SOLDIERS SLAIN IN DIAMOND TILT WITH CLEANERS

Company D Boys Drop Lopsided Contest By 21 To Five Score

By R. E. CULLUM. Company D diamond ball team took it on the chin good and proper last night when they fell before the heavy bombardment of the Seminole Dry Cleaners in a nine-inning affray which ended with the Dry Cleaners being on the top side of a 21 to 5 score.

Cook started for the Company D team and for two innings held the Dry Cleaners scoreless. However, they began to romp on him in the third inning, putting over four runs on two hits, two walks and one error. The Cleaners added five more in the fourth and four in the fifth. W. Kinlaw relieved Cook in the sixth and managed to hold the Dry Cleaners to two runs in this frame. Kinlaw pulled through the seventh inning with only three men facing him, but in the eighth inning they renewed the attack with fresh vigor, Cook having to come to Kinlaw's assistance in this inning. But the Dry Cleaners would not be denied and they scored six runs to bring their total up to 21 for the night, as they failed to put a runner across in the final frame.

Johnny Hodge was on the firing line for the Dry Cleaners, and for five innings kept the Company D team far away from home plate. In fact only one hit was gathered off his delivery, and only 17 men faced him during the first five innings. In the sixth inning, Johnny opened up and allowed three hits good for one run. In the seventh inning the Dry Cleaners came to "Parade Best" with the result Company D added two more runs. However, in the two final frames the Cleaners again tightened up and it was certain for Company D. George Steels carried off the hitting honors for the Dry Cleaners, securing four out of six trips to the plate. Hunter was the only player for the Dry Cleaners who was unable to scrape acquaintance with home plate. However, he did manage to get one hit, his last trip at bat. On the other hand, his fielding around first base more than made up for his lack of hitting.

Bob Mays played a fine game at short center, making several difficult catches. The Dry Cleaners snaggled two in right field that bordered on the sensational. Fielding honors on the part of the Dry Cleaners were about equally distributed, every player fielding his position practically 100 per cent. Tonight Chase and the Truck Growers were on the long end of a 19 to 2 score the last time these two teams met, and Manager Ravenel of Chase states that his team will be out with the sole purpose of avenging this defeat, and that the Truck Growers will certainly have to play ball better than they ever have to come out on top.

Also, tonight the Piggy-Wiggy girls team goes to Orlando to battle the Blackwood Cleaners, and this should prove a very interesting game. On Monday night the DeLand All Stars will come to Sanford to attempt to repeat the dose handed the Sanford team in DeLand Thursday night. However, the Sanford players are of a very different opinion and are going to make a mighty bid for the odd game of the series. At any rate this should prove one of the best games ever seen on the local diamond.

OH YEAH?

By PETER SCHAAL

Y is never saw Fathers taking to the idea of entertaining their sons at a banquet and dance as Sanford fathers are! H. B. Odham and J. E. Preston, who have arranged for the football banquet and dance at the Elks Club next Friday, this morning announced that after a one-day drive they had contacted with nine fathers, all declaring their desire to lend a hand in the cause. W. B. Entaminger, Sr., J. F. Elser, John Lyles, Paul Higgins, Sr., J. C. Bennett, John Courter, H. B. Odham, J. E. Preston and Judge James G. Sharon have already contributed their share toward the affair, while E. E. Brady has offered to act as a patron and carry a father's share of expenses. Mr. Odham asks that all fathers get in touch with him or Mr. Preston at once, for it is necessary to purchase food, especially turkeys, a few days ahead.

In mentioning some of the gifts which friends of the team showed upon it because it was the Orlando game this year, we forgot to include that Laney's Drug Store, Pomeroy's Candy Kitchen, Daggett's Soda Fountain donated a round of soft drinks, while the South Harkers, as they always do, donated a huge cake which will be presented at the annual Hi-Y banquet early in December.

A last minute change in plans last night caused Coach Leonard McLucas to switch his lineup for today's game with New Smyrna. Instead of using his first eleven, he opened with his second, and let them get some much needed experience for next year. The coach planned to give his first outfit a rest, in preparation for that tough Turkey Day tilt with Leesburg, although he said he might put them in for about the last three minutes, to sort of let them cool their heels. The coach is certainly going into this Leesburg game with plenty of caution and care, indicating that he would like nothing better than a victory over the outfit. When one considers that Leesburg has not been defeated in three years, and that Sanford is the only team to have tied, or nearly beat them, and that Sanford has two terrible defeats to avenge, the coach's plans are laid bare.

Leesburg has a light but fast eleven this year, with about six first class men in reserve. A usual, Banning features his offensive game, and in Whittier, Miller and Braoy, he has a trio of backs just as good as Jenkin, Cahill, and Adams ever were. Sanford's line should out-play the Leesburg line all the way, unless Banning has a way of stopping Kanner. I don't know how he's going to do that unless, to either has a man foul him, which isn't Banning's style, or sends three or four men to knock every play. That ought to leave a nice hole for Sanford backs to charge through for good gains. It's going to be interesting to see how Banning will dispose of Kanner, because that player can break up many of those short passes which Banning's backs throw to men on the line scrimmage. It's going to be a great game, and a Sanford victory must be forthcoming. The boys will not be dined and danced unless they win, they have been told.

How the Pick-The-Winner contestants are crying over the alleged "easy" hat they've got to worry about this week! Not less than a dozen of the boys and girls, now in the thick of the fight for the football ticket to the Kentucky-Florida game have approached Oh Yeah! in regard to the question, all begging for merry next week. For once they admit that the contest is anything but easy, and that once they are digging back into the records.

There being a dearth of football or other sport news, Oh Yeah! will today offer his selections for this week-end. They are all based on a careful study of past records and press stories right up to this morning as to the condition of the various clubs involved, and for once Oh Yeah! hopes to come in with a better than average score. Last week he picked nine out of 13, to give him a season average of .692, gained in picking 28 out of 54 winners. That's the fourth straight week Oh Yeah! has failed to jump into the 700 or better class.

In the Club place, he picks Yale to win the match-up Harvard coaches. ... and all the other sports news.

GATORS TO LEAVE UPON LONG JAUNT TO WEST COAST

Will Stop Off On Way To Pacific To Play Georgia Tech Team

UNIVERSITY OF FLORIDA, GAINESVILLE, Nov. 20.—Coach Charlie Bachman and 28 Gators will step on the train this afternoon at 5:30 o'clock to start the latest football trip in the history of the University of Florida.

The Gators will stop off at Atlanta to play Georgia Tech Saturday, then board a westbound train ball club. And the trip will culminate in a Thanksgiving Day game five days later.

The Gators will cover a total of 6586 miles, and the trip will bring Florida's total mileage for the season to more than 12,000. This will compare favorably to any season's mileage ever compiled by a football team in the first athletic contest between Florida and California, rival sunbathers.

Coach Bachman has nominated 26 of the 33 players leaving today to make the hop from Atlanta to California. They are: Hall, Cherry, Parnell, Goodyear and Ed Williamson, ends; Phell, Jenkins, Clyde, McClellan, and Simpson, tackles; Bernhard, Richards, Anderson and Osgood, guards; Ferraral and Spiers, centers; Culler and Treadgold, quarterbacks; Rogero, Davis, Emmelhains, Fountain Kelly, Beck, and Brown, fullbacks; Silby and Hughes, fullbacks.

Several of the seven players scheduled to turn back at Atlanta may be transferred to the California-bound squad at the last moment, depending if any of the first named players are injured in the Tech game. The seven who will top at Atlanta are: Lou Billinski, tackle; J. D. Williamson, Ron Forsythe and Reid, guards; Turner, center; Litherland and Shaw, back, quarterbacks.

It will take the Gators four days to reach Los Angeles after leaving Atlanta. They will stop off at El Paso and Alhambra for afternoon workouts on Tuesday and Wednesday and will arrive at Los Angeles on Thursday, just a few hours before the game. The Floridian, will be attired in new uniforms for the California game, discarding their present outfits for slightly heavier equipment.

Coach Bachman, always non-committal on the eve of a important game, did not express his opinion as to Florida's chance against the Yellow Jacket, Saturday. However, all evidence points to the Gators facing a tough assignment. Tech, in the midst of their worst season in recent years, has shown a decided improvement during the last few weeks. Last Saturday, Tech dropped a 13-12 decision at Pensylvania, Florida, on the other hand, did not appear impressive in the 6-6 tie with South Carolina at Tampa last Saturday.

The Gators face the same prospect in their tilt with U. S. L. A. on the coast. The California eleven had won but two football games until this season, and neither was a major triumph. However, U. S. L. A. recently astounded the coast football circles by defeating St. Mary's, and then held Stanford to a 0-0 tie for three quarters before bowing to a last period aerial attack 12-0.

Besides the players, Assistant Coaches Duffin Stanley and Joe Holtzinger, Director of Publicity Frank Wright and Student Manager Alie Berker will accompany the Florida team to California.

That annual, ancient tilt between Purdue and Indiana will go in favor of Purdue despite Indiana's gallant 8-7 defeat by the mighty Northwestern outfit last week.

Barry Wood, Booth To Meet In Final Football Rivalry

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Nov. 20.—(A.P.)—The fourth and last act of a football drama that could be titled "the hero and the goat" probably will be one of the side-shows attending Saturday's Harvard-Yale game here.

Capt. Barry Wood, who has led a powerful Harvard eleven through an undefeated preliminary season, is prepared to continue in his hero part. His teammates are confident that they can prevent "little Albie Booth, leader of the Yale forces, from usurping their favorite's place in the gridiron spotlight.

Booth and Wood began a rivalry four years ago in the Yale bowl, when they were freshmen quarter-backs.

Came 1929, and Wood and Booth were the outstanding stars on their respective teams. Barry opened the game, for Harvard but Albie was held out until the Elks had marched up to Harvard's 20-yard line.

Booth's hurried entrance proved to be a poor bit of strategy. Stonecold, he tried for a field goal that was blocked by Jim Douglas, thereby spoiling a Yale scoring chance. Wood managed to drive the Crimson 67 yards for a touchdown, droppicked the extra point and then added three points more with a field goal when one of Albie's punts was blocked deep in Yale territory.

Act three was played in the bowl last year and Albie was crowding Frank Carideo, of Notre Dame, for all-America honors when he lined up against the Crimson. He went into an immediate eclipse for Harvard watched him so closely that he was always bottled up in the Harvard line.

Plans Are Made For Father, Son Banquet

The annual Father and Son Banquet staged by members of the Future Farmers of America, Seminole Chapter, is this year to be a unique event in that every item on the menu is a Seminole-County made or grown product.

The affair, to be held tonight at 7:00 o'clock at the Seminole High School, will attract a large group of prominent Sanford and Seminole County civic leaders. Representatives of all service clubs will attend, while every branch of school and civic life has been invited to send a representative.

Several medals, cups, and other honors will be awarded to boys of the chapter who have gained outstanding prominence because of their achievements during the past year, and as usual, it is to be a gala event in the annals of the local chapter's history.

TOKYO, Nov. 20.—(A.P.)—A friendly warning that serious complications will result if Russia sends troops into North Manchuria was dispatched to Moscow yesterday by the Japanese government.

The Japanese ambassador at Moscow was instructed to convey the warning to Maxim Litvinoff, commissar for foreign affairs. The ambassador was directed to inform Litvinoff that no damage was done the Chinese Eastern Railway Wednesday during the triumphal advance of General Honjo's Japanese troops to Taitshai.

The instructions to the ambassador followed a Japanese note to Russia in which the Tokyo government charged that Moscow was "partially responsible" for the Japanese occupation of the Chinese Eastern Railway area, which is within the Russian sphere of influence.

The railway, the Japanese note said, had been used for the transportation of Chinese troops. A suggestion was included that the soviet government issue another denial that Russia is furnishing arms and ammunition to the Chinese.

The note denied Japan was "manufacturing" rumors of Russian assistance to China, and expressed the opinion that China was spreading these rumors in the belief Russian intervention might thus be accomplished.

AIRPLANES ARRIVING FROM TROPICS WILL BE GIVEN SPRAYING

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—(A.P.)—Air transport companies have given assurance of willingness to fumigate planes from tropical ports to obviate what the public health service last night called "a recognized potential danger" of infection-bearing mosquitoes being flown to these shores.

The danger of importing the disease by air is greatly minimized, however, by the fact that no yellow fever is known to exist farther north than South America.

Bids to be asked soon for construction of Mt. Dora-Tavares, five-mile Lake Shore highway.

(Continued from Page One) dations known, however, than rumblings of opposition were heard on Capitol Hill. The last expressed wishes of Congress, contained in the Norris bill, called for government operation of the big Tennessee River project. The measure was vetoed by the President.

Senator Norris of Nebraska, author of that legislation, said the commission program "looks like it is full of tricks." He added: "It was just another Hoover commission appointed to carry out Hoover's ideas. It looks like the old trick of getting power for the chemical interests under the guise of a farmer's program."

Chairman McNary of the Senate agriculture committee said yesterday, his group would consider the commission's report but probably would not approve of it.

"The committee has expressed itself unanimously on several occasions in favor of the Norris bill," McNary said, "and in all probability will do it again."

The nine members of the commission decided unanimously it would be "economically feasible and desirable" to operate the project for the manufacture of fertilizer, cooperative research and experiment to benefit agriculture, and for the manufacture of chemicals.

The report said but little of power development. Such surplus power as would remain from fertilizer manufacture operations would be sold with states, counties and municipalities having preference.

The Other Way

An interesting chapter in economic history is being written in the city of West Palm Beach. Over-burdened in much the same way as Sanford, though not to the same extent, West Palm Beach has long since defaulted on both principal and interest payments, until its bonds are quoted at thirty-five (Sanford's at thirty-six), and the Supreme Court has recently issued a mandamus ordering that city to levy sufficient taxes (millage 160) to pay all defaulted and current interest.

Unable or unwilling to get together with its bondholders, that city has apparently reached a financial impasse. Cash on hand was exhausted with the payment of the November 15 payroll. No additional funds are in sight. It goes without saying that no taxpayer would be so foolish as to attempt to pay the 160 mill tax. Any levy less than that amount, at present would place the commissioner in contempt of court. Actual operation of the city is endangered. The possibility of forms of taxation other than ad valorem, as amusement taxes, sales taxes, is being considered, with cries of protest being raised by the already over-burdened business man.

Meanwhile negotiations continue between the city heads and the bondholders committee, with the committee insisting that if the city cannot pay it all, it pay as much as it can. The city, at least one faction of it which seems to be in control, contends that it must be given an entirely new deal. Outstanding bonds must be refunded at a sufficient discount so that the city will be able to pay interest and sinking fund installments and yet grow and prosper. A final settlement must be arranged now, once and for all, so that taxpayers may be encouraged to pay taxes, and yet inspired with some hope for the future.

Man Failure

Mechanical perfection has reached a high plane of efficiency. Man lags behind. This statement is borne out by the findings of the National Safety Congress which met in Chicago last month and reported that ninety-five percent of all accidents are due to "man failure."

Not to fault mechanism. Not to a tire which blows out, a bolt that breaks, or a cog that slips. Not to breaks that fall to hold or a steering gear that locks. Not to slippery streets, or traffic ordinances. Not to blind crossings or to unexpected intersections, or winding roads or faulty bridges, mountain slides, or dangerous ditches. Not to any of these things, but to "man failure."

Volumes of statistics compiled in the big cities prove that most automobile accidents occur not during the early morning rush to work, but during the dash for home in the evening. Men have worked hard all day, are tired. Their thoughts are on other things than driving. If on anything at all, they are too weary to think. Their brains are foggy, their eyesight blurry. They crash.

The human machine cannot stand the strain of modern being as well as the 1931 automobile or airplane. The noise of the city, whistles, horns, grinding brakes, screeching trains and street cars, the almost machine-gun-like rattle of steel riveters, all shatter nerves; the speed and rush with which we travel from one place to another, always something to do, always some place to go, never quite getting caught up, sleep with muscles taut, batter the human machine.

SANFORD, TWENTY YEARS AGO

Miss Beaula Graves and H. C. McKuller were married at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. F. X. Graves, this afternoon at 5:30 o'clock. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. C. H. Summers of the Methodist Church. Mr. and Mrs. McKuller left on the evening train for Tampa where they will make a short visit before returning to Sanford, their future home. Mr. McKuller is connected with the Atlantic Coast Line Railway.

The municipal election today ended at sundown and it is safe to predict that few elections in Sanford have caused more comment and yet were as quietly-carried out. From the moment the polls opened until the close, the candidates and their friends were busy as bees and every automobile and vehicle was placed in commission and many a man rode on leather today that will walk on asphalt tomorrow. The following is the result of the election: For Mayor, W. D. Holden, 319; G. W. Spencer, 321; For Councilmen, W. W. Abernathy, 304; P. M. Elder, 327; George Fox, Jr., 351; W. S. Hand, 356; B. W. Herndon, 320; S. A. Howard, 184; T. J. Miller, 344; W. H. Peters, 344; S. Runge, 449; O. S. Shinholler, 104; H. S. Stevens, 300; W. H. Underwood, 377; and F. L. Woodruff, 303. The Clerk and Assessor, S. J. Higgins, 309; and M. W. Lewis, 307. The Treasurer and Collector, W. L. Spruce, 377; and Mayor, W. D. Holden, 319; and Members of Executive Committee, J. I. Higgins, 304; J. W. Black, 304; J. D. Dineen, 311; G. H. Dineen, 311; George H. Dineen, 311; F. S. Dineen, 311.

MEXICAN DANCES
BY HOWLAND COX

At the School of Plastic Dynamics in Mexico City, Mexico, it is proposed that later will be known as the national dance. It is proposed that the ancient and modern forms of this Mexican art shall be interpreted through the medium of the ballet.

To accomplish this instructors will be engaged in Europe and Mexico. The suggestion has been made that members of the ballet begin their studies at the age of eight or nine years. The school will be open to all who desire to help in developing the national dance. The plan was conceived by all-Indian Mexicans troubled by the influence of foreign dance movements which they claimed were upsetting the "emotional purity" of the Mexican dance and changing its interpretations. Several attempts were made to determine upon a form and cadence acceptable to everyone. But all that resulted was an agreement to disagree.

There were many who favored restoration of the Aztec and Maya, while others desired to copy the present ceremonial dances of the Indians. Then there were those who held that the only true expression was that of the Greek movement. Others insisted that the dance should be sophisticated, clothing the Rusejan Ballet in Mexican costumes. Fortunately, the disagreement resulted in the establishment of the School of Plastic Dynamics. Mexican dances, like Mexican music, must be divided into two periods, the aboriginal, the pre-Columbian, and the present. From the influence of these eras the dances of the future are to evolve.

In the days when the Maya Quiche civilization of the Southern Yucatan flourished in Southern Mexico, the era was one of imagination influenced by dramatic poetry. Palaces were rich with adornment, warriors were clad in gold and precious stones, priests wore gorgeous robes, and women were clothed in costly apparel. Dramatic poetry held powerful sway over the people. But among the inhabitants of the central plateau dancing represented a religious ritual with definite training required. Especially true was this of the Aztecs, who established a school, an official institution named the Xochiquetzal, housed in a large edifice with great apartments, a school, and a temple. Here at sunset the singing and the dancing teachers deposited instruments in the center of the court and young men and girls came forth. Intricate steps were taught, and the dancers circled

KEEPING STEP WITH PROGRESS

In keeping pace with the demands of our many friends and patrons we have each year enlarged, remodeled and redecored our establishment until the modest little room, the original home of "Downyflake Doughnuts" is all but forgotten. Out of this expansion has come "Myrtle's Coffee Shop", the home of Downyflake Doughnuts and of food that pleases the palates of the most fastidious.

We have erected a large Neon electric sign in front of our shop depicting the new name by which we will be known in the future and which, we hope, will add to the attractiveness of our street and the City in general.

New British Duties Will Hit Numerous American Articles

LONDON, Nov. 21. — (A.P.)—The first duties under Britain's new anti-dumping measure will become effective next Wednesday and will hit numerous articles the nation has been accustomed to receive from the United States.

The text of the "abnormal importations act," issued last night, showed duties of 50 percent, based on value.

The order imposing these taxes was made under the terms of the anti-dumping measure which earlier in the day received royal assent after having passed all stages in Parliament.

The following articles will be subjected to 50 percent duties: Metal furniture, cutlery, including surgical instruments and safety razors, hand tools other than agricultural implements, vacuum cleaners, wireless sets and the component parts thereof excepting the valves, permanent magnets or batteries, transmitters.

The new duties also hit all kinds of perfumery and cosmetics, including toothpastes.

The order designated as "number one" was signed by Walter Ransome, president of the board of trade.
