during the Chamber's annual installation of officers and presentation of awards banquet.

The award honors individuals for their meritorious service to society demonstrating exceptional concern and welfare and happiness of all. Recipients of the award which started in 1988 include: Dr. Luis Perez, George Touchy, Dr. Vann Parker, Lucia Weaver, Mother Bell Weaver, Irene Brown, Phyllis Cowdlin, Jeanette Stiffey, Gary Rudolph, Lee P. Moore, Thelma Mike, Leonard Williams and Don Knight.

Wilson Elementary Student Wins Chamber Art Contest

Brody Griffith, a fourth grade student at Wilson Elementary, won the Sanford/Seminole County Chamber of Commerce Civic Pride Committee contest to name and draw the "Litter Critter". The Litter Critter was named "Wilson" after Brody's school, Wilson Elementary. The winning artwork was a raccoon in a garbage can. Brody won a trip for two to swim with the dolphins at Discovery Cove. The new mascot will be the ambassador of the Chamber committee's "Project First Impression" campaign to fight litter and develop community pride in Sanford.

"Wilson" the litter critter is featured on several thousand litterbags being distributed throughout the Sanford community and area schools. The litter bag project is sponsored by Seminole Towne Center, a Simon Mall. More than 300 Sanford area school students from grades one through six participated in the contest. The student artwork will be on display at the Seminole Towne Center Mall during Kid's Night the last Wednesday of each month. On March 10, the committee's first Citywide Clean-up Day was held and over 5,000 pounds of litter was picked-up.

Federal Trust Bank representative Evelyn Carlos presents a savings bond to the student of the month, Danielle Walden, a 5th grader at Pine Crest Elementary. Joining her is teacher, Deb Partridge, who was named teacher of the month. Washington Mutual Bank, located in Winter Park, donates the plaques each month.

*Dear Members,
 I just wanted to send you a heartfelt note of thanks for the award of the month award. Recognizing teachers as professionals is another one of the terrific things you keep on doing. I've lived in Seminole County all of my life and have worked on several service projects to support it. It's a great place to live. I have one son who is an Attorney and one who is an engineer. Our schools do a great job. Thank you again.*

Bill Heard Chevrolet Superstore celebrated its official grand opening on Saturday, March 17. The 36-acre facility is located at State Road 46 and Interstate 4 (Exit 51) in Sanford. With over 3,000 vehicles on site, consumers enjoy the best selection of Chevrolets in Central Florida. The service, body and parts departments will be able to serve 800 cars per day. The superstore brings with it 500 jobs. The showroom, at 175,000 square feet, will be the largest in the country.

Orlando Sanford International Airport (SFB) held their official grand opening of the new terminal complex on Friday, March 23. The completion of the $27 million terminal expansion that began in January 2000, will enable the airport to better serve its domestic and international customers in a modern and efficient way. For more information, visit the airport's website at www.orlandosanfordairport.com.

The Sanford Airport Memorial Committee, a committee started by the Chamber to create a memorial park at the Orlando Sanford International Airport, must raise $40,000 by May 1st in order to bring an historic aircraft to Sanford. The centerpiece of the park will be a U.S. Navy RA-5C Vigilante aircraft mounted as an in-flight display. Please help them bring home the "Vigie" by sending a tax-deductible gift to The Sanford Airport Memorial Committee, One Red Cleveland Boulevard, Sanford, FL 32773.

The Orlando Sanford International Airport continues to post increases this year. The airport serviced a total of 55,432 passengers in January 2001, made up of 13,552 domestic travelers and 41,880 international. January posted a 45% increase in total operations over this period last year.

Local Attorney, Stephen Coover has been re-appointed to a second 3-year term to the Board of Trustees for Central Florida Regional Hospital and has been elected Chairman of the Board for 2001.

The Chamber's Adopt A Class program has raised over $3,000 to benefit the students of Sanford area schools thanks to the support of local businesses. These funds are used to enhance and enrich the learning environment for students. The program has also resulted in area businesses donating equipment and supplies.

ReferralsReport

For the month of March 2001, our Chamber of Commerce Information and Referral Center received a total of 934 inquiries (447 telephone, 311 walk-ins, 35 e-mails, and 121 postal service). Inquiry breakdown is as follows: 47% Relocation; 44% Visitor; 5% Seasonal Resident; 4% New Business Information.

The Way We Were: Letters from Loundon, Part 2

This is the continuation of information found in an 1880 letter written by Mr. Gerald Waller. He was reporting his findings about Henry Sanford's Florida properties to a London firm.

The Township of Sanford and its surrounding area was suitable for orange culture; in the Sanford Grant and in the neighborhood there were about 2 million orange trees. Land in the vicinity was being rapidly purchased by intended planters.

Mr. Waller went on to explain that imported European fruit had an ad valorem duty of 20 percent. There was also a wastage of about 50 percent on oranges from the Mediterranean and wastage from other countries was comparable. Therefore, it was evident that there was profit from Florida citrus in the future. The demand for citrus in the United States was in excess of supply.

Because of its location, Sanford was the distribution point for over 30 post offices, ten years ago there were only two in the county. Orange County had increased its population by 150 percent in the last ten years.

The South Florida Railroad Company had been completed to Orlando, a distance of 22 miles. This company was the property of Boston capitalists and would eventually connect Sanford to Tampa by rail. When completed, it would open up a well watered new country of forest and prairie which would be suitable for the culture of cotton, sugar and other products.

The town was in telegraphic communication with the north by a line owned by a small local company.

The water, according to Mr. Waller, was unfit for domestic use. This was due to Salt Springs in the lake and the presence of sulfur in the wells. The people, therefore, supplied themselves with rainwater, stored in cisterns. This was inconvenient and also inadequate, so one of the first necessities to be undertaken by the company would be to bring a supply of pure water into the town. Mr. Waller believed this could be done from Lake Monroe at a small cost with a good return on the outlay.

A sawmill had been working on the grant for about ten years, but the capacity was inadequate for the demand of the increasing population. Mr. Waller suggested that an engine and machinery of greater power should be purchased. The supply of lumber was unlimited as was its requirements for railway sleepers, house and boat building, and fruit boxes.

There was a considerable growth of fine cedars in the county which would be valuable for the manufacture of lead pencils, cigar boxes, etc.

Evidently, Mr. Sanford had also owned property in Alachua County which had also been purchased by the Florida Land and Colonization Company, as Mr. Waller and Mr. Ingraham traveled there to view it. They went in Mr. Sanford's buggy with a pair of horses, camping out two nights on the road. Mr. Waller was very impressed by the country they passed through which was described as undulating land, covered with some of the finest pine timbers he had ever seen. It was interspersed with hammock lands bearing live oak, magnolia and cypress, all well watered with small lakes and streams.

The price paid by the saw mills for pine lumber was 25 cents each for the best trees; the purchaser felling and removing them. Mr. Waller said that colored labor was obtainable on reasonable terms in Sanford and more could be procured in Jacksonville.

In the next paragraph when Mr. Waller speaks of the hotel, I am assuming it is the Sanford House as no mention was made of any settlement on Mr. Sanford's property in Alachua County. It is my belief that he only owned land and saw mills there.

The annual income was about $4,882. This came from the hotel which was leased on a rental based on a percentage of gross profits, the rents for some cottages, stores and warehouses, and from the profits of the saw mills. In Mr. Waller's judgment, under proper management and by a judicious outlay of capital, the property would continue to increase in value. Dividends to the owners of the company would mainly come from profits on the sale of the lands. These sales would be dependent on further expenditures for improvements.

In Mr. Waller's opinion, the present policy of the company to be to dispose of its outlying lands and concentrate on its work at Sanford and vicinity.

Dr. E.M. Beardall, who donated the letter to the Sanford Library in 1951, was the son of the late William and Florence Beardall, pioneer English settlers in Sanford, after whom Beardall Avenue was named.

Dr. Beardall was a brother of Mayor William Beardall of Orlando, and Admiral John R. Beardall, who, at one time, had served as aide to President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

I looked in "Henry Shelton Sanford - A Biography" to see if it mentioned his owning property in Alachua County, but it was silent on the subject. But it did state that General Sanford purchased, before 1870, a grove in St. Augustine from Col. John Hay, which Hay had acquired while as secretary to President Lincoln.

As to the Florida Land and Colonization Company, the book informs that it was organized in 1880 in England by General Sanford. This company took over the general's extensive land holdings in Florida. General Sanford was the president and largest stockholder.

I do know from church records that it was the Florida Land and Colonization Company of London that gave to what is now First Baptist Church, one lot at the corner of Park Avenue and Sixth Street for the sum of one dollar, in 1884. The deed specifically states that the land was given for the express purpose of placing thereon, a Baptist Church, and should the land ever cease to be used for that purpose, the deed would become null and void. The deed was signed by Edwin Dawes, George Thompson and Anthony Morris, trustees.

Business Notes

Roser Joins Fidelity

Holly Roser, a veteran title insurance executive with both marketing and escrow experience, has joined Fidelity National Title Insurance of New York at a Senior Escrow Officer for the company's Direct Operations in Longwood.

Roser, a resident of Lake Mary, has over 10 years experience in the Central Florida market and will handle residential closings as well as provide escrow services for the company's client base.

She will work out of the company's Sabal Point office at 320 W. Sabal Place in Longwood.

Realvest Negotiates Lease

Realvest Partners Inc. developer of the Lake Mary Business Center off Lake Emma Road has leased 19,355 square feet of the facility to Anthony & Sylvan Pools, Inc.

The company will use the space as a national training facility and the local headquarters.

Realvest also negotiated a new lease for 6,840 square feet of warehouse space at 114 Pineda Street in Longwood.

The transaction is valued at $46,683 on behalf of Florida Business Interiors, Inc. The landlord is American Industrial Center, Ltd.

Work Complete At Logan Heights

Vestcor Construction Services has completed work on Logan Heights Apartments, a 360-unit apartment project in Sanford.

The $16 million project was constructed using concrete tunnel forms. The project called for 15 buildings, a clubhouse, leasing center and pool.

Vestcor specializes in building multi-family projects using concrete tunnel form construction. The popularity of the poured-in-place concrete structures has generated more than $100 million in new business.

Butschlinger Promoted

Florida Solar Technology of Sanford has announced the promotion of Randy Butschlinger from sales executive to operations coordinator.

Butschlinger, who lives in DeBary, has been with the company for one year. He will be responsible for coordinating sales installations and service departments at the firm's Sanford headquarters.

Olmstead New President

H.L. "Buddy" Eidel, co-founder and president of Altamonte Springs based Tri-City Electrical Contractors, Inc., has announced that Jack A. Olmstead has been promoted to president, as part of Tri-City's previously announced succession plan. Eidel continues to serve as Chairman Emeritus and David M. Beasley serves as senior vice president and chief operating officer.

Beckerich Named Director
ERA Breese, Craft, Hensley and Associates in Altamonte Springs has named Georgia Beckerich as director of senior housing. Beckerich, a license real estate broker, is currently affiliated with Longwood Gardens assisted living facility.

She will be involved in the company's new division that will focus exclusively on the needs of elderly homeowners faced with assisted care living facilities or nursing homes.

Reid, Rodon receive national recognition

Two long-term employees of the Orange County Corrections Department (OCCD) have been selected by the American Jail Association (AJA) for national recognition.

Officer Josie Reid has been chosen as the Correctional Officer of the Year 2001 and René Rodon was selected as the Correctional Civilian Employee of the Year 2001.

Reid is a 17-year veteran of Orange County Corrections and serves as a classification officer. She began her correctional career in 1984 as a nurse in the jail's Health Services Unit.

In 1989, she joined the uniformed ranks as a Classification Officer.

Reid works with the adult-adjudicated juveniles in many of the jail's programs and events targeting youthful offenders.

Rodon, also a 17-year employee, began her career in corrections in 1983. She has a history of being called upon to streamline work processes to ensure efficient operations.

Rodon is most recognized for her efforts in reorganizing office practices and procedures in several of the department's facilities, being the first person to successfully manage and facilitate simultaneous accreditation of the entire jail system's eight facilities by the American Correctional Association, and leading fund-raising efforts for various non-profit organizations that are supported by the department and County.

Both employees will receive their awards in ceremonies at the AJA's Annual Training Conference and Jail Expo in Columbus, Ohio, on April 25.

Last year, the AJA recognized the department's Mike Davies as Civilian Employee of the Year and in 1999 Kenneth Hardy was selected as the AJA Officer of the Year.

HDTV technology brings television viewing into 21st Century

For many TV watchers, HDTV is merely a buzzword describing some new kind of TV programming that is supposed to look better.

Actually, high-definition television is a total modernization of the way TV pictures have looked since the 1950s, with images that are sharper and clearer than regular TV.

Like most emerging technologies, HDTV has its confusing aspects, beginning with the types of HD sets you can buy. A full-fledged (or integrated) HDTV includes a built-in tuner that can accept, decode and render high-definition images without the need for a separate set-top box. Such sets now cost between $3,000 and $12,000, with many hovering between $3,800 and $7,000.

More common is the HDTV monitor, also called an HD-ready or HD-upgradable set. Most are 32- and 36-inch models that cost around $2,000 to $2,500. These TVs require a separate set-top decoder (basically, a sophisticated tuner) to display high-definition images. A separate set-top box usually adds another $500 or so to the total cost.

Further complicating matters are the two screen shapes, or aspect ratios, used for both types of HD set. The first HD sets had a wide screen (called 16:9, which refers to .16 inches horizontally for every 9 inches vertically) shaped to match true HD format. Now, more models have the squarish 4:3 aspect ratio of conventional TV. In some cases, you may see black bands above and below the image or on both sides, depending on the screen shape and whether you're watching HD or standard-definition programming.

For now, the availability of high-definition signals remains limited. (The Federal Communications Commission's 2006 deadline for completing the switch from standard definition to high definition is likely to be extended. One reason: It's contingent upon the unlikely prospect that at least 85 percent of American households will be equipped to receive the digital signals by then.) Moreover, in many cases in which it is available, the images are not actually transmitted in high definition. Instead, they're simply standard-definition images that are transmitted digitally, and thus they have lower picture resolution than true HD.

And most HD content is now movies — major networks are adding shows in HD very slowly. Further, few cable subscribers can yet receive any HDTV signals, for technical reasons as well as industry concerns over pirating of signals.

If your home has an unobstructed view of the southern horizon, you may be able to receive satellite TV and HDTV transmitted by that route. Or you might be able to use a rooftop or even a rabbit-ear antenna if you're close enough to a transmitter and nothing blocks the signal. But many viewers don't fall into either camp.

Where does all this leave you? If you're an admitted movie fanatic, you probably won't mind springing for an HD-ready TV with a set-top box you can upgrade or — should it become outmoded — replace. An HD set allows you to get optimal quality from all video sources.

Supplied with high-definition TV signals, it can display the ultimate TV image with stunning detail.

But the rest of us may well prefer to save money by waiting a while to buy an HDTV set. Although the cost of HD sets may have stabilized after dropping steadily since the first models arrived in 1998, it is likely that prices could drop significantly once the squabbles over standards and the worries about piracy subside.

Time

It will not be simple because the mechanism that controls the clock is 15 years old, and parts are no longer available. It must be handled with kid gloves.
Strine said that with the time change on Sunday morning, it will probably be early Monday before the clock is changed.
Daylight Saving Time is supposed to give people one hour more of sunlight at the conclusion of the day. It started during World War II, when the nation was more rural than it is now. With all the adult farmers off serving their country, the teenagers were asked to work the fields, tend the crops and mind the livestock. With Daylight Saving Time, students would be let out of school at what amounted to one hour earlier than during the winter months. They would, therefore, have more daylight for their chores.

Now however, with a less rural atmosphere, modern equipment and other advances, the high school boys aren't expected to take over dad's farm after school.
As such, many residents are against Daylight Saving Time. They wish it to remain as it is in each time zone, including the farming states.
Various organizations also give words of advice when people enter this new time period. Don't forget you have more clocks than those on the wall or counter. There are clocks in your TV set, VCR, microwave oven, fax machine, telephone answering machine, your wristwatches, clocks in your vehicles, and probably one that will require more than just a change of a dial — your computer.

Charges

charges against the board, including:
• Failure of the board to uphold its mission of providing safe and adequate public housing.
• More than 25 percent (128 of 480) of SHHA's units are boarded up and not available for use.
• Disregard for local, state and federal building renovation requirements.
• Though the housing authority has paid more than $200,000 to one contractor in the last 18 months, the city has issued no building permits according to Charles Rowe, the city's community development director.
• No permits have been pulled this of last fiscal year for any renovation work," Rowe said.
• Failure to perform a performance evaluation on Hudson for five years.

"Not only did the board members not evaluate Mr. Hudson, they didn't even know how much he was getting paid," said Commissioner Whitey Eckstein. "He made almost double what everybody thought he made."
Hudson's base salary in 1996 was $65,000. Last year the agency paid him $103,000.
• Failure to maintain proper oversight of the housing authority's operations.
• Dale cited the 40 findings of operational chaos in HUD's preliminary report and said he expects more detailed information once the full report is released.
• Failure to provide adequate documentation and internal controls of the authority's financial records.
• In a blunt letter from the accounting firm Greene, Dycus & Co., auditors "disclaim an opinion" of the housing authority's financial situation because of an "inability to obtain such sufficient evidential matter."
• "Basically, they cannot gather enough information to perform an audit," said Donna Watt, the city's finance director.
• "That's a strong word for the auditor to use — disclaim," Dale said.

The April 11 hearing puts the city commission in a unique situation because Dale's term ends April 3. Under Florida Statute 421.07, only the mayor can bring charges of inefficiency and negligence of duty. Though the statute does not require the city commission to approve the scheduling of a hearing date, City Attorney Bill Colbert said he felt more comfortable if the commission "concur[ed] without prejudice" to move forward with a hearing. The commission approved to do so unanimously. Mayor-elect Brady Lessard will preside over the hearing, and Dale will present his evidence as a private citizen.
This has not been fun," Dale said. "But HUD is going to issue its formal reports soon. It's better for us to take action before HUD drops the hammer, which they will surely do."

Airport

port processed 601 tons of cargo during the month. The significant jump in domestic passenger numbers is attributable to Pan American Airways, which carried more than 16,000 passengers in February — their largest total since the airline's inception in October of 1999. Pan American's numbers were boosted this year by route additions to Allentown, Pa., and Worcester, Ma.
OSI Director Victor White said February's numbers are indicative of the steady, incremental growth the airport has been working for.

"The latest numbers certainly look like we are achieving the type of growth that we've been working on," agreed White. "We are keeping an eye on the shifting economy, we have to be a little worried and concerned about it given the nature that most of the travel that comes into OSI is leisure travel. So far we have not seen an impact because of a slowing economy."
The rate of continued growth could make it easier for OSI to attract additional domestic carriers in the future.

"The success that Pan Am has had certainly is giving other carriers reason to give us a second look," said White. "The airline marketing business has its quirks. We still stand in the shadow of Orlando International Airport and not many carriers are interested in running a split operation in the same market."
"But," he said, "We are constantly marketing the Sanford facility to other carriers and it would seem like Pan Am's success here would serve as a magnet with the right market and route selection."

White said OSI should get another burst of activity in early June when Pan Am begins a number of daily regional flights within Florida.
"We certainly have high hopes for the potential success of regional flights," he said.
"Everybody here thinks with the right city selection around the state that the regional approach will take off like gang-busters."

Pan Am is currently awaiting final approval from the Federal Aviation Administration and the Federal Department of Transportation to begin regional service around the Sunshine State.

"The wheels turn in a very slow, methodical process at the Federal level," White said. "Pan Am is hoping to launch the regional program in early June."

actual competition. Sutton and Beauvoir began sketching and constructing their bridge a month before they arrived in Sanford to compete.

"A lot of cuts, scratches and blood went into it making our bridge," Beauvoir said. "But, it held up."

Other events included Cleopatra's Barge, an electric car race and the naked egg catch — probably the messiest competition during the day. Dozens of eggs were dropped off the first and second-floor balconies at the college's science building to test students' catching devices. If an egg didn't break, the device worked. However, a lot of yolk ended up on the sidewalk during the two-hour event.

Professor Alex Dickson said the Physics Olympics was created so students could test their science skills while having fun. More than two decades later, the competition still gives the students an opportunity to work together in designing and completing a project in order to compete in the regional competition.

"It's a reward for the students after a year of studying physics," the Seminole Community College physics professor said. "These are really good students who deserve to have some fun."

Thursday's event also gave the college an opportunity to show off its new science laboratory building. The 24,700 square foot $4.5 million science addition opened in January 1999 and is equipped with state-of-the-art technology. A year later, the old science building reopened after an extensive remodeling project that included completely gutting and rebuilding the facility's interior.

"With the completion of the new science laboratory building and complete remodeling of the old science building, the college has one of the best facilities for biology, chemistry, earth science and physics in the country," Dickson said. "It is hoped that when students visit the campus they will realize they do not have to travel far to get the best first two years of college possible."

While most students probably noticed the state-of-the-art facilities, most of their focus was on the competitions. The winners included:

Falling interest rates spur refinance activity in Seminole housing market

By Joe DeSantis
Staff Writer

SANFORD — Further cuts in prime interest rates last week by the Federal Reserve served to refuel a flurry of home mortgage refinancing in and around Seminole County.

While most local banks and mortgage companies agree last Tuesday's drop of one-half percent will have only a minimal impact on new mortgages, those institutions were universal in expressing refinance activity will again heat up.

"The larger the loan the smaller the drop in interest rates needs to be for it to make sense for homeowners to refinance," said Christian Valencia, financial analyst for Federal Trust in Sanford.

"[The] drop of one-half percent only means about an eighth of a percentage drop in mortgage rates for a fixed, 30-year loan," he said.

"When people think about refinancing they usually are looking for at least a full percent point lower than what they are currently paying. The size of the loan and potential long-term savings have to justify any new loan origination fees and closing costs the buyer usually absorbs."

Valencia added that it makes no real sense for someone carry a low loan balance of say $50,000 to make a moved based on a one percent drop in rates.

"With a $50,000 balance a drop like that only means a savings of four or five dollars a month on a mortgage payment," Valencia said. "It's likely the closing costs would be $1,000 or more—it would take a long time to recoup the additional costs."

At AmSouth Bank in Lake Mary, Martin Baker, Vice President and Market Manager said there has been a heavy increase locally in refinancing since rates began to drop at the first of the year.

"[The] drop will probably continue to fuel the move to refinance," agreed Baker.

"Especially for people who are carrying second mortgages and home equity loans.

"We'll continue to see people reevaluate their situation and many in financial markets are anticipating another drop before summer."

Baker said many lenders are being forced to "eat" some portion of closing costs on refinanced loans in order to keep the business of current customers who are actively shopping for the best available rate.

"Typically a homeowner needs to plan to remain in their current home for a minimum of five years in order for the drop of one full percentage point to even make sense in refinancing. Many buyers and refiners are also actively shopping for mortgage loans with no origination fees and no points," he said.

At Southern Community Banc Mortgage, Vice President Wayne R. Keeling said interest in first mortgages has been brisk with the continued falling rates and that activity was also picking up locally for refinancing.

"The rule of thumb is that typically a mortgage loan balance below $100,000 would require a two percent drop in rates while a one percent drop would be justified for mortgage balances over $100,000.

"You have to look at the loan amount and balance it against the refinancing costs in order to determine if you can recoup those costs in a reasonable amount of time," Keeling said.

Last week's drop in the prime marked the third time since Jan. 1 that the Federal Reserve has cut rates, and marked the 40th time since 1990 that Reserve Chairman Alan Greenspan has adjusted the prime rate in response to the national economy. Wall Street reacted nonchalantly to the drop with many analyst expecting a cut in the prime of three-quarters of a percentage point. Many analyst anticipate a further cut could come in early May.

Keeling said he doesn't anticipate rates will fall much further.

"I wouldn't hedge my bets on rates going down much further if I was thinking of a first mortgage or refinancing an existing one," he said.

"A lot depends on market conditions and mortgage rates are more closely tied to the bond market than the stock market. Eventually rates will go back up again and we all know from experience that they go up a lot faster than they come down."

A quick survey of local lending institutions this week revealed an average mortgage interest rate of 6.65 percent on a 30 year, fixed rate loan for borrowers with good credit scores.

Students learn about school board politics

By Michelle Jerla
Managing Editor

SANFORD -- Science triumphed last Tuesday in Meg Howard's second-grade class.

While Howard's students passed on extra math worksheets, an additional dictionary and more Dr. Seuss books, the purchase of two new science textbooks won unanimous approval among the classroom's board members. The vote was the end result of a mock school board meeting organized by Seminole County School Board Member Larry Furlong.

To celebrate Read Across America, Furlong, along with other community leaders, visited Idyllwild Elementary School last week to read Dr. Seuss books.

After reading to Howard's class, Furlong decided to teach the second-graders about their local school board. He gave the class $20 and instructed the students to spend it. However, they had to use the school board's process to decide what to purchase with the money.

"I wanted to explain to the students what a school board member does, but at the same time, not put them to sleep," Furlong said. "I'm here because I think this is a good way for school board members to connect with the students."

Following a classroom election, new school board members Jessica Lee, Nicholas Cole and Chairman Melanie Farrell discussed what should be purchased with the money. After three motions failed, the board members returned to their districts to find out how their constituents thought the money should be spent. "We hit a bit of an impasse, but it's just like real life," Furlong said.

After the Board reconvened, the young politicians discussed and approved the purchase of two new science books. Furlong surprised the students by letting the class keep the $20 so the books can be purchased.

Read Across America is an annual literacy event that coincides with the birthday of children's author Theodor Geisel, also known as Dr. Seuss. However, Idyllwild Elementary School celebrated the event several weeks late due to the scheduling of the FCAT and spring break, Idyllwild teacher Nancee Lowery said.

During the day, students wrote their own Dr. Seuss alphabet song, wore red and white "Cat In The Hat" hats and participated in numerous other activities.

"The event helps us show the children the pleasure in reading for fun, and the adults get to share time with them," Lowery said. "They just love it."

Idyllwild Elementary students also participated last Tuesday in the RIF (Reading Is Fundamental) program. Throughout the day, each student received a free book.

According to first-grade teacher Lisa Stalker, the book give away is sponsored by a RIF grant and First Union Bank. Each year, the students receive three books to take home with them.

"A lot of students don't have books at home, and they only read at school," Stalker said. "Hopefully, this program will foster their love for reading — at school and at home."

ADULT VOLLEYBALL

It came down to the very last game on the schedule, but the Guppies did what they had to do and joined the Shoestrings as regular season league champions as the City of Sanford Recreation and Parks Department Polar Bear Recreational Volleyball League wrapped up its regular season schedule this past Monday evening in the Dan Pelham Gymnasium at Sanford Middle School.

In the B League:

The Guppies got off to a good start with a very important victory, outscoring third place Sanford Church of God 11-7, a win that forced the Unknowns to sweep their four games if they wanted to get past the league leaders.

But then things got tough for the Guppies as they dropped an 11-9 decision to the Saints which kept them from clinching at least a tie for the title.

The Unknowns, meanwhile, took a major hit in their first game, dropping an extra-point, 12-10, game to the Saints, earning the Guppies at least a share of the crown.

The challengers bounced back, however, getting past Idyllwilde, 11-6, and Sanford Church of God, 11-7, to move within a game-and-a-half of the Guppies.

The two combatants then squared off and it was as good a game as was expected with the Unknowns completing a 3-1 week with an extra-point 12-10 victory to move within a 1/2-game of the lead.

The Guppies then took their turn to hold onto the lead, and they did it in style, whitewashing Idyllwilde, 11-0, in the final game on the schedule to secure the title.

In other games, the Saints added an 11-4 triumph over Idyllwilde to their wins over the Guppies and Unknowns, but dropped an 11-7 decision to Sanford Church of God to finish the week 3-1.

Sanford Church of God also added an 11-7 victory over Idyllwilde to cap off a 2-2 week.

In the A League:

The Shoestrings put a bow on their championship regular season, posting yet another perfect 3-0 week, their seventh of the season.

The wins came over Natton's Fence (15-5), Beer (30 (17-15), and Matt's Team (15-11).

Gunderson to represent US

Special to the Herald

PARADISE VALLEY, ARIZONA — Seeking its fourth International Cup win, the United States Tennis Association announced Monday that nationally ranked doubles specialist, Belmar Gunderson of Geneva, has been picked for the 2001 US Women's 65 Tennis Team.

The United States team will compete in this year's Kitty Godfree Cup tennis competition in Perth, Australia, from April 22nd-through-28th.

The US team will defend the Cup when it competes against some dozen of the world's top women's tennis teams on the tough grass court play in Perth. The Kitty Godfree Cup is a prestigious international competition for women age 65 and older. It is sponsored annually by the International Tennis Federation (ITF).

A world class doubles tennis player, Ms. Gunderson is currently ranked #1 in the US for 2000 in doubles play among women's 65 players. In the past four years she has won two ITF Worlds Doubles Championships, seven US National doubles championships, and countless doubles tournaments with several different players. She has been ranked #1 in US doubles play since 1997.

Last month, she and Cup teammate Nancy Reed of Winter Park won the 2001 National Clay Court doubles championship in Houston, Texas over stiff competition.

Ms. Gunderson brings a wealth of successful competitive tennis skills in doubles play to this year's US women's 65 team. As one of only four players chosen from the United States' top women's senior players, Ms. Gunderson will add strength, versatility and major international tournament experience to the US team. The US won the Kitty Godfree Cup in 1995, 1999 and 2000.

An outstanding athlete, Ms. Gunderson was Women's Athletic Director at Southern Missouri State University, has served on numerous USTA Women's Collegiate Tennis Sports Councils, and in 2001, was a charter inductee into the University of North Carolina-Greensboro Athletic Hall of Fame.

LIONS PICK UP STATE HONORS

It's been quite a past couple of weeks for Oviedo High School basketball stars Marcus Hayes (no. 23, left) and Shawn Witherspoon (No. 22, right). Hayes, a senior guard, signed a National Letter-of-Intent to attend Big 12 powerhouse Kansas State University and then was selected to the Second Team of the FHSAA/FSWA Class 6A All-State Team. Witherspoon, a junior forward who averaged 20.2 points per game for the 29-2 Lions, was tabbed as the Florida Dairy Farmers Class 6A Player-of-the-Year and was also picked for the All-State Second Team along with Hayes. The only other Seminole Athletic Conference player to gain attention was Lake Brantley shooting guard Scott Eradley, who was named Honorable Mention in Class 6A.

Seminole holds off Rams in softball

LAKE MARY — History was made at Lake Mary High School's softball field Tuesday night.

First, the Rams' Kristen Patton hit the first-ever Lake Mary home run out of their ball park.

Second, the Fighting Seminoles had to go to extra innings, but the team won its first-ever game on the Rams' home turf and completed a season sweep of the home-and-home series with a 3-2 victory in the Seminole Athletic Conference contest.

Surging Seminole has now won four game in a row to improve to 10-7 and has shown signs of improvement as the season has progressed.

Seminole head coach David Rogers was extremely happy with the win as it gave his team a two-game winning streak over Lake Mary, a team it had never beaten before this season.

Seminole grabbed the lead immediately as Kara Lively (two-for-three in the game) hit a double to center and scored a pair of wild pitches in the top of the first inning. The Tribe had a chance to take a big lead, but the Rams' Abby Anderson avoided further damage by stranding runners on first and second.

The pitching dominated over the next four innings until Patton hit her historic home run over the center field fence leading off the bottom of the fifth inning. It was the first time a Lake Mary slugger hit a home run in the seven year old park.

"I talked to Mindy Crouse (Seminole pitcher) after the home run," said Rogers. "She struck out a batter and had the other two outs on grounders."

Both defenses kicked into gear after that as neither team's offense could capitalize on some base hits.

It was in the eighth inning that Seminole got some big breaks when the Rams defense committed three errors in a row.

With one out, Mandy Priddy, Megan Pickren and Kim Beaudoin all reached on infield errors, loading the bases. Taylor Norvell then hit a rare two-run sacrifice fly to left field, scoring both Priddy and See Softball, Page 2B

Lake Mary baseball team makes Top 20 in ESPN, Baseball America polls

By Dean Smith

OVIEDO — A week after picking up the No. 1 ranking in the FSWA Class 6A State Poll, the Lake Mary baseball team gained national recognition earlier this week, being ranked in the Top 20 by both Baseball America and ESPN.

Baseball America, recognized for years as one of the top publications when it comes to high school and college baseball, placed the Rams in the No. 17 spot, while ESPN, which is doing better and better with its prep coverage, surprised everyone by selecting Lake Mary as No. 6 in the nation.

After learning of the honor, the Rams then went about proving they deserved the recognition, whitewashing Lake Howell, 6-0, on Tuesday and then outscoring Oviedo, 7-5, in a huge Class 6A-District 3 and Seminole Athletic Conference showdown on Wednesday.

Against the Silver Hawks, Trevor Berryhill picked up his fifth win of the season without a defeat, firing a one-hitter at the hosts in an SAC showdown.

The senior righthander faced just two batters over the minimum, walking one and striking out 11.

Doing the hitting for the Lake Mary offense were Ryan Bono (three-for-three, including a double, two RBI), twin brother Kyle Bono (two-for-four, including a double, RBI), Chad Legate (double, two RBI), Matt Horwath (triple) and Matt Mergo (single).

William Delgado had the Lake Howell hit, a single, while Josh Hickman suffered the loss despite allowing only four earned runs.

The extremely young Silver Hawks (0-20) will be at Oviedo on Monday (7 p.m.), then return home to host Class 5A-District 5 foes Mainland on Tuesday (6 p.m.) and Spruce Creek (7 p.m.) on Friday.

At Mikler Field, the long-anticipated battle between the Rams and Lions took place, and it was exciting from start to finish.

Lake Mary got off to a fast start at Horwath singled with one out and took second on a walk to Legate.

Horwath was then given a gift as an errant pick-off throw sailed into center field, allowing CASSLEBERRY — The Lake Mary High School boys and girls tennis teams held host Lake Howell winless in Seminole Athletic Conference action on Monday and Tuesday.

On Monday, the Rams boys ran their record to 8-5 on the season with only the No. 1 singles providing any drama.

Lake Mary's Jason Cordova kept his cool in a pressure-packed match and took advantage of some mistakes made by the Silver Hawks' Shane Tyree to survive, 8-6.

Cordova and Tyree later faced each other again in the No. 1 doubles match with Cordova coupling with No. 4 singles player Dan Griffin to rout Lake Howell's Tyree and Ali Halabi, 8-1.

No other Silver Hawks player was able to score more than one game win against the stout Rams team.

On Tuesday, the Lake Mary girls followed suit, sweeping all five singles and both doubles matches against a young Lake Howell squad.

The Rams' number one seed, Jennifer Wetter, got things started right for Lake Mary, whipping the Silver Hawks' Danielle Licata, 8-1.

The biggest threat for a Lake Howell win came at number four seed where the Silver Hawks' Taryn Lamonetin battled the Rams' Allison Wetter.

After falling behind 5-2, Lamonetin surged back late in the match to force a 7-7 tie, See Tennis, Page 2B

Lake Mary righthander Trevor Berryhill ran his record to 5-0, throwing a 6-0 one-hit shutout at Lake Howell on Tuesday. The senior then put his glove and bat to work on Wednesday, contributing a single and a RBI to the offense and making 11 put outs on defense as the Rams topped Oviedo 7-5.

Unbeaten Winter Park has its way with Lake Mary boys in lacrosse

Special to the Herald

LAKE MARY — The undefeated Winter Park Wildcats breezed into Lake Mary's Don T. Reynolds Stadium on Tuesday and destroyed the hosts 14-2 with a lethal offense for which the Rams had no answer.

Constantly buzzing the cage and cycling the ball, the Wildcats (8-0) consistently obtained open close in shots and only the heroic efforts of goalie Justin Blinn kept the score from being much worse than the 10-0 lead that Winter Park enjoyed at halftime.

The Wildcats outshot Lake Mary 28-6 in the first half and an amazing 17-0 in the second period.

Winter Park continued to dominate the second half even as both teams emptied their benches. It was 12-0 before the Rams were finally able to solve Wildcats back-up goalie Charles Roberts.

Ten different Winter Park players scored goals led by Stephen Deutsch's hat trick. Both of the Lake Mary tallies came off the stick of its star, David Sloan.

Winter Park demonstrated why they are the class of the league with a dominating performance, outshooting the Rams 40-18, winning the face off battle 13-7 and the ground ball war 61-43. The Wildcats' dominance and teamwork was best evidenced by the fact that 12 of their 14 goals were assisted.

Contributing to the Winter Park attack were Deutsch (three goals, one assist), Kyle Lanigan (two goals, one assist), Scott Sinclair (two goals), Alan Lynch (one goal, two assists), Chad King (two goals, one assist), Steve Bimson (one goal, one assist), Justin Palmer (one goal, one assist), Philip Rohlfing (two assists), Tyler Anderson (one goal), Colin Turner (one goal), Alex Brower (one goal), and Ben Wurtzel (one assist). Bryan Russell was the winning goalie.

Jordan Supraner had an assist on one of Sloan's goals for Lake Mary.

The Rams (5-6) will host Bishop Moore at Don T. Reynolds Stadium next Tuesday (junior varsity at 5:30 p.m. and varsity at 7 p.m.) and then travel to Jacksonville to close out the regular season next Saturday against The Bolles School with the junior varsity kicking off at 1 p.m. and the varsity at 3 p.m.

In the junior varsity game on Tuesday, the young and improving Rams saw their five-game unbeaten streak go by the boards with a thorough thrashing from an undefeated Winter Park team, 8-0.

The mostly freshmen Lake Mary squad was no match for the sophomore/junior Winter Park team as the Wildcats consistently controlled the play and got in close for shots.

The Rams (5-2-1) never threatened to score, in fact, the Wildcats (6-0) had more shots on goal for the game than Lake Mary had at the goal by a margin of 15-to-11.

Brian King (five goals, one assist) and Ben Cadden (two goals, two assists) dominated the game for the Wildcats from their attack positions.

Other stars for Winter Park were Robert Bickerstaff (two assists) and Joe Gendreau (one goal).

Bears rally past Oviedo in softball

WINTER SPRINGS — The Oviedo High School softball team ran into an upset squad of Bears on Wednesday and saw its 12-game winning streak go by the wayside.

Lake Howell had ended Winter Springs' unbeaten streak against Central Florida competition this season on Tuesday, edging the Bears 2-1 in a Seminole Athletic Conference contest.

Whether the team was looking ahead to Wednesday or not, Winter Springs was ready on Wednesday, exploding for three runs in the fourth inning and three runs in the sixth inning to erase a 2-0 deficit and hammer the Lions, 8-2, in a very important Class 6A-District 3 and Seminole Athletic Conference matchup.

Bears pitcher Aimee Nettles survived the early runs to raise her record to 5-0 on the season, while Kelly Cruz went three-for-four with two RBI to lead the offense.

The game was a make-up from a contest rained out earlier. See Preps, Page 3B

Biancalana wins season-ending NFPGA tourney

ORMOND BEACH — Roy Biancalana of Lake Mary saved his best for last, winning the final tournament of the North Florida PGA Winter Tour's 35th season last Thursday (March 22).

Biancalana fired a five under par 67 to win by two strokes at Tomoka Oaks Country Club. It was his only NFPGA Winter Tour victory this season and his first since January 2000 at Pelican Bay South in Daytona Beach. He earned $500 from the $1,510 purse.

The tournament was originally scheduled for 36 holes but was cut to 18 holes played on Thursday.

After 22 tournaments for the nation's oldest mini-tour, Gene Jones of Orlando led the money list with $6,657.50. He won three times. Aaron Barber of Casseberry had four victories and was second with earnings of $5,765. Neither Jones, the defending champion, nor Barber played at Tomoka Oaks.

the junior shortstop to move over to third from where he scored on a bloop single to right by Ryan Bono.

The Rams then pushed the advantage to 4-0 in the second inning as, with one out, Mergo walked and took second on a wild pitch before scoring on a booming double to center by Jason Pires, who was filling in at second base for the ill Josh Gray.

One out later, Horwath also ripped a ringing double to left, scoring Pires, and Horwath came home on a bad-hop single to left.

Lake Mary ace Adam Sanabria (6-0) looked like he was going to have a good night, getting a pair of strike outs to open the bottom of the first and then getting a grounder to third.

But his command of the plate started to leave him in the second inning and most of his pitches were up in the strike zone for the majority of the remainder of the game.

Nate Green and Bridger Hunt led off the bottom of the second inning with back-to-back singles for Oviedo and after an out, Rhidall Ford walked to load the bases. Brian Brooks then hit a ball into the hole between first and second, on which Pires and Sanabria hooked up on for a nice out, allowing Green to score.

The young Lions, who have seven sophomores on first-year coach Kevin Waincott's (who is former player and coach at Lake Mary) roster, then got some help from the Rams defense to tie the game in the third inning.

Jeff Knapp led off the frame with a walk and Nick Tenekedes singled. Jason Wolfe then hit a potential double play ball, but the ball was thrown away at second base, allowing Knapp to come all the way and moving the other two runners to second and third with no one out.

Green lined out to first, but Hunt polled a ground ball to second, getting Tenekedes home and Colin Irvine followed with a double along the rightfield line to plate Wolfe with the tying run.

Lake Mary immediately regained the lead for good in the top of the fourth inning. Tucker Pearce singled and Horwath walked before Ryan Bono hit a ground rule double to left, scoring Pearce with one out. After Kyle Bono walked to load the bases, Berryhill lifted a short fly to center and Horwath was able to get in ahead of the tag at the plate, making the score 6-4.

Oviedo sophomore pitcher Matt McClung would then settle down, retiring eight Rams in a row to keep the Lions within striking distance.

Oviedo inched a run closer in the fifth inning when Green singled with one out, advanced to second on a wild pitch and to third on a grounder by Hunt, before scoring on an infield single off the bat of Irvine.

At that point, Sanabria would also settle into a groove, retiring seven of the last eight batters he faced, allowing only a one-out walk to Matt Lopez in the sixth inning, and finished with a flourish, striking out two of the final three Lions he faced, including a swinging "K" to end the game.

Lake Mary would pick up an all-important insurance run when Kyle Bono led off the seventh inning with a long home run to straightaway center field.

All nine Rams batters had hits in a 12-hit attack led by Horwath (2-for-3, double, three runs, RBI), Ryan Bono (2-for-4, double, two RBI) and Pires (for-4, double, run, RBI).

Also hitting were Kyle Bono (home run, run, RBI), Pearce and Mergo (one single and one run scored each), Legate and Berryhill (one single and one RBI each) and Austin Pride (single).

Irvine paced Oviedo, going two-for-three with a double and two RBI. Green also had two hits in four trips to the plate and scored two runs.

Other contributors included Knapp and Tenekedes (one single and one run scored each), Hunt (single, RBI), Wolfe (run) and Brooks (RBI).

Lake Mary is now 19-1 on the season and were to go after its 20th win in DeLand on Friday, weather permitting.

Next week the Rams will play three games in as many days, traveling to Lake Brantley on Wednesday and then coming home to host Winter Park on Thursday and Winter Springs on Friday. All three contests will begin at 7 p.m.

The Lions (11-9) were to have hosted Lake Brantley at Mikler Field on Friday and then also host Lake Howell on Monday (7 p.m.) before heading to West Orange on Thursday (7 p.m.) and DeLand on Friday (4 p.m.).

Pickren. The two runs would prove to be just enough as Lake Mary answered with a run in the bottom of the eighth.

With one out Yarah Otero, who was two-for-three for the night, drew a walk. After a pop up for the second out of the inning, Caitlin Mahoney ripped a triple to deep left field, scoring Otero and putting the tying run at third base. But Crouse got out of the jam forcing a pop up on a 1-1 pitch to end the game.

"I felt we had a good chance to pull out a win," said Lake Mary head coach Jeannie Fisher. "They (the Rams) stayed focused on the situation."

The loss ended a two-game winning streak for the Rams, who fell to 5-11.

Lake Mary was riding high coming into the game, having defeated a hot Lyman team in Longwood last Thursday, then coming back the following night to edge a very good Edgewater squad (10-4), 2-1. Anderson threw a complete-game three-hitter and Otero had two hits and drove in both runs.

The Tribe will play three district games next week, traveling to Mainland on Monday for a 4 p.m. contest, then returning home to host Lake Howell on Friday (7 p.m.) and Deltona (2 p.m.) on Saturday.

The Rams also have three games next week, hosting DeLand on Tuesday and Oviedo on Thursday and traveling to Matt's Team (2-1) came back to defeat both Nation's Fence (15-1) and Beer :30 (15-4). Beer :30 got the other victory, outscoring Nation's Fence, 15-10.

 The final regular season standings are:
 A League - Shoestrings (27-3), Matt's Team (22-8), Beer :30 (10-20), and Nation's Fence (1-29).
 B League - The Guppies (28-12), the Unknowns (27-13), Sanford Church of God (24-16), the Saints (18-22), and Idyllwilde (2-38).
 The league will hold its Season-Ending Tournament this Monday night at Sanford Middle School starting at 7 p.m. and the public is invited at no charge.

3-ON-3 SPRING SLAM HOOPS TOURNAMENT
 Sanford First Church of the Nazarene will be holding its fourth annual tournament, the Alpha Omega Spring Slam 3-on-3 Tournament. The double elimination tournament will be made up of two divisions, Juniors (18-and-Under), which will begin on Friday, April 20th at 6 p.m.; and Adult (over 18), which will begin play on Saturday, April 21st at 8 a.m.
 New this year will be a "Tribulation Bowl," consolation bracket for teams that lose their first two games, guaranteeing a team of at least three games.

The church, located at 2581 South Sanford Avenue (two blocks South of 25th Street), has a regulation size outdoor basketball court. The entry fee, which must also accompany the team roster, is just $60 and must be postmarked or paid by March 31st. There will be no cash refunds after the entry deadline.
 Rosters must include at least three players, this year you may register a fourth player (players must bring an I.D. to the tournament) and roster changes will not be allowed after the start of the tournament. Players may also appear on only one roster (violators of this rule may be disqualified from the tournament).
 All registered players will receive an official Alpha Omega 3-on-3 Spring Slam 2001 T-shirt, with the winning teams receiving gift certificates to a local sporting goods store and a team trophy, and the Tribulation Bowl winners receiving a surprise award.
 All participants are also eligible to win door prizes which will be given away throughout the tournament.
 For more information call 407-322-3122 or Email at: ao3on3slam@earthlink.net
 Info can also be found on the web at <http://www.eetamz.com/sanfordnazareneathletics>.

YMCA OFFERINGS
 The Seminole YMCA Family Center, 665 Longwood-Lake Mary Road is offering an Adult 4-on-4 Basketball League. For men and women ages 18-and-up.
 The league will have three divisions: competitive, semi-competitive, and recreational. Games are played under modified National High School Federation rules with eight players per team.
 The eight-week season runs from April 1st with games every Sunday through June 24th and concludes with a single elimination tournament. Games are officiated by certified referees.
 Registration deadline is March 31st. For more information on any of the Seminole YMCA Family Center activities, or to register, call 407-321-8944.

CASSELBERRY PARKS AND RECREATION
 Casselberry Parks and Recreation is offering a pair of Adult Flag Football leagues.
 The leagues, which will be run on Monday and Wednesday and played at Secret Lake Park, will be 7-on-7 and played by FRPA Rules.
 The cost is $300 per team with champions receiving trophy's and T-shirts and runner-up teams getting trophies.
 Space is limited and the season begins soon. Call 407-696-5189 for more information.

OVIEDO HIGH NJROTC
 The Oviedo High School National Junior Reserve Officers Training Corps (NJROTC), currently ranked No. 2 in the nation, will host its inaugural Golf Tournament on Friday, April 20th at Twin Rivers Golf Club.
 Co-hosted by WFTV-Ch. 9 Meteorologist Glen Richards, the event will begin with registration at 11 a.m. and a shotgun start at 12:30 p.m.
 For more information, call 407-365-3299.

SANFORD/SEMINOLE COUNTY CHAMBER OF COMMERCE GOLF
 The Sanford/Seminole County Chamber of Commerce annual golf outing is scheduled for Tlacuacan Golf and Country Club on Thursday, April 26th.
 A free short game/clinic sponsored by Legg Mason Mutual Funds will begin at 11 a.m. and a putting contest will begin at noon.
 The tournament will begin at 1 p.m. with a "shotgun" start - four person team scramble.
 Players must enter in advance and all entries will be handled on a first-come, first-served basis, with a maximum of 25 foursomes.
 Call 407-322-2212 for more information.

SEMINOLE SOCCER SCHOOL
 The 22nd annual Seminole Soccer School will have two sessions at Lake Mary High School. The first session is June 4-through-8 and the second is July 23-through-27.
 The camp runs from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. each day and is for boys and girls ages 5-1/2 to 15 and will also include indoor soccer in an air-conditioned gym.
 For registration brochures and information, contact camp director Larry McCorkle at 407-320-9708 during the day or 407-695-2131 in the evening or download the application form from the web site at http://HOME.CFL.RR.COM/SOCCER_SCHOOL.

USA SOCCER CAMP
 United Soccer Academy will be holding a week-long soccer camp from June 24-29 for youth soccer players, both male and female, between the ages of 9-and-19. The camp will be held at Barry University in Miami Shores.
 The Soccer, Speed, and Strength Camps will provide players with quality coaching, instruction, and a cutting-edge curriculum that will focus on: technique/skill development; tactical awareness; speed, strength, and agility conditioning; goalkeeping; psychological aspects of soccer; and nutrition for soccer players.
 United Soccer Academy has assembled one of the best coaching staffs in the United States, both from soccer and fitness/conditioning standpoint. The Soccer, Speed, and Strength Camp is designed to challenge and push the more serious soccer player to the next level.
 If you have any questions regarding United Soccer Academy, and the Soccer, Speed, and Strength Camp, please contact 1-800-656-5499 or e-mail at usoca@gte.net.

 this month and raised Winter Springs' record to 15-3 overall, 5-0 in the district and 6-0 in the SAC.
 On Tuesday, Anna Demner and Laura Kimball led the way for the Silver Hawks, both going two-for-three with an RBI.
 Lake Howell then won another big game on Wednesday, as Defilippo went two-for-three with an RBI and Kimball allowed only one run as the Silver Hawks topped Mainland, 3-1, to raise their record to 7-5.
 In other softball action from this week:
 On Monday, Kendra Cotter was two-for-three and scored three runs and Megan Burke allowed no earned runs as Lyman broke a two-game losing streak with a 4-3 victory over Dr. Phillips.
 On Tuesday, Oviedo tuned up for its game with Winter Springs as Nielsen ran her record to 3-0 with a 6-0 shutout of Lyman. Katie Fields led the Lions offense, going two-for-three with an RBI.

 On Wednesday, Lake Brantley came close to winning its first game of the season, but home-standing DeLand (8-6) prevailed in eight-innings, 7-5, to drop the Patriots to 0-12.
 In baseball action, Braleski struck out four and allowed only two hits in four innings of work as Winter Springs doubled the score on University, 6-3, on Tuesday.
 But on Wednesday, Ian Holman struck out nine over five innings as Lake Brantley (8-6) defeated the Bears (8-8) 9-1.
 King led the Patriots at the plate, going two-for-three with three RBIs.
 In boys lacrosse, Brian Corrente scored eight goals as Winter Springs crushed Cypress Creek, 20-1, on Tuesday.

Bishop Moore also had an easy time of it, disposing of Lake Howell, 14-1.
 In girls lacrosse, Boone dumped Seminole, 9-2, and Lake Brantley remained undefeated with a 15-0 thrashing of West Orange behind six goals from Lindsey Bellbeck on Monday.
 On Tuesday, S. Hauza pounced in six goals as Lyman outscored Colonial, 9-4.
 On Wednesday, the Hogan sisters combined for four goals as Lake Brantley coasted again, 14-0, over Seminole.
 And Winter Park tripled the score on Lake Mary, 9-3.
 In water polo, which was recognized as a sport by the Florida High School Activities Association (FHSAA) earlier on Monday, the Lake Brantley girls got three goals each from Amanda Cox and Angela Strader in a 13-2 whipping of Lake Howell.

DOLPHINS GARNER STARMER

NOTICE OF AGENCY ACTION TAKEN BY THE ST. JOHNS RIVER WATER MANAGEMENT DISTRICT
 THE GREENWICH GROUP, INC. 2404 N. RIO GRANDE AVENUE, ORLANDO, FLORIDA 32804, permit # 42-117-70182-2. The project is located in Seminole County, Section 11, Township 21 South, Range 29 East. The permit authorizes A SURFACE WATER MANAGEMENT SYSTEM ON 10.18 ACRES TO SERVE A SINGLE-FAMILY RESIDENTIAL SUBDIVISION known as SPRING LAKE POINT. The receiving water body is SPRING LAKE.
 The file(s) containing the application for the above listed permit is available for inspection Monday through Friday except for legal holidays, 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. at the St. Johns River Water Management District (District) Headquarters, 4049 Reid Street, Palatka, FL 32177-1429. A person whose substantial interests are affected by the District permitting decision may petition for an administrative hearing in accordance with sections 120.569 and 120.57, F.S., or may choose to pursue mediation as an alternative remedy under section 120.573, Florida Statutes, before the deadline for filing a petition. Choosing mediation will not adversely affect the right to a hearing if mediation does not result in a settlement. The procedures for pursuing mediation are set forth in section 120.573, Florida Statutes, and rules 28-106.111 and 28-106.401-404, Florida Administrative Code. Petitioners must comply with the requirements of Florida Administrative Code Rule 40C-1.811 and 40C-1.821 and be filed with (received by) the District Clerk located at District Headquarters, Highway 100 West, Palatka, FL 32177. Petitioners for administrative hearing on the above application(s) must be filed within twenty one (21) days of publication of this notice or within twenty six (26) days of the District depositing notice of this intent in the mail for those persons to whom the District mails actual notice. Failure to file a petition within this time period shall constitute a waiver of any right(s) such person(s) may have to request an administrative determination (hearing) under section 120.57, F.S., concerning the subject permit. Petitioners that are not filed in accordance with the above provisions are subject to dismissal.
 Because the administrative hearing process is designed to formulate final agency action, the filing of a petition means that the District's final action may be different from the position taken by it in this notice of intent. Persons whose substantial interests will be affected by any such final decision of the District on the applicant have the right to petition to become a party to the proceeding in accordance with the requirements set forth above.

NOTICE
 The St. Johns River Water Management District has received the application(s) for Consumptive Water Use from:
 Highland Memory Gardens Inc, 3329 ESemoran Blvd, Apopka, FL 32703, application #8487. The applicant proposes to withdraw 0.108 million gallons per day of Ground Water for Household and Landscape irrigation type uses. The withdrawal used by this proposed project will consist of Ground Water from the Floridan Aquifer via 2 active wells in Seminole County, located in Sections 7, Township 21 South, Range 29 East, known as Highland Memory Gardens.
 The file(s) containing each of the above-listed application(s) are available for inspection Monday through Friday except for legal holidays, 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. at the St. Johns River Water Management District Headquarters or the appropriate service center. Written objections to the application may be made but should be filed with (received by) the District Clerk, 4049 Reid St., Palatka, Florida 32177-1429, no later than 21 days from the date of publication. Written objections should identify the objector by name and address, and fully describe the objection to the application. Filing a written objection does not entitle you to a Chapter 120, Florida Statutes, Administrative Hearing. Only those persons whose substantial interests are affected by the application and who file a petition meeting the requirements of Sections 120.569 and 120.57, Florida Statutes, and Chapter 28-106, Florida Administrative Code, may obtain an Administrative hearing. All timely filed written objections will be presented to the Board for consideration in its deliberations on application prior to the Board taking action on the application.

Going back in time

By Arthur Zielski
Staff Writer

The steady rhythm of beating drums echoed throughout the colorful teepees of the Sioux Indian village as a group of third-grade students from Lake Mary Preparatory School learned what it was like to live like the Plains Indians during the 1800s.

The "Living History Day" was coordinated by teachers Debbie Jacoby and Brenda Bowers, and took place in Liberty Park, a short walk from the school.

Each student, along with the many parents and school volunteers who helped make the day a success, were authentically dressed as Native Americans. Colorful headbands, beaded necklaces, wristbands, and moccasins, made under the direction of Hugh and Jackie Byrnes, added to the realism of living in a Sioux village.

The day was filled with a host of hands-on activities enriching the learning experience for the students. No Indian village would be complete without horses. Cinggin, a thoroughbred quarter horse, and his companion Rascal, were accompanied by Linda Harnch and her son, Dalton, of Geneva. The children were able to groom, clean the horses' hooves, and learn about the history of the horse with Native Americans.

The Plains Indian ate a very different cuisine from the food we eat today. Students learned from experts Dr. Barry and Elyse Katz, and Audrey Almeida, how to grind corn, and make and eat pemmican (a North American Indian cake of dried and pounded meat — buffalo or venison — mixed with melted fat). John Bowers gutted and cleaned a fish. While not for the squeamish, it was a necessary part of Indian survival some two-hundred years ago. Bowers also taught the children a biology lesson by showing them the various parts of the fish.

In addition to erecting teepees, making traditional Indian dance sticks, learning hunting skills, and making authentic Indian jewelry, the children quietly listened to Whitewolf, a Native American guide, talk about Indian life, crafts, and lore.

The fun-filled day came to an end as the group was entertained by Shana Banana, a Native American singer and dancer.

Choir plans 'There's Music In The Air'

Imagine what a thrill it would be to perform at St. Peter's Basilica in the Vatican in Rome, Italy. Now imagine you're wearing an old, worn out costume from the last century. (The early '90s to be precise). For the Lake Mary High School Choir, the first part is coming true, and hopefully, with a successful fund-raiser, the second part won't.

The Lake Mary Choir will host "There's Music In The Air", a Silent Auction and Italian Dinner to raise funds for new choir costumes. The event will be held Saturday, April 7 from 1 p.m. to 7 p.m. at the school. The proceeds from the event will be used to purchase new choir costumes, which will benefit the whole choir and not just those going to Italy. Dinner will be catered by the Olive Garden and the menu includes lasagna (meat or vegetarian), salad, breadsticks, dessert, and a drink. Cost for the dinner is $10 for adults and $7.50 for children ages 3 to 10. You can eat in or take out, but you'll want to eat in and enjoy the music that will be provided throughout the day by the choir.

There is no charge for the Silent Auction. The choir has some wonderful donations for the auction. There will be more than 200 items up for bid. You can bid on jewelry, including a $400 necklace, gift certificates from Target, Ticketmaster and local restaurants, gift certificates for services, collector dolls, toys, scooters, name brand clothing and more. It's a great chance to get a good deal on lots of brand new items.

For more information, contact the Choir Director Alice Ann Nielsen at 407-320-9561 or Janis Lutz at 407-324-2582.

Junior Girl Scouts Visit Savannah

It's like a pilgrimage. Every year, thousands of Girl Scouts from all over the country visit the birthplace of Juliette Gordon Low in Savannah, Georgia. This past week, Junior Girl Scout Troop No. 458 from Lake Mary made the journey. For those who aren't familiar with Girl Scouts, Juliette Low is the founder. She started the organization in 1912 with just a few girls. At a time when girls were not supposed to be energetic or athletic, Juliette Low was teaching them to camp, play basketball and what was really shocking to the people of the day, to swim.

Troop 458 has been planning this trip since first grade. Spring, with the azaleas, wisteria and dogwood blooming, is one of the best times to visit Savannah. The main focus of the trip of course, was the visit to the Wayne-Gordon house, the birthplace of Juliette Low. The girls arrived there Friday morning to participate in a special interest session. During the session, "Rainy Day in 1870," the girls learned activities that girls their age would have done on a rainy day. They started a cross-stitch project, learned how to make foil pictures (something that was the rage of the day) and more. They also learned about good posture and how to act when meeting royalty. Daisy (as Juliette was known to her family and friends) was presented to Queen Victoria twice in her lifetime, so the girls learned how to curtsy to the queen.

The girls had lunch in one of the beautiful historic squares. Savannah has always been characterized by the squares that are the focal point of downtown and by the eccentric characters that frequent the squares. The girls were able to meet one of the characters. Wright Square, where the girls ate lunch, is frequented by the "Bird Man." He's a genial character who gets his feathers ruffled only when people walk their dogs past the spot where he's feeding the pigeons. He carries bird feed with him and shares it with children so they too can feed the pigeons. He carries bird feed with him and shares it with children so they too can feed the pigeons. He carries bird feed with him and shares it with children so they too can feed the pigeons.

With lunch over and most of the pigeons in Savannah fed, the girls went to an orientation session where they learned about the history of Savannah, Juliette Low and her family, the Gordons. Then the girls toured the house. The home was slated for destruction in the early 1950's. Girl Scouts all over the United States started the "Dimes for Daisy" campaign to collect enough money to save the house. In 1953, the home was purchased by GSUSA, the National Girl Scout organization. It has been used as a program center and house museum since 1956. In 1965, it became Savannah's first designated National Historic Landmark.

After the house tour, the girls went to Laurel Grove Cemetery. The Gordon family plot is in Laurel Grove. Daisy was buried there in her Girl Scout uniform. From the cemetery, Troop 458 went to the First National Headquarters. After her marriage to William Low, Daisy moved to England where she met Lord Baden-Powell, founder of the Boy Scouts. At one of his Boy Scout rallies, 6,000 girls signed up to be Boy Scouts, using their first initial and last name. Baden Powell turned the girls over to his sister, Lady Baden-Powell and Daisy, to start Girl Guides. After the death of her husband, Daisy returned to Savannah and moved into the Andrew Low house (named for her father-in-law) which she had inherited. It was in the carriage house behind the Andrew Low house where Daisy formed the first Girl Scout troop on March 12, 1912. The carriage house was also the First National Headquarters. Today, the Andrew Low house is owned by the Colonial Dames of Georgia, but the carriage house is owned by the Girl Scout Council of Savannah. The house is part museum and part council shop.

After their evening meal, when the skies were suitably dark, it was time for the haunted carriage tour. The cold wasn't the only thing that made the girls shiver as they were taken on a tour of the most haunted houses in Savannah. With a city as old as Savannah, there are a lot of ghost stories. Daisy's parents, Willie and Nellie Gordon, are believed to haunt the birthplace. A Girl Scout leader, rushing back into the house after closing time to retrieve a forgotten book, saw

Nellie descending the stairs. Nellie looked in shock at the leader as if to say, "Oh my goodness, I thought everyone had left for the day." Nellie then turned and walked back up the stairs becoming more transparent with each step. Naturally, the leader ran out in the opposite direction.

Saturday, the troop toured Fort Pulaski. The fort was built around the War of 1812. The Confederates used it during the Civil War (or the War of Northern Aggression as people in Savannah call it), until Sherman's march to the sea.

The Tybee Island lighthouse was next on the agenda. The lighthouse has 178 steps to the top.

The troop left Tybee Island and returned to downtown Savannah. There they were able to ride on an old-fashioned paddleboat. The Savannah River Queen took the girls up the river to the shipyards and back down for a look at Riverstreet. Once an eyesore, Riverstreet is now a proud part of Savannah's tourism industry. After dinner and shopping, the girls headed back to their hotel where they packed for the trip home on Sunday.

Gay son devastated when parents withdraw support

DEAR ABBY: I am a 39-year-old gay man. After knowing I am gay for more than 15 years, my parents recently announced that my longtime partner and I are no longer welcome in their home. They say that if any of their neighbors found out they have a gay son, they would be outcasts in their community.

Abby, I am devastated. Although they were never totally supportive of my orientation, they have been guests in our home many times and seemed to genuinely like my partner. We are successful people in our community and socialize with an array of civic leaders and wonderful people of all orientations. I am unable to accept the level of shame my parents wish me to bear, and they seem unfazed about dropping me from their lives.

I cannot convince my parents of their folly. They say their decision is final and don't wish to discuss it further. I have spent thousands of dollars in counseling trying to deal with this loss. My siblings tell me that having put my parents through the "horrors" of having a gay son, I should be more understanding of their fears. This has destroyed my relationship with them as well.

I have trouble sleeping at night and would appreciate any advice you can offer.

HURTING IN HOUSTON

DEAR HURTING: Please accept my condolences for the premature loss of your dysfunctional family. You're not going to change them, and they're not going to change you. Perhaps one day they'll realize their loss and change their minds, but you can't live your life waiting for that to happen. It might help you to remember that sooner or later, every one of us becomes an orphan. Sadly for you, you were "orphaned" sooner than most.

Dear Abby

Alcoholics Anonymous has a saying called the "Serenity Prayer." I hope you will commit it to memory and use it as the need arises:

"God, grant me the serenity to accept the things I cannot change, courage to change the things I can, and the wisdom to know the difference."

You now have the opportunity to create your own supportive family through your loving friends and neighbors. The good news is that from your description of the people with whom you socialize, you and your partner are already off to a good start.

DEAR ABBY: Recently a friend from my church passed away. She was 83 years old. I stopped by the funeral home to pay my respects to her and her family.

During my visit, I was completely ignored by family members who were standing around in nearby rooms enjoying animated conversations.

I feel that at least one family member should have acknowledged my presence and that of several others. Should I have interrupted their conversations to pay my respects?

MOURNING IN PITTSBURGH

DEAR MOURNING: I agree that someone should have taken the time to acknowledge the presence of a new arrival, whether a staff member at the mortuary or a designated family member.

However, since no one did, you could have stepped forward, introduced yourself and expressed your sympathy.

Fanns celebrate 50 years of marriage

Donald Mason Fann and Sue Ann Fann of Sanford recently celebrated their 50th anniversary.

The Fanns were married March 15, 1951, in Venice's First Baptist Church. The Rev. David Edwards married the couple.

A reception was held in the home of Michael and Mindy Nunn of Sanford on March 17. Refreshments included homemade appetizers with drinks, a 50th anniversary cake, and a homemade meal.

After viewing a "This Is Your Life" computer print-out, the couple opened gifts and a one-man band played throughout the event.

The 25 guests were all from Florida and included friends and family. The Fanns' children include Donald M. Fann Jr., of Deltona, Melinda Sue Nunn of

Donald and Sue Fann

Sanford and Patricia Louise Fink of Deltona. The couple have six grandchildren.

Donald is retired from the U.S. Army and Sue is a part-time secretary/bookkeeper. The couple's secret to a long marriage is to "become good friends before marriage and stay good friends after marriage."

Lake Mary Elementary holds DARE graduation

Lake Mary Elementary School held its DARE (Drug Abuse Resistance Education) graduation Wednesday following a 17-week course.

DARE Officer Steve Shea presided over the graduation, presenting the fifth-graders who participated in the program with certificates of merit. Lake Mary Police Chief Richard Beary, Deputy Chief Sam Belfiore, Sgt. Linda Belfiore, Lake Mary Mayor Thom Greene, Lake Mary City Commissioner Mike McLean and Lake Mary City Manager John Litton also attended the event.

Following the ceremony, the graduates and their parents were invited to a picnic at Lake Mary City Hall.

Essay award recipients from each class included Caroline Darnell, Evan Wagner, Haley Dzurino, Carey Schulz, Gina Palmisano and Kristen Hawker.

Sanford dancer crowned Miss Seminole County

Natalie Weld was born for center stage.

The vivacious redhead walked off as Miss Seminole County 2001 in a pageant March 24. The Helen Stairs Theater in Historic Downtown Sanford served as the uptown backdrop for the dazzling production.

Natalie will never stop preening and is as proud as a peacock over her latest triumph.

Winning the Miss Seminole County Scholarship Pageant means Natalie will compete in the Miss Florida Scholarship Pageant in June, the preliminary to the coveted Miss America Scholarship Pageant in the fall.

With visions of Broadway in her future, the new Miss Seminole County will have to put these dreams on hold while she prepares for the Miss Florida pageant. "I'm so happy," Natalie said, "so happy." She added that representing her hometown, her roots and Seminole County was her greatest accomplishment to date.

"I am so proud to be Miss Seminole County. It means so much," she said. "Although she loves the hustle bustle of New York, there's no place like the serenity of home, sweet home for the excited beauty queen."

About Natalie's new title, her Aunt Miriam Doktor said, "Natalie is so proud. It's like her dream come true."

The daughter of Valerie and George Weld, the 22-year-old talented beauty and a chip off the old block, has been singing and dancing since she could point her toe. A graduate of Seminole High School, she attended Seminole Community College and has danced professionally for four years which includes extensive travel. She holds the titles of Miss Apopka and Miss Heart of Central Florida 2000. Her latest professional stint was in a New York and touring production directed and choreographed by Luis Perez, formerly of Sanford.

Lady Luck was riding with Natalie during her ordeal trying to get home Friday morning from New York for a Saturday morning interview with the pageant judges. Due to rush-hour traffic, she did not fall in the arrival and boarding parameters established by the airlines and consequently, she was not allowed to board the plane although she arrived 30 minutes before take-off time. Panic nearly took over, but after a series of calls home, she finally arrived at Orlando International Airport Saturday morning at 3 a.m. without baggage after changing airlines as well as airports. George high-tailed it back to OIA after the baggage about 6 a.m. A beauty queen has to have her own mascara, you know and maybe a couple of hours of shuteye. But she made it with no sleep compounded with a lot of stress. "I tried to stay focused," she said, adding, "We prayed before the pageant."

Dressed in a white suit with a matching white hat, Natalie performed a rousing tap dance, "Moses Supposes," as her talent for the pageant "She was sensational," Martha Yancey, a pageant board member, said. Natalie's platform is America's Youth — Spread the Good News."

She was the lady in red in evening gown competition and wore a blue

International students gather during annual intercultural event

It was a sunny, breezy Sunday afternoon at the beautiful lakeside of the Albin Polasek Museum and Sculpture Gardens in Winter Park on March 25. More than 100 guests attended.

Guests enjoyed the afternoon as they shared the annual International Trends and Services committee of the Links Inc., Altamonte Springs chapter, "Intercultural Exchanges."

Greetings were given by President Link Mary Alize "Pam" Tubbs.

Welcome for the occasion was given by Link Elizabeth Sanders, chairperson of the International Trends and Services Committee.

She extended the welcome in the spirit of friendship and gave a brief overview of the previous year's theme, namely, "A Linkage Around the World" (1997) and "Linking into the Millennium Together" (2000).

The Link's logo is a chain that joins seven continents of the universe. The chain signifies love for all mankind, as the Links are truly dedicated to community service.

Sanders invited the guests to embark on an historic journey that allowed imaginations to envision the International Heroes that were portrayed during the afternoon.

She introduced the fabulous international traveler Carolyn Fennell, director of public affairs with the Greater Orlando Aviation Authority.

Fennell presided as Mistress of Ceremonies for this lovely afternoon of Intercultural Exchange with 16 beautiful flags flying in the wind on the water that linked all of the countries represented on the green grass.

The first exchange was Kenya Starr of the Bahamas and a student at Rollins College. She introduced Jeanette Green who serves as associate manager at Disney.

Green portrayed the now famous Cathy Freeman, Olympic track and field gold medalist from Australia who had the grand privilege of carrying the 2000 world lighted torch of the Olympics and was the winner of the 400 meter.

The second exchange was Noriko Fiyisawa, a volunteer, peer advisor at Valencia Community College - East Campus. She portrayed the world famous Bill Bright, founder of Campus Crusade for Christ in 1951, an organization open to all college students. Bright has written over 50 books and 1,000 articles.

The third exchange was Emanuel Hayford, a freshman student from Africa who presently attends Seminole Community College. He introduced Dr. Oscar Sistrunk, DDS, who portrayed Nelson Mandela, past president of South Africa and human rights activist. Mandela served a 27 year term in jail for his beliefs. Excerpts from his writings were read by Dr. Sistrunk.

Musical renditions were rendered in the form of Black History Rap, performed by John Youngblood of Tajiri School of Performing Arts in Sanford.

Prayer breakfast

Herald photos by Tommy Vincent

The delight in simple pleasures

"Kit's dad didn't get a job that day, or the day after that, or the day after that, though he certainly seemed to be trying. Every day he put on a good suit and rode the streetcar downtown. He said he was going to have lunch with a friend or business acquaintance. Every day Kit hoped her father would come home with the good news of a new job. But every afternoon he came home tired and discouraged."

That is a paragraph from the newest series in the enormously popular American Girls (Pleasant Company Publications, 2000) book collection. In Book 1, we meet Kit, a resourceful 9-year-old girl whose family is caught up in the Great Depression.

The year is 1934. Kit's father has lost his job, and the Kitridges, in danger of losing their house, must take in boarders. Their once-serene life is disrupted.

The scenario is one that is hitting home in many modern American households as the country faces the prospect of an economic recession.

In the 1930s, the unemployment rate was 25 percent, and many breadwinners were reduced to selling apples for a nickel apiece on the street corner. Thousands of families went "on relief," the Depression-era word for welfare. In some communities, schools shortened the school year to save money. Kindergarten classes were canceled.

While the anticipated downturn in the economy might not reach the crash proportions of the '30s, people are worried. They may have to make major adjustments in their lifestyles. How do families deal with the shame and embarrassment that goes along with having people find out that their parent (or spouse) is out of work?

"When it happened in our family," said Mary, "the first thing I did was call the children together. I reminded them that they all had reason to be proud of their father's achievements. I assured them that a man of his ability would once again find his place in the economic world. In the meantime, I said that we were going to go on being proud of him and having faith in him."

George Plagenz

Mary's story appeared years ago in Atlantic Monthly magazine.

"Our success in the new venture," she told the family, "will be determined largely by the sympathy, understanding and tenderness we display toward each other."

She told the children that, while they might be poor, they were still rich in so much that made life worth living.

"Denied the luxury of planning for tomorrow, we started living for today. We squeezed every drop of pleasure out of each day's simple and common-place experiences - like picnics.

"Picnics used to be the b.a.z of my existence. Now we take a meat pie out of the oven, put a carton of milk and a few apples into a basket and wander down to the creek to eat. It's surprisingly delicious, this simple fare, when eaten under the trees."

What strikes me about Mary's remarks is that, although they are directed at families that are going through the worst of times, she says things that need to be heard even by families going through the best of times.

Often, when things are going well for us and money is of no concern, we lose sight of the things money can't buy - things that bring real happiness, such as pride and faith in one another, tenderness and the simple pleasures of each day. Things such as picnics.

Remember Mary's words if hard times should come a-knockin' at your door. And even if they don't.

swimsuit in the swimsuit competition to incorporate a red, white and blue patriotic color scheme.

Natalie was crowned by last year's Miss Seminole County 2000 Shannon Kelley who spoke briefly, and with pride, about her exciting year's reign.

According to Dr. Beverly Boothe, executive director of the pageant, it was quite professional without glitches. The opening number, "One in a Million," performed by all 10 contestants, was "beautiful." She lauded the Phase 3 trio, who wowed the audience with their vocal expertise, for their talent equal to the renowned Backstreet Boys and 'N Sync. Dancers from the School of Dance Arts also charmed the audience.

Sasha Marie Platt, performing an aria, was first runner-up and Katie Christine Carson, vocalist, was second runner-up.

Martha Yancey said the theater was beautiful and added that the judges had nothing but complimentary remarks about the professional production and theater. "They were really impressed," she said.

Special credit goes to Lake Mary Mayor Thom Greene, master of ceremonies; accountants from Greene and Dycus; decorating artist Pam Singleton, the production crew, Sanford Flower Shop for donating magnificent red rose bouquets for the winner and first runner-up and a single white rose for each contestant in the evening gown competition, five judges and Bob White of the Miss Florida Pageant Board.

The Marina Hotel hosted a luncheon Saturday for the contestants and judges and Publix donated food for a buffet before the pageant got under way.

After the chaotic ordeal endured by Natalie, she remained as fresh as a daisy at a late dinner with her parents, Aunt and Uncle Miriam and Ken Doktor, Jean (a pageant board member) and Dr. Frank Clontz and Sandra Orwig Brooks, from Orlando.

Then on Sunday, after another sleepless night, Natalie roller-bladed alongside her mom and Aunt Miriam who rode bikes to downtown Sanford when she began her reign by celebrating Miriam's birthday at a local restaurant.

Hello Seminole, here comes feisty fireball Natalie. Among her other qualities, our new Miss Seminole County 2001 is blessed with endurance, a trait that her followers are sure to embrace as she pleasantly prances around her hometown and county performing lasting goodwill deeds.

Book Reviewed

The Literary Group of the Sanford Woman's Club gathered at the home of Rose Edith Jacobson for the March meeting with Zelda Siskind serving as co-hostess. The hostesses served a variety of breads, muffins, quiche and juice on green plates in honor of St. Patrick.

Chair Charlotte Knowles led the business session when members discussed the annual book donation and signed up for next year's duties including hostesses and presenters.

Zelda Siskind reviewed the book, "Poisonwood Bible," by Barbara Kingsolver. The book is about a Baptist minister, Nathan Price, and his family going to the Belgian Congo in 1959 to spread Price's version of Christianity.

According to Mindy Tooley, "Zelda intrigued the group explaining the symbolism in the story. She further explained that Kingsolver used her characters' personal reflections on life in the Congo to explain the events that were actually occurring there at the time. The family was faced with hardship living in an environment that was foreign to them."

"The Rev. Price was also confused in his interpretation of the language of the people and mistakenly told the people that Jesus was like Poisonwood (a plant that causes a painful rash). It is obvious that the mission of Price was to be doomed. Throughout the story, the family is constantly put in danger and Price is oblivious to all situations."

Mindy concluded, "Many of the ladies who read the book were in agreement that Price was cruel. Zelda presented the book in such a way that the plot was never revealed. She added many interesting details to her presentation that enticed all to read the book."

The art of pickling

Before the refrigerator was invented, people tried to think of a way to preserve and retain for the coming winter all the vegetables and fruit left over in their garden at the end of summer.

Sica Nacu

Usually in the eastern European kitchen, unripened tomatoes, cauliflower, carrots, watermelon, red beets, radishes, cabbage, parsnip and celeriac, taste the best when preserved in water with coarse sea salt.

The others, such as red bell pepper (gogosari), eggplant, small onions, cucumbers, mushrooms are delicious pickled in a mixture of olive oil, spiced vinegar, and bay leaves.

Pickles are kept in large jars at a constant low temperature. Fruit can also be preserved or can be found mixed with the other vegetables for more of an enhanced exotic taste. For the same reason, white wine, cider, cinnamon, malt spirit vinegar can be used.

Originally coming from India, pickles can be found complementing meats, aperitifs, cold meats and cheese, curries, and mixed hors d'oeuvres.

For the last few weeks, a couple from Romania has stayed at the Rose Cottage. To make them feel at home I decided to prepare the muratari (pickled vegetables) and surprised them with it. But I was having trouble trying to make it, so my visitor, John, volunteered to help me. Here is the recipe:

John's Muratari
20 semi-ripe green tomatoes
1 cauliflower
6 carrots
4 red beets, peeled
1 celery
1 garlic head
4 heads of white cabbage
salt
Water rinse all the vegetables and make sure they are very healthy looking, nice and fresh. Place them in a jar by layering them as follows: first layer tomatoes, then celery, red beets, cauliflower, cabbage, carrots, tomatoes. Let the garlic cloves drop in as well.

In a separate container make a saline solution by adding one heaping tablespoon of coarse sea salt and check your salt concentration by dropping one whole egg in the water. If the egg floats, the liquid is as saturated as you need it to be.

Add all this solution to the jars. Cover and let stand for 24 hours. Then, with a hose, blow air into the jar, or just oxygenate the salted water by pouring it out and back in a few times.

In a few days you will notice a coloration of the water is light pink. The process is now started. Keep oxygenating until it stops fermentation and are ready to serve.

Braised Sauerkraut
3 cups of sauerkraut (The pickled cabbage — shredded)
6 strips of smoked bacon
2 bay leaves
1 tablespoon of paprika
red pepper

In a heavy skillet, start braising the bacon. Add all the sauerkraut. Season. Add bay leaves. Cover and let it simmer slowly for about one hour.

Sour Cabbage in a Barrel

Heads of cabbage
Water
Coarse sea salt
Corn kernels
Thyme
Remove all loose outer green leaves from cabbages so heads are tight and fresh. With a coring knife, remove hard cores, leaving clean conical holes through the middle of each head of cabbage.

Prepare a brine solution of water and salt.

Use a barrel large enough to hold the cabbage you want to prepare with a little extra space on top. The traditional barrels are made of oak, but you can use any large plastic or glass container.

Fill barrel with cabbage. Weigh down with a clean stone, or something heavy.

Leave barrel open. Fermentation will start immediately, and by the next day cabbage juices will start filling in. Temperature should be between 60 and 70 degrees.

Cabbage will be ready in about three weeks.
