Poppy Day

"In Flanders Field the poppies blow Between the crosses, row on row..."

It will be a mark of honor for every man to wear one of the poppies in his coat lapel. It will be a tribute in memory of those who now lie dead in Flanders Field; it will be a service to those who on the same fields lost a leg or an arm.

During the war a uniform was given precedence over great and small. There was nothing too good for the soldier boy. He was eulogized in press and pulpit. He was caressed by every girl. He was an object of envy and adoration for every boy too young to go.

But today we find too often a tendency on the part of everyone to forget the work he did then. When he came back from the front, if he came back at all, perhaps he led the parade down Main Street in an automobile with his crutches at his side.

Such a day is Saturday and we must not forget that, for thirty thousand young men throughout the country who are now in hospitals for the disabled veterans of the World War, that war is still a grim reality, probably more so than it was ten years ago.

A Move Against Hurricanes

The suggestion of the scientist who recommended that the government send battleships to the Florida coast to break up hurricanes is just one of many examples which tend to show that the importance of doing something about hurricanes is becoming known.

The success of the weather bureau in predicting West Indian hurricanes will be increased by the acquisition of Swan Island, 310 miles south of the western tip of Cuba, as an observation station.

The last disastrous hurricane that swept Porto Rico, the Bahamas and the Florida East Coast, carrying destruction far inland, was predicted 48 hours in advance. Though its damage on land was considerable, not a single ship was lost.

The development of automobiles was different. Vast numbers of people were riding in automobiles before they were fit for a road or comfortable or economical transportation.

Phil Harney in the Tampa Tribune says this writer is an imitator of Brisbane. But Brisbane is old and cynical while we are young and guileless.

Brisbane never has spring fever. He would never let the smell of musky under the garden wall or the madness of Maytime on a sea-blown dune or the weird play of clouds across the moon disqualify him for all sagacity of comment on such pressing subjects as stocks, bonds, taxes, armies, navies, laws, floods and fleas.

RIGHT ON THE heels of Michigan's repeal of her "life for a pint" law comes a strange disquieting fact from Salem, Mass., where one Eusabe Theriult was sentenced to a month in the house of correction for selling a gallon of water.

CHAOTIC TAX SEAS

Up to this hour Florida has been a peculiarly fortunate, either through force of circumstances, or because of the state's commercial and economic, or the wisdom of legislative leaders; fortunate in that we have imposed no income or inheritance taxes or other fees, tax levies or special imposts that would encumber, or annoy, or hamper the normal development of business and industry, particularly upon enterprises incorporated in other states.

The absence of handicaps upon the interstate movement of capital and goods, has brought Florida forcibly to the attention of men of business interests throughout the nation; and if the imposition of such handicaps are shown in any city in the state, the inevitable result will be the attraction of moneyed interests to the fullest possible extent consistent with our resources and geographical location.

It is with great concern, therefore, that we observe, a tendency on the part of some legislators to impose both income and inheritance taxes in Florida. The house for example, has voted to refer to the people an amendment that would impose both income and inheritance taxes if adopted. Firms and individuals doing an interstate business will not be attracted to Florida if this amendment carries and some other measures advocated by short-sighted legislators pass. Neither will firms and individuals now located here have proper competition basis for expansion in interstate business.

JOHN TEMPLE GRAVES II

"But warm, sweet tender even yet, A present help is He." Russia is about to remove its restrictions on religious practices. Rejecting religion has been a feature of most great revolutionary movements in history.

New York City is boasting itself as a summer resort. It will need to suppress the summer records of heat prostrations if it hopes to get anywhere with this.

Flying may soon become the cheapest of all methods of transportation. A Diesel engine using crude oil instead of gasoline and employing its own combustion for ignition in place of spark plugs has recently driven a plane seven hundred miles at a fuel cost of only five dollars.

Unlike most other scientific developments, the human equation lags behind the mechanical one in aviation. The number of people who are willing to fly today is pitifully out of proportion to the economy and safety attained in aviation.

The development of automobiles was different. Vast numbers of people were riding in automobiles before they were fit for a road or comfortable or economical transportation.

Phil Harney in the Tampa Tribune says this writer is an imitator of Brisbane. But Brisbane is old and cynical while we are young and guileless.

Brisbane never has spring fever. He would never let the smell of musky under the garden wall or the madness of Maytime on a sea-blown dune or the weird play of clouds across the moon disqualify him for all sagacity of comment on such pressing subjects as stocks, bonds, taxes, armies, navies, laws, floods and fleas.

Work has been started by the city on construction of an overflow drainage from the municipal sewage tank. The drain pipe, which will be 1,000 feet long, will take off water that formerly drained into the North Canal by means of a ditch, which has since become clogged with grass.—Homestead Leader.

Legislature embarking Florida upon such a chaotic sea of taxation as some other states are sailing. The Chamber of Commerce of the United States at its recent annual session in Washington, pointed out clearly how states in an attempt to get out of this chaos as to taxation of intangible personal property under inheritance tax laws have been forced to enact statutes for reciprocity in exemption of intangible personal property of nonresident decedents or have given exemption for such property.

Florida had better keep clear of all such complications and continue development upon lines already contemplated and entered upon. It is poor policy to flee from "ills we get of to ill we get not."

"A MAGNIFICENT RETORT" FOLKSTON, GA. PROGRESS

Last week during a session of the Southern Baptist Convention, at Memphis Tenn., one "Dr." J. W. Porter of Lexington, Ky., arose upon the floor of the Convention and filed vigorous objections to a woman speaking before the convention. The woman, the learned doctor objected to happened to be president of the Woman's Missionary Union, Mrs. W. J. Cox, and she had been invited to address the assembly.

Dr. Porter objected to her on the sole ground that she was a woman, stating that the scriptures taught that "women should be silent in the churches," and that women could not teach. Baptist men, his objections were overwhelmingly overruled; even after he had used the last desperate bait of "strong drink" as the paramount issue in the campaign.

Our private opinion is that Dr. Porter is "A ass," if we be permitted to quote the language of an eminent writer. His words and acts on this occasion were a disgrace to the mother who bore him into the world, and a serious reflection upon the woman who, no doubt, has stood true with him through several years of married life.

We would venture a bet that this eminent "Doctor" styled himself a "Hoover Democrat" during the last election, and rallied against "strong drink" as the paramount issue in the campaign.

He was ready, willing and anxious to quote Paul, who had an unnatural antipathy toward all women, and his evident antipathy toward women was not shared by his Lord and Master, Jesus Christ. A great many preachers make it convenient to follow Paul instead of Christ when the occasion suits. For example: we would gamble our chances in the Hereafter that this same Doctor would not under any consideration, have mounted the rostrum in this same convention and quoted Paul about a "little win, for stomach's sake."

This unjust discrimination against women has been the supreme disgrace of the male sex through all history. The followers of Christ can find nothing in the life, words or acts of the Master that would justify this discrimination. He was kindly, gentle and considerate toward the women. He came in contact with white on earth, and His rebuke of the mob that would stone to death an unfortunate woman stands out as one of the high lights in His life.

Headed by a group of business men and capitalists not previously connected with banking in this section, the Wauchula State bank opened its doors for business last week.—Wauchula Advocate.

Mrs. Newman Hostess To Her Bridge Club

Mrs. R. A. Newman was hostess to the members of the Original Duplicate Club with bridge and luncheon on Thursday afternoon at her home in Rose Court. The guests arrived at 1 o'clock and luncheon was served immediately from the dining table which was overlaid with a lace luncheon cloth. Centering the table was a large bowl of lavender and pink larkspur while other decorations were also in lavender and pink.

The guests then repaired to the living room where the tables were spread for play. Red and pink radiance roses were arranged in vases and bowls in various places about the room. High scores were held by Mrs. Samuel Puleston, Mrs. A. P. Connelly, Mrs. D. L. Thrasher and Mrs. George A. DeCottes.

P. T. A. Has Luncheon Friday Afternoon

The members of the Southside P. T. A. gave a luncheon on Friday afternoon in the school lunchroom for the heads of the different departments of the P. T. A. who gave their yearly reports at this time. Red and white were the predominating colors used in decorations for the luncheon table. Baskets of red radiance roses were placed at intervals along the length of the table. The glass was further emphasized by a motto.

Sunday School Class Has Meeting Tuesday

Mrs. Hard's Sunday School class of the First Methodist Church held its regular business and social meeting Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. L. M. Telford, East First Street, with Miss Ellen Telford as hostess. Miss Telford also presided over the business meeting when a name for the class was discussed and Miss Antoinette Rhnholzer was elected to serve as vice president.

The members at this time also planned to furnish linen for two girls at the Methodist Orphanage at Benson Springs, after which it was decided that the next meeting should be held with Miss Allursh Whitehurst on June 5.

Miss Antoinette Rhnholzer then took charge of the meeting and games and contacts were enjoyed until a late hour when refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by her mother, Mrs. L. M. Telford.

Members present were: the Misses Rosalie Pope, Louise Russell, Louise Quastock, Maxie Oliver, Maria Noye, Allursh Whitehurst, Virginia McDaniel, Antoinette Rhnholzer, Marguerite Hobbs, Edna Telford, Mary Mild and Elmer Conroy.

Film "Desert Song" Will Show Here At Milane Next Week

Atlanta theater audiences are proverbially unresponsive. Rare, indeed, is the picture which incites applause. The patrons are extremely timid when it comes to expressing approval in this fashion. Occasionally, however, they are swept off their feet by some tremendously colorful picture and then they forget their diffidence.

Such an occasion was the presentation at the Howard Theater this week of the gorgeous Warner Brothers-Vitaphone screen opera "The Desert Song". Three times throughout the showing of the picture at the Monday evening performance, and again at the finish, the audience paid "The Desert Song" the exceptional tribute of spontaneous applause.

It is not surprising that critics and reviewers—big even exhibit—have indulged in some speculation as to the public's reception of this picture. Being what it is, an opera, the director could not slavishly follow the established screen technique; nor could he depart from it entirely and hold himself rigidly to stage technique.

What he did was to combine those different techniques very skillfully, setting the method to the needs of the occasion.

The result gives motion picture theater audiences something entirely new, and not one comment we have heard from Howard patrons fails to praise the picture. The story is told in song and dialogue and action. Naturally when song becomes the medium, as it does in all the more romantic sequences, the action is retarded, but it never retards the show.

"The Desert Song" is a beautiful thing—colorful, romantic, thoughtfully careful, and at moments highly dramatic. The singing is superb, thanks to the fine voices of John Boles, Carlotta King and many other principals, not to mention a great chorus. We salute Roy Del Ruth for a fine piece of direction.

East Side School Has "Poppy Day" Program

D.A.R. Mourns Death Of Florida Regent

Mrs. B. Edward Brown of DeLand, state regent of the D. A. R. and prominent in civic work, died shortly after 9 o'clock Thursday morning at her apartment in the Hotel Putnam. Mrs. Brown was ed a cerebral hemorrhage Tuesday night and failed to regain consciousness until the time of her death. Funeral services were held Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock in the First Methodist Church with the Rev. George H. Thomas in charge. She is survived by her husband and two sons, Earl Westfall and Robert H. Brown.

Mrs. Brown was elected state regent of the D. A. R. for a second term during the state convention which was held here at the Hotel Forrest Lake in March.

IMAGINE NOT HAVING TO CREAM THE SHORTENING!

You don't need half so much how fast a cake goes... when it's so easy to make as this Marble Cake.

As easy to make as this Marble Cake, for instance—

MARBLE CAKE

6 Tablespoons Shortening • 3 Eggs
 1/2 Cup Sugar • 1/2 Teaspoon Cream
 1/2 Teaspoon Clover • 1/2 Teaspoon Mace
 1/2 Teaspoon Salt • 1/4 Cup Flour
 1 Teaspoon Desired Extract
 2/3 Teaspoon Baking Powder
 1/4 Cup Milk

Sift the shortening and gradually work in the sugar, the egg well beaten, and the extract. Sift together all dry ingredients, except the spices, add them alternately with the milk to the first mixture, and beat well. Take out one-half of the mixture and add spices to it. Then put the plain and the spiced batter into the prepared cake pan in alternating layers. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for forty-five minutes.

Easy, because Snowdrift is already creamed for you... before we pack it in the air-tight cans. Just a few sips of your spoon, you know, serve to mix it thoroughly with sugar or flour.

Barba, In Defeat, Lauds Fighting Abilities Of His Conqueror, Kid Chocolate

SANFORD—Because of the storm of protest over the official decision in the fight with Kid Chocolate at the New York Athletic Club last Wednesday night, Fidel La Barba, sensational California business man, arrived to write his impressions of the fight and the circumstances surrounding it. An international news service, La Barba's story follows:

Fidel La Barba
Copyright, 1929, By International News Service.

NEW YORK, May 24.—The referee's decision that the referee's boxing was final. Kid Chocolate was awarded the decision over me Wednesday night so I am not going to make any criticism of the referee and the one judge who felt that the Cuban merited the victory. The other judge, I am told, wrote my name on his ticket. It was very gratifying to me, however, to note the reaction of the crowd, which witnessed the fight regarding the decision. The fact that they did not like it and they made the fact known.

It also was very pleasing to me to read what the sporting writers had to say about the fight. With only two exceptions, the New York boxing writers gave me the majority of the rounds.

Kid Chocolate is a good fighter. There is no mistake about that. He is a long rangy fellow in the fights and the style of battle he planned for me worked out to a nicety. At least, I thought so.

I was instructed to carry the fight to him, which I did, holding my long range, the danger zone and waiting for the counter-attack until I met into close quarters. Kid Chocolate is not so proficient in in-fighting and I felt I did my best work when we came together.

It pleased me immensely to hear the many favorable comments on the fight. I was made by boxing experts who came to my dressing room after the bout. Jack Dempsey was one of the first to praise my work.

Jack, by the way, sat right behind my corner and I could hear him cheering me as the fight progressed. It is fine to have someone near you from your home town when you are in a fight.

Blake has received a number of good offers for a return match. Jess McNahon would like to re-stage the bout next month. But by that time I will be back in Los Angeles getting ready for my fight with that good featherweight Earl Mastro. Wad Wadhams has matched me to fight him at the Olympic Auditorium on June 24.

A CORRECTION

Editor, Sanford Herald:

In your issue of yesterday, your article in regard to the new firm to be known as the Central Florida Press you state that I was formerly in the employ of the Wight Print Shop, which is erroneous. The facts are that I first purchased the Wight half interest, followed by Mr. Soule purchasing the other half interest yesterday. It all works out according to schedule and I never was in the employ of the Wight Print Shop. Trusting that you will make this correction I remain, Very truly yours, Walter D. Yowell.

Virginia Lady Says She Prevents These Troubles by Taking Black-Draught.

Elliston, Va.—"Sometimes I suffer with blinding headaches," says Mrs. I. O. Connor, of this place. "They come on me after a little spell of constipation and nearly drive me crazy."

"I get nervous and upset. My color gets yellow and my skin just as sallow. I begin to suffer with a kind of intestinal indigestion, which makes me sick all over, resulting in one of these fearful headaches. I have to give up and go to bed for several days."

"I have found that if I take Theoford's Black-Draught in time, it will prevent a spell of this kind, but if I neglect it I always suffer for my carelessness. That is why I have grown to think so highly of Black-Draught—it keeps me well."

"We never are without Theoford's Black-Draught. A box of it is always kept in our medicine chest. I give it to the children too, when I find that they are bilious or constipated."

Insist on the genuine Theoford's Black-Draught, in yellow packages, plainly marked for your protection, and everywhere.

Louis Browns, who split a double bill with Cleveland.

The Mackman came from behind to win both of their fights with the Senators yesterday, overcoming an eight-run lead in the opener. The score in each game was 9 to 8. Bing Miller's homer won the first game. Six of the Athletics' eight straight wins were scored at Washington's expense.

After apparently kicking away the game by making five errors, the Yankees posed out the Red Sox in the ninth, 7 to 6, on Kousser's second timely hit of the game. Babe Ruth pulled his hit-and-run play for the eighth time this season and is now only one away to brother Gehrig.

All of the American League games were closely contested.

With the arrival of John McGraw back on the bench to master mind them, the Giants "robots" came to life and swamped Boston, 11 to 4. The New Yorkers defeated seven successive slugs before a run cut in the eighth inning, when they scored seven runs. The Braves had no luck against "no hit" slugs.

Pittsburgh's 6 to 3 win over the Reds marked the seventh straight victory for the undefeated Bunch Grimes, and the seventh consecutive defeat for Cincinnati. A triple in the seventh by "Little Johnny" Waters, with two runners on the bases, broke up the party. Other games did not play.
