JUST IN PASSING BY R. J. HOLLY

The Lakeland Chamber of Commerce recently made a campaign for memberships and now have $52,000 in the treasury for publicity purposes. It is high time that the men of Sanford were called upon to come into the Chamber of Commerce and help put Sanford on the map. Without our Chamber of Commerce Sanford would just be a wide place in the Tampa man says that Tampa needs several hundred more apartment houses to take care of the tourist business in the winter time. Sanford needs many more anartment houses to take care of the all year round business. There are many people here this summer who want apartments and if we get any tourists this winter there will be no place to put them.

Place flowers in the hands of the living Instead of waiting until they are dead has always been my motto in life. We have all taken a crack at the Southern Utilities Co., from time to time as it seems to be the favorite indoor sport, and while thinking of some of their so-called "hard boiled" and iron clad rules of collecting their bills it would be well to remember that since the Fernald-Laughton Hospital has been organized the Southern Utilities Co., have given this institution free ice and all they could use. This is not an advertisement and I only mention it in passing.

My old friend, Al Harris, of the Jacksonville Journal used, an airplane to bring a special Florida Press Association edition of the Journal to Cocoa during the meeting Tast week. It was a good stunt for the Press Association and for the Journal and as for Al it would not be out of place to say that as an aviator he is a good bartender.

With all the building of new homes in Sanford it would be well for the City Fathers to remember that lower taxes should prevail on our homes. If we have enough pride in our city and enough gumption in our system to build nice homes we should receive encouragement in the way of low taxes on homes.

Speaking of homes and apartments and other buildings in Sanford it would be well to investigate the single tax methods and help the fellow who is endeavoring to build up Sanford and let the speculator pay his share of the taxes. In other words if I build a nice home next to a vacant lot and make this vacant lot more valuable for the fellow who is holding it for higher prices, this vacant lot should pay as much taxes as my lot with a nice house on it. Why should the speculator have all the gravy?

Receiving se en letters this week about this column of nonsense makes me feel lonesome about the daily Herald. It brings back to my mind most pleasant memories of the days gone by when we were fighting for an existence here and attempting to put over the many big things that have since come to pass. And the many good old friends here in Sanford and those days of struggling against adverse public opinion cements us closer together. This is the reason we want to live in Sanford the balance of our days.

My old friend, Willis Ball, managing editor of the Times-Union was here a few hours on Tuesday with his charming bride and while he had no eyes for anything except Mrs. Bail he had a few minutes to look around Sanford and was amazed. at our rapid growth. If the editors of the larger papers in Florida would take a few trips over the state and get acquaint ed with the people and endeavor to act human they would discover a new Florida at every turn. Mr. and Mrs. Ball have promised to return to Sanford some time after the honeymoon is over and give us the once over.

My young friend, Elton J. Moughton, one of the coming architects of Florida showed me 12 "rush jobs" of new buildings in Sanford for this week and Elton, who is a Sanford booster said, that he could not explain what made such a rush of building orders unless it was that Sanford was on the big-gest building boom in history. Elton Moughton is a Sanford boy who has made good and as one who has watched his career from boyhood to manhood I take great pleasure in his success. And what he says about Sanford is true in every respect. You can hear about Sanford wherever you go in this state and the "City Substantial" is about to launch one of the greatest building programs in the state of Florida. Put your money in Sanford. It works while you sleep.

Tampa has just voted three million dollars worth of bonds for public improvements. No trouble to vote bonds now and no trouble to sell them. Bonds are tax exempt and offer the best investment in the world for the people who want tax exempt securities that will not pay any income tax or surtax.

The burning questions of the hour in the gubernatorial race are "where was Frank Jennings born?" and "what did John Martin say about Miss Skinner?" Who cares? What the public should be concerned about is just what the candidates think of the vital questions that affect the people and the tax payers of Plorida.

Robbers in Tampa stole big wad of money from banker while he was transferring it from one bank to another. It makes me tremble to think of some robber knocking down one of our local bankers while he was transferring some of my overdrafts from one bank to another. And then there is always more or less danger in any kind of transferring.

No more candidates will come out, it is said. The reason is very plan. If any more announce there will not be enough people left to elect them. No candidate would think of voting for himself.

When we get 75 per cent of the fruit in the exchange we can control the situation and we will never have another year as bad as this one.

Approximately 200 growers from this and surrounding communities attended the meeting, and they were unanimous in their applause of the appeals for co-operation made by Dr. MacKenzie and Mr. Les. According to exchange officials, most growers in this section have already joined the organization. Bign-up committees will begin work at once, however, canget their signatures to the "Lakewales Plan" contracts by May 1.
