Easier Insurance Reflects Health, Safety Advances

By FRANK CORRICK
Copley News Service
Q. Is life insurance available to most citizens? — J.F.
A. Most Americans who apply for life insurance are able to get it. About 97 per cent of applicants for "ordinary" life policies are accepted by the life companies, according to the latest industry survey, and 92 per cent are at standard rates. Only three per cent of all applicants are considered uninsurable, chiefly for health reasons.

Q. I have submitted some doctor bills to Medicare, and each time I get a notice telling me that the amount of the doctor's bill is more than the "reasonable charge." What am I supposed to do in a case like that? — A.C.
A. Write to the carrier in your area and tell why you disagree with the amount allowed. Reasonable charges are determined by the Medicare carriers — the organizations selected in each state by the Social Security Administration to handle medical insurance claims. In arriving at a "reasonable charge" they take into consideration the customary charges of your doctor as well as the charges made by other doctors in your locality for similar services.

Q. I thought this new Supplemental Security Income Program paid everyone the same amount. My cousin in California gets more than I do. How come? — J.B.C.
A. The basic amount paid by the federal government in Supplemental Security Income benefits is the same throughout the 50 states. Each state, however, may pay an additional amount over and above what the federal government pays. In many states the state supplement is paid with the federal Supplemental Security Income payment in one combined check.

Q. Is a partnership agreement always in writing? — H.V.
A. No, but it is more desirable and affords greater protection to all parties, if it is in writing.

Q. I have worked a few years with the government.
WORLD ALMANAC FACTS
The world's longest artificial seaway is the St. Lawrence Seaway which covers a distance of 189 miles from Montreal to Lake Ontario. The project cost about $470,000,000 and was opened April 25, 1959. It was dedicated by President Dwight D. Eisenhower and Queen Elizabeth II on June 26, 1959.

Q. I will be 64 in May. If I work regularly until then I will make about $3,000. Would I be penalized for the surplus I make? What I mean is how would it affect my Social Security? — W.T.J.
A. In 1974 you are allowed to make $2,400. If you limit yourself to that amount or less, you will receive Social Security payments for the entire year. But that's just part one of the rule.
If you earn over $2,400, you lose one dollar for every two dollars earned over $2,400. That's part two.
Now for part three. You are entitled to a Social Security check for any month you earn $200 or less.
In your case if you earn over $200 from January through May and you don't work again for the rest of the year, you get your Social Security checks from June on.

New York Confusion Over Stock Trading

By DONALD C. BAUDER
Copley News Service

The state of New York, with proper piety, has moved to block two German firms from selling stock in disorderly houses.
Meanwhile, the American Stock Exchange, also from New York, has filed a plan for permission to begin trading in stock options.

What is the relationship? Well, it is somewhat ironic that New York objects strenuously to the trading of stock in disorderly houses, all the while smiling upon the trading which goes on in disorderly markets. For, by and large, the put and call business—called options trading—has a long-standing reputation as pretty disorderly, which is to say, highly speculative, or, as one investment banker put it, "Puts and calls are for the racetrack crowd."

Indeed, the put and call lexicon smacks somewhat of disorderliness. An option is the privilege of buying or selling 100 shares of a stock at a stated price for a stated period of time.
A put is an option to sell the stock and a call is an option to buy.

operation is the biggest craps game going today. It's a gambling casino operating out there in space."
Indeed, one must wonder who is making money. Normally, put and call buyers lose 80 per cent of the time—that is, by the time the option expires, it is worthless.

Last April the Chicago Board Options Exchange set out to bring respectability to options. Trading is only in calls, and you can trade them right up to the expiration date, unlike standard calls in which you are locked into options. And trading is limited to 32 respectable (in the main) stocks.

By volume alone, the Chicago Board Options Exchange has been extraordinarily successful: on opening day April 26, some 91,000 shares traded. Now volume is nearing 2 million shares.

However, there is legitimate question over whether option trading has gained respectability. Said a San Diego, Calif., investment banker recently, "The Chicago options

11th In Four Counties
Another Area Corpse Found

By CHRIS NELSON
Herald Staff Writer

The horrifying trail of women murdered in Central Florida changed into northwest Orange County this morning as an Apopka construction worker stumbled upon the decomposed remains of a young white woman, bringing to 11 the number of recent victims in a path reaching from Osceola to Brevard and across Seminole Counties.

(Related story page 3A)
The badly decomposed body was found covered by palmfronds in the underbrush of Old Apopka Road just hours after Brevard authorities found a gunshot wound to the head.

Neither of the two latest victims has been identified. The Apopka body — third in Orange County in recent months — is now being studied by county medical examiner Thomas Hegert while homicide detectives probe the underbrush of the land clearing site of Vulcan Road.

Orange County Sheriff's spokesman said there was no information available on how the Apopka victim met death, or whether any connection was suspected between the as yet unsolved Altamonte Springs dump murders.

The spokesman said the body had apparently been in the underbrush at least two to four weeks. There was no word on clothing or other possible clues at the death site.

In Brevard, that county's sixth female victim since Nov. 14 was found one-mile west of Titusville by a sheriff's search party out looking for victims.

After the gruesome discovery — prompted by information from a 20-year-old electrician charged as one of the murderers — Brevard Sheriff Leigh Wilson said he will now order a search of the entire north county area west of I-65.

Wilson said the body, still bearing fragments of clothing, was more decomposed than any of the previous discoveries.

Only four of the young Brevard women have been identified.

Meanwhile Thursday, two Osceola County detectives met with Brevard authorities to discuss possible links to the still unsolved murder of Walt Disney World employee Deborah Jean McCartney.

Miss McCartney, 20, of St. Cloud, was found bound in a ditch Sept. 20, but detectives say there is no known link in the murders.

In Altamonte Springs, sources close to the investigation say possible murder charges against a man being held in Georgia on multiple rape charges will have to wait the outcome of the rape trials — and may have been shattered by creation of one of the remains.

The sources said all evidence in the apparent twin-murders has been turned over to State Atty. Abbott Herring's office. Only one of the victims, Laura Lynn Harberts, 18, Orlando, has been identified.

Her remains, with the exception of a jawbone and teeth retained for identification purposes, were cremated after investigators neglected to seek a stop order on funeral proceedings.

The cremation could be crucial, sources say, because cause of death was never established.

fill up on gas," said Mrs. Williams.
At Bill's BP Service in Sanford, Lowell Martindill said they are so short of gasoline they are closing at 11 a.m. today and Saturday. "We might make it through Tuesday," he said, "but if we don't get a delivery then we'll have to stay closed."

At Clem Leonard Shell, also in Sanford, the supply of fuel is running short. Operators there are waiting to see how long the Tampa strike will last, and say they will run out of fuel if the strike is not halted soon.

At the Village West Truck Terminal, manager Melvin Payne said he has all the fuel he can handle at present. "But the strike will hold up deliveries, and then we could run dry again," he said.

Bill Ball of Ball Trucking Co. agreed: "If the strikers hold out we have a problem; it hasn't hit us yet."

At Horne Distributors, W.W. Horne said he was not sure whether they were "served" out of Tampa, but agreed that if they were, they face the problem of running short.

Although all service stations contacted in the Sanford area this morning said they had some fuel, truckers and other persons who make their living on the road are having difficulties getting all the fuel they need for keeping running.

Mrs. W. H. Matthews of Sanford, whose husband is a wholesaler drug and sundries salesman operating a one-and-a-half-ton truck in an area including Sanford, DeLand, Mt. Dora and Orlando, said she and her husband feel their livelihood is threatened by the fuel shortage.

"He's having a terrible time getting gas," said Mrs. Matthews of her husband. "They'll only give him two gallons every place he stops."

"We're wondering how in the world we're going to get through this," she said.

"People are getting panicky, and we're getting scared too," commented Mrs. Ben Williams at Williams Amoco Service in Sanford. "We've been told to call Tampa later today for information. We don't know yet if the strike will affect our deliveries, but we're getting low and will need more fuel soon."

FPL Union Votes End To 3-Month-Old Strike
MIAMI (AP) — Members of the International Brotherhood of Electricians have voted to end their 3-month-old strike against the Florida Power & Light Co., a spokesman for the utility said today.
FP&L was notified by federal mediators early this morning that striking electrical workers had voted 1,925 to 743 to accept the company's contract offer, the spokesman said.
FP&L has suffered heavy losses to vandalism since the strike by about 4,000 workers began Nov. 1.
The company wanted to fire 153 strikers accused by the union of participating in the vandalism. But the union asked that they be allowed to return to work, pending criminal proceedings in the courts.

Independent Truckers Shut Down

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Demands by independent truck drivers for lower fuel prices and more money for the cargo they haul spurred a shutdown that spread across parts of 20 states today in the East, the South, Appalachia and the Midwest.

There were scattered reports of parked rigs in California and Arizona.

Several thousand truckers apparently had joined the action. But in most of the 20 states, some independents were still operating.

Some plants announced layoffs, others said they couldn't stay in business much longer and Pennsylvania Gov. Milton Shapp prepared to call out the National Guard to halt the violence that claimed one life in his state Thursday.

One New Jersey refinery kept its gasoline trucks parked as pickets marched outside.

Some highways in some Appalachian states were closed. Union drivers not honoring the shutdown call traveled in groups of three and four in other areas. On one Virginia highway early today groups of trucks slowed down at bridges and intersections, looking for snags and other obstacles which caused some drivers to head home.

Reports received from truck stops in several states were that rigs had blocked the fuel lanes. "I just told the drivers to pull in front of my pumps and block them," said Don King, a truck stop manager in Fenton, Mo. "These guys are my bread and butter and whatever they want, I'll go along with them."

Businesses dependent on trucking were beginning to feel the impact of the action, which started last week in Ohio and Pennsylvania but did not begin spreading much further until Thursday.

A few small firms in Ohio and West Virginia announced layoffs Thursday and some Midwest meat packing plants said they may soon feel the pinch.

The shutdown, a product of the energy crisis, could make the situation worse if it continues.

A dozen major coal mines in Appalachia were said to be running critically short of supplies and near a shutdown.

And in a few areas officials expressed concern that gasoline would not be delivered by independent drivers to service stations badly in need of their February allotments.

State and federal officials pleaded with the drivers to give the government a chance to make good on its pledge earlier this week to increase fuel supplies and raise freight rates.

But Shapp, emerging from a Thursday night meeting in Pittsburgh with representatives of independent drivers, said "the truckers made it clear they will have their shutdown."

Shapp's lieutenant governor, Ernest Kline, said Shapp would sign the order calling out the National Guard today.

California Official Questioning Nixon Papers Attorney Silence

WASHINGTON (AP) — The California secretary of state says a lawyer's refusal to testify about a presidential conversation "raises the question of just what was discussed" immediately after the lawyer backdated a deed to President Nixon's vice presidential papers.

Secretary of State Edmund G. Brown Jr. revealed Thursday that the lawyer, Frank De Marco Jr., invoked the attorney-client privilege in refusing to say under oath whether he told the President the deed was signed more than a year after it was dated.

Brown is a candidate for the Democratic nomination for California governor. His campaign staff has been capitalizing on the Nixon papers issue in promoting Brown.

"De Marco has every right — even the duty — to claim the privilege unless the President agrees to waive it," Brown said. But the state official indicated he may ask Nixon to waive his right or to give his own version of the conversation.

Nixon's deputy press secretary, Gerald L. Warren, said Thursday that the President and De Marco "did not at any time discuss any backdating of the deed nor did the President know anything about it."

Warren also said that Nixon did not tell De Marco to invoke the attorney-client privilege when questioned about the deed.

De Marco was questioned in private disposition proceedings in Los Angeles Wednesday. The questioning was by a lawyer on Brown's staff, which has been investigating irregularities in the signing and notarizing of the deed.

A congressional committee and the Internal Revenue Service also are investigating the handling of the papers, which Nixon valued at $50,000 and gave to the government, claiming income tax deductions as a charitable contribution.

Brown said De Marco first told investigators several weeks ago that the deed was signed by Edward L. Morgan, then deputy White House counsel, and notarized by De Marco on April 21, 1969. That was after it was dated — on March 27, 1969 — but before the July 25, 1969, expiration of a law permitting such deductions.

De Marco said the signing took place at breakfast at the Century Plaza Hotel in Los Angeles. Morgan said he recalled signing the document in De Marco's law offices in Newport Beach, Calif.

The investigators later discovered that the lawyer on which the deed was typed wasn't purchased by De Marco until the offices were moved to Los Angeles in July, indicating he couldn't have notarized the deed when he said he did.

Confronted with that evidence, Brown said, De Marco admitted that copies of the original deed, including the one filed with the National Archives, actually were typed nearly a year later and signed by Morgan at the White House on April 10, 1970.

De Marco claimed the original deed disappeared.

Attorney-client privilege laws protect the confidentiality of clients' conversations with their lawyers unless the two have conspired to commit a future crime.

Mid-Year Turn Expected Rising Costs, Joblessness In Store

WASHINGTON (AP) — "To correct a powerful trend of the economy which has been going on for some time requires time," he said in a message to Congress.

The grim, but somewhat hedged outlook by his three-member Council of Economic Advisors: a 6 per cent rise in consumer prices in 1974, compared with 8.8 per cent last year, with the economy growing by only one per cent for the entire year.

He reaffirmed his faith in a free economy and said the system of wage-price controls he established in 1971 to corral inflation would continue to be phased out when he didn't say.

Nixon said the budget will impose moderate economic restraint, because the total spending does not surpass the revenues that would be brought in by the government in a time of high prosperity.

He promised to step in and increase federal spending if necessary to keep the unemployment rate from going too high as a result of the energy crisis.

Consumers can expect food and fuel prices to rise sharply between now and mid-year, Council Chairman Herbert Stein said.

After the sharp increases in the cost of living have run their course, the rise should slow to an annual rate of about 4.5 per cent in the second half of the year, the report said.

Nixon outlined this strategy for dealing with the nation's economic problems partly brought on by the energy crisis.

"The budget will create little stimulus, but spending will be increased if necessary should unemployment get too high. Tax cuts are a possibility. Nixon urged Congress to approve legislation to improve the unemployment insurance program to help ease the energy crisis' impact.

He said he will work with the other oil-consuming nations to avoid a worldwide recession. Higher energy prices will be permitted for maximum domestic exploration and production, he said.

"We will continue our policy of maximum agricultural production to help hold down food prices," he said.

The United States will find it self with higher import bills for oil in 1974 and, as a result, what was once expected to be a sizable trade balance will probably be wiped out, the report said.

The money that industrialized nations will have to shell out for higher oil prices from the Arab oil-producing nations could lead to "cumulative recession," the council said.

Even if the Arab oil embargo is lifted, the administration's economic forecast probably won't change much, the council said.

Stein declined to predict how long the economy would actually decline this year, but he said, "We do not expect a recession."

A recession is usually defined as a declining economic output for two consecutive quarters.

The report predicted an acceleration of inflation by another important measure, that estimated from Gross National Product figures. This measure takes into account prices of goods across the economy, not just at the consumer level.

Natural resources and environment — $3.1 billion, up about $2.5 billion.

Health — $26 billion, up $3 billion.

Interest on the public debt — $29 billion, up $1 billion.

Veterans benefits and services — $13.6 billion, up $300 million.

National News Briefs

Poll Puts Energy At Top

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) — Americans now are more troubled by the energy crisis than by inflation, according to the latest Gallup poll.

The Gallup organization reported Thursday that in its most recent nationwide survey it found 46 per cent of the more than 1,500 persons interviewed were most upset about the energy crisis. Twenty-six per cent said inflation is still the nation's major problem.

Inflation had been the dominant concern of Americans in every Gallup survey since late January 1973, when the Vietnam peace settlement was reached, he said.

Kent Jury End Sought

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — An Ohio National Guardman whose unit was involved in the 1970 Kent State University shootings is seeking the discharge of a federal grand jury investigating the incident.

A motion to "dissolve, discharge and excuse" the 23-member panel was filed in U.S. District Court Thursday by Cleveland attorney G. D. Lambros on behalf of Sgt. I.C. Okey R. Fleisher.

Fleisher was subpoenaed to appear before the jury today.

Record GM Profits

DETROIT (AP) — A preliminary audit shows General Motors earned a record $2.4 billion last year despite a slump in the fourth quarter. The previous high was $2.16 billion in 1972.

General Motors said Thursday it earned $317 million during the last three months of 1973, compared with $367 million for the last quarter of 1972.

General Motors said preliminary figures showed record sales of $35.4 billion in 1973, compared with the previous record of $30.4 billion in 1972. Fourth quarter 1973 sales were put at $9.6 billion, compared with $8.2 billion in the 1972 period.

Sam Goldwyn Dies

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Private funeral services will be held for Samuel Goldwyn, a pioneer film maker who was one of the founders of Paramount Studios.

Goldwyn, 91, died early Thursday in his sleep at his Beverly Hills home. He had been in ill health since suffering a stroke in 1969, but the cause of death was not announced. He had been hospitalized recently with a kidney ailment.

He is survived by his widow, Frances, and their son, Samuel Jr.

Six Perish in Colorado

LITTLETON, Colo. (AP) — Police say six persons have been killed by carbon monoxide poisoning. They were an apparent suicide victim and five others who inhaled the fumes accidentally, officers said.

The Arapahoe County coroner's office said Betty Foster, 34, apparently took her own life by running a car in the closed garage of a condominium.

The other five victims, including Mrs. Foster's husband and three children, died when the fumes were sucked into two apartments of the condominium.

They were Kenneth C. Foster, 47; three of Mrs. Foster's children by a previous marriage, James Higgins Jr., 11, Steven Higgins, 10, and Michelle Higgins, 7; and a neighbor, George M. Wynn, 45, who lived in an adjoining apartment, George M.

U.S. Family Marketbasket Rising; Beef, Eggs Cited

By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer

Higher prices for beef and eggs pushed up the family grocery bill during January and boosted the total to a level 14 per cent above last March, an Associated Press marketbasket survey shows.

There were only two bright spots at the supermarket during the month: butter and pork chops both went down in many areas and kept the totals from being even higher than they were.

The AP checked the price of 15 food and nonfood items at 13 cities on March 1 and has checked at the beginning of each succeeding month.

The latest survey showed that during January, the bill for the total marketbasket went up in nine cities, rising an average of 3 per cent, and was down in four, declining an average of 3 per cent.

That was an improvement over December, when the marketbasket bill rose in 12 of 13 cities checked, up an average of 2 per cent.

In every city, however, the total was well above the figure last March. The increases over 11 months ranged from 1 per cent in Salt Lake City — where declines in the price of pork chops and frankfurters kept the January total down — to 22 per cent in Philadelphia and Boston.

A look at the total number of items didn't provide any encouragement. Of 195 items checked, 38 per cent went up in price during January; 15 per cent declined; 41 per cent were unchanged; and 9 per cent were down.

39 Per Cent Leap Hit By Farm Prices

WASHINGTON (AP) — Farm prices, led by big gains for wheat and meat animals, jumped 9 per cent in the month ended Jan. 15 and averaged 39 per cent above a year earlier, the Agriculture Department says.

The increase pushed the department's index of prices farmers receive for raw products to 200 per cent of a 1967 base used for comparison, the department said Thursday.

That was only one point below the record set last August.

As a group, meat animal prices went up 12 per cent during the month. They averaged 21 per cent higher than on Jan. 15, 1973. Cattle, which includes all types sold for beef, were $4.49 per 100 pounds, up $6.80 from December.

Cattle last August were a record $51.70 per hundredweight and in January last year averaged $37.10. Hogs were $40.10 per hundredweight, up $1.90 from Dec. 15. A year earlier, they were $31.

Beef prices increased reflected recently reported hikes in the wholesale cost of the meat. Chopped chuck was up eight cents of the cities checked and all beef frankfurters rose in seven cities. Increases in the price of chuck averaged a whopping 11 per cent and pushed the cost of hamburger to about $1.40 a pound in most cities.

Pentagon officials estimate personnel costs at $5.4 per cent of the new budget, down only two-tenths of one per cent from the previous year despite the manpower reductions.

Some defense officials say the new budget illustrates that a volunteer army can meet America's needs — if the nation is willing to pay a high enough price for it.

Others say the 109 per cent increase in military pay and allowances over the last decade is less a measure of the cost of the volunteer army than an attempt to give servicemen and women an even break when compared with the civilian job market.

For example, Assistant Defense Secretary William K. Brehm said this week that only $3.74 billion can be attributed to the decision to cut the military draft and create the all-volunteer force.

Volunteer Military Budget Plans

WASHINGTON (AP) — More than half the proposed $87-billion defense budget President Nixon is sending Congress will go to finance a smaller but increasingly well-paid volunteer military.

Despite plans for continuing cuts in the size of U.S. military forces, the $47.5 billion in salaries, military retirement, housing and other personnel costs represents about the same share of defense spending as in the current budget.

The rates are estimates provided Thursday by Caspar W. Weinberger, secretary of Health, Education and Welfare.

The administration still is putting some finishing touches on the proposals for increasing the health insurance plan introduced in Congress on Tuesday, Weinberger said.

But attached to the estimates are numerous factors that could affect not only the individual premiums, but also total out-of-pocket health expenses under the administration program.

Premiums also could vary from plan to plan. The administration plan is only a minimum. Employers and workers could select fuller coverage at higher rates. There's nothing in the proposal to keep employers from paying workers' premiums in full.

A tax proposal under consideration in the administration could cut the take-home pay for the average taxpayer by $2.68 a month.

Government Recommends Abandonment Of Rails

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Interstate Commerce Commission now must hold a series of hearings on Brinegar's recommendation. The hearings are scheduled to start in March.

Brinegar also recommended that some track which would remain in service be limited to use by only one railroad, eliminating much of the duplication in service that has been blamed for part of the financial troubles of the Penn Central.

Early Retirement Bills Introduced

By MARGUERITE SULLIVAN
Copley News Service

WASHINGTON — There's one bill that the tax-writing House Ways and Means Committee expects to receive year-after-year after year.

The committee has yet to give it the "OK."

Perennially introduced are measures that would allow full Social Security retirement benefits for men and women at age 62 or 63, or 55, instead of the current age of 65.

This Congress is no exception. The in-basket at the Ways and Means office is stacked with early retirement bills.

Among the bills are those that would:

- Provide full benefits for men at age 60, with reduced benefits at age 57, introduced by Rep. Charles J. Carney, D-Ohio.
- Provide full benefits to all individuals at age 62, introduced separately by Rep. Jonathan B. Bingham, D-N.Y., and Rep. Clement Zablocki, D-Wis., with the latter's measure providing for reduced benefits for 60-year-old retirees.
- Yet, it is unlikely Congress will lower the retirement age this session. The retirement age of 65 with full benefits hasn't been changed since the original Social Security law was passed in 1935.
- In fact, the only major Social Security age changes were in 1965 when women were allowed at age 62 to collect limited benefits and in 1961 when the privilege was extended to 62-year-old males.
- Today, those who take full retirement at 62 get only 80 per cent of the benefits they would receive were they to wait until age 65.
- "If you would get $200 a month in payments at age 65, but you retire at 62 instead, your limited payment would then be $160 a month," explained Jim Brown, a spokesman for the Social Security Administration.
- "Bills to lower the retirement age are a standard thing each Congress," said James Kelley, of the committee staff. "But it is very unlikely that the committee would get in the direction of reducing the retirement age this session."
- The major reason is cost. In December, Congress agreed to a two-stage 11 per cent increase in the amount of annual income subject to Social Security taxes. Any lowering of the retirement age would increase Social Security costs even more.
- Kelley pointed to figures he gathered over a year ago — "and these are conservative in view of recent boosts in Social Security taxes" — that showed how high the costs would be.

Economic Highlights

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's fiscal 1975 budget includes an all-time high $87.7 billion outlay for defense, his economic report disclosed today.

The President's $304.4 billion budget goes to Congress Monday, but the general outline of it was sketched in a table at the back of the economic report released by the White House.

Nixon in his State of the Union address on Wednesday revealed the overall total for his budget, which contains a $9.4-$9.4 deficit.

Defense spending will be up by $7.7 billion, reaching a total of $87.7 billion, the report said.

Here are some of the major increases:

- Education and manpower — $11.5 billion, up $700 million.
- Income security (including Social Security and welfare) — $10 billion, up $15 billion.
- Natural resources and environment — $3.1 billion, up about $2.5 billion.
- Health — $26 billion, up $3 billion.
- Interest on the public debt — $29 billion, up $1 billion.
- Veterans benefits and services — $13.6 billion, up $300 million.

Construction Industry Sags

Builders Scorn Nixon Housing 'Tonic'

At their meeting in Houston, the nation's home builders scorned proposals advanced by the Nixon administration to revive the sagging housing industry.

Retiring as president of the National Association of Home Builders, George C. Martin called the home construction field "a basket case" for which the government is prescribing "a pint of plasma."

Martin said the decision of the Department of Housing and Urban Development to cut the interest rate of FHA and VA mortgages one-fourth point to 8 1/2 per cent and to pump $6.6 billion in subsidies into a low-cost housing program will do nothing to improve the housing picture.

Martin, unfortunately, probably is right, but it is questionable if the government can do more. An artificial ceiling on federally guaranteed mortgages — such as the 13 per cent lid sought by the home builders — would simply dry up the flow of mortgage funds from private lenders or force lender demands for hefty "discounts" to be borne ultimately by home purchasers.

There is no disputing the builders' claim that high interest rates are a factor in the steady dip in construction starts.

But exorbitant interest is not the only factor. The spiral in labor and material costs, which the builders accepted passively so long as the increases could be passed along to eager buyers, has priced many American families out of the housing market.

The lobbying of "no-growth" advocates in many urban centers, supplemented by environmentalist demands for open space and height restrictions, has contributed to a steady climb in land values.

The importance of a healthy construction industry to the nation's economic stability cannot be denied. The goal of decent housing for every American must not be obscured.

But the ills of the home builders call for more than the soothing hand of government. An honest self-diagnosis should indicate that they have contributed to their own distress and must participate actively in the search for a remedy

Despite Nixon's Plea Watergate End Isn't Yet In Sight

WASHINGTON (AP) — At an extraordinary moment in American history, President Nixon has once again urged the nation to close the book on Watergate. That is not likely to happen soon.

Even as Nixon urged an end to the Watergate investigations Wednesday night, he gave a qualified pledge of cooperation with one that is just beginning. And that may be the most significant of all: The House inquiry into possible impeachment proceedings against him.

That Constitutional process raises the prospect that members of the Congress Nixon was addressing will one day vote in judgment of him.

Nixon's Watergate statement seemed directed beyond the House chamber, to the nation and the voters who elected him. One Democrat said he thought it an appeal to the people "to tell Congress to get off his back."

Specifically, Nixon said it is time for the Watergate special prosecutor to stop investigating and go to trial. He said he has turned over all the material needed to prosecute the guilty and clear the innocent.

"I believe the time has come to bring that investigation and the other investigations of this matter to an end," he said in his State of the Union address. "One year of Watergate is enough."

That is a familiar theme. Nixon and his spokesmen have said before that enough is enough, that it is time to put Watergate aside and turn to other investigations. He wants ended include those of three federal grand juries in Washington, the Senate's special Watergate committee and the House Judiciary Committee. Beyond the grand jury investigations are indictments and trials likely to continue for months, and certain to fuel the Watergate controversy.

The Senate panel has authorized, but postponed, renewed public hearings. Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., the chairman, said that the inquiry would have concluded long ago had Nixon "been willing to give us the evidence in his possession."

That Ervin statement has by now become a litany. It is for the House committee to take the initial step in direct judgment of the President himself. Nixon said he recognized the special responsibility of that panel.

What is needed, the experts say, is a national system of food delivery planning. None now exists, leaving the populace at the mercy of the fluctuating marketplace.

NIXON'S WHIPPING BOY: Speaker Carl Albert has warned his Democratic colleagues behind closed doors that President Nixon will use Congress as a "Whipping Boy."

Albert's warning came after House Majority Leader "Tip" O'Neill, D-Mass., finished reciting the issues confronting Congress. He neglected to mention impeachment, which brought Rep. Jerry Waldie, D-Calif., to his feet.

Later, the Speaker told about his association with Nixon since they came to Congress together in 1947. Albert said the President "always needed a whipping boy." As a member of Congress, Nixon always blamed the President, recalled Albert. Now, said the Speaker, the President will try to blame Congress for everything that goes wrong.

STRANGE LOAN: The man appointed by West Virginia's Gov. Arch Moore to investigate the collapse of a $65 million loan empire has a secret $30,000 personal interest in the failing firm. He is State Banking Commissioner George Jordan, who borrowed $28,000 from the Diversified Mountaineer Corp. in 1972.

While other borrowers were paying soaring interest rates, the lucky banking commissioner, who was supervising banks with intimate ties with Diversified, got a bargain six per cent loan.

Jordan confirmed to us that he had borrowed the money from a special loan portfolio kept by Diversified. He said there were rumors other West Virginia officials also had Diversified loans. But he firmly denied any conflict of interest.

Governor Moore, who appointed Jordan, has praised his excellence and expertise as a banking commissioner. Despite Moore's trust in Jordan, federal Securities and Exchange Commission sleuths have been poking around in Diversified's files. The federal men hope to save the assets of its 25,000 depositors and investors, many of them poor coal miners.

Since we have never seen those ears, as they are hidden under masses of "limp" hair, it's hard to judge if her diagnosis is accurate.

But we don't want her to endure psychological suffering or acquire some kind of ear fixation, so we offer to make an appointment with a plastic surgeon.

Jack Anderson Food Stocks Hit New Low

WASHINGTON — The oil shortage could be compounded this year by a food shortage, because food stocks have dropped to the lowest level in 20 years.

All it would take would be minor crop failures or transportation tie-ups to cause basic foods to start disappearing from the supermarket shelves.

Benny Morris Platt, 22, and Michael J. Batson, 17, were being held without bond after arraignment Thursday, Hendry said.

Hendry said his deputies found footprints in the soil near the tollbooth on the western end of Alligator Alley where Edward J. Beck was found shot to death early Wednesday.

To strengthen the dollar abroad, the government has been exporting grains as fast as the farmers can grow them. Grain stocks are now so low that legislation has been introduced in the Senate to establish a national reserve system.

The meat outlook isn't much better. "A two week tie-up in the transportation system could cause serious meat shortages," the Agriculture Department expert told us. "The meat delivery system has only about a four-to-five day flexibility. After that, the shelves would start looking bare."

The few temporary shortages of 1973 have made the consumers wary. Many of them, apparently, have been stocking their pantries with canned goods. A surge in the demand for canned goods has exacerbated the tight supply situation.

Transportation foul-ups are not uncommon. A few weeks ago, chain stores had to rely on their own reserves for a few days because of transportation problems. A more troublesome tie-up could cause serious shortages.

Toll Murder Arrests

NAPLES, Fla. (AP) — Two Naples men have been charged with murder and armed robbery in the slaying of an Alligator Alley tollbooth guard.

Collier County Sheriff Doug Hendry described the men as horse-back robbers who got caught when they stopped for a swim in a rockpit.

Benny Morris Platt, 22, and Michael J. Batson, 17, were being held without bond after arraignment Thursday, Hendry said.

Link Sought In Murders Of Women Sixth Body Is Found Near Titusville

TITUSVILLE, Fla. (AP) — The discovery of a sixth young woman's body in the same general area has caused police to step up both a search for more bodies and an investigation into the possibility that the deaths are connected.

"We are heading in that direction," said Brevard County sheriff's investigator S.R. Dewitt. "But we are not closing out the possibility that it could have been more than one person." The latest body, the sixth since Nov. 14, was found Thursday in a wooded area north of Titusville, inland of the Kennedy Space Center.

Dewitt said officers planned an intensive search of the area again today, looking for more bodies.

"We hope we aren't going to find anymore," he said. "But we can't rule that out until we finish searching."

The sixth body, badly decomposed like the others, has not been identified. Officers, who said the woman had been dead about two months, would not discuss how it was found.

All of the bodies have been found within a 10-mile radius. Earlier this month, Bernard Eugene Giles, 27, of nearby Mirna, was charged with murder in the death of Nancy Gerry, 18, whose decomposed body was found in an orange grove Dec. 10.

Giles was being held in the Brevard County Jail charged with two counts of attempted rape and two counts of aggravated assault when police charged him in Miss Gerry's death.

On Nov. 14, the body of Paul Hamrick, 22, of Titusville, was found near the grove where Miss Gerry's body was later found. The skeleton of Carolyn Jan Bennett, 17, was found by children Christmas day. A few days later authorities found the body of Sharon Mary Wimer, 14, of Titusville, in the same area.

Dade Motorists In Line As Gas Supply Runs Dry

Motorists in south Florida waited in long lines today as more and more gasoline stations ran dry and waited for February allotments to arrive or tried to stretch out the little fuel they have left.

Dealers here in central Florida have more fuel than those in south Florida, according to the American Automobile Association.

In Dade County authorities reported incidents of drivers cursing station attendants, flushing car keys down commodes to keep from moving as it cranking into line. One attendant was clipped on the knee by a Cadillac driver who became angry after trying to cut into line.

"When you try to cut it off you take your life into your hands," said Citgo station owner Bob Morningstar, who tried to save a little fuel to sell another day, refused to budge from the curb of Ralph Gonzalez' station on Biscayne Boulevard, he called police.

When two gas-seekers refused to budge from the curb of Ralph Gonzalez' station on Biscayne Boulevard, he called police.

On The Homefront Advantages Demanded By Siblings

By JOAN COLBY Copy News Service

Children are notorious for comparing advantages given their siblings and demanding similar (and instant) compensations.

It is interesting to note what a child views as an advantage. The minute one of our daughters got braces, the other felt slighted.

Since she could find no imperfections in her own teeth, she began reviewing other parts of her anatomy.

Soon, we were informed that her ears protrude, her eyebrows are too low, her nostrils are unbecomingly and her hair is overly limp.

"How about a head transplant?" returned her father, jocularly, unaware that it is unwise to take the potential defects of an adolescent lightly. (They rush to their diaries and inscribe "My father hates me" in lurid green ink.)

purple ink for their heart-pourings.) The supposed physical inadequacies loom large. Beers are spent before the mirror inspecting the too sparse eyelashes and the too numerous freckles.

Common sense advice offered by parents is seen as contemptuous detachment if not downright malicious gloating.

So the parent is better off saying nothing, while daughter continues the monologue on her knobby knees, angular wrists and drooping earlobes.

The envied sibling, the one with the braces and retainers, is viewed by her sister as a lucky person who is being fixed. Once all the metal is extracted from that kid's mouth, she is going to turn into a swan while her sister has to go through life with monkey ears.

Since we have never seen those ears, as they are hidden under masses of "limp" hair, it's hard to judge if her diagnosis is accurate.

But we don't want her to endure psychological suffering or acquire some kind of ear fixation, so we offer to make an appointment with a plastic surgeon.

At this point, our child revises her estimate of the severity of her problem. She doesn't think such an extreme measure will be necessary. In fact, her ears might look OK with a little decoration. Like pierced earrings, say.

No one might notice the contour of these ears, if little holes could be put in those lobes to flaunt pearls, cameos, silver bells and gold hoops.

Mother (who has opposed this ear-piercing project for two years) feels like she's been badly fooled. Father is still struggling with the logic of de-emphasizing the faulty ear by direct emphasis.

New Crime Insurance Available Statewide

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Businessmen and residents of high crime areas in Florida might be able to buy lower-cost crime insurance starting today, a state official says.

Florida is now under the Federal Crime Insurance program, which allows coverage up to $10,000 for homes and up to $5,000 for businesses, Insurance Commissioner Thomas O'Malley said in a Thursday news release.

Costs will be determined by crime-rate statistics in the different areas of the state. Business rates will also depend on gross receipts, he said.

Home crime insurance in all but eight counties will cost $40 for $3,000 worth of coverage. In the eight counties, which have a statistically higher rate of crime, insurance will cost $50 for the same amount.

The eight are Alachua, Broward, Dade, Duval, Hillsborough, Palm Beach, Pinellas and Volusia.

The new insurance "will give people a chance to insure their homes and businesses against crime where before it was unaffordable because of high rates," O'Malley said.

The insurance will be offered through Aetna Insurance Co. under a contract with

To Link Country Irish Leaders Begin Talks

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — Prime Minister Liam Cosgrave of the Irish republic flew into Northern Ireland today for summit talks with the province's chief executive, Brian Faulkner, on improving links between the two halves of the partitioned island.

Faulkner was reported to be pressing Cosgrave to intensify security along the republic's

Vietnam POW Swap Resumes

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — The South Vietnamese government and the Viet Cong announced today that they will resume prisoner exchanges on Feb. 8 after a seven-month suspension.

The exchange of more than 4,000 civilian and military prisoners will be completed by March 1, they said. The year-old Paris peace agreement called for the exchange to be completed by April 27, but arguments over the number of prisoners to be released, sites and transportation prevented completion.

U. S. Col. Le Trung Hien, chief spokesman for the Saigon command, said the first release sites will be Duc Nghiep in the central highlands and Luc Ninh, 75 miles north of Saigon, with others to be chosen later.

Meanwhile, military sources reported that North Vietnamese forces tried unsuccessfully to cut the only supply road to 5,000 government troops in the Gia Nghia-Dak Song region of the lower central highlands.

Hostages Still Held

SINGAPORE (AP) — Four pro-Arab terrorists continued to hold three boatmen hostage aboard a hijacked ferry in Singapore harbor today while they waited for a plane to take them to an Arab country.

Japanese Ambassador Tokichiro Uemoto on Thursday night told the terrorists, described as three Japanese and one "Arab-looking man," that the Singaporean government had agreed to their demand for safe conduct out of the island country.

Uemoto said a plane was being arranged for them, but there was no word by this afternoon when it would arrive or where it was coming from. world we're going to keep going. We'll soon reach retiring age and at this stage we can't jump out of one business into another," she complained. "It looks like we need gasoline rationing, much as we'd hate it."

Mrs. Matthews blamed in part the extensive advertising that is drawing masses of tourists to Florida on the assumption there is an abundant supply of fuel in the state.

Horne of Horne Distributors agreed the fuel situation is "more critical than we realize." He has been calling ahead along the truck routes in Winter Haven, Belle Glade and several other areas to the south and has found there is no fuel at all.

The Tampa strike, he said, will make the situation even worse. Industry spokesmen say 75 to 80 per cent of all stations in the affected area are supplied by independent truckers.

Killingworth said his group has issued a call for 5,000 general cargo truckers in Central Florida to join the walkout.

In Sanford, Horne said truckers are adopting the "wait and see" attitude. "We're sitting in an awkward position," he said. "We have been able to increase rates to offset the rising cost of fuel, but others haven't, and that's what's causing the trouble."

Horne said he was encouraging his men to remain in Sanford until they are sure of the situation. "We don't want any of our men getting hurt," he said.

There have been no reports so far of violence in Florida against truckers not joining the shutdown. Dave Brindley, manager of All-States Truck Service, Inc. in Sanford, said today he is trying to find out exactly how serious the situation is. He has had reports of so far of blockades and some

Despite Proposed Bond Sale Expansion Plan Lacks Revenue

LONGWOOD—The sale of $2.7 million in water and sewer revenue bonds will not be sufficient to expand the construction as planned, consulting engineer Bill Palm told councilmen in workshop session Thursday night.

Palm said in order to include a new west side water plant in the construction and expansion program another $50,000 is needed.

In addition, he said that city officials should travel to the Atlanta office of the Environmental Protection Agency to "put some pressure on" to get funding approval for the Altamonte Springs regional sewer plant and some $13,000 anticipated in grant moneys for the Longwood interceptor system. EPA has been "sitting on" plant funding approval for three months, he said.

Palm, expressing confidence the federal moneys will be forthcoming, said the city has two choices—either to "live with" the already validated $2.7 million issue, which would be tight with water system improvement money or to validate a new $3.27 million issue.

He said the city will have sufficient revenues, according to his calculations, to pay back the larger issue over a 35-year period.

Palm said by the end of 1977 the city will need the west side plant to serve homes either under construction or in the planning stages. He said later in all likelihood the water plant will be needed within two years.

Fiscal agent Loomis Leedy of Pierce, Welburn and Murphy said the bonds can be sold very easily.

Palm said he would not make a recommendation on the low bid received from Associated Contractors and Building Co. at $1,667,047.20 for sewer collection lines and construction until the bid period of 45 days is up. He said he hoped to "downfall" this bid awarded with award for the interceptor system and the Altamonte Springs regional sewer plant construction at the same time.

The bid was some $100,000 over estimated costs, Palm said go with a larger bond issue at its next meeting.

The interceptor is the only part of the planned sewer system "oversized for future growth," he said.

Palm explained the higher costs than anticipated were caused by the inflationary spiral which has seen construction costs go up 1.5 per cent monthly for some time.

He urged that the council make a decision on whether to

Bath Sharing Backfires

LONDON (AP) — A couple named Whidolon filled up their tub at a hotel in Somerset and jumped in to experiment with Britain's latest idea to save fuel — sharing the bath. But they forgot to turn off the taps.

Water started seeping into the bar below. Then a small piece of the ceiling fell. The manager, Alan Davey, rushed upstairs and knocked on the bathroom door.

"It was opened by this young couple," he reported. "She was in the nude and rather confused, and they said they had been trying to economize with the two-in-the-bath routine."

"I don't think patriotism was one of the things they had in mind," Davey said.

Six Survive Crash

PAGO PAGO, American Samoa (AP) — Only six survivors are reported in the crash of a Pan American World Airways jetliner on its approach to the Pago Pago airport in the mid-Pacific. The airline said 36 of the 101 persons aboard the Boeing 707 jet were U.S. residents. An airline spokesman said the plane crashed 3,000 feet short of the runway during a heavy rain squall Thursday.

Suez Re-Opening Allocation

CAIRO, Egypt (AP) — The Egyptian government has allocated $87.5 million to reopen the Suez Canal and restore the war-ravaged towns along its banks. An official of one of the firms bidding to clear the canal said the canal could be open to limited traffic in six months and back in full operation in eight to 10 months.

U.N., Oil Meetings

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim will ask the 135 members of the United Nations if they want a special General Assembly session that could conflict with the international oil meetings President Nixon plans. President Houari Boumediene of oil-producing Algeria requested the session to discuss the situation of all natural resources in the world, not just oil.

Bank Robber Captured

HILDEN, West Germany (AP) — Police early today captured a gunman who took over a bank for six hours, then drove around the Rhineland for four more hours with $27,000 in ransom and the bank cashier as a hostage. The masked gunman, who was not immediately identified, was slightly wounded, but his hostage, the bank cashier, was unharmed.

Many Feared Dead In Sao Paulo Fire

SAO PAULO, Brazil (AP) — A fire swept through the upper 14 floors of a 22-story Sao Paulo bank building today, and many desperate office workers jumped to their deaths.

A fire captain at the scene estimated that 10 to 15 persons were killed and more than 20 injured. A police sergeant said the number of dead might be as high as 35. No official count was available.

At least 25 persons on the roof of the building, owned and

British Miners Vote Strike

LONDON (AP) — Leaders of the mine union estimated today that the strike vote in the coal fields was running 69 per cent in favor of a walkout to reinforce the miners' demands for pay raises above Prime Minister Edward Heath's anti-inflation wage ceiling.

The strike vote among the 280,000 miners began Thursday and ends today, with the count expected to be completed Sunday. Results are to be announced Tuesday.

If the affirmative vote is more than the required 55 per cent and a wage settlement is no closer, the union's 27-man executive has said the strike will begin Sunday, Feb. 10.

Britain's electric power stations last week had enough coal to keep the nation operating on its present three-day work week until the end of March.

Drug Charges Placed Against Orlando Pair

By CINDY FLANDERS Herald Staff Writer

Two Orlando men were arrested Thursday night on charges of selling and possessing drugs, according to Sanford Police and Seminole Sheriff's detectives.

Being held in Seminole County Jail in lieu of $10,000 bonds are Joseph Winters, 24, and Steve Alan Virts, 24, both of 631 Harwood Drive.

Sanford Detective Capt. Charles Fagan said about $1,500 worth of drugs were seized during a drug buy set up at a local motel.

Among the drugs seized, said Fagan, were hashish, PCP (Animal tranquilizer), and Methoqualine.

Fagan anticipated more arrests will soon be made. Fagan said he rented two rooms at the motel and the two men met him in one room, spreading the drugs on the bed for his inspection.

"I said the right word and Sgt. Ray Parker of the Seminole County Sheriff's vice squad and his men were right in the room. The suspects had no where to run," Fagan said.

In other action, Sanford Police charged Fred Alan Bray of Sanford with selling and possessing drugs and paraphernalia.

City, County To Meet On Land Planning Act

Sanford city commissioners will meet Feb. 11 at 3 p.m. with county commissioners to seek changes in the county's proposed comprehensive land planning act that will be considered by the Seminole Legislative Delegation Feb. 14.

City Manager Warren Knowles said the conference meeting will be held in the county commission conference room on the third floor of the courthouse at Sanford.

Sanford Man Murdered In Pal's Motel

A masked intruder shotgunned to death a friend of the owner of McAllister's Motel Thursday night after the 56-year-old Sanford victim told the intruder there was no money in the office police said.

James Wendell Fairley, 2102 Southwest Road, was working without pay "just to help out" when the stocking-masked assailant shot him once in the stomach at point blank range, Seminole Sheriff's Lt. L. J. Kriz said today.

Fairley lived long enough to be rushed to Seminole Memorial Hospital where he died on the operating table, Kriz said.

The victim told police the killer wore a stocking over his face and carried a double barreled shotgun, but could not identify the man, Kriz said.

Police charged Fred Alan Bray of Sanford with selling and possessing drugs and paraphernalia.

But it takes about ten years to bring a nuclear unit from first planning to actual delivery of electricity. The fact that FPL already is so well advanced in nuclear generation shows how far ahead we plan to assure you an adequate supply of electricity to meet your needs. Since it does take so much longer to bring nuclear generating plants on line, FPL has also made arrangements to assure an adequate supply of the fuel oil and natural gas needed to supply you with electricity from our conventional plants. Thus, provided extreme conditions and disruptions in supply due to changing national priorities do not interfere, FPL will be able to supply the electric power you need.

But the Need for Fuel Conservation is a National Reality. Like you, FPL is aware of the need to conserve all fuels because of the serious situation nationwide. We are taking positive steps to conserve fuel as it applies to electric energy in our own operations. In addition, FPL's fleet of cars and trucks is observing lower speed limits. And we're keeping them in the best possible operating condition. Serious conservation is important because cutting down on use will make scarce fuels last longer.

We Can Help You Conserve at Home. We have taken a hard look at energy use. And here are a few ways you can help conserve electricity at home.

Some examples: 1. Turn down the thermostat on your heating system. If you change the setting on your reverse-cycle air conditioner from 75° to 68° you will be both watt-wise and budget-wise.

2. Keep your filter clean. A dirty, clogged filter makes your heating system work harder. And uses more energy.

3. Enjoy the sunshine. Open the curtains on sunny days and let the sun warm your home.

At night, close draperies to hold warmth inside.

4. Insulate your home. Insulation will pay for itself in energy savings, and you save money in winter and summer.

5. Lighting? Yes, you can save by turning off lights you don't need. But lighting uses a lot less electricity than your major appliances and other motor loads. Efficient use of reverse-cycle air conditioning, dishwashers, laundry appliances and ranges save a great deal more than turning off lights. So does turning off a TV set that no one is watching.

We have a booklet of Watt Watching hints for you. It lists many ways to save watts...and money.

Pick up your free copy at your appliance dealer's or at any FPL office.

Once you brush up on the wise use of your cooling and heating systems and your major appliances, you can do your part to use energy wisely and prevent waste.

Right now our country faces a serious shortage of oil and natural gas. This shortage can be especially significant for Florida, which produces only a negligible amount of its own fuel. And the shortage has important meaning in relation to Florida's energy needs, since so much of our state's electricity is generated by oil and natural gas. The following Summary of Fuel Facts points up the potential problem.

How FPL generates electricity for you:
Natural Gas 24%
Oil 64%
Nuclear 12%

As the Summary shows, Florida is much more dependent upon oil for filling its energy needs than is the nation as a whole. This is because Florida is far from the major sources of coal, and does not have the mountainous terrain needed for hydroelectric power generation.

A Source More Abundant than Oil and Natural Gas.
Years ago, FPL realized that America's supply of oil and natural gas was limited. We decided to plan for a more abundantly available fuel.

This is what led FPL to build such nuclear generating units as Turkey Point Units #3 and #4. By supplying significant amounts of electricity during 1973, these units saved 6 1/2 million barrels of low-sulphur fuel oil. And right now FPL has two more nuclear units in the building and planning stages at Hutchinson Island.

Percentage of energy needs filled by oil:
Nation 45% Florida 70%

Percentage of oil used for generating electricity:
Nation 7.3% Florida 30%

How Florida uses the oil it receives:
41.9% gasoline for cars, trucks & buses
8.5% jet fuel for aircraft
30.2% electric generation
3.0% heating for homes, business
9.3% fuel oil for business & commercial use
7.1% all other uses (lubricants, asphalt, chemicals, propane, etc.)

Modest Matthew

By FRED L. NEAL, Pastor
Congregational Christian Church

"And as Jesus passed forth from there, He saw a man, named Matthew, sitting at the tax office; and he called to him, following him. And he arose and followed Him." Matthew 9:9

In this one short verse Matthew gives us the account of his conversion experience. This would seem to "dicate the modesty of this man, who became one of our Lord's most trusted first followers. Matthew was a publican. He collected taxes for the Roman government, and it is possible that he, like Zaccheus and many of the tax-gatherers of that day, lined his own pockets very well at the same time. If this was the case he would be a hated man and would be regarded as an extortioner.

One day, the Lord Jesus passed Matthew's office, saw him hard at work and called him to follow Him. Matthew's response was unreserved and immediate. There are three pictures of Matthew that I wish to share with you as we look at this man whom I have chosen to call "modest Matthew."

Matthew Counting his Money: Luke 5:27 tells us: When Jesus saw him he was "sitting at the receipt of custom." His money bags were full and he counted them over with meticulous care. We know this, because of Matthew's care for accuracy and detail is very evident in his gospel. So look at Matthew counting his money, Matthew immersed in his job and Matthew not at all liked by the people who had to come to pay their taxes. Matthew, who was probably rich and probably lonely and Matthew, who was efficient and methodical—a keen business man. This was the man Jesus called and called while he was doing his job. Matthew counting his money and then, leaving all to follow Christ.

Matthew Changing his Mind: A tremendous change took place very quickly in the life of Matthew. The change was sudden—one moment he is counting his money, the next moment he is following Christ. This is true repentance. To repent is to change your mind about Christ, sin, self and the things of time and eternity. Matthew recognized Christ as the long promised Messiah and he immediately arose to follow HIM. Matthew changed his mind and that event changed his life.

Matthew Confessing his Master: Matthew had no thought of doing this secretly. He did it so publicly that in time his action would have been the talk of the town.

There are at least three special ways in which Matthew confessed his Master: (1) By leaving his sins. The scriptures tell us that he left all and this would certainly include turning away from anything which was shady, dishonest or dishonest in his business. To become a Christian is to be utterly and completely honest before the Lord and others.

(2) By telling his friends. He did this in a special way. Luke's gospel tells us that Matthew made a feast in his house and invited his friends to come to meet the Lord and hear about his conversion. He was now on the Lord's side and he wanted everyone to hear about it.

(3) By writing his book. What an achievement it was to love what we now know as "The Gospel According to Matthew." It wrote always finds many ways to quiet, but open confession of the Lord Jesus. Matthew found at least three ways; he left his sins, he told his friends and he wrote his book. Matthew's example should challenge us to be open and definite in following the Lord Jesus and confessing Him as Master of our lives.

Scientists Host Guest Lecturer

FIRST CHRISTIAN

"Light of the World, or Anybody Here Want to be a Match?" will be the sermon theme of Dr. Harold Harris at First Christian Church, Sunday at 11 a.m. service when Albert Hickson will be ordained. Sanford, he will speak in the Sanford Civic Center, located at Seminole Boulevard and Sanford Avenue.

A teacher of Christian Science, he served as executive administrator of the Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass., from 1969 to 1972. He is a member of The Christian Science Board of Lecturers.

The congregation is encouraged to wear old-fashioned attire for the celebration. There will be a church dinner at noon featuring a giant birthday cake.

At 2 p.m., an appreciation service will be held recognizing former members. The young people of the church will present a humorous skit and Mr. and Mrs. R.F. Cooper, oldest members, will reminisce about the church's past.

The original pulpit furniture will be used in the sanctuary for Sunday's services and there will be displays of old Bibles and pictures. A booklet containing the history of the church will be distributed.

The church was organized Feb. 3, 1894, calling Rev. J.W. Butts, who preached twice a month in Orlando, as first pastor. There were 18 charter members representing seven states.

The lot on which the church building stands was given the church for the sum of one dollar by Florida Land and Colonization Co., of London, England in 1884.

Rev. J.T. Comato is the 24th pastor called to serve the church. The only former pastor still living is Rev. W.P. Brooks Jr., who served 1928-1962.

Council Gives Rules For The Road

By CLAIRE COX
COPLEY News Service

NEW YORK—You will be less likely to have an automobile accident on your way to church than when you are headed for a store to do your shopping.

The Church and Safety Activities Division of the National Safety Council made that prediction as a result of a psychiatric study showing that the safest drivers have the highest degree of religious interest. Conversely, the most accident-prone motorists are the least involved in religion, according to a report prepared for the American Journal of Psychiatry.

Why? The more religious person is more likely to accept conventional values and therefore make an effort to obey the laws.

Moreover, according to the council's religious interest study, his needs are simpler and less demanding, he is involved in fewer conflicts and he shows less of a tendency to "act out" his hostilities on the highway.

Representatives of the council's religious interest department suggested a set of rules for good driving, for which it drew from the Revised Standard Version of the Bible. Here are some of the passages they cited.

—Patience—"By your endurance you will gain your lives."—Luke 21:19

—Zealousness—"Whatever your hand finds to do, do it with your might."—Ecclesiastes 9:10

—Thoughtfulness and respect for others—"So whatever you wish that men would do to you, do so to them; for this is the law and the prophets."—Matthew 7:12

—And for daily recital it provided a motorist's prayer as an added inspiration for safe driving.

Each time I take the wheel
Oh, Lord, I pray,
Grant that no harm shall come
Of me, today.
See over hills for men,
On curves, stand by,
Post some bright angel near
To see that I
Observe the playing child,
The old, less sorry,
Not act of mine must cause someone to die.

New Officers Elected By Guild

CHURCH OF THE NAVY WOMEN'S GUILD
Lake Mary elected new officers at a quarterly general meeting of the five area circles. Officers will be installed at a special mass by Fr. William Neidert (center). From left, Mrs. Terri Fay, Deane representative; Mrs. Lorraine Smith, vice president; Mrs. Mary Kudlac, president; and Mrs. Jennie Fox, secretary.

Winter Springs Church To Open

Winter Springs Seventh-day Adventist Church will hold a consecration service for its new church building Saturday at 11 a.m. with Pastor Ron Benzinger as speaker. Located at 50 S. Moss Rd., Winter Springs, it is the first church to be built in the city.

Church officers include: O. W. Litchfield, chairman of Elders; Mrs. Alma Claus, church clerk; Ransom Smith, lay activities leader; Mrs. Virginia Wetmore, community service director; and Lauren Fardalis, Sabbath School superintendent.

Special guests will include W. H. Smith, treasurer of Florida Conference of Seventh-day Adventist, and Pastor Brian Tarr of Forest Lake Seventh-day Adventist Church, Forest City, and the Brass Ensemble of Forest Lake Academy.

The ensemble will also play at the 9:15 a.m. Sabbath School where "Streams of Light" a slide and tape history of Winter Springs church will be presented.

The public is invited to inspect the new facilities at an open house on Sunday 1-3 p.m.

The church had 52 charter members and branched out from the Forest Lake SDA Church to establish an Adventist church in Longwood, Feb. 14, 1970. They met in the Longwood Woman's Civic League building for four years.

The groundbreaking for the new church was held in Winter Springs on April 15, 1973. The first pastor was Marvin Lowman.

Highlights TV Time Previews

8:30 CBS DIRTY SALLY
Sally and Pike run into a chain-gang escape tonight and he bargains with them so he can see his pregnant wife for a few hours. Then, he says, he'll go back to prison and they can accept the reward money. Sally is at first suspicious that he is even married, but the truth really strikes home when she has to act as midwife at the baby's birth. Billy Green-Bush is featured as the escapee.

After a thief breaks into the Belmont home, Stanley decides to get a burglar alarm. But trying to install the thing is harder than he thought, so he settles for a watchdog. He picks up the dog at the local animal shelter, but he runs into another problem. Brother-in-law Arthur is allergic to dogs, naturally.

George Kennedy stars as an insurance investigator who learns he has a malignant brain tumor and has a short time to live. To assure financial independence for his family, he takes the blame for an unsolved kidnap-murder so his wife can collect a substantial reward. He plants clues, is arrested and found guilty in court. Then an operation saves his life, and the only way he can save himself from the law is to find the real killer. Anne Jackson and Eli Wallach are featured.

10-11 NBC THE DEAN MARTIN COMEDY HOUR
Redd Foxx is the subject of tonight's roast, and he will be dragged over the coals by such "friends" as Nipsey Russell, Norm Crosby, Joey Bishop, Demond Wilson, Slappy White, Jim Bailey, Rich Little and Audrey Meadows. In the "bar" sketch impersonator Bailey does his take-offs on Phyllis Diller and Barbra Streisand. Dean sings "It's the Talk of the Town."

10-11 ABC "Stillwater — 492" (PART 1)
When a hoodlum stunt driver is killed, the death is kept quiet by the police because they believe he was considered in line to drive during a multimillion-dollar bank robbery. Guess who takes the identity and becomes the wheelman? Trouble comes when Tomma asks too many questions and the gang leader becomes suspicious.

8:30-9 NBC SANFORD AND SON "Fred's Cheating Heart"
After viewing his father's "heart attacks" these many years, Lamont finally gets the old man into a hospital for tests. To get the most sympathy from his son, Fred switches bed charts with the ailing roommate. Little does he know the man is awaiting heart surgery.

9-11 CBS CBS FRIDAY NIGHT MOVIE "ZigZag"
A thief breaks into the Belmont home, Stanley decides to get a burglar alarm. But trying to install the thing is harder than he thought, so he settles for a watchdog. He picks up the dog at the local animal shelter, but he runs into another problem. Brother-in-law Arthur is allergic to dogs, naturally.

Ford Seeks Girl For Star-Making Role
By NANCY ANDERSON
Copley News Service
HOLLYWOOD — If you are a girl 18 or 19 years old, look like a model and have screen charisma, contact Glenn Ford, because he has what he calls a star-making part for you in his new television series, "Punch and Judy."

10-11 ABC "Stillwater — 492" (PART 1)
When a hoodlum stunt driver is killed, the death is kept quiet by the police because they believe he was considered in line to drive during a multimillion-dollar bank robbery. Guess who takes the identity and becomes the wheelman? Trouble comes when Tomma asks too many questions and the gang leader becomes suspicious.

8-9 ABC JANE GODDALL AND THE WORLD OF ANIMAL BEHAVIOR
The Baboon of the Year award goes to the second of a series of animal specials for the Emmy Award-winning Miss Goddall. It presents the baboons in the Gombe National Park in Tanzania, where Miss Goddall's research station is located, and the animals' habits, idiosyncrasies and behavior in their natural habitat will be studied. Miss Goddall has made sure that the animals are presented as themselves, with no interaction between humans and baboons. She feels such interaction would compromise their studies. Hal Holbrook is the narrator.

8:30-9 NBC LOTS OF LUCK "A Little Order of Law and Order"
A thief breaks into the Belmont home, Stanley decides to get a burglar alarm. But trying to install the thing is harder than he thought, so he settles for a watchdog. He picks up the dog at the local animal shelter, but he runs into another problem. Brother-in-law Arthur is allergic to dogs, naturally.

Authorities Dispute Chances Of Altamonte Murder Case

By MA. A. WEINTZ
Herald Staff Writer
State Atty. Abbott Herring said Friday he did not have enough information to file charges in the bizarre Altamonte Springs double murder investigation, after discovering his office had the case file for three and one-half months without his knowledge.

Truckers Strike Causes Gas 'Panic'
By DOUG STORUM
Herald Staff Writer
Gas shortages and a truckers' strike have thrown Central Florida drivers into a frenzy of "panic buying," and have forced the governor to call the National Guard to drive tankertrucks to supply fire and police agencies with fuel.
