Japs Make New Advances In Central China

Invading Armies Follow Trail Of Genghis Khan As Penetration Continues

'Red Napoleon' Leads Onslaught

Jap Garrisons Wiped Out In Attacks By Guerilla Units

SHANGHAI, Feb. 14.—(AP)—Japan's warriors, following the trail blazed by the Mongol hordes of Genghis Khan 700 years ago, fought one of the world's greatest battles today in the conquest of Central China.

The same battlefields in Honan province where the Great Khan's horsemen struck terror into the heart of Asia reprobated with the din of modern conflict as the Japanese invaders drove desperately fighting Chinese troops southward toward Nanchang.

Japanese already have captured the lower stretches of the Yellow River, and have reached the middle reaches of the great waterway, the division of North and South China.

Meanwhile China's fiercest fighting men, veteran campaigners of the Eighth Route Army under the famed "Red Napoleon," Chu Teh, today appeared to have staged another surprise onslaught in Western Honan, swarming down from the Tsinan Mountains and slaughtering Japanese garrisons along the Nanchang-Kiangsi Railroad.

Reports from the north by Chinese and foreign sources indicated the Eighth Route Army had captured several towns along the railroad, ripped up tracks 20 miles below Nanchang and wiped out several Japanese garrisons.

The sudden raids were carried out by guerrilla units, according to the reports, in the "living tactics" of the old red army campaigner, was designed as a counter-attack to hurry the Japanese from the north in their drive to smash the Chinese "magnetic line" of defense along the Lanchow railroad.

The guerrilla units reportedly attacked the Peiping railroad between Chenkinst and Peifongfu capturing the important town of Hsinlo, about midway between the two cities.

Refugees, pouring into Peiping, said the Eighth Route Army was well-armed, and had virtually surrounded Peifongfu, they said the Chinese appeared easily able to capture the city if they desired, but apparently the campaign was to cause diversion while other units tore up the railroad tracks 20 miles below Peifongfu.

Radio Installation For Police Is Begun

It is expected that the broadcast system at the local station will be in operation within a week. Workmen today made initial preparations for the erection of the 125 foot mast on which the antenna will be mounted.

The Supreme Court's opinion said the "regulatory measures taken by South Carolina are within its legislative power. They do not infringe on the fourteenth amendment and the resulting burden on interstate commerce is not forbidden."

Rep. Fish Asks Naval Parity For Japanese

American Officers To See Inauguration Of British Naval Base In Singapore

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.—(AP)—Rep. Fish, New York republican, suggested to the House Naval Committee today that another disarmament conference should be parly with the United States, parly with the United States.

Naval experts, he said, have stated that Japan could not attack this country successfully even with a navy as large as the American fleet. "Why can't we give Japan equality," he asked, "unless we intend to do what I think we are trying to do, and that is police and quarantine the world?"

Under the new defunct London naval treaty the naval strength of Great Britain, the United States and Japan was fixed on a five-five-three basis.

SINGAPORE, Feb. 14.—(AP)—With American officers as "unofficial" observers, Great Britain will inaugurate the most powerful naval base in the world today, strengthening her naval strategy in the western Orient.

Three American warships, the cruisers Trenton, Memphis and Milwaukee under the command of Rear Admiral Julius C. Townsend, will be the only "foreign guests," a fact authoritative circles considered significant.

Intense precautions have been taken to prevent espionage at the inaugural ceremony for the $150,000,000 Gibraltar of the East which took 15 years to build. Handpicked guests will be under the watchful eyes of special police. The salute there and will be allowed to enter only restricted areas.

A massed array of Britain's fighting strength in the Orient was present.

The naval base controls the empire's vital link between the East and West. Its great piers, with ranges up to 50 miles, command the narrow straits linking the Pacific and Indian Oceans.

Taking part in the ceremonies were 21 warships of the East Indies and China Squadrons, Indian and British troops of the Singapore garrison with units of Royal artillery, and seven Royal Air Force with their transport planes.

Rescuers Balked In Attempt To Reach Scientists

Soviet Government Asks Foreign Help In Relief Efforts

TRONSOE, Norway, Feb. 14.—(AP)—High winds sweeping from the north balked plans of the Soviet icebreaker Taimyr to send planes to the rescue of four scientists of the "North Pole Camp" now drifting on an ice flow off the coast of Greenland.

Radio stations of all observation posts along the eastern coast of Greenland began special watches after the Soviet government asked for foreign participation in rescue efforts.

Only 20 miles of ice-filled sea separated the campers and the Taimyr. The rescue party and campers signalled each other by searchlights and flares.

On a neighboring floe in the hunched ice field the campers hastily were clearing a landing field for the airplanes carried by Taimyr.

Lack of a spot for the planes to take off, however, caused the rescue crew to plan to blast a way almost to the floe and then bring the campers by foot across the remaining yards of treacherous ice.

The Taimyr radioed Moscow this was plunging through the thick ice at about five miles an hour, within easy sight of the mountains, coast of Greenland in the clear moonlight.

The Taimyr made the "first viable contact with the explorers Saturday morning from 40 miles. As she fought her way toward the floe her searchlights flashed signals to the campers who replied with torches, magnesium flares and rockets.

Radio Operator Ernst Koenig of the Polar exploration party notified the ship her radio messages today would be measured with amide signal, from the floe to save radio batteries. Lack of wind to turn the whirling driven dynamo had prevented recharging them.

No near was the rescue ship that the campers could see the smoke from her funnel, rising in the light north westerly breeze. The temperature was 15 degrees below zero (Fahrenheit).

Iran Tapanahni, leader of the party of four, said that if planes could be sent the campers could prepare the landing field within four hours. They had discovered a nearby patch of smooth ice on their narrow floe, broken off from the main pack by the piling up of the ice in a gale drifted along the Greenland coast.

Death Comes Suddenly To 54 Year Old Newspaperman Who Was In Ill Health

One Of Nation's First Columnists

Fame Gained As Author Of "New York Day By Day" Column

NEW YORK, Feb. 14.—(AP)—Oscar Odd McIntyre, newspaper columnist to whom millions of Americans looked for impressions of New York City, died today.

One of the most famous newspapermen of the nation, he came to New York from a small Ohio town and always boasted that he never lost the naive curiosity of the "home town boy."

For a quarter of a century his daily column "New York Day By Day" gained increasing popularity and in recent years it was published in more than 500 newspapers.

McIntyre would have been 54 years old next Friday. It also would have been his thirtieth wedding anniversary. His wife was his constant companion and helper. The cause of his death was not revealed but he had been in ill health recently.

Through his friendships and through his classes and types of people, he knew intimately most of the world's celebrities in the past quarter of the century. He was the first man to write a syndicated New York column.

He began his newspaper work in his home town of Gallipolis, Ohio, in 1902. He worked in East Liverpool, Dayton and Cincinnati, Ohio, then went to New York in 1912. He and his wife had no children. He was born in Plattburgh, Mo., but moved to Gallipolis when a small boy.

THE PRIMROSE PATH

Do not, as some ungracious pastors do, show me the stepping-stone thorny way to heaven. Whate'er is left of it, break it down, and let me tread the primrose path of dalliance treads, and recks not his own rede.—William Shakespeare.

Some of the dentists have solved the "used car problem" by using the advertising columns of the newspapers.

An exchange suggests the hope that President Roosevelt may get the idea from his wife's new bob and cut down the overhead.

California has been getting a lot of good publicity in the Florida newspapers recently. It seems they have been having a hurricane out there.

Walter Lippman declares the President's policies are frozen. That may be why so many people these days appear to have the jitters.

There will be no advertising of colery this year to promote additional sales though 25 percent of it is being taken off the market this week.

We are not particularly concerned one way or another about the government's plan to abolish holding companies, but we wish it would do something for us companies that are holding the big.

"When I was a young man in high school," a reader of this paper said in this office yesterday, "I thought by the time I was fifty I would be working on my second million. My chief concern now is to hold to a few hundred that I have succeeded in making."—Tusculum Star-Advocate. Be of good cheer. Remember that the first million is the hardest.

"Jimmy" Banks, of Orlando, candidate for Congress in 1936, was a Press Office caller last week. He is one of the finest political losers we have ever known. While not every one can win, at least it is a good thing that Jimmy had ambitions, for it enabled thousands to know and love him who otherwise might not have had that privilege.—Clemson Press. Lots of times it takes a better man to be a good loser than a good winner.

Australian economist, Dr. Lea C. Jancey, visiting at Miami Beach, declares more government spending in this country is necessary to revive prosperity. "Your taxes," he insists, "are the lowest of any nation I have ever visited. Wouldn't it seem logical to suggest that the 'tax burden' be increased? Well, no it wouldn't seem logical to us. As a matter of fact, if city, county and state taxes are considered along with federal taxes, they are just about the highest in the world.

We had dinner recently at one of the hotels at Sanford, the Celery City, and for our amazement the menu had almost everything. But nearly Sanford ships more celery than any one point in the world and it seems to us that it would be a wonderful advertisement if celery hearts were served free with each meal. Almost everyone would appreciate it and it would further impress upon the visitor that Sanford was the celery city of the world. And also the same should apply to all hotels and restaurants in the citrus belt, where they should serve orange or grapefruit juice free with each meal. It would be much to get the visitor interested.—Lafayette County

Phi Beta Kappa

Congratulations to Dr. John J. Tigert and to the University of Florida for having the good sense, and the scholastic reputation, to install a chapter of Phi Beta Kappa, great national honorary scholastic society, at the University. This, more than football victories would be, is proof that the University has arrived.

Phi Beta Kappa, the oldest of all Greek letter fraternities was founded at William and Mary College in 1776. Other chapters were soon established at Yale in 1780, at Harvard in 1781, and at Dartmouth in 1787. For over fifty years it was the only college fraternity devoted exclusively to philosophy and literature. Today there are more than a hundred chapters, with nearly 100,000 members situated throughout the United States.

But it is not in size or growth that Phi Beta Kappa is distinct. It is in the intellectual quality of its membership. Rules vary in different chapters, but in general only the top ranking members of a class, as respects scholastic attainments, are admitted. Usually it is the first ten or fifteen percent. Usually too it is further restricted to those who plan further studies in the arts and sciences, or who have already achieved special marks of distinction in philosophy or letters.

But it is a mistake to believe that all Phi Beta Kappa men are book worms, frail of body and lacking in humor or social graces. Class room marks can get such a person into Phi Beta Kappa if they are good enough, but a fine record in athletics or other extra-curriculum activities is an asset. As a matter of fact it is not unusual to find that the captain of the football team, or the "most popular man in college" is also a Phi Beta Kappa.

One would hardly say that Theodore Roosevelt, the first, was a sissy, or a bookworm. But he was a Phi Beta Kappa. So is the present President, Franklin D. Roosevelt. Senator Claude Pepper and former Senator Scott Loflin are Phi Beta Kappas, as were also former Presidents Adams, Pierce, Van Buren, Arthur, Cleveland, Taft, Wilson, and Coolidge.

And so it is greatly to Florida's credit that the University has installed such a chapter and we are confident that it will be of great benefit to the student body in years to come.

Divorce Records

The first five years of married life in the United States seem to be the hardest, because in that period 35.7 percent of all divorces are secured, according to records of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company. After the first five years, however, a bulletin from that organization says, the proportion of divorces for each succeeding five-year period shows a decline, until divorces occurring after 20 years or more of married life represent only 10.1 percent of the total. Taking all durations together, out of every 1,000 marriages, 164 end in divorce.

"Of fifteen leading nations whose divorce records were studied by the statisticians," says the bulletin, "Bulgaria alone had a higher percentage of divorces than the United States in the first five years of marriage. The high Bulgarian figure of 65.8 percent is offset, however, by the fact that the total number of divorces in that country is relatively insignificant—being only 27 per 1,000 marriages.

"In the ratio of total divorces to marriages, regardless of duration of marriage, the American record of 164 per 1,000 exceeds that of any other country covered by the study. Austria came next to the United States with a proportion of 107 divorces to 1,000 marriages, while Switzerland followed with 99 per 1,000. The proportions in Germany and France were respectively 77 per 1,000 and 74 per 1,000. England and Wales considered together were the lowest on the list with a record of only 12 divorces for every 1,000 marriages.

"For the proportion of divorces in marriages of long duration, New Zealand leads the list. Almost one-fifth of the divorces in that Dominion occur after 20 or more years of marriage, with nearly the same proportion prevailing in Sweden and Norway, as compared with about one-tenth in the United States and only one percent in Spain.

"In the general divorce situation in this country, some consolation is found in the fact that the marriage rate of 104 per 1,000 population is the highest of any of the countries studied, and that marriages disrupted after short duration 'will often be childless ones, or at least will not involve the breaking up of a family with several children."

Illustration of a man (Athas Robertson) and a fish. Text: LUDO MONALDESO BEGAN WRITING HIS MEMOIRS WHEN HE WAS 115 YEARS OLD... BLACKFISH ARE CAUGHT ON DRY LAND... Cape Cod, Mass. ATHAS ROBERTSON... Famous Scotch golfer, PLAYED FOR 26 YEARS AND WAS NEVER DEFEATED (1833-59) DICK DAIVISCOURT - Wrestler WAS KNOCKED OUT AFTER THE MATCH WAS OVER Philadelphia

UNDEFEATED GOLFER... with feather golf balls. Robertson did not approve the then new fangled steel ball. He was a producer of inner balls, and in one year he sold out 2,456. FISH ROUNDUPS... Round-ups of black fish are not entirely unlike cattle round-ups. The fish are herded up on the beach where they are killed. They have been caught in this manner particularly on Cape Cod. The fish, ranging from 8 to 22 feet in length, are attracted to the shore by squid on which they feed.

fish. Fishermen then surround them by boats, and drive them inland until they are stranded on the beach. One of the greatest catches of black-fish in this manner was made in 1884 when 1,500 were driven up on land and killed. Catches of blackfish in this manner are becoming very rare. Off the Pacific Coast another strange method of fishing is practiced. Fleets of "sardine boats" go out after their catches, not in the daytime, but at night! Strange as it seems, the fishermen are better able to locate the fish in the dark.

The reason is simple: Schools of sardines traveling near the surface of the ocean agitate the water and render visible at night the strange phosphorescent organisms usually present in the water. These glow like a sea of flame, and the sardine schools can be seen from miles away. In the daytime only a slight ruffling of the water indicates the presence of the fish, and wind conditions make this an impractical guide.

TABBY KNOCKOUT... It was not an opponent's punch, but a pop bottle hurled by a spectator that caused Dick Daviscourt's undoing at a semi-windup bout held in Philadelphia. The bout had ended, and the wrestlers, Daviscourt and Earl McCready, were awaiting the decision when Daviscourt was floored by the pop bottle knock-out. The match was called a draw.

Comedy Based On Russian Royalists Centers In Paris

After a run of several years in New York, London, Paris and various other world capitals as a stage play, "Tovarich," a comedy dealing with a Grand Duchess and a Prince who were exiled from their native Russia by the revolution, now comes to the screen. It will have its first local showing Tuesday at the Ritz Theatre.

Warner Bros. made the picture and endowed it with a splendid cast and many magnificent settings. Claudette Colbert plays the Grand Duchess and Charles Boyer the Prince. Other notable performers in the cast include Basil Rathbone, Anita Louise, Melville Cooper, Isabel Jeans (imported from England for the picture), Morris Carnovsky, Montague Love, Reine Bianco and Heather Thatcher.

Anatole Litvak, former Russian born director—remembered for his sensational picture of a few years ago, "The Mine Tonight"—guided the making of "Tovarich."

Although the main characters are Russian, all the action of the picture takes place in Paris to which they are exiled. The picture has been brought with them, in trust, 40 billion francs in gold. They become servants in the home of a rich Frenchman in order to live, and the story reviews around the efforts of various elements to get hold of the fortune, which the Grand Duchess and the Prince will not touch themselves.

There are no revolutionary scenes and no warfare in "Tovarich." It is continuous high comedy. The screen adaptation was made by Casey Robinson from the original French play by Jacques Deval and the English version of the stage success by Robert Sherwood.

Church Aims Are Explained To Rotarians

and that it has failed to meet the social problems of the day.

In answering the question, "Has the church failed?" Dr. Williams said "yes," if you expect it to solve all the problems of the earth, but he asked, what is the purpose of the church? "The purpose of the church," he said, "is to put God at the center of men's lives."

Jesus Christ, he said, came into the world preaching the gospel of God, not to try to solve the problems of mankind. He sought only to enter men's lives in God. Christ did not try to do many great things, and great things are measured today, Dr. Williams declared, but he did live a perfect life, because God was the center of his life.

"Into thy hands I commend my spirit," Dr. Williams reminded his audience that Christ said as he was nailed to the cross.

Pointing out that the conditions of the world today is of center and looks as if it were going to pieces, Dr. Williams said it can never be right until God again is at the center. In every country, he said, men are struggling to set the world right again, but they are failing in the most important thing of all, to put God into the hearts of men.

That he said, is the purpose of the church and it is the most important problem of all. The church will become a mighty power again for the salvation of the world, when the inspiring leaders of the world come back into his folds and do their part to help put God at the center of man's life. For only then, he declared, can there be any hope for civilization, peace, justice, and the principles of Christianity.

Guests at today's luncheon included Tom Murray of Boston, Mass., Tom Eckerson of Jersey City, N. J., L. W. Fremma of Cantonville, Md., John J. Roe of Patchoque, N. Y., Neil Van Lewen of Holland, Michs. V. G. Watters of Sebring, and H. M. Voorhis, C. J. Fonyb, C. A. W. Humby and J. C. Chase of Orlando, and Ben Cantwell of Sanford.

Parish Angelicus, and Haydn's "Mass" Left the congregation in a most receptive mood for the even more unusual and difficult numbers such as "O Solus Hostia" by Nacius and "Veni Creator Spiritus" by Schmid.

Two solos, "Londonderry Air" sung by Emery Turner, and Schubert's "Ave Maria" by Benjamin Tingle gave every one the proof, if he needed it, of the purity of a boy's voice.

In contrast to all the other numbers the one which undoubtedly will be best remembered because of its most unusual rhythm and manner, was the more modern "Shepherd's story" by Dickinson. The unusual swing, and the unexpected coloratura effects found everyone mystified and pleasantly surprised.

Then came three ballads, "Die Nacht" by Schubert, Mozart's "Lullaby." The choir sang as the concluding number in the chapel after the recessional, the hymn "Now the Day is Over."

The singing was all a cappella. This concert was certainly one of the high spots in Sanford's musical life and ought to be an annual event.

They are to sing this week in Apopka on Wednesday night, in Mt. Dora on Thursday, and a week from Thursday in the Chapel at Rollins College. Any one who missed their last night will be well repaid by a short drive to any one of these towns to hear them.

month from the rest of their lives," Mr. Weaver said. "The amount of such payments will depend upon the amount of all earnings shown on their Government wage records."

"Monthly old-age insurance payments will not be made before 1942. But lump-sum payments of old-age insurance to those who are entitled to such benefits are now being made by the Government. There are two types of lump-sum payments that can be made at any time after January 1, 1937. One is the death benefit which the Federal Government is paying to relatives of workers who have died since January 1, 1937, and whose wage earnings since the last day of 1936 entitle them to benefits. The other type of lump-sum benefit now payable is for workers who are entitled to some benefits and who have reached the age of 65 since the first of January, 1937."

Job Insurance.

Unemployment compensation provisions according to Mr. Weaver, were included in the Social Security Act to make it possible for any State to tide its workers over jobless days. Under this plan, workers will receive unemployment compensation for part of the time they are without jobs. State unemployment laws are administered by State authorities in cooperation with the Social Security State and local welfare departments," he said, "our work deals with insurance; provision for those who earn their own living."

"Immediately upon losing his job, an employee should register with the local Employment Service, so that another job may be found for him," Mr. Weaver said. "If, after a certain waiting period—usually two or three weeks—he is still unemployed, the worker will begin receiving benefits from the unemployment fund, if he is entitled to such payments."

Public Assistance.

Public assistance is provided under the Social Security Act for the needy aged, the needy blind and for needy children who have lost the support of their natural bread winner, according to Mr. Weaver. The welfare department dispenses this aid in the form of monthly payments. Mr. Weaver stressed the fact that the office of the Federal Old-Age Insurance Bureau has nothing to do with distributing public money to the needy. "That is the business of the State and local welfare departments," he said, "our work deals with insurance; provision for those who earn their own living."

Grayson, Head Of Red Cross, Passes Away

Retired Naval Officer Had Been In Ill Health Since Heading Organization Served Wilson As Personal Physician

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—(AP)—Rear Admiral Cary T. Grayson, 69, renowned head of the American Red Cross and former physician-confidant of three presidents, died today.

The retired naval officer had been in poor health almost since the time President Roosevelt made him head of the Red Cross in 1935. The President visited him at his home yesterday.

The Virginia born admiral first won national prominence as the physician and friend of President Woodrow Wilson. President Theodore Roosevelt started Grayson on his career by appointing him to the White House medical staff in 1907. President Taft kept him on the job.

Grayson announced Wilson's death to the world. President Roosevelt's first and second inaugurations were arranged by Grayson. His widow and three sons survive the admiral. Retiring from the navy after Wilson's death, Grayson became a figure in the inner councils of the democratic party. With this background and a friendship that had existed since the Wilson administration when Franklin D. Roosevelt was assistant secretary of the navy, the ex-medical officer was made chairman of the 1932 inaugural committee and was one of the advisors and helpers of the recovery President.

Grayson attained to a considerable reputation in his profession and was president of the Florida Institute. He moved in (Continued on Page Three)

MORE TRUTH THAN POETRY—

One step won't take you very far, You've got to keep on walking. One word won't tell folks who you are, You've got to keep on talking. One inch won't make you very tall, You've got to keep on growing. One little AD won't do it all, You've got to keep them going.

Sanford Receives Praise In Article About St. Johns

Writer For Magazine On Motorboating Sees Celery Fields

Vividly describing a trip down the St. Johns River as it winds its way northward through barren glades and semi-tropical jungles, Don Waters, writer for Motorboating magazine, writes of a motorboat trip on the St. Johns river in his story "Down the St. Johns" appearing in the current issue of the magazine.

In another story appearing in the same issue and written by Gilbert Hayward the St. Johns river is described as an artery of water traffic since the earliest colonial days.

Many yacht owners anchoring at the mouth of the St. Johns have departed without realizing, the story writer declares, "that they have turned back at the very threshold of one of the most interesting cruises in the United States."

From Jacksonville up the river to Sanford, a distance of more than 100 miles, the St. Johns is magnificently picturesque, offering a constantly changing panorama of tropical loveliness.

In his story, Mr. Waters mentions Sanford and vicinity as "one of the parts of Florida devoted to the growing of celery and also mentioned Archie Smith of the Sanford Boat Works who gave the nomads lodging for one night."

Mr. Waters describes the cultivation of celery, the preparation of the soil and describes "a field of this vegetable is a very pretty sight."

Rescue Seen Today For 4 On Ice Floe

Airplanes To Be Sent For Scientists Soon As Landing Spot Can Be Cleared On Ice

MOSCOW, Feb. 15.—(AP)—Rescue came into actual sight today for the four Soviet scientists stranded on an ice floe off the coast of Greenland. The Russian icebreaker Murman reported that the campers, led by Ivan Papanin, had realized they could see the ship "in the distance."

The Murman, 12 miles off across the jagged pack ice, was closest of four rescue ships at attempting to take the explorers off their ice cake refuge. It was the first time the four men had seen humans or ship in eight months.

Rescue ships plan to send airplanes for the men as soon as a landing spot can be cleared on the ice.

Flares aboard the ice breaker Taimyr were fired by an Arctic storm last night to abandon an aerial attempt to rescue four Russian scientists on a drifting ice floe off Greenland.

Two planes which had been assembled for the flight were dismantled and placed back on the Taimyr when a strong southwest wind blew up in the afternoon, shifting the ice on which the makeshift flying field was situated.

The rescuers, previously brought to a standstill by the heavy ice, radioed they would attempt to push forward nearer the four scientists, who were about 20 miles away.

Visual signaling was again resorted to during the afternoon when the polar campers lighted a flare at the request of the Taimyr which reported the signal had been seen clearly.

Ivan Papanin, commander of the scientists, who have been drifting southward since they established a camp near the north pole last May 21, reported a slight drift to the southeast since the last report.

Local Veterinarian Warns Rabies Epidemic Persists

"Reports that the recent rabies scare in Sanford has ended are erroneous," declared Dr. Peter R. Roy, local veterinarian, yesterday afternoon. He also asserted that a new outbreak of the dreaded disease is apparently beginning. "Periodic outbreaks have occurred every 21 days and can be expected," Dr. Roy declared, "as long as the dog owners in the City let their dogs run loose so that they are bitten by infected animals."

Following a recommendation of City physician, Dr. J. M. Taylor, the City Commissioners at their meeting in the City Hall last night declared that as soon as dog muzzles can be stocked in local stores, all dogs when off private premises will be required to wear muzzles. The City physician, it was indicated, felt that this action will hinder further spread of the infection among animals in the City. The Commissioners receive authority for their action from Sections 230 and 231 of the revised Ordinance of the City which are as follows: "The Mayor may order whenever, in his judgement public safety requires such action, that for a reasonable given time all dogs shall be securely muzzled when outside private premises of the owner or keepers."

"Any dog found at large during the period provided in the foregoing section without being securely muzzled may be killed by a policeman or other person authorized by the Mayor."

Dr. Roy stated that the period of incubation for the disease was approximately 21 days and that epidemics almost last November there had been no outbreaks. He reported five positive cases during the past week.

Since the beginning of the infection in Sanford and Seminole County, a large number of persons have been bitten by rabid animals and have taken the Pasteur treatment, local physicians report.

Farm Measure Is Given Roosevelt For Signature Secretary Of Agriculture May Limit Quantity Of Crops

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—(AP)—A crop control bill, praised as "the best farm bill ever enacted" and denounced as "regimentation" and "more barnyard" for the farmer, received final congressional approval yesterday.

The measure, establishing a system under which the Secretary of Agriculture, in co-operation with farmer committees, may prescribe limitations upon the quantity of wheat, corn, rice and tobacco grown or marketed, now goes to the White House for the expected signature of President Roosevelt.

"While the bill establishes varying approaches for each of the crops affected, in general it directs the Secretary of Agriculture to make an estimate of the expected supply, set this figure against expected demand and adjust production accordingly."

This would be done by paying benefits to farmers who planted no more than a specified acreage. In addition, in years of bumper crops, the Secretary of Agriculture would be empowered to fix marketing quotas, limiting the quantities that could be sold and thereby protecting the price. Such quotas would be dependent on a two-thirds vote of farmers taking part in special referenda.

Because of the big crops of the last year, the Administration began negotiating for farm legislation last Spring, to replace the old acreage adjustment act invalidated by the Supreme Court in 1936. The first order of business upon recent terms, and President Roosevelt called a special session last Fall to deal with this, among other problems.

"The unalloyed comments from many of the 25,300 persons who visited the Seminole County display at the Central Florida Exposition in Orlando yesterday makes us very proud that ours is considered one of the most attractive exhibits on the entire fair grounds," stated T. E. Simpson, President of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce, in discussing this year's exhibit at the annual affair.

Occupying a choice space with a spread of 60 ft. in one of the new buildings, Seminole County exhibit is one of the first displays that greet visitors as they begin their tour of the grounds.

Thirty-five varieties of citrus fruit are displayed in the Fruit display which is one of the finest ever entered by Seminole County

Quick Action Is Demanded On Job Relief

House Committee Approves Quarter Bill For Relief As Jobless Increase

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—(AP)—The House Appropriations Committee asked the house today to approve immediately a $250,000,000 emergency relief appropriation for the next four months. It suggested quick action because of the "dramatic change" which has taken place in business employment since the beginning of the depression and indications that it would not improve immediately.

The appropriation if approved would be used to keep at least 2,000,000 persons on the relief rolls during the next few months. Without it, Works Progress Administration officials said, about 500,000 persons would have to be denied help and 200,000 now on the rolls would be laid off. The entire $250,000,000 would be earmarked for the WPA. Thirty millions will be taken from the reserve fund and turned over to the Farm Security Administration which is providing direct relief for 15,000 families and making relief loans to 351,000 families.

The committee said another 25,000 families are in dire need of relief and another 65,000 need loans.

Questioned about the probable relief appropriation for the year starting July 1, Aubrey Williams, acting WPA administrator, said, "We would attempt to meet next year's situation on a billion dollar appropriation, provided we could have the understanding that we would be free, without having any strings tied to it, to return it to the Treasury."

Rep. Burton, Republican of New York, suggested, "If there is no appropriation you will need at least $2,000,000,000 in the fiscal year of 1939."

"We will have to meet it as it comes," said Williams. When Secretary Morgenthau appeared for interrogation, Rep. Wigglesworth, Republican of Mass., asked him, "Do you say any end in sight for this problem? It is something that will be with us forever or do you see any hope of ending it?"

Morgenthau said the only solution "is for private industry and initiative to take up the load."

Williams estimated more than 1,000,000 persons but their jobs last month that relief cases increased 13 percent.

Austrian-German Settlement Still Holds Obstacles

BERLIN, Feb. 15.—(AP)—The path to a complete understanding between Germany and Austria and the Anglo-German settlement that depends on it still is strewn with potential stumbling blocks.

While the conference Saturday between Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler and Chancellor Kurt Schuschnigg served to clear the stormy atmosphere between them, it marked only the beginning and by no means the end of negotiations.

In fact, Schuschnigg took away with him several questions, the nature of which were not disclosed, which he promised to answer after meeting the Austrian cabinet. In Vienna Schuschnigg was said to have brought three proposals to put before President Wilhelm Miklas for his selection. A hitch in the settlement was reported to have developed as the chancellor discussed his interview with Hitler in hours long conferences with the president and cabinet.

Miklas was said to be withholding his approval because he objected to Hitler's suggestion a Nazi sympathizer be made minister of the interior with full control of police.

The discussion by the two chancellors of means to end the friction caused by Nazi ambitions in Austria, which centered on ways of strengthening and widening the provisions of the accord of July 11, 1936.
