Farmer wins lawsuit against Spencer Gifts

From Staff Reports

DELAND — A DelBary woman won more than $1.5 million in a jury verdict last week for injuries she suffered nearly four years ago when a light fell on her from a shelf at Spencer Gifts in the Seminole Towne Center.

A lawyer representing the New Jersey-based chain said he would appeal the judgment. Seminole County Circuit Judge Seymour Benson signed Monday. The appeal would go to the 5th District Court of Appeals.

Janet Farmer, 45, claims that her right hand still tingles and goes numb occasionally since April 3, 1996, when she walked into the Glo Shop section of the store.

As she stood looking at the display, a light broke loose and hit her, according to Farmer's Deland-based lawyers Glenn J. Paul and Michael C. Huddleston.

Rescue personnel were called to the scene and found that she had received a concussion. Her lawyers say that months later, a disc in Farmer's neck became herniated.

Teen smoking drops in Seminole

By Bill Kerns
Staff Writer

SANFORD — Tobacco use among teenagers is decreasing in Seminole County and statewide, according to recently released surveys.

From 1996 through 1999, tobacco use among 8th graders in Seminole County decreased 18.7 percent. Tobacco use has decreased 7.6 percent among 10th and 12th graders from 1996 to 1999 in Seminole County.

The results of a survey conducted by the Seminole County school district regarding smoking among 8th, 10th and

Survey shows 18 percent drop among middle school students

12th grade students mirror the results of a statewide survey released this week.

The Florida Youth Tobacco Survey shows a sharp decline in smoking among teenagers for the second consecutive year.

For middle school students, the most recent data shows a decline in cigarette use from 15 percent in 1999 to 8.6 percent in 2000. For high school students, cigarette use declined from 25.2 percent in 1999 to 20.9 percent in 2000.

Meanwhile, according to a survey conducted by the Seminole County school district, 18.1 percent of middle school students smoked in 1999, compared to 36.8 percent in 1996. At the high school level, 32.1 percent of students said they smoked in 1999, compared to 39.2 percent in 1996.

"All of our numbers are down in middle school and high school," said Michael Mobley, Youth Tobacco Prevention Coordinator for the Seminole County school district. "We were very pleased with the results. Seminole County is ahead of the curve."

The Florida Youth Tobacco Survey, designed by the Florida Department of Health in collaboration with the federal Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, anonymously surveyed more than 20,000 public middle and high schools. See Smoking, Page 6A.

Crowds turn out for festival

By Michelle Jorja
Managing Editor

LAKE MARY — Gusty winds and the occasional threatening sky couldn't stop festivities held Saturday during the seventh annual Old Lake Mary Days Festival.

"The wind did get threatening, but it didn't stop us," said event Chairman Mary Jane Duryea. "It just was really, really wonderful."

From festival goers to merchants located in the Downtown District, hundreds of people participated in this year's event. The festival included everything from children's games to Civil War re-enactors.

"The Civil War re-enactors went over very well," Duryea said. "They do a lot of research beforehand, and they really get into it."

Saturday's festivities began with an invocation from the Rev. John Montgomery and a flag ceremony. Mamie Lemma sang the Star Spangled Banner with local Boy Scouts leading the audience in the Pledge of Allegiance.

Following the ceremony, Lake Mary Deputy Mayor Thom Greene officially opened the event by welcoming the crowd to the seventh annual festival.

In what appeared to be the only obstacle of the day, problems with the public address system delayed entertainment at the main stage for about an hour. Once the problems were fixed, numerous performers took to the stage, including the School of Dance Arts, the Joyful Noise Chorus, the Sunshine Generation, and the Sunshine Generation Children's Performing group.

Volunteers gather at the river

Fifth annual cleanup of St. Johns River set for March 18

By Bill Kerns
Staff Writer

SANFORD — Volunteers will descend upon a dozen different waterfront locations in Seminole County later this month for the 2000 St. Johns River Celebration.

The fifth annual cleanup will be held in 15 Florida counties and two Georgia counties on March 18. In the four previous years of the cleanup, 1.5 million pounds of trash have been picked up by 23,000 volunteers.

"This has been an excellent opportunity not only to remove trash from the St. Johns River water system, but also to bring attention to the need to protect our resources," said Jeff Cole, a spokesman for the St. Johns River Water Management District.

More than 6,000 volunteers are expected to help pick up litter throughout the St. Johns River watershed on March 18.

The volunteers will work on 125 cleanup sites along the St. Johns River. In addition, volunteers will pick up debris along St. Johns tributaries, including the Ocklawaha, Wekiva and Econlockhatchee rivers, and feeder waterways throughout the river system.

The St. Johns River Celebration is a one-day volunteer cleanup sponsored by the St. Johns River Water Management District and Keep Florida Beautiful.

"This wouldn't be so successful without the hard work of all the volunteers," Cole said.

FPL prepares to repower Sanford plant

Contractor hired, 950 jobs available

From staff reports

DEBARY — Florida Power & Light Company has selected Black and Veatch Engineering as the lead contractor for the repowering of the Sanford power plant. An FPL spokesman said the repowering project will use clean, natural-gas technology to double the generating capacity of the existing facility without requiring additional land to meet the growing electricity needs of FPL's customers in Central Florida.

"We've worked with Black and Veatch on several other projects," said Rosane Kennedy, FPL plant manager. "We know they will do a great job."

FPL estimates more than 950

personnel will be required during the course of the two-year construction period which is expected to begin April 1.

"We've encouraged Black and Veatch to recruit as many local personnel as possible," Kennedy said. "For the repowering project, we're looking for welders, laborers, pipe fitters, iron workers, boiler makers, carpenters and electricians," said Jim Watson, project manager for Black and Veatch. Qualified and interested individuals can contact Watson for additional information at 407-575-5170.

The repowering project is expected to be complete in 2002. The combined cycle technology being added to the site will run on natural gas instead of oil, resulting in a substantial decrease in air emissions and the need to barge oil from Jacksonville along the St. Johns River. The repowered plant will serve about 486,000 homes and businesses, doubling its current capability to serve customers.

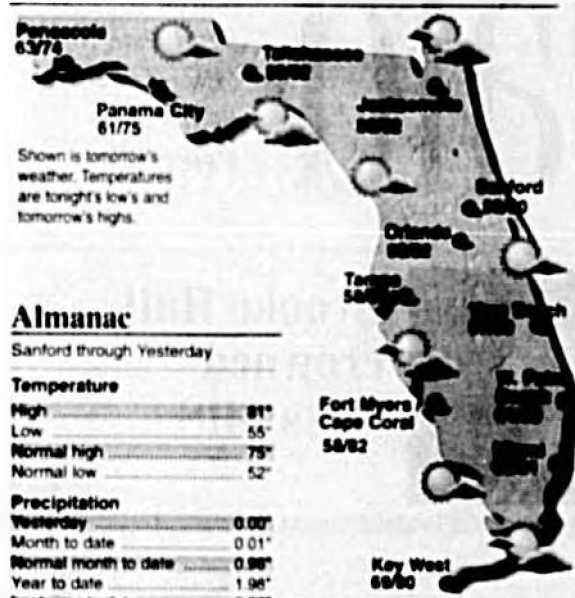

Florida Power & Light is preparing to repower the Sanford Power Plant, a move which will create about 950 jobs.

Sweet memories of a gentle time in the park

From the time I was able to toddle, my favorite place was a park within toddling distance of our home. It was the biggest and best park in all the world. It had a babbling brook, marvelous oak trees, picnic tables and all kinds of places to hide.

As I grew older, the park retained its charm. The U.S. Park Service maintains the park to this very day. Almost everything I knew as a boy has changed but my favorite park will never change. Thousands of children have played in the park. I was one of the first.

My childhood park was a park of many colors. Each season brought delightful gifts. Springtime was like being even heaven — so was fall. The park was a good place to cool off in summer. In winter we went to the park to sleigh ride and to build snowmen.

A good park is a good neighbor. Anyone living in Sanford knows this is true. Many residents speak of Fort Mellon Park as if it was the Garden of Eden. I can appreciate their fight to save the place. I surely would have fought to save my old park in Virginia.

Now, there's another park controversy. Two county commissioners want to have a community park at WinterMiles in Oviesto. Grant Maloy, the district commissioner, isn't keen on the idea. Mr. Maloy wants a park where children can play on swings and slides. A park with picnic tables, basketball and tennis courts. WinterMiles, he said, would be a horse park. "Most people won't ride a horse in their lifetime," he said.

County planners have a nifty park slogan called Vision 2010. By 2010 they hope that every resident can walk to a neighborhood park and that there will be a community park nearby, also. It's going to take big dollars — as much as $40 million.

Sanford and Lake Mary are in the community park picture. The Sanford site is close to Wicklow Elementary School. The acquisition costs would be $700,000, the development costs $2.8 million, operating costs $300,000 a year. The county would help foot the bill and operate the 30-acre park. The city of Sanford does not operate community parks or staff neighborhood parks.

The Lake Mary park, located on Lake Mary Blvd. west of Interstate-4 near the Oakmont project, would cost $5.7 million to acquire, $6 million to develop and $400,000 a year to operate.

Since they get the big bucks, the county commissioners are to make the call on which properties are purchased and developed as parks. A long time ago some very wise public officials made the call in the area where I grew up. The first shots of World War II had not been fired at the time they made the decision.

Sixty years from now county residents will be grateful that precious land was reserved for children and for families. If Seminole is Florida's Natural Choice, neighborhood and community parks are naturally top priority.

Irish Board promotes food of Ireland to honor St. Patrick's Day

In honor of St. Patrick's Day, the Irish Food Board is promoting both the food and literature of Ireland this year. And it's clear from their promotion that a country that gave us George Bernard Shaw, William Butler Yeats, James Joyce and Frank McCourt also has more to offer, food-wise, than corned beef and cabbage.

The Food Board has come out with a lovely little pamphlet featuring seven easy-to-prepare dishes, peppered with quotes from Irish writers. You can get the free pamphlet by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Literary Irish, Literally Delicious, C/O Irish Food Board, 132 West 37th Street (4th Floor), New York, NY 10018. You can also download the recipes from the Internet at www.asianland.com.

The recipes include a Custard with Fruit Sauce that James Joyce wrote about in "The Dead," and the kind of potato dish that Frank ("Angela's Ashes") McCourt says has "aphrodisiac" qualities. Likewise, the "try" an Irish breakfast that opens Joyce's "Ulysses," is detailed.

The soda bread is in honor of George Bernard Shaw, who was an adamant vegetarian. He wrote frequently and at length about diet, and said of Irish brown bread, "remember that brown bread is a good familiar creature and worth more than his weight in flesh."

The recipe for Irish stew is included in the pamphlet with an unattributed quote: "Irish stew? All honor to the land that has brought it before the world."

And all honor to the land that has given us some of the best English-speaking writers in the world.

Perhaps the best way to celebrate St. Patrick's Day is to pick up an anthology of Yeats or Joyce and read or re-read it. If you accompany your reading with a morsel of food or a pint of Guinness, no one is going to complain.

Note: Most of the ingredients are available in U.S. grocery stores, but all can also be mail-ordered. For Caltee Irish bacon (along with other Irish sausages and meats) call (800) 396-7577. Caltee's Web site is located at www.galteeirishbreakfast.com on the Internet.

CUSTARD WITH FRUIT

1 cup sugar
3 eggs
3 egg yolks
1-1/4 cups heavy cream
1-1/4 cups whole milk
1/2 teaspoon ground nutmeg
1/2 cup Irish preserves (see note) or fresh sliced fruit

Preheat oven to 325 degrees. Butter a 1-1/2 quart shallow baking dish or 6 individual 1-cup custard molds.

In a mixing bowl, combine the sugar, eggs and egg yolks, and beat until creamy and pale yellow. Combine cream and milk in a saucepan and bring to a boil. Pour the hot liquid into the egg mixture, whisking constantly. Pour the egg mixture into the prepared dish. Dust with nutmeg.

Place dish or molds in a baking pan. Fill the pan with boiling water to about halfway up the custard dish. Bake until custard is set, 45 minutes to 1 hour, or until a tester inserted in the custard comes away completely dry. Allow to cool before serving.

If using preserves, heat them gently before serving, and serve with custard.

If using sliced fruit, serve on top or alongside of custard. Yield: 6 servings.

Note: Popular brands of Irish preserves include Alexander's, Bewley's, Chivers, Irish Fruits, Fruitfield and Morley's. — Recipe from "Literary Irish, Literally Delicious," from the Irish Food Board.

IRISH OATY SODA BREAD

1 cup unbleached white flour
1-1/2 cups whole wheat flour
1/2 cup quick-cooking Irish oatmeal (see note)
1/3 cup steel-cut oats (see note)
2-1/2 teaspoons baking soda
1/4 cup firmly packed sugar
1/4 cup butter or margarine, chilled and cut into 1/2-inch cubes
1-1/2 to 2 cups buttermilk

Preheat oven to 425 degrees. Lightly dust the surface of a baking sheet with flour.

Stir together the flour, oats, sugar and baking soda in a large bowl. Using fingertips, quickly rub in the butter. The mixture should be coarse, but not lumpy.

Make a well in the center and gradually stir in the buttermilk with a wooden spoon until the dough is soft, but manageable. Turn the dough onto a lightly floured board and knead for about 1 minute.

Shape the dough into a ball and place it in the center of the prepared baking sheet. With the palm of your hand, flatten the dough into a circle that is about 1-1/2 inches thick. Using a sharp knife dipped in flour, make a cross (do not cut too deep) through the center of the bread so that it will easily break into quarters when baked. Bake for approximately 30 minutes, or until well browned.

Serve with butter, preferably Irish butter. Yield: 1 loaf.

Note: The most easily available brand of Irish oatmeal (and steel-cut oats) is McCann's, sold in most supermarkets.

IRISH STEW

8 potatoes — 4 sliced very thin, 4 cut in half
4 medium onions, peeled and thinly sliced
6 carrots, scraped and sliced
salt and pepper, to taste
1 pound of Caltee/Searrow traditional Irish bacon, chopped
1 to 1-1/2 pounds of tender lamb chops, about 1 inch thick, trimmed and cut into small pieces
2 to 2-1/2 cups of water (about 1/2 from chopped fresh parsley, to taste

In a medium-size pot put down a thin layer of the thinly sliced potatoes, onion and carrot, using about 1/3 of each. Top with a layer of the bacon and lamb. Sprinkle liberally with pepper and salt. Continue building in this manner until all the ingredients are used. Add the water until it barely covers the ingredients. Arrange the halved potatoes on top of the stew but not in contact with the water, so they steam as the rest is cooking. Simmer over a very low heat for about two hours.

Serve in shallow soup bowls, and sprinkle liberally with parsley. Yield: 4 to 6 servings.

Pro-choice grandma cites early tragedy, later joy

DEAR ABBY: I am a 70-year-old Republican woman. I attended high school with fewer than 100 students in the late '40s. Two young women died of botched abortions, devastating their families and friends. (Abortions were illegal then.)

When my own children were in high school in the '70s, a young couple who were "going steady" became pregnant. They terminated the pregnancy early on at a reputable clinic. Few knew about it. The relationship ended after a few months. Both went on to graduate from college, marry others, and now have stable families with two and three children respectively.

My grandson is the result of a caring birth mother choosing to place the child she could not care for up for adoption — thereby giving happiness to the child as well as to our family.

The key word is "choice." Only the girl/woman should make the decision to have an abortion or carry the pregnancy to term and keep the child or place the baby for adoption. The decision should NOT be up to self-righteous, ambitious politicians.

PRO-CHOICE GRANDMA

DEAR GRANDMA: Right on! Only the individual knows how much she can handle, and the decision should be hers to make. The key word is, indeed, "choice."

***

DEAR ABBY: I am writing in response to the reply you gave the young woman signed "Scared to Speak Up." She was 19 years old, recently married, and expecting her first baby. Her parents claimed they would disown her if she became pregnant before age 24. They also expect her to repay the money they spent on her college education.

Your response for her to be responsible and begin paying back the money is ludicrous! Parents should not manipulate an adult daughter to do exactly as they want her to. Life has many twists and turns. It does not always follow a script that the parents have laid out. Her parents were willing to pay for her education in the beginning. Was there a signed contract stating she could not marry before her degree was acquired?

The parents should realize that a marriage and expected child need not be the end of the road for their daughter's formal education. Eventually she will probably decide to continue it. She and her husband will have enough expenses to worry about without this silly demand from her parents. How controlling and manipulative can parents be to dictate they will disown their daughter if she gets pregnant before they think she should?

Her parents deserve a kick in the rear, as well as a message to stop dictating how their daughter should live her life. Abby, you graded on your reply.

DONNA KOPTZKE, HUDSON, WIS.

DEAR DONNA: While I agree that the girl's parents are controlling, I disagree that I graded on my reply.

The young woman dropped out of school as a freshman to marry someone her parents disapprove of so greatly they refused to attend the wedding. Since I don't know the young man, I can only assume that the bride's parents — right or wrong — believe the marriage won't last. That's the reason they tried to blackmail their daughter into waiting before starting a family.

As for paying back the money that was invested in her first year of college — the girl has already refused to do so. However, were she to attempt to repay it, I'm sure they would respect her for making the effort, whether or not she was able to reimburse the entire amount.

Lack of competition hampers early races

Boring NASCAR officials and Winston Cup tour drivers may shudder at the word, but forget the rain that shortened Sunday's Carol Street event at Las Vegas Motor Speedway, and forget all that Ford Chevy-Pontiac bickering.

NASCAR officials may have another problem on their hands — a lack of good, hard-raced competition.

There was little up front Sunday, where race leaders played follow-the-leader in what may be smart strategy but boring as entertainment. Is NASCAR racing in danger of becoming as boring as Indy car racing? Perhaps. But don't tell that to Mike Helton, NASCAR's senior vice president, or Winston Cup drivers.

"I still take exception to anyone who refers to it as boring," Helton said. "There was a lot of moving on today that went on. That doesn't necessarily mean that the guys leading have to be the only guys putting on the show. There are 43 cars out there, and a lot of those guys were putting on a heckuva show."

"No I take exception to anyone who calls it boring. I don't think that is fair to the competitors, and I don't think it's fair to the sport in general."

"What happens in a situation like today, when it's rain-shortened, is you don't know how it might have played out. We only got to run 145 laps."

Gary Nelson, the Winston Cup director, said that the term "boring" should be put in context. "I was a crew chief, and I remember winning Dover by leading 450 miles, and I remember winning Atlanta by leading 325 laps. When you say the good old days, I remember some of those good old days."

Jack Roush, the owner of Sunday's winning car, also disagreed with any complaints about another boring race.

"You heard what Mark [Martin] said, when Jeff [Burton] asked him if he was frustrated with Ward Burton holding them up," Roush said. "Mark said he was getting ready to take care of business, and he went down there and took care of business and passed him."

"There were a number of passes for the lead. Dale Earnhardt Jr. led, Mark led, Jeff led. Bill Elliott was coming good. This race was shaping up to be very competitive. I believe Tony [Stewart] had something for Jeff. And with one more change, Mark would have improved his car. It was going to be a jump ball for the second half of the race with at least three cars in contention."

So if Roush had been sitting in the grandstands would he have gotten his money's worth? "I don't think if I was sitting in the grandstands I would have gotten what I expected coming to Las Vegas in the wintertime when you'd expect the climate to be fairly mild and dry," Roush said.

But Michael Waltrip said that NASCAR could make some changes to put more excitement back into the sport.

"The situation you have in the guys up front got there because their cars are better," Waltrip said. "And when they get there, not a whole lot is going to happen or change. But in the middle and the back of the pack, there's a lot of stuff going on. People bumping into each other and cutting each other off, trying to make something happen."

So what could NASCAR do to help make racing more exciting?

"What they need to do, in my opinion, is lay a wind shield in 'em about like the trucks (almost vertical), and make these cars a lot slower and a lot dirtier aer-wise," Waltrip said. "These cars are too slippery aerodynamically, and they're too fast to have great races."

"I'm of reasonable intelligence, and I look at the trucks and say, 'What great racing.' And these people in here haven't gotten it yet. That just trips me out. I think they ought to look at the trucks and say, 'What do we have to do with these Cup cars to make them exciting, too?' Well, it's the fact the trucks are bricks going through the air, and cut a big hole, and therefore people can draft up on them. It would make our jobs more difficult, but it would make it a lot more fun for the fans."

Dueling DALES

Dale Earnhardt Jr.'s quick start pleases and frustrates his famous father

By Rea McLeroy
LapbyLap

Dale Earnhardt Jr. and his father have already clashed on the track.

He still sometimes gets confused by what's expected of him. There's his team owner, asking for perfection and demanding he always put his own finish first.

Then there's his father, yelling in frustration when he won't concede position to dad on the track.

Unfortunately, they're the same person.

As Dale Earnhardt Jr. tries to build on an outstanding start to his Winston Cup rookie season, he'll be dealing with increased media and fan attention.

So far, he's handled himself with grace and style. And he's doing it under the watchful eye of his father, seven-time Winston Cup champion Dale Earnhardt Sr.

For this son, pleasing the fatherly and business sides of Dale Earnhardt seems impossible at times, especially when the two are pitted against one another on the track.

When these two run together, blood ties cease to have an effect.

In years to come, epic battles between the pair could become common. Surprisingly, they're happening already.

Earnhardt Jr. is competitive. He is fresh off his first top-10 finish of the season (10th at Las Vegas) and has climbed to 14th in the points. The owner is thrilled, the father is proud. The father also blames his son for costing him a shot at a win earlier this year.

It's tough on both of them.

In the Daytona 500, Earnhardt Jr. held off his charging father late in the race. Earnhardt couldn't get around his son's car and fell behind the lead pack. By the time he won the battle with his son, Earnhardt had lost his shot at victory.

"Daytona was pretty interesting," Earnhardt Jr. said. "He was pretty happy with the way we were testing and practicing, and I think that was team owner there, being proud of his car. When we got to racing, he was protecting his position and his finishing and his bravado and his lifestyle."

The two cars touched a few times during their Daytona battle.

Earnhardt Jr., flushed with excitement, talked about the thrill of racing his father. Earnhardt's comments were less complimentary.

The dual nature of the situation can be baffling.

"When we're battling for position and trading paint, then it's a father," Earnhardt Jr. said. "Like I need to step out of the way or something, like I'm holding him up or slowing him down."

Otherwise, it's an owner encouraging the driver.

Perhaps some part of Earnhardt Jr. knew it would be this way. The lessons learned on the track, the public fawning, the constant criticism or praise. It's all there in his name.

But he seems surprised by the somewhat public reprimands he's receiving.

There aren't that many 25-year-olds being scolded in front of their peers these days — Earnhardt Jr. is being called to task in front of thousands of spectators.

"One instance was pretty funny," Earnhardt Jr. said of a run-in with his dad at Rockingham.

"With the in-car camera footage, I get these guys to give me the tape after the race. I take it home and watch it."

He was running inside Jeff Gordon and almost spun going into a turn. As Earnhardt Jr. regained control, he banged into the side of Gordon's car. Earnhardt was two cars back.

"I was like, 'I'll just get the heck out of the way here because I'm getting ready to wreck everybody,'" Earnhardt Jr. said.

"About a straightaway and a half later, dad went by, and he was shaking his finger out the window at me. You don't see that on television. The fans don't get to see that part of it. I guess that was where the father was going. 'You'd better watch it. You'd better straighten up.'"

He just shakes his head and thinks about racing.

It's nothing new.

For years Earnhardt Jr. has dealt with speculation and sensationalism concerning his relationship with his father. In many ways, this is just another layer of the public interpretation of their lives. He's used to it.

It doesn't seem to faze him anymore.

These days, his thoughts center on Dale Earnhardt the owner and performing in his car. It no longer matters that he's a two-time Busch Grand National Series champion. It just matters what he did yesterday.

It's a bit intimidating, no matter who you are.

He tries not to think about it. Right now, Earnhardt Jr. is concentrating on learning the tempo of the schedule and the races.

Challenging his father on the track is fun, but that is way down the list of things he wants to do right now.

After all, he's like everybody else — he has an owner to keep happy.

"There's a pattern, but I don't know it," he said of Winston Cup racing. "It's going to take a while to find the rhythm."

Q: How can I get a softer look from a lip pencil?

A: After lining lips and filling in with pencil, run a dry lip brush around the edge to soften the line.
You still have definition, but it will be less sharp, more natural looking.

DeBellas, two others ink letters of intent with UCF

Special to the Herald

ORLANDO - Local high school talents Amanda Sidor (Seabreeze High School) and Lauren DeBellas (Lake Mary High School) along with Georgia State ODP member Lindsay Mair (Atlanta/Chattahoochee High School) have signed national letters of intent to play soccer for the University of Central Florida, joining three elite seniors who committed to UCF in February.

"All the women coming in have amazing skills," said head coach Amanda Cromwell. "Sidor has great speed and left foot striking capabilities. DeBellas has an excellent defensive mentality and a great work rate and Mair has a nose for scoring and is versatile at midfield and up top."

Sidor, a 5-foot-9 mid-fielder from Ormond Beach, tallied 31 goals and 16 assists in her senior year with Seabreeze, taking them to this year's Florida High School Class 2A State Cup Final Four.

Also heavily recruited by the University of Florida, Sidor took Target Tournament MVP honors and was named the Orlando Sentinel Player of the Week during her senior campaign.

Sidor spent her first three years with Seabreeze as a defender, earning three All-County, three All-Area, and three All-Conference selections. Her career could have been over after tearing an anterior cruciate ligament in her right knee her freshman year, but Sidor fully recovered, taking All-State honors and the Coaches Award for Outstanding Performance at the end of her junior year.

DeBellas, a 5-foot-6 defender out of Lake Mary, is a two-time ODP district and regional pool member and twice made her way to the state ODP trials. Yet another member of the Kumba dynasty (five current Golden Knights played for Kumba), DeBellas helped the club to four state finals, including trips to the 1996 and 1999 Florida State Cup Final Four.

Her defense won Lake Mary High School two regional championships and two district runner-up titles. She also carried the Rams to two Class 6A Florida State finals, helping to capture the championship in 1998.

Mair, a 5-foot-7 forward/midfielder with Atlanta's Stone Mountain soccer club, has been a member of the Georgia State ODP team and regional camp since 1995. Last year she was chosen to play for the ODP European tour in Italy and Germany and she will represent the team again this year in England.

A four-year starter at Chattahoochee High School, Mair has helped her team post 40 wins over the past three seasons. A natural leader, Mair's team voted her captain for the upcoming season, having finished her junior year with 11 goals and 13 assists and performing well enough in the classroom to receive the Scholar-Athlete award.

"The whole class is very talented and capable of contributing to the team right away," Cromwell said. "I really enjoyed recruiting them because they are not only great players, but great people. They will have no problems fitting into the team chemistry."

Lake Mary knocks off Oviedo

Pearce's single lifts Rams over Lions

By Tony DeBorja
HERALD CORRESPONDENT

LAKE MARY - Tucker Pearce's infield single with two out in the bottom of the seventh inning proved Jerry Tomson with the winning ahead run to give the Lake Mary Rams a 6-5 win over the visiting Oviedo Lions in a 6A District 3 baseball class Wednesday.

Tomson drew a two-out walk, then advanced to third on a pair of passed balls.

"We needed a win like this, especially after what happened last week," said Lake Mary coach Allen Tuttle, referring to a loss suffered last week when Lake Mary's Frankie ratted for six runs in the final inning.

"It's been two years since we beaten them (Oviedo), so we're happy with any kind of win over them. They're very tough, especially with him (Paul Luterano) on the team."

The game was a Seminole Athletic Conference classic. While the Lions never held a lead, they rallied twice to tie the game 4-4 and 5-5, firing long bunt deadends with home runs. And almost every time Oviedo scored, Lake Mary countered in the home half of the inning.

For example, after the Rams exploited a pair of Lion errors in the bottom of the first inning to score two unearned runs, Blaine Schulte came back in the top of the second to launch a solo homer for Oviedo. But Lake Mary got the run back in the home half of the second as Matt Horwath singled and took second on an outfield error, moved to third on a ground ball, and scored on Chad Letzler's single.

Trailing 4-1 after four innings, Oviedo rallied to three in the top of the fifth. Jerry Gaudreau hitting a two-run home run to left to head the score. Another Lion error led to Lake Mary's fifth run in the bottom of the inning as Josh Gray led off with a double and scored on an in-field error.

In the top of the sixth, Kenny Starling homered to tie the game at five for Oviedo. This time, it took Lake Mary two innings to answer as Tucker's game-winning infield chopper

Horwath excels on and off field

By David Guibee
HERALD CORRESPONDENT

LAKE MARY - Matt Horwath is the epitome of what a role model should be. He is the result of what hard work and discipline brings. As a sophomore, Horwath is in his second year as the starting shortstop for the deeply talented Lake Mary Rams baseball team and one of the team leaders.

"He's the leader of this team," said head coach Allen Tuttle. "He is in the ballgame 100% of the time, he does what has to be done to help the team, he's always on base when you need him on base and can always drive in runs when needed."

Third baseman Kyle Hoss added, "Even though Matt's young he's a leader on this team. He does whatever needed to win, whatever it takes."

Horwath is also a leader in the classroom while being a star on the field. Finding the time to maintain a 3.85 GPA taking all honors classes.

He also excels at basketball. This year he started on the Rams junior varsity team and was moved up to the varsity squad later in the season.

While Horwath has always been the recipient of high praise and one of the top players on his teams he's played on, he has always maintained a level head. When asked about his future plans he simply responded, "Obviously it's every player's dream to play for a Division I college and eventually make the pros, but right now I'm just playing for the love of the game."

Horwath is well respected by his teammates and coaches alike.

"Matt is a great person to play with, he is always trying to help the other players on the field. It's like having a second coach on the field. Matt has the most ability of any sophomore ever to play for Lake Mary High School," said Coach Tuttle.

When asked about the team chemistry this year he responded with this, "Last year I was a freshman and I had those freshman jitters and was a little nervous about fitting in, we had a lot of seniors who had been together for a long time. This year since I'm a sophomore I feel I fit in more and have gained more respect of the team."

Horwath always plays a key role in all of Lake Mary's games. For example last night (Wednesday) against district power Oviedo, he went 2 for 3 and scored two runs to help the Rams get past the Lions 6-5.

Practice opens for Daytona 200 bikes

Special to the Herald

DAYTONA BEACH - At 18-years-old Nick Hayden is one of the youngest riders attempting to qualify for Sunday's Daytona 200 by Aral Superbike Classic. However, the Owensboro, Ky., native isn't a rookie in terms of racing experience.

Part of one of the most famous racing families in motorcycling, Hayden followed in his old brother Tommy's footsteps and started racing minibikes with training wheels at the ripe old age of three. Hayden's younger brother Roger Lee, 10, is the third of the Hayden brothers to turn pro in the American Motorcyclist Association (AMA) Superbike Series ranks.

This week, the pressure is on Hayden to perform. After all, he is riding on the almighty Honda factory Superbike team - a team that has won the Daytona 200 six times since the Superbike era began in 1985. In addition, his teammate Miguel Duhamel is the defending Daytona 600 SuperSport and Superbike champion and

The sophomore set county records of 255 total pounds and 140 pounds in the clean and jerk to win the county championship in the 129-pound class.

The daughter of Jim and Barbara Simmon, Robinson carries a 3.4 Grade Point Average and is captain of the Seminole High School junior varsity cheerleading squad.

W-E claims Wednesday men's title

By Don Smith

SANFORD - Wilson-Eichelberger Funeral Home stretched its winning streak to six games to clinch the regular-season championship and the top seed for next week's Final of the Seaside Recreation and Parks Department Men's Wednesday Night Pickle Ball Near Shore Pickleball League at Pinehurst Park last night.

The crown was claimed with ease of a whopper than a long as Wells Contracting did not show for the game, handing the crown to Wilson-Eichelberger Funeral Home.

Last week (March 1), Wilson-Eichelberger Funeral Home had moved to within a victory of the title by humbling Dilbartolo Beer 30 15-2, but Perkins Beer 30 kept the pressure on, holding off a Wells Contracting seventh inning rally to win 15-14.

Perkins Beer 30 then forced Wilson-Eichelberger Funeral Home to win the game, as Greg Richards one-out single in the bottom of the eighth inning plated Mike McLahan with the winning run as Perkins Beer 30 edged Dilbartolo Beer 30, 17-16.

That victory, coupled with the fastest left Perkins Beer 30 and Wilson-Eichelberger Funeral Home tied for first with 6-3 records and Dilbartolo Beer 30 and Wells Contracting tied for third with 3-6 marks.

But Wilson-Eichelberger Funeral Home and Dilbartolo Beer 30 got first and third places because they held 2-1 victory advantages over Perkins Beer 30 and Wells Contracting, respectively.

Next Wednesday night at Pinehurst Park the tournament will have Wells Contracting challenging Wilson-Eichelberger Funeral Home at 6:30 p.m. and Perkins Beer 30 and Dilbartolo Beer 30 squaring off at 7:30 p.m. The two winning teams will then return to play for the championship at 8:30 p.m.

Providing the offense were:

the all-time winningest rider in the AMA Superbike series.

Yet, as with most teenagers in sports, pressure doesn't seem to be a word in Hayden's vocabulary Wednesday in practice for this weekend's AMA national races. Hayden showed no signs of being intimidated in his first Superbike outing at Daytona.

In Superbike practice Hayden was third fastest on the team's new RC51. In 600 SuperSport practice, Hayden, riding a Honda F4, was over a half-second faster than Eric Byström on the factory Kawasaki.

Thursday will be a big day for the young rider with qualifying for the Superbike and SuperSport on the schedule at Daytona International Speedway. He'll have plenty of competition for a top spot, including the riders who turned fast lap times in Wednesday's practice sessions.

Defending AMA Superbike champ Mat Mladin led all riders with a time of one minute, 50.123 seconds on his Yoshimura Suzuki. After Mladin came three-time AMA Superbike champ Doug Chandler (1:50.903), Hayden (1:51.091), Larry Pogram on a Ducati (1:51.100) and Australian Troy Hayles on a Vance & Hines Ducati (1:51.635).

John Hopkins, a 16-year-old from Ramona, Calif., topped 750cc SuperSport practice with a time of one minute, 54.943 seconds on a Valvoline Suzuki. Shawn Higbee, of Waterford, Wis., led the Pro Thunder bikes with a time of one minute, 58.234 seconds on an American-made Buell, and after a two-year absence from the class, Keith Oliver rode his Yamaha T2350 to a time of one minute, 57.482 seconds, fastest of the 250 Grand Prix bikes.

The Daytona 200 by April pair winner will be awarded a specially inserted Rolex Daytona watch.

Tickets for Daytona 200 Week events at the Speedway are available online at www.daytonaintltp.com or by calling the Speedway Ticket Office at (904) 253-7223.

POOVEY STARTING 25TH SEASON OF AMA GRAND NATIONAL RACING AT DAYTONA

DAYTONA BEACH - Racing veteran Terry Poovey is preparing to begin his 25th year in the American Motorcyclist Association (AMA) Grand National Series this weekend at Daytona Beach Municipal Stadium.

The 41-year-old rider from Garland, Texas, has been a perennial favorite on the challenging short track at the stadium. Over the years, Poovey has won a total of 19 regional and national races during Bike Week.

The soft-spoken Poovey has become one of the crowd favorites on the AMA Grand National circuit. He started his professional racing career as a 17-year-old in 1976 and made an immediate impact, winning in his rookie year on the short track in Talladega, Ala.

Poovey improved steadily during the late 1970s. In 1979 he won two nationals, both on half-mile tracks, one in Columbus, Ohio, and the other in Meadow Lands, Pa. By the early '80s he was considered one of the top riders on the national circuit. His highest ranking in the Grand National Series came in 1982 when he finished the season as the fourth-ranked rider.

"It's hard to believe that I've been racing this long," said Poovey in his slow Texas drawl. "Daytona has always been good to me. I feel like I have a good chance to win every time I come down here."

The fans seem to really be behind him at Daytona and that makes a big difference.

Poovey continues to be competitive even though he races a limited schedule. Last year the veteran nailed down five top 10 finishes. The well-liked rider should again be one to watch Friday and Saturday night at Municipal Stadium.
