Lane closures planned during holiday weekend

Be alert for alternating lane closures on State Road 417, the Central Florida GreeneWay, from 7 p.m. today until 6 a.m. Sunday as crews resurface and re-stripe lanes in both directions from State Road 50 to the Orange-Seminole County line.

Crews are scheduled to continue nighttime resurfacing and re-striping Sunday through July 17 from 7 p.m. until 6 a.m. each night.

Wet weather and other unforeseen circumstances could delay or prolong work.

The Orlando-Orange County Expressway Authority is widening State Road 417 from State Road 50 to the Orange-Seminole County line, south of Aloma Avenue, and has expanded the University Main Toll Plaza to add highway-speed, Express E-PASS lanes.

The $22.6 million project began Jan. 28, 2002, and is expected to finish by the end of July, weather permitting. Find details on this and other OCEEA projects at www.ExpresswayAuthority.com/construction/roadwork.

Deputies find illegal fireworks

Two stands voluntarily close after police receive tips

From Staff Reports

Two fireworks stands voluntarily ceased operations after investigations by the Seminole County Sheriff's Office.

Acting on tips from county officials and the State Fire Marshal's Office, the sheriff's office dispatched members of the Explosives and Ordinance Disposal (EOD) Unit to investigate whether vendors were selling illegal fireworks.

The investigators found two fireworks stands, both operated by the same company, selling illegal fireworks. The company, Sky King, operated two locations, one located at U.S. Highway 17-92 and Spartan Drive and the second located at Mailland Boulevard and State Road 434.

Members of the EOD unit informed the workers that they were selling illegal fireworks and advised them to cease selling those specific fireworks prohibited by law.

According to Barry Smith, public information officers for the sheriff's office, the officers did not shut down the stands. However, employees at both locations called the owner of the business, and he directed his employees to close the stands until the illegal fireworks could be removed. The stands re-opened after the fireworks were removed.

Summerstock program prepares for 'Damn Yankees'

By Michelle Jorin
Managing Editor

For a few high school students, summer school is all an act.

For the past three weeks, more than 40 students from various Seminole County high schools have been preparing for the Summerstock Theatre Program's production of "Damn Yankees," a Richard Adler and Jerry Ross musical. Curtains rise Tuesday evening for the first performance, and the teens say they are ready.

"I think we'll be ready to go," said Sarah Whitmore from Lake Mary, who is co-assistant director with Lake Brantley's Lindsay Frumer. "Everyone has been working hard, and it shows."

"Damn Yankees," based on Douglas Wallop's "The Year the Yankees Lost the Pennant," gives a new twist to the legend of Faust when a middle-aged baseball fan sells his soul to the Devil, a.k.a. Mr. Applegate, for the chance to play for the Washington Senators. Transformed into a young man, this over-eager fan's dreams are soon fulfilled when he finds himself leading the team in both hitting and pitching, but "Damn Yankees" keeps the story interesting, for there is a price to be paid, and the Devil and his seductive assistant, Lola, are waiting to collect.

A script selection crew at Lake Mary High School chose the production from one of three that made the cut. Bill Eissele, theater teacher and sponsor at Lake Mary High, narrowed the list to one for the Summerstock Theatre Program and chose "Damn Yankees."

This is the eighth-year Eissele has worked with drama students during summer school.

SGTV selected as finalist for awards program

By Jamie J. Anderson-Potter
Staff Writer

SANFORD — For the third consecutive year, Seminole Government Television (SGTV) has been selected as a finalist in the National Government Programming Awards.

The 18th annual awards program, sponsored by the National Association of Telecommunications Officers and Advisors (NATOA), honors original programming on government television stations nationwide.

In this year's competition, the crew of SGTV competed against 900 other entries to become a finalist in three categories — children's programming, public safety and event-based documentaries. "This is our best year yet," said Matt Chesler, program manager of SGTV.

As a finalist, the station is guaranteed a top three finish, with the official standings being announced Sept. 12 during an awards banquet in Denver, Colo.

"This shows that we can produce award-winning programming with limited staff and budget," said Chesler. "We're able to compete with the best and biggest channels throughout the country."

"We're proud of the fact we can do all the things we do with as few people as we have," he added.

According to Andrew Cardona, video production coordinator of SGTV, the staff of SGTV — Chesler, Cardona, Paul Louise, Terry Connelly, and Chris Camp, a temporary employee who is currently working with the cast of the hit show "Survivor" — worked together to complete each of the projects.

Among the award finalists, SGTV is guaranteed a top three finish.

Mica wants I-4 bridge to honor nation's veterans

From Staff Reports

U.S. Representative John L. Mica (R-Fla.) has requested members of the Florida State Legislature to designate the new I-4 bridge over the St. Johns River in honor of the nation's veterans. The new structure, scheduled to open for full public service soon, would be named "The St. Johns River Veterans Memorial Bridge."

In letters sent to members of both the Volusia and Seminole County State Legislative Delegations, Mica stated, "Given the sacrifice of many who served for our nation, I believe it would be appropriate to name the bridge, The St. Johns River Veterans Memorial Bridge."

Johns River Veterans Memorial Bridge."

Mica helped change national legislation and secured federal assistance to expedite the I-4/St. Johns River Bridge replacement project. Designed to carry approximately 30,000 vehicles a day, the bridge had a daily traffic count of more than 70,000 vehicles in 1999, and that volume has only increased since. Until recently, however, the narrowness of the bridge resulted in a bottleneck on I-4, which contributed to traffic congestion as well as numerous accidents.

The $138 million project included the replacement

Son of Deltona woman displays nation's strength during Fleet Week USA

From Staff Reports

USS Cole (DDG 67) recently returned to its place of commissioning to celebrate Fort Lauderdale's Fleet Week USA 2003. The port visit was USS Cole's first major appearance since undergoing 14 months of reconstruction from the terrorist attack in Yemen. "USS Cole is the Navy's icon for the war on terrorism," said Petty Officer 3rd Class Wesley Price, son of Dawn

Price of Deltona. Price is one of more than 300 sailors stationed on board USS Cole, which is homeported in Norfolk, Va.

Fleet Week offered the South Florida community an opportunity to get a closer look into the Navy, while sailors on board five Navy warships had the chance to relax and enjoy a week filled with special events. "The welcome from the commu-

Children participate in archeology dig at Geneva's Yarbrough Center

GENEVA — "Look, I found a shark tooth in here," shouted one girl.

A few seconds later, another proclaimed, "I found a cow tooth, and it's bigger than yours!" They compared their treasures and quickly returned to digging in a pile of dirt. However, their parents did not seem to mind.

These children were at the Yarbrough Center in Geneva on Saturday, June 28 for an archeology day.

At 8 a.m., guests were taken on a guided hike through the woods and around the swamps. Along the trails, which are partly accessible on horseback, there are many bird- and bat-houses where the animals can find refuge. Others prefer to wander the trails themselves, as could be seen by the numerous footprints (and droppings).

After returning from the trek, hikers in need of refreshment could visit the kitchen, where soda, water, cookies, chips and crackers were all available at no cost.

Parents and children alike enjoyed historical and archaeological exhibits in the Yarbrough Center. Mal and Mary Jo Martin displayed arrowheads, a mammoth tooth, literature and other items from the Geneva Historical Museum.

Skulls of various animals filled two whole tables.

"That looks like a deer of some kind," guessed Ron Scoles, one parent in attendance.

A member of the Fossil Hunters' Club smiled and turned over a label to show that the skull did in fact belong to a deer. The club's collection of fossils was followed by Wiley Dikes' collection, which included ancient trilobites.

At the next table, pioneer crafts were made for donations.

SEMINOLE SUMMARY

A GLANCE AROUND OUR COUNTY

In the 'hood: Sanford's new city manager, Al Grieshaber, didn't waste any time finding a place to live. In an interview with Herald reporter Jamie Anderson-Potter, Grieshaber said he and his family have found a home in the Mayfair subdivision.

The Grieshabers have yet to close on the home, so understandably the retired Marine Corps lieutenant colonel was a bit vague on the location. However he said it was at the corner of Summerlin and 2nd Street. Red flags immediately went up, because Mayor Brady Lessard just moved from a house at that location. Could the mayor and the colonel have cut a deal?

No deal was cut, which I'm sure comes as a disappointment to Sanford naysayer Millard Hunt and his group of mallards known as the Save the Park gang. (Millard called Grieshaber's hiring a "stick in the eye to the citizens' committee.") In fact, the Grieshabers are looking to move into Ed and Kathy Bossert's house, which is

by Dan Ping

across the street from the former Casa de Lessard.

Speaking of Mayfair, if there's a power neighborhood in Sanford, Mayfair's it. Though, the mayor will not be living across the street from the city manager, Lessard will live a block away, or as they say in East Tennessee, "spitting distance." One block east of the city manager's future home lives Mike Skat, former chairman of the Planning Commission. And a block and a half south on Summerlin lives Police Chief Brian Tooley. (Mayfair must have a heck of a neighborhood watch.)

The sunny side: Former city commissioner and mayor M.L. "Sonny" Raborn just got out of the hospital. Mr. Raborn — or Sonny, as he insists I call him — had the David Letterman surgery, i.e., a quadruple bypass. While he was at it, Sonny had a valve replaced. He's going through rehab, but should be back in fighting form soon. I'm sure Sonny would love to hear from all his friends in town, but please don't everybody drop by the house all at once. In fact, now might be a good time to take up the lost art of letter writing. Jot Sonny a quick note and let him know you're thinking about him.

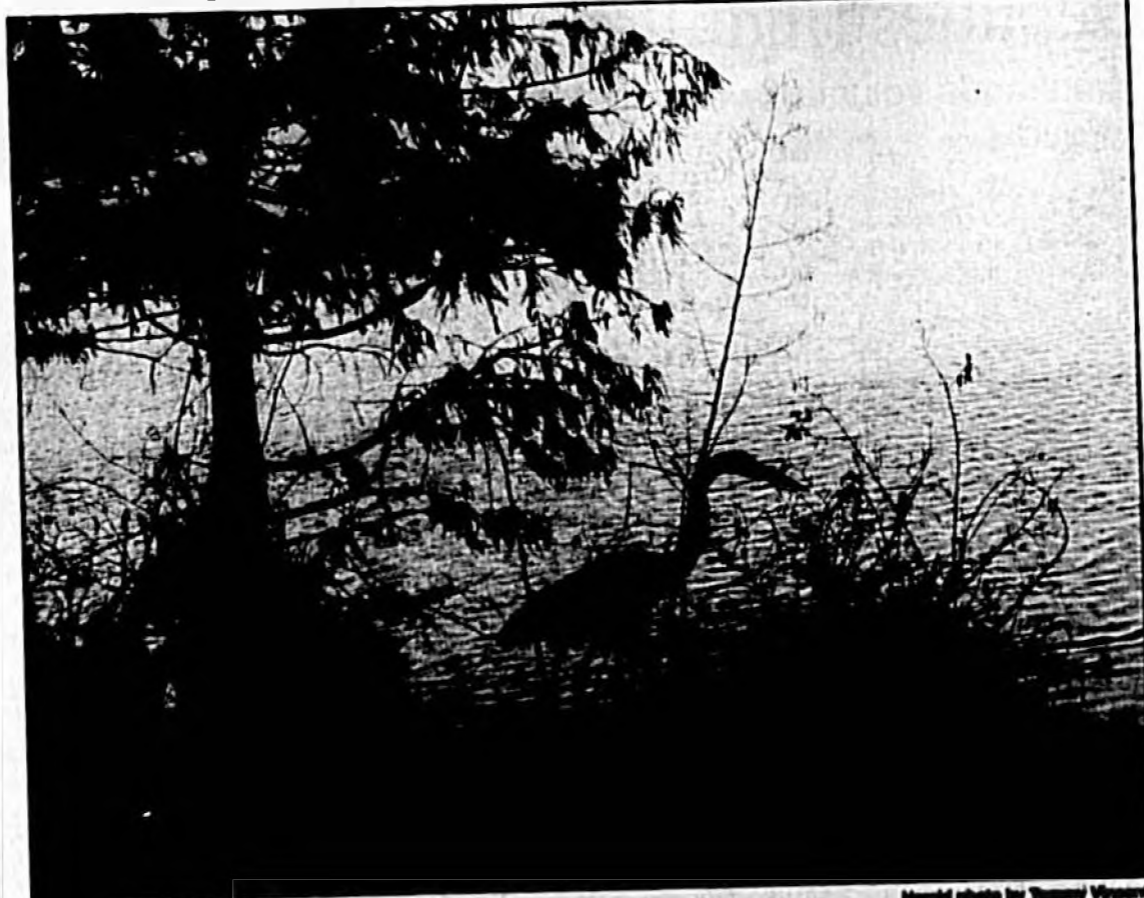

Narrow minded: Notice something different about The Herald? We've made a subtle change you might not notice so I'll give the skinny.

We've narrowed the size of the paper just slightly. With newsprint prices creeping up all the time, most newspapers have switched to paper that is a bit smaller in width. The height of the paper remains the same. You'll notice we've changed the nameplate on page 1, but that's the most visible. In the coming months, we may tweak the design but nothing major.

Book mania: The Herald's picture books, "Sanford: Our First 125 Years" are moving quickly. There has been a steady stream of people picking up books they ordered, as well as a good number of folks buying extra copies. If you didn't pre-order a book and still want one, don't delay because they will run out soon.

Also, we still have pictures from several people who submitted them for the book. If you have not picked up your pictures, stop by the office Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. or call 407-322-2611.

Not so funny comics

Where did the laughter go?

Think for a moment about comic strips in our newspapers. As far as I'm concerned, many of them are far from being comedic.

Nick Pfeiffauf

When they first started appearing in print, they were called the "Sunday Funnys." Radio stations in large cities would hire people (personalities) to "read the funnys" every Sunday morning. The youngsters would sit glued to their radio sets and read along. It probably helped many kids learn to read.

Then after they started appearing in the daily papers, rather than just Sundays, they became known as comic strips. (The ones you can remember would tell your age. But many strips have stood the test of time and the characters have either grown in the strip, or continued much as they have always been such as Snuffy Smith (who used to be teamed with Barney Google if you remember the 30's) or Mickey Mouse who hasn't aged a day. Then there are Gasoline Alley and Dagwood and Blondie where the characters actually aged over the years (not quite as much with Blondie).

Remember them? They were FUNNY. We would read them and laugh.

What do we get now? A lot of political satire, thinly veiled moral values of some individuals, and other matters disguised as "comic strips" but bearing little resemblance to anything funny.

Doonsbury is one of the best examples of what I don't like. It has ceased to be funny and is nothing but the political opinion of Gary Trudeau, (who happens to be Jane Paulie's husband). It's so politically bias that many papers have stopped carrying the strip, or moved it onto the editorial page, away from the rest of the "comics".

It's been some time since the Herald stopped carrying cartoons or comic strips. When it first happened, I expected many people would complain. Nope! Hardly a soul said anything. Just a few commented that they didn't like the way cartoons were going and couldn't care less.

As for me - I many read Blondie and Dagwood or Snuffy Smith from time to time. Maybe even Mickey Mouse or the Prince Valiant (produced partially right here in Seminole County). But as for the rest - I would even hesitate to use them in the canary cage or cat box. I wouldn't want to expose them to anything like that, especially if someone tried to tell them they were supposed to be funny.

Town hall meeting reveals human side of politics

Sarah Scoles
Seminole Herald Intern

Only a few cars dotted the parking lot on Monday, June 23, a few minutes before the Sanford Town Hall Meeting was slated to start. Sandy Adams, the representative for District 33 in the Florida House of Representatives, was supposed to attend, but my efforts to find her expensive foreign car were fruitless. Checking the date, I walked into the building, expecting that I was in the right place at the wrong time. However, as I walked in, I learned two things: it was the right day, and Sandy Adams does not drive an expensive foreign car.

The Town Hall Meeting was held to make citizens aware of issues that affect them, their children and their money. Sandy Adams is our voice in Tallahassee, and she called the meeting so citizens could both speak and listen.

Also present was Gale Bass, who has had to go where no legislative aide has gone before, as her representative was called to active duty. Because the only attendees were a lone journalist, her sister, a few cloggers and a doctor, the meeting became a question-and-answer session.

The most controversial issues discussed were health care and education. With the number of doctors leaving the state and the number of malpractice suits, the health care crisis has been the subject of great debate at the Florida House of Representatives. "In the end, we have to have a comprehensive bill that still gives our citizens access to health care," Adams concluded. "The board doesn't have the teeth, and the bill gives them the teeth."

One-third of the recently revised budget now goes to education. "It was a check of a fight," recalled Adams. "It was a lean year. We believe in our children, and you've got to be able to do as much as you can for the future of Florida." Adams fought for an increase in school funding and a decrease in class size, and she got them.

At the meeting, Adams also mentioned the programs the legislature saved or reformed this year. These included

PACE centers for girls, Bright Futures scholarships, Workers' Compensation and prescription drug relief, to name only a few. "The question we had to ask ourselves was how many victims we were willing to give up to get from Point A to Point B," Adams said. "The answer was none. We were able to save all those programs."

The Rape Victims Records Exemption Bill, passed during this session, mandates that photo and video evidence of rape is no longer public record. "It was a contentious bill," Adams stated. "I believe in the Sunshine Laws, but there are certain things we just don't need access to." She always seems to have the public interest in mind.

Before the start of the 2003 Legislative Session, Adams did a survey to ascertain which issues were important to the people of District 33. The top five were education, child welfare, public safety, health care and highway infrastructure. At the town hall meeting, she explained that she has based her campaigns on these results.

Managing editor says goodbye to the Herald, community

I came to Central Florida more than three years ago because of palm trees and a job offer. People understand the part about the job offer. It's the palm tree thing that raises a few eyebrows, so let me explain.

I've lived a majority of my life in northern climates. There's nothing worse than a Midwest winter full of dark gray slush. Even when I moved further south to Tennessee, there was no escaping Jack Frost and his cold northern wind. During those frigid days, nothing was more soothing than daydreams of a tropical world where palm trees were abundant.

When I received a call about coming to Sanford for a job at the Herald, my first thought was about palm trees. Palm trees meant warm weather, sandy beaches and no more winter coats. A few days after receiving the call, I was visiting Sanford to find out if it was the right job and place for me. I knew as soon as I got off the airplane and saw a few palm trees swaying in the wind that Central Florida was going to be my new home. A few short weeks later I became a native Floridian's worst nightmare - a northern migrant.

Like most people starting a new job, I realized it was going to take some time to become acquainted with my community and for the community to accept me - especially one with a small town environment. My love of palm trees wasn't my ticket to instant acceptance. Nevertheless, I had a few things working in my favor. As the Herald's managing editor, I was instantly required to familiarize myself to my new surroundings. And, I had Herald photographer Tommy Vincent on my side.

Anyone who has lived in Seminole County for any length of time knows Tommy. If there's been a news event that's happened in the area during the last 20 or so years, Tommy's probably taken a photograph of it. And, people don't even question the quality of his work. They know when Tommy has snapped the button on his camera, the image that follows is going to be good.

During the past three years, I've become Tommy's sidekick. He'd take the pictures, I'd write the stories. When on assignment, people may not have known who I was, but they knew Tommy, so that made me OK. The result - some interesting and unique human interest stories I hope people enjoyed.

So, Sanford became my home and my community. I even found a place to live within the city that had a few palm trees right outside my bedroom window. Who could be so lucky?

While the city that celery helped build became my hometown, my home away from home was just down the street in Lake Mary. Covering the City of Lakes for the newspaper was one of my job responsibilities. During my three-year tenure covering City Commission and the day-to-day events of the city, I realized the people who were my news sources could also be friends. To them, I am gracious and say "thank you" for answering my questions, even when it wasn't so easy.

Back to the people in the Herald newsroom. Thursday I had to say goodbye to my workplace family. I've been lucky enough to work with some really great newspeople who are devoted to community journalism - something that shouldn't be questioned. For example, it's not unusual to see Sports Editor Dean Smith typing away at midnight on a weekday to get a story into the next edition of the Herald. And, then there are the people behind the scenes. Composer/Graphic Designer Cheryl Smith is a fine example of someone who puts dedication before herself. When Dean's typing away at his stories late into the evening, Cheryl will be laying out the pages or designing an ad. So, to Dean, Cheryl and everyone else at the Herald, I also say "thank you." It's been a fun and sometimes crazy ride that I wouldn't trade for anything.

Next week, I start a new job at the Winter Haven News-Chief. As features editor, I'll once again have to form a good relationship with the community. I hope it will be as easy as it's been at the Herald. There's already one good thing about where I am going - I've found a place to live that has a few palm trees right outside my bedroom window.

 lists is "Gun Safety," a short children's piece that illustrates the dangers of handling a weapon. Also among the finalists, is "SCC Student Art Exhibition," an artistic documentary featuring Seminole Community College student artists, and "Call to Duty," a public safety program which features Seminole County firefighters/EMS personnel.
 "These nominations are nice because they are a collaboration of different types of shows," Chesler explained.
 The three pieces were judged by a panel of professionals in the television industry on several elements, including content and creativity, technical and engineering production and overall impression.

 According to one judge's score sheet, Seminole County had the lowest annual operating budget in the over $300,000 category, but, he said, "It just goes to show that quality programming can be achieved with limited resources."
 "This helps show we have value to the county and the community," said Louis, who will attend the awards banquet in September, along with Chesler. "It reminds everyone that there is a reason for us to be here - we provide a service to the area."

 The station is also named on the honorable mention list, although it is unknown until September which programs, of the dozen submitted, have won.
 "When you look at all the government stations in Central Florida," explained Cardona. "This gives us a seal of approval and credibility. It sets us apart from them."
 SGTV can be viewed on Bright House Networks, formerly Time Warner Cable, on channel 9 and Heathrow Cable on channel 2. For a program guide, log on at www.co.seminole.fl.us/it/ca/bshed.htm

 Originally, the session was held at Lake Mary High, but due to construction and the decrease in Seminole summer school locations, the program was moved to Seminole High School.
 This summer, the production is a collaboration between students from Lake Mary, Seminole, Lake Brantley, Lake Howell, Oviedo and Orange Wood Christian high schools. They work together during summer school to produce and perform a play or musical at the end of the session.
 "There's a little bit of friendly competition between students," Eissele said. "It's Lake Brantley this or Oviedo that. It's all friendly banter, and the students have fun."

 None of the students or their sponsor seem to mind that they are giving up some of the summer vacation to put on a show. Eissele's wife, Susan, is even the musical director for their show. She's been helping her husband with the summer program for the past 10 years.
 "We love doing this," Eissele said. "It's something we really enjoy."
 "Damn Yankees" takes to the stage 7 p.m. Tuesday through July 11 at Seminole High School Theatre, 2701 Ridgewood Ave., in Sanford. Tickets are $4. For more information, call 407-320-9672.

David Cavallere thinks it's a fine life.

Some find life on the job routine. Even mundane. But David Cavallere doesn't see it that way. In 1995, David was diagnosed with non-Hodgkins lymphoma, a particularly nasty kind of cancer. And, like most cancers, it can be fatal. But, thanks to sophisticated treatment at M. D. Anderson Cancer Center Orlando, part of Orlando Regional Healthcare, David is a survivor.

Among other things, David's experience fighting cancer has given him a new appreciation for life and all its ordinary, humdrum, everyday events and activities. Now, thanks to our big new building downtown, M. D. Anderson Cancer Center Orlando will be able to help even more people like David, using advanced techniques and technology to diagnose, treat, and reduce the impact of cancer. All at one convenient central location that will allow our patients to spend less time fighting cancer and more time doing what matters most—living life.

 opportunity, was exciting—it's appreciation that we just don't get everyday," said Price, husband of the former Kathy Byrd and father of two.
 The weeklong event included intership baseball and basketball competitions, a Damage Control Olympics competition, a beach barbecue and many other festivities. Price, a Florida native, said he enjoyed seeing the beach and the warm weather. "Everyone had a great time at Fleet Week."
 USS Cole's crew welcomed aboard special groups from the community for a tour of the 505-foot long Aegis-guided missile destroyer, allowing visitors to see what life is like for sailors on board and how vital their jobs are to the ship's mission. "We all work very hard at our jobs," said Price, a fire controlman. "Being on a small ship makes us like a family. You'll never fully know what a sailor does unless you are one."
 Events like Fleet Week are just some of the many unique opportunities sailors experience as they proudly serve their country. Price enlisted in January 2000 and when asked why he joined the Navy, he said he wanted to carry on a family tradition and to better plan for his future. "My grandfather is a retired naval aviation commander, so the Navy has a sense of heritage and tradition to me," said Price. "I also joined because I promised my girlfriend as soon as we could move out on our own I would ask her to marry me. She's been my wife for three and a half years now and we have two children together."

 USS Cole proudly displayed the Navy's strength and determination during Fort Lauderdale's Fleet Week USA 2003, epitomized by one of the ship's most recent additions—the 17 stars that line the passageway in front of the galley, representing the 17 sailors killed in the 200 terrorist attack in Yemen.

National Board of Directors and headquartered in Baltimore, the total membership exceeds 500,000.
 Mistress of Ceremony for the evening was Natalie Jackson, Esquire of Hicks, Richard and Isaac Law Firm, LLC. Sanford Police Department Honor Guard presented the colors.

there was a raffle drawing. Winners chose from coloring books, necklaces and water bottles at a table in the back of the Yarrowburgh Center.

"Hey, Mom, you won! That's you!" called Tracey Ward's daughter to her mother across the room.
 Perhaps the most exciting part of the day, which ended around 1 p.m., were the interactive exhibits. Not only could pond water be examined under a microscope, but fossils could be found in a pile of sand. Taking cups of sand and filtering them through a screen, children went home with rocks, teeth and an occasional bone.
 Between the fun, the food and the information, it was a great time for all in attendance.

In 1998, as part of the Federal Transportation Efficiency Act ("TEA-21"), Mica obtained $14 million in federal funds to expedite the project.
 In 1999, Mica followed up by successfully urging the governor to approve the state's use of Grant Anticipation Revenue (GARVEE) bonds for the bridge project. This financing mechanism, which Mica helped create and was approved in the 1995 National Highway System Designation Act, advanced funding for the project by leveraging federal highway funds that the state was scheduled to receive.
 Rather than in 2003, work began on March 17, 2001, and now nears completion. To celebrate the start of the project, Mica, FDOT District 5 Secretary Mike Snyder and community leaders participated in a commencement ceremony at Wayside Park by Lake Monroe on May 7, 2001.

 Federal and state laws require that designation of Florida's interstate roadways, tunnels and bridges be passed by the state legislature. While it may not be possible in the short time remaining in the special session, the congressman requested that the bridge designation be given consideration during the next session.
 "We don't have a structure of this nature in Central Florida named for our veterans," Mica stated. "This would be an appropriate way to recognize the service and sacrifice of those who answered the call to duty during our nation's times of need."

The Way We Were:

Life in Sanford during the war years

Grace Marie Stinecpher
Herald Correspondent

We continue today with events during World War II as reported in "Sanford and the World War II Years" by Peter Schaal. He gleaned his information from Sanford Herald's of the era. The following occurred during the first three months of 1943.

War Activities at Home

County Agent C.R. Dawson explained that a proposed migrant tent city between 10th and 11th Streets and west of the ACL Station would house 100 with floors, a large entertainment tent and an on-duty nurse. On January 25, the tent city had 147 recruited in Mississippi with area neighbors offering aid. On February 10, five carloads of materials and 100 tents had arrived for the migrant camp.

Lumberman W.J. Toll was named Chairman of Community Service, a new post on the County War Price and Rationing Board.

Ration head A.J. Peterson explained that pleasure driving was prohibited, which meant no driving to amusement parks, weddings, social events or sight-seeing points. You could take your cook to and from under the heading of Personal Necessity, and visits to churches were approved. Shoe rationing became effective on February 10. The only unrationed foods as of March 27 were bread, fresh fruits and vegetables, cereals and preserves.

Seminole County Kennel Club closed for the duration on January 13 putting 175 our of work after seven years...Local milk delivery was cut to every other day on January 29.

L.V. McLaulin, local agent of the US Civil Service, listed numerous US jobs available with no local taxers...Alex R. Johnson said that 57 Sanfordites, graduates of his training school, were getting $45 per week at the Babcock Plant in Deland.

American Legion commander Ned Smith announced that there would be a large sign erected at Park and First to carry names of all locals in service...The Legion, aided by the Bugle Corps, collected 30,000 pounds of scrap metal including an old boiler donated by Kilgore Seed Co.

A patriotic rally MCed by E.F. Housholder was held February 23. Governor Spessard Holland drew over 1,000 to the bandshell where he presented H.B. Pope with the War Production Board's Efficiency Flag which would be hung on the court house pole. Mrs. E.C. Echols was presented with a four-star pennant by SNAS Commander Hughes.

With only 12 players available for football, University president John Tigert ordered intercollegiate athletics discontinued for the duration.
Mrs. F.E. Roumilliat was

Knights get shot at vengeance

UCF and Penn State to meet again in 2004

Special to the Herald

UCF and Penn State have reached an agreement to play football Sept. 18, 2004, bringing to two the number of future games with the Nittany Lions. UCF was already scheduled to play Penn State Sept. 4, 2010.

UCF played Penn State for the first time last season. The Nittany Lions won 27-24 in the season-opener for both teams. The game was televised nationally by ESPN and the crowd of 103,029 was the largest to ever watch a UCF game.

"After last year's game our players expressed to me their appreciation for the opportunity to play a tradition-rich team like Penn State," UCF athletics director Steve Orsini said. "I'm glad to say they will have the opportunity to do so again."

"I've had the fortune of being in a lot of NFL stadiums and I can't ever remember one being as electrifying," UCF coach Mike Krueck said. "We're honored to have a chance to go back and try to even things up. It's nice to play against the best teams in the country because that's a yardstick you measure your success with to see how far you've come."

The addition to the 2004 schedule means UCF will now open the season at Wisconsin Sept. 4, and host West Virginia Sept. 11, before going to Happy Valley.

UCF opens the 2003 season at Virginia Tech Aug. 31, on ESPN.

Tournament time

County to host Babe Ruth events

By Dean Smith
Sports Editor

Seminole County will be very busy over the next few weeks with several Babe Ruth tournaments set for the area.

The Oviedo Sports Complex will be the busiest place with four age group Girls Fastpitch State Tournaments being held next week.

Also coming up later this month will be the Babe Ruth Baseball Senior Boys 18-and-Under "B" State Tournament at Historic Sanford Memorial Stadium July 18th through the 23rd and the Cal Ripken Minor Division 10-and-Under Baseball Southeastern Regional Championships at Eastmonte Park in Altamonte Springs.

The Oviedo Sports Complex will be buzzing starting Wednesday (July 9) and running through Sunday (July 13) with state titles on the line for the 10-and-Under, 12-and-Under, 14-and-Under and 16-and-Under girls teams.

Host Oviedo Babe Ruth will have teams in the 10's, 12's and Defending 10-and-Under State Champion Oviedo (above) will be one of the favorites for the 12-and-Under state title this week when it begins play in the 2003 Florida Babe Ruth Baseball Girls' Fastpitch Softball State Championships at the Oviedo Sports Complex. Oviedo will be playing host to the 10-and-Under, 12-and-Under, 14-and-Under and 16-and-Under brackets starting Wednesday (July 9) and running through next Sunday (July 13). Also coming up July 18th through the 23rd will be the Babe Ruth Baseball Senior 18-and-Under "B" State Championship at Historic Sanford Memorial Stadium. Last year host Altamonte Springs (shown pitching, left) was the champion and should be a favorite to keep its crown.

Hell's Bay Boats narrow the gap to reach big fish

Special to the Herald

How close would you like to get to big fish?

If you would like to get really close, as in having fish under the boat, then check out Hell's Bay Boatworks. These boats will get you so close to fish it is scary.

Hal Chittum, owner of Hell's Bay, says "Our boats are the finest light tackle boats in the world. We use only the highest quality materials available and we do not cut any corners."

I purchased my Hell's Bay Guide 18 about two months ago and there is no question in my mind Hal backs up his words. It takes about eight weeks to build each boat and the company only produces 250-300 boats per year. Each boat is carefully built by hand and a quality that no one can match.

There are several models to choose from such as the Marquesas, the Guide 18, the Professional 17'8", and the Glades Skiff. Visit the website at www.hellsbayboatworks.com to view all the models.

An example of the stealth like capabilities of these boats has been demonstrated several times in the past few weeks. Several of my clients have landed redfish over 20-pounds with the largest being a 38-pound snobberknocker.

If you want to catch big reds you must be quiet and have the boat in the right position. It makes it very easy for a novice fisherman to cast to a school of reds when they are within 10 feet of the boat.

I have fished in many boats and have yet to find a boat that will allow you to get as close to big fish as a Hell's Bay. These boats have absolutely no hull slap, they push less water due to the design of the hull and the two most amazing things is the smooth ride in a chop and an 18-foot, 4-inch boat that will float in 4-3/4 inches of water with a full tank of gas and tow men on board. Made of carbon-kevlar the 18-foot-4 Guide only weighs 575-pounds.

Hell's Bay Boats are designed to get shallower than any other boat on the market. The Glades Skiff is an 18-foot boat which weighs only 275-pounds and floats in 2-1/2 inches of water. If you want closer to fish and not spook them, check out Hell's Bay Boatworks and you might land a fish like the one seen here.

Tight lines and good fishing, Captain David Rogers, AAA Hawgwild Saltwater Charters 407-405-0819. Please check out my new website at www.aaahawgwildcharters.com.

Local tracks stay busy despite action at DIS

From Staff Reports

Despite the 'big time' racing going on at Daytona International Speedway this weekend, several of the local auto racing facilities have decided to stay busy.

New Smyrna Speedway held (weather permitting) the Clyde Hart Memorial Sunbelt 125 lap race on Thursday and will be idle the rest of the weekend.

Hopefully, the Thursday race got off without a hitch unlike last Saturday when just as the Florida Mini Stock Challenge racers began to qualify for their 50 lap event, sprinkles gently touched the windshields. Then sprinkles turned into big drops of water and within minutes the track was flooded, the pits were flooded, and cars were packing up as fast as possible in the down pouring rain.

For the second week in a row, Mother Nature took the win in all heats and races. The TBARA Winged Sprints made their second attempt to race the high banks of New Smyrna Speedway. "Wild Child" was ready and all geared to flag but this was not to happen, not this weekend.

The TBARA Winged Sprints have a full calendar with no reschedule dates available but they will return to New Smyrna in September. The Florida Mini Stock Challenge reschedule date is not known yet but will be announced shortly.

Orlando SpeedWorld is idle this week because of the DIS races, but did get to run last week as only a few sprinkles fell and the track got to run all of the heats and features on June 27th.

The only event that was left off the program was the Kids Bike Race which has been rescheduled for July 11th. But two kids, a boy and a girl, went home very happy as they each won a brand new bike from the ticket giveaway on the grandstand side.

Orlando SpeedWorld Dragway will be hosting Midnight Street Legal Drags tonight (Saturday) from 10:30 p.m. to 2 a.m. Cars must be driven in, no towed cars, and must have working headlights, tail-lights and mufflers.

Gates and staging lanes open at 10:30 p.m. and close at the rear at 2 a.m. See Racing, Page 13 crowded over the July 4th weekend. The St. Johns River, Intracoastal Waterway and the many popular lakes and rivers in the northeast and central part of the state are no exception.

Boating law administrator Capt. Richard Moore, who heads up the Florida Fish and Wildlife Conservation Commission's (FWC) boating safety section, said there are several things people should keep in mind over the busy boating holiday weekend.

"Obviously there will be increased boating traffic on the Fourth and when you combine that with people being out on boats at night to watch fireworks displays, there's more of a risk of mishap," Moore said. "What we're saying is to be especially careful and to pay attention to everything going on around you on the water."

Moore said the number one cause of boating accident in Florida is careless operation - people who are not paying attention to what they're doing while operating a vessel. He said it's easy for a boat operator cruising along to look away momentarily and fail to see such objects as other vessels, bridge piling, buoys or channel markers.

Being impaired by alcohol is another factor that contributes to all too many boating accidents.

"National boating statistics show that when alcohol is involved, a boater is 10 times more likely to be in a boating accident," said Moore. "For everyone's safety, boaters who intend to consume alcohol should always designate a non-drinking operator."

But Moore said even those not operating a vessel should drink only in moderation. "A lot of injuries and even deaths occur when passengers who are drinking fall and get hurt, or fall overboard and drown," Moore said.

The FWC encourages any boater who encounters a boat operator suspected of being impaired, to report the violation to the FWC's toll-free Wildlife Alert Hotline at 1-888-404-FWCC (3922) or #FWC or #FWC on a cellular phone. Callers whose information leads to an arrest may be eligible for a reward.

One more thought to keep in mind: If people would simply wear lifejackets, many lives would be saved each year. The law states that there must be one properly-fitted, U.S. Coast Guard-approved life jacket for each person on board the vessel, and that children under the age of six must be wearing theirs.

But sometimes simply having lifejackets on board is not enough. FWC officers who perform safety checks on vessels often find them in compliance in the strict sense of the word, but many times the life jackets are not easily accessible. Instead, they are stowed in a compartment and require several steps to retrieve. In fact, sometimes they are still neatly wrapped in the original plastic wrap from the manufacturer.

"In an emergency, there is usually no time to go digging around for a lifejacket, let alone unwrapping it and then trying to adjust it so it doesn't fall off in the water," said Joy Hill, public information coordinator for the FWC's Northeast Region. "Sinking boats usually go down fast, and people who have been ejected often end up unconscious, so it's extremely important that people wear the lifejacket, or at the very least have it readily accessible."

Many people complain that wearing a lifejacket is hot and cumbersome, but with the new U.S. Coast Guard-approved inflatable personal flotation devices (PFDs), that argument is no longer valid.

"Some of the life jackets in the past were bulky and uncomfortable but with the inflatable life jackets available today that's not the situation. The lightweight harness fits around your neck and upper body and you don't even know it's there. If you go overboard it can be inflated instantly," Moore said.

Prices for the new generation inflatable life jackets begin around $69, which is a bit more costly than the older, collar styles, but a small price to pay to save a life.

Following are some tips to help your boat outing be safe and fun:

- Boating Safety Fact Sheet
- Be weather wise. Know the weather before you begin your outing.
- Make sure your boat and motor are sound and in good working condition.
- Check all safety equipment, including U.S. Coast Guard-approved PFDs, fire extinguishers, sound-producing devices and visual distress signals.
- Florida law requires children under 6 years old, and all people using personal watercraft or water skis, to wear PFDs.
- FWC boating safety experts say all boaters should wear PFDs and should consider purchasing the new U.S. Coast Guard-approved inflatable PFDs.
- File a float plan. Tell a responsible person where and when you are leaving, where you are going and your estimated time of return.
- Carry a cellular phone, and be sure your VHF radio is working properly.
- Don't overload your boat with people or equipment.
- Everyone 21 years old or younger is required to complete a Commission-approved boater education course to operate most boats. The FWC encourages all boaters to take a safe-boating course. Information on course availability is at www.floridaconservation.org; click on "Boating."
- Alcohol is a major contributor to boating fatalities. Also, impaired boaters come off the water and often become impaired drivers, further endangering public safety. Don't drink and operate a boat or vehicle.

Great Race comes to Lake Mary

For the first time in The Great Race's 21-year history, the cross-country vintage competition took race participants through north Florida making stops in Lake City and Gainesville before stopping in Lake Mary on Thursday, July 3, for an overnight stay in Central Florida.

More than 300 overnight guests made the Orlando Marriott-Lake Mary their home away from home before the final stretch of the race and the grand finale in Daytona Beach.

Starting June 21, The Great Race 2003 took more than 100 antique automobiles from the Community Recreation Center in Livonia, Mich., to the Daytona International Speedway in Daytona Beach for a grand finish as a run-up event to the Pepsi 400 NASCAR Winston Cup race held July 5 — a 4,000-mile odyssey.

The Great Race is the country's richest and longest running vintage rally boasting a purse of $250,000 and a $3 million plus collection of cars, trucks and motorcycles 45 years old or older as originally manufactured or modified in their year of manufacture. The annual two-week transcontinental time-speed-distance rally is the only multi-day vintage event of its kind in the United States.

Software company embarks on $100,000 million program

From Staff Reports

Robert V. Matthews, chairman and majority shareholder of Stromberg, LLC, announced recently that the software company is about to embark on an aggressive, $100 million acquisitions program.

Seth Bernstein, company president and chief executive officer, said the anticipated acquisitions are likely to double to the company's Orlando-area workforce within a year and could double it again within two years.

"Our company is about to embark on an aggressive program to acquire high technology companies that can benefit from Stromberg's commitment to accessible customer service as well as its extensive network of existing customer relationships," Bernstein said. He said Stromberg already has identified several potential acquisition candidates.

"We expect the value of these acquisitions to be approximately $100 million," Matthews said. "I am optimistic that the first acquisition can be announced within a few months and I look forward to having this program completed within two years."

In addition to being majority shareholder of Stromberg,

Matthews heads Matthews Ventures Holdings, LLC, a New Haven, Conn., investment company with interests in commercial real estate, manufacturing and development throughout the nation.

Stromberg, with annual sales of approximately $20 million, currently employs 50 people, all at its headquarters in Lake Mary.

Belfiore brings petting zoo to St. Peters

Herald photos by Tommy Vincent

Linda Belfiore, who recently retired from the Lake Mary Police Department, is still very involved in the community. She recently brought her petting zoo to St. Peter's Pre-School, where children had the opportunity to ride a pony and pet a few ducklings and a lamb. Even before she retired from the department, Belfiore was bringing the animals to the church so the children could interact with the tame critters.

HotCuts for Men fills niche market

By Jamie J. Anderson-Potter
Staff Writer

LAKE MARY — Listen up men, this one's for you.

Let your imaginations run wild for a moment and imagine if you will cheerleaders, free beer and snacks and all the sports one man can handle — all in one location. Then, so your wife or girlfriend isn't upset with the idea, throw in a haircut for good measure.

This is the basis of a new Lake Mary business, HotCuts for Men. The sports bar-themed salon is complete with professional hairstylists dressed in high school cheerleader uniforms and serving free beer.

"We're trying to fill a niche market," said Susie Trimble, manager of HotCuts for Men. "There are not any good places for men to go to get hair cuts where they are treated right. Here, guys know that we love them and they feel comfortable."

According to Trimble, although the salon caters to men — with sports memorabilia hanging on the walls, seven televisions showing infinite amounts of sports programming, and a pin up of a scantily clad woman in the shampoo area — women and children are also welcome.

"We're not risqué," Trimble said. "We're trying to change the image people have placed on us."

NEWS AROUND TOWN

A GLANCE AT WHAT'S HAPPENING LAKE MARY

City Hall Renovations

City Hall is moving — at least temporarily.

Beginning in September, employees, who currently have offices in City Hall, will move down the street to the police department on Crystal Lake Avenue. The move is required to make room for renovations and construction on the 11-year-old building, which should take about seven months to complete.

The estimated $1.5 million renovation project will include much needed work to the building's infrastructure, including repairs to the roof and creating flexible office space for the city's growing staff. Although the project does not include a major increase in the building's size, the construction will allow for a more efficient use of existing space.

While construction is under way on City Hall, the amphitheater in front of the building will also undergo major renovations due to structural damage. City Commission however still needs to determine the type of construction and design for the facility.

Closure of City Hall is planned for Sept. 12. Temporary cubicles will be created at the police department for the transitional period. Some office furniture will also temporarily be moved to the Crystal Lake location, while some items will be auctioned off or put into storage.

A temporary utility bill drop box for the public will be located in front of the police station. City Hall telephone numbers will also remain the same during the transitional period, and city employees will be accessible during and after the move.

All city board and Commission meetings will be held in the Community Center, located on Country Club Road, when City Hall closes for construction. Parents will not be able to drop off or pick up their children from school at the Country Club Road location, since it will be a construction zone and unsafe for the public.

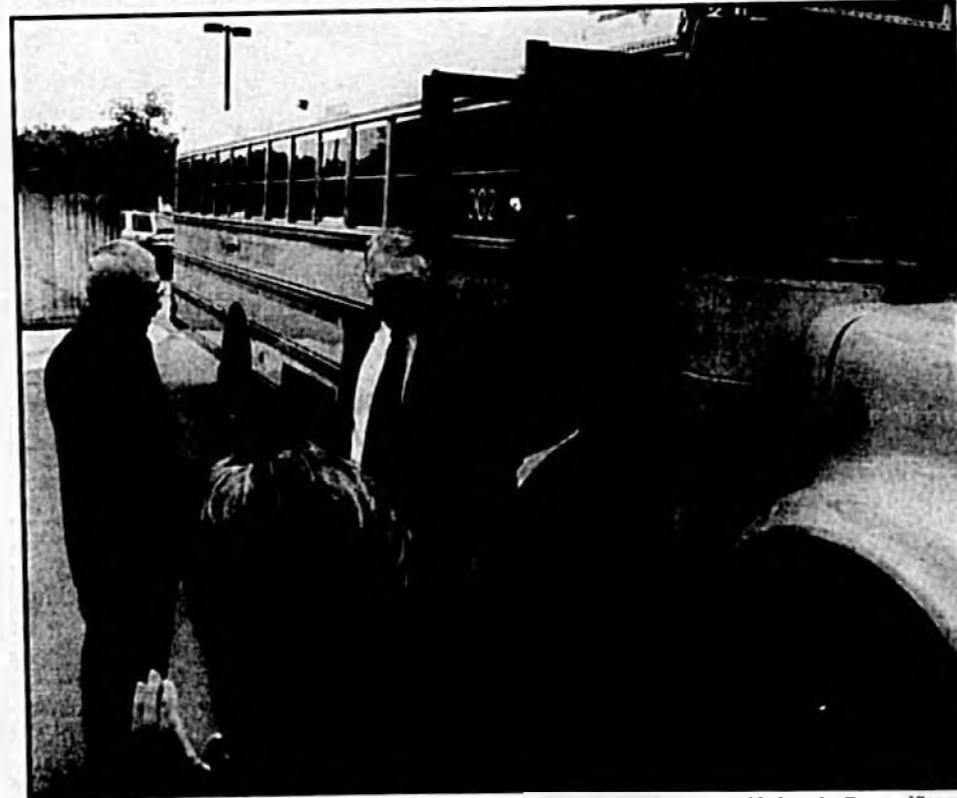

Downtown Revitalization

City Commission last month approved an ordinance revising amendments to the city's comprehensive plan. The changes set the maximum density for the proposed area, along with revising the boundary for the core district. The move demonstrates to companies, who are interested in developing the downtown area, the city intends on moving forward with the project.

For more than a decade, city officials have discussed the feasibility of developing the area that surrounds City Hall. The proposed stair-step shaped core district is approximately 40 acres and includes retail, commercial and residential zoning. The project's objective is to encourage revitalization of the town center, maintain and enhance property value and unify the old and new section of the city with a geographic center.

Along with retail and residential areas that include upscale townhouses and condominiums, city planners have proposed various amenities for the district, such as a band shell near the city's community building, numerous "stair step" parks and green areas and a large interactive fountain for children.

Riding in a yellow limousine

On Thursday, May 22, Dr. Paul Hagarty, superintendent of Seminole Public Schools, was picked up by school bus limo at the Education Support Center on Lake Mary Boulevard. School board members joined him in the limo for a ride to the Orlando Marriott-Lake Mary for the Leadership Seminole Graduation and Leadership Legends Award Program, where Hagarty was presented with an award. At the Marriott, a red carpet lined by cheering business leaders greeted the schools superintendent in appreciation of his leadership during the past 11 years. The school bus limo was driven by the 2003 Seminole County School-Related Employee of the Year, Stanley Kmitt.

AROUND TOWN

Road Trail east of the interstate.

During the ceremony, state Rep. John Mica honored Bill Taylor, who recently received the American Hiking Society's Volunteer of the Year Award for the state of Florida. During the past 10 years, Taylor has been trail coordinator for the Halifax-St. Johns Chapter of the Florida Trail Association and has spent thousands of hours leading maintenance hikes and planning for trail maintenance projects.

The opening of the overpass demonstrates Seminole government's commitment to its nature trail program, which began in 1998 when the first 4-mile section of the Cross-Seminole Trail was completed. Following a unanimous vote by County Commission in late 2001, construction began on the overpass the following year. At the same time, 7.7 miles of trails were added to the Cross-Seminole Trail Trail.

The I-4 pedestrian overpass was funded through a $2.5 million federal transportation grant, money from the local Trails Referendum and the Florida Department of Transportation. It is the first trail overpass in Seminole County and is one of the first pedestrian suspension bridges in the southeast.

The bridge uses a cutting edge cable stay/suspension bridge design technology to cross the interstate, spanning 373 feet of I-4 right-of-way. The design accommodates future interstate widening plans by FDOT and the possibility of a light rail system in the interstate's median. It also features a switch back ramp that actually runs underneath the overpass, similar to ramps seen at large football stadiums.

Seminole's Trails Program won't stop now that the bridge is complete. This year, construction will start on an additional 6.3 miles of trails, including a major highway overpass on State Road 434. In 2004, an additional 8.5 miles of trails are anticipated to start construction, with completion scheduled for 2005. At that time, the entire county will be connected with trails linking Orange County and connections to Oviedo, Winter Springs, Longwood, Altamonte Springs, Lake Mary and Sanford.

Fast Fitness

There's a new trend in women's fitness, and it's measured in minutes — not hours.

In less time than it takes most people to eat lunch, members of Lake Mary's Ladies Workout Express burn between 600 and 700 calories during a 30-minute workout. Since the fitness center offers a "short-circuit" form of exercise, there's also no waiting in line to use a machine in order to complete a workout regimen.

One of the area's newest fitness centers, Ladies Workout Express offers contemporary female-sized hydraulic equipment and personal training to help members reach their fitness goals. The center is designed to cater to a wide range of women, from the most avid workout fanatic to the fitness novice.

Workouts begin with cardio exercises followed by laps on various machines. There's no need to worry about how much time to spend at each station, because the music informs women when its time to move to the next apparatus. After three laps, the workout is finished.

Ladies Workout Express is part of Lady of America. The corporation is recognized as the world's largest chain of full-service, women's only fitness centers and is headquartered in Fort Lauderdale. Established in 1984 with a single location in Houston, Texas, currently there are more than 600 Lady of America and Ladies Workout Express fitness clubs serving more than 1 million members throughout the world.

To encourage young women to exercise during the summer, the Lake Mary center is offering individuals ages 13 to 19 the opportunity to work out for free during their school vacation. All they need to do is have a parent or guardian sign a release form in order for them to participate in the FitTeen program.

The corporation is also conducting a nation-wide essay contest for young women who take advantage of the FitTeen program this summer. The winner of the contest will receive a lifetime membership to the center, along with a prize package worth an estimated $5,000 that includes an all-expense paid vacation to Jamaica. The subject of the essay contest is "What Being Healthy Means to My Mother and Me."

Lake Mary's Ladies Workout Express is located at 870 S. Sun Drive, Suite 1054. Hours are from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. Monday through Friday, 8 a.m. to noon on Saturday and closed Sunday. Memberships are $24.95 per month, with members offered the opportunity to take a ball class, which is $10 per session. For more information, call 407-834-8760.

Pete Knowles, former city manager, dies

Warren "Pete" Knowles, who served the city of Sanford for more than three decades and had one of the longest tenures as city manager in the state of Florida, died Sunday evening. He was 80.

Knowles joined the Sanford staff April 20, 1953, as city engineer and nine months later, on Feb. 1, 1954, became city manager, a position he held until he retired, April 30, 1985.

No single public servant — either elected or appointed — can match the impact Knowles made in shaping the Sanford residents recognize today. During his tenure, Knowles oversaw numerous public works projects that changed the nature of city. Among them were the construction of the Civic Center, the Marina island, moving the Sanford Zoo to its present location and relocating City Hall on the site of the old zoo.

Knowles also played an integral role in convincing the U.S. Navy to transfer its airfield to the city of Sanford.

"He played a bigger part in the acquisition of the airport than many people realize," said former mayor Lee P. Moore.

Moore recalled that he and his predecessor, Vince Roberts, had been working with Minnesota Senator Hubert H. Humphrey, the Democratic nominee for president in 1968, in lobbying the federal

We're not a bad place.

"We're not showing women's breasts," she added. "The uniforms cover everything. It's not like Hooters."

According to Trimble, the 10 stylists on staff are professional cosmetologists and licensed stylists who have five or more years of experience. A nationwide search was conducted to find the current staff, including Hillary Jovi, a former hairstylist for the syndicated talk show Maury, hosted by Maury Povich.

The staff strives to provide a service that falls somewhere between an upply salon and a chop shop.

Although HotCuts for Men opened for business in late April, Trimble's sister, owner Tammy Hamzehlou, envisioned the salon more than 10 years ago.

Together, the sisters hope to open 10 more HotCuts for Men locations in the Central Florida area, include two within the next year. The siblings also hope to open a spa in the area.

"We waited two years for this location," said Trimble. "We love this area and it's a good base for us."

The constriction the high technology industry has experienced over the past few years has created many important investment opportunities, particularly for those seeking long term growth. Matthews said during a press conference at the headquarters. Stromberg's dynamic position in the marketplace will allow us to capitalize on these opportunities.

Bernstein added, Stromberg has a strong reputation for competitive products and unique customer service. This will allow our company to quickly integrate new businesses under our umbrella and then aggressively expand our footprint in the industry.

"There is a wealth of high technology talent in greater Orlando," he said. "I am convinced that our expansion program will be just one step in this entire regions development as a significant competitor to California's Silicon Valley, the Route 128 belt around greater Boston and similar regions around the nation."

Stromberg is the second largest time and attendance company and technology leader in the development and implementation of time and attendance labor management solutions. The company is the only time and attendance provider that offers a seamless growth path for companies of all sizes. Stromberg's scalable portfolio of products help organizations control labor costs, prepare accurate and timely payrolls, calculate job and labor data, manage human resources integration and much more.

The company is based at 525 Technology Park, Suite 163, Lake Mary, Florida 32746.

Lake Mary residents make baseball news

From Staff Reports

While there may not have been any Lake Mary residents playing in this year's NCAA Division I Baseball College World Series in Omaha the town was still represented.

University of Central Florida teammates Drew Butera and Kyle Bono, along with head coach Jay Bergman, a longtime Seminole County resident who started the baseball program at Seminole Community College, took part in the NCAA's Youth Education through Sports (YES) clinic the weekend of June 14-15 at Creighton University in Omaha, Nebraska.

Butera, a catcher/third baseman who graduated from Bishop Moore High School, and Bono, a relief pitcher/third baseman, who graduated from Lake Mary High School, both made the Atlantic Sun Conference All-Freshmen Team and picked up the honor of going to the World Series.

The clinic, which Bergman has served at before with former UCF standout pitcher and current pitching coach Craig Cozart, gives youngsters ages 10-18 an opportunity to learn from both NCAA Division I-A players and coaches on how to excel on the field and off.

The two-day event was held during the same time as the 2003 College World Series, held at Rosenblatt Stadium in Omaha.

"The best part of the clinic is that I get a chance to take two of our players, Drew Butera and Kyle Bono, and they will be able to experience the entire feel of the College World Series as a spectator while also working with youngsters at the YES Clinic," stated Bergman prior to the trip. "There will be about 500 kids at Creighton University running around and having fun and I really enjoy working clinics and events like this."

Butera and Bono had the unique opportunity to view the College World Series, college baseball's crown jewel.

"The tournament has improved so much over the years in Omaha and our two players will have a great time and a memorable experience for the rest of their lives," added Bergman.

Cozart, who participated in the YES Clinic in 1995, still raves about the trip today.

"It was my only trip to Omaha and there is nothing like the environment for college baseball the week of the College World Series," commented Cozart. "Having the chance to be around some of the best coaches in the NCAA including Coach Bergman and listen to their experiences at the clinic really made me want to pursue a career in coaching."

A trio of Lake Mary residents also made news when the Major League Baseball First Year Player Draft was held in New York on June 4-5.

Lake Mary High School graduate Austin Pride, a catcher/infielder, was taken in the 30th Round with the 882nd pick by the Kansas City Royals.

Pride, who signed early with the University of Central Florida, has decided to attend Daytona Beach Community College if he does not sign with the Royals. If Pride, who is currently playing with the two-time defending State Champion Sanford Post 53 American Legion Baseball Team, had decided to attend UCF he could not have re-entered the draft until after his junior year or 21st birthday, whichever came first, but he going to DBCC he can be drafted again next spring.

Two other players with Lake Mary ties, Bishop Moore infielder Travis Kalin and Stetson University catcher Chris Westervelt, were both taken in the 43rd Round.

Kalin, who may attend Seminole Community College, went to the Minnesota Twins with the 1286th pick, while Westervelt, who played at Lake Mary High as a freshman before moving to Arkansas, was taken with the 1202nd pick by the Oakland Athletics.

Westervelt, a junior, did not have anywhere near the All-America season he had as a sophomore because of an injured shoulder and now must decide whether to take the money and run, or take a chance on having a better senior season with the Hatters next year.

government to transfer the base. "With the Republican in office (after the 1968 election), we didn't get very far with Humphrey's name," Moore said.

Edward I. Gurney of Winter Park was one of the state's two U.S. senators and a Republican. Moore had been the president of the Winter Park Chamber of Commerce and knew Gurney through that organization.

"Ed said he could put us in the right places with the right people, but he needed someone to do the leg work," Moore said. "I told him the city manager would be more than happy to handle that job. We sent Pete up there the next day, and he met with them and reported back to us. It was shortly thereafter that the Navy agreed to transfer the base to the city."

Moore called Knowles and "outstanding" city manager "known statewide for his reputation and ethics."

Knowles' 31 years as Sanford's city manager is thought to be the longest tenure for any city manager in the state.

Knowles was born March 27, 1923 in Gloucester, Mass. He was honorably discharged from the U.S. Army after serving in the Pacific Theater. He earned two degrees from the University of Maine in 1948, one in public administration and one in civil engineering.

He was hired as the first town manager of Berwick, Maine in April 1949 and set up the council-manager form of government in that city. He left in 1952 to become the city manager of Derry, N.H., before coming to Sanford in 1953 as the city's engineer.

A memorial service for Knowles has been planned for 10 a.m. Monday, July 7, at First Methodist Church, located at 419 S. Park Ave. in Sanford.

Knowles is survived by his wife, Ava Melissa Padgett of Wauchula, Fla.; two daughters and sons-in-law, Sinda and Gordon Schrank of Bowling Green, Fla., and Tracey and Timothy Sullivan of Winter Park; two grandchildren, Kayla White and Kyle Schrank of Bowling Green; and a sister, Carolyn Robertson of Massachusetts.

Lake Mary Seniors move to temporary location so city can offer summer camp

Every year, the Lake Mary Seniors have to move out of their digs at the community building to make way for Summer Day Camp. Each summer, the City of Lake Mary offers affordable day camp for the city's children. So each summer, the seniors have to make a few adjustments. This year, the Seniors have found two temporary homes. On Tuesdays and Thursdays, the Woopie Group and the Art Group meet at 9:15 a.m. at Lake Mary Preparatory School. On Mondays and Fridays at 1 p.m. game days are held at Heritage Woods, an assisted living facility in Lake Mary. The Seniors will be returning to the Lake Mary Community Building on Monday, July 28. If you'd like to know more about the Lake Mary Seniors, just stop by during any of their meetings or call Senior Coordinator Paulette Stevens at 407-324-3060.

Safehouse Needs You
You've got a working van that's in pretty good condition, but you'd really like a new one. Let's be realistic. If you trade that van in, you're not going to get what it's really worth. But if you have a good heart and you want a good tax deduction, why don't you think about giving that van to Safehouse? Safehouse of Seminole County is a shelter for victims of domestic violence and their children. When these women, and sometimes men, come into Safehouse, they often do so with nothing but the clothes on their backs. Once at Safehouse, they have to begin establishing a new life. There are trips to the doctor for themselves and their children, there are trips to seek employment and so many other things they need a ride for. Safehouse really needs someone to be an angel and donate a van for these purposes. If you have a van you can donate, please call Safehouse at 407-302-5220.

Okay, so you don't have a van to donate, but you want to help anyway? Well, you still can. You got a new cell phone that's smaller than your old one, so it's a little easier to tote around. What are you going to do with the old one? DON'T lose it. Any cell phone, even one without an active plan, can be used to call 911. And that's all the people at Safehouse need to use them for. Safehouse will take working and non-working cell phones. Just call the number above to donate or drop any donations off at the Safehouse administrative offices at 1100 E. First Street in Sanford.
