Administration chief apologizes to Vogt

TALLAHASSEE — Administration secretary Adis Vila sent a letter of apology to Senate President John Vogt for her calling his proposal to abolish her department an attempt to keep a Hispanic immigrant female in her place. Gov. Bob Martinez directed Vila to send the letter which Vogt stated he had not requested.

An irony of the flap with Vila, insiders say, is that Vogt is married to a Hispanic.

The proposal to abolish the department of administration is to make way for the establishment of a department of veteran affairs.

Seminole deputies issued new weapons

SANFORD — Thirty three Criminal Investigation Division deputies were the first to get 9 mm Sig Sauer semi-automatic handguns at the sheriff's department.

That was the first phase of replacing all the department's six-shot revolvers with semi-automatic handguns. The new weapons hold a 15 round clip.

Seminole County Sheriff John Polk says the new guns, which cost $440 each, with about half the cost covered through trade in of old guns, provide greater firepower and safety for his men in an era when criminals are armed with automatic and semi-automatic weapons.

Youth deputies sponsor concert

SANFORD — Seminole County Sheriff's Department Youth Deputies announced today that a gospel concert to benefit their group is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. May 19 at the Sanford Civic Center.

Performers scheduled are the Kingsmen, the Singing Echos, and the Four-Fold Quartet from Sanford.

Advance tickets are $6, with children under 12 admitted free. Tickets are available at Christian book stores, or call 321-6847.

305 area code OK on lottery tickets

TALLAHASSEE — The Florida Lottery office says people living in the 305 area code who fill out the back of an ENTRY ticket don't have to worry about writing the current area code before the new 407 area code goes into effect April 16.

"We will find the person if we need to," said a spokesman with the public relations office of the Florida Lottery. "And the telephone company said it would forward those numbers for a few months."

She also said the next grand prize drawing will be April 18 for those people selected during the preliminary drawing March 28.

Polk's campaign raises $65,297

SANFORD — Sheriff John E. Polk has amassed campaign contributions totaling $65,297, nearly one-third more than the combined total of all 16 other candidates running for seven separate county offices this November.

Polk's only opponent, Sanford city utilities employee Patrick Wilson, has collected $582 to date.

Nearly all Polk's contributions were raised from ticket sales and contributions from his Dec. 5 barbecue fund-raiser at Seminole Greyhound Park in Casselberry. Of the 912 cash contributions Polk has reported since he began his campaign last April, 740 were less than $100. Most of those were in increments of $15, the price of an admission ticket to his barbecue. Fifty-four of his contributions were $250 and over.

Contributions to Polk include $1,000 from Heathrow developer Jeno Paulucci and $100 each from Sanford Police Chief Steven Harriett and Raymond Heary, public safety director for Winter Park. He received contributions from 14 developers, builders or contractors, 11 auto dealers, 13 attorneys and six sheriff's deputies.

Polk has so far only spent $12,701 of the campaign money he has raised, most of that to pay

Candidates are collecting funds

By J. Mark Barfield
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — Barbara Christensen leads her two opponents in total contributions raised in date in the campaign for Seminole County tax collector.

Christensen, a Republican, raised $7,950 by the end of the March 31, 1988 reporting period. She is currently the District 1 Seminole commissioner vacating her seat to run for the tax collector's position. Seminole Tax Collector G. Troy Ray, Jr. is retiring this year after 24 years in the position.

Reports from all candidates must be received or postmarked by Sunday, April 10.

Since opening her campaign account Feb. 16, Christensen received 17 contributions, most over $100.

Christensen faces two other candidates, also Republicans. They are Ray Valdes, a Longwood nurseryman and chairman of the Seminole County Republican Executive Committee, and Donald Myers, a retired Altamonte Springs accountant.

Valdes has received $5,860 to date, mostly from 154 contributions made during an Oct. 14. See CANDIDATES, page 16A

Asbestos found in schools

Asbestos has been found in about 20 schools or school district-owned buildings in Seminole County since a recent inspection was undertaken, according to Richard Wells, assistant superintendent of facilities and transportation.

But apparently there's no danger thus far, Wells said. He explained that inspectors notify the school district as soon as they find asbestos in a school or other school-owned building, and the school district notifies parents and school personnel as a matter of procedure.

"None of the buildings where asbestos has been found to date is considered a threat to anyone, but as a matter of procedure we notify parents of children who attend that particular school as well as school district employees to let them know," Wells said. He said if dangerous amounts of asbestos are found in any building, "I'm sure we'd evacuate that building and shut it down until the situation is corrected."

The search for asbestos in county schools and other school-owned buildings is expected to last another two months at least, Wells said, although it had earlier been thought the project would be completed in about a week.

The school district is inspecting its properties for asbestos to comply with the Asbestos Emergency Response Act of 1987. That Act calls for school districts, public and private, to complete an asbestos search by Oct. 12, 1988 and file their findings. The school districts must also file a management report outlining how they plan to deal with the problem where asbestos is found.

Wells said he sees no problem with meeting the October deadline.

Once a management plan is prepared by the school district, it will be submitted to the state for approval. Whatever corrections must be made where asbestos is found—depending upon the levels and potential dangers involved—the school district will have to make them by July 1989, Wells said.

Like many other lottery retailers, the store had the ramp built to meet a Monday deadline for all lottery ticket outlets to be accessible to the handicapped.

Lottery retailers must have ramps

By Dave Hella
Herald Staff Writer

Some Seminole County stores selling Florida Lottery tickets have decided it's better to have built a ramp for wheelchair accessibility before a court-ordered deadline Monday than to lose their status as ticket outlets.

A Joy Food Stores grocer in Sanford and a Handy Way Food Store in Lake Mary, for example, have installed new wheelchair ramps in response to a court order requiring all lottery retailers to be wheelchair accessible.

A wheelchair ramp and a sidewalk extension were completed last week at the Joy Food Stores at 2623 Orlando Drive, Sanford, said store manager April Credeur.

"We knew about it (the court order)," Credeur said. "There was a company order to have the concrete people out here before the first of the month. They built a side ramp and a sidewalk extension outside our front door."

Police funds mishandled, report says

By Jane Casselberry
Herald Staff Writer

LONGWOOD — Suspended Police Chief Greg Manning today stands accused of "gross mismanagement" of city Police Benevolent accounts.

The charge is contained in a report by management consultant Jeff Eicheberger, prepared following his completion of an audit of those accounts. The audit covered the past 10 years. Although the account was mismanaged, Eicheberger said "no evidence exists which indicates any action taken by either of the individuals responsible for the fund was taken with criminal intent."

However, the report says personal loans and advances made to individuals constitute a major misappropriation of public funds by the individuals and may violate criminal laws.

Manning, Capt. Terry Baker and Manning's secretary Val Hockenberry, were suspended following his completion of an audit of those accounts. The audit covered the past 10 years. Although the account was mismanaged, Eicheberger said "no evidence exists which indicates any action taken by either of the individuals responsible for the fund was taken with criminal intent."

Report's findings

What: A report on a Longwood Police Benevolent funds probe, which resulted in suspension with pay of Police Chief Greg Manning, Capt. Terry Baker and Val Hockenberry, administrative secretary, has been made public.

- Conclusion: The Police Benevolent Fund is a city fund containing public monies.
- Manning was ultimately responsible for administering that fund.
- There was a misappropriation of public funds, violation of the city employees' code of conduct and misfeasance by those in charge of the fund.
- No evidence of criminal intent exists.

Reaction: Manning rejects city's tentative offer that calls for his resignation.

Now What? A review board hearing is set for April 18 when Manning and Baker will get an opportunity to defend themselves.

Eicheberger said that "It is evident that the fund was administered as if it existed for the personal benefit of the three individuals responsible for its administration and a select group of other individuals without regard for the provisions of Florida law, the policies and procedures of the city of Longwood, generally accepted accounting principles or good business sense. Their actions represent gross misfeasance on their part as public officials."

He said the three personally benefitted from the existence of the fund and the large amounts of public monies which were received. "They were personally able to do things which otherwise may not have been

Lake Mary City Hall move approved

By Wayne Mize
Herald Staff Writer

LAKE MARY — Lake Mary's city hall will move down the street to temporary quarters at The Shoppes of Lake Mary, the city commission decided Thursday night.

The commission approved the temporary move to three bays at the shopping center by a 4-1 vote. For a two-year stay, the move could cost the city more than $71,000, which includes $1,940 monthly rent and an estimated $25,000 for finishing costs for walls, floor covering, other materials and labor.

The funds will come out of the public works project fund.

Commissioner George Duryea voted against the move. "I don't like the idea of paying $25,000 to 30,000 on someone else's property," said Duryea, pointing out none of the money for the improvements would be recoupable.

Commissioners Randall Morris, John Percy, Paul Tremel and Tom Mahoney voted in favor of the temporary move.

The city intends to construct a new city hall but is still in the process of acquiring the property and completion of the building is not expected for at least two years.

The consensus of the commission was that the current city hall building at 158 N. Country Club Drive is inadequate for the 10 full-time and two part-time city workers, which includes the city manager, city planner and city clerk.

"I think it is a move we have to make," said City Manager Bob Norris, prior to the meeting. "I don't think we can continue to operate in this building. We are on top of everyone else."

The present city hall will continue to be used for public meetings and for conference rooms after the move is made.

The commission recommended a one-year lease agreement with a two-year option on the space at The Shoppes at Lake Mary, located at Lake Mary Boulevard and Country Club Road. Total available space to be used by the city at the shopping center is approximately 3,000 square feet.

The lease will be brought back for commission approval. After the lease is signed, remodeling will begin and the actual move will occur sometime this summer, according to the commission's estimates.

The commission also debated whether all or only part of the staff should be moved to the temporary location. Commissioners decided that a move of the entire staff is necessary in order to save the costs of having essential equipment such as telephones, computers and copying machines, at both locations.

In a related matter, the commission also approved creating two staff positions, an accounting clerk and senior planner. After the selection process, the commission hopes to have the new staff members in place at the time of the temporary move to The Shoppes at Lake Mary.

The salary for the accounting clerk would range from $12,584 to $16,988, while salary range for the senior planner will be $22,293-33,438.

In other action, commissioners also approved

IN BRIEF

Troopers arrest 3 more accused 'johns' on third night of patrol

LONGWOOD — Three more men face charges of allegedly soliciting sexual favors from an undercover police officer at the eastbound rest area of Interstate 4, just north of Longwood.

Over the past three night Florida Highway Patrol troopers report arresting three different suspect in similar cases each night.

The latest to be charged were: John Kennedy Heeren, 43, of Deltona, charged with assignation to commit a lew act after allegedly soliciting sex without offering to pay, Kenneth Robert Nelson, 22, of 1409 Aster Court, Winter Park, and Michael Wayne Breen, 22, of Wauke, Iowa, have both been charged with soliciting for prostitution.

The latest arrests were made around midnight Thursday. Bond for the three was set at $100 each early today when they remained jailed.

Threats of hammer, knife alleged

WINTER SPRINGS — A 19-year-old Winter Springs man who allegedly threatened a woman and baby at his home remains jailed today charged with aggravated assault, battery and criminal mischief.

Stephen Lee Anderson, who was arrested at his home at 182 Moswood Circle, allegedly brandished a hammer against a woman at that address, reportedly said Anderson slapped her and threatened to kill her with a claw hammer. He also allegedly threatened to chop off her baby's fingers if she called police.

The woman called police, and Anderson also allegedly told her he would "get a knife and stab cops, because I'm not going back to jail."

When police arrived at the home at about 4:20 p.m. Thursday, they reported confiscating a claw hammer and a knife. The knife was found on the floor of the living room.

Anderson was being held in lieu of $1,000 bond.

Lots of cocaine, cash confiscated

SANFORD — Sanford Police Chief Steve Harriett said today that a man arrested on drug charges in Sanford last night is suspected of being a "prominent figure" in the local cocaine scene.

State drug agents are also considering filing charges against the man, who is being held without bond, Harriett said.

Roger Sherman Gaston, 18, of 2421 Jitway Ave., Sanford, was stopped on Celery Avenue, Sanford, about 3:25 p.m. Thursday after his car ran a stop sign.

He had no driver's license and reportedly gave police permission to search his vehicle. Harriett said 120 grams of cocaine with a street value of about $18,000 were found.

Police confiscated $1,020 from Gaston when they charged him with trafficking in cocaine, possession of cocaine with intent to distribute and driving with a suspended license.

Harriett said 120 grams is a lot of cocaine for a Sanford street-level dealer to have.

Dud grenade found in locker

OVIEDO — A grenade was found Thursday in a locker at the Tuskawilla Middle School Thursday, but a sheriff's deputy said the grenade was a dud though it still had its pin, according to a sheriff's deputies report.

The grenade was found in the locker of a 14-year-old Oviedo boy after assistant principal James A. Baker was alerted to it by another student.

Baker found the grenade in the locker and gave it to a sheriff's deputy.

Baker said today the grenade was given to the boy by a relative.

Change missing after break-in; blood found

SANFORD — Some change may have been stolen during an apparent break-in Wednesday night at Rudy's Auto Shop, 402 Celery Ave., Sanford, police said today, one of two recent burglaries.

Police said the unidentified burglar broke in through a window and went through drawers in the office.

The owner of the business, Rudy Jack Crew, 1711 Magnolia Ave., told officers he had secured the building at 6 p.m. Wednesday. He said some change may have been taken, but told officers he was not certain.

Investigators discovered a small amount of blood in the office, and speculate that it may have been the perpetrator's, spilled by a guard dog bite, police said.

Police said they were able to lift fingerprints at the scene.

In an unrelated incident, A keyboard and miscellaneous jewelry was reported stolen from a Sanford resident's apartment Tuesday, police said. Cheryl Glen Rutledge, of 49 Seminole Gardens, told police the items are worth approximately $520.

Police said the burglar apparently entered the residence through the front door. They said they have leads on a suspect.

Blaze damages house day after grease fire

By J. Mark Barfield
Herald Staff Writer
FOREST CITY — Seminole County fire officials are investigating procedures followed by a rescue squad Wednesday when they treated a man for a kitchen grease-fire burn at 547 Clemons Drive and failed to discover smoldering insulation in the attic that led to a fire 24 hours later.

Seminole Assistant Chief William Kinley said it was unlikely rescue workers would have discovered the smoldering insulation.

Kinley said rescue workers responded to a call Wednesday at about 1 p.m. to treat minor burn wounds caused by a grease fire. Kinley would not release the name of the victim, citing patient confidentiality. A rescue worker checked the kitchen and, seeing no indication of a continuing fire, determined it was out, Kinley said. However, on Thursday at noon, Seminole and Altamonte Springs fire units responded to a fire in the attic of the house. The fire caused $35,000 in damage to the attic and roof before firefighters extinguished the blaze 15 minutes later, Kinley said. He said the occupant, Jose Rodriguez, was unhurt.

Kinley said fire investigators now believe Wednesday's grease fire spread up the flue of the range hood. Heat from the flue caused the attic insulation to smolder. He said the insulation contained cellulose, which has a lower ignition resistance than the more common fiberglass insulation. Kinley said many homes throughout Seminole County have the cellulose insulation.

Kinley said gusty winds on Thursday may have helped ignite the blaze by fanning the smoldering insulation until a combustible material caught fire.

Marshall Huflin, an engineer with the Altamonte Springs Fire Department, checks for hot spots in the burned-out rafters of a home at 546 Clemons Drive in the Weathersfield Addition just off State Road 436.

Delivered bomb detonates; no one hurt

By J. Mark Barfield
Herald Staff Writer
ALTAMONTE SPRINGS — A city police bomb technician was unhurt when a small bomb detonated as he attempted to disable it early this morning in the center median of State Road 436 near the Toys-R-Us, 436 E. Altamonte Dr.

The technician, Officer Jack Martin, was unhurt when the device detonated, apparently accidentally, said Police Sgt. Roy Faulk, detective supervisor.

Faulk said an anonymous male called the department at about 3:37 a.m., reporting he saw a car stop at the center median of SR 436 between Hattaway and Essex drives. The caller said he saw a box "drop off" the car into the median. Faulk said. He said police are uncertain of the details and are not releasing a description of the vehicle until further investigation.

Faulk said the caller told them he looked in the box after the car left and saw a clock before calling police. A description of the box was not available.

Martin went to the scene and, as a fire department rescue vehicle and pumper stood by, attempted to deactivate the device, Faulk said. A description of the device was not available this morning, Faulk said.

As Martin worked to disarm the device, it detonated, releasing a small fireball and leaving a small depression in the median, Faulk said. Fire Battalion Commander Gary Becker said Martin was uninjured and no fire resulted from the detonation.

"It just went 'boom,'" Becker said.

Faulk said police have not received any other messages laying claim to the device. No other information was available pending further investigation, he said.

Anyone with information related to the incident are asked to call Altamonte Springs police at 830-3826.

How'd you like low humidity?

By Fred H. Cooper
Herald Staff Writer
Several of you have expressed concern over reports of extremely high winds up in the Carolina mountains. Gusts up to 160 miles per hour at Boone and up to 172 at Grandfather Mountain were referred to in these cited TV and radio reports. Relax if you have summer homes, favorite vacation spots and family or friends up there. The reports were in error. Strong winds, yes, through that section—gale force at Boone and Grandfather; lighter winds at Lake Lure, Black Mountain and Maggie Valley. There have been no reports of damage. Strong winds did cause a lot of damage in Nevada.

That front also caused a real peculiar weather situation here in Seminole County—and elsewhere around the Sunshine State. The low pressure system acted as a giant straw and seemingly sucked the moisture from our air, then dropped it up in the northeast. The humidity here was 53 percent at 8 a.m. Thursday, then it had dropped to 22 percent by 11 a.m. Back up it went into the 40 percent zone in early afternoon before dipping into the 20s again just before sundown. Today seems to be a repeat. Humidity at 8 a.m. was 47 percent and dropping. Though not expected to go down as much as yesterday, it will hit the low 30s. This means that the temperatures in the 70s today will feel cooler. Needless to say, there's no possibility of rain and clouds will be very scarce.

The weekend should mark a return to normalcy. Humidity will be back in the 60s and 70s, temperatures in the 80s during the day and clear, blue

Iran-Contra defendants make plea for judge to dismiss all charges

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Claiming the whole world heard their testimony on Capitol Hill last summer, John Poindexter, Oliver North and Albert Hakim say criminal charges against them in the Iran-Contra scandal have been tainted and should be dismissed.

The three, asking U.S. District Judge Gerhard Gesell to dismiss the sweeping, 23-count indictment against them, said Thursday their revelations during congressional hearings — forced upon them by Congress but protected by limited grants of immunity from prosecution — contributed to the charges brought by independent prosecutor Lawrence Walsh.

The court document said the three "move that the court enter an order dismissing the indictment on the ground that defendants were compelled under grants of statutory immunity to provide testimony and other information over an assertion of their Fifth Amendment rights and that such testimony and other information ... has been and will be used against them in many ways in this prosecution."

The fourth defendant named in the indictment, retired Air Force Maj. Gen. Richard Secord, lodged his own challenge in a separate filing Thursday, asking that it be thrown out because Walsh "deliberately refused to inform the grand jury about immunized testimony" of North and Poindexter that cleared him of wrongdoing.

King papers source of countersuit

BOSTON (UPI) — Boston University has filed a counter suit over its collection of papers by Martin Luther King Jr., and released a recording of the slain civil rights leader naming the school as the repository of his documents.

The bitter dispute is over some 83,000 public and private King documents in the university's collection.

King's widow, Coretta Scott King, filed suit in December in Suffolk Superior Court in Boston, seeking to reclaim the papers dating from his early student days to 1965 and to transfer them to the Martin Luther King Jr. Center for Non-violent Change in Atlanta.

Flu epidemic is worst since 1984

ATLANTA (UPI) — The nation is suffering its worst flu epidemic since 1984 with 861 deaths in 121 major cities in a single week this month, statistics issued by the national Centers for Disease Control show.

The CDC said Thursday the influenza outbreak at its peak accounted for 7 percent of all deaths reported by 121 of the nation's major cities. The respiratory disease was still above epidemic levels as of the week that ended April 2, the CDC said.

Four years ago, during the 1984-85 flu season, the percentage of flu and pneumonia deaths compared with all deaths slightly exceeded 7 percent.

Longwood last to join regional planning council

LONGWOOD — The city of Longwood is joining the East Central Florida Regional Planning Council as of July 1. Acting City Administrator Don Terry recommended the action because Longwood is the only city in the county that is not a member.

Membership will give the city representation on the council and will keep the city officials abreast of matters of concern to this area.

The city commission unanimously voted Monday night to transfer $2,892.31 from the contingency fund to pay membership dues.

In other business, the commission:
•Approved Deputy Mayor Lynette Dennis' appointment of Cynthia Coombe, a Lyman High School junior, to the District 3 seat on the Parks and Recreation Advisory Board.

•Approved bids for police and fire department uniforms on recommendation of the purchasing, police and fire departments.

•Heard a report by Terry that mosquito spraying, which began April 4 in Skylark, will be conducted Monday through Thursday rotating among the five zones of the city except when the weather is rainy or windy. He said there will be no spraying on Friday because it interferes with backyard barbecues.

Airport to host speed race for pilots

SANFORD — The Fourth Annual Great Southern Air Race, a speed race for general aviation aircraft, is expected to draw the country's top racing pilots, as well as many first-time racers to Sanford. They will compete for $15,000 in cash and prizes, and the prestige of winning a major air race.

The racers will start from Sanford Regional Airport on May 12, and fly a 1.116-statute-mile route before crossing the finish line at Spruce Creek Airport in Daytona Beach two days later. Intermediate stops include Pahokee, Arcadia, Lakeland, Lake City, Albany (Ga.), Macon (Ga.), and Hilton Head (S.C.).

In this race, a handicap speed is assigned to each plane and the objective is to exceed this speed and achieve a plus score. The highest plus score wins. Only flying time counts and racers have the option of waiting at a stop for better winds or weather, as long as they reach the finish before the deadline on May 13th.

Entries will close April 15. The entry fee is $250, plus $10 dues if not a member of the Florida Race Pilots Association, Inc. A variety of fixed wing aircraft—from 100 to 600 horsepower—will compete and interest is high throughout the Southeast.

Gun-metal gap in Senate bills

The National Rifle Association and the nation's police chiefs have narrowed their differences over legislation aimed at banning the manufacture and sale of handguns that, because of their increasingly small metal content, are virtually undetectable by sensing devices in airports and other public buildings. Indeed, the NRA has agreed, for the first time, that plastic guns are a serious threat and supports a bill by Sen. James McClure of Idaho that would ban them.

For the NRA, which never saw a gun-control bill it liked, that's progress. But McClure's Bill (S 2051) is still inadequate because it bans only handguns that are 100 percent plastic, thus exempting guns with very small amounts of metal. To detect such weapons, sensors would have to be set to such high degrees of sensitivity as to also pick up belt buckles, watches, ballpoint pens, coins and even hairpins, making it necessary to hand-search nearly all airline passengers and creating gridlock in the nation's airports.

An alternative, bipartisan measure sponsored in the Senate by Democrat Howard Metzenbaum and Republican Strom Thurmond (S 2180) would be much more effective by banning the manufacture, importation and sale of guns containing less than four ounces of metal and requiring detection devices in all federal facilities to meet the highest standards possible to detect and differentiate weapons from innocuous metal objects.

This bill has the support of the overwhelming majority of U.S. law enforcement agencies. Unfortunately, the Justice Department, which originally favored an earlier version of the Metzenbaum measure, has backed off under heavy lobbying pressure from the NRA. There are reports that Attorney General Edwin Meese is reconsidering his flip-flop: whether or not he changes his mind again, Congress should enact S 2180.

Honor nurses

It is appropriate that a statue honoring the 10,000 combat nurses who served in the Vietnam War should be erected in the vicinity of the Vietnam War Memorial in Washington. Finding the way to make that tribute to the nurses, eight of whom lost their lives in that war, has become a sensitive matter for Congress.

Spurred by interested groups, several members of Congress are sponsoring legislation to authorize memorials for various types of war veterans. As befits any issue concerning the Vietnam War, the bill to honor Vietnam nurses has kicked up a ruckus.

Many male veterans believe women are sufficiently represented in the black Indian marble memorial containing 58,156 names of the dead and missing. Whether sexist or merely insensitive, they nonetheless resent adding a statue of a nurse to the Vietnam Memorial area on the Washington Mall, even though a statue of three male soldiers in combat gear was added after the abstract memorial was dedicated in November 1982.

The Fine Arts Commission in Washington has rejected the plan, saying the memorial is complete now. Obviously, at some point aesthetics says "enough," but there is no reason a tasteful symbol of a nurse could not be added to the Vietnam Memorial area. The key is in finding the right way to commemorate the service of women in Vietnam, whose courage and skills saved many lives.

Jesse Jackson, Jews, and America

The next big Democratic primary is in New York on April 19: Jesse Jackson vs. Michael Dukakis vs. Al Gore. Normally, it would be a good state for Jackson. There is a large black and Hispanic electorate and a big Jewish vote. With some liberal Jewish support, Jackson could win. But many Jews believe Jackson is anti-Semitic and anti-Israel. True or false? Let's talk. In any event, for Jews specifically and for Americans generally there's a big problem with Jackson.

Was Jackson anti-Semitic? It would surely seem so. Long before the 1984 Farrakhan association and "Hymietown," Jackson railed at Jewish merchants and publishers. Is Jackson anti-Semitic now? There is an argument about that among Jews. But Jackson says he's not, and, if there is reason for doubt, I would offer him the benefit of that. He has distanced himself from Farrakhan (but does not publicly repudiate him). He denounces anti-Semitism (but he singles out for criticism some Jewish organizations for opposing preferential racial quotas). He urged Gorbachev to release Soviet Jews. Is Jackson "anti-Israeli?" In the past, he was.

He called Zionism a "poisonous weed"; he used his pro-PLO position to squeeze Arab leaders for contributions. His position has evolved. He still unfairly singles out Israel's relationship to South Africa. He's still pro PLO and pro Palestinian state. But his emphasis is elsewhere. He talks now of Israel and Arabs locked in a stranglehold and says America can break the embrace by putting pressure on Israel. I don't buy that position. But some pro-Israel American Jews do and so do some Israelis. Jackson is no friend of Israel, but with such commonality, it is unfair to say he's "anti-Israel." Suppose he is again given the benefit of doubt.

Jackson still presents a real problem to many Jews — one that affects all Americans.

Consider Jackson's foreign policy. He wants big American defense cuts. He favors some unilateral nuclear disarmament. He often seems to say that America is the focus of evil in the world. Key foreign policy advisers come from the Institute for Policy Studies — a hard left activist organization, self-described as "radical."

What does all this mean for Americans and, perhaps more intensely, for Jews? Less military and moral power inevitably leads to an America less engaged in the world: the isolationist dream come true.

For Israel that may mean extinction. Israel can handle threats from Arab neighbors. But suppose, with a weak America, the Soviets step into the Middle East militarily? That would likely offer Israel a choice: Leave Israel or make a Masada-like suicide stand.

What would likely be true for Israel quickly would also probably soon apply to other nations. They are all dependent on America's superpower guarantee. Jackson-style abandonment violates the essence of the meaning of America.

What about the other two candidates in the New York primary? Dukakis' foreign policy views are not nearly as radical as Jackson's. He is very pro-Israel. But unless clarified, his foreign policy seems to come out of the "America is not the world's policeman" tradition — neo-isolationism. Question: Can an America tending toward isolationism have two foreign policies: active for Israel and passive for the rest of the world? Dubious.

People look after ex-chiefs

By Helen Thomas
UPI White House Reporter
WASHINGTON (UPI) — There is nothing cheap about the American people when it comes to taking care of ex-presidents and their families.

A General Accounting Office report to Congress shows that the taxpayers shelled out $9.5 million from 1977 to 1987 to ex-presidents and another $102 million in that period for round-the-clock Secret Service protection.

In 1985, former President Richard Nixon hired private guards and gave up the Secret Service detail for himself and his wife.

The current annual pension now allowed former Presidents Nixon, Gerald Ford and Jimmy Carter is $94,838. In addition, Lady Bird Johnson, widow of Lyndon Johnson, receives a pension of $20,000 a year.

In fiscal 1987, Nixon received $360,990 in funds, including his pension, to run his office, including salaries for his staff, office rent, telephones, printing, supplies and equipment. Also included in the overall sum was $14,105 in travel expenses and $2,300 in postal outlays.

Ford's pension and salary in the same period came to $343,182, which also included funds for operating his office. The government spent $276,280 on Carter for his pension and expenses. Both Ford and Carter were allotted more than $4,000 for travel expenses.

So the nation's chief executives who leave office go first class and live in style for the rest of their days.

So there is life after the White House and come Jan. 20, 1989, President Reagan will find that public service has its many rewards.

Reagan, as with his predecessors, will also find there is a gold mine out there with the advances and sale of his memoirs. He can also command $20,000 to $25,000 a clip for a lecture, the standard fee for ex-presidents, secretaries of state and even ex-White House chiefs of staff such as Donald Regan.

Reagan may not have made many new friends in the White House. John F. Kennedy said it was impossible. But Reagan's old and rich friends have stood him in good stead. They got together and formed a corporation to buy the President and Mrs. Reagan a $2.5 million house in Bel Air, a fashionable section of Los Angeles. They were given an option to renew the lease for three years or buy the house.

Many nuclear missiles will survive pact

By Jack Anderson
and Dale Van Atta

WASHINGTON — The Reagan administration has puffed up its Intermediate-range Nuclear Forces treaty as a historic agreement "to eliminate an entire class of nuclear weapons." But the INF treaty doesn't do that. The United States will keep at the ready whole groups of short- and intermediate-range weapons.

Even if the American public doesn't know this fact, which is hidden under a classification stamp, the Soviets know it. They are protecting some of their own weapons with the same loophole.

Only "land-based" nuclear missiles with ranges between 300 and 3,400 miles will be dismantled under the treaty signed last December by President Reagan and Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev.

That leaves many sea-based nuclear missiles with ranges in that field, and many more nuclear missiles and bombs with ranges of less than 300 miles — including several dozen deployed in South Korea, among other locations.

AIDS and politics

WASHINGTON—While the medical community struggles to cope with the AIDS epidemic, public officials and physicians generally aren't aware that the spread of this disease will be used to advance the cause of socialized medicine.

Evidence of this push is to be found in an article entitled "AIDS and Capitalist Medicine," published in Monthly Review, a Marxist journal. The author of the article, Charles Hunt of the University of Oregon, is perfectly frank in stating the radical objective. He says that the AIDS crisis "provides a new opportunity to change the system of medical care in the U.S., an opportunity which has not presented itself since the early 1960s."

Mr. Hunt speaks of "a drive for profits within a highly monopolistic sector of U.S. industry, the medical-industrial complex." This absurd characterization of American medicine would be funny if it weren't clear that radicals in American society are full of hate for a health care system that provides the best medicine in the world. People around the globe seek treatment in American hospitals. They call on U.S. medical personnel to establish hospitals and medical education centers in their countries.

Nevertheless, the writer for this Marxist publication refers to the alleged "inhumanity of North American medicine." He chooses to ignore the fact that private, church, and community-operated hospitals in the U.S. devote immense resources to indigent care, giving the same high quality care to patients without funds as to those who can afford the best. And while the federal government has responded to the AIDS crisis with spending on a massive scale, Mr. Hunt speaks of "the pitifully inadequate requests of the federal government for research and education funds." He also ignores the fact that the government must provide funding for such killers as cancer and heart disease, which afflict many more people than AIDS.

Mr. Grant condemns what he calls "rampant homophobia." However, the public certainly has a right to be concerned about the filthy practices of homosexuals, for it is among this group that AIDS finds the greatest number of victims. The misnamed "gay" community represents not only a moral blight but a massive source of diseases, of which AIDS is only one, albeit the worst.

Mr. Hunt undoubtedly is wrong to believe that the spread of AIDS will bring about socialized medicine here. His article serves a purpose, however, in reminding Americans of how radicals would use the AIDS scare to achieve socialized medicine.

It's characteristic of American radicals to blame every problem on capitalism. Hence one should not be surprised at Mr. Hunt's linkage of AIDS and "capitalist medicine." One has to realize that rigid Marxist ideology isn't easily penetrated by reality. The reality, of course, is that America's free enterprise system generates the wealth with which to tackle numerous social problems, including disease control. Therefore, Mr. Hunt would do well to ponder the fact that the AIDS epidemic is worst in the countries of East Africa. Because they don't have strong capitalist economies, these countries are unable to offer substantial medical help to the people who are afflicted with AIDS.

Fluoride distortion continues

By Larry Doyle
UPI Science Writer

CHICAGO (UPI) — In Stanley Kubrick's 1964 dark satire "Dr. Strangelove," Col. Jack D. Ripper initiated a nuclear attack against the Soviet Union to derail the most insidious of all communist plots.

Fluoridation of the water supply was polluting the precious bodily fluids of the American people.

That was intended to seem ridiculous then. But more than 20 years later, and more than 40 years since the first public water fluoridation experiments began, there are still individuals and groups dead set against fluoridation and doing everything in their power to stop it.

They charge that fluoridation causes just about everything bad, cancer, heart disease, birth defects, arthritis, allergies, kidney disease, eczema, upset stomach, headaches, and AIDS.

These claims have repeatedly been shown to be without merit, and would not be worth mentioning, except that many members of the general public are apparently ready to believe them. As a result, the anti-fluoridation forces have been winning in some areas.

"It's so annoying," says Dr. Joel Borstein, chairman of the American Dental Association committee on community health. "We have so many better things to do with our time, and yet we find ourselves wasting years trying to do something that there is virtually no scientific debate about."

By and large, scientists and public health officials do agree. Fluoride in drinking water, at 8 to 1.2 parts per million, presents no health hazard and provides one major boon — a 50 percent to 70 percent reduction in tooth decay.

The reason many have chosen not to fluoridate is John Yamouyannis, a Yiamouyannis, who has a doctorate in biochemistry, is the scientific and political leader of the anti-fluoridation movement. He is credited with defeating fluoridation referendums in Los Angeles in 1975 and in San Antonio in 1985. He has lost a few battles — San Francisco considered, but rejected, an effort to stop fluoridation in 1985 — but he has lost only a few.

The Public Health Service's pitch is basically this: Fluoride is an essential element in biology; when applied to teeth or ingested in the diet, it binds with tooth enamel and makes the enamel less susceptible to the acids that cause tooth decay.

Jet lifts off as hijackers continue threats; destination unknown

MANAMA, Bahrain (UPI) — The hijacked Kuwait jumbo jet with about 50 hostages aboard took off today from Mashad Airport in northeastern Iran for an undisclosed destination, Iran's official news agency reported.

The Boeing 747 airliner took off at 2:28 p.m. (6:58 a.m. EDT), the Islamic Republic News Agency said. IRNA said the captain told the control tower by radio he knew nothing about the next destination.

IRNA said the Arabic-speaking hijackers said in a pre-departure message directed at Kuwait that they would blow up the plane if their demands to free 17 extremists imprisoned in Kuwait were not met.

Before the departure, Iranian officials warned the hijackers that "all airports throughout the world are closed to them," IRNA said.

The hijackers, however, cut their contact with the control tower after warning they would blow up the plane if they detected any suspicious activity by Iranian officials.

Contras issue plan for cease-fire

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (UPI) — The U.S.-backed Contra rebels issued a detailed list of 34 demands for the operation of seven cease-fire zones in Nicaragua, including the replacement of their destroyed weapons in case the truce fails.

But a senior Sandinista official Thursday flatly rejected several of the demands, saying they were a clear violation of the constitution and of civil and military law.

The complex Contra proposal could present the biggest obstacle yet to negotiating a final end to the civil war since the two sides signed a 60-day cease-fire agreement in the border post of Sapoá on March 23.

Church suspends mediation try

PANAMA CITY, Panama (UPI) — The archbishop of Panama announced he is suspending his efforts to mediate talks between the government and opposition leaders, in part because the initiative lacked the personal backing of de facto ruler Gen. Manuel Antonio Noriega.

Roman Catholic Archbishop Marcos McGrath, whose mediation offer was accepted on behalf of the government Wednesday night by acting President Manuel Solís Palma, also Thursday cited opposition reluctance and the absence of foreign leaders who proposed the dialogue.

Earlier Thursday, opposition leaders said they would not negotiate with the government without a prior agreement by Noriega to step down and leave the country and for Solís Palma to be replaced.

Report says bullet in dead girl

QARNE SHOMERON, Israeli-occupied West Bank (UPI) — Mourners vowed to avenge the death of an Israeli teenage girl killed during a clash with Arab villagers, but an army report cast doubt on the original version of the events surrounding her slaying.

Hours after the funeral Thursday of 14-year-old Tirtza Porat, state-run Israel Radio said investigators told Lt. Gen. Dan Shomron, the military's chief of staff, that a bullet was found in her body and added that it could not be determined whether the bullet or a stone thrown by Arabs killed her.

The army originally said Porat was killed Wednesday when she was struck in the head by a rock in the West Bank village of Beitá. The melee began when an adult protecting a group of Israeli teenagers on a hike shot and killed two stone-throwing Arabs.

Rains delay Meese in transit

QUITO, Ecuador (UPI) — U.S. Attorney General Edwin Meese, on a five-nation visit to Latin America to review American anti-narcotics programs, was briefly delayed when bad weather forced his plane to land Thursday in the Ecuadorian port of Guayaquil.

If the rains around Quito abated today, Meese and Drug Enforcement Administration chief John Lawn were to fly from Guayaquil, a Pacific port 170 miles southwest of the capital, to Quito, Foreign Ministry sources said.

The two envoys were to meet with Foreign Minister Rafael García Velasco and discuss Ecuador's growing role as a distribution point for cocaine headed to Europe and the United States, sources said.

Mob attacks U.S. Embassy; 4 dead

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras (UPI) — Gunshots killed at least four people and five others were injured during a riot that erupted as more than 1,000 demonstrators stoned and set ablaze the U.S. Embassy annex in protest of the arrest of a reputed drug trafficker who had been whisked to an American jail.

Hospital officials in the capital said Thursday night that two bodies were transferred to the capital city's morgue and Honduran Red Cross officials said at least two others were dead. Red Cross officials said at least five others were injured.

OPEC talks focus on price hike

VIENNA (UPI) — The five oil ministers on OPEC's pricing committee arrive today for talks on measures to persuade fellow cartel members and independent producers to raise oil prices by restraining output.

The price monitoring committee will hold a one-day meeting Saturday.

Earlier this week Gulf Arab sources said the pricing panel was not likely to call an emergency meeting of the full 13-nation cartel because Ramadan, the Moslem holy month, begins April 17. A majority of OPEC ministers are Moslem.

Shultz ends Middle Eastern trip

BURAYDAH, Saudi Arabia (UPI) — Secretary of State George Shultz said Thursday he received encouragement from King Fahd for the U.S. Middle East peace plan and had "satisfactory" talks with the ruler about the Saudis' secretly acquired medium-range Chinese missiles.

Shultz declined to comment on specific points of his two-hour meeting with Fahd and other Saudi officials. An aide later said U.S.-Saudi discussions about the missiles, which can strike Israel or Iran, were still "going on."

Shultz left for Jordan after he spoke with reporters. He was to return to Washington today, winding up his five-day, five-nation Middle East mission apparently without having won total acceptance of the U.S. peace plan.

Shultz said he found "a great measure of support and encouragement" from Saudi Arabia for the plan, which calls for an international peace conference prior to two stages of direct Arab-Israeli negotiations on the question of self-rule for more than 1 million Palestinians in the Israeli-occupied West Bank and Gaza Strip.

Shultz said he will continue to press ahead with the plan, arguing leaders in Israel, Jordan, Syria, Egypt and Saudi Arabia had not rejected the initiative outright. The Palestine Liberation Organization has refused to accept the U.S. plan.

"I'll leave with the skeleton (of the plan) intact and a little flesh on it here and there and maybe a little life," Shultz told reporters after his meeting with Fahd, at Buraydah Palace, a modern-looking building of pale marble nearly 275 miles northwest of the capital of Riyadh.

"I think it's been worthwhile and we made a little progress here and there. But it comes very hard and slow."

Shultz said his frequent praise this week of Jordanian King Hussein's peace efforts "says to Israel ... here is a possible Arab partner in negotiations." He conceded that Israeli Prime Minister Yitzhak Shamir "has reservations" about the plan. Of the missile controversy,

Shultz said: "I can say the subject came up and we discussed it."

"The discussion I think was a satisfactory one but I don't want to go into further detail than that."

A State Department official who requested anonymity said, "Satisfactory means it's still in process with discussions going on. We're still discussing the situation."

Shultz declined to say whether Fahd had agreed to allow U.S. inspections of the missiles that the Saudis contend are non-nuclear. The missiles, not yet operational, have a range of more than 1,000 miles and are reportedly based in the great Saudi desert known as the Rub El-Khali, or Empty Quarter.

"They have said non-nuclear in every discussion we've had—non today, non tomorrow, non forever," the State Department official said.

It became public knowledge last month that Saudi Arabia purchased Chinese CSS2-Class, or DF-3a, surface-to-surface missiles.

Saudi Arabia apparently made the deal in 1985 and shipped the missiles into the country in such a way as to hide them from U.S. spy satellites, which finally discovered them this January.

Shamir expressed concern about the missiles to President Reagan when he visited Washington in mid-March.

The Saudis said they want the missiles because of Iran's widespread use of missiles in its nearly 8-year-old war with Iraq. Saudi Arabia, which backs Iraq, has said it turned to China for help only after Congress repeatedly rejected its attempts to obtain U.S. weapons.

Saudi Arabia also is concerned that Israel might launch a pre-emptive strike against the missiles similar to the one Israel carried out on an Iraqi nuclear reactor outside Baghdad in June 1981.

A close aide to Shamir, Yosi Ben Aharon, was asked by Israel Radio on March 20 if Israel might knock out the missiles. "The possibility always exists," he was quoted as saying.

Iranian plane penetrates Baghdad defenses

MANAMA, Bahrain (UPI) — The first Iranian warplane in five years to penetrate Baghdad's tight air defenses made a daring dawn raid on the heavily fortified Iraqi capital Thursday. Iraq said its pilots chased the intruder away and shot it down.

The plane appeared to be part of a group of raiders Iran's Islamic Republic News Agency said attacked "selected economic and military" targets in Baghdad, where celebrations have begun to mark the 41st anniversary of the ruling Arab Baath Socialist Party.

"The daring bombardment of enemy economic and military centers in Baghdad proved the Iranian air force is capable of raiding targets in all corners of Iraq," the Iranian news agency said, quoting pilots it said participated in the raid.

A spokesman for the War Information Headquarters in Tehran denied Iraq shot down an Iranian plane. Iraq retaliated by firing Soviet-made surface-to-surface missiles into Tehran and other Iranian cities.

A high command spokesman in Baghdad said the Iranian plane swooped over the city of 4 million at 6:30 a.m. He said Iraqi pilots "chased the Iranian" intruder across the Iraq-Iranian border and shot it down.

The spokesman made no mention of other Iranian planes penetrating Baghdad's tight air defenses.

But Iraq said two other Iranian bombers struck residential areas at Arbil, 250 miles north of Baghdad, "killing several people and wounding many others."

Iraq officials said Thursday's raid was the first time since "the early days of the gulf war," which broke out in 1980, that the Iranians managed to penetrate Baghdad's air defenses.

In 1982, at least two Iranian warplanes succeeded in approaching Baghdad but no damage was reported in that incident, an Iraqi official said. One of the planes was shot down and the other escaped, the official said.

In retaliation for the raid Thursday, Iraq sent two missiles crashing into the sprawling Iranian capital of Tehran.

Iraq also sent missiles soaring across the border and into the holy city of Qom, 100 miles south of Tehran; the historic central Iran city of Esfahan, 310 miles south of the Iranian capital; and Karaj, 30 miles northwest of Tehran.

Iraq confirmed the Iraqi missile attacks, saying "dozens of civilians" were killed. Experts in Baghdad estimate each missile kills or seriously wounds an average of 20 to 50 civilians.

Iraq and Iraq—at war for more than seven years—began preying on civilians in 1983 in the "war of the cities." Hundreds of people have been reported killed in the strikes.

Continuing its policy of retaliation, Iran fired two missiles at Baghdad at 1:22 p.m., about seven hours after the Iranian raid on the Iraqi capital.

"Missile on Baghdad," reported Baghdad radio, which cited heavy casualties in the attack but did not release figures.

Later, Iran sent eight more missiles soaring across the northern Persian Gulf into the southern Iraqi port of Umm Qasr, which contains an important Iraqi naval base.

Senate infrastructure bill would increase gas tax, other taxes

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — A special Senate committee endorsed sweeping legislation Thursday to help local governments fund their infrastructure needs, including a 7 cent gas tax and lower requirements for a local option sales tax.

The bill endorsed by the Select Committee on Local Government Infrastructure Funding and Impact Fees would also greatly reduce the concurrency requirement on roads, a move that is strongly opposed by environmentalists.

The bill (PCD 5E) would eliminate local gas taxes and replace them with the 7 cent state gas tax. That would mean anywhere between a 1 cent and a 7 cent gas tax increase, depending on how much tax a county currently charges.

The tax would be collected by the state and returned to local governments for road construction.

The bill would also allow county commissions to enact a one penny increase in the 6 cent sales tax. Currently, commissions can only collect the extra penny if their voters approve the tax in a referendum.

The bill would create a "gap tax" on the difference between a property's assessed value and the price actually received when sold. It would also allow local governments to collect an impact fee on newly acquired property before the owner begins paying property taxes, and would let local governments increase occupational license taxes by up to 50 percent.

It would set a $100 license tag fee on new Florida residents, and specifies what impact fees a local government may charge.

The bill was reported out of the committee only two days after Gov. Bob Martinez told legislators he would veto any new taxes. Committee chairwoman Sen. Gwen Margolis, D-North Miami, said she hoped Martinez would change his mind.

"The development community is very busy as advocates, and I would hope (Martinez) would respond, because they are really concerned there is going to be a screeching halt to development," Margolis said. "It's obvious that can happen. We are just trying to offer local governments all the options we can."

The existing concurrency rule prohibits construction of major projects unless all public facilities — roads, sewers, drainage systems — are in place at the same time as the development. That rule will not take effect until comprehensive local government plans required by the 1985 Growth Management Act begin taking effect next year.

The bill would allow construction before the roads a development will need are in place, as long as those roads are built within five years.

Court rejects tax refund

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — The Florida Supreme Court has ruled that although state tax breaks for Florida-produced wines were unconstitutional, out-of-state distributors are not entitled to $350 million in refunds.

The justices said Thursday a retroactive rebate of the taxes would unreasonably disrupt state government and amount to an "unconscionable windfall" to the National Distributing Co. and the other national distributors who brought suit.

The court noted the out-of-state distributors had already collected $10 million in tax exemptions. The distributors also passed their tax burden along to their Florida consumers.

"Retroactive application would have the effect of requiring the taxpayers of this state to refund in excess of an estimated $350 million in taxes that they already have paid once," wrote Justice Rosemary Barkett.

"We thus find that any benefit to appellants is far outweighed by the harm that would be inflicted upon this state's citizens and their government."

The unanimous ruling cited a 1984 U.S. Supreme Court decision that the breaks Florida once granted state-produced wines violated the commerce clause of the U.S. Constitution.

But the justices noted the nation's high court had previously allowed such preferential treatment for in-state industry. The tax breaks, adopted in 1981, were repealed by the Legislature following the 1984 ruling.

Lawmakers gathered in Tallahassee for the 1988 legislative session had been awaiting the ruling with keen interest, since the $350 million refund would have amounted to one more burden in a tight budget year. The refund would have been roughly equal to the projected profit from the first year operation of the state lottery.

Testimony: Cocaine financed contra war

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Despite denials that persist today, two rebel leaders and a pair of convicted drug smugglers are the latest to testify to Congress that the U.S.-backed Contras used cocaine profits to help fund their fight against the Nicaraguan government.

In the fourth day of Senate hearings on narcotics traffic this week, George Morales and Gary Betzner were the star witnesses for the Foreign Relations Committee's Subcommittee on Terrorism and Narcotics. Both convicted smugglers described how they used cocaine proceeds to assist the Contra guerrillas.

Their sworn statements were made only hours before ABC News reported Thursday that the same pilots and aircraft involved in flying loads of drugs into the United States from 1983 to 1986 were used in a covert U.S.-Israeli network supplying arms to the Contras even before the notorious Iran-Contra operation.

"I'm convinced beyond a reasonable doubt about what was happening," said Sen. John Kerry, D-Mass., at the conclusion of Thursday's hearing. Kerry, who has spent two years leading the subcommittee investigation of the Contra-cocaine connection, said, "I believe there was narcotics flowing back and forth as part of an aberration in the entire network that had been created down there."

Morales said his relationship with the rebels began in the spring of 1984.

FLORIDA IN BRIEF

Woman's death sentence changed to life; Bertolotti loses appeal

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — The Florida Supreme Court has commuted to life imprisonment without a chance for parole for 25 years the death sentence given Carla Caillier, one of five women condemned to death in Florida.

The state Supreme Court has also ordered a new sentencing hearing for William Thomas Zeigler Jr. for killing his wife, her parents and another man, but has narrowly upheld the death sentence given Anthony Bertolotti for the 1983 robbery and stabbing murder of Carol Ward in Orange County.

The unanimous ruling Thursday in Caillier's case said her trial judge in Tampa lacked sufficient grounds to overrule a jury recommendation for life in the contract killing of her husband.

The justices noted that Caillier's lover, who shot her husband three times, received only a life sentence. The two planned to share his $100,000 life insurance policy.

Mountains combed for lost plane

TOCCOA, Ga. (UPI) — The Georgia Civil Air Patrol searched Thursday in the North Georgia mountains for a light plane with seven people aboard missing since Sunday on a flight from Boca Raton, Fla. to Ridgeville, Ind.

Searchers said they believe the six-passenger Piper Saratoga encountered severe weather Sunday and either landed or crashed. Authorities had few clues as to the whereabouts of the plane and believe it could have gone down anywhere between Middle Georgia and Indiana.

The Florida wing of the Civil Air Patrol transferred search operations to the Georgia wing Wednesday night, said Jean Stockton, spokeswoman for the Air Patrol's Florida wing.

The pilot, Jim Cox, 44, was an experienced pilot with more than 800 hours of flying time but was not qualified to fly in conditions of limited visibility such as the bad weather that prevailed Sunday, the CAP said.

Forecasters like hurricane planes

MIAMI (UPI) — Forecasters at the National Hurricane Center oppose an Air Force plan to phase out the use of hurricane tracking planes and hope it will be scrapped before the deadline more than two years away.

Brig. Gen. George E. Chapman, commander of the Air Force's Air Weather Service, says a 10-plane tracking squadron in the Pacific Ocean already has been abolished and that hurricane patrols over the Gulf of Mexico and the Atlantic Ocean could cease within two years.

"I think it's inevitable that satellites are going to do the job totally," Chapman said during a National Hurricane Conference in Atlanta.

Chapman said patrols of the Gulf of Mexico and the Atlantic Ocean will continue this year and next and "probably through 1990," and will be expanded by use of some of the planes from the Pacific squadron.

Bayside sales get needed boost

MIAMI (UPI) — Bayside's first anniversary as a catalyst for downtown Miami was hailed by the mayor, the developers and the merchants.

City officials and the developers said Bayside delivered on its promise to help revive a sagging downtown, producing $72 million in sales from 12 million visitors in its first year.

Expert opposes replacing planes with satellites to spot storms

MIAMI (UPI) — Using satellite photographs as the only source of data on hurricanes is akin to a doctor looking at the top of a person's head to check his heart, an expert at the National Hurricane Center said Thursday.

Bob Case said the technique used in reading satellite photographs "does a fairly decent job," but said there is subjectivity in the procedure.

The Air Force has announced plans to phase out its squadron of hurricane tracking planes, leaving the tracking of the tropical storms to sophisticated satellites, a move opposed by officials at the center.

Bob Sheets, director of the center, said at a National Hurricane Conference in Atlanta Wednesday, the satellite is the center's most important tool in tracking hurricanes, but said aircraft are needed to verify satellite information.

"The satellite does a good job on a large scale, but it doesn't give you a storm's intensity, and while it works well on average, it's those storms that aren't average that'll kill you," Sheets said.

Case said trained forecasters can get a pretty good idea of the strength of a storm by looking for signs, but cannot be precise.

"Hurricanes have a signature," Case said. "The weather bands and the start of the formation of the eye will each give signals. It is a multiple, multiple step procedure. It does a fairly decent job, but there is subjectivity in it."

Case said the satellite provides a remote sensing platform 22,500 miles high, while aircraft provide surface sensing.

"The satellites depend on sunlight and during every hurricane there are a couple of hours of nighttime when the Earth blocks the sun from the satellite," Case said.

He said that was the case last year when Hurricane Emily unexpectedly strengthened after appearing to be dying out after moving through the mountains of Hispaniola. It hit Bermuda with winds of up to 102 mph.

"Fortunately there was an airplane in the area so we got the warning out," he said.

Brig. Gen. George E. Chapman, commander of the Air Force's Air Weather Service, said Wednesday the 10-plane tracking squadron in the Pacific Ocean has been abolished and that hurricane patrols over the Gulf of Mexico and the Atlantic Ocean could cease within two years. "I think it's inevitable that satellites are going to do the job totally," Chapman said.

Case said some of the planes from the Pacific will be shifted to the Gulf and the Atlantic providing even better coverage now, and said Chapman has said those patrols will continue this year and next and "probably through 1990." "That is three years and a lot of things can happen by then," Case said.

Case said without aircraft, forecasters will be left with only the satellites and information from ships in the vicinity as sources of data.

"We put out marine advisories asking for information from ships within a 300-mile radius of a storm, but every time those went out, the ships scattered," he said.

Mannequins seen as mirrors of society

PENSACOLA (UPI) — Mannequins are used to sell everything from discount store sweaters to Gucci shoes, but a Canadian professor of interior design says they can also be seen as mirrors reflecting societal changes.

"Mannequins tell us a great deal about attitudes and the times we live in," said Professor George Sanders of Toronto's Ryerson Polytechnical Institute.

Sanders lectured Thursday at the University of West Florida on how customers respond to mannequins, but he also said he saw them as a mirror of society.

"They're really the pulse beat of the capitalistic world," said Sanders. "They don't exist in the Soviet Union because you don't get to buy this way. You see, nothing is sold in a competitive way in the Soviet Union."

Sanders, who is also an artist, said that 30 or 40 years ago mannequins had smooth shapes, no features and were used in simple settings. In today's technological world they are more realistic with elaborate settings.

"I think it says a lot about the competitiveness, and the fact that it is not enough to just present items. That you have to reach beyond that, you have to reach into the imagination of the customer," he said.

Sanders said he noticed a "very subtle but real difference" in mannequins used in England from those in Canada. The former are intended to look like real people, while the latter reflect "an attitude."

"The Canadian mannequins are actually more interracial. You'll find more orientals, more brown-skinned people, much darker people and with a slightly more exotic air to them," he said.

"Whereas the English ones are very much more realistic almost in the sense of photographically realistic. You will see the teeth in their mouth, for instance."

In the United States, the type of mannequin used depends on the location. A mannequin on New York's Fifth Avenue, for example, is elevated and behind glass, where the ones in Pensacola show a more relaxed attitude.

"I've certainly noticed that the mannequins that I've seen in the stores here, you can mistake them—because of the way they use them—for real people," said Sanders. "They are located within the sales area. They are to scale and the heights of real people."

Sanders also said there is a reason why some clothes are placed on mannequins without heads or other limbs. He said museums and stores do it to lessen the significance of the individual.

"When you don't show the head, you're saying that the person isn't important," Sanders said, indicating "clothes make the man."

Those that look more like modern art than a person are directed toward the young and "trendy" market, where customers want to feel they are different and not running with the pack, he said.

Traffic accident results in law suit

Gary R. LaToore has filed suit in Seminole County Circuit court against Frances H. and William R. Hubbard, asking for damages in excess of $5,000 for injuries and property loss as the result of an auto accident.

LaToore states in the suit the accident occurred March 22, when a vehicle driven by the plaintiff was struck by a vehicle driven by the defendant, Frances Hubbard at the intersection of North Mass Road and State road 419.

The plaintiff charges that his automobile was a total loss and that he suffered bodily injury and disfigurement. He also charges that he has several medical bills stemming from the injuries.

Klan's application rejected

APOPKA (UPI) — The local chamber of commerce rejected a membership application from the Ku Klux Klan, saying the Klan's white supremacy and segregationist philosophies don't coincide with the chamber's purpose.

"We treated them just like we would any other organization whose beliefs conflicted with ours," said Bud Brunner, chamber president.

Chamber Executive Director Marilyn Sitka said the decision was the first time the chamber has refused membership to a business or organization.

Tony Bastanzio, a 31-year-old landscaper and grand wizard of the Apopka chapter of the statewide Knights of the Ku Klux Klan, said he has hired an attorney to fight the chamber's action.

Seven-run fourth lifts Lyman over Seminole

By Mark Mythe
Herald Sports Writer

LONGWOOD — Lyman used an seven-run fourth inning to gain its first Seminole Athletic Conference victory with an 8-7 decision over Seminole Thursday before 51 fans at Lyman High School.

Seminole dropped to 2-12 and 1-8 in the SAC. Lyman improved to 3-12 and 1-8 in conference play.

"I think we played well and came up with some clutch hits," Lyman coach Donna Garrett said. "The conditions were terrible and it was nice to see us not break down."

Seminole managed to get on the board early with a run in the top of first. After an out Michele Stump reached first on an error. After the second out Kim Walsh singled to move Stump to third.

Amy Hawkins then delivered a run scoring single to put the Lady Seminoles up 1-0.

Seminole managed to load the bases in the second inning but could not come up with any runs. The Lady Greyhounds then tied the score in their half of the inning.

With two outs Carol Colley reached first on a single to left center, Dana Garrett then reached on an error that put her on second and Colley on third. Sabrina Jarrett then singled to left to score Colley and knot the score at 1-1.

The Lady Tribe then scored three runs in the top of the third to re-take the lead. Angela Orioles led off with a single before being put out at second on a fielders choice hit by Tami Holloway. Jennifer Lindamood followed with another fielders

Lyman responded, with the aid of five hits, five errors and a walk, with seven runs to take the lead for good. After an out Daphney Bailey reached on an error. After the second out Amy Welsar singled to put runners on first and second. Tamee Wright then reached on an error to load the bases.

Colley followed with a run scoring single followed by a Garrett single that plated two more runs. Jarrett then reached on an error that scored Colley. Jen Eichberger then singled in another run for Lyman. Tiffany Rose brought in the final run of the inning with a single to left that gave the Lady Greyhounds an 8-4 lead.

Seminole came right back with three runs in the top of the fifth to pull within a run of the Lady 'Hounds. Sara Klein started things off with a lead off single. Orioles followed and hit into a fielders choice with Lyman putting Hawkins out at second as Walsh scored. Lindamood then reached on an error and Bird followed with a single to score Orioles and cut the lead to 8-7.

Neither team could come up with any real scoring threat for the final two innings as Lyman cut off a rally in the top of the sixth to hang on for the win.

Krukow stymies Padres

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Mike Krukow returned to 1986 and came up a winner Thursday night.

Krukow, who won 20 games in 1986 but only five last season, held the San Diego Padres to four hits and struck out six over seven innings to lead San Francisco to a 6-1 victory over the Padres before a crowd of 54,543 in the Giants' home opener.

"Vintage 1986," said San Francisco catcher Bob Brenly of Krukow's performance. "He's throwing the ball as well as he did back in 1986."

"It's a good start," said the 36-year-old Krukow, who had a 2.83 ERA in spring training. "It's a foundation to build upon, but I don't want to take anything for granted."

Brenly and Brett Butler each homered to support Krukow, 1-0, and help send San Diego to its second consecutive 0-3 start. The Padres have been outscored 17-5 this season and own a .198 team batting average.

"What do we have, five runs in three games?" asked San Diego Manager Larry Bowa. "We're not going to win too many games with only one run."

San Diego starter Eric Show, 0-1, held the Giants scoreless through three innings. With two out in the fourth, Show hit Candy Maldonado and gave up a single to Kevin Mitchell.

Brenly then slammed a 2-0 pitch over the left field fence — the Giants' first home run of the season — to give San Francisco a 3-0 lead. After hitting .157 this spring, Brenly wasn't a part of the Giants' Opening Day lineup for the first time in six years, and the homer came on his second at-bat of the season.

Butler, whom San Francisco signed as a free agent last December 1, hit his first home run for his new team in the fifth inning, putting the Giants up 4-0.

In the San Francisco sixth, Mitchell walked, took second on Eric Nolte's balk, and scored on Robby Thompson's single for a 5-0 lead. Benito Santiago — who has five of San Diego's 18 hits this season — hit his first home run of the season in the seventh to make the score 5-1.

In the bottom of the inning Mike Aldrete doubled and Will Clark singled to give the Giants a 6-1 edge.

Rams dust off Oviedo

Lake Mary pounds 13 hits in 10-2 win

By Chris Fister
Herald Sports Editor

LAKE MARY — The dust still may not have cleared at Lake Mary High, but there was no doubt as to who the better team was in Thursday afternoon's Seminole Athletic Conference softball game.

The host Lady Rams pounded out 13 hits, played solid defense and got superb pitching from Monica Frakes under difficult conditions en route to a 10-2 victory over Oviedo's Lady Lions before 151 fans.

"We played a solid all-around game today," Lake Mary coach Karen Nolen said. "I feel like we're in a groove now and it's the right time of the year for it."

Lake Mary ran its record to 13-5 overall and 7-2 in the SAC with its third consecutive victory. The Lady Rams have a nonconference game today at St. Cloud. Oviedo, meanwhile, had its three-game win streak snapped and now stands at 7-5 overall and 4-4 in the conference.

Oviedo took a 1-0 lead in the first inning when Jill Knutson singled and later scored on a fielder's choice but Lake Mary tied it in the bottom half when Brooke Taylor reached on an error and scored on a triple off the bat of Paula Songer. Songer tried to stretch it to a homer but was thrown out at the plate by shortstop Knutson.

Lake Mary came back to take a 2-1 lead in the second when

Wrenn, Nelson share first-round lead

AUGUSTA, Ga. (UPI) — It's a bit ironic that after a day not fit for the birds, a golfer named Robert Wrenn shares the lead in the Masters.

Wrenn, making his first Masters appearance, and reigning PGA Champion Larry Nelson battled swirling winds and slick greens Thursday while posting 3-under-par 69s.

The two go into today's hopefully calmer second round two strokes ahead of PGA Tour leading money winner Sandy Lyle of Scotland, 1985 Masters champion Bernhard Langer of West Germany, Mark Calcavecchia and Don Pooley — the only others under par on a day 20 of 89 first-round finishers failed to break 80.

"The wind made it a different golf course," said Wrenn. "It wasn't just the weather. Where the pins were made it tough to figure out. Having the wind blowing made it tough to putt. On some of those greens you could be out there long enough to need a sandwich."

GOLF

Wrenn's position was supported by six-time Masters champion Jack Nicklaus who knows every nook and cranny of the Augusta National course.

"It was certainly one of the four or five most difficult days we've ever had at the Masters," said Nicklaus, who turned in a 3-over 75. "It may have been the most difficult, actually."

Nelson, finishing two hours ahead of Wrenn, said the other golfers were making too much of the wind.

"You have to hit it on line whether the wind is blowing or not," said the two-time PGA and 1983 U.S. Open champ. "No one had an advantage because the wind didn't favor anybody."

It had cooled off considerably by the time Wrenn finished in twilight and the 28-year-old Virginian complained "with the chill factor the last couple of holes, I almost got numb out there."

Oddly enough, the chill helped Wrenn, who birdied the final hole, vault into the tie with Nelson.

"At 18 I had 166 (yards) to the pin," Wrenn said. "I was half frozen and didn't hit (a 5-iron) as hard as I normally would."

The ball wound up just 8 feet from the cup and after Wrenn sank the tying putt, he said, "That's a heck of a way to end the day."

Gary Koch was tied for the lead going into the final hole Thursday. But he put his approach shot into a trap, failed to get out on his first try, then three-putted for a triple-bogey.

That gave Koch an even-par 72 and a tie with two-time Masters champ Tom Watson and 1984 winner Ben Crenshaw as only nine golfers had par or better.

Two-time champion Seve Ballesteros of Spain, rated a co-favorite with Greg Norman

Carter blasts Expos

MONTREAL (UPI) — Gary Carter cracked two home runs and Darryl Strawberry hit another Thursday night to lead the New York Mets to an 8-5 victory over the Montreal Expos.

Bob Ojeda, 1-0, went seven innings for the victory. The left-hander, who missed most of last season because of elbow surgery in May, gave up seven hits, walked three and struck out five. Roger McDowell pitched the final two innings.

The Mets scored four runs in the fifth to break a 4-4 tie and knock out Expos starter Neal Heaton, 0-1. Mookie Wilson walked and scored on Keith Hernandez' single. Strawberry followed with a towering two-run homer to left field, his third of the season.

"Heaton just did not have good stuff tonight," Expos Manager Buck Rodgers said. "He had no control of any of his pitches and was rushing the ball to the plate. It could have been a result of first start jitters."

Carter, the former Expo who is booted by the Montreal fans, greeted reliever Andy McGaffigan with his second home run of the game to make it 8-4.

"It feels good to hit two home runs any time," said Carter, who has 27 multiple homer games in his career. "There's pressure here for me. You come into the stadium and hear the catcalls and naturally you want to do well."

New York took a 3-0 lead in the first. Wilson led off the game with a triple and scored one out later when Hernandez singled.

New York's Darryl Strawberry (right) exchanges a low five with Keith Hernandez. Strawberry cracked his third homer of the season Thursday in the Mets' 8-5 win over Montreal.

Walks to Strawberry and Howard Johnson loaded the bases for Tim Lincecum, who also walked to bring home Hernandez. Kevin Elster singled to give the Mets a 3-0 lead, but Teufel ended the rally when he tagged out oversliding second base.

Heaton narrowed the gap to 3-2 in the second inning with a two-run single. Tim Wallach singled before Ojeda walked Mike Fitzgerald and Casey Candaele, Heaton then lined a single to center.

Carter hit a solo home run in the third, his first of the season, to give the Mets a 4-2 lead. The Expos tied the score in the fourth on an RBI double by Luis Rivera and a run-scoring single by Candaele.

The Expos added a run in the ninth on Tim Raines' RBI groundout.

Interference call gives Chisox win

CHICAGO (UPI) — Instead of breaking up a double play Thursday, Wally Joyner ended the game.

An interference call by second base umpire Jim McKean, when Joyner slid into shortstop Ozzie Guillen, gave the Chicago White Sox the final out of the ninth inning and a 2-1 triumph over the California Angels.

Guillen forced Joyner at second base for the second out of the inning after Brian Downing hit a grounder to the shortstop. Guillen leaped to make a throw and fell when he collided with Joyner.

McKean called runner interference, giving the White Sox the out at first base to snuff an Angel rally and end the game.

Guillen admitted he was not attempting a play at first base, but was going to make a throw to third on the advancing Chili Davis when Joyner prevented the toss.

"It was a great call," Guillen said. "In a situation like that, an umpire has to be 100 percent sure. He made the right call. I was ready to throw to first but saw I had no play. I was going to throw to third, but that's when he grabbed my leg."

"I tried to break up the double play," said Joyner. "I didn't grab him."

The Angels scored their only run before the controversial play. Tony Armas and Davis hit back-to-back doubles of Chicago starter Dave LaPoint, 1-0, before reliever Bill Long walked Joyner.

LaPoint struck out seven and walked one in 8 1/3 innings, giving up all five hits.

Guillen scored the winning run in the fifth inning when California shortstop Dick Schofield broke a streak of 43 errorless games with a fielding error. Guillen scored from second when Schofield let Lance Johnson's grounder go through his legs.

Ivan Calderon gave the White Sox a 1-0 lead in the fourth when he singled home Gary Redus. California starter Chuck Finley, 0-1, struck out five and walked two while giving up five hits in 6 1/3 innings.

homers and knocked in five runs to lead a 21-hit attack by the Tigers. Rookie right-hander Steve Ellsworth, starting his first major-league game, took the loss, going two-plus innings and giving up five runs on eight hits. Frank Tanana, 1-0, earned the victory.

Royals 7, Blue Jays 4
At Kansas City, Mo., Danny Tartabull hit a three-run home run and Kurt Stillwell added a two-run, inside-the-park homer, leading the Royals. Mark Gubicza, 1-0, survived without his best control. Jim Clancy fell to 0-1.

Indians 4, Rangers 1
At Arlington, Texas, Cory Snyder hit a two-run homer in the seventh inning to break a tie and spark the Indians. John Farrell, 1-0, pitched six innings and allowed six hits for the victory. Chris Codioli went three innings for his first save. Jose Guzman, 0-1, took the loss despite a career-best 12 strikeouts.

Reds 8, Cardinals 1
At Cincinnati, Danny Jackson, deprived of hitting in the American League because of the designated hitter, drove in two runs and pitched a three-hitter in his National League debut to lift the Cincinnati Reds to an 8-1 victory Thursday over the St. Louis Cardinals.

The left-hander, obtained from Kansas City in a deal that has helped the Reds build one of the more formidable pitching staffs in baseball, struck out only two and walked seven. Despite the walks, he really wasn't wild and kept the ball close to the strike zone all nine innings. Jackson lost his bid for a shutout in the eighth when Bob Horner homered.

Dodgers 5, Braves 2
At Atlanta, Pedro Guerrero singled home two runs to break a tie in the ninth, lifting the Dodgers. After Los Angeles loaded the bases against loser Paul Assenmacher, Guerrero greeted Jim Acker with a single to give the Dodgers a 4-2 lead. Reliever Alejandro Pena, 1-0, was the winner and Jesse Orosco picked up the save.

Thompson: Drag racing's innovator

NHRA founder Wally Parks knew Mickey Thompson since the early days of racing and had these thoughts to pass along.

"A bright light in our sport's historical past and present was snuffed out recently when Mickey and his wife, Trudy were shot down by unknown assailants at their home in Southern California. Mickey was one of drag racing's true pioneers; responsible for countless new and important innovations in the design and construction of his own race cars and a highly skilled driver as well. His was the recognized original 'slingshot' dragster, which he fitted with the sport's first streamliner body and raced at the first NHRA Nationals in 1955. During his active drag racing career, he produced an endless string of cars in various configurations and with numerous engine types, always striving to exceed new goals he had set for himself in initiative and creativity. As a result, he was the holder of many world records.

Throughout his long and busy career, Mickey was an innovative challenger in dry lakes and Bonneville record-setting. Carl Vanzura is Sanford Herald Motorsports Writer.

Australia, four-putted No. 16 for a double bogey to shoot a 73. Norman, tied for second in each of the two previous years, had a 77.

"Four putts can happen to anyone," Ballesteros said. "Unfortunately, it happened to me today. I four-putted in the first round of the Majorca Open (in Spain earlier this year) — and I won that tournament."

Nelson, who won the Open the year after he won his first PGA Championship and would make it two major victories in a row if he should win this week, said he isn't looking that far ahead.

"I'm just happy I shot 69," he said. "All I'm looking forward to is my tee shot on the first hole tomorrow."

Wrenn, who earned his first Masters appearance by winning last year's Butch Open, took pretty much the same approach.

"I've got to stop thinking about where I am. I have to be brain dead," said Wrenn. "This early in the week, you don't worry about going for birdies. It's more a bogey prevention time than a birdie production."

Lee Trevino, who has won every major except the Masters, turned in a 9-over 81 Thursday and stalked away saying, "I'll just get in my 36 holes and go home."

Nicklaus, who won here two years ago at age 46, thought he played "pretty well" considering the conditions.

"I don't think you could win the tournament today, but you could lose it," he said. "I thought 75 would be a good score — and that's what I shot."

Teams begin stretch run with Optimist Invite

By Mark Blythe
Herald Sports Writer

SANFORD — The sixth annual Optimist Invitational will be held tonight at Seminole High School with the always-competitive Seminole County schools going at each other again along with a number of schools from outside of the county.

There are expected to be 17 boys teams and 13 girls teams to participate in the meet tonight with the finals set to begin at 7 p.m.

With the exception of Lake Howell, all Seminole county schools will be participating. Other teams to be in the event will be coming from as far as Auburndale to Daytona Beach.

"We'll have a lot of teams we don't always see running in the meet," Seminole girl track coach Emory Blake said. "This is the beginning of the final stretch and that's how we're approaching the meet."

Blake will be putting his athletes in their top events and keep them there for the remainder of the season. Times are not the major thing for Blake and his team right now as he is more interested in the way his team competes.

"Times aren't really on our mind right now," Blake said. "I want to get everyone comfortable in their event and perfect their handoffs and starts. When the district and regional meets come up we'll begin to look at our times."

Seminole is the favorite entering the meet with Lake Mary and Lake Brantley hoping to stay close. Lake Brantley and Lake Mary have done battle all season and should be close to one another tonight.

Seminole's Shownda Martin and Dorchelle Webster should lead the Lady Tribe with Michelle Pearson, Adrian Hillsman, LaShon Cash, Yolana Baker and Nadrian McGill all top-notch performers.

Pearson has had an outstanding season for Seminole. Pearson would be a top runner at most other high school but has been in the shadow of Webster over the past couple of seasons.

"Michelle Pearson has probably been our most consistent runner," Blake said. "She's done a nice job, she's just been overshadowed by Martin and Webster and not been as noticed as those two."

Pearson has the second fastest time in the 110 high hurdles at 14.6, the fourth fastest time in the 330 hurdles at 48.1 and runs on the county leading 440 relay team for the Lady Seminoles.

The boys meet will see the return of Oviedo's Karl Wright who is having an incredible season. Wright will be tested but should do well as he leads the county's second best time in the 330 intermediate hurdles at 39.0. Seminole's Alan Seward leads the 330's with a time of 36.6 and the two should hook up for an interesting battle in the event.

Lake Brantley's Clint Johnson could also pressure Wright in the 100 meters as Johnson posted a 10.7 clocking to close the gap between him and Wright. Seminole's Jerod Jones and Lewis Butler are also close as both have run 10.9 this season.

The distance events could provide three good races. Lake Mary's Eric Petersen is the county leader in the mile at 4:22.7, and in the 800 at 1:57.7. Lyman's Teddy Mitchell leads the two mile with a 9:35.1 performance.

Mitchell has been out with an ankle injury but is expected to come back and if he is in top shape he could be a threat in any event he's in. Mitchell, a sophomore, placed second overall at the cross country meet and went on to run in the Kinney National Meet.

Nick Radkewich, another Lyman standout, is also expected to return to the track for the Greyhounds. Radkewich was third in the state cross country meet and also made it to the Kinney Nationals along with being a world class triathlete.

The long jump could also provide some quality performances. If the wind isn't a factor, as there will be some quality leapers at Seminole. Lake Mary's Cecil King, who has been jumping well, is third in the county with a jump of 22-1/4, followed by teammate Leroy Jenkins who has gone 22 feet even. Lyman's James Flint is also jumping well and owns a leap of 21-10.

King and Seminole's Lewis Butler should do battle in the triple jump. King has gone 48-2 and is leading the county as Butler has been consistently over 46 feet and is second in the county at 47-7.

Lyman's Darren Marshall should be ready to go after the break, the standout junior is tied for the lead in the pole vault as he has cleared 13 feet so far this season. Marshall is second in the 440 at 50.5, third in the county in the 120 high hurdles at 14.8 and runs on the Greyhounds' mile relay squad.

Seminole's Steve Warren leads the county in the 220 yard dash with a nice 22.1 clocking. Brantley's Johnson is next at 22.6, followed by Seminole freshman George Frison at 22.8.

The Tribe also leads in both relays, having a comfortable lead in the 440 with a 42.9 clocking compared to Lake Mary's time of 43.9. Seminole has also ran 3:27.8 in the mile relay, followed by Lake Mary at 3:32.8 and Lyman at 3:34.7.

Superb efforts by Macdowell, Lewis

CASSELBERRY — Tuskawilla 7th grader Jenny Macdowell and Milwee 8th grader Melissa Lewis both turned in outstanding performances Thursday at the Lake Howell Middle School Track Meet.

Macdowell ran a fine time of 12.3 in winning the 100 meter dash and she also cleared 4-6 in the high jump.

"Those are super efforts for a seventh grader," meet manager and Lake Howell girls coach Tom Hammontree said. "And I'm happy to say she'll be coming to Lake Howell."

Lewis took first place in the long jump among 8th graders with a leap of 15-11. That jump would place in most high school meets. Lewis also took first in the 220 dash with a nice time of 28.5.

In the mile run, Tuskawilla's Jackie Haynes took first at 8:05 followed by Tuskawilla's Nisha Desai at 8:44 and Milwee's Julie Williams at 9:48.

Dawn Judd of Greenwood Lakes won the 7th grade 440 dash with a time of 74.1 followed by Marcie Duncan of Milwee (80.2) and Tammy Morris of Milwee (82.0). The 8th grade 440 winner was Heather Rogers of Milwee (75.2) as she just edged out Cathedra Hawthorne of Tuskawilla (75.2).

In the 220 among 6th graders, Centrell Watkins of Milwee was first at 31.9. Alkini Blue of Greenwood Lakes won among 7th graders at 33.4. Lewis won the 8th grade race with Gene Thomas of Milwee second at 30.2.

In the high jump among 8th graders, Angel Brown of Milwee was first at 4-4 with Sally Morris of Tuskawilla second at 4-3.

The duces for 7th graders was won by Milwee's Pamela Harris at 74-8 with Milwee's Melanie Butler second at 56-7. Melanie Hillsman of Milwee was the top eighth grader at 62-4.

In the shot put, it was Hillsman first at 31-5 followed by Milwee's Danielle Freeman at 29-8 and Milwee's Cordela Nelson at 21-7. In the 7th grade shot, Blue of Greenwood was first (29-3) and Harris of Milwee second (28-6) with Lashonda Montgomery of Greenwood Lakes third (25-10).

In the long jump, Colleen Caughlin of Milwee was first at 11-5.

Lake Brantley's Greg Ebbert leads off first shutout in Wednesday's win over Lake Howell. Brantley returns to action tonight while Lake Howell's Chris Norton holds him on. Ebbert tossed a five-hit at home against DeLand.

Big day in SAC baseball race

It could be make or break day in the Seminole Athletic Conference for three teams. The big game of the day has Lake Mary going to Oviedo while Lake Brantley hosts DeLand.

Oviedo currently leads the league with a 6-1 record while Lake Mary is second at 5-2. Game time is 3:30 p.m. at

BASEBALL

Oviedo High.

It's not often that Lake Brantley (16-5 overall and 4-3 in the SAC) pulls for a Lake Mary victory but that will be the case today. If Lake Mary wins and Brantley beats DeLand, the Patriots would trail

Lake Mary and Oviedo by only one game and the Pats still have one game left with both of those teams. Brantley's game tonight is scheduled to begin at 7.

An Oviedo victory would put the Lions in the driver's seat since they would have a two-game lead over everyone with four games remaining.

J. Barton, Hawks bomb Mainland

By Chris Fister
Herald Sports Editor

CASSELBERRY — Mainland's Lady Bucs weren't aware they were going to be treated to a fireworks display Thursday afternoon at Lake Howell High School. Unfortunately for the Bucs, the fireworks were coming off Lake Howell's bats — with Julie Barton unleashing the biggest bombs.

Barton hit one ball over the right field fence and also added a triple and a two-run single in the Lady Silver Hawks' 10-1 nonconference victory.

Lake Howell ran its record to 16-5 overall and also picked up ground in the conference when DeLand upset Lake Brantley. Lake Howell is 6-2 in the league and trails Brantley by one game.

"I was pleased with the way we played coming off Tuesday's game (6-5 loss to Brantley)," Lake Howell coach Jo Luciano said.

The Lady Hawks had 13 hits in the game while winning pitcher Debbie McDonough held Mainland to five.

Lake Howell took control early Thursday with two runs in the first and five in the second. In the first, Julie Barton drew a two-out walk, Leslie Barton singled and Marie Peters walked to load the bases. Lee Ann Trimble then came through with a two-run single which turned out to be the game-winning hit.

In the second, Val Monica led off with a single. Ginger York walked and Rixya Millwood singled in Monica for a 3-0 lead. Missy Martinez followed with a single to drive in York and Tammy Lewis singled to load the bases. Julie Barton then ripped a single to score two more runs and Stormi Littrell's RBI single capped off the inning.

Mainland scored an unearned run in the third and Lake Howell then added single runs in the fourth, fifth and sixth. In the fourth, Julie Barton tripled and scored on Leslie Barton's sacrifice fly. In the fifth pinch hitters Christy Dees and Carolyn Dewar hit consecutive singles and pinch hitter Lisa Boatwright singled in Dees. In the sixth, Julie Barton hit a shot over the fence in right field to give the Lady Hawks a 10-1 lead.

"That's the first ball I've seen hit over the fence here," Luciano said. "It had to go over 250 feet."

Lake Mary's Colette Davis slides into second safely while Oviedo's Anna Hollis scrambles for the ball and the ever-alert umpire makes the call. Davis eventually scored in a four-run fifth inning that broke open a close game. Lake Mary triumphed, 10-2.

...Lady Rams

Heather Golden drilled a triple and scored on an Oviedo error.

After a scoreless third frame, the Lady Rams broke the game open with two runs in the fourth and four in the fifth. In the fourth, Terri Peters led off with a walk and Taylor followed with a base hit up the middle. With one out, Golden hit a ball to second baseman Anna Hollis who tossed to Knutson for the force at second but Knutson's throw to first was wild, allowing Peters to score and Golden to take second. Marnie Frey then singled to right and Valerie Smith singled to drive in Golden for a 4-1 Lake Mary lead.

Lake Mary kept Oviedo from mounting a rally in the top of the fifth thanks to nice defensive plays by Frakes and shortstop

Laurie Leiffer. The Lady Rams then rallied for four runs in the bottom half for an 8-1 lead.

Pinch hitter Colette Davis reached on an error to start the inning and, with one out, Amy Adams singled to left. With two outs, Taylor squeezed a triple between the right center and right fielders for a two-run triple. Songer followed with a base hit to plate Taylor. Golden walked and Frey reached on an error that allowed Songer to score.

After Oviedo went down in order in the top of the sixth, Lake Mary tacked on two more runs in the bottom half. Pinch hitter Lisa Silverstein led off with an infield single. Leiffer singled to center and the two moved up on a long fly out. Adams then drove in Silverstein with a sacrifice fly and Taylor's single scored Leiffer for a 10-1 lead.

Seminole coach Lance Abney came into the week hoping the Lady Seminoles could come up with at least a pair of victories.

After dropping three games, two in which Seminole had 15 hits in, he hopes they can comeback and play well in the remainder of the season.

"It's been one inning that has killed us in our last three games," Abney said. "We finally started hitting but now our defense is hurting."

GARDENING

If you're in doubt, plant a versatile begonia

Come sun, rain or shine, the adaptable fibrous-rooted begonia is sure to bloom. No other flower can claim this versatility. When in doubt, plant a begonia.

This warmth-loving species can be found in native habitats around the world. Unlike many flowering plants, the wax begonia does not have a true rest cycle, which means that blooms appear as long as heat is sufficient for the plant to produce its buds.

Plant breeders have been improving begonias for well over 100 years. Now, beautiful begonias are available in sizes suited for outdoor displays as well as compact containers. Blooms have continued to increase in size, even for tiny plants. Red, white, rose, salmon and bicolored blooms ranging to two inches in diameter are now available.

Leaves of fibrous-rooted begonias are just as interesting with choices of bronze/red or green to contrast the blooms. Gardeners who plan to grow begonias in sun will find greater resistance to weather from varieties with bronze leaf color. The red pigment protects the leaf much as suntan cream protects human skin.

Most prominent among begonia virtues is sun and shade tolerance. Here the green-leaved varieties such as Glamour and Vodka are both members of this class. Create mounds of border color with these compact introductions.

Shrub borders brighten with the addition of begonia plantings. A living carpet of the larger eight-inch Vodka varieties add summer interest in foundation plantings, or under ornamental trees in the home landscape. Plantings in these locations are viewed from a distance away and the eight-inch varieties are necessary for visibility. Begonia seed is among the world's tiniest. Over two million are needed to make up an ounce of this high-value commodity. Some special requirements are necessary to germinate begonias in home conditions. Keep soil temperatures at 70°F, and make sure humidity is kept high during the two to three week period of germination.

Begonias increase in popularity yearly, and most garden center suppliers have good transplants in a variety of sizes and colors. The transplants move easily from the purchase container to the garden when planted after soils have warmed. Transplant or place in containers out of doors at the same time as peppers and eggplants and watch the begonia speed up flower bud development.

Pink Avalanche, bred for hanging baskets, brings still another display to sun and shade locations. This recent introduction, bred for hanging baskets, quickly drapes its container with bright pink blossoms.

Make sure to purchase started begonias at the start of warm weather. These popular annuals are sellouts each year.

Busy honeybees sometimes bumble as they buzz about

DEAR ABBY: This is in response to "Delaware Beekeeper" and "Larry of Lakewood, Ohio." The honeybee will indeed land on soft-drink cans and bottles and get into them. I know several people who were stung in the mouth from a honeybee that got into their soft-drink can.

True, honeybees will sting only in defense of their hive or if they are threatened, but when a honeybee gets into someone's mouth and feels pressure, it will sting to protect itself. I am a beekeeper, and I know the difference between a yellow jacket, wasp and a honeybee.

At work, at lunchtime we have to keep our soft drinks covered because the bees swarm on top of any open can.

I would also like to add that the flight of the bumblebee is not only from flower to flower. If you go to a swimming pool or watering hole in the summertime, if there is a beehive in the area, you will see bees collecting water for their hive.

Also, the honeybee does not gather honey from flowers as Larry stated; bees gather pollen and nectar from flowers and then make the honey.

BIG AL, LOUISIANA BEEKEEPER

DEAR AL: Read on: DEAR ABBY: I was appalled to read in your column that great numbers of people wrote to say that bees get a bad rap because people mistake wasps and yellow jackets for bees.

Who cares? I wish you'd have focused on the real issue—that being stung in the inside of the mouth is a potentially fatal situation!

When I was stung on the tongue (at the age of 24), I was terrified of the very real possibility that my throat would swell closed, and I would die of asphyxiation!

Unusual bleeding may require special tests

Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: My husband, age 82, appears to have bleeding under the skin on both arms from the elbows to the hands. A dermatologist and his family doctor tell him to live with it, but he finds it embarrassing. Can you explain this condition?

that the old-fashioned sherry/egg combination is hazardous to your health. On the other hand, I think that you should try a more healthful snack, such as some cheese, a little salad and a piece of fresh fruit.

DEAR READER: Blotchy bruising of the skin is a common consequence of old age, when the blood vessels near the surface of the body become weakened and bleed easily. This age-related cosmetic effect, which is harmless, is called "senile purpura."

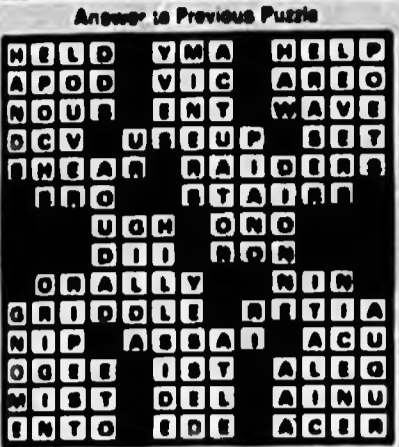

To give you more information, I am sending you a copy of my

However, bleeding into the skin can have many causes, some of which are serious. Vitamin deficiency and disorders of blood coagulation are two such causes. Therefore, before assuming that your husband has senile purpura, I'd want to make sure that there is no other, treatable ailment causing his bruising tendency. It's not clear from your question whether his doctors have carried out the necessary tests on your husband. At the very least, he needs a coagulation profile (tests of blood clotting), a platelet count (to assess the number of clot-forming blood cells) and a Rumpel-Leeds test (an old but simple maneuver to measure the fragility of the skin's capillary blood vessels).

DEAR DR. GOTT: A few years back, my doctor told me to drink one raw egg with two tablespoons of sherry wine at noon if I was unable to eat lunch. One day a friend told me it could cause sickness. I stopped, but I miss it. What is your advice?

DEAR READER: Alcohol used to be viewed as a tonic and eggs as a rich nutritional source. This is not entirely true. Alcohol is harmful to the body and egg yolks contain high levels of cholesterol, a fat most of us should avoid when possible. Of course, two tablespoons of sherry will not make you an alcoholic; this amount is harmless to an adult who does not have a drinking problem. I doubt

WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby

As I travel the tournament circuit, occasionally I hear the lament "If we can make three no-trump, we can also make six diamonds." Such a deal occurred in the Santa Rosa, California, regional last February, when my partner in the team was Los Angeles professional Mark Itabashi. As you can see, a spade lead against three no-trump would leave declarer needing either a favorable diamond split or the club king onside. Since six diamonds has the same chance of success, obviously that is a better final contract. So how did we get there?

responded with a Stayman bid of two clubs. When I denied a major, he realized the danger that the opponents might run spades, so he jumped to four diamonds to set the trump suit and to show a hand unsuited for no-trump. I bid five clubs as a cue-bid supporting diamonds, hoping partner would also play me for controls in the major suits. Mark trusted me to have what was needed and went all the way to six diamonds. The contract was not iron-clad, but would make whenever diamonds were 2-2 or, if diamonds were unkind enough to split 3-1, when the club finesse worked. And what if diamonds had split 4-0? Then you'd be reading about a different deal.

Mark, who was a passed hand,

HOROSCOPE

What The Day Will Bring...

By Bernice Bede Osol
YOUR BIRTHDAY
APRIL 9, 1988

In the year ahead you should enjoy greater material security than you have in the past. There are strong indications that you will derive income from more than one source.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) You may be a bit tense and overactive today. Be careful you don't lose your cool around the wrong people; your dignity and reputation could suffer. Know where to look for romance and you'll find it. The Astro-Graph Matchmaker set instantly reveals which signs are romantically perfect for you. Mail $2 to Matchmaker, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) It's best to have your own plans today. If you don't, you may find yourself under the domination of another person, participating in involvements that you'd rather not.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Try to avoid the company of a person today with whom you've had a misunderstanding that isn't resolved. You won't want to cross swords again.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) If you and your mate have a disagreement at home today, don't air it in public later. It will make your audience feel very uncomfortable.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) When attempting to do difficult tasks today, it's important to be methodical. If you're not, you could have a lot of aggravation with precious little accomplishment.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Usually you are an extremely conscientious person, but today you could get a bit careless regarding something you are asked to do by another; you might do a poor job.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) There is a possibility that you and your mate will take opposing views on even minor issues today. If you see this coming, for the sake of peace, start being more agreeable.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22)

Your powers of observation are very keen today, especially your critical faculties. Don't speak out of turn and wound someone's feelings.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) This is one of those days when money could burn a hole in your pocket. For the sake of your budget, it's best to stay away from stores that have expensive goodies.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Feelings might be a bit intense at home today. It's best to yield on minor points so you avoid locking horns with a family member or in-law.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Today, don't pretend you're knowledgeable about a subject about which you really know very little. Your facade will be pierced and you could end up being embarrassed.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Attend to matters personally today that affect your material security. It may be more convenient to delegate them to others, but they won't do as good a job.

What goes around ...comes around

Story and photos
By Susan Loden
Herald Staff Writer

Boomerangs are coming out of the closet and there are hopes it will be an Olympic sport in 1992. That's according to boomerang maker and thrower Ken Schneider, who demonstrated his craft and his sport recently in Sanford.

Although the concept of the boomerang as an ancient weapon is primarily linked to the Australian aborigines, such a device has been used in many civilizations.

However, Schneider said, contrary to popular belief, the original, primitive boomerangs did not return to the thrower. They were thrown straight with great accuracy to make a hunter's kill, he said. The boomerangs of the aborigines were made from solid piece of root, which had a natural curved shape.

The return aspect of the boomerang, which has become synonymous with the name of the instrument, he said, was developed in the 1930s by a Tennessee man. Schneider said that man modified a "throw stick," by cutting it in half, to create a boomerang that would return to the thrower, and which could be caught.

In 1932 when he was a 13-year-old boy in Michigan, Schneider said his neighbor, a native of Australia, introduced him to the toys of his homeland, including the boomerang.

The splitting of a boomerang, which is made of laminated wood, produces two boomerangs. One is for use by a righthanded thrower and the other for a lefthanded thrower. The lefthanded boomerang turns clockwise as it travels and the righthanded boomerang travels counter-clockwise, Schneider said.

Schneider said he became serious about boomerangs and developed into one of a hand full of makers of topnotch, hand-crafted boomerangs in the U.S. after he retired. He spends part of his time teaching youngsters the sport of boomerang throwing in a YMCA program. He also travels the country showing off his creations and demonstrating their use. Boomerangs cost less than $10 each, and there are various styles for different levels of skills and performance, Schneider said.

There are four fundamentals to the sport: Distance, catch, accuracy, and relay. Some boomerang events involve the relay of a boomerang to a series of team mates. Other events are based on any combination of distance, catch and accuracy.

"We old timers are starting out young kids, teaching them discipline and respect of the sport," Schneider said. This, he hopes, will help overcome the negative image in some movies, which show boomerangs with metal edges cutting fingers off when they are caught.

The ideal location to throw a boomerang, he said, is where there are "no people, no cars, no trees." The speed of a boomerang slows as it returns, so the thrower should be able to step out of its way or catch it, Schneider said.

Two forces are at work in the sport, he said — the breeze and the aerodynamic shape of the boomerang.

He offers these tips for mastering the boomerang:

- Throw on a calm day with a breeze of no more than 5 mph.

- Hold the boomerang with the flat side against the palm of the hand with the rounded side facing you.

- The elbow of the boomerang points over the shoulder. The tip of the boomerang should be held about 2 inches below the thumb and the thumb should lay across the boomerang at right angles to it. The index finger should overlap the boomerang. It is the index finger that "spins" the device when it is thrown.

- Face the wind. Never throw downwind. Turn about 45 degrees to your right so the wind is on your left cheek (if left handed do the opposite).

- Stand with left leg forward. Bring the boomerang over the shoulder in a near vertical position. Swiftly bring the boomerang forward as if throwing a knife or cracking a whip. Release boomerang just above shoulder level. Never throw a boomerang in a horizontal position, or it will drop like a stone.

- Catch the returned boomerang as it hovers and begins to fall to about waist height. Clasp it between two hands to make a boomerang "sandwich." Be careful. The spinning blade can hurt you.

Oscar

By Vernon Scott
UPI Hollywood Reporter

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — The Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences is a sober-sided organization of 4,400 whose annual awards presentations have been dramatized with oddities and eccentricities over the years.

Oscar is estimating that this year's presentations will be watched by 1 billion people around the globe — the largest single audience in television history.

The 60th annual ceremony — a comparably trivial occurrence in the long story of mankind — therefore becomes something of a historical event.

Certainly, 1 billion people don't rivet themselves to their TV sets to hear the latest development in the Iran-Iraq war, or Israel's battle with the PLO or the difficulties in Nicaragua or the presidential primaries.

It is perhaps ironic, but many people probably are less interested in the continuing story of Massachusetts Gov. Michael Dukakis than they are of his cousin, Olympia, who was nominated for best supporting actress in "Moonstruck."

Show business pizzazz is light stuff indeed, but it does provide a brief respite from global reality.

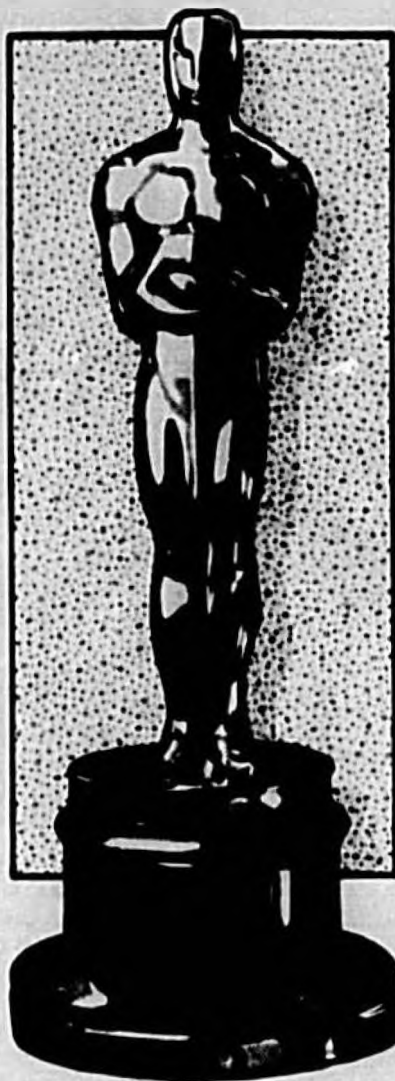

As box-office receipts soar, movie buffs are becoming more knowledgeable about films, directors, stars and Oscar himself.

This year the presentations will take place April 11 at Los Angeles' Shrine Auditorium, where the 1947 and 1948 awards were held. Oscar became big business in 1953 with the first televised awards — the year that "From Here to Eternity" won for best picture, William Holden won for best actor in "Stalag 17" and Audrey Hepburn won best actress for "Roman Holiday."

The Oscars began modestly enough at a small banquet in the Hollywood Roosevelt hotel for academy members only, with little or no publicity. Academy founders simply wanted to reward members of the industry with little thought to hyping them.

Douglas Fairbanks was the host at the first presentation banquet in 1929. He also passed out all the awards.

But as public interest grew, so did the awards ceremonies. The show moved to the Ambassador and Biltmore hotels, Grauman's Chinese theater, the Academy theater, the Pantages theater, the Santa Monica Civic Auditorium and the Los Angeles Music Center.

The major winners at the first banquet were "Wings" for best picture, Janet Gaynor for best actress in "Seventh Heaven," "Street Angel" and "Sunrise," Emil Jannings for best actor in "The Last Command" and "The Way of All Flesh;" and best director Frank Borzage for "Seventh Heaven."

The second year, the academy limited nominees to a single performance. Supporting actors were not rewarded until 1936 when Walter Brennan won for "Come and Get It" and Gale Sondergaard for "Anthony Adverse."

Brennan went on to win an additional two Oscars for best supporting actor, the first performer to score a hat trick.

He was surpassed as Oscar champion by Katharine Hepburn who won the best actress award four times — for "Morning Glory" (1932), "Guess Who's Coming to Dinner" (1968), "The Lion in Winter" (1969) and "On Golden Pond" (1981).

Hepburn also holds the record for nominations for actresses, with 12. Bette Davis has 10 nominations. So does Laurence Olivier.

oddities

John Ford won the most Oscars for directing, with four.

There have been only two ties for best actress and actor. In 1931 it was Fredric March for "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde," and Wallace Beery for "The Champ." It happened again in the best actress race in 1969 when Hepburn and Barbra Streisand ("Funny Girl") ended in a dead heat.

In recent years the academy has presented honorary Oscars to outstanding stars who never won awards, making amends for oversights that were somewhat embarrassing in terms of individual contributions to movie history.

Among such honorees were Charlie Chaplin, Cary Grant, Lillian Gish, Edward G. Robinson and Paul Newman, who finally won an Oscar last year for "The Color of Money."

The most nominated losers of all time were British actors Richard Burton and Peter O'Toole, each of whom failed to win an Oscar in seven tries.

The first black performer to win an Academy Award was Hattie McDaniel for her performance in "Gone with the Wind" in 1939.

"Ben Hur" holds the record for winning the most Oscars. In 1959 it collected 12 nominations and won 11 awards, including best picture and best actor, Charlton Heston.

The most nominated film of all time was "All about Eve" in 1950, with 14.

The least envied of nominated movies were Steven Spielberg's "The Color Purple" in 1985, which had 11 nominations but failed to win a single Oscar, and "The Turning Point" in 1977, which also had 11 nominations and won nothing.

The film winning the most awards, eight, but not for best picture was "Cabaret," which was beaten out by "The Godfather."

In the early Oscar days movies often won best picture awards while their directors were overlooked. But this apparent anomaly has taken place only three times in the past 30 years:

1967: "In the Heat of the Night," directed by Norman Jewison, won best picture but the Oscar for best direction went to Mike Nichols for "The Graduate."

1972: "The Godfather," directed by Francis Ford Coppola, won for best picture, but Bob Fosse took home the Oscar for best director for "Cabaret."

1981: "Chariots of Fire," directed by Hugh Hudson, was voted best picture, but Warren Beatty won the best director award for "Reds."

Three major movie stars never won Oscars for acting but did win best director awards — Beatty for "Reds," Robert Redford for "Ordinary People" and Richard Attenborough for "Gandhi."

No actor-director has won awards for the same film, although Laurence Olivier won an Oscar as best actor in "Hamlet" directing himself.

Only one woman director has ever been nominated, Lina Wertmuller for "Seven Beauties" in 1976. Last year, although not nominated herself, Randa Haines directed a nominated picture, "Children of a Lesser God."

Two stars have refused to accept their Oscars, George C. Scott and Marlon Brando. Several others accepted their awards but refused to appear on the show, among them Woody Allen and Katharine Hepburn. Paul Newman did not appear last year because he thought he was jinxed. Newman will show up as a presenter this time.

With his nomination this year for best actor in "Ironweed," Jack Nicholson trails only Olivier in number of nominations with nine. If he wins, he will join Brennan and Ingrid Bergman as a triple winner.

Tatum O'Neal was the youngest actress to win a competitive Oscar — for best supporting actress in "Paper Moon" in 1973. She was 10.

The oldest competitive winner was George Burns for "The Sunshine Boys" in 1975 when he was 80 years old.

Clara Gable and Claudette Colbert were the first stars to win best actor and actress awards appearing in the same movie, "It Happened one Night" in 1934.

Meryl Streep, nominated for best actress for "Ironweed," set a record with her seventh nomination in only 14 movies. No other performer has had a higher ratio of nominations except for Glenn Close, nominated for best actress for "Fatal Attraction," with four nominations in only seven screen appearances.

Predictions are in order for Hollywood's 60th annual big show. And here they are:

Best Picture: "Moonstruck"
Best Director: Bernardo Bertolucci for "The Last Emperor"
Best Actor: Michael Douglas for "Wall Street"
Best Actress: Cher for "Moonstruck"
Best supporting actor: Sean Connery for "The Untouchables"
Best supporting actress: Olympia Dukakis for "Moonstruck"

'The Diamonds' are forever

Guy MacMillin

KISSIMMEE — The Diamonds performed on the first episode of "Rock 'n' Roll Palace," the Nashville Network's new Saturday night oldies show being taped here.

If you're familiar with The Diamonds, you may not recognize these fellows. They've undergone some dramatic restructuring.

The big question about old rock groups these days isn't "Where are they now?" but "Who are they now?" Danny and the Juniors still perform, though Danny died several years ago. By one account, there are three sets of Shirelles, four sets of Coasters, four sets of Drifters...

So I asked Glenn Stetson, The Diamonds' present leader, to explain the evolution of his group:

The Diamonds started in Ontario in the early 1950s, consisting of David Somerville, Bill Reed, Ted Kowalski and Phil Leavitt.

Shortly after "Little Darlin'" was recorded in 1957, Leavitt was replaced by Mike Douglas (not the talk-show host).

Kowalski and Reed quit and were replaced by Evan Fisher and John Felton. "Somerville left in late 1960," Stetson says, "and a kid by the name of Jimmy Malone came in for a little while. David married and left the act in the middle of a tour."

"And I replaced Jimmy Malone in '63. Then Fisher left to join Malone and they started an act called Fisher and Malone. And Felton left..."

We're in the late '60s now.

"For a little while after that it gets murky. We got a couple of guys in. Then I left for about a year. Things were not going well."

In 1970, Stetson received a telegram from Douglas. The Diamonds were a mess; Douglas needed a lead singer that night in Harrisburg, Pa. Stetson answered the call.

When that tour ended, Stetson and Douglas reconstituted the group, using musical arranger Joe Derise and singers Jimmy Preston and Bobby Mira. But in 1971, Douglas "went off the deep end." In Stetson's words, leaving the group when a $25,000 check from a club owner bounced.

Stetson then registered the name "The Diamonds." He reports that Douglas is "into Jesus" now and doing well.

Onward: "In '75, Bobby left and Jimmy left, and I brought in my brother, Harvey. And Howard — what the hell's Howard's last name? — Howard Landau. Then Harvey went off to Texas, and Howard's brother, Lewis, joined the group."

Then Stetson got some really bad news: The nostalgia boom had prompted original Diamonds — Somerville, Kowalski and Reed — to get back together as "The Diamonds." Oh-oh.

Stetson hired lawyers to go after both other Diamonds groups. "I've spent, since 1975, well over $100,000 just to get these people out of my face," he says.

He's still trying. There are still three Diamonds groups out there singing "Little Darlin'."

Glitzy news show is on the way

ARLINGTON, Va. (UPI) — With the premiere six months away, the producer of USA TODAY's new syndicated program said Tuesday 118 television stations have signed up to broadcast the glitzy, people-oriented news and information show.

Negotiations also are under way with 10 or 11 more stations, said Steve Friedman, executive producer of "USA TODAY: The Television Show."

Friedman, the former executive producer of NBC's "Today" program, promised the television version of USA TODAY would be different from other newscasts.

"If we can't do it better or different, we're not going to do it," he said.

Friedman began planning the Monday-through-Friday, 30-minute show last spring after he was hired by Grant Tinker, the former NBC chairman who is producing the program in association with Gannett Co., the newspaper group that owns USA TODAY.

The program, which will be transmitted to stations by satellite, also will air a one-hour version on weekends.

The stations that have signed contracts to carry the program when it goes on the air Sept. 12 represent 85 percent of the nation's viewing audience, Friedman said. He added that 96 stations will broadcast the program during the hour that precedes prime time, known as prime time access, a highly lucrative advertising slot.

"We have more prime time access ... than any other program except 'Wheel of Fortune,'" Friedman said. "So right now we are in key time spots at very, very strong stations."

He made the remarks at a news conference at USA TODAY headquarters to launch a three-day publicity tour that will take Friedman and four program anchors to New York, Detroit, Chicago, Dallas and Los Angeles.

Magnus indicated that some "hard" news will be included in the show.

New role for Ricardo

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Ricardo Montalban has been added to the cast of "The Naked Gun," a far-out comedy starring Leslie Nielsen and Priscilla. The assignment is Montalban's first film since he portrayed Khan in "Star Trek II: The Wrath of Khan." His new role has Montalban playing a wealthy businessman who moonlights as a drug dealer and hit man. "The Naked Gun" is an outrageous farce produced by David and Jerry Zucker and Jim Abrahams, the same group who produced the comedy "Airplane!"

Sorry, but Judge wasn't in that court

Dear Dick: My sister and I are sure we went to Martin County High School in Stuart, Fla., with Judge Reinhold of "Beverly Hills Cop." Are we right? — Mrs. R.B., Port St. Lucie, Fla.

Dear Mrs. R.B.: Sorry, wrong high school. Reinhold, the actor, attended James Monroe High School in his native Fredericksburg, Va. There goes the judge.

Dear Dick: Will you please let me know what happened to Alice Faye and Hedy Lamarr? I never hear anything about them any more. — D.P., Rock Hill, S.C.

Dear D.P.: Both ladies are long retired from acting. Hedy, after a few tragic brushes with the law, has slipped out of sight quietly. Alice, still married to Phil Harris, is currently the spokeslady for the Pfizer pharmaceutical people, and goes around the country talking to senior citizens on Pfizer's behalf about the importance of taking care of yourself. She's 75 and looks Ingrid Bergman and Anthony Quinn. She was married to a professor and they had gone to the mountains so he could write a book. There she met a handy man, or a farmer, and they fell in love and had an affair. What was the name of that movie? — M.E.J., Salisbury, N.C.

terrific. Dear Dick: My wife and I have a problem. I say the young lady who starred in the movie, "Body of Evidence," is the same one who used to play Dr. Bauer's wife on "The Guiding Light." I've got my fingers crossed. — L.K., Vicksburg, Mich.

Dear L.K.: Didn't help. Margot Kidder was the girl in "Body of Evidence" and she was never on "The Guiding Light." There were several Mrs. Bauers on that show, but Margot was not among them.

Dear Dick: Several years ago, I saw a movie with

Dear M.E.J.: That was "A Walk in the Spring Rain," from '69. Quinn and Bergman also co-starred in "The Visit" six years earlier.

Dear Dick: Who was the actor called Cuddles? I believe he was an English actor. What were some of the movies he appeared in? — L.E.B., Louisville, Ohio.

Dear L.E.B.: That was the memorable S.Z. Sakall, who was Hungarian, not English. He was in many films in the '40s, including "Casablanca," "Wonder Man," "Tea For Two" and "The Student Prince."

Dear Dick: I am trying to remember a movie with Shelley Winters and Debbie Reynolds. They had a dance school and Shelley was a crazy woman. — B.K., Chicago, Ill.

Dear B.K.: That was "What's the Matter With Helen?" a '70 release.

Dear Dick: Please settle an office dispute. How old is Robby Benson? I say over 30, but a friend says no way. — L.J. and S.W., Amarillo, Tx

Dear L.J. and S.W.: Time flies. Amazing, but Robby turned 33 in January.

Dear Dick: A few weeks ago, after my mother and I watched the movie "Little Women," we argued about the cast. Now there's a major bet riding on your answer. The main disagreement is: were Judy Garland and Elizabeth Taylor in the movie? — T.L.B., Morgantown, W.Va.

Dear T.L.B.: There have been several versions of that film made, but none with Judy Garland. In '33, it starred Katharine Hepburn, Joan Bennett and Frances Dee; in '49, June Allyson, Margaret O'Brien and Elizabeth Taylor; in '78, Meredith Baxter Birney, Susan Dey and Ann Dusenberry.

Raquel shows off her best asset — her IQ

By Joan Hanauer
UPI Feature Writer

NEW YORK (UPI) — Raquel Welch has spent years proving that people shouldn't confuse her IQ with her other measurements.

The sex symbol who raised a lot of blood pressures in 1966 when she appeared in a fur bikini in the movie "One Million B.C." also raised a lot of eyebrows when she took over for Lauren Bacall in the Broadway musical "Woman of the Year" back in 1962 and won rave reviews.

She has continued to battle for roles that give her a chance to show off her talent. Last October she played a most unglamorous role — a terminally ill woman — in NBC's "Right to Die," which earned her a Golden Globe nomination.

Her latest role gives her a chance to have the best of both worlds. In "Scandal in a Small Town," to air on NBC Sunday, April 10, 9-11 p.m. Eastern time, she plays a small-town cocktail waitress who has something important to say, only no one will listen.

"I play Leda Beth, who is a mother and a boozie," Welch said in an interview. "One reason I liked this script is because I have dealt with a teenage daughter myself and I know the problems of raising a young woman who at that age is going to reject you and your ideas and will challenge your authority and seek out her own identity."

Welch, 47, and her daughter, Tahnee, 26, have weathered all that and Welch is the stereotyped proud Mama when she says Tahnee currently is in Miami making the sequel to the hit movie "Co-edition."

In "Scandal in a Small Town," Welch said, "The pivotal conflict takes place because Leda discovers her daughter is being taught anti-Semitism in school, although that's not her word for it because she's a woman who never even finished high school. But she has good instincts and her common sense tells her something doesn't sound right."

She tries to tell the school board about the anti-Semitic teacher, and instead finds herself a target of controversy because of her shady past.

"I had my children when I was very young (her son, Damon, is 28) and while I didn't pursue a career as a cocktail waitress, I can tell you it ain't easy," Welch said.

"One of the things that intrigued me about the Leda Beth part was that one of the reasons she was discounted was because she was a cocktail waitress in a rather sexy way. We all know that makes you a big target. If there's any sexual connotation about you, people like to use you as a dartboard. And they discount you on any other level.

"It's almost part of our Constitution — you can't have intellectual capacity and have sexiness. It's another form of prejudice — a way to discount another human being."

She summed up her attitude toward her sex symbol status when she once said, "My body is just there — like Mount Rushmore."

She said "Scandal in a Small Town" was a welcome antidote to "Right to Die."

"I couldn't have taken on another heavy thing right now," she said.

People are still approaching her to say they have someone sick in their family and to thank her for portraying the role of a woman determined to die with dignity.

"I had my own example pretty close to home," she said. "My mother-in-law died with such dignity and peace and lack of bitterness, it made me know that it was possible, to make the metamorphosis from one state of being to another without anger or fear. Aside from the sadness of losing her, it was a very beautiful experience to be part of."

Welch obviously has had her problems in getting people to take her seriously as an actress.

"I went to Los Angeles," the Chicago-born actress said. "I really wanted to go to New York and work in the theater, maybe off-Broadway. But I couldn't tackle the Big Apple in those days. I was still a teenager myself and I had two kids."

She was signed by 20th Century-Fox, made "One Million B.C.," and by the time she made "Fantastic Voyage" the same year she was on her way to stardom as a major sex symbol.

"I've been living it up — or down — ever since," she said.

Her current projects include taking time off to decorate her New York apartment, taking a vacation, then working on developing her own company.

She hopes to make a miniseries on the life of blues singer Libby Holman, and has plans for another theatrical movie project and more videos on health and fitness.

ONE LIFE TO LIVE

With the car engine running, Viki passed out in her closed, flame-filled garage after listening to her and Clint's favorite song on the car radio. Steve, who came back to Llanview to reconcile with Gabriele, popped his cork when he saw a drunken Gabrielle falling all over Max. Clint told Ginny that he's falling for her despite the fact that a part of him hopes that he'll someday be reunited with Viki. Jonathan agreed to resume his legal career and take on Mari Lynn's case. Beth and Wade found no evidence to prove Mari Lynn's statement that she accidentally shot Lee while trying to protect her from Donald. He and Viki have become closer since Clint's "death." Ginny turned beet red when Clint gave her kissing lessons. Hale comforted Sarah, who cried over the fact that Tina and Cord are a romantic item again. Wade learned that Griffin is planning to flee to Australia.

GUIDING LIGHT

Alan let Reva believe that he married her to protect her and Maria while Reva was in a coma. Will was livid when his plot to poison Josh was foiled. Chelsea turned at Phillip, who made pass, hate love with her and then demanded that she return the papers she stole from his office. Meredith and Fletcher argued over the pros and cons of printing a story on Johnny's miracle recovery from cancer. Will was not happy when his parents, Estaban and Anita, showed up on his doorstep. Estaban interpreted Will, who was taking Sadie (Sonnit) to have an abortion. Jenny and Ross realized that Nick's coded record book had been tampered with. Lillian is convinced that Hawk hasn't married her because he's still in love with Sarah. Dinah agreed to sleep with Alan-Michael. Frank was thrilled when Mindy phoned and asked him to come to South America to visit her. Harley visited with her baby, Susan.

THE YOUNG AND THE RESTLESS

Cricket quizzed a former school chum, Gary Roberts, who said that he had dated Nina all last summer. After Ashley worked out the bugs in Mari's suntan formula, Jack bought the formula from Mari. Mari told JoAnna that he'll always need her, but he didn't tell her about the money he'll be receiving from Jack. Gina was able to get Danny to drop some of the hostility he feels toward their father, Rex. Carol confessed to Skip that she had hoped their relationship would blossom into something more than friendship. Leanna fumed when she wasn't able to steal the keys to Victor's locked life cabinet. Tim accused Traci of letting her marital problems with Brad interfere with her budding career as a writer. Phillip moved in with Jill when Nina and her baby moved into Kay's mansion. Jessica realizes that John may want more than friendship from her.
