Contamination Shift A Possibility

DER Clears Sanford Site In Tainted Water Probe

By Sarah Fischer
Herald Staff Writer

A Sanford site suspected of petroleum groundwater contamination has been cleared of those charges by the Florida Department of Environmental Regulation, however the possibility that previous contamination has shifted to neighboring areas means the case has not yet been officially closed, a DER spokesman said.

And, residents in the area fear their private water wells may have been contaminated by petroleum products.

Meanwhile, DER says two other sites in Seminole County will be ordered to clean up diesel fuel contamination found on the properties as a result of leaks in underground gas storage tanks.

In its groundwater investigation of Floral

Heights Grocery, 3300 S. Sanford Ave., the state agency reported that although the site may have been contaminated as recently as three years ago, DER could find no recent evidence of groundwater contamination at the location.

In 1983, the Seminole County fire marshal's office investigated the site and alerted DER to the possibility of a leak at that site. Floral Heights is a gas station and convenience store, and DER reported that three grades of petroleum were stored on-site, regular and unleaded gasoline and kerosene, however the kerosene tank had not been used since 1980-81.

Based on the findings of local fire officials, "it is apparent that groundwater contamination at the site existed in 1983," DER Environmental Specialist Mike Wilson said. "However, DER's

Auction Horse Wins For SCC Bidders

It was a dream-come-true for a 13 partners who watched as the horse they "owned" took the lead in the final stretch, and won the feature event at Tampa Bay Downs yesterday afternoon.

The group had bid $3,500 for the chance to win $5,000 in the race at last week's Seminole Community College "Dream Auction '86" scholarship foundation fundraiser.

"The excitement was so great. Everyone was jumping up and down and clapping," said college Board of Trustees chairman Dora Lee Russell, one of the owners for a day. "When he came across the wire first, we were just hysterical!"

Eight horses competed in the event, and the horse "Lordship", actually owned by Certified Slings CEO Ron Worswick, remained in the middle of the pack during much of the event, according to college dean Russ Moncrief, a member of the consortium. Worswick had earlier explained to the 13 dream owners that it was their race plan to hold the horse back until the sprint to the finish. Worswick donated the horse's winnings to the college fundraiser.

Sanford Mayor Betty Smith, another owner for a day, said she planned to donate her portion of the winnings back to the college foundation.

In addition to Smith, Moncrief, and Russell, "owners" included Bill Dieke, Donalene White, Shirley Schilke, Bruce Moncrief, Jim Oliver, George Jochem, Wendell Agee, Ken Sandon and Ron and Doug Worswick.

The purse won by the horse was actually less than $5,000, but Worswick had guaranteed the $5,000 total if the horse posted the win, and made up the balance. The actual winnings were reportedly $3,700, with a $1,000 bonus for Lordship because he is a Florida bred horse.

$3,500 of the winnings go to the scholarship foundation, and the winners will receive a reported $93.75 each.

"It was a beautiful day," Moncrief said. "Mr. Worswick was a perfect host. We had lunch, were shown around the track, and had a private box to watch the race."

Final tabulations are being made on the amount of scholarship money raised by the dream auction, but it is hoped the funds will match last year's total of $100,000.

Teacher Surprised By Top Honor

By Paul Schaefer
Herald Staff Writer

"By teaching students to work hard, develop their skills, and to learn and share their knowledge, we have learned from you. We want to let you know you are a strong example. We're proud to recognize you as the district's Teacher of the Year."

With those words, Seminole County Superintendent of Schools Robert Hughes announced in Richard J. Johnson's Lyman High School carpentry class that the teacher had been selected for the district's top honor.

Hughes was accompanied to the classroom by about 20 district and school representatives, and the press. Students cheered wildly at Hughes' announcement.

"This is a total surprise and shock," the 49-year-old, 24-year teaching veteran responded, his wife Rachelle at his side. "I'm certainly glad all of you could be here when the students are here to share this. I am proud to be selected as a representative of all the good teachers in the county. Indeed, this is an honor."

District spokesman Karen Coleman said, "Students have made some great statements about Mr. Johnson, which reflects quality throughout our school system. I shall never forget our visit here (when the Teacher of the Year committee conducted interviews of nominees). Students told us Mr. Johnson was their favorite teacher. One told us he already had a job, thanks to Mr. Johnson."

"This is a model of what we do best," Mrs. Coleman said. "We simply couldn't do better than Mr. Johnson," she said of his selection.

Eddie S. Tossie, the district's Vocational Director said, "We are very proud. I know of no other teacher more deserving."

Acting chairman of the school board Joseph Williams, Jr., a former Lyman teacher said, "It is inspiring to see a colleague win this award," in extending

'Ripe For Development'

City To Launch Land Use Plan

By Karen Talley
Herald Staff Writer

"Sanford is ripe for development; the city hasn't seen anything yet," says City Planner Jay Marder. "The question," he said, "is how to deal with this growth in a manner that provides quality services to residents and maintains the city's character."

Sanford commissioners and planning and zoning board members are expected to consider such factors as they formally launch the city's state-mandated land planning program. City officials are to meet with city engineering and planning staff Monday to review the requirements of the state's 1985 land development act.

"Any" successful development strategist "will know all that's available before developing new information," Marder said. "That's the only way to guarantee that what you end up with will cover all bases."

"First we identify Sanford's strengths and deficiencies," he said, "and then we go forward with our concepts and visions for the future."

The legislation calls for all Florida municipalities to amend their comprehensive land use plans by Dec. 1, 1989, and Marder will present the Sanford representatives with the two volume "planning program handbook" and the "plan preparation schedule" he developed to facilitate the effort's implementation.

Although Marder culled his data from the state legislation, he has apparently incorporated philosophical guidelines into the study as well. Having joined the city six weeks ago, Marder said he is already "struck by Sanford's unique character," which "should not be compromised while we're working toward meeting the state's requirements."

Under the state act, cities must undertake comprehensive analysis of their land uses and municipal services in order to successfully address present and anticipated needs.

According to Marder, in addition to the city's "high calibre" of staff and advisory board planners, there is "a certain tone" that will assist Sanford's compliance with the state mandates. He said rather than resign itself to the inevitability of new growth, Sanford seems to have consistently striven to align itself against the wanton results of an unkempt influx.

"By maintaining this attitude, we'll be able to preserve Sanford's unique characteristics and successfully comply with the state's requirements," he said.

He added, however, "Our rapid expansion leads to complications. We're challenged with the proper handling of new growth and the preservation of what's already here."

Marder will work with the city's planning and engineering department, as well as its Planning and Zoning board, to implement what he termed "goals and actions to address progress."

He said his presentation to the city commission on Monday "is only the beginning" of this effort and he supported the claim by pointing to the stacks of Sanford documentation that fill his city hall office.

Marder said he intends to continue his "cover to cover" study of the state's land development act while also "thoroughly reviewing" Sanford's own land use and public service requirements.

The research, he said, will enable the city to determine which of its requirements has to be modified and which

It's Fire Awareness Day

You don't have to be Smokey the Bear to be know that forest fires which have plagued Florida in recent years have taken their toll in lives and property.

In fact, 1985 was the most destructive fire season on record, according to the state division of forestry.

Three firefighters died, more than 200 structures were destroyed and an estimated 445,000 acres were burned statewide by almost 8,600 wildfires last year.

With that in mind, the national weather service, state and county preparedness agencies have designated today as fire weather awareness day in Florida.

Using facts and figures, officials hope to make the public more aware of fire danger. Seminole County Disaster

Haiti's New Rulers To Seek Duvalier's Extradition

PORT-AU-PRINCE, Haiti (UPI)

— Haiti's new rulers have announced they will request the extradition of former President Jean-Claude Duvalier from France and have closed the country's borders to those suspected of crimes under the former government.

The extradition announcement was apparently an effort to halt a new wave of looting and unrest that rocked the capital. Violence continued today with sporadic gunfire heard in the crowded residential neighborhood of St.

Gerard.

"Ex-President Jean-Claude Duvalier will soon be the object of an extradition request, which will be made by the ministers of justice and social affairs in the name of the Haitian state," Justice Minister Gerard Gourgue said in a broadcast on state television and radio stations Thursday.

The government also closed the borders for Haitians thought to have committed crimes in Duvalier's name, and said suspects would be brought to justice.

"All Haitian citizens designated by public outcry as authors or accomplices of crimes under Jean-Claude Duvalier will be forbidden to leave the country," the official statement said.

The extradition announcement came after three days of unrest in the Caribbean nation, including looting that was prompted in part by discontent over ties between the new government and the former Duvalier regime.

Crowds looted several areas of the capital Thursday, picking over the rubble left from Wednesday's pillage. Crowds also tried to attack at least two homes of former ministers, but were turned away by police.

Residents of the mountain suburb of Petionville said they heard sporadic gunfire through the day, and truckloads of soldiers and police patrolled the capital of 1 million people.

The government also said it would move to extradite Albert Pierre, chief of the feared Ton-tons Macoutes secret police, whose flight Sunday provoked anger against officials of the new administration who allowed him to escape.

Gourgue did not say whether Haiti would put Duvalier on trial. The former Haitian leader fled to France on Feb. 7 on a U.S.-supplied aircraft following two months of anti-government protests.

Duvalier has been unable to find a country of asylum and is in the southeastern French mountain resort of Tailloires.

Philippines Victory Reagan's New Leverage For Contras

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Reagan administration is using a new weapon to persuade a skeptical Congress to go along with giving military aid to Nicaraguan rebels: Its foreign policy victory in the Philippines.

"We stood for democracy in the Philippines; we have to stand for democracy in Nicaragua and throughout Central America and in our own hemisphere," President Reagan told bipartisan lawmakers Thursday at a White House lobbying session for his $100 million aid package.

Secretary of State George Shultz later used the same argument during an emotional congressional hearing where he turned up the rhetoric against the leftist Nicaraguan regime and angrily pounded the witness table when he detected a "flip comment" from a Republican senator.

Shultz told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee that Nicaragua is "a cancer right here on our land mass and it's trying to spread itself through various means."

Committee Democrats commended Shultz for the administration's handling of the crisis in the Philippines, where Ferdinand Marcos resigned as president after losing support from Washington.

Shultz compared the Nicaraguan situation with the Philippines crisis before Marcos was ousted and replaced by Corason Aquino. But he said the Nicaraguan case, with the opposition stifled and the media systematically censored, is "far, far worse."

Shultz recalled that Marcos rejected advice from his generals during his last days in power to order loyalist troops to fire on hundreds of thousands of Aquino supporters that surrounded rebelling military leaders.

"He wouldn't do it, although many urged him to," Shultz said. "Does anyone have any doubt what the order would be from the people running Nicaragua?"

Committee members from both parties were skeptical about Reagan's request Tuesday for $100 million in aid for the Contra rebels — $70 million for military aid and $30 million in other assistance — to be spread over 18 months.

Last year, Congress approved $27 million in humanitarian assistance for the Contras, an allotment that ends March 31. Committee Democrats said that program has been a failure and urged Shultz to give the Contadora negotiations for a regional peace settlement a chance.

NATION IN BRIEF

Shuttle Commission Concludes NASA Decision-Making Flawed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The shuttle commission, completing one aspect of its investigation into the Challenger disaster, concluded NASA's launch clearance process was marred by misunderstanding and communications breakdowns.

"The process as it worked in this case was clearly flawed," said William Rogers, chairman of the presidential panel given four months to determine what went wrong.

The one-time attorney general and secretary of state under two presidents said recommendations to delay the fateful launch of Challenger Jan. 28 because of unusually cold weather either were not forwarded to top project officials or were misunderstood.

The 13-member commission Thursday completed three days of hearing testimony from nearly two dozen officials from NASA, Rockwell International, maker of the Challenger, and Morton Thiokol Inc., builder of the ship's booster rockets.

Although the cause of the fatal sequence of events remains unresolved, a growing body of evidence is pointing to possible failure of two synthetic rubber O-rings to seal a joint between two rocket segments on the right-hand booster.

Ohio Couple Sues Gerber

By United Press International

More complaints of glass-laced Gerber baby foods surfaced in Kentucky and Oklahoma, and an Ohio couple filed suit saying the company should have recalled its products when the complaints began earlier this month.

Clayton and Patricia Riley of Ironton, Ohio, filed an $800,000 suit contending that their 9-month-old daughter Sarah was injured by eating glass from a Gerber jar.

The Rileys said their daughter suffered a cut on the back of her throat and that an X-ray taken at Lawrence County General Hospital showed glass in the baby's stomach.

The Rileys' lawsuit said the company knew of consumer complaints about glass in Gerber jars but failed to recall food from stores or notify the public of the risk.

Consumers in at least 18 states have reported finding glass particles in Gerber baby foods, but FDA officials said extensive testing has found no health hazard in the food. FDA officials said the glass shards probably are the result of mishandling in the shipment or storage of the jars.

Aquino Orders Release Of All Political Prisoners

Philippine Exiles Return Home

MANILA, Philippines (UPI) — President Corazon Aquino today ordered the immediate release of all political prisoners, including the founding chairman of the communist party, despite warnings by her defense minister that Marxist leaders should remain under detention.

In a gesture to government opponents who fled the country during the Marcos years, Saguisag said arrest warrants would be dropped against prominent exiles.

Among the first to come home from exile in the United States was former foreign secretary Raul Manglapus, who told a cheering crowd at Manila International Airport today the successful three-day civilian-supported military rebellion had earned Filipinos worldwide respect.

"We have shown the world that democracy was not invented by the Americans or the English," said Manglapus, who was charged with arson, attempted murder and subversion after Marcos declared martial law in 1972. "I am a Filipino and I am proud to be back with you again."

In her official order to Defense Minister Juan Ponce Enrile, Aquino said "You are hereby directed to release from detention or any form of restraint of freedom of action all persons or political prisoners who are presently under custody or restraint."

"The order has been issued in the hope that everyone will be out within the next few days," said Aquino's press spokesman Rene Saguisag.

The formal order came a day after 36 political prisoners were freed in an initial batch of releases. It applies to as many as 600 people arrested during the regime of deposed President Ferdinand Marcos who fled the country Thursday in the wake of a military rebellion. The exact number is not known.

About 5,000 jubilant Filipinos celebrated in the Manila financial district of Makati, spilling out of office buildings to sing and dance in the streets in a show of confetti from banks lining Ayala Boulevard.

"Rebellion to tyrants is obedience to God," they chanted.

Marcos To Break Public Silence

By United Press International

Amid a flurry of questions about his financial holdings in the United States and his future in exile, Ferdinand Marcos today prepared to break the public silence he had kept since fleeing the Philippines and arriving in Hawaii.

Marcos, nestled with his family in a cottage on the Hickam Air Force Base in Honolulu, called a news conference for today at 3 p.m. (8 p.m. EST) at the base.

House Speaker Thomas O'Neill, D-Mass., is sending Rep. Stephen Solarz, D-N.Y., to Manila Monday with a letter inviting new Philippine President Corazon Aquino to address a joint session of Congress. The Mutual Radio Network reported Thursday.

Solarz, chairman of the House Foreign Affairs subcommittee on Asian and Pacific affairs, held hearings in December on allegations that Marcos and his wife made large investments in lucrative New York real estate, possibly diverting money from U.S. foreign aid.

Solarz said there is evidence Marcos and his wife control commercial and residential properties in New York valued at $379 million.

In California, State Sen. Paul Carpenter introduced a resolution asking the state Board of Equalization and the Franchise Tax Board to identify financial assets held by Marcos, so the Aquino government can recover them.

his congratulations on behalf of the board.

"I'm happy that Superintendent Hughes and the committee now know what we at Lyman have known all along," school principal Carlton Henley said in expressing his pride.

Johnson's students expressed happiness for their teacher.

"Mr. Johnson is an excellent teacher, and he deserves this very much," said 11th grader David Childers.

Senior Robert Faulkner said, "It's marvelous that he got this award. Everybody here learns a lot more than what we would from any job. This is good experience."

Wade Jacobson, an 11th grader, said, "I'm shocked like everyone else, and I'm happy for Mr. Johnson. I've only had him as a teacher this year, and he's already my favorite."

Each of the district's 41 schools selected their own Teacher of the Year, and all were reviewed by the selection committee in determining the district-wide honoree.

Mr. Johnson will be among 67 teachers being evaluated for the state-wide title. The winner will be announced later this spring.

"We can't do it overnight, but then again, we're not going to try to," Marder said. "A lot of study will go into developing a comprehensive land use plan that the city and the state can live with."

Marder said he plans to address "the challenge" by "researching our options and then focusing in on what the city wants as its priorities."

The position of Sanford planner was created by the city commission last year and carries a $27,729 annual salary.

followup investigation on July 16, 1985 indicates that hydrocarbon contamination is no longer present beneath and in the immediate vicinity of the site."

"It is possible in the two-year lapse between investigations that the contamination has migrated off-site," Wilson said. "Confirmation of the contamination is not possible unless an extensive sampling program be initiated preferably west of the site to locate the plume."

DER Environmental Specialist Suzanne Larson said there is a possibility that the contamination has moved off-site, therefore the agency has not officially closed the case and will begin testing groundwater in the area directly around Floral Heights.

Larson also said she received a complaint earlier this month from a resident who suspects that water wells in the area may have been contaminated by some type of petroleum product.

James Griffin, 3305 Palmway Dr., said he and his wife, Margaret, have stopped drinking and cooking with water from their deep well and have requested that their underground water supply be tested by either DER or the county health department.

Griffin, who said his home is less than 100 yards from the Floral Heights, indicated that he and his wife have only lived there since July and that they were not aware of previous investigations of groundwater at the grocery until they were told by a neighbor.

That same neighbor produced a water can the contents of which Griffin said appeared to have an "iridescent sheen which seemed to be oil."

Although he said he is not convinced his water is contaminated, Griffin said he has taken steps

"just to be on the safe side," including purchasing a distiller and only using the water from his well for watering the lawn, bathing and washing clothes.

He speculated that what he described as the "unpleasant" smell and taste of the water may be due to the fact that it is sulfur water from a deep underground well.

Ms. Larson also said a high sulfur content could cause a bad smell to be present in the Griffin's water supply.

Griffin said he contacted the county health department to test his water, however he said he was told that agency did not perform such testing.

He said he and his wife are awaiting testing of their water for contamination within the next week. However if he does not receive a visit, Griffin said he plans to hire an independent laboratory to do the work.

"We're not sure if it (the water) is contaminated or not. Until further tests are made, we don't know. They said if it is contaminated that it may be a plume that tends to move, so it may come back or it may not," he said.

"If it is contaminated we want the source to be found and the situation to be rectified," Griffin added.

Sanford Attorney Tom Whigham, attorney for S.B. Cogburn, owner of the Floral Heights property, said his client considers the case to be a closed one.

"We're ready to end it, and it seems absurd to me that they will go somewhere else and then say it's our fault," Whigham said. "To go further is to go on a witch hunt."

Two other sites in Seminole County, also under investigation by DER, have been found to be contaminated by diesel fuel, Ms. Larson said. Those sites include the Gulf service station, 5355 Red Bug Lake Rd., Winter Springs, and the Seaboard Railroad in Sanford.

FLORIDA IN BRIEF

Haitians Protest Paddling Of Student Who Spoke Creole

BELLE GLADE (UPI) — Angered by a report that a fifth-grade girl had her arm broken while being paddled for speaking Creole in class, a group of Haitians said Thursday they plan to march on the girl's elementary school Friday.

Jackson Francois, a Florida Rural Legal Services paralegal, said the Haitian community in Belle Glade, a farming city on Lake Okechobee, is upset by the incident. He said up to several hundred people may show up for the march protesting the Feb. 19 spanking of Marcia Jean, an 11-year-old Glade View Elementary school student.

Belle Glade police are investigating the incident, and expect the matter to go to the state attorney's office for review.

Palm Beach County School Superintendent Tom Mills would not give details on the case, but did say late Thursday school officials try to encourage students to speak English, but "there shouldn't be any punishment if they break" away from the English-only policy.

Francois said the girl, whose parents are farm workers, was in a bilingual class. She did not know how to complain in English that she had a stomach ache, so she spoke in Creole, the native language in Haiti. Her teacher, Gus Butler, sent her to the principal's office for using the language.

The Miami Herald reported that principal Samuel Cameron, who administered the paddling, told the girl to raise her hands. She realized she was going to be paddled and tried to protect her buttocks with her hands, she said. The first blow hit her arm. Cameron then hit her on the buttocks with a wooden stick.

X-rays later revealed her arm was broken.

Husband Must Pay Herpes Bills

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — A man whose wife divorced him for giving her herpes must pay any medical expenses she incurs because of the incurable malady, an appeal court has ruled.

The three-judge panel of the 1st District Court of Appeal took note of previous rulings limiting the degree of medical support husbands owe their wives after a divorce.

But in a unanimous ruling Thursday, the panel said court records indicated the divorce was in part a result of the transmission of the disease from husband to wife.

"We do not disagree that a requirement that the former husband pay all future medical expense of his former wife without limitation is too broad to countenance," wrote Associate Judge Guyte P. McCord Jr., for the court.

"Here, however, the grant is narrow in scope," McCord wrote. "It is limited to the reasonable expenses of the one single ailment which the husband transmitted to the wife."

Man Charged With Battery And BB Gun Brandishing

A 29-year-old Longwood man who allegedly beat his wife about the head and upper body and then chased her to a neighbor's home, while brandishing a BB gun, has been charged with battery-spouse abuse and with aggravated assault.

The assault charge came after the man allegedly showed his neighbor the BB gun and allegedly made threats when the neighbor told the man the battery victim, Teresa J. Hernandez, 27, of 105 Colyer Drive, Longwood, did not want to see him, a Seminole County sheriff's report said.

The suspect reportedly told the neighbor to "get his wife or call the police, because there was going to be trouble," the report said.

Sheriff's deputies called to the scene reported finding a BB gun outside the front door of the suspect's home.

Samuel David Hernandez, of the above address, was arrested at his home at about midnight Wednesday. He has been released on bond.

TWO TOPOT

Two Altamonte Springs men, who were allegedly smoking a cigarette and a pipe containing marijuana, have been charged with possession of less than 20 grams of marijuana. Altamonte Springs police watched while the suspects sat in a pickup truck at Boulevard Plaza, State Road 436, according to the police report.

Benny Brett Paulk, 27, of 605 Northlake Blvd., and John David Rapp, 20, of 614-116 Red Oak Circle, were arrested at 10:47 p.m. Wednesday and were being held in lieu of $500 bond each.

STOLEN SLEEP SPACE

A 23-year-old man, sleeping in a 1979 Datsun 280ZX parked at the eastbound rest area of Interstate 4, Longwood, at about 5:30 a.m. Thursday, was charged with grand theft auto after a Seminole County sheriff's computer check showed the car had been reported stolen in Texas.

Jonathan Michael McKee, 23, no address listed, was arrested by a sheriff's deputy and was being held in lieu of $3,500 bond.

ARMED ROBBERY

A man who asked for change and when the register was open demanded the cash from Cumberland Farms, 2550 State Road 434, Longwood, at about 11 a.m. Wednesday, got away with about $45.

A clerk said the man brandished a gun and took the cash, then had her put it in a paper bag before he fled on foot, a Seminole County sheriff's report said.

An assistant manager at Publix, Butler Plaza, State Road 436, Casselberry, reported to sheriff's deputies 20 wood pallets worth about $10 each were stolen from behind that store Wednesday.

Cassette tape, a brief case and an equalizer with a total value of about $200 were stolen from the home of John E. Watson, 28, of 102 Sweet Briar Branch, Longwood, on Sunday or Monday, deputies reported.

Kimberly Kuerth, 11, of Altamonte Springs, reported to Seminole County sheriff's deputies her $380 clarinet was stolen from a friend's locker at Milwee Middle School, State Road 427, Longwood, between Feb 5 and 7.

The theft was reported Monday. DISPLAY WINDOW SHATTERED

A brick was thrown through a plate glass display window at Manuel Jacobson's Clothing Store on 1st Street early Thursday morning, according to a Sanford Police report. The shop's owner, Charles Tettenbaum of Longwood, told police he would inventory the shop to ascertain whether mischief or robbery motivated the incident.

RARE COIN ROBBERY

Thieves netted $9,000 in rare coins from a break in at the 101 Quail Ridge home of Charles Abraia, 56, on Wednesday, between 5:25 a.m. and 2:30 p.m., a Sanford police report said.

The perpetrators entered through a rear bedroom window and exited through the garage, the report said.

STOVE FIRE

A stove fire caused smoke damage to the kitchen of a 15th Street home on Wednesday, a Sanford fire report said. The fire, caused by grease spilled on a heated burner, was out when firemen arrived, the report said.

DUMPSTER FIRE

Sanford firemen extinguished a dumpster fire at 14th and Locust Streets Thursday morning at 4:25 a.m., a Sanford fire report said. The cause of the blaze is undetermined, the report said.

Some Defense Spending Lessons

Here's a quick quiz on defense spending and the federal budget. Mark each statement true or false.

— The new Reagan budget continues the administration's practice of slashing domestic programs while refusing to make any cuts in planned military spending (T-F).

— Defense spending is higher today as a proportion of the federal budget and as a percentage of gross national product than ever before in peacetime history. (T-F).

— This year's defense budget is higher than the amount proposed for fiscal 1986 by former President Jimmy Carter in his last five-year defense plan sent to Congress in January 1981. (T-F).

You probably marked each of these statements true. Such is the popular mythology these days about defense spending. Each, in fact, is false. These and other relevant facts focus on a side of spending that isn't getting the attention it should on Capitol Hill or in much of the news media.

Start with the question of whether the Reagan administration has cut its own planned defense budgets. Using the current fiscal year, 1986, as an example, here is what the record shows:

President Reagan's first five-year defense plan proposed a FY '86 defense budget of $367.2 billion. But by the time the FY '86 budget was submitted to Congress last February, the administration had reduced its originally projected request to $313.7 billion. That was a defense cut of $53.5 billion for a single year, which is not bad for an administration endlessly accused of being intransigent about the Pentagon's budget.

Of course, Congress subsequently slashed that $313.7 billion to $289.4 billion, a further cut of $24.3 billion. Then the initial round of budget cuts mandated by the Gramm-Rudman law sliced off another $11 billion, leaving $278.4 billion. In all, then, the Reagan administration's original projection for a 1986 defense budget of $367.2 billion was cut by a whopping $88.8 billion. And nearly two-thirds of this amount was cut by the administration itself.

Some may argue that measuring current defense budgets against a Reagan projection set forth in 1981 is a loaded comparison, skewed by shifting conditions over a five-year period. Fair enough. So, consider a set of more recent projections and the subsequent, voluntary cuts made by the Reagan administration. Since 1984, the administration has cut $278.6 billion from its projected defense budgets for FY '86 through FY '89.

Now for statements two and three. Current defense spending accounts for 26.4 percent of the federal budget and 6.2 percent of gross national product. In the peacetime year of 1955, defense spending consumed 51.5 percent of the federal budget and 9.1 percent of GNP. In the pre-Vietnam year of 1963, the Pentagon's budget still represented 43.1 percent of federal spending and 8.3 percent of GNP.

Thus, the current defense burden is proportionately smaller, not larger, than that produced by peacetime budgets during the 1950s and 1960s.

The FY '87 defense budget Mr. Reagan just submitted to Congress requests a 3 percent increase over FY '85. This reflects the administration's agreement with Congress last year to accept zero growth for 1986 in exchange for 3 percent increases in 1987 and 1988; an agreement many in Congress have forgotten already.

Is this 3 percent really such an exorbitant increase, given a still-growing Soviet threat and the several hundred billions already chopped from defense spending in the name of deficit reduction? Those who think so probably flunked our little quiz too.

The Real Contras: 'It's A Real Army'

Penn Kemble is the founder and board member of an organization in Washington called Prodemca, which stands for Pro-Democracy in Central America. I am a member, and I've been associated in political causes with Kemble for years. He is a close friend.

I mention this not only to identify my own possible biases, but to establish credentials to say something about Kemble: You may or may not agree with him, but what you see is what you get. He tells you what he thinks, he tells it accurately and he tells it bluntly, sometimes to a fault.

Kemble has just returned from a visit with the Nicaraguan contras, or "freedom fighters" if you prefer. I asked him what he knows now that he didn't know before; after all, he was in favor of aid to the contras before he took his trip.

"It's a youth movement," he said. "And it's a real army. We saw thousands of contra troops. They're kids — the youngest are 16 or 17, the oldest about 24. Even most of the field commanders are only in their late 20s."

"This means," says Kemble, "that the idea that the contras are really Somocistas is wrong, certainly at the operational level. Somoza was overthrown in 1979 — seven years ago. These troops were children then. Even the officers were barely out of their teens — they certainly weren't involved in any political way."

Kemble says contra morale is high, but conditions are tenuous. He visited a contra camp just inside the Nicaraguan border where 2,000 soldiers are training.

"I've spent time in most countries in Latin America," he says. "I've always been saddened by the look of blank desolation in the eyes of so many of the poor young people. But these kids sparkle. They're excited."

Kemble says the trainees sleep on wooden pallets. They eat rice and beans. There are no blankets. The infirmary has doctors and Tylenol but no antibiotics.

"It's an outrage," he says. "Seven months after Congress voted humanitarian aid, it's only beginning to trickle through. Those kids are suffering."

Why are they there? "Some for ideological reasons, some for personal reasons, usually both," says Kemble. "They're against the Sandinista hijack of the democratic revolution, and their families have usually been hurt by it."

Kemble spent several days with Enrique Bermudez, the military commander of the contras. Kemble says Bermudez is at ease with his young officers, mingles easily with the troops and is concerned about their conditions. Most important, he tells them the truth. Kemble heard Bermudez address the troops this way: "We've had trouble, we're low on supplies, we've had to pull back some combat units from inside Nicaragua, but we think help is coming. We'll always be square with you."

Bermudez was in the Nicaraguan military when Somoza was in power, as were some other senior contra commanders. In Bermudez's case, he partially broke with Somoza and was shipped off to Washington.

TV's Impact On Political Upheaval

By Ira R. Allen

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Never before in the relatively short history of television news has a revolution been waged almost entirely before the cameras.

And if there is a lesson in the hour-by-hour coverage of the Philippine election, the military mutiny and the White House maneuvering to persuade Ferdinand Marcos to resign, it is that perhaps when events are open to the world, violence can be held to a minimum.

In the past, fraud and oppression, calumny and violence were played out in private, with television getting only a glimpse of the action.

In recent weeks, the relatively bloodless upheaval was not only covered live from the Philippines but, even more significantly, from network television studios in Washington and New York, where Marcos, Corazon Aquino, Chairman Richard Lugar of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee and just about everybody but the Chattanooga shoe shine boy was interviewed. They were not only giving opinions, but sending messages, and, in some cases, announcing policy.

It is no wonder, then, that the only real violence in the revolution came during battles for Philippine television stations.

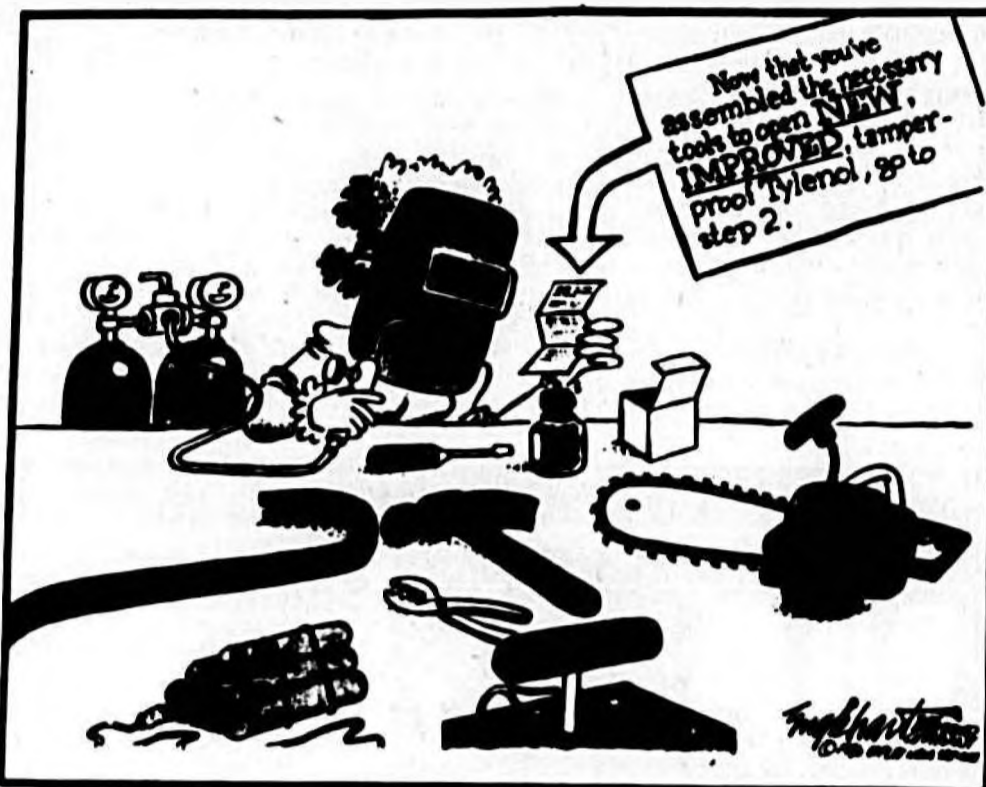

Domestically, the White House image-makers chose which announcements and which news briefings should be televised. The ones that would send Marcos a message were available for coverage, the ones on other important subjects were not.

Deputy press secretary Larry Speakes, who is often locked behind his office door and unavailable to reporters, called wire services and networks from his home at 5:30 a.m. last Monday and then showed up at work in time to be interviewed live on all three network morning news shows to say that Marcos should step down.

Television's performance in the Philippine crisis also humbled President Reagan in a way.

Reagan has had a long affinity for right-wing dictators and has always said he prefers "quiet diplomacy" in moving autocrats toward reform. But with pictures of the vote fraud and reporting from the scene, American popular opinion mobilized so quickly that members of Congress marched into the Oval Office and told the president that Marcos had to go.

Then the "Great Communicator" miscommunicated during his Feb. 11 news conference, stunning observers of the election by declaring that fraud and violence may have occurred on both sides.

Question Of Ethics

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Congress' professional staff has enormous influence on the shaping and passage of legislation — and the more technical the legislation is, the more the staff shapes it.

Tax bills are a prime example, and, in fact, staffers often are the only people who understand such a bill.

So, should a congressional staffer receive an honorarium from an interest group that has business before the committee that the staffer works for or even heads? Whether he should or not, many do and it's perfectly legal under congressional ethics rules.

For example, take the fictional Committee to Attract Widgets or CAW, comprised of companies that import widgets made in the Far East. Its major problem is the high widget tariff, which it wants lowered or eliminated.

When Congress adjourns for its Christmas recess, which lasts until late January, CAW sponsors a week-long seminar at a Sunbelt resort. CAW brings in a group of House and Senate staffers, pays all their expenses and invites their spouses and friends. During the week — between lavish parties, golf, tennis and sunning by the pool — the staffers join the heads of CAW's member companies for seminars on the problems of widget importation. At the end of the seminar, each staffer is given a $2,000 check for his or her time and trouble.

Such seminars occur every January. They're perfectly permissible under the rules of both the House and Senate — but neither the participants nor the sponsoring organizations are anxious to have them publicized.

Palm Springs, Calif., was full of such gatherings this January. The Outdoor Advertising Association of America, which represents billboard owners and advertisers, invited a number of congressional staffers to speak and participate at its confab.

For years, the OAAA has fought to weaken the Highway Beautification Act — in particular, to allow for billboards along interstate highways. Not surprisingly, the staffers invited were from committees that have jurisdiction over the Highway Beautification Act.

It's reported that other organizations that sponsored January meetings and seminars in the Palm Springs area included the Tobacco Institute, the Air Transport Association and the Distilled Spirits Council. Many of their activities were connected with the annual Bob Hope Desert Golf Classic, a pro-am tournament that attracts many congressional participants.

This year's tournament week featured a posh "Salute to Tip O'Neill" reception and dinner, which was sponsored by some of the groups that also gave "seminars" during the week.

It's hard to say how many congressional staffers were invited to the Palm Springs activities; the organizations involved refuse to discuss them, saying that the meetings were private and not open to the press. However, a local newspaper reported at least a dozen staffers — including staffers of the House leadership and several committees — attended one seminar and were paid $1,000 plus all expenses.

According to John Davidson, counsel of the House ethics committee, this is perfectly legal.

"A staff member may receive up to $2,000 plus expenses for a speech, article, or attendance at a meeting," says Davidson. He adds that House rules don't limit the number of such honorariums that a staffer can receive in a year.

Serving As A Model Of Charity

DALLAS (NEA) — "We will always be grateful to you for your help in such a difficult time," a North Carolina mother wrote to the Trailways Corp., whose intercity buses serve more than 10,000 communities throughout the country.

"May God bless you for providing this caring service," a thankful Virginia mother told the bus company, whose corporate headquarters are here in Dallas. "Your caring made it a lot easier," added a mother in Oklahoma.

What has Trailways done to deserve this extravagant outpouring of thanks and praise? It has devised and implemented a program called "Operation: Home Free" that provides free bus transportation for runaway teenagers seeking to return home.

Most other corporations also support charitable programs, often with generous contributions that, in some instances, total hundreds of thousands if not millions of dollars annually per company.

But Operation: Home Free may be unique because it was purposely structured to take advantage of Trailways' expertise and resources.

Since the program was initiated in mid-1984, it has helped to unite approximately 7,500 runaway children with their parents and has cost the company about $150,000. The daily average of Operation: Home Free beneficiaries has risen slowly but steadily from 10 to 15.

Here's how it works: A runaway youth who wants to return home must contact the local police department, which telephones the child's family to verify his or her status as a runaway but initiates no legal action against the youth.

The International Association of Chiefs of Police has enlisted the support of its 15,000 member police departments across the nation. An IACP-Trailways poster promises runaways that the cooperating police officer "won't hassle you and won't arrest you."

Instead, the officer will obtain information on Trailways' schedules to the runaway's home town, escort the youth to the bus terminal and fill out a form requesting a free ticket.

Finally, the officer calls ahead to the teenager's home town to alert his or her family and local police of the bus's scheduled arrival time. The runaway receives no special treatment from Trailways and is carried aboard one of its 1,500 buses as a regular, fare-paying passenger.

JACK ANDERSON

Austrian Firm Deals Arms To Iran

By Jack Anderson
And
Dale Van Atta

WASHINGTON — The largest industrial concern in Austria, the state-owned Voest-Alpine conglomerate, is under investigation by its government for engaging in improper transactions that may include illegal arms sales to Iran.

An Austrian official told us there have been "heavy political discussions" in the last year about the operations of Voest-Alpine and its subsidiaries. These discussions evolved into an investigation of whether the companies were "engaged in deals which they were not supposed to do," he said, including possible illegal arms transactions.

The Voest-Alpine group hasn't made a profit since 1976, sustaining heavy losses from its steel-making operation and poor oil investments. Austrian citizens have lost millions as the government poured money into Voest-Alpine.

In fact, sources said, it was this very situation that may have led company officials to enter into secret negotiations with Iran. By the treaty that ended Allied occupation after World War II, Austria is officially and permanently neutral; the sale of arms to a nation at war is a violation of Austrian law.

Over the past year, the Austrian government has become concerned at the sizable quantities of Austrian-made weapons that have been showing up on the Iranian side of the stalemated Persian Gulf war. The amount seemed to be more than would normally reach the Iranians through the black market or unscrupulous arms dealers.

Our intelligence sources, including some inside Iran itself, say that a partial explanation for the appearance of Austrian-made arms in the theater of war is back-door deals made with Austrian firms, including the Voest-Alpine group.

In fact, we have a copy of a five-page, "memorandum of understanding" between Voest-Alpine and the Islamic Republic of Iran, signed Feb. 14, 1985. The contract, which ends today, was a barter deal: Iran was obligated to provide $1 billion worth of crude oil in exchange for certain manufactured goods and raw materials.

An annex to the contract lists the goods only generally: $550 million worth of "Various Equipment and Materials," $150 million worth of "Various Products Including Spare Parts" and $100 million in "Pharmaceuticals."

But included in the "Various Equipment" category, according to information coming from Iran, were military items, among them some 155mm howitzers made by Noricum, a Voest-Alpine company.

The Iranian negotiators were four military officials whose last names are Azizi, Riazli, Zadeh and Tabibi.

They instructed their agents to inspect the military items before they left Austria to make sure they were satisfactory.

Our sources say the final hitch in the billion-dollar deal was over the commission. "There was a fight over the percentage of the commission on these weapons," said a source close to the negotiations. The price of the arms had been jacked up as much as 35 percent to allow for payment of the commissions, the source explained, adding: "There were arguments over this."

Once the commission was agreed on, the transaction was sealed. Since the Austrians could not legally ship arms to combatant Iran, our sources said, the "end-user" certificates, indicating the weapons' ultimate destination, were presumably written to show a different country than Iran. It is known that the weapons were to be shipped by way of neighboring Yugoslavia.

IN BRIEF

Troops Quell Police Revolt After 2-Day Egyptian Rampage

CAIRO, Egypt (UPI) — Troops patrolled the streets and kept watch over disarmed security forces today in a curfew imposed to quell a police revolt that left 36 people dead, hundreds injured and millions of dollars in damage. Authorities said more than 2,000 policemen and hundreds of civilians were arrested during the uprising, which began Tuesday night and raged into Wednesday in the worst domestic crisis since the assassination of Anwar Sadat in 1981. The violence broke out among the conscript policemen in the Central Security Forces who guard embassies, museums and other public buildings. They have complained they are overworked and underpaid, often receiving no more than $10 a month. In the resulting rampage, three luxury hotels on the avenue leading to the Pyramids — two of them worth $250 million — and several night clubs were burned down. About 600 foreigners, including as many as 130 Americans, were evacuated from the Holiday Pyramid, Holiday Sphinx and Jolie Ville hotels.

Explosions Threaten Refinery

THESSALONIKI, Greece (UPI) — Massive explosions ripped through two petroleum product storage tanks early today, starting a fire that raged out of control, killing one person and injuring at least 25 others, officials said. Two other people were missing following the two blasts, which occurred near Greece's second largest city shortly after midnight, according to police and a spokesman for EKO, the state-owned refining and petrochemical company. The explosions sent at least 6,000 residents of the coastal city's western suburb panicking into the streets. "There was a massive explosion ... I heard it in bed and then the whole city seemed to light up," said Lena Rakintzi, 30, a housewife and a resident of downtown Thessaloniki. "Night became day," she said. "We are still in our apartment but we are ready to leave if there is another explosion." Other witnesses said the blaze was clearly visible from the coastal suburbs and that "clouds of dense, black smoke have covered the skyline" of Thessaloniki. Authorities said the fire in the 50,000-ton storage tanks was "running amok."

'Ivan The Terrible' Extradited

TEL AVIV, Israel (UPI) — John Demjanjuk, a retired Cleveland autoworker accused of sending 900,000 Jews to their death during World War II as a notorious prison camp guard, arrived in Israel from New York today and was taken immediately into Israeli custody. Demjanjuk, 66, the first accused Nazi war criminal to be extradited from the United States to stand trial in the Jewish state, arrived at 11:10 a.m. aboard a flight of the Israeli airline, El Al. Demjanjuk, a Ukrainian-born former autoworker who had lived for years in Cleveland, Ohio, is accused of sending about 900,000 Jews to their death in the Treblinka death camp in Nazi-occupied Poland during World War II. Death camp survivors say Demjanjuk was called "Ivan the Terrible," a notorious prison guard who tortured inmates before herding them into the camp gas chambers. If found guilty, Demjanjuk faces execution.

Ariane May Increase Launches

PARIS (UPI) — Officials of Europe's Ariane rocket program may expand the project to handle eight additional satellite launches through 1988, serving customers whose projects were delayed by the shuttle Challenger disaster. Ariane officials said at a news conference Thursday that if contracts are received to launch eight more satellites, Ariane could generate an extra $300 million in business. The officials insisted the Ariane program — a disposable, unmanned competitor to the American shuttle — was not trying to take advantage of the Jan. 28 Challenger explosion that killed seven crew members.

Council Repeals Beach Law

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (UPI) — The Port Elizabeth city council has struck down a "disgraceful" local law that gave municipal officials the power to arrest blacks found on whites-only beaches. During debate Thursday, council member Ivan Krige called the ordinance "disgraceful (and) detrimental to race relations." Another member said the ordinance "had cast Port Elizabeth in the eyes of the outside world as the country's polecat."

Pope Plot Defendant Acquitted

ROME (UPI) — The only Bulgarian defendant in Italian custody on charges of plotting to assassinate Pope John Paul II celebrated the prosecution's decision to seek his acquittal on grounds of insufficient evidence. "I will celebrate the beginning of spring with this very good news," a jubilant Sergei Ivanov Antonov told defense attorneys.

Grand Jury Indicts Cotton For First Degree Murder

By Deane Jordan
Herald Staff Writer
A Lake Monroe man was indicted on a first-degree murder charge by a Seminole grand jury Wednesday. Elwell Cotton, 18, of 4651 Gilder St., could receive the death penalty if convicted of the Feb. 11 killing of Richard Campbell, of Third Street, Sanford. Cotton is being held without bond in the Seminole County jail. Cotton was also indicted on a charge of shooting into an occupied vehicle. The grand jury handed down the indictment after listening to testimony from sheriff's detective Willie Chandler, medical examiner Dr. G.V. Garay and witnesses Sabrina McIntyre, Harold Fields, and George Graves. Sheriff's investigators allege that Cotton walked out of a home on Richard Allen Street in Lake Monroe, approached Campbell's vehicle where he sat in the driver's seat, and fired two shotgun blasts hitting Campbell in the face. According to sheriff's deputy George Hagood, there was apparently an on-going dispute between Campbell and Cotton, and Cotton at one time had dated Ms. McIntyre, one of the witnesses. Despite the alleged dispute, both Campbell and Cotton had reportedly been with

Ms. McIntyre at a friend's home "having a good time" earlier that day, Hagood said. After the shooting, Cotton went into a home and reportedly called Sanford police to report the shooting, but the shooting occurred outside the city and Seminole County sheriff's deputies, already in the area, responded. When the shooting occurred, Ms. McIntyre jumped from the car and injured her leg. Friends put Campbell in another car to transport him to the hospital, but that car broke down near the scene. An ambulance eventually was called, Campbell, however, was dead at the scene.

Group Calls For Seat Belt Law

TALLAHASSEE — The Florida Coalition for Auto Safety Now released "conservative" figures today showing that between 5 and 10 lives could be saved in Seminole County next year with the passage of a mandatory seat belt law in Florida. Without a seat belt law, the coalition projects that 25 automobile occupants will die in car crashes in Seminole County in 1987. "Our goal is to get at least a 75 percent compliance rate in Florida," said Teague. "We think that is realistic. The keys to such a high level of usage are public awareness of the law and good enforcement of the law." Bills have been filed in the Florida Legislature (H340 and SB210) providing a $20 fine for drivers and front seat passengers who do not buckle up. The law applies to occupants of automobiles, small trucks and vans. She said the coalition is committed to undertake statewide a public awareness campaign on radio, television and newspapers for at least two years after the enactment of the law. By then she hopes that buckling up will become a habit for the vast majority of Floridians. At the present time, the coalition estimates that about 20 percent of Florida motorists use seat belts regularly. The Florida Highway Patrol, which includes seat belt usage in every accident report, said 16 percent of motorists in 1984 were wearing seat belts at the time of the accident. A 1985 study by Florida State University based on visual observations of front seat passengers reported an average statewide usage rate of 23 percent. The Florida Coalition for Auto Safety Now estimates that without a mandatory safety belt law, some 2,100 occupants of automobiles and light trucks will be killed on the state's highways in 1987. If everyone were to use seat belts, the death toll could be cut in half.

lives saved will be reduced accordingly. To show the importance of public compliance with the law, the Coalition calculated the life-saving potential of the law at three levels of seat belt usage — 100 percent, 75 percent and 50 percent. "Our goal is to get at least a 75 percent compliance rate in Florida," said Teague. "We think that is realistic. The keys to such a high level of usage are public awareness of the law and good enforcement of the law." Bills have been filed in the Florida Legislature (H340 and SB210) providing a $20 fine for drivers and front seat passengers who do not buckle up. ## Board OKs Land Buy

The School Board of Seminole County voted Wednesday night to spend $475,000 to purchase an additional nine acres of land for the Lawton Elementary School in Oviedo. According to Superintendent of Schools Robert W. Hughes, the acquisition will bring the school in line with the district's desire to have 15 usable acres of property at elementary schools. The school presently occupies eleven acres, but not all of that ground is usable, according to Hughes. The additional land will be designated as playground, physical education and park area, Hughes said. Jane Deas, chairman of Lawton's Local School Advisory Committee and Oviedo city councilman, said she was "excited" about the purchase. The city and the school district will combine efforts to use the land as a public park area.

Hughes said he was "pleased the Lawton family sold the property to us at the appraised value." He said if the family has desired to sell the property to a developer who could have requested commercial rezoning, the price would have been greatly inflated. T.W. Lawton was a long-time Superintendent of Seminole County schools, and his name will be attached to the park area. The closing on the purchase of the property will be March 21, a day after the closing on another land purchase of five acres of land adjoining the Lake Brantley High School campus from the YMCA. The purchase price of that land is $225,000. The money spent on each purchase will come from the first $15 million received from the $105 million bond issue. The county will have the $15 million transferred from New York to the district on March 19.

...Fire

Preparedness Coordinator Harry Pinkman said. In the Orlando district, which includes Seminole County, some 1,072 fires burned 84,152 acres in 1981, compared to 577 fires which burned 34,403 acres last year. The district recorded an average of 498 fires which burned 21,462 acres over the last 10 years. Fire officials say fire danger, to a large degree, is determined by weather and in many cases, man starts wildfires. Officials estimate wildfires cost Florida's economy an estimated $200 million in a typical year. In conjunction with fire awareness day, the state forestry division offers the following reminders:

- During prolonged drought tender plants that can be fuel for wildfires die and dry out
- Cold weather, particularly during drought, speeds the dying and drying process
- When the woods are dry thundershowers bring only limited relief. The fuels dry again quickly and fires can occur even the next day. Lightning can start fires
- Wind also dries fuels and causes fires to spread
- Only one out of 10 wildfires are started by weather. The other nine out of 10 are started by man
- Escaped trash fires are the number two cause of wildfires, accounting for 20 percent of forest fires. Arson, the number one cause, accounts for 33 percent of wildfires
- Most wildfires in Florida occur between January and April. Use great care then
- Do not burn on windy days
- If you are in or near woods, have an evacuation plan

WEATHER

NATIONAL REPORT: Warm air that has pushed temperatures to record highs and gorged rivers with melting snow clung to the West today, while a mass of cold air pushed out of the Plains into the Southeast. A winter storm that dusted the East with 4 inches of snow Thursday moved out to sea today, but light snow continued from the middle Mississippi Valley to the Appalachians. Up to 2 inches of snow was expected in North Carolina. The cold air moved toward the Gulf of Mexico today after keeping daytime highs in the 20s and 30s in the Northeast and the teens in the Great Lakes. It was a different story in the West, where a dozen high temperature records were set Thursday, and forecasters said the warm conditions would continue at least into the weekend.

Seminoles Rip Rams, 80-63

Holden: 27, Henderson: Triple-Double, Wright: Shines

By Sam Cook
Herald Sports Editor
PORT ORANGE — Two days ago, Seminole's basketball team found out it would be without guard Jerry "Stick" Parker. One day ago, the Seminoles learned point guard Andre Whitney would join the "Stick" on the sidelines.

With Lake Mary and the first round of the Class 4A-9 District Tournament scheduled for Thursday, it didn't give coach Bill Klein much time to scour the halls and backstops for reserves.

He shouldn't have worried. He had heroes aplenty.

Joe Holden bounced off the bench to score a career-high 27 points. Rod Henderson turned in a rare triple-double (13 points, 10 rebounds and 10 assists) and Mike Wright ran the game like a blackjack dealer as Seminole routed Lake Mary, 80-63, before 201 fans at Spruce Creek High School.

"We played pretty well, didn't we?" Klein, whose team battles Spruce Creek at 8:30 tonight in the semifinal, said. "I guess we do more at practice than just throw the balls out."

In Thursday's second game,

Basketball

Mainland broke to an early lead, withstood one Lake Brantley charge in the second quarter, and then pasted the Patriots, 69-55. Mainland plays Lyman tonight at 7 in the other semifinal game.

The victory was the third consecutive over Lake Mary this year. It ran Seminole's three-year record against its arch-rival to 8-2. This is the first year Lake Mary hasn't won a game. Seminole improved to 17-8.

"We didn't know until sixth period that Andre wasn't going to play," Wright said. "I knew I was going to have to take over. I didn't want to make any turnovers and throw all perfect passes."

He came close. Except for a charging foul here and a travel or two there, the 5-8 senior did it all. Wright finished with eight points, six rebounds and eight assists. Several assists were flashy bullets underneath.

Holden was the major benefactor. Time and time again, Wright and Henderson found Holden in the lane where he was too quick for Lake Mary to the hole or skied over the top for superb tip-ins.

"I was getting open and they were getting me the ball," Holden, who also had eight rebounds, said. "Being left-handed might help. I kept getting hit on my right hand after I shot. Maybe they were confused."

Henderson said a better defensive effort was the difference, along with Holden's inside play. "Joe has good hands," Henderson said about his 6-1 teammate. "He'll catch if you get it to him."

Henderson and 6-7½ Craig Walker, who scored 13 points and pulled down a game-high 15 rebounds, outleted the ball quickly. Henderson had a powerful one-handed slam off a nice baseline move while Walker and Holden each had a two-handed rim-collapser.

"Joe runs track, you know? He's fast and can outrun most of Lake Mary's guys," Henderson said. "When I got the rebound, I just looked down court. There were a lot of our guys."

Lake Mary, which finished

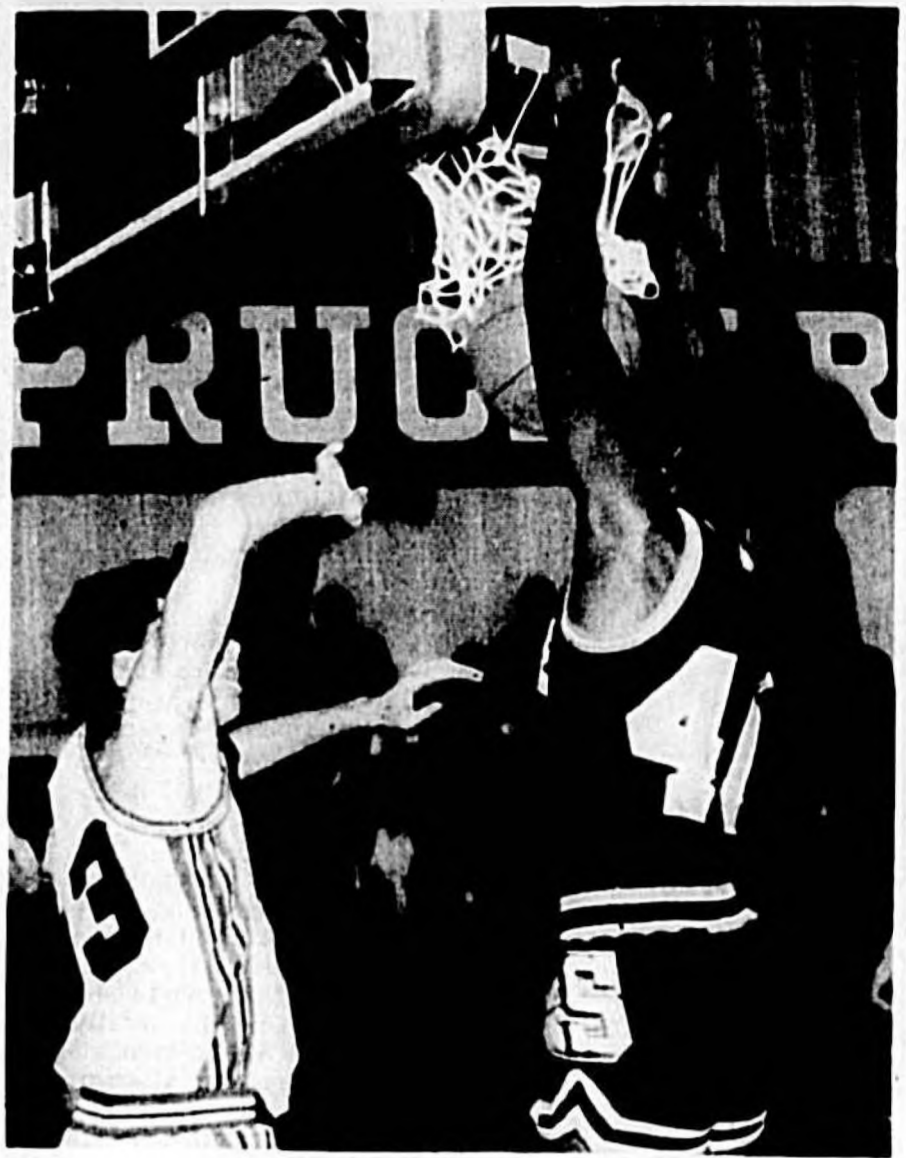

9-15, led just once, 5-4, on Kelly McKinnon's free throw with 5:70 left in the first quarter. The Rams closed within two on a bucket by Eric Czerniejewski but Wright whipped a cross-court pass to Todd Kneibbe for an 18-14 lead with 45 seconds left. Holden's two free throws put Seminole up, 20-14, after one period.

Seminole hit 8 of 11 field goals in the second quarter while building its lead to 40-27 at intermission. Holden had 13 points at halftime and Walker totaled nine. McKinnon, playing with a badly sprained ankle, led the Rams with nine. Ray Hartsfield tossed in seven.

In the second half, Lake Mary cut the deficit to nine as Hartsfield continued to hit from the outside and Oscar Merthie tossed in a couple of jumpers inside and several free throws.

Lake Mary made its last run with 6:28 to play as McKinnon hit a jumper. Seminole, though, retallied to with two free throws each by Holden. Walker and Mike Edwards to push the game out of reach. Edwards started in

Powerful Jones Next For Oviedo

By Sam Cook
Herald Sports Editor
Oviedo's Lions avenged one nemesis Thursday night in the first round of the Class 4A-6 District basketball tournament but coach Dale "Digger" Phillips knows it will take a gargantuan effort to do the same tonight.

Oviedo, which had lost two close ones to Leesburg in the regular season, turned the tables on the Yellow Jackets as Allen Unroe poured in 24 points while Mark Stewart and James Walker controlled the boards in a 47-36 victory at Bishop Moore High School in Orlando.

"Unroe carried us offensively," Phillips said about his senior's 10 of 20 shooting. "Stewart and Walker stopped Jonathan Campbell inside. He killed us the past two times."

Campbell, a 6-5, 220-pound behemoth was held to seven points as Walker, a senior, draped his 6-6 frame next to Campbell all night and denied him the ball.

Tonight, however, the task will be a little bigger. Jones has a 6-9 sophomore sensation in Corey Walker which presents a different problem. "Walker is not as physical as Campbell, but he has a nice outside jumper," Phillips said.

Oviedo has been the only club to give the powerful Tigers any 3A competition in the past two months. The Lions played Jones a two-point game at Oviedo and Phillips hopes they can pull it off again.

"If anybody has a chance against Jones, it's us," Phillips said. "We have to slow the ball down and make five or six passes before we shoot."

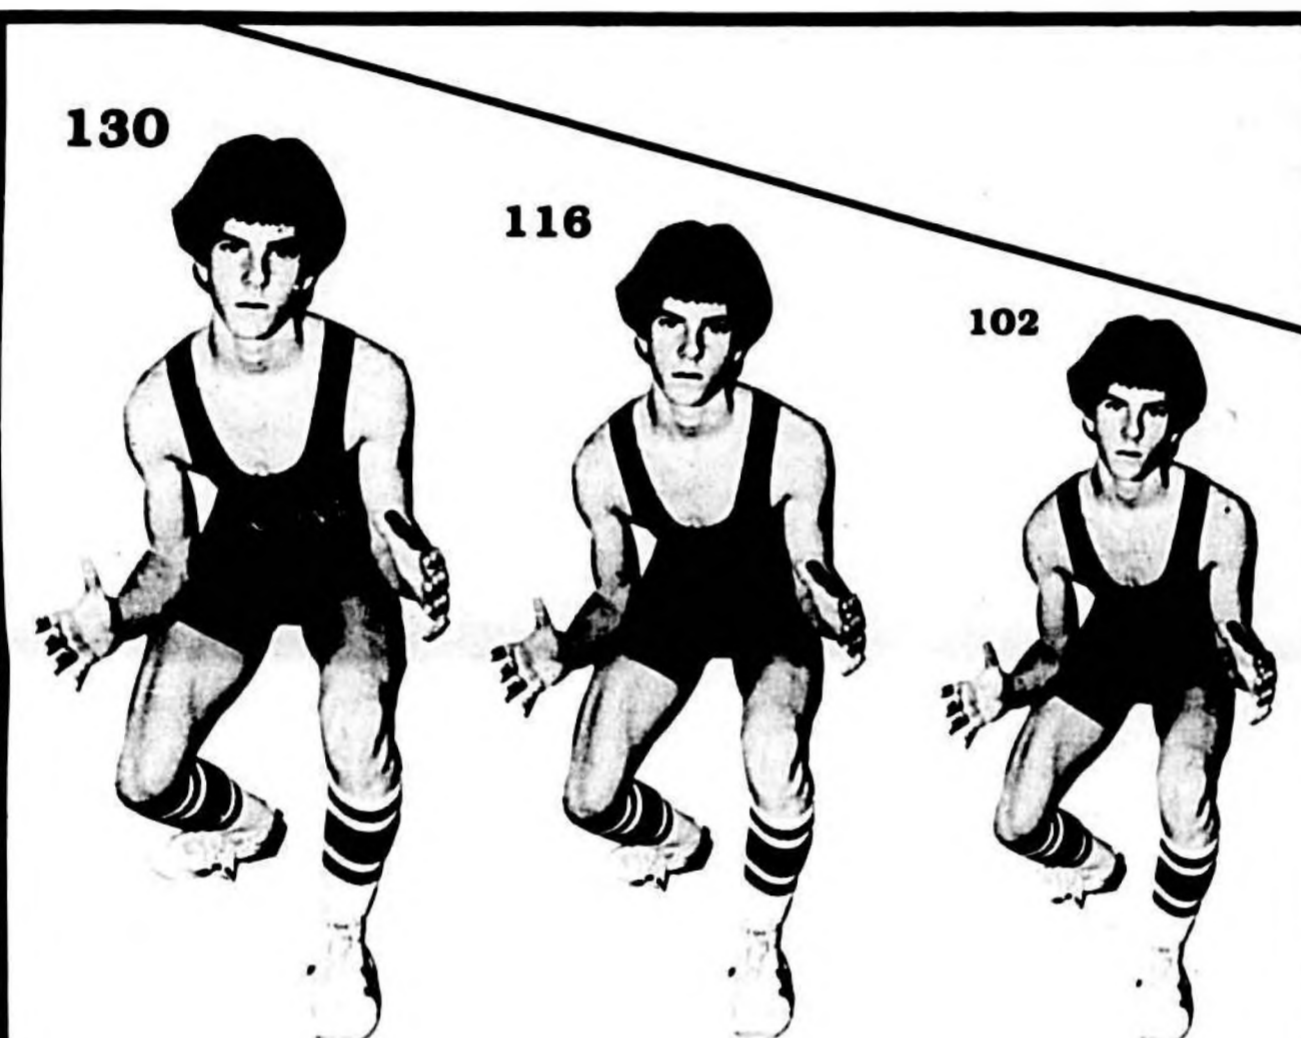

Oviedo took its time against Leesburg, moving to a 17-16 first half lead before Unroe's 14 second-half points gave the Lions some breathing room. Stewart had 10 of his game-high 12 boards in the second half and guard Terry Campbell dropped in six consecutive free throws to maintain the edge in the last three minutes.

Oviedo played without stand-out forward Robb Hughes, who suffered a concussion in Monday's loss to Wymore Center. Phillips said Hughes will probably miss the tournament.

OVIDEO (47) — Campbell 6, Stewart 6, Wheeler 2, Ferguson 2, Walker 3, Kandell 4, Unroe 24. Totals: 16 15-24 48.

LEESBURG (34) — Honer 8, Lowery 10, Elliott 2, Windsor 9, Cannon 7. Totals: 14 8 13 36.

Craig Johnson doesn't have any problem with his weight. Lake Mary's 109-pounder shows the effects of too much weight loss in too short of a period of time.

Making Weight: The Wrestler's Dilemma

(Editor's note: This is the first of a series on "Making Weight: The Guidelines, Effects And Experiences.")

By Colin B. Kemp
Special to the Herald

The issue of "Making Weight" in high school wrestling, and the capacity for high school students taking weight loss to an extreme, has drawn controversy among medical professionals, parents of wrestlers, and wrestling advocates. Key in the argument over making weight is not the actual weight loss, but the period of time which is taken to lose the weight, and the ambiguous rules established by the Florida High School Activities Association.

The rationale behind weight dropping is to reduce to a lower weight class in order to face a smaller, weaker opponent. Harold Hunziker, whose two sons wrestled at Lyman High School, has been active participant in high school tournaments the past eight years.

"In the conference and districts a lot of wrestlers dropped weight classes," Hunziker said Wednesday. "It's not unusual to see them drop two or three weight classes. It's not good to see them that way, their faces look gaunt and they usually look very tired."

Lake Mary High School trainer Roger Mosure said the fat percentage is one of the main determinants for losing weight. "In terms of determining their lowest certifiable weight, the body fat percentage plays a major role," he said. "If you have a kid who weighs 200 pounds and has 18 percent body fat then he can stand to lose quite a bit. But if his bodyfat is only seven percent, then dropping weight can be potentially dangerous."

Controversy over weight dropping, according to coach Doug Peters at Lake Mary High School, is mostly the result of a misconceptions drawn by those who are not knowledgeable concerning the sport.

Peters contends that out of 14 of his wrestlers, only three on the Lake Mary team have to lose weight, and his weight control program consists of running and training with intensity.

"I think weight loss gets too much bad publicity," he said. "As far as I'm concerned weigh-ins are just a five-minute period two hours before the match. What really counts is what happens under the mat light."

"I am against fasting and I try to teach nutrition and training as methods of making

Troy Jackson: Rams' 400 Pounds Of Gold

By Chuck Burgess
Special to the Herald

His name is Troy Jackson and he weighs more than any wrestler in the state. However, it's not Jackson's weight in pounds that matters to Lake Mary coach Doug Peters — it's his weight in gold.

"Troy (Jackson) is one of the most respected athletes at Lake Mary," Peters said of Jackson's popularity. "He's not just a heavy kid who goes onto the mat and flops around until he finally pins somebody. He's a great athlete who knows what he's doing at all times."

Jackson, a 400-pound junior at Lake Mary, has had a long year of waiting for his chance to show the state that he is really somebody.

Jackson's biggest opportunity comes today at Lyman High School when the Class 4A State Wrestling Meet gets underway with the first round begins at 2 p.m. with the second at 7:30 p.m.

Peters said Jackson is worth his weight in gold as a competitor and a team member. "He's the biggest inspiration a team could ever have," Peters said. "As a coach, I couldn't ask for a better athlete and as a person, I couldn't ask for a better kid. He's probably the easiest kid on my team to coach and he picks things up really fast."

Jackson has been sidelined most of the season due to eye problems. He received a cornea transplant in December because of an eye malfunction known as Charatachomus. It occurs when the cornea of the eye comes to a point and it takes a little longer to focus.

"All of the stitches are out now and all I'm waiting for is my contact lenses," Jackson said. "I wear a wrestling mask for some protection, but the doctor says that the eye is healing really well and should be back to normal pretty soon."

The eyes are a key organ in any sport, but the way Jackson destroys his opponents, one would think the Ram grappler could pin people blindfolded. Jackson's style is a crowd pleaser no matter who he wrestles.

In the district final, Jackson and his DeLand counterpart were involved in a struggle for control when both athletes went out of the center circle. Unlike most super heavyweights who take their time and lumber back to the mat, Jackson went sprinting toward the center and got into a crouch position. The imitation of a little man's spirit in a big man's body devastated the crowd and the approval was shown by a standing ovation.

"Troy gets treated like everyone else on the team," Peters said. "He runs sprints like everyone else, he sweats like everyone else and he works his butt off like everybody else."

"Athletically he's a very bright kid. He knows the moves of the little guy and uses some of them, but the only difference is he's 400 pounds and they sometime don't look the same."

Jackson, who lives in Sanford, showed his usefulness to the

Wrestling

Rams this past weekend as he was the only regional champion from Lake Mary. He upped his season record to 7-0 and hopes to remain undefeated for one more week.

"The biggest part of state for me will be to get through the first two rounds and make the finals," Jackson said. "After I do that, I'm going for it all. I know those guys in Miami and Tampa are tough, but I don't plan on losing and if I get behind I'll just have to suck it up, dig down deeper and go for it."

That kind of attitude is one of the reasons why the super heavyweight class has not been deleted from the tournament. This year a much-heated debate waged over the issue of the 250-pound and over weight class known as the unlimited division.

With athletes weighing up to 400 pounds, there was the chance of a wrestler 100 pounds or lighter being at a great disadvantage and being exposed to serious injury.

But, there was also constitutional rights to consider. How could an athlete be denied his chance to wrestle? And in what other sport besides football could a 400-pounder derive the satisfaction of being an athlete?

Jackson said he was very relieved when he was allowed to wrestle. He said if a limit is placed on weight next year, he will take the appropriate steps to be eligible.

"I'm really glad they decided to leave the weight class in this year," Jackson said. "They're trying to put a limit on what the heaviest a wrestler can be, but I don't care. This summer I'm going to work out hard and try to get myself down to 345. If they lower it more, than I'll just have

Martin, Samocki: RSVP To Howell Invitational Meet

By Chris Flister
Herald Sports Writer

Seminole's Shownda Martin and Lake Howell's Lisa Samocki both had impressive seasons in 1985 and it was the Lake Howell Invitational that helped vault both into the spotlight.

Saturday, Martin, a sophomore, and Samocki, a junior, will be on hand once again and they hope this year's Lake Howell Invitational, like last year's, will lead to bigger and better things.

The Lake Howell Invitational begins Saturday with field events at 10 a.m. Running preliminaries for the 110 high hurdles, 100 meters, 440 dash, 330 low hurdles and 220 dash begin at 11 a.m. Running finals begin at 1 p.m.

Admission prices for the FHSA sanctioned meet, which is sponsored by Track Shack, is $2.

Martin began her assault on the record books in the 880 run last season by setting a meet record at Lake Howell with a time of 2:21.5. Martin went on to win the 880 at the 4A State Meet in record time and she also won the 800 meters in the National Junior Olympics. Martin's best time in the 880 is a 2:09.5. Last week, she turned in a time of 2:21.1 in winning the 880 at the Lake Brantley Open.

Samocki ran one of the best early-season times in the state in the mile in last year's meet with an outstanding 5:13.1. Samocki went on to the state meet where, as a sophomore, she took second in the mile.

In two open meets and two duals so far this season, Samocki has won the mile every time. Samocki is already closing in on her time of last season as she sailed to a 5:16.1 at the Lake Brantley Open and that time came about 15 minutes after she had run a leg on the school-record breaking two-mile relay.

Other individuals to watch in Saturday's meet include Oak Ridge's Michelle Spear in the long jump and 100 meters, Seminole's Dorchelle Webster in the 330 hurdles and relays, Lake Brantley's Debbie Lovelace in the discus, Oak Ridge's Michelle Lee in the shot and discus and Trinity Prep's Stacy Johnson in the 220.

The team favorite is Oak Ridge's Lady Pioneers who have already won the Lake Howell Open and the Lake Brantley Open. The Lady Pioneers are especially strong in the field events with Spear and Lee usually winning both of their specialties.

Seminole High has finished second to Oak Ridge in both previous meets and the Lady Tribe is looking for more points in the field events from Adrian Smith and Sonja Montgomery in the shot and discus and Martin and Webster in the long jump and high jump.

Seminole will also look to score big in the relays. Last week, the Lady Noles uncharacteristically did not win a relay. They were nipped in Lake Howell in the mile relay (the teams ran in different heats) and were disqualified in the 440 relay. This week, the mile medley relay will be run for the first time and the two mile relay will not be run.

Lake Howell finished a strong third in the Lake Brantley Open and is coming off a dual meet victory over Lake Brantley on Tuesday. The Lady Hawks are strong in the distance events with Samocki, Angie Smith and Martha Fonseca. It's leading sprinter is Nicole Compton. Sophie Mitchell is tops in the shot put, Mary Kay Scott in the discus and Kim Hammontree and Cheryl Brinkley are both excellent high jumpers.

Shownda Martin looks forward to her return to the Lake Howell Invitational Saturday. She set a meet record in the 880 last year.

Lake Mary's strength so far this season has come in the hurdles with Oneyke Berry, Jodie McCurdy and Tabatha Gano. Freshman Jennifer Caputo has also performed well in the high jump.

Lyman's Lady Greyhounds have not scored many points in the early going with miler Julie Greenberg the only one to score in the Lake Brantley Open.

Why No Hop, Skip Or Jump As Vaulters' War Escalates?

By Milton Richman
United Press International
NEW YORK (UPI) — I don't get it. Why is the public's attention being diverted so much?

Diverted to Michael Ray Richardson, that guy who keeps fouling up his test bottle; to Wade Boggs, trying to make ends meet on only $1.35 million a year; and to Ferdinand Marcos, the big election winner who's busy house hunting for another mansion now.

Meanwhile, World War III has broken out in track and field and no one even gives a hop, skip or jump.

For those few who do, the next major land engagement is scheduled for Friday night in the USA-Mobil Indoor Track and Field Championships at Madison Square Garden, where Billy Olson of Dallas and Serguei Bubka of the Soviet Union will once again face each other.

Ostensibly, they'll be trying to determine which one can pole vault higher. But they'll also be continuing their ongoing international struggle that keeps generating increasing controversy as it goes along.

Olson and Bubka get along well enough on the surface, the same way Ronald Reagan and Mikhail Gorbachev do. Yet in certain matters, they're no more on the same wave length than their nation's leaders.

Specifically, Olson believes the world indoor pole vault record belongs in the United States, which is where it was when he held it himself at 19 feet 5 1/2 inches at the beginning of this indoor season.

Bubka is equally convinced the record should stay right where it is now — in the Soviet Union. He wiped out Olson's mark last Friday in Los Angeles by vaulting 19-5 3/4. The Russian also holds the outdoor mark of 19-8 1/4.

Almost from the moment he arrived in this country to compete in the Millrose Games two weeks ago, Bubka has been the center of controversy.

He began it by threatening to walk out of the Millrose. Not once, but twice. The first time he threatened to take a powder was when Olson and Oklahoman Joe Dial each were allowed an extra jump because they had been interfered with on their approaches. The second time Bubka nearly quit was when he heard that his older brother, Vasily, also in the competition, wasn't getting the same extra jump as Olson and Dial. The reason for that was no one had interfered with him.

Vasily already had been eliminated, having failed in his three attempts, but his brother thought he rated another try anyway after Olson and Dial each got one. The event was delayed three-quarters of an hour as Millrose officials did what they could to keep Serguei Bubka from walking out.

Finally, he was prevailed upon to continue, and ultimately Olson won the event. Bubka took the honors a couple of nights later in Rosemont, Ill., where neither Olson nor Dial competed — Olson because he was too tired, Dial because his poles had gotten lost en route.

After Bubka crased Olson's indoor record in Los Angeles, Bubka pulled out of last Sunday's meet in San Diego with a sore shoulder, so he and Olson are even at one-one in their head-to-head competitions. They have the perfect opportunity to get it all settled in Friday night's meet, which ends the indoor season and climaxes the Mobil Indoor Grand Prix.

Seventeen countries are expected to be represented in the meet, and a number of the competing athletes were present at a special midtown luncheon Wednesday. Bubka arrived well ahead of Olson.

"I'm getting tired waiting," Bubka complained to one of the PR people. "I'm waiting for more than an hour already and Billy Olson rests."

Olson wasn't resting. He got stuck in traffic after his flight from Dallas, which was so bumpy, he got sick for the first time in the 15 years he has been flying.

Bubka, who's learning fast, maybe from the ballplayers, said he would answer questions only once. That would be when the TV people got their apparatus all hooked up.

After they did, Bubka spoke in Russian through interpreter Ludmila Potanich even though he can manage well enough in English. He frowned when he was asked about his "war" with Olson.

"The word 'war' is out of place here completely," Bubka said. "We think this is a friendly competition."

How would he describe his rivalry with Olson?

"In what respect?" he wanted to know.

Athletically first, then personally. Bubka cracked his knuckles in his hands while he mulled over the question.

"I think our rivalry exists only between athletes," he said.

Johnson Shares Special Victory With Family

For Sanford's Harold "Fat Rat" Johnson, the highlight of his long racing career came during the running of this year's Speed Weeks at New Smyrna Speedway. Before a standing room only crowd, Johnson won the consolation feature two times in his 1986 IROC Camaro Z28.

Carl Vanzura
MOTOR SPORTS

"To me it was a great thrill because my wife Chris and my two boys Bradley and Brandon were there in Victory Lane with me to accept my trophies," Johnson said. "I have won other races but these were really special."

"Fat Rat" has been racing for over 11 years and said he would race as long as it is still fun. His nickname was given to him many years ago by fellow racers and it has stuck with him.

Johnson's car this year was built by Steve Morse and himself. The motor is a Boyd built 355 which Johnson said he had to save for over two years just to have it built. Mike Donovan is a big help as a crew member for the team. Master Touch Auto Supply in Sanford helps by supplying oil for the car. Johnson started his racing career at Volusia County Speedway, and spent five years running the dirt bull rings. The driving style that he showed on the dirt half miles reminded many of the show that the late Tiny Lund would put on. Johnson's car was never straight and he never took his foot off the pedal, and boy was he ever an exciting driver to watch.

The last six years has seen Johnson running at New Smyrna Speedway. For the last two years in a row he finished sixth in the points with his late model. During the nine day speedweek events he finished in the top 15 points among the 50 cars entered. Johnson works for the Sanford Fire Department and is an F-Grade Fire Fighter EMT. Last year at one of the race tracks a number of people were hurt in a wreck and Johnson was one of the first people on the scene administering aid to the injured.

Accepting his Dayco "Comeback Driver of the Year" award at the end of the 1985 season, Kyle Petty said he was most appreciative of the trophy "because it's the first I've won since that ARCA race trophy in 1979. That one was getting worn out from me sleeping with it as this time." If 1985 was any indication, Kyle's bed is going to get very lumpy very soon from the spoils of victory lane.

His 7-Eleven Thunderbirds, prepared by the Wood Brothers of Stuart, Va., were front-line contenders throughout the season and Kyle proved to all doubters he has the ability to run at the front of the pack.

He stamped himself a "can't miss" for stardom with his stirring battle for second place at Talladega when he beat Cal Yarborough's Hardee's Thunderbird to the line with an outside move in turn four which had pit-road observers shaking their heads.

Kyle finished in the top five six more times and had 12 top ten finishes. He was ninth in the Winston Cup standings, but only a string of bad luck in the final five races of the season kept him from a sixth place. "We were disappointed we were unable to win a race in 1985," Petty said.

"We felt we were strong enough to get that first one together. But when we needed a little luck, it didn't come."

Luck finally came Kyle Petty's way last Sunday during the running of the Richmond 400. Running in fifth place behind leaders Dale Earnhardt and Darrell Waltrip, Petty suddenly found himself in the lead after a wreck took out the front four leaders.

Teams Win But Sanford Stars Take Backseats

By Chris Flister
Herald Sports Writer

Sanford's stars may take a back seat to Florida Junior College's Stars in the Women's State Junior College Tournament being played at the Seminole Community College Health Center.

Florida JC's Mona Benton, one of two former Seminole High standouts, is sitting out the tournament after having surgery to remove a cyst from her back. The other Sanford star, Santa Fe's Maxine "Super Max" Campbell, turned in an outstanding performance Thursday as Santa Fe won its first-round game but Campbell came out of the game with a jammed thumb on her shooting hand that leaves her questionable for tonight's semifinals.

Meanwhile, the question on almost everyone's mind is, can anyone stop Florida Junior College?

The Lady Stars, ranked seventh nationally, ran their record to 28-1 with a 101-47 thrashing of Brevard's Lady Titans in Thursday's opening game. FJC meets Santa Fe tonight at 8 in the first semifinal game. Santa Fe's Lady Saints advanced with a 66-51 victory over Manatee's Lady Lancers in Thursday's second game.

In the lower bracket, Edison takes on Indian River tonight at 8 in the second semifinal. Edison advanced by edging Miami Dade-North, 68-65, while Indian River upset defending state champion Pensacola, 50-46, in Thursday's nightcap.

FJC came out smoking Thursday as it rolled up 60 points, an average of three-points per minute, in taking a 60-17 halftime lead over the helpless Lady Titans.

Sophomore guard Hea Ju Moon, the South Korean with the interplanetary jump shot, pumped in a game-high 23 points to lead the Lady Stars while freshman point guard Val Avant looked impressive in scoring 20 points along with running the offense to perfection. Also hitting double figures for FJC were Vicky Brown with 15 points and Sheila Seymore with 12. Angie Pittman led Brevard with 13 points while Renata Lee tossed in 11.

Santa Fe's Lady Saints didn't exactly cruise in their first-round game. In fact, Santa Fe trailed Manatee's Lady Lancers by as much as nine points before getting its act together in the second half.

Manatee, behind strong offensive rebounding, built a 27-20 lead at halftime and hit the first two points of the second half for a 29-20 lead.

Santa Fe then shifted gears and reeled off 10 unanswered points for a 30-29 lead. Robin Mathis scored eight of the points, with two buckets coming off assists by Campbell and "Super Max" also hit a baseline jumper from about four rows up in the stands.

Manatee came back to tie it at 30-30 and the teams traded buckets until it was 38-38. Santa Fe's Regina James then made the defensive play of the game when she came up with a steal and she took it all the way for a layup and a 40-38 lead. James was also fouled on the play and covered the free throw to give the Lady Saints a lead they would never lose.

Mathis was high for Santa Fe with 15 points while Campbell hit 14 and Kroger pumped in 13. James and Zimmermann added nine points each and Zimmermann also handed out eight assists.

Campbell, a sophomore, hit on 7 of 10 shots from the field, including a couple from outside the top of the key, and also dealt out five assists.

"I think we took them (Manatee) too lightly at first," Campbell said. "We weren't blocking out the first half and let them get ahead. But we came back the second half and played really well."

With Santa Fe and Florida Junior both winning, that set up a possible meeting between former teammates Campbell and Benton but Benton, who didn't dress out Thursday, won't be playing. "I wish I could play," Mona said before slapping Campbell's thumb for good measure.

In Thursday's third game, Edison built a three-point halftime lead and held it the rest of the way as it downed Miami Dade-North, 68-65, despite a tournament-high 34-point performance by Dade North's Sabrina Reese.

Edison got a balanced scoring attack led by Joanna Moore's 15 points, Chrystal Robson's 13 and Cheri Donald's 11.

Indian River had five players score seven or more points as it upset Pensacola, 50-46. Sonia Elliott and Leslie Jones had 10 points apiece to lead India River while Thelma Freeman hit nine.

Smith Calls On Swizzle For Opener

By Sam Cook
Herald Sports Editor

No party is complete without a swizzle stick. So when Lake Brantley High's baseball team entertains Jacksonville Terry Parker tonight, first-year coach Mike Smith will put his straw-like righthander on the mound.

Bruce Carlson, who made a habit of playing on winners while making his ascent through the Altamonte Springs Little League, usually wasn't a factor from the middle of the infield, however. He used his speed to roam the outfield pastures and light up the basepaths.

When lefty Tim Smith dropped a sledgehammer on his pitching finger while gardening the infield and Zac Maddox was declared ineligible on a grade-change technicality, Smith turned to Carlson.

"Bruce is a leader and he works real hard," Smith said about his 6-2, 150-pound righthander. "He throws the ball 80-82 miles per hour."

Before Carlson makes his pitcher, however, Altamonte Springs Mayor Ray Ambrose will throw out the first pitch. Smith said any youth baseball player in uniform will be admitted free of charge.

Carlson, who resembles the original swizzle stick, ex-Pittsburgh Pirate Kent Tekulve, has also adopted Tekulve's submarining style, too. Smith said it's effective, too. "Bruce's ball moves extremely well and dips away from lefthanded hitter," Smith said. "He's only given up one run in four innings."

While Smith has been satisfied with his mound staff (Carlson, Ray Sylvester, Pat Lusk, Greg Ebbert and Greg Markham) thus far, his team's defense has been a major problem and directly attributable to Lake Brantley's 2-4 start.

"We're given up 39 and only 15 have been earned," Smith said. "We're made some crucial errors at the wrong time. And we haven't gotten the two-out hit."

Although Smith bemoaned the Patriots lack of the clutch blow, he does have a fine nucleus of sluggers. Mike Beams, considered draftable by several scouts, has swatted four homers and drive in 11 runs. The rifle-armed senior center fielder is flashing his sophomore form which made him one of the best players in the area. He is hitting a robust .409.

Three points higher is Mark "Pork" Coffey, a sweet-swinging first baseman. Coffey has seven ribbies. Right fielder Dan Beatty (.316), catcher Mike Davis (.316) and shortstop Andy Dunn (.313) are next in line. Davis is one of best defensive backstops in the area.

Rick Koch, a second baseman last year, has moved to third to replace Mike Pinckes, who jumped ship to play for Lake Mary this year. Pinckes and parents, unhappy with the Brantley situation, moved into the Lake Mary school district last fall.

David Rabaja, a lefthanded hitting move-in from Michigan, handles left field. Frank Redding, a junior, plays second base. Randy Green, like Carlson a member of Altamonte Springs Senior League World Champions two years ago, fills the designated hitter's role.

Infield depth is provided by junior Jimmy Waring at third base and Lusk at first base. Lusk can also play the outfield.

"Our pitching hasn't been as good as it was in the pre-season, but it will get better," Smith said. "Tim Smith has begun throwing again and he should be ready to pitch pretty soon."

The Patriots take on Jacksonville Sandalwood Saturday at 7:30 p.m.

Hersey Overcomes 8 Walks As Raiders Subdue Polk, 7-4

By Chris Fister
Herald Sports Writer

As soon as Sanford's James Hersey gets acquainted with the strike zone, he'll be more than just another hard thrower. Control is the only thing from keeping the Seminole Community College freshman from being awesome.

Hersey struggled with his control once again Thursday but pitched his way out of a number of jams. Meanwhile, the Raiders continued to produce offensively as they gave Hersey an early 7-2 lead and coasted to a 7-4 victory over Polk on a gusty Thursday afternoon at SCC.

The Raiders, 6-6 overall, return to action today at home against Indian River. Polk now stands at 13-7.

Hersey, who ran his record to 3-1, pitched the first eight frames before giving way to Steve Carter with no outs and one man on in the top of the ninth. Carter retired all three men he faced. Hersey, a 1985

Baseball

Seminole High graduate, gave up nine hits, struck out three and walked eight.

"Hersey wasn't really sharp today," SCC coach Jack Pantelias said. "He keeps getting in trouble with walks and is fortunate to get out of them. But I don't know how long it's going to last. Fortunately, we've been hitting the ball well when he pitches."

Polk got to Hersey for one run in the top of the first but the Raiders responded with three runs in the bottom half with the wind lending a helping hand. Chad Sims, who had walked to lead off, scored on a single off the bat of Jeff Greene and, after Leonard Thigpen reached on a force play, Jeff Morgan then hit a high fly to center. The wind took Morgan's fly ball, however, and deposited it over the fence, just inside the right field foul pole for a two-run homer and a 3-1 SCC lead.

"That was the darndest thing I've ever seen," Pantelias said. "The ball started out in straight away center and ended up over the fence in right."

Polk came back with one run in the top of the second but the Raiders answered with two in the bottom half for a 5-2 lead. Danny Moore and Tico Martinez both walked and both eventually scored on a single off the bat of heavy-hitting Mike Songini. Songini, who had four hits on Wednesday, now has 24 hits in 12 games.

After giving up single runs in the first and second, Hersey shut Polk out until the top of the seventh. Meanwhile, SCC added two more runs in the bottom of the fourth for a 7-2 lead. Songini drove in one run with a base hit and the second scored on a Polk throwing error.

Laszaic, Whittington Hurl Gems

By Chris Fister
Herald Sports Writer

Three-hitters were the name of the pitching game Thursday night concerning Seminole County's prep baseball teams.

●At Daytona Beach, Anthony Laszaic tossed a three-hitter and was backed by an 11-hit offensive attack as top-ranked (4A) Lake Mary punished Daytona Beach Mainland's Bucs, 12-1.

●At Lyman High, Mark Whittington baffled a hard-hitting Winter Park team with a three-hitter as the host Greyhounds stunned the Wildcats, 3-2.

In one other game, Bishop Moore upended Lake Howell, 5-4, in a five-inning game that was shortened by rain. In the only prep game tonight, Lake Brantley hosts Jacksonville Terry Parker at 8 in its home opener.

Lake Mary's Rams, 11-0, return to action Saturday afternoon at 1 when they host Jacksonville Terry Parker.

"Laszaic was really on tonight," Lake Mary coach Allen Tuttle said. "He gave up two sharp singles and a bunt single but had them (Mainland) pretty much handcuffed."

Laszaic struck out 13 Bucs and walked only one, but Mainland did take an early 1-0 lead in the bottom of the first.

Lake Mary got the run back in the top of the second when Brett Mollie lined a shot down the right field around and touched all four bases for an inside-the-park homer.

The game stayed tied at 1-1 for two innings before Lake Mary unleashed the heavy artillery. The Rams exploded for four runs in the fifth and added five in the sixth and two in the seventh.

In the fifth, Shane Letterio drilled a one-out double down the left field line and Laszaic and Mike Pinckes followed with walks. Mike Schmit then singled between first and second to drive in Letterio and Laszaic. Lisle followed with a sacrifice fly to drive in the third run and the fourth scored when Neal Harris drew a bases-loaded walk.

LYMAN UPSETS WINTER PARK

Behind Whittington's three-hitter and some heads-up baserunning, Lyman's Greyhounds pinned a 3-2 upset on Winter Park's Wildcats at Lyman High.

Whittington had the 'Cats shutout until the top of the fourth when Winter Park scored both of its runs. For the game, he struck out four and walked four.

Meanwhile, Lyman took a 2-0 lead in the bottom of the second without the benefit of a hit. With two outs, Chris Radcliff drew a walk and stole second. Marty Martin then reached when the left fielder dropped his fly ball and Radcliff scored. Martin already took second on the play, then stole third and scored on a passed ball.

Winter Park tied it at 2-2 in the top of the fourth. Mike Cuda was hit by a pitch and went all the way to third on an errant pickoff attempt. Tom Fleming followed with a single to score Cuda. Fleming then stole second, went to third on a groundout, and scored on Todd Lee's squeeze bunt.

Lyman came back to break the scoreless tie in the bottom of the sixth. Dale Stevens led off with a double to left that was the first hit of the game for the 'Hounds. Chris Brock bunted Stevens to third and, with two outs, Byron Overstreet drilled a single to score Stevens for a 3-2 lead.

Lyman, 2-4, returns to action Wednesday night at home against Daytona Beach Seabreeze.

HORNETS NIP LAKE HOWELL

Bishop Moore built up a 5-1 lead after three innings and held on for a 5-4 victory over Lake Howell's Silver Hawks in a five-inning game at Bishop Moore High. The game was called after five innings because of rain.

Lake Howell, 4-4, returns to play Wednesday afternoon at 4 against West

14 Walks Carry Oviedo By Lady Seminoles, 9-7

By Chris Fister
Herald Sports Writer

Don't mention the word walk to Seminole High's Lady Seminoles. They might just tell you to take a long walk off a short pier.

Seminole had its best offensive performance of the season Thursday with 10 hits and played better defense than in its first two games. However, 14 bases on balls enabled Oviedo's Lady Lions to, um, stroll away with a 9-7 victory in the Seminole Athletic Conference opener at Sanford's Fort Mellon Park.

Seminole, 0-3 overall, returns to action Tuesday at Colonial. Oviedo, 1-0, has an Orange Belt Conference game Monday at Kissimmee Osceola. All 20 of the Lady Lions' regular season games are either in the SAC or Orange Belt.

"The girls had a bad case of the first-game jitters," Oviedo coach Jackie Miller said. "We shouldn't have won this game but those 14 walks sure helped."

Oviedo took a 1-0 lead in the top of the first but Seminole tied it in the bottom half when Bobbie Osborne ripped a home run down the left field line. Seminole came back to take a 5-1 lead in the bottom of the second with four runs, including two on a double by Bert Detreville.

Thomas was the winning pitcher for Oviedo and Jodie Switzer came on in relief in the fifth and pitched shutout ball the last three frames.

Softball

BRANTLEY BLASTS EDGEWATER

Lake Brantley's Lady Patriots pounded out 13 hits Thursday afternoon en route to a 10-0 whitewashing of Edgewater's Lady Eagles at Edgewater High.

The Lady Patriots, 2-0, return to action Saturday in the Evans Tournament. Other teams in that tournament include Lyman, Edgewater, Jones, Oak Ridge and host Evans. Lyman lost its season opener, 18-2, against Apopka on Thursday.

Brantley broke up a scoreless tie with three runs in the top of the second then added three more in the fourth and tacked on two in both the sixth and seventh frames.

In the second, Mandy Mathieson led off with a single and Heather Meyer followed with a double to put runners on second and third. Kim Robinson then reached on an error to score Mathieson and Meyer scored on Dawn Gebhart's sacrifice fly. Robinson scored the third run on a single off the bat of Denise Burke.

HITLESS HOWELL FALTERS

West Orange's Lady Warriors didn't exactly bang down any walls Thursday afternoon — but they didn't need to. That's because Lake Howell's Lady Silver Hawks could come up with just two hits in a 4-0 loss to the Warriors at the West Orange Girls Club.

Jodie Switzer

Jackie Miller

Lake Howell, 0-2, goes for its first win today at Orlando Colonial.

"I don't mind these nonconference games," Lake Howell coach Jo Luciano said. "It's a good week to look at the new kids. It's a good time for experimenting to find out what I want to play."

"That doesn't mean I don't mind getting only two hits, though," added Luciano.

Lake Howell actually had an excellent opportunity to take the early lead when Julie Barton unloaded a leadoff triple in the second. But the next three hitters couldn't get Barton home as the Hawks came up empty. Jaudon Jonas' single was the only other hit for the Lady Hawks.

BOONE BOMBS LADY RAMS

Boone's Lady Braves are playing well enough in the early-going of the season that they don't need any help from the opposition. Thursday afternoon, Boone rapped out 16 hits and got 10 errors from Lake Mary's Rams to boot en route to a 16-2 victory at Orlando's Rayford Field.

Lake Mary had seven hits in the game including two each by Beth Watkins and Val Smith.

Local Cage Teams Falter

The Sanford Recreation Basketball All-Star team both turned in strong performances Thursday but dropped close games in District 5 Tournament play at the Salvation Army Gym in Sanford.

In Intermediate League play, Sanford rallied from an early deficit with a big third-quarter but Ken Varnadore's nine fourth-quarter points led Orlando to a 41-39 victory.

Robert Moore scored all 11 of his points in the second half to lead Sanford while Lewis Butler tossed in eight and Charles Knotts and Jessie Nightingale contributed six apiece. Reggie Gamble was high for Orlando with 14.

In the Junior League tourney, Sanford fell behind by 12, 27-15, at halftime and trailed by 16, 37-21, after three quarters. But Sanford came on strong in the fourth period with 20 points but it wasn't enough to pull out the victory.

Brian Grayson scored 12 of his game-high 20 points in the fourth period. Richard Anderson added six points.

Three players hit double figures for Orlando including Chris Glover with 14, Andrew Boatman with 11 and Tim Rican with 10.

...Dilemma

weight," Peters added.

Peters speaks from experience. At the height of his wrestling career he placed second in the Olympic trials in 1980 and was one of the top four in the country who qualified for the Olympics. The games of 1980, however, were boycotted by President Carter due to the Soviet Union's invasion of Afghanistan.

"I was wrestling for three hours a day and running about 20 miles. I still miss waking up in the morning and feeling sore," Peters, who had a fine prep career at Lyman High School before earning All-America honors at the University of Central Florida, said. "Being All-American (in the top six in the country) was the greatest honor for me. The Olympics was just icing on the cake."

"The really dedicated wrestlers are the ones that train hard to make their weight. The ones that complain aren't really losing all that much weight, but want attention."

High school wrestlers are certified at the beginning of the season by a physician who calculates the weight that they can safely lose, called their "minimum certifiable weight," according to Peters.

"The certification is a recommendation not an enforced rule," said Dr. James Quinn who certifies wrestlers at Lake Mary and Seminole high schools. "I think mainly the FHSAA wants the doctors as a third party. I also think that if a physician is not familiar with body fat percentages, then he shouldn't perform the test."

Carlton Henley, tournament manager for the 1986 State meet and principal at Lyman High School, is a member of the executive board of the FHSAA. "We recommend that a physician perform the test and that they use the skin caliper method," Henley said referring to a device that measures fat percentage. "Many coaches and trainers have used this method to keep track of their wrestlers for themselves, but the coaches should not perform their own tests (for certification)."

The certification requirements were enacted by the FHSAA committee in 1982 and their purpose, according to Henley, is to "prevent wrestlers from losing too much weight." The certifications were sent to the state office at the beginning of the season and are distributed to the tournament managers so that no wrestler may compete below his certified weight.

However, this practice only holds true for tournament meets, and not dual, triangular or quadrangular meets, according to Henley.

"About two hours prior to each match the wrestler is checked of his certifiable weight by the referee who performs the weigh-in," Henley said. "A wrestler is not allowed to compete unless he makes weight (is at or under his maximum weight) and exceeds the minimum weight."

Hunziker said sometimes there is too casual of an approach by coaches and physicians. "The weight requirements are set by the FHSAA," Hunziker said. "But I think there should be a greater enforcement of the rule. I've seen instances where the coach figures the weight and the doctor just signs it. I think it's important that the doctor do the checking."

Hunziker said that the practice of the coaches figuring the weights took place in at least two schools in the area, but would not comment on which schools they were.

Calculating the minimum certifiable weight is a simple procedure, which has been made more accurate by a computer. At Seminole High School, trainer James "Doc" Terwilliger plugs seven fat percentage measurements into a computer that calculates their minimum wrestling weight and ideal weights.

"The programs at Lake Mary and Seminole are great, because Seminole has the computer and at Lake Mary all of their wrestlers had already made their weight," Quinn said.

Opinions vary on stricter enforcement. Hunziker said the FHSAA should work closer with the doctors to prevent wrestlers from losing too much weight. "It's a hard thing to do, but I think the state (FHSAA) should approach school doctors and inform them of the legal ramifications of not keeping an eye on the certifications," he said. "It's something serious happens, it may be traced back to the doctors."

Mosure agreed. "Certified trainers and coaches need to be trained to perform the minimum weight tests," he said. "And above all, it is the doctor's final responsibility."

Tribe To Dedicate New Field; Pony Baseball Begins Saturday

Seminole High School will dedicate its new baseball field with a ceremony Saturday at 1 p.m. Principal Wayne Epps will throw out the first ball prior to a nonconference baseball game with Orlando Evans.

Wayne Epps

"A lot of people did a lot of hard work to get this field ready," Mike Ferrell, Seminole coach, said Thursday. "I think it's a real good first-year field."

Several dignitaries will be on hand for the ceremony. Seminole High Assistant Principal Bobby Lundquist, who coached the Tribe prior to Ferrell, will be the master of ceremonies.

In other grand openings Saturday, the Seminole Pony Baseball Organization will kick off its season with "Fun Day" beginning with a parade of teams at 9 a.m. Competition is baseball toss, baserunning and bunting will begin at 10:30 a.m. The regular season begins Monday.

Ed Suggs, president of the resurgent organization, said 45 teams comprised of 562 players will participate this year. "We only have six more teams than last year," Suggs said. "But the teams all have full rosters. They're loaded with players."

Suggs said Seminole Pony has 121 more players than last year. Suggs said new lights are being installed on the Pony and Bronco fields and the Pinto field has been completely rededicated.

"We did a lot better publicity this year," he said. "Mike and Debbie Black (the organization's public relations department) did a super job for us."

There will be bunting competition, baseball tosses and a base relay Saturday. Jay Bergman, University of Central Florida baseball coach, will be the guest speaker. On Sunday, Bergman has proclaimed it Seminole Pony Baseball Day at UCF and all uniformed players will be guests for the Vanderbilt-UCF game.

Also Saturday, the Seminole Softball Club will hold Aretha Riggins Day at the adjacent complex. All proceeds will be given to Riggins, who was stricken by the Landry-Barre-Guillain Syndrome, an ascending paralysis.

Riggins was a key member of the Seminole 15-year-olds third-place national finisher last summer.

LPGA: Sheehan, Morse On Top

COSTA MESA, Calif. (UPI) — The leader board indicated Patty Sheehan played a solid first round in the $330,000 Uuden LPGA Invitational. Sheehan thought otherwise.

"I didn't really play all that pretty," Sheehan said Thursday after she, Cathy Morse and two non-winners on the LPGA Tour each shot 4-under-par 68s to share the first-round lead in the four-day event.

"Walking up to 15, I said to myself, 'What an easy day.' Then I looked at my card and I couldn't believe I hit only nine greens."

Sheehan, who birdied two of her first five holes, birdied No. 11 and parred out.

"It was a pretty bizarre round," said Sheehan, who has 15 Tour victories. "My short game brought it back. I made some close chips and some good putts."

Lady Rams Run Mark To 7-1

Lake Mary's Lady Rams ran their record to 7-1 Thursday with an 8-0 rout of Oak Ridge's Lady Pioneers in prep tennis action at Oak Ridge High.

Suste Stewart got the Lady Rams rolling when she blanked Gigi Fotico, 8-0, at number one singles. Lorie Crayton followed with an 8-3 victory over Myrna Mesa at number two and Erin Higgins outlasted Jennifer Stine, 8-6, at number three. Heather Bennett then lambasted Alyson Popson, 8-0, at number four and Lake Mary swept the singles matches when D'Ann Haynes won by default at number five.

PGA: Leader Knox Defies Odds

CORAL SPRINGS (UPI) — Kenny Knox, a marginal member of the PGA Tour since 1981, produced the round of his life Thursday.

Knox didn't bother to try to qualify for the $500,000 Honda Classic until this week. However, he got into the tournament by beating 136 other players Monday with a qualifying-round 67. On Thursday, he defied even longer odds.

Knox shot a 6-under-par 66 to take a two-shot lead over Chi Chi Rodriguez and Bill Glasson after the first round at the Tournament Players Club at Eagle Trace.

Anticoagulant Is Used To Neutralize Clotting

Dr. Gott

DEAR DR. GOTT — Where the strap meets the bra on the left side, it irritates me so, as if nerve endings are on edge. The skin looks fine. What can my trouble be?

DEAR READER — As you suspect, the strap may be irritating one of the nerves in your skin. Try changing bras or using a little flannel or foam-rubber cushion under the strap.

DEAR DR. GOTT — What effect would an injection of heparin have on a muscular area like the thigh?

DEAR READER — Heparin is a powerful anticoagulant. When given in sufficient quantity, it can completely neutralize the body's clotting mechanism. For this reason, it is an effective and useful drug for treating diseases caused by blood clots, such as phlebitis.

Some postoperative patients are at higher risk of developing clots in the veins (following hip surgery, for example), so many surgeons use low doses of heparin injected subcutaneously to prevent this. Injections of heparin into muscle are discouraged, because although the doses may not affect the whole body, they can cause a painful and swollen hematoma (bruise), which can take several weeks to resolve.

DEAR DR. GOTT — We have a terrible problem with our 26-year-old daughter. She has had bouts of vomiting since she was 4. Most doctors say it's in her head. She says her mouth feels as if it's full of phlegm, but we can't see anything. We are the end of our rope and don't know where to turn.

DEAR READER — Before labeling your daughter's problem as emotional, I would want to make absolutely sure she doesn't have an uncommon abnormality of her upper digestive tract. Take her to a gastroenterologist, who will probably want to perform certain tests, including endoscopy (looking into her stomach with a lighted fiberoptic tube). Only after her digestive tract proves to be normal would I recommend evaluation of her emotional state. DEAR DR. GOTT — I have suffered for many years from muscle spasms in my legs. Is this caused by muscle strain, nerves or poor circulation?

DEAR READER — Muscle spasms may result from all the causes you mention. I suggest you visit a specialist in internal medicine to establish a diagnosis. He or she may wish to assess your circulation, check your nerves and make sure that your body's mineral content is in balance.

Send your questions to Dr. Gott at P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, Ohio 44101.

WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby
Responding to North's strong, artificial two-club opener, South bid two no-trump to show supporting strength without a good suit. North bid four no-trump to invite slam, and South accepted. The play for six was only fair. Declarer needed to bring in the club suit with only one loser. If West had the club ace and clubs were split 3-2, it could be done. Or maybe the club jack would be doubleton in either hand. But declarer had to lead up to dummy's K-Q of clubs, and more than once.

Declarer won the opening lead with his diamond queen. He played a club and won the king in dummy when West played low. He then returned to his hand with the spade ace to play another club. West grabbed his ace and, surprise, played a spade. South could do no more than win the queen in his hand. Although clubs split, there was no way for declarer to get back to his hand to play the fourth and fifth good clubs.

As is so often the case, the grievous error was committed at trick one. Let declarer go up with dummy's king of diamonds. Now he can play a spade back to his ace to lead a club toward dummy. When dummy's king wins, he plays a spade back to his queen to lead another club. West is now helpless. He can take the club ace and play a diamond, but South can rise with dummy's ace, cash dummy's other high club, and reach his own hand with the queen of diamonds to cash the good clubs and make his contract.

Florida Homeowners Can Fight Back Against Destructive Termites

This time of year, one should be on the lookout for termites. These tiny insects thrive in all parts of Florida and are one of the most serious pest problems that confront us. The peak swarming period is from January through May. There are four different types of termites in Florida, each requiring a completely different control method. Thus, correct identification is very important.

The four principal termites in Florida are the native subterranean types which nest in the soil and the dampwood and drywood termites which nest above ground, according to extension entomologist Phil Koehler of the University of Florida's Institute of Food and Agricultural Sciences.

Dampwood termites are the most common in south Florida, and the Formosan subterraneans are found only on the southeast coast. Hence, the native subterranean and drywood types pose the biggest problem here.

Subterranean termites nest in the soil. They eat cellulose, obtained primarily from wood, but also from paper, fiberboard and cotton fabric. They may attack any wood touching the soil. The pesky critters stay hidden in the wood while feeding, but may be detected in several ways.

Termites will swarm about the colony in the

Alfred Bessenes
Urban Horticulturist
323-2500
Ext. 181

spring. During swarming, mating occurs and the termites begin new colonies. Their wings break off shortly after their flight. Even if you don't see the swarming, the presence of discarded wings tells you a colony is nearby.

You may detect a subterranean termite invasion from the earthen shelter tubes they build over the surface of your home's foundation in order to reach the wood above. They cannot stand dry conditions, and these mud tubes maintain the humidity needed in the colony. Damaged wood can be detected by tapping it every few inches with the handle of a screwdriver. If it sounds hollow, you may have termites.

Drywood termites live in colonies, too, but they do not need soil to survive. They build their colonies right in the wood, cutting across the grain and destroying both soft and hard wood tissue. However, subterranean termites follow the grain of the wood, attacking only soft wood. Drywood termites swarm in the spring, also, and lose their wings.

Infestations of drywood termites are most common in attics, window frames, and window sills. As the infestation advances, surface blisters appear on the damaged wood. Again, tapping the wood with the handle of a screwdriver will yield a hollow sound if termites are present.

One of the most significant differences between drywood and subterranean termites is that drywood species excrete pellets of undigested wood, pushing them from the tunnels. The pellets can be seen on surfaces beneath infested wood. Subterranean termites, on the other hand, use these wood particles in the construction of the tunnels.

As with most pest problems, prevention is the best control. The most opportune time to protect against subterranean termites is during the planning and constructing of a building. Most building codes require soil treatment before construction. Any lumber that touches the soil, such as fence posts, should be treated. And remember that wood should be treated after it is cut—otherwise you'll expose untreated surfaces.

Many people believe that building on a concrete slab protects a home from subterranean termites. Actually, such slabs often crack or shrink away from the foundation, allowing termites to get through and infest wood. That's why building codes require treatment during construction.

Paint provides some treatment against drywood termites, but before painting, make sure all cracks and crevices are filled in with putty or similar compounds.

These are prevention measures, which should be taken before termites are a problem. If you're looking for a way to control an existing problem, keep in mind that subterranean and above-ground termites require completely different control measures. Before treatment, you must correctly identify the type of termite causing the damage. If you do have an infestation, the best solution is to contact a licensed pesticide applicator. Let them do the cleanup properly.

A final word about termites—serious damage usually doesn't occur until the colony is several years old. They work slowly. So, a few weeks, or even months, of delay in treatment is usually of little consequence. It's a good idea to inspect all your woodwork occasionally and take prompt action if termites are discovered.

Sanford Nursing and Convalescent Center residents were treated to a party by the Ladies Auxillary of the Fleet Reserve Association and the center's activity department. A party king and queen were chosen. Eihel Smith was crowned by her granddaughter, Sue Montegny; and John Bellamy was crowned by Cecil Bellamy, his son. Music was provided by Inez Collins and Mildred Jackson of the housekeeping department while the residents enjoyed ice cream and punch.

spectacular titled "Looking Back Through the Pages of Black History." Pastor Fields, the Rev. Benjamin Adams and the Rev. H.F. Richardson led a candle-light ceremony. The program's highlight was a presentation of the drama "Looking Back Through the Pages of Black History" with the Rev. Ben Adams narrating. Rozella Fields, Toni Adams and Thelma Sharpe portrayed such famous black leaders as Sojourner Truth, Harriet Tubman, Frederick Douglas, George Washington Carver, Booker T. Washington, Jackie Robinson, Mary McCloud Bethune, Rosa Parks, Coretta Scott King and Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. Awards of appreciation for spiritual and special service to the community were presented to The Friendship Traveling Prayer Band, Minister Willie M. Lowery, president; Bernice Bellamy; the business community for community services; Julie Davis, community service through Foster Parenthood; Michael Wesley, a young handicapped man who works with other young people having special needs; Thomas Moore, an emotionally handicapped man who undertakes Christian mission work in the community; the Rev. H.F. Richardson, for his spiritual guidance; and the Rev. William Lewis, president of Operation Church, for his special reachout to local and foreign mission.

Dreams do come true. Just ask Eliza C. Pringle, Mrs. Pringle taught in Seminole County for forty dedicated years, always insisting on perfection for her pupils. She exposed them to many facets of life by taking field trips. She was demanding and exact, according to principals, students and parents, who sometimes called her bossy.

American Education Week was celebrated at Pinecrest Elementary School, where many students from Mrs. Bowlin's fourth grade class wrote letters to Mrs. Pringle. Here are some excerpts: "I was in your class. You taught me a lot of things that I should have known. You were a wonderful teacher to me and a nice teacher at the school. We miss you at Pinecrest. We have an outstanding school. Are you having a good time on your retirement? We are proud to honor you. Everybody wants you to come back and teach." Mrs. Pringle has been quite busy since retirement, traveling extensively to Europe, Asia, South America and forty-seven states here at home. She was chosen as delegate to the Democratic convention in Hollywood, Florida, and was on the committee from Orange and Seminole Transportation Rail Systems that visited and studied overseas rail systems.

This busy community worker, daughter of Beatrice Clark of Sanford, is married to Clifford Pringle. She attended Seminole County schools and graduated from Crooms Academy in the top 10% of her class. She graduated from Bethune Cookman College and received her master's degree from Florida A and M University. Mrs. Pringle is an active member of Zion Hope Missionary Baptist Church, Phi Delta Kappa Sorority, Democratic Executive Committee, Alumni Association and Seminole County Retired Teachers Association.

Happy birthday for the month of February to Pauline Williams, Thelma Franklin, Ozella Campbell, Zarena Charles, Walter Lowery, Rodrick Alexander, Marshall Lemon, Alberta Armstrong, Candace Brandy and Rosetta Carter.

Adopted Daughter Wants To Meet Alcoholic Dad

DEAR ABBY: Eighteen years ago I gave up my infant daughter for adoption. I was young and unmarried. Four days before I found out I was pregnant, my boyfriend told me that I was just "practice" and he was moving on to the big league, so I never told him.

Well, two years ago my daughter contacted me. We met, and she is beautiful inside and out. She asked to meet her father, but I said, "No." She accepted my decision. Her father is not the honorable person she had built him up in her mind to be. He's an alcoholic, a gambler and has been in trouble with the law. His life was — and is — a shambles.

My daughter is now begging me to tell her who her father is. She wants to meet him, and I must tell her something sooner or later.

I don't want to shatter her dreams. When I looked him up a year ago to tell him that he had a daughter, I couldn't do it. (He thought I had come to see his elderly mother.) You see, I have never stopped loving him. I need some advice. Please help me.

TORN
Donna is better off financially than I am, but she has a reputation for being cheap.

DEAR ABBY: Recently I was unable to attend a baby shower for a friend I'll call Shelley. My neighbor, "Donna," said she was invited, and would be only too glad to take my shower gift along with hers. I thought that was very nice of her. Imagine my surprise on receiving a note from Shelley saying, "Thank you for the lovely baby gift from you and Donna."

Thinking there must have been a mix-up in the cards, I called Shelley to straighten it out and learned that with my gift was a card with my name and Donna's on it!

I then called Donna and asked the obvious question: "Why?" she replied, "I didn't have time to buy a gift, and I didn't want to come empty-handed, so I just added my name to your card."

Needless to say, I was upset. Should I ask Donna to reimburse me for half the cost of my gift, or just forget the whole thing?

STUMPED
Tell Donna she should either buy a gift and send it to Shelley, or reimburse you for her half of your gift.

DEAR STUMPED: Tell Donna she should either buy a gift and send it to Shelley, or reimburse you for her half of your gift.

Drunken Driver Gets 17 Years For Two Deaths

FORT LAUDERDALE (UPI)—A man convicted of manslaughter in the drunk driving accident that killed a well-known Calder Race Course horse trainer and his wife was sentenced to 17 years in prison Wednesday.

Robert Shippman, 20, of Pembroke Pines, whose license had been suspended seven times and who was on probation after a previous drunk driving conviction, slammed his Gold Pontiac Firebird into the rear of a Jaguar convertible in May. The Jaguar's occupants, Tony and Betty Kelly, both 46, were trapped and died in their burning car after the impact.

Broward County Circuit Court Judge Mittle K. Burnstein went beyond the recommended sentence of seven to 12 years and added a probation that would ensure Shippman would return to prison if he drinks or drives.

"It was somewhat of an extreme case," Burnstein said later.

Kathleen Kelly Smith, one of the couple's six children, said she was satisfied with the sentence but added, "I think she could have been harder on him than she was. "We all hate Robert Shippman for what he did to our parents," she said. "On the night of May 18, Robert Shippman sentenced them to a few minutes of torture, then death and a life sentence in eternity."

"Thirty years is not enough for what he did to my parents," said Tom Kelly, also a successful horse trainer.

After the crash, which occurred at 9:21 p.m. on Sheridan Street in Hollywood, Shippman's blood-alcohol level was measured at 0.23 which is more than twice the level of legal intoxication. Witnesses said his car had been going at 90 to 100 mph.

Shippman's extensive record of driving violations included a July 1984 drunk driving conviction. Put on probation for that offense, he violated probation in March and was back in court in March and was back in court in March and was back in court in March.

Shippman had waived the state's plea offer of 10 to 12 years for the Kellys' death and elected to go to trial. It took a jury one hour to find him guilty last month. Shippman could be released after serving eight or nine years of his sentence.

Koch's Budget Ideas

WASHINGTON (UPI)—New York Mayor Ed Koch Thursday urged congressional Democrats not to "give in to the president" on his budget cuts, and instead suggested raising gasoline and energy taxes to reduce the federal deficit.

President Reagan's budget calls for $38 billion in spending reductions, though it grants an 8.2 percent increase for the Pentagon. It includes no general tax increases, but does call for higher "user fees" on government loan programs and certain specified taxes.

Koch, appearing before the House Budget Committee with a panel of other state and local officials, suggested increasing the federal gasoline tax by 20 cents a gallon, instituting a broad tax on energy consumption and beginning a program of tax amnesty for those who have cheated on their federal taxes in the past six years.

Many in Congress, including some Republican leaders such as Senate Budget Committee Chairman Pete Domenici of New Mexico, have said Reagan will not get all the budget cuts he wants and Congress will likely include some kind of taxes in this year's budget mix.

San Antonio Mayor Henry Cisneros, president of the National League of Cities, also called for the preservation of revenue sharing and complained that Reagan's budget would cut 35 percent of "priority" city programs.

Unmentionables...

In The World

Of Haute Couture

By Susan Loden
Herald Staff Writer

Photos By Tommy Vincent

Ladies of the Victorian Era, so modestly dressed with layer upon layer of under and outer wear would be shocked to see that today their unmentionables — bloomers, corsets, camisoles and slips — have survived the passage of time and are being worn, even flaunted, as outerwear.

In this less cautious time anything goes when it comes to raiding the closets, trunks and attics for treasures from post-U.S. Civil War across the decades through the psychedelic '60s.

Sanford antiques dealer Margie Beine, who has just added a collection of Victorian, flapper, and 1930s and '40s clothing to her line, said we aren't seeing or wearing this garb as their original owners did.

The lingerie of the modest misses of Queen Victoria's day, who often mocked that mournful monarch and dressed in black, was a froth of white cotton and lace that never saw the light of day, except to be laundered.

But now both those light, delicate undergarments and the more stately dresses of that day, which have by a quirk of fate not been discarded, find new life as the fun and fashion dress of those who covet the style and stitchery of yesteryear.

Old formal wear is now worn in a casual camp style and handcrafted camisoles, slips, blouses and bloomers, with finely stitched detail are too pretty not to be seen, Mrs. Beine said.

And even those who fall somewhere beyond the 5 to 10 size range of these usually small garments, some with 18-inch waists to fit a corsetted sufferer, collect this romantic clothing for its aesthetic appeal and investment value.

...Unmentionables

Some decorate their walls with castoff costumes or, like Mrs. Beine, have a collection of old hats hanging in their homes, she said.

But most who buy this breed of "hand-me-downs" will be wearers of this garb — dress they will don with a sense of humor as well as style.

"Young people are really into this," Mrs. Beine said. "I think it's funny, they won't wear hand-me-downs, but they'll come in and buy the old clothes."

And it's women, not men who buy and wear this finery that was formerly worn by both sexes. Even men's hats and other items of apparel aren't off limits to fashion conscious women who add a sparkly brooch to spice up a stately hat meant for a man, Mrs. Beine said.

Mrs. Beine has collected her clothing from visiting northern dealers, including a couple who once supplied costumes to theaters and television studios. She said she watches old movies to help her date and identify her finds. In investigating clothing of the past in recent few months, she said she was surprised to learn that the zipper wasn't in use until the 1930s.

She has also noted that movies greatly influenced the fashion of their era. June Gordon of Sanford, who collects old clothes with an artist's eye for design, has a black ribbon cape handed down from her husband's aunt. But Mrs. Gordon has no clothing worn by her mother.

"The clothes she wore, no one would wear," Mrs. Gordon said. "They were sexless and she really was a beautiful woman. I guess at one time she did have a lot of high-fashion things."

And Mrs. Beine speculated perhaps one reason the collectible clothing that has survived is so small is because most items seem to be special occasion garments that would have been worn by a young woman or girl, not the more serviceable garb of a mature mother and housekeeper, formerly the primary role of women.

Those homemakers, with their skills with stitching and the iron had an advantage over today's slave to fashion, Mrs. Beine said. The garments they lovingly handstitched couldn't be duplicated today and the ironing required to maintain the starched, ruffled lacey fashions is a lost art.

Mrs. Beine hates to iron and said her husband laughs when she's up until 3 a.m. ironing new, old clothing finds, all of which she cleans before bringing into her shop.

Despite her dread of ironing, Mrs. Beine said, she loves to see the old garments come to life and she's willing spend hours at the ironing board and also takes a big risk to bring beauty back to some.

Since stained goods have little value, when sturdy white cotton finds need special cleaning, Mrs. Beine said, she makes a mix of cold water and Clorox 2, adds the garment and brings the potion to a boil to bring out the stain.

So far, so good. She hasn't lost an item, but eventually she will, she said. Her husband leaves the room when she starts cooking her collectibles, because, "He knows how much I paid for some of these things."

An old garment, Mrs. Beine said, may carry a price tag near that of a similar modern item, but the quality and nostalgia that is a part of the old piece can't be matched by today's standards.

Mrs. Gordon said the old cotton goods were made of longer, sturdier fibers, and that's one reason they're still serviceable. But beyond the sturdiness of these survivors, Mrs. Beine likes to speculate on the story surrounding a cotton gauze party dress, which was special enough to save.

"It looks so romantic," she said. "I'm sure some story must go into this. I'm fascinated."

And apparently Mrs. Beine isn't the only one fascinated by old tyme fashions. "They're great. If you like to wash and iron," she said. "That's the biggest drawback," but one she has learned to live with.

"It's rewarding. I can understand why women used to iron. I enjoy watching the clothes come to life. You see it and it's just really nasty and then you see it come to life when you wash, starch and iron it."

A surprising pastime for the permapress generation apparently blinded by a passion for the past.

KITES, KIDS AND POWER LINES CAN BE A DEADLY MIX.

For your child's safety, make sure there is nothing metallic on the kite, make sure that the string for the kite has no wire or metal in it, and don't let kids fly kites near power lines.

Ordinarily, power lines are quite harmless. But when a kite gets caught in a power line, it could become electrified. Tell your kids to let go of the string and leave the kite alone. Otherwise, the result could be deadly.

Always look up. Whether you're picking fruit or pruning trees, installing antennas or doing any activity that puts you in possible contact with overhead lines.

Don't be a victim of your own carelessness.

Networks Juggle Shows

By Andrew J. Edelstein

Both CBS and NBC are unveiling new programming lineups as the ratings war between the two networks intensifies.

On Wednesday, March 5, CBS debuts "Fast Times" and "Tough Cookies," two new sitcoms thrown into a rough time slot dominated by NBC's "Highway to Heaven."

"Fast Times" is based on the high-school high-jinks film "Fast Times at Ridgemont High." Ray Walston reprises his film role as a teacher; the students include Dean Cameron, in the dopey surfer role made famous by Sean Penn in the film, and Claudia Wells, who played Michael J. Fox's girlfriend in the hit film "Back to the Future." Amy Heckerling, who directed the feature film, is the supervising producer of the series and directed the premiere episode.

"Tough Cookies" stars Robby Benson as a Chicago detective who walks a beat in his old neighborhood. He still comes into contact with childhood chums—many of whom are now on the other side of the law. During the day, he hangs out at a local bar peopled by an assortment of characters, including Laine Kazan, who plays the owner. The show was produced by Witt-Thomas, the same company responsible for "The Golden Girls."

Later this month on March 25, CBS will be debuting what it believes will be a competitive Tuesday lineup. The 8 p.m. (ET) entry is the newcomer "Morningstar/Eveningstar," a comedy-drama co-produced by Fred Silverman and Earl Hamner ("The Waltons"), about a group of senior citizens and a group of orphans who must learn to live with each other. Its cast includes such veteran performers as Teresa Wright, Sylvia Sidney, Scatman Crothers, Kate Reid, Mason Adams and Jeff Corey.

"Morningstar/Eveningstar" is followed by the new comedy block of "Mary" and "Foley Square," and the prime-time schedule concludes at 10 p.m. with "The Equalizer," which has been moved from Wednesday night. This new time slot might be a wise move for the acclaimed but poorly rated show starring Edward Woodward.

The specter of CBS's new Tuesday lineup may have been responsible for NBC's sudden postponement of "American Almanac," the news-magazine show starring Roger Mudd. After being a nomad on the NBC schedule since its debut last August, "Almanac" was—with much fanfare—to be moved into a permanent slot on Tuesday, March 4. But three weeks before air time it was postponed "indefinitely."

Who Is The Older Of The "Gold" Girls?

Dear Dick — I watch "Growing Pains" and "Benson." And I want to know if Tracey Gold of "Growing Pains" and Missy Gold of "Benson" are related in any way. I have a bet with my friend that Missy Gold is the older of the two. — S.S., Erie, Pa.

Tracey and Missy are not only related in any way, they are related in every way — they are sisters. But you lose your bet, because Tracey is the oldest of the four Gold sisters.

Dear Dick — Why don't film makers want us to hear the dialogue any more? I've looked at "The Year of Living Dangerously" numerous times, and I still can't figure out what Sigourney Weaver says to Mel Gibson when she first gets in the car to run away from the embassy party. — D.B.R., Shamrock, Texas.

Not having a script handy, I cannot tell you exactly what they said. But, in general, I think that you have hit on a real problem. And I think the answer is that it is fashionable today for actors to mumble. They think that is realism. And directors and producers apparently don't consider the audience's right to understand the words as much as they should. This problem is everywhere in show biz — can you understand what the singers say on most singing commercials? (Maybe you don't want to, but, even if you did, you couldn't.)

Ask Dick Kleiner

Dear Dick — Will you please tell my hard-headed neighbor that Alice Ghostley, who played Esmeralda, the maid, on "Bewitched," never played the Stevens' neighbor on the show. I remember both ladies but I don't remember their names. He insists she did. I KNOW she didn't. — J.S., Houston, Texas.

You tell old Hard-Headed Herman that the Stevens' neighbor, Gladys Kravitz, was originally played by a different Alice, Alice Pearce. When Miss Pearce died, Sandra Gould succeeded her in the part. But Alice Ghostley never played Gladys, she played Esmeralda from 1969 to '72.

DEAR DICK — There is a prime rib dinner on this. Who played Granny on "The Beverly Hillbillies"? I say Irene Ryan. My friend says Imogene Coca. Who is right? — R.S., New Tazewell, Tenn.

Eat hearty. It was Irene Ryan all the way.

Dear Dick — There's a steak dinner riding on this, so please help. Who co-starred with Jane Russell in the movie "The Outlaw"? — M.S., Hartsville, Mo.

Boy, this is a good week for beef bets. Jack Buclet was the one who was overshadowed by Miss Russell. He made three or four films after that, then just faded away.

Dear Dick — During the early 1920s, a motion picture company came to this area and produced a number of silent films. The name of the company was Blazed Trail Productions, headed by John Lowell Russell. He played the male lead, his wife wrote the scripts and their daughter, Evangeline, played the leading lady. They had a son, John, about my age. I have often wondered if he became the John Russell of "Lawman." — M.L.B., Gloversville, N.Y.

John Russell says that, no, that was not his family.

Dear Dick — My husband says that Cloris Leachman played the female cop on "Carter Country." I just know that isn't so. — D.W., Houston, Texas.

I'm with you. Barbara Cason played the female cop. Perhaps the source of your husband's confusion is that the cop's name was Cloris Phebus.
