Few Books Challenged In Seminole County Public Schools

REV. JOHN BUTLER BOOK would like to keep...

By MICHAEL BEHA
Herald Staff Writer

Since he first appeared before the Seminole County School Board in 1974 to seek the removal of two books from Lake Brantley High School's library, the Rev. John Butler Book has battled for tighter screening of materials available to the county's students.

Book initially sought to remove "Soul on Ice" by former Black Panther Eldridge Cleaver in which Cleaver discusses interracial sex, rape and other acts of violence. The other book, "Catch-22" by Joseph Heller, has scenes involving sex and violence.

Books like "Soul on Ice" should not be available to students, Book said. "It's not only vulgar in purpose but it plants ideas in the mind of impressionable children.

Book's opposition to the books was rejected by the school board. "They called me a book-burner."

But today his opposition to what he calls books with a secular humanist message continues. He describes secular humanism as eliminating the moral values from issues like sex, drugs, violence and homosexuality. Secular humanism, he said, seeks to disseminate information rather than make value judgements.

"We should be putting more books on the shelves with a positive message," said Book, who has been the most vocal person in Seminole County to challenge school officials' book judgement.

Seminole County does not have a district-wide screening policy for library books, said Nancy Haigh, a school administrator responsible for class books. Library books are screened at each school by a committee composed of the principal, faculty members and parents, she said, but are very rarely challenged.

In the two years she has served in the position, no challenges have been followed through the process from the schools to the school board, Ms. Haigh said.

But Book said many parents would be surprised to see what is available to their children.

"The books are filled with propaganda from the feminists, homosexuals and humanists," he said. "Catcher in the Rye," J.D. Salinger's tale of the torments of a male coming of age, tops a list of the most frequently challenged books in American high schools between 1965 and 1982, based on six national surveys of censorship pressures.

Time magazine tops the list of the most frequently challenged periodicals between 1977 and 1982. Mademoiselle, Sports Illustrated, Rolling Stone, Glamour, MS, Mad, Psychology Today, Newsweek and U.S. News and World Report are others on the top 10 magazine list.

Lee Burress, professor of English, University of Wisconsin, Stevens Point, Wis., named the books and magazines subject to frequent challenges in high schools across the country.

"Go Ask Alice," "Of Mice and Men," "The Grapes of Wrath" and "1984" are Nos. 2, 3, 4, 5 on the professor's list of the 25 most frequently challenged books.

"The Lord of the Flies," "Forever," "Our Bodies, Ourselves," "The Adventures of Huckleberry Finn" and "To Kill a Mockingbird" are Nos. 6, 7, 8, 9 and 10.

Most of these books and magazines are available in the Seminole County School system.

Since the middle 1960's, Burress has checked periodically with a sampling of high school librarians. In this year's survey, 34 percent of them said books have been challenged — up from 20 percent reporting challenges in 1966, 28 percent in 1973, and 30 percent in 1977.

"Censorship pressure on the use of ... these and other books from Seminole County school students books, periodicals and films has increased rather steadily for a number of years," he said, noting the 1982 survey shows challenges at a record level.

Couple Defying Government Order To Give Back $$

Dale and Mary Morrison are waiting for the feds to come lock up their store, freeze their bank account and haul them off to jail.

The Morrises operate Home Appliance Center, 1700 W. First St., Sanford, and are patiently waiting for federal officials to take action to recover money paid to them by Auto-Train shortly before the company went bankrupt.

The Morrises sold the auto-ferry business two air conditioners in June of 1980. A month later, a check was sent to them for $661.44.

In September, Auto-Train was bankrupt and the Morrises were relieved they had received payment for the air conditioning units before the company went under.

But their relief turned to grief last August when the couple received a letter from federal bankruptcy court in Washington D.C. asking for confirmation of the transaction. When the Morrises didn't respond to the letter, they received a second one, ordering them to pay back what they had been paid by Auto-Train plus 14 percent interest and court costs.

The Morrises already have been forced by the difficult economic times in the area to close their store in Orange City. And while the couple say they can't afford to go to Washington to fight the court order in person, they remain intent to resist.

A court deadline passed Tuesday for the couple to repay the bankrupt firm what the court says they owe and now they are waiting for federal government to make its next move.

That next move could be padlocking the door at the Morrises' store or freezing their bank account. Or a bankruptcy court judge could order one or both to jail.

"I've thought about going to jail for a few days," Mrs. Morrison said. "That wouldn't be too bad. But we can't afford to let them padlock the door or freeze our bank account."

Since the Morrises' plight was first publicized in an Evening Herald article in January, the couple has received support from many local residents and several other companies which were ordered to repay funds paid to them by Auto-Train in the months before it went bankrupt.

Mrs. Morrison said they have been contacted by U.S. Sen. Lawton Chiles, D-Lakeland, who has promised to take action in the Senate to change the provision of the bankruptcy laws which allows situations like the one facing the Morrises.

"That's a good idea," Mrs. Morrison said. "But it's not going to do us much good." — MICHAEL BEHA

Drug-Related Murders Climbing In Seminole

(Editor's Note: Crime is on the increase in Seminole County and in this article, the first of three on crime, Victor Assersohn examines the problem, focusing on the few unsolved murders in the county. In the next two articles, a close look will be taken at how scientists and forensic experts can take over where police detection methods stop and the third article will outline how the ordinary man on the street can help protect himself and his neighbors from crime.)

By VICTOR ASSERSOHN

Crimes of violence surged ahead in Seminole County in 1982 and now some law enforcement officers fear the ripples of a crime wave in Central Florida will be felt in Seminole.

As one officer put it: "You can't proudly call yourself the entertainment capital of the world and then think lawbreakers will not move in on the rich pickings."

There certainly are rich pickings. Drug-related murders last year overtook murders committed during angry domestic disputes. Of the eight murders in Seminole County last year—double the four murders in 1981—five were drug-related.

Four of the "drug murders" were cleared up by the police. Only one remains outstanding and under investigation.

This slaying in which three people died, has baffled police who have met a virtual wall of silence.

The multiple murder occurred at 173 Parsons Road near Longwood on June 3. Police were tipped off by a man that there had been a shooting. Police found three people dead in the house, including a 12-year-old boy.

The three victims were later identified as Russell E. Davidson Sr., 36, his son, Russell E. Davidson, 12, and Garth Alexander McCrae, 34, of Detroit.

A large quantity of guns and $2,000 in cash and drugs were found in the house.

"An earlier suspicion that this incident could have been drug-related was confirmed when a metal container was found containing many plastic bags of a white, powdery substance," a Seminole County Sheriff's Department spokesman said at the time of the murders.

Police won't say if they have any new leads. The murders remain under investigation.

L. George Hagood, who is in charge of detectives investigating crimes against persons, said: "Murders are becoming more difficult to solve because more of them are drug-related. You are involved with people dealing in drugs and they would rather turn in their own parents than turn

County Judges Want A Fourth Jurist Added To The Seminole Bench

Seminole County Court Judge Alan Dickey figures there is a 50-50 chance that on the third attempt, he will get a fourth judge to help out with the mounting number of cases heard in county court.

Dickey has compiled statistics on the number of cases heard by each judge and last Friday presented the information to chief Circuit Court Judge Joe Davis at a meeting in Daytona Beach.

The request for a fourth county judge will be passed on to the Florida Supreme Court. If approved, the request will then have to be approved by the Legislature, Dickey said.

He points out that no new judge has been added to Seminole County Court since 1976 and requests for judicial help in 1980 and 1981 were turned down.

The judges say that because of a population increase in Seminole County, their caseloads increased to around 18,000 cases each in 1982 and will rise further as the county's population grows.

They also point to the old saying: "Justice delayed is justice denied," and add that justice hurried carries a frightening risk of becoming injustice.

Dickey points out that a total of 90 more law enforcement officers have been added by local

ALAN DICKEY

If the certification goes through and the Legislature agrees that a fourth judge should be appointed to the Seminole County court, a decision which probably wouldn't be made before March, it would be unlikely that the new judge would be able to start before next January, Dickey said.

Until then, "We'll just do the best we can." — VICTOR ASSERSOHN

Glenn: Seminole's Library Bond Issue In Big Trouble

Seminole County's $7 million library bond issue is in trouble because the county failed to properly advertise the referendum, according to County Commission Chairman Sandra Glenn.

Mrs. Glenn said the county failed to advertise the referendum three and five weeks prior to the Oct. 5 election as called for in the resolution which set up the referendum.

Mrs. Glenn said the bond issue was advertised in the form of a sample ballot in newspapers several days prior to the election.

"The intent was there, but the letter of the law was not carried out," she said.

County administrator Duncan Rose explained the problem in a memo to Mrs. Glenn. "The issue was advertised prior to the election in the form of a sample ballot, which is a replica of the actual ballot," Rose said.

"However there is some confusion as to whether such advertising meets other requirements for advertising under state law."

Mrs. Glenn said there are three ways to correct the oversight. The county could take the issue to the Florida Supreme Court for verification, hold another referendum or seek a special act of the Legislature.

Mrs. Glenn will ask commissioners Tuesday to approve a bill to be submitted to the county's legislative delegation. She said commissioners must pass the bill prior to the legislative delegation's meeting in Altamonte Springs Jan. 16.

The bond issue received the approval of 58 percent of the voters who turned out to vote in the October run-off election. Only 10.9 percent of the county's registered voters bothered to cast a ballot in the election. The bond issue received 4,651 votes for to 3,345 votes against.

The bond issue will pay for construction of branch libraries in Lake Mary, Oviedo, Lake Howell-Tuskawilla and Wekiva-Forest City along with a new main library in Casselberry and expansion of the Sanford branch library. —MICHAEL BEHA

Hastings Jubilant Over Acquittal

MIAMI (UPI) — U.S. District Judge Alcee Hastings, acquitted of charges that he conspired to take a $150,000 bribe from two racketeers, says "I'm going to be a judge for life."

The four-week trial of the only active federal judge ever to be tried on criminal charges ended Friday afternoon with a verdict of innocent from the seven-woman jury.

The government accused Hastings, Florida's first black federal judge, of scheming with college roommate William A. Borders Jr., a prominent black Washington, D.C., attorney, to solicit a $150,000 bribe to mitigate the sentences and forfeiture of $1.2 million by two racketeers convicted in Hastings' court.

The gregarious Hastings, 46, year-old native of Altamonte Springs and a 1955 graduate of the old Croom's Academy in Sanford, thanked the jury, shook hands with the three Justice Department prosecutors, and embraced his co-counsel Patricia Williams and chief law clerk, Alan Ehrlich, both weeping. Then he pushed his way through shouting supporters to "call my mama."

"I'm delighted at the verdict," Hastings told reporters outside the courthouse. "I received a favorable result... in one of America's most unfair trials."

He had insisted long before the trial that the government was prosecuting him because he is black and because of his attack on Reagan administration policies, particularly those dealing with the illegal Haitian refugee situation in south Florida.

Several jurors, contacted at the hotel where they had been sequestered for 2 1/2 weeks, refused comment. Presiding U.S. District Judge Edward Gignoux of Maine urged them not to discuss the case with reporters.

Borders, Hastings' college roommate and friend for more than 20 years, was convicted of bribery conspiracy in the case last summer and is appealing a 3-year prison term.

Hastings' acquittal leaves Borders in the strange position of being convicted of taking part in a conspiracy of one.

A smiling federal judge Alcee Hastings and his chief counsel Patricia Williams leave a Miami federal courthouse after he was found innocent of bribery conspiracy charges.

NATION

IN BRIEF

Move Afoot To Kill

Aid To El Salvador

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A move to cut off military aid to El Salvador has been launched in the House, where critics disagree with the administration's report of human rights progress in El Salvador.

Legislation introduced Friday would nullify the certification of progress the administration issued last month to justify continued aid to El Salvador.

If passed, the bill would suspend military aid to El Salvador until Congress determines that the requirements of the certification law have "truly" been met.

The administration certified that El Salvador had made progress in protecting human rights, although acknowledging that serious problems remain, including the murder of civilians and an ineffective judicial system.

Car Sales Up 11.4 Percent

DETROIT (UPI) — Total auto sales in the United States jumped 11.4 percent in January, marking the fourth straight month sales have increased for domestic auto-makers. Foreign sales declined slightly.

Total auto sales in the United States last month were 594,293, up 11.4 percent from 533,598 in January 1982, manufacturers said Thursday.

U.S. automakers sold 412,893 cars in January, a 12.2 percent increase over the 368,138 sold last year when poor weather and dreary economic conditions kept showrooms empty. Sales have now been up for four months starting in October.

Guard Protecting Truckers

United Press International

President Reagan blasted striking truckers for trying to change laws by "committing murder" and states hard-hit by shootings, burnings and stonings called out the National Guard to patrol highways in the sixth day today of the strike by terror.

Reagan, reacting to a demand by the independent truckers for a rollback on laws raising fuel and highway use taxes, condemned the violence Friday and said there would be no backing down.

Since the Independent Truckers of America called the strike at midnight Sunday to protest the tax hikes, one truck driver has been killed and 87 other people have been injured in shootings and other strike-related violence.

Abortion Clinic Attacked

SHREVEPORT, La. (UPI) — Acting on what he said was a message from God, a man used a sledgehammer to smash windows in a north Louisiana abortion clinic.

Donald P. Duncan III, 29, was arrested Friday and tentatively charged with criminal property damage at the Hope Medical Group for Women, police said.

Police Sgt. W.P. Lambright said Duncan has a history of mental illness and that officials were trying to have the suspect admitted to the Louisiana State University Hospital.

WEATHER

NATIONAL REPORT: A storm that buried the Southwest under 19 inches of snow barreled toward the Midwest today and police reported increased violence linked to "cabin fever." Panicky shoppers raided grocery shelves for staples. At least 43 people have been killed in a week of storms. The Southwestern storms socked avalanche-prone Wolf Creek Pass, Colo., with 19 inches of snow and blizzed Arizona and New Mexico Friday. A foot of snow fell near Santa Fe, N.M. and heavy snow and low visibility interfered with plans to airlift food and supplies to stranded residents of a Navajo reservation isolated by a mushy mix of mud and snow. Two inches of snow fell in two hours at Albuquerque, N.M., and the Albuquerque International Airport was closed for about three hours Friday when visibility dropped to one-quarter mile. Up to 4 inches of steady snow fell on icy Arkansas roads and state police said conditions were getting worse.

'Super Gonorrhea' Defies Antibiotic

By CHARLES S. TAYLOR

ATLANTA (UPI) — The national Centers for Disease Control has reported there are now documented cases of person-to-person transmission of a "super gonorrhea" strain resistant to spectinomycin, an antibiotic used when penicillin fails to cure the disease.

Federal health officials had lacked evidence of transmission of this resistant strain. Previous cases, all except one occurring in other countries, have been sporadic and have occurred among individuals without known contact, the CDC said in its Morbidity and Mortality Weekly Report.

Between August 1982 and January, 27 cases of spectinomycin-resistant gonorrhea infection were reported by U.S. Air Force facilities in the Pacific. The CDC said 25 of these cases occurred among Air Force personnel stationed at Osan or Kusan, Republic of Korea.

"Factors contributing to the emergence and sustained transmission of these organisms are currently unknown," the CDC said.

So far, there has been only one spectinomycin-resistant gonorrhea case that originated in this country, but this strain of venereal disease, which does not respond to either penicillin or spectinomycin, is occurring in other countries, particularly those in the Far East. The CDC said this makes eventual importation "probable."

More than a million gonorrhea cases are reported in this country annually and federal health officials say hundreds of thousands of other cases go unreported. About 5 percent are resistant to penicillin.

The increasing resistance of the gonorrhea organism to penicillin and spectinomycin means doctors may have to fall back to a third category of more expensive antibiotics to cure the ailment.

Venereal disease experts at the CDC said earlier that the cephalosporin drugs — cefoxitin and cefotaxime — are recommended in treating gonorrhea cases that are resistant to penicillin and spectinomycin. Spectinomycin is five to 10 times more expensive than penicillin and the cephalosporin compounds cost even more than spectinomycin.

Federal health officials have expressed concern that the rising cost of treating the resistant strains of gonorrhea will lead to fewer people getting treated, with a subsequent increase in the number of persons with active cases of the disease.

Humane Society Needs Funds For New Shelter

By JANE CASSELLBERRY
Herald Staff Writer

If wishing would make it so, the Seminole County Humane Society would have the money to complete the society's new animal shelter now under construction on a 3.7-acre site at U.S. Highway 17-92 and Old County Home Road, south of Sanford.

But since they know it will take more than wishing to raise $50,000 in challenge funds in order to receive the matching amount offered by the Edyth Bush Charitable Foundation, society members are planning fund raising projects.

A drive to collect S&H Green Stamps books to be redeemed for cash to be put in the challenge fund was launched this past week by the society.

The filled books may be sent to the shelter or deposited in the "Wishing Wells" located in Publix Markets in Sanford Plaza, Butler Plaza and Altamonte Springs.

Humane Society President Mrs. Helen Wolk of Maitland said the society has set a goal to collect 5,000 books by the end of this month. S & H will top off the drive by donating a special bonus. The three groups or individuals donating the most books will receive special recognition from the society.

Another fund raiser planned for this month is the first Cupid's Critter Cabaret to be held 7-11 p.m. Sunday, Feb. 13, at Lord Chumley's Pub in Altamonte Springs.

The Phyllis Dale Combo and special guests will be featured at the Feb. 13 event. All profits will benefit the Humane Society. There will be entertainment, dancing, a cash bar and snacks with an admission of $5 per person. It will be open to the public.

Coming up in April will be a benefit golf tournament with Bo Simpson in charge.

The deadline for meeting the Edyth Bush Foundation challenge is Aug. 1. Currently, the challenge fund has a total of $19,025. Previously, $57,556 was collected in the building fund account, but this can't be counted toward the challenge fund, according to Wolk.

The official groundbreaking for the shelter was Dec. 30 and the new shelter must be completed and in operation by October 1983 or lose its lease on the property, which is owned by Seminole County.

The present animal shelter located on Sanford Airport property at 2001 E. 25th St., must be vacated because of planned airport expansion.

Pair Jailed In $39 Shoe Store Robbery

Two men who attempted to rob an Altamonte Springs shoe store are in the Seminole County jail today in lieu of $5,000 bond.

Gregory Jackson, 23, Orlando, and Larry Crayton, 23, Winter Park, were charged with grand theft in a robbery of the Father and Son Shoe Store in the Altamonte Mall.

Police said the pair distracted the clerk by asking to use the bathroom and trying on several pairs of shoes. When the clerk had gone into a storeroom, Crayton allegedly began rifling through the cash register.

Police said the clerk came out of the storeroom and caught Crayton going through the register. Crayton fled but later was apprehended getting into a car in the mall parking lot.

An inventory of the store receipts showed that $39 was taken.

CON MEN SENTENCED

A 31-year-old Longwood man has been sentenced to five years in prison for defrauding elderly women out of up to $5,000 for phony medical insurance of certificates of deposit.

Ronald Rosell was sentenced in Orange County Circuit Court Friday on one count of fraud and grand theft.

Also sentenced was Robert Tanner, 29, of Maitland, who received a 15-year prison term for one count of fraud and two counts of grand theft.

Two cases against the men were dropped because one woman was senile and couldn't testify and another was unable to appear in court, according to Assistant State Attorney Vicki Smith.

MOTEL DAMAGED

Someone started a small fire on the porch outside apartment "P" at the McAllister Motel, South West Road, Sanford, and then poured catsup on the bed and furniture and ransacked the room, according to a police report.

The fire was discovered in a small plastic garbage bag on the motel porch at about 8:30 a.m. Tuesday and the damage was found when the room was inspected.

PUPS STOLEN

Two pit bull pups worth $150 were stolen from the yard at 610 W. 9th Street, Sanford, between 8:30 a.m. and 4 p.m. Thursday.

The pups, owned by Daniel Leath, were taken from the yard after the fence had been knocked down, according to a police report.

ARMED ROBBERY

A robber carrying a sawed off shotgun burst into the Sporting Goods Store on U.S. Highway 17-92, Longwood, and pointed it at clerk Terrence Bybee and ordered him to give him all the store's money.

Bybee, of Altamonte Springs, was then told to lie on the floor and the robber then ran out of the store with an undisclosed amount of money, police said. The incident occurred at 8:55 p.m. Thursday.

And Help Pro-Israel Candidates

Falwell To Form Political Group To Fight Abortion

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Moral Majority, which has been credited with exercising a great deal of political clout in the 1980 presidential election, plans to form its own political action committee for anti-abortion and pro-Israel political candidates.

"Our emphasis will be along the lines of supporting candidates who are strongly pro-life, supportive of the state of Israel and the many traditional values we espouse," the Rev. Jerry Falwell told United Press International.

Falwell first disclosed the idea of the political action committee, which can channel funds directly to favored candidates, to free-lance journalist Stephen Schwambach.

The television evangelist, based at Thomas Roads Baptist Church in Lynchburg, Va., refused to predict how much money the Moral Majority PAC could raise.

"We have two years to raise it in and I expect it will be in the millions," he said.

The political action committee will become the third facet of Moral Majority's growing activism. The organization already is registered as a political lobbying group and a separate entity works as an educational group on political and moral issues.

"This will be a third entity for us for the purpose of raising funds from our own constituency for candidates who support pro-life and pro-family issues," he said.

"We have spent our first three years registering five million voters and educating them on the issues," Falwell said. "Now we want to get them involved in the process."

Florida Power Rate Structure To Be Topic

Tracy Smith of the public affairs department of Florida Power Corp. will talk about the power company's rate structure at the Monday night meeting of the Seminole County Young Republican Club.

The club will have a social hour at 7:30 p.m. and the meeting will begin at 8 p.m. at the Club of Casselberry on Triplet Drive, Casselberry.

The public is invited.

from his boat parked at a warehouse on Nursery Road and U.S. Highway 17-92.

The boat equipment was taken between 3:30 p.m. Saturday and 12:04 p.m. Monday. The theft was reported by the mayor's son, Tim Glascock.

MAN DRAGGED BY CAR

Daniel Roberts, 21, of 1362 Formosa Drive, Winter Park, was dragged along the road by a car after he had told the driver to slow down because there were children in the street nearby.

Roberts told Seminole County Sheriff's deputies that he saw a car traveling north on Poinsetta Drive and flagged it down at about 3:45 p.m. Tuesday and asked the driver to slow down because there were children nearby. As he leaned in through the car window to talk to the driver, the car accelerated away and Roberts became entangled and was pulled along the road for about 20 yards, the sheriff's report said. He suffered cuts and scrapes to his leg and arms and was pushed clear by the driver.

WOMAN ROBBED

Lily Mae Jenkins, 69, of Sanford was attacked from behind as she was walking along a path near W. 6th Street in Sanford at 4:45 p.m. on Thursday.

She told police that her assailant sneaked up behind her and put his hand over her eyes before throwing her to the ground. He told her not to shout and slapped her face before stealing a wallet. He then searched her for more money before running off, police said.

LOCKSMITH TOOLS STOLEN

Locksmith tools valued at $350 and belonging to Larry Keller, 2633 S. Laurel Ave., Sanford, were stolen from a vehicle between 3:30 p.m. Wednesday and 7 a.m. Thursday. The car was parked in the Seminole County Courthouse parking lot at the time of the theft, a police report said.

DRUG BUST

Two men were still in the Seminole County jail on $8,000 bond each following their arrests Thursday night in a deal to sell drugs to undercover narcotics officers.

Gregory Lamar Rainer, 20, of 2100 Howell Branch Road, Winter Park, and Eric Joseph Klender, 24, of 5202 Lake Howell Branch Road, Winter Park, were arrested at 11:52 p.m.

Rainer is charged with the sale and delivery of Qualaludes and battery on a police officer. Klender is charged with delivering Qualaludes and possession of marijuana.

Undercover agents from the Seminole County Drug Task Force were at Sam's Woodshed Pub in Casselberry when Rainer allegedly offered to sell one of them 50 Qualaludes for $100, according to an arrest report.

Rainer had sold one Qualalude for $3 as a sample and when Klender showed up about 20 minutes later with 50 Qualaludes, they were both arrested. During his arrest, Rainer reportedly struck one of the officers, the report said. A rolled marijuana cigarette was found in Klender's car when it was searched.

DRUG BUST

While Klender and Rainer were being arrested, 19-year-old James Patrick Patterson, 1029 Manchester Circle, Maitland, approached the undercover agents who told him to leave the area.

Patterson replied that he wasn't doing anything and only reluctantly moved away after being told several times to leave the report said. He went back into the bar and then returned, says the arrest report, and after ignoring several more lawful warnings to leave, he was arrested.

Patterson was charged with refusing to obey a lawful order, possession of drug paraphernalia (a marijuana smoking pipe) and possession of marijuana.

He was being held in the Seminole County jail on $500 bond.

DUI ARRESTS

The following persons were arrested in Seminole County and charged with driving under the influence (DUI):

— Carol R. Howard, 710 Wilshire Circle, Casselberry, was arrested at 11:16 p.m. Tuesday on State Road 436 west of Lake Howell Road. A sheriff's report says that her speech was slurred and there was a smell of alcohol on her breath.

— Edsel Charles Grooms, 54, of 306 W. 13th Street, Sanford, was arrested after he was seen driving over the curb when he left the 7-11 store at 12th Street and Park Avenue at 12:44 a.m. Wednesday. He was also charged with driving with a suspended license.

Pac-Man Now Linked To Epileptic Seizures

ROCHESTER, Minn. (UPI) — Mayo Clinic neurologists say the video game Pac-Man has touched off epileptic seizures in two 15-year-old boys in the past six months, the first cases of their kind reported in the United States.

Two similar incidents have been reported in England. Dr. Donald Klass and James Mellinger said the rate at which light flickered on the screens was the apparent cause of the seizures. Both boys were treated at the Rochester clinic.

The doctors said one of the boys treated at Mayo had been playing video games for a year before the first indication of epilepsy appeared. The youth became dazed and one of his hands twitched while he was playing Combat, another video game in an arcade.

Six weeks later, the youth had a full epileptic seizure while playing Pac-Man at home. The doctors said the boy was sensitive at certain times of the day to flickering bright light.

The second boy had the seizures only while playing Pac-Man, doctors said, and was not found to be sensitive to light. "Pac-Man was his nemesis," Mellinger said of the second youth. "Just before I saw him he had had a severe episode while playing that game. It was the flickering lights."

Both boys were advised not to play the game anymore.

Spring Sports Stir At LMHS

As we begin the third quarter of this school year, many sports are either concluding or just beginning their seasons. As Lake Mary High School's basketball, soccer and wrestling teams put the final touches on their practically faultless records, our softball, baseball, track and tennis teams emerge from their weeks of practice with aspirations of going straight to the state finals.

One of the teams that may well be on its way to the top is the Ram tennis team. Under the direction of school sponsor Beth Whigham and pro tennis coach Doug Malczowski, both the girls' and boys' teams are expecting very successful season records.

Members of the 1983 girls' tennis team are: Robin Pinnock, Grace Roegner, Raelene Hyerson, Gina Caputo, Mickey Reynolds, Kim Sharpe, Mindi Everett, Lisa Splatt, and Paula Volpi.

Included on the boys' team are: Mark Viner, Andy McNeill, Todd Mac Donald, Mark Mac Donald, Robbie Shaker, Jay Glattling, Kit Johnson, Steve Rhodes, David Jones, Trey

Each month, teachers will nominate outstanding students in a specific grade for achievements in one of three areas: Scholarship, spirit and athletics. This "Student-of-the-Month" process began last month with the Junior class. The winners from the month of January were: Scholar — Lisa Gregory; Athlete — Ned Kolbjornsen; Spirited — Mindi Everett. Next month, teachers will nominate and students will vote on members of the sophomore class.

Math Wizards Honored At SHS

By Jill Janak

Designed to promote a special interest in math, Mu Alpha Theta serves as an honors club and to help members prepare for college.

Some members of the club are chosen to represent Seminole High in the county math contest in May. They, along with some other students, go to the contest and compete with students from other schools in algebra, geometry, advanced math, and calculus. The officers are Mike Wolgemoth, president; Alan Janak, vice-president; Eric Nyros, secretary; Toal Doan, treasurer; and Scott Mech, parliamentarian. These students along with sponsor

Andy Baker, Sherri Duddles, Mike Brooks, Sam Lake, James Cohen, Jill Janak, and Dee Goebelbecker.

The Tribe members initiated this week will be announced in next week's column.

The activities for this week are: Monday — Girls varsity basketball at Spruce Creek, 7 p.m.

Tuesday — Boys J.V. and varsity basketball at Spruce Creek, 6:15 p.m.; sports booster meeting, 7:30 p.m.; golf home, with Lake Mary and Titusville, 3:30 p.m. Senior Cap and Gown pictures.

Wednesday — Boys soccer, home, with Lake Howell, varsity, 4 p.m.

Temik Pesticide Ban Lifted In 3 Counties

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Potato farmers in three Florida counties have been given permission to continue using the controversial pesticide Temik during their current planting season.

Agriculture Commissioner Doyle Conner issued an order late Friday partially lifting his statewide ban on Temik to allow its use on potato fields only in St. Johns, Putnam and Flagler counties.

Conner said extensive testing of groundwater in the tri-county area showed no traces of the pesticide.

He issued the statewide ban last week after the discovery of aldicarb, a Temik component, in a Winter Garden well.

Temik is used in Florida primarily on citrus trees and the ban in groves continues.

Temik critics have been seeking a permanent ban on the grounds that the pesticide eventually makes its way into water supplies. Union Carbide Agricultural Products Co., Temik's manufacturer, insists the pesticide decomposes very rapidly after application.

Price Of Education High

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — The Department of Education has put a high pricetag on the recommendations made by the Governor's Commission on Secondary Schools.

In a line-by-line analysis of the commission's proposed reforms Friday, the agency said it fully implemented they would require raising the state sales tax from five to seven cents on the dollar.

The 12-member commission has urged the state to take greater control over public school courses and graduation requirements. It also has called for a beefing up of math, science and writing instruction and the scheduling of longer school days.

Gov. Bob Graham and the Cabinet are scheduled to consider the proposals Feb. 15.

13 Dead, 40 Wounded In PLO Office Explosion

United Press International

A powerful explosion from a car bomb ripped through two buildings housing the offices of the Palestine Liberation Organization and Libyan embassy in west Beirut today, killing at least 13 people and injuring 40 others, police said.

The huge explosion ignited a fire that raced through both seven-story buildings, trapping dozens of people on the balconies. Police used ladders to remove the dead and wounded and rescue those trapped on the balconies.

Ambulances and private cars screamed through the crowded streets carrying the wounded as Lebanese army troops and Italian members of the multinational peace-keeping forces cleared the streets.

Bolivia Expels War Criminal

La PAZ, Bolivia (UPI) — Bolivia expelled fugitive Nazi Klaus Barbie, "The Butcher of Lyon," putting him on an airplane bound for France where he is sentenced to death for war crimes, Interior Minister Mario Roncal announced.

Barbie, 69, was arrested Jan. 25 for cheating the state mining company out of $10,000 13 years ago. He paid back the money earlier this week and federal comptrollers said his release depended only on final accounting procedures.

Roncal said Friday Barbie was expelled for violating immigration laws. He said the Bolivian government had determined that Barbie, a German citizen, entered the country without proper documentation.

The French case against Barbie accuses him of being responsible for the arrests, tortures and in some cases, killings of more than 25,000 Jews and other resistance fighters.

Oil Prices: Mixed Emotions

Two years ago, when the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries was pushing the price of oil above $40 a barrel, we might have prayed for the kind of news we got recently from Geneva. OPEC has failed to agree on price and production formulas that would stave off a wave of price-cutting on the world oil market.

Thus does the shoe slip onto the other foot. After ratcheting oil prices upward in the 1970s, to the distress of the oil-importing countries, OPEC is now scrambling to keep prices from dropping in the face of a market surplus. The Geneva meeting had been billed as a "last chance" for OPEC members to overcome their rivalries and self-interest for the good of the group. They seem to have failed.

Why no celebrations? We would expect bells to ring for the potential demise of an international cartel which had played havoc with our cost of living. Instead we see a stock market counting the news from Geneva as bad instead of good, and hear international bankers warn that a sharp drop in oil prices could have a serious if not fatal effect on some national economies.

We do not dismiss these warnings, but we think that the world will be better off with a weak OPEC, or none at all, than with an OPEC capable of controlling the price and supply of petroleum. A sharp drop in oil prices — if indeed that is in the cards — will create problems, but if weathering them leads to the establishment of a more free and rational energy market so much the better.

Economic and energy policies of our country and most others have been predicated on a presumption that oil prices would remain high or climb higher. They did not envision the softening of prices that began in 1981, nor a major retreat in prices that may now occur. We have been forced to make radical reassessments of natural gas pricing policies, synthetic fuel programs, and calculations of the cost benefits of switching from oil to alternate energy sources.

A major challenge for the Reagan administration is how to keep lower prices on the world market from derailing the effort to reduce our dependence on imported oil. The drilling activity which has buoyed up our domestic oil industry in recent years could lose its economic rationale if oil is available from abroad at a price cheaper than the cost of producing it at home. This could lead the administration to support an oil import tax as a means of preventing another slide toward over-dependence on foreign oil.

As it is, the OPEC producers may wind up "paying" for the refurbishment of our highways, bridges and transit systems which will be financed by the 5-cent increase in gasoline tax taking effect in April. Industry experts predict that gasoline prices at the pump will not have to be increased to cover the new tax. Lower oil prices will have reduced the gasoline price by at least as much.

If oil prices fall sharply, we should not delude ourselves into thinking that the reason is the failure of OPEC to prop them up. The real reason is the law of supply and demand, and that should remind us that the law works both ways. It took two years for a surplus to develop which has changed a seller's market into a buyer's market. In this volatile world, events could turn surplus into shortage just as quickly, and with shortages of a commodity, prices have no way to go but up.

BERRY'S WORLD

WELCOME
ANNUAL CONVENTION OF THE
ASSOCIATION OF SCARED ECONOMISTS

Art in any form is fascinating — from simple street dancing to intricate classical symphonies. I get terribly put out with talented people who take the time to do their thing — from kindergarten finger painting to colorful splashes artistically brushed onto canvas.

This year, I reluctantly decided to bring some of my personal works of art out of the closet. Today's connoisseurs call this type potpourri "eclectic." I call it a hodgepodge of discarded junk that doesn't merit giving away at a yard sale to say the least of bringing in a quarter.

Nevertheless, framing some of these monstrosities is quite costly. But "eclectic," I remember while I'm making out the check.

I wandered into a crafts specialty shop recently to become entranced with hundreds of stichery kits — some especially designed for beginners. The clerk probably sensed my bewilderment and approached me, asking if I needed assistance.

"Everybody thinks I need something to do," I muttered.

Laughing, she asked if I thought that I did. I explained that time was no problem — there is plenty of time daily, from 12:30 to 6:30 a.m. that I can become involved with anything — no matter what. Funny thing about it though, I told her, is that my eyes will no longer stay open during these hours, and once closed, the noise of a cannon cannot budge them.

I purchased three beginner stichery kits (and they don't come cheap). After deciphering the complicated instructions (it's no wonder children's toys seem so hard to put together), and laughing at the detailed procedure outlined to thread a needle (I couldn't believe it), I started whipping away.

Noticing my anxiety, my husband asked if the stichery were making me nervous.

"No, just intimidated. Why, this is the same simple embroidery I used to do as a child while sitting under the Chinaberry tree up in Alabama. It's downright insulting to waste time on this rinky-dink stuff. Any fool who can read can do this."

Being a born addict, I completed the stichery in due time. But I did not put the needle down until I had secured the last stitch. Nothing else was accomplished during my crafty fling with stichery. But it was fun.

The Sanford-Seminole Art Association will have its annual member show, free and open to the public, on Sunday, Feb. 20, from noon to 5 p.m. Also a tea is set from 2:30 to 4:30 that day. Several members have donated paintings to be awarded in a drawing.

This is always a beautiful art exhibit featuring works of area artists who paint "from scratch" and not from kits.

And it's not rinky-dink.

JEFFREY HART Reagan's Policy Problems

At two recent meetings in Texas, conservatives unhappy with President Reagan met to discuss their discontents and consider their political options.

The reasons for their discontents are obvious enough: the 90-billion dollar tax rise and the new gasoline tax last year, the tax increases that are part of the new Social Security package, the softer rhetoric on the Soviets from both the president and the new secretary of state, and grave doubts about the murky language of the administration's position on Taiwan.

Now politics is not geometry, and this criticism from the political right may well be welcome to Reagan. It allows him to depict himself as the man in the center, with "rocks coming at me from both sides," as he did at his most recent press conference. And the rebellious right gives him political arguments for resisting pressure from his left: Gosh, I like to do it, but there would be an earthquake in the party.

All the same, it is worthwhile to view Reagan's first two years in their overall achievement, and it is not likely that conservatives could have gotten anything better in 1976 or 1980, and it is not likely that they will get anything better in 1984.

The three-year Reagan tax cut has been partially offset by tax increases, especially by the rise in Social Security, but he did push through those tax cuts after all, in an unprecedented effort to change the entire direction of the country.

No major political figure today is emulating LBJ by proposing vast new social spending programs. Reagan's success here has been so complete that he has in effect created a new political position on the left called "neoliberalism," as exemplified by, for example, Bill Bradley, Paul Tsongas, and Gary Hart. But neo-liberalism has yet to come up with a plausible alternative to Reagan. It is a label without a substantive position.

Reagan may not in the end be able to strengthen our defenses as much as he would like, but strengthen them he will. The Soviets are beginning to make negotiating offers because they perceive that Reagan is serious. No doubt there will be some conciliatory rhetoric from the administration, but that is politically necessary to de-fuse the disarmament movement here and, especially, in Europe.

On reverse discrimination, formerly known as affirmative action, the weight of the executive branch has at last swung into legal action. In cases emanating from New Orleans and Massachusetts and destined for the Supreme Court, Reagan's Justice Department is taking the color-blind position which is in accord with the best American traditions. Fortunately, this remains the popular position with the vast majority of Americans, including minorities.

Because of the timing of the lame-duck session of Congress, we did not get, for example, Radio Marti, and Senator Lowell Weicker was able to block increased funding for Radio Free Europe and the Voice of America, but these things cannot be blocked indefinitely and the president is strongly behind them.

Those who have known Ronald Reagan over the years have observed a pattern in his political behavior which might be called activity-passivity, or withdrawal and return.

15 Executions Worries Washington

WASHINGTON — The execution of 15 prominent citizens in the Surinamese capital of Paramaribo last December has caused consternation in Washington and Pittsburgh, a certain relief in the Hague — and undoubted satisfaction in Havana and Moscow.

The shootings — along with possibly 20 more — virtually destroyed the opposition leadership to the leftist military regime of Lt. Col. Desi Bouterse. They also gave the Dutch an excuse for suspending the remainder of a 10-year, $1.5 billion aid program they had promised their former colony on the northeast coast of South America.

Suriname was known as Dutch Guiana for 300 years; the British swapped it with the Netherlands for Manhattan Island (which the Dutch had bought from the Indians for $24 worth of trinkets). In 1975, the Dutch granted the colony independence, partly because they could no longer afford to subsidize it.

At the time, a secret CIA study gave

RUSTY BROWN Using Woman Power

In the fallout from last November's elections, there is cause for celebration among politically active women.

The euphoria doesn't come from Washington.

It comes from Ohio and New Mexico, where two new governors lead the nation in appointment of women to their cabinets.

Ohio's Richard Celeste and New Mexico's Toney Anaya went after the women's vote and promised top jobs. After they won, each put an unprecedented number of women in their cabinets: one-third — four — of the New Mexico cabinet posts and four of the 18 slots filled thus far in Ohio.

Barbara Nejelaki, who monitors appointments for the National Women's Political Caucus, says this is an enormous step forward.

I find it interesting that among the women are an Indian, a Hispanic and a former nun. Also a nurse, a teacher, administrators, attorneys and those with experience in budgets, human services and conservation. One is the mother of two small children, two are single parents and several are single. Most have been politically active for some time.

A one-time Ursuline nun, Roberta Steinbacher, was named administrator of the Ohio Bureau of Employment Services. More recently, she was professor and head of urban studies at Cleveland State University.

With Ohio's unemployment at 740,000, she holds a cabinet hot spot. "I think unemployment is the crisis of the '80s," she says, adding that two out of three people entering the labor force in this decade will be women. Job training for the new technology will be one of her top priorities, plus coping with the soaring debt in Ohio's unemployment compensation fund.

Shirley Hill Witt, anthropologist and first woman named a regional director of the U.S. Commission on Civil Rights, is descended from the Akwesasne Mohawks of the St. Lawrence River area. She left her Civil Rights job in Denver and returned to New Mexico to be Natural Resources Secretary. She will oversee state parks, forestry services and soil and water conservation. But one of her first duties was a rarity: presenting a 400-pound buffalo bull calf from a state park herd to the Taos Pueblo Indians. She told the Pueblo war chief that the gift was a pledge of the new administration's sensitivity to Indian concerns.

Judith Espinoza began a career as a nurse with a master's in public health administration. She established two Family Health Centers in Albuquerque before going to law school and opening a law practice. A Hispanic and a divorced mother of a 20-month-old daughter, she will be New Mexico's Transportation Secretary, the same title held by Elizabeth Dole in President Reagan's cabinet. Ms. Espinoza volunteers at a women's shelter, offering legal advice to battered women.

Other women with cabinet posts in New Mexico are Denise Fort, attorney and Anaya campaign aide, and Vickie Fisher, a certified public accountant who was an office audit manager.

In Ohio, Chris Sale is the new budget director, the same job she held under Celeste when he was head of the Peace Corps. Her husband gave up a Washington job to move with her to Columbus.

The Ohio state tax commissioner is Joanne Limbach, who once taught civics and history and has been a county commissioner. Minnie Fells Johnson, veteran of 16 years in human resource agencies, will be director of the department of mental retardation and developmental disabilities.

The governors, it seems, are responding to a women's electorate growing in numbers and strength. Women in Ohio rewarded Celeste's feminism with an overwhelming mandate. Doty Lynch, Democratic National Committee researcher, reports that Celeste received a 26-point advantage from female voters, compared to a nine-point advantage from men in exit polls taken on election day.

In New Mexico, Anaya's opponent had said he would favor a constitutional amendment banning abortion and could not endorse the newly revived Equal Rights Amendment.

Ohio and New Mexico are sure to feel the impact of these women. Their appointment demonstrates that the road to the state house may be as much an avenue to political power as the road to Washington.

JULIAN BOND As More Changes Occur...

Assistant Attorney General William Bradford Reynolds caused a stir last year when he began speaking of "the previously advantaged population."

Reynolds meant, of course, white males, and he thought their advantage — caused by their race — was a thing of the past because of the success of government actions to eliminate racism.

These efforts had been so successful, Reynolds' reasoning went, that the government no longer needed an active civil rights enforcement apparatus. Black men and women had reached parity — racially speaking — with white males, and the government's anti-discrimination efforts could be relaxed.

Great news! If only it was true.

Howard University sociologist John Reid, writing in the December 1982 Population Bulletin, demonstrates that black Americans have registered remarkable improvements in their lives in the past 20 years. The gap between blacks and whites, however, is far from being closed.

Reid concludes that "a major move by American blacks into mainstream middle-class America is not imminent." And he says gains made so far are in danger of reversal from the Reagan administration's slashes in social programs and retreat from long-established civil rights policies.

Reid reports several ways in which black Americans have failed to overtake the "previously advantaged."

They are "younger" than whites — black median age was 25 in 1980, as compared to 31 for whites. The younger population creates a larger "dependency ratio" among blacks. For every 100 blacks, 92 are either under age 15 or over age 64, compared to a "dependency ratio" for whites of just 74. More whites than blacks per 100 are of working age, and therefore less "dependent" on parents for support.

Blacks have more births per woman than whites — 2.3 for blacks and 1.8 for whites. For black teen-agers, the rates are staggeringly high. And out-of-wedlock rates for blacks are higher as well — 55 percent of all black births in 1979, as compared to 9 percent for whites.

Black children are more likely to live with only one parent; 31 percent of all black families are headed by a single parent, usually the mother, while only 10 percent of the general population lives with only one parent.

Blacks reported increases in life expectancy but still fall six years short of whites' life spans. Blacks may expect to live to 68, while whites can look forward to celebrating at least a 74th birthday.

Infant mortality rates for blacks, like unemployment, remain at twice the rate for whites. Twenty-one black babies under age one in every 1,000 die compared to a white baby death rate of 11.4 per 1,000.

According to Reid's statistics, the "previously advantaged" retain their advantage. Reid suggested "immediate and urgent" attention to redressing the long-lasting, and in some cases, growing gap between black and white life chances in America.

Failure to do so, he warns, "risks creating an even larger and more permanent underclass within the black population."

Are you listening, Mr. Reynolds?

Suriname a better chance of surviving — and even thriving — than most former colonies. It noted as assets "a tradition of non-violence; an ample reserve of a marketable mineral, bauxite (the crucial aluminum ore); a relatively literate and educated population."

At the same time, the CIA warned of possible problems: an increasingly pro-Cuban attitude, a population accustomed to "a fairly high level of living," and "enmity between the two major ethnic groups, the Creoles (blacks) and East Indians." It was possible, the study said, that the departure of the Dutch would "take away an important source of revenue and heighten racial antagonism by removing a major source of social cohesion."

That, unfortunately, is precisely what happened. Soon after the Dutch pulled out, the Creoles dominated the government; the skilled Hindustanis fled to the Netherlands.

In February 1980, a group of disgruntled army sergeants staged a coup. Bouterse, their leader, at first allowed a civilian head of government, and rejected Cuban overtures.

But within two years, a marked leftward tilt had occurred. The civilian president was dismissed last February and a right-wing coup attempt was smashed.

Last August the Soviets sent their first ambassador to Paramaribo. In September, a full-time Cuban ambassador arrived — a senior diplomat and top Communist Party leader. The Cuban intelligence service became more active in Suriname, and Bouterse reportedly even accepted Cuban bodyguards.

Alarmed by Bouterse's increasingly Marxist leanings, labor leaders, journalists, lawyers and religious leaders began agitating for a return to civilian government. Bouterse promised elections early this year.

Instead, he claimed the opposition was planning a Christmas Day coup, arrested the leaders and had them shot, while they were supposedly trying to escape from a downtown Paramaribo prison. The battered bodies, put on display, belied the escape claim.

The United States reacted to the killings by suspending a $1.5 million aid agreement signed last September. Suriname had ejected two of our diplomats; we have kicked out one of theirs.

There remains the bauxite situation. According to CIA reports, reviewed by my associate Dale Van Atta, Suralco, a wholly-owned subsidiary of Alcoa, is Suriname's biggest bauxite company. Suralco's influence has always irritated Bouterse and other Surinamese leaders, who mutter darkly about "decisions made in Pittsburgh" that could be devastating to their bauxite-dominated economy.

But now it is decisions made in Paramaribo that are worrying not only the aluminum executives in Pittsburgh but Cuba-watchers in the White House and State Department.

Commissioner Feather Says Sentinel Article Quotes 'All Lies'

Born the eldest of five into a family of relatively modest means, I began working (pumping gasoline) at age seven while attending a two room school (grades 1-6) weekdays and Sunday School every Sunday with the responsibility of setting an example for my younger brothers and sister. As soon as I realized that there was more to life than the small farms and the black diamonds of West Virginia and as soon as I attained an age to understand what a "goal" meant, I set some for myself.

My personal goals have been to (a) Be my own boss; (b) Make a lot of money, and (c) Help people, not necessarily in that order, and since that early time my goals have not changed. My business as a realtor and a developer in Central Florida gives me the opportunity to pursue the first two and my elective offices have given me the opportunity to accomplish the third.

I ran for the School Board in 1972 because at that time we realtors could not sell homes to families with children because so many of our schools were on double sessions and the school system had a poor academic reputation. When I left the School Board we had proven the fact that our teachers, administrators and students were the tops in the state. During that time we acquired school sites, an administration building, built 10 new schools, installed carpeting and air-conditioning in all the old schools that didn't have it, and added libraries, gymnasiums and exceptional child classrooms. In today's dollars this amount of new construction and property acquisition would be over $100,000,000. My expertise over those eight years as a developer and realtor added to the success of our goal of making this school system the best in the state.

Since becoming a County Commissioner, due to my being a professional in real estate, I am called on often by staff and commissioners for my opinion regarding everything from prices on the acquisition of property we are purchasing to abstracts, surveys and construction plans for buildings we are building.

For the past ten years as an elected official, I have willingly given what expertise I have seven days a week around the clock to make this community a better place to live while striving to see that not one dollar of hard-earned tax dollars is being wasted.

In Reporter Robinson's article of January 13 he states:

(1.) Feather "added that he sees nothing wrong with using inside knowledge gleaned from his Commission post for his own benefit."

(2.) "Feather thinks that, since (a realtor) could get a sales commission, he (Feather) should get one in the County's purchase of 8.7 acres on Airport Boulevard for a health clinic."

(3.) "Feather, the official said, had asked the company (a C.P.A. firm) about preparing a study of purchasing the hospital for himself and for its resale as a nursing home."

These are all lies and it hurts me deeply that the Sentinel Star with all its power is attacking me so strongly, unjustly and falsely.

I am well aware that there is a dividing line between myself and government on the receiving end and I am well aware that there is no dividing line between myself and government on the giving end when striving to be a good public servant. And that's what I've consistently tried to be while winning five elections as a realtor and developer. And that's what I'll continue to strive to be for the 30,000 voters that elected me in the last election and our other 170,000+ citizens and the others who will be here after them.

Plant Neighbors Seek Support

First I would like to take this opportunity to thank you for your coverage of the problems many of us Seminole County residents are having with the Iron Bridge Regional Sewage Facility. Mr. Michael Beha has done a very thorough job.

Secondly, we would like to ask for your editorial support for the position that the Seminole County Commission should not approve of Orlando's request for expansion until the current odor and noise problems are corrected. Approval of their request as it is would take control of the expansion away from the elected officials of Seminole County and put it in the hands of the Department of Environmental Regulations. This is intolerable as our fellow residents of this county would have no voice there. Originally the Seminole County Commission voted against our interests by approving the construction of the plant. They apparently believed the statements made by Orlando that the plant would be odor and nuisance free. We believe that they now have a moral obligation to support us in correcting a serious injustice.

Thank you for your help.

Owners Should Love Their Pets

It's happened again, the fourth time since I have lived on this block. I didn't see it this time but I did the other three times, and it's not a pretty sight; seeing a tiny dog smashed in traffic!

This time it was a black and white Chihuahua, a cute, friendly little dog. He didn't know about property lines and I had to clean up after his visits to my yard, and he couldn't compete with traffic.

It amazes me the way pretend-to-be-animal-lovers turn their pets out to run the streets. In the country pets have a 50-50 chance, but Sanford is a small city and traffic is sometimes heavy. Most drivers are careful but sometimes they may be late for work or an appointment. Of course there are times when another car is too close behind and it would be foolish to risk an accident to people to save a dog.

The owners of the Chihuahua have a new dog. They also have a fenced yard, but yesterday the new dog was out in the street. I heard brakes screaming and saw a car narrowly miss that new pup.

Today the dog was in my yard. I don't own a dog because I don't want to clean up after one (and because of the time and expense ownership involves.) I think owners who turn their animals out on the public are selfish clods.

I am not alone in this opinion. We have a leash law that is the result of a referendum that proved that the majority of the citizens of Sanford agree with me.

The Humane Society and Ann Landers also agree that pets should be kept at home, for their own safety and through consideration for neighbors.

Blood Bank Appreciates Coverage

We were delighted the Evening Herald provided post coverage of our Seminole County branch's Open House which took place on January 11, 1983. Thank you for generating awareness of the Central Florida Blood Bank, so those who want to give will help others live.

Often the most important element in a medical emergency is the availability of blood — the right type at the right place and time. Media exposure reaches a large number of potential volunteer blood donors which in turn ensures an adequate blood supply for the entire community.

On behalf of the Central Florida Blood Bank and the patients we serve, please accept our gratitude for the Evening Herald's interest and support of our organization and the community.

Social Security Reform Problem

We have become increasingly concerned over the current furor, vacillation, and apparent inability to arrive at singleness of purpose in coping with the urgent need to reform the Social Security System.

It seems to us that a consensus cannot be obtained for any one of the available options so frequently mentioned, either because of politics, special interests, or whose ox is being gored.

Therefore, we strongly urge the adoption of a package deal encompassing, to some degree, all of the following:

— Extend the earliest entitlement age from 62 to 65 by increments of three months a year for 12 years.

— Extend the entitlement age for full benefits from 65 to 68 by increments of three months a year for 12 years.

— Reduce the annual Cost of Living increase to 50 percent of the Consumer Price Index for the year.

— Increase tax revenues by making the Social Security payment due to employer contributions subject to Federal Income Tax.

— Remove the Welfare portion of Social Security to the Department of Health & Human Services.

— Expand the Social Security System to include all Government employees.

There is no doubt but that enactment of the above will ensure the viability of the system indefinitely. Further it is politically feasible because no one aspect or no one group is singled out to bear the brunt, thereby making a consensus achievable.

As a corollary to the above, we recommend against solving the problem by transfer of money from General Funds or by taxing all the benefits received by individuals.

Social Security Reform is both a major and an urgent national problem and a satisfactory solution should not be further delayed. We urge you to support the recommendations contained in this letter and strive for early enactment.

Salt As 4-Letter Word

By ELIZABETH R. WHELAN
(An epidemiologist, Elizabeth R. Whelan received her doctorate from the Harvard School of Public Health, where she served for a time as a research associate. She is founder and executive director of the American Council on Science and Health.)

Salt is rapidly becoming a four letter word.

Supermarkets distribute booklets on it. Major food companies are adding information about it to package labels, and announcing (with much fanfare) that new product lines, prepared without it, are headed for your grocery store. A "Time" cover story told us that we eat too much of it. Many other magazines and newspapers have also featured stories on it. In fact, we readers have become so accustomed to this that when we see the word SALT in headlines, we no longer expect that the articles they refer to will discuss nuclear arms limitation.

Who started all this? While the question of how salt affects our health has interested scientists for years, the impetus for the current anti-salt campaign has come largely from the federal government.

Last year, the Department of Agriculture (USDA) released and heavily publicized a booklet which advised all Americans to shake the salt habit in the interest of long life and good health. The Food and Drug Administration (FDA) has campaigned even more actively to reduce the amount of salt (or, more correctly, its sodium component) in our diets.

Under the leadership of Commissioner Arthur Hull Hayes, who has a long-standing professional interest in hypertension, FDA has undertaken a multi-faceted sodium program, aimed at informing consumers that excess salt is unhealthy, and at encouraging manufacturers to provide more information about the sodium content of their food products, to reduce sodium added to foods, and to provide consumers with a wider choice of low-sodium foods.

For now, FDA's program is voluntary, but agency officials regularly remind the food industry that they can always resort to mandatory sodium labeling if the current approach doesn't work. (I think they got their definition of "voluntary" from the Army.)

In light of all this federal furor, one might expect that a scientific consensus had been reached on sodium. This is not the case. While it is well-accepted that reducing dietary sodium, in conjunction with other therapy, is beneficial for some (not all) patients with hypertension, the question of whether we should all reduce sodium intake, in an effort to prevent high blood pressure, rather than to treat it, is more complex and far less settled.

Many scientists and physicians involved in hypertension research favor sodium reduction for healthy people. Others disagree.

Sir George Pickering, a pioneer in blood pressure research, is one of many experts who take the position that cutting down on sodium intake within the range of normal consumption is meaningless.

Dr. David McCarron, associate professor of medicine at the Oregon Health Sciences University in Portland, suggests that too little calcium, rather than excess sodium, is the most important dietary factor in hypertension. While his research on calcium is in its early stages, it serves as an important reminder that hypertension is a complex condition, and we do not yet have all the answers. (We certainly don't have a single four letter answer.)

Even the government isn't entirely convinced that throwing away the salt shaker is the solution to hypertension. The aforementioned USDA booklet incited a near-brawl that did much to liven up a recent meeting of one of the agency's scientific advisory panels. Even (FDA) Commissioner Hayes has been quoted as saying that "we are not certain whether the consumption of sodium chloride (salt) directly results in high blood pressure."

So why all the fuss until we know more about it?

I think that this, and many other federal attempts at preventive medicine, are motivated by a sincere and probably well-meaning desire to recommend something to improve health, even if the evidence for it is not conclusive. They also reflect a commitment to a peculiar and convoluted philosophy which assumes that it's okay to recommend something as long as it "wouldn't hurt" to follow the recommendation.

While it's true that few of us could cut back on salt so drastically that we would risk a sodium deficiency, the underlying belief that this recommendation could have no other negative effects is simply not valid.

For one thing, cutting down on salt is a pain in the neck, making shopping and cooking more difficult.

More important, when burdened by almost daily warnings from federal officials, consumers tend to equate and confuse real health hazards with hypothetical ones. There's a great deal of truth in the old adage that when everything is bad for you, then nothing is.

Pepper Remains Active With Aging Committee

Q. I heard a disturbing report that you're getting out of the aging business — as far as Congress is concerned. Is that true?

A. Nothing could be farther from the truth. While it is true that I have stepped down as chairman of the House Select Committee on Aging, I will still be actively involved with the aging committee and with issues relating to older Americans. I shall remain a ranking member of the aging committee and shall keep the chairmanship of the committee's Health and Long-Term Care Subcommittee.

I have assumed the chairmanship of the House Rules Committee and that new position will allow me to provide leadership in the development of legislation affecting the aging. You can be certain that my dedication to the needs and concerns of America's older population will only increase during the 98th Congress, and I will continue to do everything in my power to advocate a higher quality of living for older Americans.

I should mention also that my successor as chairman of the House Aging Committee has spent many years working on behalf of the elderly. Rep. Edward R. Roybal of California has been an active member of the aging committee and chairman of the committee's Subcommittee on Housing and Consumer Interests. He has broad knowledge of Social Security, Medicare and the Older Americans Act, as well as of the housing and consumer needs of older Americans. He will certainly lead the committee in a continuing effort to bring the needs of the elderly to the attention of the Congress and the public.

Growing Older
U.S. Rep. Claude Pepper

Q. My doctor says I should have a pacemaker implanted, but I read about a year ago that thousands of pacemakers are being implanted unnecessarily — and I have my doubts. What do you think?

A. It is always advisable to get a second opinion when surgery is recommended. If I were you, I would immediately see a specialist who could confirm or alter the diagnosis and help allay your doubts about the need for a pacemaker. I would also like to comment, however, on the credibility of the report you refer to and alert you to some new findings that tend to contradict its conclusions.

A study conducted in Maryland in 1981 reported that 36 percent of the pacemakers implanted in surveyed patients over a two-year period were either completely unnecessary or of questionable value. The study estimated that 25,000 pacemakers are being implanted needlessly each year in the United States.

However, a new report in the American Journal of Cardiology maintains that report was 98 percent wrong and that less than 2 percent of the patients in that very survey were improperly treated. According to the authors of the new article, the numbers in the original report were "flat wrong" because the researchers used inadequate and inaccurate computer records to obtain their data. For instance, in 53 percent of the cases, the significant reason for recommending the pacemaker was inadvertently omitted from the computer records.

While the debate will probably continue, it is clear that the figures in the original report were dramatically overblown. None of us should subject ourselves to needless or questionable medical treatment, and the best way to ensure that we don't is to consult with reliable doctors — and again, more than one when surgery is contemplated — and to weigh their advice thoughtfully and with the support of friends and family.

Rep. CLAUDE PEPPER is the ranking member of the House Select Committee on Aging.

CIA Thanks Newspaper

On behalf of the Lake Mary "CIA," I would like to thank you for both articles you wrote on the races.

I felt both were great publicity and were accurate. I know not all the readers felt this way, but the "CIA" board was most pleased.

We thank you for the great publicity and wanted you to know your efforts were appreciated.

The Fern Park Developmental Center residential facility opened recently in this new 64-bed four-building complex on Fern Park Boulevard. The facility houses mentally retarded and physically handicapped clients being moved out of the Sunland Center, which is being phased out over the next year.

Center For Mentally Retarded Is Opened

By JANE CASSELBERRY
Herald Staff Writer

Fern Park Developmental Center, a privately owned and managed intermediate care facility for the mentally retarded, opened Jan. 21 in Fern Park with four residents. It now has 30.

By Feb. 25, the 64-bed facility at 230 Fern Park Boulevard expects to have 56 multiple handicapped residents ranging in age from 17 to 60, according to Director Alan Berman.

Owned by Reach Out Associated Ltd., the four-building complex is managed by ARA Devcon, which also manages five other such residential facilities in Florida.

Twenty-four of the residents are ambulatory and the rest are in wheelchairs with some able to propel themselves. Most were formerly cared for at Sunland Center, Orlando, or Gainesville. One person is from Florida State Hospital and one is from the community. Most have family members in this area, center officials said.

The facility is a 24-hour a day, seven-day a week center with a staff of 110 including a complete on-board nursing staff — licensed practical nurses and registered nurses. There are a full range of therapists and a physician is under contract.

Funding is received from Medicaid. Each of the four homes in the complex will accommodate 16 residents. Food is prepared in a central service area and taken to the individual cottages. There is a patio common area between the buildings.

Fifteen of the residents will be attending Rosenwald School for Exceptional Children in Altamonte Springs.

Although the Sunland-Orlando facility is not scheduled to be completely phased out until the end of June 1984 through a gradual process, all of the clients coming to Seminole County will have been placed in facilities in the county by the end of March, according to Miss Sandy Pruette, residential services director for Health and Rehabilitative Services.

In addition to the Fern Park facility, Sunland clients have been placed in the Howell Branch Court facility, which is under different ownership and management, and several years ago before the phase-out, at Kradle Kare on Lake Howell Road in Casselberry.

IN BRIEF

Shopping Center Completed In Altamonte Springs

Alan J. Goldberg, president of Property Systems, Inc., a Fort Lauderdale-based development company, has announced the completion of Phase II of the Marshalls-Home Depot Plaza in Altamonte Springs. This 140,000 square foot community shopping center, previously known as Oak Tree Plaza, is located at State Road 436 and North Lake Boulevard, immediately east of Interstate 4 and adjacent to the Altamonte Mall.

"We are proud to be providing the first 'off-price' shopping center," Goldberg said. "Marshalls and Home Depot are leaders in the 'off-price' market and are the best combination of anchor tenants in their respective product lines. We are estimating the annual traffic count of these two tenants to be in the range of 850,000 shoppers."

The 140,000-square-foot Marshalls-Home Depot Plaza is occupied by a 28,000-square-foot Marshalls Junior Department Store, a 68,500-square-foot Home Depot, with an additional 9,000-square-foot outdoor garden center and eight local tenants occupying 14,000 square feet. Approximately 20,000 square feet is available for lease. An additional 10,000 square feet of space will be available in a free-standing building to be in the parking lot. There is parking for 705 cars. The second phase of the shopping center was designed by Andrew Kutz, Architect of Sanford.

Gilland Joins Allstate

JAN GILLAND

Jan Gilland of Winter Springs has been appointed sales agent by Allstate Insurance Co.

Headquartered at the Allstate sales location at 1131 E. Vine Street in Kissimmee, Gilland will sell Allstate products including life, automobile and homeowners insurance.

She is a graduate of Ocala High School. She and her husband, Michael, have one daughter, Michelle.

Howard Completes Training

John Howard of Cardinal Industries has completed an ABC pre-apprenticeship training program. His experience and on-the-job training at Cardinal satisfied the requirements for completion of his training.

ABC, an association of 16,000 builders and contractors nationally, offers training in 14 different construction trades in order to provide skilled craftsmen to companies such as Cardinal.

PAUL VERLANDER

Wallis, Baker & Associates, a landscape architecture firm based in Winter Park, has named Paul Verlander vice president.

Two projects Verlander directed in 1982 received state awards — the Thomas Ruff Co. in Maitland by the Florida Chapter of the American Society of Landscape Architects and the Combank in Longwood by the Florida Nurserymen and Growers Association.

ACE MOVES

Larry Echols stands outside the new relocation of the Sanford Ace Hardware store at 205 E. 25th St. in Sanford. Due to increased business and prospects, Ace has bought three times the floor space, over 7,000 square feet, that it previously occupied. Ace Hardware has been in Sanford at its previous 585 Park Drive location since 1978.

NCR GIFT

The National Cash Register Foundation rang up another $10,000 recently for the Charles N. Millican Endowed Chair of Computer Science. The check is presented by Jim Wells, right, manager of the NCR facility at Lake Mary, to University of Central Florida Foundation Executive Director James Donovan. It is the second installment on a $30,000 grant by NCR for the chair. "With this generous contribution we are rapidly approaching our $600,000 goal," Donovan said.

60 Homes Now On Display

Energy Efficiency Parade Trend In '83

Five builders that had winning entries in the 1982 Parade of Homes are back with new entries for 1983.

The parade, which started Saturday and will continue to Feb. 20, is sponsored by the Home Builders Association of Mid-Florida. Sixty new homes are entered, with prices ranging from $38,000 to $375,000.

The 30th annual event attracts thousands of new homes throughout the tri-county area of Orange, Seminole, and Osceola counties. Central Florida builders traditionally offer their best and most innovative new home designs in the parade, and competition for parade honors is regarded seriously within the home building industry.

"Builders, interior designers, suppliers — everyone connected with home building looks forward to the parade as an opportunity to showcase their latest designs and home products," said Parade Co-Chairman Bing Hacker.

New homes in every style and price range will be on display, and, according to last year's returning winners, the trend is toward greater energy efficiency and less wasted space.

Last year, H. Miller and Sons of Seminole County won parade honors in the detached housing category, under $60,000. This year, the company is back with another single-family entry — $99,700 home in Tusculum Point.

Richard Levine of Miller and Sons said there is a strong market in Central Florida for higher-priced single-family homes aimed at the relocation market.

"Our entry is geared toward the upper middle income family that may have been involved in a corporate transfer," Levine said. "It's roughly a 2,000-square-foot home that we believe offers all the amenities of a $175,000 home — at a much lower price."

Ken Levitt of Rollingwood Homes of Seminole County said homes are getting smaller due to costs and that builders — especially in the multi-family area — are getting more creative.

"People are becoming more receptive to smaller, multi-family homes," Levitt said. He noted that with innovative design, privacy need not be sacrificed in attached housing. Rollingwood was a winner last year in the attached category, under $70,000. This year, Levitt is back with two attached entries: a $49,990 entry in Southport in Casselberry and an $87,990 entry in Maitland.

"Interest rates are now at a more comfortable level, and people are buying," Levitt said. "I'm very optimistic that 1983 will be a banner year for everyone."

Another winner last year who is back is Olin American Homes. Olin American won last year in the detached category, $60,000 to $80,000. They are back this year with a single-family home in the same price range, located in Vista Hills. The entry, termed "The Barcelona," features a split bedroom plan and a secluded covered patio. Like the rest of last year's winners, Olin American is touting the home's energy efficiency and intelligent design. Olin American also has an attached entry; a $69,900 home on Spruce Ct. in Casselberry's Branch Tree subdivision.

The 1982 winners will compete with more than 30 other builders, some of whom have multiple entries, for parade awards.

For the first time, the 1983 finalists in each category will be chosen strictly by judging teams from the general public — not industry professionals. The teams are made up of qualified home buyers whose names were submitted by area builders.

After the finalists have been selected, winners will be chosen by representatives of other Florida Home Builders Associations.

The 60 parade entries were divided into 11 categories according to price — seven categories for single-family detached housing and four for attached housing.

For each of the categories, a four-member team of judges was chosen. These teams were derived from "prospect lists" submitted by builders with entries in the parade. Each builder was asked to submit the names of his top 10 qualified prospects, and from these lists, the judges' names were randomly drawn.

The judges were then screened to make certain that none would be involved in judging homes entered by the builders who submitted their names.

Housing Market Here Expected To Be Strong

It won't match the boom years of the 1970s, but 1983 will be a solid year for the Central Florida housing market, according to First Southern Group, a leading new home sales and marketing firm based in Orlando.

Ron Schwartz, executive vice president of First Southern Group, said growing consumer and builder confidence coupled with Central Florida's housing demand will make 1983 a good year for the housing market.

"Good, but not great," Schwartz cautioned. "We're looking for sales to increase by 40 percent over 1982, but you have to remember 1982 was miserable. What we see is 1983 as a good year leading to strong years through the mid-1990's."

First Southern Group researches and publishes the monthly Housing Report, which tracks sales and permits in Orange, Seminole and Osceola counties. Schwartz pointed to two leading indicators that Central Florida is climbing out of the recession.

"Consumer confidence is reflected in the sales figures," he said. "And we have had steady months from June through November. Usually you would expect a downturn in September-October, but not so this year."

"Permits tell us what the builders are thinking about the future, and it's apparent they are very optimistic. October's permits were valued at $32.7 million for the tri-county area. That's the second best total in the past 18 months," he said.

First Southern Group, which does the sales and marketing for several new home builders in Central Florida, sold more than $15 million in new housing in the past 12 months. And much of that has come recently.

"The local housing industry is definitely shedding the doldrums of the recession," Schwartz said. "But we won't see a boom in housing unless interest rates fall well below their current levels."

Schwartz believes Central Florida will outperform the national housing industry in 1983. The National Association of Home Builders recently predicted sales will increase by 30 percent nationally. Schwartz noted five key conditions that will help the Central Florida industry to increase sales by 40 percent or better:

Pent-up demand — There are few areas in the country that have the pent-up demand that now exists in Central Florida. Rental occupancy rates in the 95 percent-plus bracket have been common for more than two years. Pent-up demand is especially prevalent among the young professionals market segment (first time buyers), who are anxious to buy their first home. A steady increase over the past three months at the Orlando-Winter Park Board of Realtors also indicates the move-up market is ready to expand again.

Heavy immigration — The Orlando area continues to rank among the top growth areas in the nation. An expanding job market and quality lifestyle will continue to attract new residents to Central Florida who will need new homes. The East Central Florida Regional Planning Council predicts 185,000 new housing units will be required in the six-county area by 1986.

Increasing rents — When interest rates began climbing in 1980, renting was an attractive alternative. Now rents are climbing and interest rates are falling, making home ownership financially attractive.

"When two-bedroom apartments rented for $250 and the mortgage payment was $500, renting was an easy choice," Schwartz said. "But now rents are climbing toward $400 for two bedrooms."

Interest rates — More than just constant fluctuations in rates have occurred in the past two years, Schwartz said. The mentality of the consumer has changed.

"Prior to 1980 the interest rates were predictable. They might change by a half-point one way or the other, but nothing drastic. Now the interest rates are unpredictable and it's a gamble for the consumer to wait."

"Before people thought, '12 percent is too high, I'll wait for the rates to drop back to 10 percent.' Now the consumer thinks, 'rates are down to 13 percent. They might go lower but they might jump back to 17 or 18. I'll buy now and be safe.' People realize if they can afford it, there's no better time than now to buy," Schwartz said.

Affordable housing — Central Florida continues to offer below-average prices for housing in all styles and sizes. Several builders offer new homes under $50,000, and the range of architecture and lifestyle is unmatched.

Since Sanford Plant Opened

Cardinal Opens 97th Florida Project

Cardinal Industries, Inc. of Sanford, developers of the 39-unit Indian Ridge Apartments on Miccosukee Road near Capitol Circle in Tallahassee, has announced the second phase of the complex recently opened.

Cardinal, also developers of the 76-unit Shadtree Apartments on Shadtree Way in West Palm Beach, also has announced the complex is open.

The Indian Ridge phase II consists of five buildings with seven studios, 28 one-bedroom and four two-bedroom units. The Indian Ridge II development was financed by Florida Federal Savings and Loan in St. Petersburg.

Indian Ridge II is the fourth apartment complex to be developed and managed by Cardinal in Tallahassee and Leon County and the 96th in Florida since the company put its Sanford plant into operation seven years ago.

Shadtree Apartments is a 15 building complex consisting of 48 one-bedroom and 28 two-bedroom units. The $2,888,000 development was financed by Equibank in Pittsburgh, Pa., and was constructed from start to finish in approximately eight weeks.

Shadtree is the third apartment complex to be developed and managed by Cardinal in West Palm Beach and Palm Beach County, and the 97th in Florida. With these and over 500 developments in Ohio and the Midwest Cardinal is the largest factory-built code-complying modular housing builder in the United States, according to "Professional Builder" magazine, and the 14th largest housing construction company of any kind in the nation.

Cardinal has now developed various types of complexes within the corporate limits of 50 Florida and South Georgia cities and in the unincorporated areas of 25 Florida and So. Georgia counties.

"Every Cardinal apartment is a ground floor garden type unit," according to Marilyn Wrobel, the company's director of governmental affairs. "Each unit has a full circle of insulation, including the floor," Wrobel explained, "and this is why the double wall construction of fire rated gypsum board and insulation provide tenants with maximum sound, fire and energy control."

Medical Arts Center Construction Begins

A recent groundbreaking ceremony in Altamonte Springs marked the beginning of construction on the Medical Arts Center of Altamonte Springs.

It is located across from Florida Hospital.

Dr. Mitchell Shapiro and Dr. John Ialer of the Altamonte Eye Clinic will occupy the ground floor of the two-story, 25,000-square-foot building. They also will open a major new surgical ambulatory facility for ophthalmic surgery.

The second floor, comprising 15,000 square feet, is available for customized suites.

Designed climate control will ensure that inner and outer offices will function with separate thermostats for energy control and comfort.

Financing for the Medical Arts Center of Altamonte Springs has been developed by Sol Schick & Associates, Inc., and provided by Atlantic Bank.

Aagaard Juergenson, Inc., is building the structure which has been designed by local leading architects Helman Hurley Charvat Peacock Architects, Inc. The stucco design will feature a porte-cochere at the main entrance, overhangs with sun screens, cylindrical stair towers enclosed in glass block and has covered parking spaces.

The new center will be completed this spring.

Lake Mary Snaps Crooms' Streak

Jones' Basket (1. Before? 2. At? 3. After?) Buzzer Disallowed

Crooms' 54-game winning streak finally came to a halt Friday night in the Seminole Sunrise Kiwanis Basketball Tournament at Seminole High — but it didn't come to an end without controversy.

With less than 30 seconds to play, Lake Mary's David Dawdy, a bulwark on the backboards all night for coach Will Dershimer's Rams, dropped in a free throw to give Lake Mary a 43-40 edge. The Panthers, 20-1, came back on a basket by Robert Hill to draw within 43-42 with 15 seconds to play. A sticky Crooms' press trapped Lake Mary's Alan Reid in the backcourt and forced an offensive foul with seven seconds to play.

Crooms worked the ball to Hill who fired up an eight-footer which missed. Forward Alvin Jones grabbed the rebound and dropped it in but the official ruled it left his hand after the buzzer to give the Rams a stunning one-point upset.

"I was standing right by the trail of official," said Dershimer Saturday morning. "It was close but I don't think it counted. He made the call immediately and started waving his hands that it was no good."

The victory ups the Lake Mary record to 16-4 — three of the losses to Crooms — and moves the Rams into Saturday night's championship game against Bishop Moore, a narrow 52-50 winner over Lake Brantley. Tipoff is 8 p.m. Crooms will battle the Patriots in a third-place game at 6:15 p.m.

Crooms coach John McNamara felt the basket was good. "In my opinion, I was positive it was good," he said. "What bothered me was I asked the official (Cliff Ryan) to check with the other official or the clock operator since it was such a close call."

Ryan told McNamara he didn't need to check with anyone else. "He was emphatic," McNamara said. "There must have been some doubt it was so close. It didn't help when the Bishop Moore scorekeeper (who was watching the game) told me, the referee started waving his arms before the buzzer sounded."

Although McNamara was disappointed with the call, he pointed to his team's poor play as the major reason for the defeat. "Lake Mary played well and forced us into a lot of mistakes we don't usually make," he said. "We came back like champions in the last three minutes but we just didn't have enough."

Lake Mary jumped to a 12-10 first-quarter lead on four points each by Raymond Hartsfield and Byron Washington but the Panthers spurred in the second quarter to take a 22-21 lead into intermission.

Forward Matt Newby tossed in 10 third-quarter points to give the Rams a 34-30 lead entering the final eight minutes. Dawdy, a 6-1 freshman, battled the high-jumping Panthers on the boards and closed off their inside game.

"I've lost a lot of tough games. But I don't think

I've ever had one that kept me up all night like this one. The kids took it real hard. There were a lot of tears."

Crooms' Coach

John McNamara

"Dawdy really came out of his shell tonight," said Dershimer. "He's kind of shy but it was his job on the boards which keyed the victory. He absolutely cleaned the board, he was fantastic."

Hill topped the Panthers with 16 points while Daryl Williams added 11. Mel Brinson shoveled in nine. Newby topped the Rams with 16 and Washington chipped in 13.

"I've lost a lot of tough games," concluded McNamara about the setback. "But I don't think I've ever had one that kept me up all night like this one. The kids took it real hard. There were a lot of tears."

"Tonight will be the true test. We'll see if we can come back," he added.

DeLand's Free Throws Stall Seminole's 5 Star Hopes

By CHRIS FISTER
Herald Sports Writer

All roads lead to the free throw line. That is the new motto for the DeLand High Bulldogs. Coach John Zeoli's squad went to the line 42 times Friday night and made 26 of them as the Bulldogs escaped with a narrow 56-54 victory over Seminole High's Seminoles at DeLand. "We were real fortunate at the free throw line tonight," Zeoli said. "They (free throws) pretty much carried us in the fourth quarter."

"Real fortunate" is the underestimate of the year. Had it not been for all those charity tosses, it would have been a romp for Seminole. DeLand made only one field goal the entire fourth quarter while hitting 11 of 21 free throws. Seminole made just 6 of 12 free throws the entire game.

"I've never seen anything like it," Seminole coach Marlette said. "We outscored them 48-30 from the field. We just put them at the free throw line too much."

"We'll get them in the district," he added.

Prep Basketball

The victory vaults DeLand into sole possession of first place in the Five Star Conference with an 11-2 conference mark (17-7 overall) while the Tribe fell to 9-3 in the conference and 16-9 overall.

"That Seminole team has a lot of courage," Zeoli said. "They could have folded near the end, but they came back and almost did us in."

DeLand got off to a quick start behind its thoroughbred, Chase Brown. Brown made six of DeLand's first eight points as the Bulldogs led 8-0 with 6:09 left in the first quarter. Seminole outscored DeLand, 12-9, the rest of the quarter, but still trailed, 17-12.

After Seminole had gained the lead for the first time, Brown hit two free throws, then came back with a steal and a slam dunk that gave DeLand the lead back, and the 'Dogs never relinquished it again.

Brown's 20 first-half points ignited the Bulldogs to a 31-28 halftime advantage.

In fact, Brown and teammate Derek Watson (11 first-half) were the only Bulldogs to score in the first half.

In the meantime, Seminole was all ready starting to experience foul trouble as Jimmy Gilchrist picked up his third with 1:45 to go in the second quarter.

Despite constant foul trouble in the third quarter, in which Gilchrist, William Wynn and Calvin "Kiki" Bryant all picked up their fourth foul, the Tribe still managed to stick close thanks to the board work of Willie Mitchell. Seminole went into the fourth quarter trailing by seven, 43-36.

The Tribe forced a few turnovers and played tenacious defense too as it opened the fourth quarter by outscoring the Bulldogs, 8-1, to tie the game at 44-44 with 6:38 left to play.

Shortly thereafter, both Mitchell and Vernon Law were whistled for their fourth foul. Seminole did have its chances, though, on six occasions the Tribe had a chance to tie the game but

Rookies Take 'Golden' Lumps, Dickerson Advances To Regionals

By SAM COOK
Herald Sports Editor

Sanford's two rookie fighters — Scott Arnett and Tommy Baggerly — received a rude welcome to Golden Gloves District boxing Friday night at the Sanford Civic Center before 600 fans.

Arnett, a 132-pounder, ran into tough Dan Fixl of Altamonte Springs and lost a unanimous decision. Fixl windmilled the inexperienced Arnett with left and right hands in the opening round, forcing a standing eight count.

In the second round, Arnett caught Fixl with a good right-hand lead to the head, but the fierce Local 517 Labor Union boxer came back to batter Arnett in the third round, adding another standing eight count, to win the decision.

Baggerly, meanwhile, didn't last as long with Orlando's Howard King. The hard-punching Church Street Gym product pounded Baggerly with combinations, forcing a standing eight count one minute into the fight. Fifteen seconds later, the referee stopped the fight after another barrage by King.

Although Arnett and Baggerly ran into some stiff competition, Sanford's Jerry

Boxing

Dickerson carved out a three-round unanimous decision over Orlando's Mike Fellu at 165 pounds.

Dickerson, 6-1-0, scored heavily in the first two rounds with a crisp jab. The former Seminole High basketball player used his height and reach advantage to keep the stocky Fellu from attacking inside.

Fellu knocked Dickerson down in the third round with a combination push-punch, but all three judges scored the decision unanimously for the 6-1 Dickerson. Dickerson now advances to the Regional Golden Gloves Championship at the American Legion Coliseum Feb. 17-18.

While most of the night's earlier fights on the 11-round card went the distance, there were a lot of bodies falling when the heavier weights completed the show.

In a heavyweight bout, Orlando's Robert Johnson pummeled Orlando's Arthur Brockington into submission at the end of the first round. Johnson dropped Brockington early in the round with a left hand and then flattened him into the corner to end the mismatch just before the bell.

At 165 pounds, former Central Florida All-American wrestler Rich Dombrowski, representing Local 517 Labor Union, beat Charles Rich of the Naval Training Center to a pulp.

Dombrowski rained rights and lefts on Rich's face before sending him down for good 25 seconds into the second round. Rich, in his first fight, was given a standing eight count in the first round.

In another mismatch, Fort Pierce's Tony Cannestro clubbed DeLand's David Fontaine into submission with a stinging right hand to the body 43 seconds into the first round.

Cannestro, a polished 165-pounder, record his 16th win in 18 fights. It was his 13th knockout.

In one of the closest contested bouts of the evening, Melvin "Deadly" Hedley outpointed Vincent "Choo Choo" Bell to run his record to 74-9-0. Bell, who fights with an artificial left leg, scored heavily in the first round, but Hedley came back strong in the second and third rounds to gain an unpopular decision which was roundly booed by the vocal crowd. Bell's record fell to 68-23-0. Both fighters are from Orlando.

Celts, Bird Drop Pacers; Jazz' Storybook Turns Sour

United Press International

It could have been a storybook plot for John Drew but he had to settle for a storybook performance.

Marques Johnson and Sidney Moncrief combined for 53 points Friday night, lifting the Milwaukee Bucks to a 122-110 victory over the Utah Jazz despite a 33-point performance by Drew.

Drew played in only his second game for the Jazz since returning from a two-monthlong drug rehabilitation program.

"Milwaukee has a lot of talent and they're very well coached," said Utah coach Frank Layden. "We were happy with John Drew's performance tonight."

It was Milwaukee's seventh consecutive win and Utah's sixth straight loss.

For the Jazz, Darrell Griffith added 19 points. Johnson, who scored 27 points, and Moncrief had help from center Bob Lanier, who scored 19 and pulled down eight rebounds in the foul-plagued game that saw 91 shots taken from the free-throw line.

"This makes our trip very nice considering everything," said Milwaukee coach Don Nelson, whose Central Division-leading Bucks improved to 32-17.

The game was marred by an injury to Jazz forward J.J. Anderson, who landed on his back while going for a rebound in the third quarter. The rookie was carried from the floor on a stretcher and taken to a hospital for X-rays.

In other games, New Jersey routed Chicago 120-98, Boston handled Indiana 102-93, Atlanta defeated Cleveland 92-81, Washington beat San Diego 100-93, New York hammered Dallas 120-101, Los Angeles overpowered Kansas City 143-125, Phoenix brushed off Houston 115-99, Portland dumped Philadelphia 115-109 and Seattle topped San Antonio 115-103.

Gretzky—Another Record

United Press International

Things were getting pretty slow there for Wayne Gretzky. He hadn't set a record for at least a week.

"Half the battle is mental. Mentally, I felt extremely well tonight," Gretzky said Friday night after rebounding from a frustrating outing to the another NHL record and give the Edmonton Oilers to a 7-3 triumph over the Montreal Canadiens.

Gretzky, who hit the post instead of the net in his previous outing, notched a record-tying four assists in the first period and later scored his 45th goal of the season.

Gretzky now either holds or shares 28 NHL scoring marks. After his record-tying first period, the elusive center notched his 45th goal of the year at 5:30 of the second period to make it 5-1, carrying the puck the length of the ice and depositing a 35-foot wristshot past Montreal goaltender Rick Wamsley.

"Last night I had a lot of chances," Gretzky said. "I hit three goalposts in the first period. In the first period against L.A., I felt just as good as I did tonight, but the puck wasn't going in. I hit three goalposts ... how do you figure it?"

Larry Robinson was the only Montreal player to beat a sharp Andy Moog in the second period, scoring at 10:43 with the Canadiens enjoying a two-man advantage. Glenn Anderson put the Oilers ahead 6-2 with his 35th goal at 16:07.

In the only other NHL game, Dale Hawerchuk scored three goals and Willy Lindstrom got the game-winner at 10:29 of the final period to lead the Winnipeg Jets to a 6-4 home victory over Pittsburgh, stretching the Penguins' winless string to 15 games.

McCoy's, Joe's Post Victories

Dwight Brinson tossed in 10 second-half points to lead McCoy's Cleaners to a 38-32 victory over Atlantic Bank in Sanford Recreation Department Junior League basketball action at Westside Center.

Brinson wound up with a game-high 17 points while teammate Von Eric Small added 11 and Mike Burke 10. Anthony Harris, Anton Reid and Mike Newsome all had eight points for Atlantic Bank.

In other action, Mike Merthie poured in 13 points and Willie McCloud added 11 as Joe's Variety upended Sanford Electric, 37-26. Ondreus Redding led Sanford Electric with 11 points and George Irwin added nine.

4 Teams Perfect In ICBA

The Inter-County Basketball Association neared the halfway point of its season with four teams still undefeated.

In 8th grade (varsity) boys play, South Seminole's Bobcats remained unbeaten with a 48-24 trouncing of the Tuskawilla Black Knight. Vince Florence led the Bobcats with 14 points while Darryn Crist added 12. Marty Nystrom's 11 points led the Knights.

Winter Park disposed of two Seminole County foes, 36-35, over the All-American Rebels and, 51-33, over the previously unbeaten Jackson Heights Orange Pickers.

Elsewhere, the Jackson Heights Pac-men engulfed the Eastmonte Greyhounds, 46-18. Rob Hughes poured in 20 points to lead the Pac-men while Heath Oxford had 10 for the Greyhounds.

In junior varsity action, (6th and 7th graders), the Jackson Heights Bruins remained unbeaten with a 35-23 victory over the Jackson Heights Bobcats. Garth Bolton tossed in 20 points for the Bruins while John Pettit netted 10 for the Bobcats.

Winter Park also kept its record spotless with a 34-14 rout of the Eastmonte Greyhounds.

The South Seminole Tomcats upended the previously-unbeaten Jackson Heights Dirty Dozen, 23-18. Brian Dill led the Tomcats with nine points and 12 rebounds.

In girls action, the South Seminole Kittens made it six in a row with a 34-6 trouncing of the Jackson Heights Wonder Women. Malorie Osgood led the Kittens and outscored the Wonder Women with 12 points while Rocio Barreto had seven. Bridgete Jennerette had four points for the Wonder Women.

The Jackson Heights Terrors also downed the Wonder Women by the score of 30-26. Michelle Duda led the Terrors with 13 points and Adrienne Wood added seven. Jennerette scored 11 for the Wonder Women.

The Tuskawilla Mighty Warriors triumphed for the second straight time as they subdued the Jackson Heights Lone Strangers, 36-26. Joyce Shaw poured in 21 points and Robin Bell added 13 for the Warriors while Karla Karpinka's 12 points paced the Strangers.

Lyman Out-Smokes Rams Twice

By BRENT SMARTT
Herald Sports Writer

You can light the "Close but no cigar," on both ends for the Lake Mary Rams Friday night.

In two exciting, similar contests Lyman's Greyhounds nipped both the girls and boys Ram teams, 49-47, and, 55-54, respectively in the Lake Mary gym.

In the boy's nightcap, only two free throws by senior guard Alexis Cleveland with 11 seconds would separate the 'Hounds from the young Rams.

This action-packed affair got out of the box fast with both teams locking up in an intense, hot-shooting, running game.

Lyman point guard, Rod "Beaver" Hillman directed the Greyhound raccelhorse offense with nine points in the first period to advance Lyman to a 22-15 edge.

To Lyman coach Tom Lawrence's dismay, Lake Mary's Willie Richardson instructed his Rams to slow down the pace and sit back in their zone defense in the second quarter. Richardson's philosophy worked as the fast-paced action slowed abruptly into a Lyman stall to draw the Rams out of their zone. Lake Mary refused to abandon its zone but did force Lyman into several turnovers.

Capitalizing on these errors, Lake Mary pulled even at 25-25 at the 2:18 mark on a Neal Wellon follow-up. Surging back before the half, Lyman did, however, regain a slight 28-26 intermission lead.

To open the third stanza, Lyman again tried to stall the Rams, now 10-7, out of their zone but never did succeed. The third period was played at a nip and tuck even tone with the Greyhounds emerging with a 41-40 lead heading to the final eight minutes.

The final period saw the contest reach its peak. Lyman stretched its margin to, 49-42, at the midway point but that was not to last. Four quick Ram buckets, two by forward Darryl Merthie, boosted Lake Mary to a 50-49 lead with 2:12 remaining.

Lyman, under Lawrence, quickly regrouped as Cleveland followed a missed jumper and drew a foul. After missing the first foul shot, Cleveland hit the second, giving Lyman a 51-50 edge. The 'Hounds then forced a Ram turnover and a Greg Pilot layup ran the tally to 53-50 with :40 left. Lake Mary, after a Richardson time-out, set up Wellon under the basket. The 'Hound's fouled Wellon, who was forced to leave the game, giving Lake Mary two free throws.

Billy Dunn replaced Wellon and Cooly canned both charity tosses to close to 53-52 with :31 left.

Forced to foul, the Rams sent Cleveland to the line with only :11 remaining. After two Ram timeouts to ice the shooter, Cleveland drilled both shots to assure a Lyman victory. Lake Mary's Dunn hit a last second jumper to provide the final margin.

"I thought their (Lake Mary) guards were quicker and stronger than us," admitted a relieved Lawrence. "We wanted to go four corners delay to try and get them to go man, but they never did. They (Lake Mary) have a real good ball club."

Lake Mary's Richardson was optimistic but disagreed with Lawrence. "That's the best we've played since Brantley. They're too quick at guard for us and that forced us into a zone."

Since both coaches emphasized the guards it's fitting that Lyman, now 11-7, guards Cleveland and Hillman shared scoring honors with 17 apiece. Dunn (14), Merthie (12), and center Robert Counts (10) all reached double figures for the Rams.

"We got lucky," stated Lyman's Lady Greyhound skipper Dick Copeland after his club escaped, 49-47, in the preliminary of this cross-town rivalry.

It was evenly played through the first half, as Lyman's Pam Jackson totaled 10 of Lyman's 12 first-quarter tallies to give Lyman a 12-7 lead. Steady Lisa Gregory smartly worked over the 'Hound defense for eight, second quarter points to knot the score at 23-23 at halftime.

In the third period Lyman's Jackson took over to wipe out an early Lake Mary third period lead and take a 36-33 edge into the final period.

In the final stanza, the two squads kept it close until the 3:02 mark when Lyman gained a 44-42 lead and began to stall. Holding the ball to the 1:42 mark Lake Mary fouled point guard Kim Forum who ran the score to 46-42 with two charity tosses.

Peggy Glass hit a layup on the following Ram possession to cut the lead to 46-44 with :55 remaining to play. Lyman's Jackson added a free throw, but Laura Glass hit a inside jumper to make it 47-46 with :29 left. Jackson traded Laura Glass two free throws for one to develop a 49-47 margin.

After a Ram missed freethrow and a Lyman turnover, Laura Glass was fouled at the buzzer on a short jumper sending her to the line with two shots to the contest.

Glass' first attempt fell short and the 'Hounds now 10-5 took home the victory. The missed freethrow spelled the Rams' fate on the night as the usually good free-throw shooting squad hit just 7 of 23 (30 percent) on the night.

"I felt like we should have won tonight", said Lake Mary's Bill Moore. "It was just one of those nights."

Paul Hoffman and Rick Zullo combined for 36 points and 21 rebounds Friday to lead Lake Brantley to a 68-58 victory over Lake Howell at the newly-renovated Lake Brantley gym.

Hoffman connected for a game-high 26 points and added eight rebounds while Zullo came off the bench to toss in 10 points and grab 14 boards. Eric Trombo added 10 points and eight rebounds while Dennis Groseclose chipped in 14 points. The Patriots outrebounced Lake Howell, 42-29.

Lake Brantley increased its record to 5-16 overall and 3-9 in the FIVE Star Conference while Lake Howell fell to 1-19 overall and 0-13 in conference play.

A second-quarter surge in which Hoffman scored six points and Trombo four lifted Lake Brantley to a seven-point lead, but the Silver Hawks came back to tie it, 27-27 at halftime.

Lake Brantley regained the lead in the third quarter, then went on to increase it to 16 points in the fourth quarter to sew up the victory.

Efrem Brooks led the Hawks with 17 points while Skip Gordon added 13 and John Hamrick 11.

No Hardship For Miller

Lake Howell principal Richard Evans was notified Friday that the Lady Silver Hawks' standout junior, Chiquita Miller, will not be granted a hardship waiver thus making her ineligible to play in anymore games this season.

Miller was found to be ineligible because of a violation of the residency rules and Lake Howell had to forfeit 17 games. The Hawks were 17-1 and ranked seventh in the state at the time. Miller was averaging 21 points and 15 rebounds per game.

"A hardship was disapproved because information sent in by her (Miller's) parents wasn't sufficient," Evans said. The Florida High School Activities Association's Executive Committee, which consists of six members, voted on Miller's hardship case, according to

Evans, "It has to be beyond any reasonable doubt before the Executive Committee will pass it."

Lake Howell had to raise $250 to get the hearing and Evans said he was dissatisfied with the result.

Tribe Dominates Bucs

By GEOFFREY GIORDANO
Herald Sports Writer

The Mainland Buccaneers didn't expect what they got in their Conference soccer match Friday afternoon, as the 4-10 Seminoles of Sanford dominated them, 3-1.

Mainland, now 10-6, and 4-3 in the Five Star, kept the ball close to Tribe goal tender Dean Shoemaker early in the first half, but Shoemaker's outstanding saves, along with fine defensive performances by Seminole Stan Bacon and Scott Meck, managed to turn the game around in the end.

Meck was the player who gave the 'Noles a 1-0 lead in the first half, punching a shot across the Mainland goal and into the left corner, past Buccaneer goalie Robert Mellette. Only minutes after that score, Jesse Rutherford made a fierce shot on goal for the Tribe, only to have it slapped over the net by Mellette.

Seminole then began to take offensive initiative, pressuring Mainland's goalie. Rick Nooney tried two shots for Seminole, but both missed. A third drive on goal by Nooney was thwarted when he was tackled in mid-air by Trevor Larsen of Mainland.

But Nooney was persistent, and banged a second Tribe score into the goal, much in the fashion of Meck's earlier attack. However, this goal, as well as another Tribe score, was nullified.

Down 1-0, the Bucs tried to reestablish their earlier offensive prowess, and tied the game with a goal by Greg Rowe just as the half ended, 1-1.

Prep Soccer

The 'Noles picked up the tempo of the game right at the beginning of the second half, starting out with a speedy drive on the Mainland net by Paul Griffin. Nooney also broke clear on a run towards a score, but he was again tripped. This time, however, he was compensated when teammate Juan Falcon burned the resulting free kick into the center of the goal, over Mellette's head, to regain the lead for the Tribe, 2-1.

Nooney again made his presence known shortly afterwards, kicking in the final Seminole goal while sliding to the ground. With a commanding 3-1 lead, the Seminole defensive effort then strengthened.

Shoemaker kept the Bucs from scoring in the second half by pulling down several dangerous Buc shots, and the Seminoles claimed their second Conference victory against five losses.

The Tribe hosts Lake Howell Wednesday at 4 p.m. The Silver Hawks, 12-5, knocked off Lake Brantley, 2-1, Friday.

Boy Goes Straight, Bearden Feels 28

The boy had been caught shop lifting. He was only 16, so rather than put him away, they put him on one of those juvenile delinquent programs and when Gene Bearden heard the kid was a pretty fair country ballplayer, that gave him an idea.

He got the boy out of the JD program and into his own American Legion baseball program. The change in the youth has been something remarkable.

"You wouldn't believe how much he has straightened out, but I would because I've seen it," says Bearden, his voice reflecting some of his pride in the kid. "Goes to church and looks like he's headed in the right direction. He can play, too. He's one of the best players I got on the team, I see the way he has changed, the way he has turned himself around, and it makes me feel like I'm 28 again."

Funny, Gene Bearden, 62 now, should pick out that number.

He was 28 in 1948. That was a vintage year for him. It was the year he won 20 games for the Cleveland Indians and got them into the World Series by beating the Boston Red Sox, 8-3, in a winner-take-all, one game playoff. He then shut out the Boston Braves, 2-0, to help the Indians win the Series in six games.

Bearden had a knuckleball that was a lulu. He threw it left-handed with either one finger or three fingers and what made him even tougher to hit was that he mixed his knuckleball with a dandy slider and a fine fast ball. In addition to the Indians, he pitched for Washington, Detroit and the St. Louis Browns.

Milton Richman
UPI Sports Editor

In a sense, he's still in there pitching — for someone else, not himself. But that's nothing really new. Bearden is the type individual who's always helping somebody, forever trying to do something for the other fellow. And that's what he's trying to do now.

He's practically getting on his hands and knees trying to help the American Legion Post No. 41 team in Helena, Ark., which is where he lives. Bearden coaches the American Legion team, which depends on donations for its equipment.

"I'm not asking for charity," Bearden says from Helena. "I don't want any. I just need assistance. What I could use desperately are some autographed bats and balls from the big league clubs if I could get 'em just so we could auction 'em off here for five-six dollars or whatever we could get to buy equipment for the kids. Every little bit helps."

"This is a poor area," Bearden explains. "The economy has been real bad and it's tough for anyone to get work. The kids on the team are of the age that if they don't play baseball and get off the streets, they could get into trouble."

Some of his players have gone on to play baseball at the University of Arkansas, the University of Arkansas at Conway, Ark., the University of Mississippi, Mississippi State and Delta State in Cleveland, Miss.

More than that, several others who have played for him have subsequently made successes of themselves elsewhere. He cites Air Force Academy head football coach Ken Hatfield, a former third baseman of his; ex-pitcher Lloyd Langston, now a physician in Pine Bluff, and one-time shortstop Ray Galloway, presently an assistant prosecuting attorney in Arkansas' Phillips County.

"I feel awfully good at what those fellows have accomplished but right now I'm looking for any help I can get," Bearden says. "If people could understand what the true purpose of an American Legion program like ours is, they'd never allow a team to be dissolved."

Two of Bearden's former Cleveland teammates, Al "Flip" Rosen and Bob Lemon, have helped him out with equipment in the past.

"God bless Flip," Bearden says. "He's one of the most sincere human beings I've ever met in my life. He has a feeling for people. I've never asked for anything for our kids that he didn't get right on it and help out immediately. Same way with Lem. He has sent me some bats and balls. Others like Rube Walker, Joe Torre and Eddie Yost have also helped. So has Artie Richman of the Mets. He got in touch with a lot of those people for me and sent whatever he could himself."

Rebels Overcome 18-Point Deficit To Win

United Press International
Last week, Cal-Santa Barbara should've learned you've got to play 40 minutes against No. 3 Nevada-Las Vegas. Friday night, however, the Gauchos suffered another lapse and it cost them again.

"We didn't play well at key points in the game and that certainly was the difference," Santa Barbara coach Ed DeLacy said after Sidney Green scored 26 points and keyed a second-half burst that carried Nevada-Las Vegas to an 85-79 victory in a Pacific Coast Athletic Association game.

Last week, Santa Barbara forced the Runnin' Rebels to rally from an 18-point deficit for a 77-73 victory.

This time, the Runnin' Rebels, 19-0 overall and 9-0 in the PCAA, led by just 52-49 with 14 minutes remaining but in the next seven minutes they reeled off a 21-6 blitz, with Green scoring 10, to take a 75-57 lead. Santa Barbara made one more charge, but Nevada-Las Vegas sealed the victory in the final minute.

"We might have tired in the second half, but give credit to UNLV, they played great defense and we just didn't produce at key stretches," added DeLacy.

Nevada-Las Vegas also got 13 points from reserve Eric Booker while Eldridge Hudson added 11 and Jeff Collins and Danny Tarkanian contributed 10 each. "Santa Barbara played a terrific game tonight and the game was a great one," said Nevada-Las Vegas coach Jerry Tarkanian. "We didn't shoot very well, but we played hard defensively — especially in our pressure defense."

The Gauchos, 6-14 overall and 0-9 in the conference, were led by York Gross, the PCAA's leading scorer, with 23 points. Conner Henry and Scott Fisher added 14 each.

came up empty. In one short span, DeLand, missed three straight one-and-one situations while clinging to a 48-46 lead. After two of the missed free throws, Seminole came down and had two shots roll around the rim and fall out.

Two free throws by Watson gave DeLand a three-point lead, 53-50, with 1:20 left to play. Seminole had three opportunities to pull within one point, but two were missed shots and the third, and most crucial, resulted in an offensive foul on Law, his fifth.

DeLand went up by four, 54-50, with 33 seconds left as Watson hit one of two free throws. Again, Seminole could not put any points on the board and the Bulldogs went up 58-50 when Greg Gilmore hit two free throws with 19 seconds left.

Bruce Franklin came back to hit a layup and Tracy Holloman hit another, but it was too little too late as time ran out.

"We played about as good as possible," Zeoli said. "We want to dictate the tempo of the game and we did that by making them play man-to-man plus playing exceptional defense. If we continue to control the tempo and play hard, we will be tough to beat down the road."

Brown was the game's high-scorer with 25 points (11 of 18 free throws) while Watson added 20 (12 of 13 free throws) for the Bulldogs.

Mitchell led the Tribe with 20 points and 16 rebounds while Bryant added 10 and Law eight points and eight assists. Seminole plays against Tuesday at Spruce Creek.

About Money, Primarily

What Are College Frosh Thinking?

By PATRICIA McCORMACK
UPI Education Editor

College freshmen are attached to personal stereotypes much of the time, munch pizza some of the time and wear jogging shoes a lot, as everyone familiar with the type knows.

Other things not so obvious about college freshmen are between the covers of a report on a survey that probed their characteristics and attitudes. The term freshmen means females as well as males in the first year of college.

The profile of college freshmen is credited to a survey of attitudes and characteristics of 188,692 of the nation's 1.7 million college freshmen. It is said to represent all freshmen.

The American Council on Education study was conducted by Alexander W. Astin, a professor of education at the University of California at Los Angeles.

The no surprise in the study: the freshmen expect a college degree to help them make money, preferably enough to be well off. This is not as altruistic a goal as those of college freshmen in the 1960s when everyone seemed to aim first to save the world and lift the down and out.

The shift to a money goal is not mysterious, however, in this era of the most expensive college educations in the nation's history, including some with $50,000 and up price tags.

Fields of study most popular are the high-paying ones — engineering, business, computers. That offers some hope the freshmen might reach their monetary dreams — if the applicants don't crowd themselves to death.

Another no surprise in the survey: these freshmen with dollar signs in their eyes are not showing a lot of interest in careers with low pay: teaching and social work. The proportion heading for those fields continues to decline.

Life goals considered important by about seven out of 10 of the current freshmen include being well off financially, raising a family and becoming an authority in his or her field.

Politically, Astin found three-fifths of the freshmen in the middle of the road; 20.9 percent liberal or far left; 19.4 percent conservative.

Support for legalization of marijuana dropped from 34 percent among last year's freshmen to 29.5 percent in the new survey.

This year for the first time pollsters asked the freshmen if they supported increased spending for national defense. About four out of 10 said yes. There was no space to answer in the negative so one must presume six out of 10 would not favor increased spending for defense.

Percentages agreeing with these other statements were:

—Government isn't protecting the consumer, 68.8 percent; government isn't controlling pollution, 78.8 percent; government should discourage the use of energy, 77.6 percent.

—Criminals have too many rights, 69.8 percent; inflation is the country's biggest domestic problem, 69.8 percent; the death penalty should be abolished, 28.4 percent.

—Government should provide a national health-care plan, 57.5 percent; abortion should be legalized, 54.8 percent; grading in high school is too easy, 54.5 percent; women's activities should be confined to the home, 25.5 percent; couples should live together before marriage, 42.8 percent; large families should be discouraged, 37.3 percent; divorce laws should be liberalized, 44.6 percent; it is all right for people who like each other to have sex, 48.2 percent.

—Women should have job equality, 92.5 percent; the rich should pay a larger share of taxes, 72.1 percent; busing to achieve racial balance is all right, 46.8 percent; homosexual relations should be prohibited, 47.2 percent.

—College has the right to regulate off-campus behavior, 14.5 percent; students should help evaluate faculty members, 70 percent; college grades should be abolished, 14.7 percent; student publications should be regulated, 40.6 percent.

The report said some 11 percent need remedial work in English; 22.1 percent in mathematics; 9.3 percent in science. For eight out of 10 of the freshmen, getting a college diploma will put them one up on their parents — if they have the staying power.

Seventeen percent have mothers and 20 percent fathers who graduated from college.

Other points:

—88.2 percent of the freshmen are white; 8.5 percent, black, 1.0 percent, American Indian; 1.4 percent, oriental; 0.9 percent, Mexican; 0.9 percent, Puerto Rican; 1.4 percent, other. —Current religious preferences include Jewish, 3.0 percent, Protestant, 33.7 percent; Roman Catholic, 38.9 percent; other, 17.2 percent; none, 7.3 percent.

Suit Against 'Squeal Rule' Challenged

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The administration has asked a judge to dismiss a lawsuit challenging regulations that require federally funded clinics to notify parents when their teenage daughters get birth control prescriptions.

In legal papers filed in U.S. District Court Friday, the government said the regulation does not interfere with any constitutional "right of a teenage girl to obtain contraceptives,

Victim Puts Bite On Kissing Bandit

BANGKOK (UPI) — A kissing bandit whose tongue was bitten off by an intended victim reported for treatment at a Bangkok hospital but fled before he could be arrested, Thai police said today.

Doctors at Mitrpharp Hospital said a silent young man reported for emergency treatment Thursday accompanied by his mother, who did all the talking.

After examining the man's mouth, doctors asked how his tongue had been severed. His mother replied, "He is a playboy."

"His condition was so serious that doctors advised him to stay in a hospital bed for close supervision," an official said.

The man then fled the hospital with his mother before police could be summoned by suspicious hospital staff.

A 17-year-old woman later turned in a 1-inch-long piece of human tongue following an encounter with a man she said had tried to kiss her. Police sent the piece of flesh to the Scientific Crime Detection Division for analysis.

"We are confident to catch him anyhow," an officer said.

"We believe that there is now only one man with a severed tongue in the city."

in a peer. People don't want others to know they are associated with drugs. Narcotics have become part and parcel of murder.

"People used to cooperate a lot more with you but that was the time when there were less drugs," Hagood said. "The answer is to eliminate drugs but you can't."

"If the murder is drug related, there should be a mandatory death penalty," Hagood said.

"I think the pendulum has swung toward law enforcement but not as much as it should have," Hagood said.

If public cooperation is, as the police say, one of the cornerstones in the fight against crime, then in Seminole County they appear last year to have had a good measure of that public cooperation.

In the first nine months of last year, there were a total of 4,628 serious crimes — from murder to larceny — compared with 4,912 in the first nine months of 1981.

Figures released by the Seminole County Sheriff's Department show that of all the serious cases last year 28.6 percent were cleared up compared with 24.4 percent in the corresponding period in 1981.

There were fewer arrests—271 last year compared with 359 in 1981 — in the serious crime categories of murder, rape, robbery, aggravated assault, breaking and entering and larceny.

The value of property stolen in the first nine months of last year was nearly $3 million with $468,000 being recovered in the period under review, compared with $2.4 million worth of property stolen in the first nine months of 1981 with $425,000 worth recovered.

There were the same number of rapes — 31 — in the county during the two periods under review. In the case of the drug related murders, police found that heavier caliber weapons like the .38 and .45 were used because of their greater stopping power, while in other gun offenses the .22-caliber remained the most popular weapon.

Seminole County Medical Examiner Dr. G. V. Garay who has performed autopsies on murder victims since his appointment in 1971, said the .22 caliber was the most popular gun used by criminals in shooting murders.

The path of a .22-caliber bullet is often very difficult to detect and because it is of low velocity compared with a .45-caliber, the .22-caliber bullet tends to glance off bones and deflect onto a different path, he said.

None of the recent murders in Seminole County — with the possible exception of the beating to death of 14-year-old Katherine Greco — stands out in his mind as being particularly brutal.

But Garay recalls a murder a few years ago in Forest City. "That one really was savage. He crisscrossed a knife about 50 times slashing the woman's body and then slashed her throat nearly decapitating her," said Garay.

The number of murders in Sanford doubled to two in 1982 compared with the one in the previous year. Serious crime — ranging from murder, rape, robbery, assault and breaking and entering — rose by only 1.6 percent in 1982. Rapes were down by 59 percent.

Of the 2,576 cases handled by investigators 1,503 cases were cleared up during 1982, an improved clearance rate of 4.4 percent over the previous year.

Calls for help rose by 15.6 percent in 1982 to 33,923 and one of the brightest spots is the reduction by 22.9 percent of burglaries and this has been attributed to the successful year-old Neighborhood Watch Campaign.

Date	Victim	Circumstances
June 4, —	Russell E. Davidson Sr., 36, Russel Davidson Jr., 12-year-old son of the above, Garth Alexander McCrae of Detroit, Mich.	Police were tipped off to this triple drug-related murder and found the three dead people, including the young boy at a house at 173 Parson Road, north of East Williamson Road, in the west end of the county. A large quantity of drugs and guns were found in the house. Police are still seeking the murderers. This remains the only unsolved murder being investigated by the Seminole County Sheriff's Department for 1982.
September 7 —	Katherine Suzanne Greco (aged 14)	This 14-year-old Longwood girl was brutally beaten to death with a hammer in the kitchen of her home. She died two days later. Her 16-year-old brother, Richard David Greco, has been charged in the murder. He has yet to stand trial.
September 10, 1982	Harmon Oliver, aged two.	This child was shot to death while playing with other children outside his home at Water Street in Midway. He was hit by a stray bullet fired by neighbor Geneva Nelson, 49, who used the gun during an argument with her common law husband, James Allison, 67.
September, 25, 1982	Lawrence Cannon Jr.	He was killed with a 10-inch knife wielded by his wife, Cora, at their home in Chulota during a domestic dispute. She was found guilty of manslaughter on February 3, and will be sentenced on April 7.
There were only two murders in the Sanford	Police Department area, one of which remains	unsolved.
August 24	Byron Brooks	Shot to death by his lover, Susie May Davis, who pumped a number of bullets into him at the Sanford Landings apartment site where he worked. She was found guilty of his murder.
December 30	Juan Nova	This Mexican fruit picker was knifed to death after an argument involving a girl. Police are looking for a Puerto Rican named Juan Dominguesa in connection with the killing.

...Censorship

"Of the 48 most frequently challenged books (in 1982), the respondents indicated that some form of censorship — removal from a recommended list, removal from classroom use, or removal from the library — occurred about 54 percent of the time.

"Two percent of the cases were pending; the remainder of the cases resulted in denying the request to censor the book, or in providing an alternative assignment."

Of "Catcher in the Rye," Book says "I don't care for some of the words. But today they seem innocuous."

Opposition to "Catcher in the Rye" was at its height in the 1960s. And Book said it has led to a loosening of the standards which once existed. "It has led constantly to worse and worse things."

Book became involved in the censorship question after a dispute which rocked the Kanawha County, W.Va., school board. A citizen group was successful in removing some text books and library books from the schools and in setting up advisory groups to screen all material considered for use by the schools.

Book still supports that movement and suggests that schools return to using McGuffey Readers, first published in the 1890s and long a mainstay in schools around the country.

"I like McGuffey readers. They taught moral principles, upright values and supported the United States," Book said.

Karen Carpenter, Pop Star, Dead At Age 32

DOWNEY, Calif. (UPI) — Karen Carpenter, who teamed with her brother in a soft rock style that caressed the hard edges of the music of the '70s, is dead at the age of 32.

Miss Carpenter, suffering from anorexia nervosa, died in a hospital emergency room Friday less than an hour after her parents found her nude on the floor of a walk-in closet at their home in suburban Los Angeles.

Paramedics who treated Miss Carpenter said the Grammy-winning singer was "in full cardiac arrest" when she was discovered. An autopsy failed to disclose the cause of death pending further tests.

A coroner's spokesman said it was not known yet if the singer's disease contributed to her death.

Miss Carpenter suffered for two years from the disease that results in drastic weight loss. Her agent said the 5-foot-4 singer had recently gained back several pounds and the coroner said she weighed 108 pounds when she died.

The clean-cut "Carpenters" duo specialized in romantic ballads, and was one of the most popular acts of the 1970s, when pop music was dominated by hard rock.

Catholic School Week

'Business As Usual' Heads Agenda At All Souls

EDITOR'S NOTE: Catholic schools across the nation are celebrating Catholic School Week, Feb. 6-13. In the interest of education and the school where she is principal, All Souls Catholic School, Ellen Vienotte has written the following article, special to the Herald:

By ELLEN VIENOTTE

Corridors echo shuffles, whispers and giggles. Whimpers and sniffles find a tender ear in the clinic among the scraped knees.

The whirring xerox and the rapidly clicking typewriter keys attest to the versatility and patience of the office secretary who also falls prey to students with homework to be checked, salesmen bearing gifts and parents seeking advice about "Johnny's reading."

Stickers and stars dot thousands of papers, telling the tale of a teacher's dedication and a youngster's attention to the task of learning.

Two hundred and more pair of feet gather in the courtyard; upper classmen raise the flag; youthful voices join in the Pledge of Allegiance, followed by a patriotic anthem; another day of "business as usual" begins at All Souls Catholic School.

What is "business as usual" at this Catholic Elementary School?

Prayer ushers in the first class of the day and is quietly interspersed through openings and closings of many class sessions.

Students fill chalkboards with math and notebooks with journals. They ponder problems of academics from phonics to simple algebra akin to any elementary or middle school. There are projects due in science and maps to be graphed in Social Studies. The basketball team practices with an eagerness to win while cheerleaders pyramid to shout enthusiastic support. It is the business of school.

Each day, however, a required Religion course from Kindergarten to Grade 8 discusses various aspects of Catholicism, Sacred Scripture and Christian living.

It is this Christian living which we profess as vital to the life of each child, that should permeate the atmosphere here at All Souls School.

The catholic school is not isolate but rather an active member of the larger educational community charged with the duty of forming youngsters into whole persons armed with the tools of basic skills in math, science and language, enriched by the arts and athletics, and imbued with the desire to achieve their best potential.

It is the thrust of the catholic school to encourage youngsters to be productive member of society, secure within themselves and proud of the persons they have become.

John Burton, 13, left, and Jeff Lower, 14, raise the flag to begin the day.

Music class concentrates on playing xylophones.

FHA/HERO Week

Theme: Rainbow Of Opportunity

By DEE GATRELL
Herald Correspondent

In 1970 a newspaper ad asked for 4 and 5-year-olds to attend a Child Guidance Care Service at Lyman High School.

Today, no advertising is needed, as the children arrive through word of mouth. Some of those first children attending the first classes are now students of the same teacher, Mrs. Zula McLeod, and one of those students is Mrs. McLeod's daughter, Skye, who is also the current president of Future Homemakers of America at Lyman High School.

The Child Guidance Care Services is just one segment of the FHA-HERO programs that are offered at the local high schools. National FHA-HERO week is being celebrated Feb. 6-12, and these students will celebrate the know-how they've gained through Future Homemakers of America and vocational education.

There are two types of chapters. The FHA chapters emphasize consumer education, homemaking and family life education. HERO (Home Economics Related Occupations) chapters emphasize preparation for jobs and careers, such as child care, food, clothing related programs, and even housing production.

Ruth Gaines is the instructor of the co-op program at Lyman High School. Her students attend school half days and then work at jobs related to their interest.

"Each student has to interview and prepare for the job. The job isn't just handed to them," Mrs. Gaines says.

She says that often students will work at jobs and find that isn't what they want to do. They then have an opportunity to investigate other types of jobs they feel may be of interest to them.

In Zula McLeod's Child Guidance Care Services, seniors are trained to work in day care and kindergarten centers. "Upon graduation the girls are qualified aids for caregiving," Mrs.

Engagements

Burney-Park

Mr. and Mrs. Jay Jennings Bolton, 2421 S. Yale Ave., Sanford, and James Larry Burney, 119 Glendale Drive, Longwood, announce the engagement of their daughter, Dorothy Christine Burney, to Robert David Park, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Burton Park of Raleigh, N.C.

Born in Atlanta, the bride-elect is the maternal granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Williams, 107 Brentwood Drive, Sanford, and the paternal granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Burney, 101 Maplewood Drive, Sanford.

Miss Burney is a June 1978 graduate of Seminole High School where she was a member of National Honor Society, Anchor Club, Mu Alpha Theta, Dance Team and Soccercettes.

She is a June 1982 graduate of the University of Florida where she was a member of Delta Gamma sorority. Miss Burney is attending the University of Central Florida working on a Master's degree in accounting. She is employed as accountant by Cycle Research Institute, Deltona.

Her fiancé, born in Jacksonville, is the maternal grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Bradford Spencer, Jacksonville, and the paternal grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Burton O. Park, Waycross, Ga.

Mr. Park is a June 1978 graduate of Washington High School, Pensacola, where he played baseball and was a member of Interact and Beta Club. He is a December 1982 graduate with high honors of the University of Florida where he played football, was president of College Council, a building construction honor society, president of Sigma Lambda Chi, and a member of Omicron Delta Kappa, leadership honorary. He is employed as production technician by Ryan Homes, Clearwater.

The wedding will be an event of April 23, at 6 p.m., at Holy Cross Episcopal Church.

Annual Firemen's Barbecue Expects A Large Turnout

Everybody's invited to the second annual "Firemen's Bar-B-Que" to be held on Feb. 12. This year's menu will include barbecued chicken, baked beans, cole slaw and refreshments.

For dessert, the ladies of the Lake Mary Woman's Club will have a bake sale featuring lots of delicious goodies. Tickets are $3 for adults and $1.50 for children. They may be purchased at the fire hall. A large crowd is expected.

Serving begins at noon and will continue until 7 p.m. This is an excellent chance to meet the volunteers who work so hard to protect the homes and businesses of this community.

Speaking of firemen, Bob Stoddard addressed the woman's club at their meeting on Jan. 27. Bob gave an informative talk on fire prevention in home. Following the luncheon at Cafe Sorrento, Bob took the clubwomen on an extensive tour of the fire hall and showed them the equipment that the firemen use.

The Lake Mary Volunteer Fire Association has a meeting set for 8 p.m., Feb. 8, at the fire hall.

Lake Mary Elementary School has a PTO meeting set for Feb. 8, at 7:30 p.m., in the school auditorium. Parents are encouraged to attend.

Lake Mary Elementary School now has a new P.E. coach on staff. Craig Covell will be taking the place of coach Don Gaddy who has decided to go back into professional football. Don has joined up with the Tampa Bandits as kicker. Good Luck to both.

The school advisory committee threw a party for the winners of the parent-teacher surveys that had been sent home early in January. The three winning classes were all third graders who had returned the most amount of the surveys.

Teachers Ettie Koegh, Kay Spengler and Hazel Perinchief, along with their classes, were treated to a special performance of Georgio the Clown. Puppets, balloons and a magic show were the highlights of the performance.

Third graders John Fortson and Jennifer Newman were thrilled when they were picked from the audience to be helpers in the magic show. Advisory Board members Barbara Warman, Felicia Sperti and Elizabeth Giles all took part in making the popcorn and serving cupcakes, cookies and juice. The children had a wonderful time.

The Lake Mary Garden Club will meet Feb. 9, at the home of Club president Barbara Warman on Calico Road in the Countryside area. Plans on a tree and shrub sale will be discussed as well as the making of camellia corsages.

The Lake Mary branch of the Extension Homemakers will have its meeting on Feb. 8 at the Agricultural Center on U.S. Highway 17-92.

All areas of "Budgeting" will be covered. If you ever have problems in balancing your check book you won't want to miss this free class. Refreshments will be served at 9:30 a.m. Classes begin at 10.

The Lake Mary Chamber of Commerce is meeting on Monday, Feb. 7, in city hall, at 8 p.m. Capt. Bill Doelle will be guest speaker. There will be refreshments and door prizes given out. Everyone is welcome.

The Seminole County Humane Society announces its first annual "Cupids Critters Cabaret" to be held on Feb. 13. The $5 admission charge includes dancing, music, snacks and entertainment by the Phyllis Dale Combo. This will be held in the Banquet room of Lord Chumly's restaurant in Altamonte Springs. There will be a cash bar.

Money raised will go into the building fund for the new building that is going to be built on U.S. Highway 17-92 next to Flea World. Time is 7-11 p.m.

The month of February is Green Stamp month for the Humane Society. Residents of Seminole County are asked to save up their green stamps and to contribute them to the society.

The books will be converted into cash and used in the building program. Mail stamps to them at P.O. Box 784, Sanford, or place in the wishing well located at Publix super market.

Couple's Plea For Money Deserves 'Seedy' Response

DEAR ABBY: I am enclosing something that was enclosed in a wedding invitation we received:

"What to give, what to give???"

"That is the question"

"We have the answer"

"To set your mind free....."

"For an envelope is enclosed"

"For our money tree!"

Abby, do you think it's practical, or in terrible taste? We are interested in your reaction as well as that of your readers.

CURIOUS

DEAR CURIOUS:

A money tree is OK for the needy,

But for the greedy,

I think it's seedy.

Readers?

DEAR ABBY: My wife and I differ on what constitutes "an affair." She says, "An affair" is when two persons have an intimate relationship in which sex is involved."

I disagree, saying, "As long as two people are corresponding with each other in an intimate manner, either by telephone or mail, they are in fact having 'an affair.'"

I do not think that sex has to be involved or that they have to see each other in person. Who is right?

V.

DEAR V.: According to my dictionary, an affair is "a romantic or passionate attachment typically of limited duration." There is no mention of sexual involvement, so you're right as far as the definition goes, but there's no telling to what extent an affair will go.

DEAR ABBY: Like everyone else who writes to you, I have a hang-up. I can't make myself go to funerals.

I'm a 44-year-old man, and this hang-up has been an embarrassment. The only funeral I've ever been to was my brother's. I was 7 at the time and I'll never forget it. My brother was 12. He was struck by a car while riding his bicycle and was killed instantly. The memories of that funeral — seeing my brother in the casket and all that screaming and moaning as they lowered his casket into the ground — are as vivid today as they were then.

I've tried to force myself to go to funerals since, but I can't make myself do it. I've been all dressed and practically out the door, but something stops me. I've tried therapy but it didn't work for me.

If there's anyone else out there with this hang-up, I'd like to know how he or she deals with it.

INCURABLE

DEAR INCURABLE: I'm sure you're not alone. However, if you really want to overcome your funeral phobia, give therapy another try. And if you're incurable, don't sweat it. The only funeral you really have to go to is your own.

DEAR ABBY: "Disillusioned" asked, "How long is always?" Your reply: "Just a little short of forever." I must take issue with the answer. Always is twice. Once, it's, "You forgot to take out the garbage." Twice, it's, "You always forget to take out the garbage."

McLeod says. The children arrive at 8:45 a.m. and are picked up at 11:20 a.m. Monday through Thursday. On Friday, the students do lesson planning and preparation for the following week.

"We follow a pre-school program for the 4 and 5-year-olds, a reading readiness program," Mrs. McLeod adds. She explains that a number of her students have chosen to attend Seminole Community College and have received an AA degree in Child Development, while others have gone on for a 4-year degree in a child related program.

"I have some former students who are now caring for children in their homes, some who are aides in day care centers and some who are directors at day care centers. Other former students are mothers, and they stop by to tell me they feel they have gained invaluable experience that have helped in raising their own child," says Mrs. McLeod who also teaches child development classes in the afternoon.

One of the FHA-HERO group projects this year is to do volunteer work in various pediatric situations.

The Lyman FHA-HERO group took first place for the name tag competition at their district meeting. One of the students, Jodie Baker, designed the tags, and she taught each student to make their own tag.

The 1982-83 State Theme is "A Rainbow of Opportunity." From this theme there are three state targets to choose from. The Oviedo High School FHA group chose "Healthy Bodies: A Pot of Gold." Their community involvement project was to go to the Oviedo Child Care Center where they presented a puppet show on nutrition to the 4-year-olds. They also designed and presented a color coded project book entitled "No-Sense Hiding" for the children to color. They prepared and took along wholesome, nutritious snacks for the children.

Ruth Metcalf and Barbara Stevens are the sponsors for the club, and both are home economics teachers at Oviedo High. "The home-ec classes have come a long way from the classes of the '50s and '60s," says Mrs. Gaines who invites anyone interested to come sit in on her classes for a day.

Jane Youtsey is the sponsor of the Lake Howell FHA-HERO group, and she is also the district advisor for FHA. Her FHA club is preparing a presentation on "Families of the Future" to present to different groups. They are lined up for a presentation for the Lake Howell PTSA and the Tusawilla Middle School, but Mrs. Youtsey says they would like to give their presentation to other community groups as well. She invites members of the community, organizations and clubs to call her if they would like her chapter of FHA to present "Families of the Future" to their group. She feels they would enjoy hearing what these girls have to say.

The Lake Howell FHA club is participating in the March of Dimes walk-athon and swim-a-thon in March and are volunteering to go door-to-door collecting in 12 different areas as their community service project.

They are also striving toward the highest honor their club can achieve—to be on the honor roll. To qualify, a chapter tries to complete certain objectives pertaining to their club work and to be really involved in the organization.

The Lake Mary High School FHA Club is new, but in spite of this, the girls took second place in the name tag contest at the district meeting. They have made over $300 in candy sales. Their sponsor, Deborah Mitchell, says that by next year they'll really be going strong.

The FHA-HERO also sponsors a proficiency competition that all the clubs will be competing in. The subjects they will compete in are Coping with Life Situations, Fashion Construction, Garnishes, Job Application and Interview, Parliamentary Procedure, the Pauline Willoughby Literary Event, Public Speaking and Story Telling.

While FHA-HERO is seeking to preserve the values of a successful and satisfying family life, they aren't just talking about cooking and sewing.

These young people are learning how to grow and develop during a lifelong process, how to acquire self-identity, and the importance of self esteem, as well as many ways in which they can relate positively to the persons they associate with at home, in school, at work and socially.

These students are concerned and doing something about teen pregnancy, drug and alcohol abuse, care for handicapped and elderly persons, teen nutrition and fitness, sex stereotyping, leadership development, career preparation and community service. These are young adults that we can all be proud of.

Robinson St., Orlando. An open discussion will follow led by Ron Vierling. It is free to the public.

Organists' Concert

The Central Florida Chapter of the American Guild of Organists will present a concert by David Craighead, internationally acclaimed organ virtuoso and head of the Organ Department of the Eastman School of Music, on Sunday, Feb. 13, at 8 p.m. in Knowles Memorial Chapel, Rollins College, Winter Park. The program is open to the public and a free will offering will be taken.

Pope Names 10th American Cardinal

By DANIELA IACONO
ROME (UPI) — Chicago Archbishop Joseph Bernardin became the 10th American cardinal, celebrating with proud relatives and friends and expressing his "great sense of satisfaction" and gratitude to Pope John Paul II.

Bernardin, 54, hosted a gala four-course champagne luncheon at a posh Rome hotel just hours after the pope awarded him the red hat of a cardinal.

In a speech at the luncheon, Bernardin said he felt "many sentiments today but the dominant sentiment is that of gratitude."

"I am grateful to the Holy Father for the confidence he has placed in me by naming me to the sacred College of Cardinals," Bernardin said to the cheering luncheon crowd.

Bernardin, dressed in red-trimmed black robes and a bright red sash and wearing his new red skullcap, said in the receiving line at the reception, "I feel a great sense of satisfaction."

He was not the only one who was happy.

"We've been waiting for this very moment," said Bernardin's elderly Italian aunt Carmela Baggetto. "We've imagined it for so long."

Some 50 Italian relatives came to Rome from the northeastern Italian area where Bernardin's parents were born, and about 250 Americans followed the cardinal to Rome for Wednesday's consistory ceremony.

"We've been with him everywhere," said William Ehrhardt from Charleston, S.C. "We'll be back when he becomes pope."

Bernardin was born in Columbia, S.C., and ordained a priest in Charleston. He served in Atlanta, Washington, D.C., and Cincinnati before being named archbishop of Chicago to succeed the late Cardinal John Cody last year.

"I'm so thrilled," said the cardinal's sister Elaine Addison. "I'm so proud of my brother."

Bernardin said the only thing that marred the event was the fact that his elderly mother was too ill to travel to Rome to attend.

"The last thing she said to me is that she loved me and was very proud of me," he said.

Presbytery Celebration

The Presbytery of St. Johns, including 44 churches in the 11 county area of Central Florida, will hold its 11th Annual Presbytery-wide Celebration at the First Presbyterian Church, 106 E. Church St., Orlando this Sunday at 7 p.m.

Dr. John F. Anderson Jr., moderator of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church and former pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Orlando, will be the featured speaker. Using the theme, "E.L.S.E.D. Are The Peacemakers," the Celebration will recognize the working together of the churches in the Presbytery and their accomplishments.

Massed choirs, both adult and youth, from the various churches will provide the music. There will be a procession of ministers and a procession of banners made by the congregations. The moderator of the Synod of Florida and the moderator of St. Johns Presbytery will also take part in the Celebration.

The offering will be used for the Hunger Program.

Presbyteries Vote To Reunite Churches

By JANE CASSELBERRY
Herald Religion Editor

The St. Johns Presbytery meeting Tuesday at First Presbyterian Church, Orlando, voted 119 to 7 in favor of the proposed reunion of the Presbyterian Church in the U.S. with the United Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A. — the two major Presbyterian churches in America.

The Presbytery of North East Florida representing the United Presbyterians (The Northern church) meeting at Westminster Presbyterian in Casselberry, also approved the reunion 122-1 overriding one "no" vote to make it unanimous. The "Southern" branch and "Northern" branch have been divided since the Civil War.

First Presbyterian Church of Sanford affiliated with PCUS, was represented at the presbytery meeting by Dr. Virgil L. Bryant Jr., minister-member and Elder Commissioners Dr. Marion White and Phyllis Conklin.

Although Dr. Bryant opposed the proposal when it came up in 1954, he said he voted in favor of it this time. "I felt in 1954 that the two churches were still far apart, but now they are much closer today on many interests. The time is right."

"The two churches have been working cooperatively for the last 20 years. The Christian education literature is already published jointly," he added.

By the end of this month all 212 presbyteries in the two church denominations will have voted on the proposal. At least three-fourths of the 60 presbyteries of the PCUS and two-thirds of the presbyteries of the 152 in the United Presbyterian Church will be required for the merger to proceed.

If this happens the final vote will be taken at a joint assembly in June in Atlanta.

Among the PCUS churches which will be involved in this area in addition to First Presbyterian, Sanford, are Covenant, Sanford, St. Marks, Altamonte Springs and Tusawilla, Goldenrod. Churches affiliated with the United Presbyterian Church U.S.A. include Lake Mary, Upsala, and Westminster.

If the merger gets final approval it will begin the five-year process to integrate its boards, agencies, schools, seminaries and headquarters by the end of the year, Dr. Bryant said.

Ushers Honored

Head ushers of the First United Methodist Church, Sanford, were honored Jan. 30 for outstanding services to the church.

Awarded with plaques for church leadership were William Kirk Sr. who has served as head usher for 16 years, and Robert Karna, a 12-year head usher. The presentations were made by Rupert Strickland and Woodrow Cash.

Putting New Life In Old Sermons

Is there anything that can bring the Sunday morning sermon back to life?

The most popular sermons today are the short ones. The suggestion has even been made that, instead of announcing their sermon topics in advance, ministers should announce how long they plan to preach.

"When someone wants to know what the sermon is going to be about," says a modern sermon critic, "what he really wants to know is whether it is going to be about 10 minutes or about 30 minutes. If it's anything over 12 minutes, he'll stay home."

The popularity of short sermons is obviously due to the fact that people find most sermons boring.

One of my correspondents has suggested a "worst sermon contest."

"There would be awards," said the writer, "for all-around worst sermon, longest, dullest, most juvenile, least comprehensible and most pointless."

Winners (?), the letter writer suggested, would be locked up in a room where they would have to listen to tapes of their sermons played over and over.

At one church recently, the pastor announced on Sunday that because of certain circumstances there would be no sermon that morning. The people broke out in spontaneous applause.

Jokes about boring sermons are not new of course. The best known perhaps concerns the minister who paused during his discourse to instruct an usher to wake a man in one of the pews who had fallen asleep.

"You wake him," the usher replied, "You put him to sleep."

There are some people who think it would be a good idea for most ministers to "steal" their sermons from books of "Best Sermons" — or in any case to make liberal use of sermon outlines and illustrations which are published under such hidden titles as "The Minister's Manual" or "Resources of Inspiration."

"At least then we could get a good sermon every Sunday," says one disgruntled sermon-listener. "Who cares if most of it was plagiarized?"

What makes a good sermon?

Louis Cassels, the late, respected religion editor of United Press International, once said, "A good sermon is not just an argument or a moral lecture or a sales talk. It is a challenge, an invitation, a dare and a promise."

Billy Graham has been one of the most popular preachers for more than 25 years. What is his secret?

Saints And Sinners

George Plagenz

According to Rev. Dan Poling, a former syndicated religion writer, "Graham is an attractive, articulate speaker in a time when public speaking seems to be a lost art. His message is filled with contemporary illustrations, quotes from the New York Times and saturated with biblical scenes."

Rev. James Montgomery Boice, well-known radio preacher, says great preaching is built on a "belief in the Bible as authoritative and infallible." He says the pulpit goes into decline whenever ministers substitute the Biblical proclamation, "Thus saith the Lord," with the words, "It seems to me."

Not all popular preachers limit their sermons to 12 or 15 minutes.

Rabbi Daniel Jeremy Silver of The Temple in Cleveland speaks for about 45 minutes each week.

"In our world," says Silver, "there are few, if any, subjects which can be polished off in 15 minutes. Despite our passion for instant coffee and instant success, sermons that are over in an instant are rarely worth listening to."

As for what a sermon should provide, Silver says, "In a sermon we remind decent folk of decent urgencies. Crusades are not won by words, yet it is right and necessary to preach righteousness forthrightly. By doing so, we confirm many in their commitments."

Women preachers are still not popular with many congregations but a seminary professor of my acquaintance who teaches homiletics says, "Some of the best preaching I hear is by women. They have a sensitivity to human relationships and they see a theological significance in the ordinary things around them."

Will it be women who will rescue preaching from the doldrums?

MISSION PROJECTS

Co-chairmen of the Work Area on Missions at Community United Methodist Church, Casselberry, Chuck and Sally Basinger, point out on map where missionary projects supported in part by the church's second-mile giving are located to the Rev. and Mrs. Virgil E. Maybray, speakers at the annual mission emphasis held last weekend.

What Is God Really Like?

An American soldier, fatally wounded one minute before the cease fire in one of our recent wars, said before he died, "Isn't that just like God?"

To think of God in terms of such cruelty is to make Him a tyrant who gets his kicks out of crushing man's most cherished dreams. But these are desperate times, I suppose, when many of us are inclined to judge Him in just this way, yet it is not fair, and it is not truthful.

To who, then, in the words of the prophet Isaiah, should we liken our God? What is He really like?

Jesus revealed Him as a loving Father, involved in His world through the Holy Spirit. Surely, one can expect from his father the loving provisions life requires. Yet, at this point our needs... physical, emotional, spiritual... we know that God has a rather difficult time. It isn't that He is limited in His ability, but rather that you and I limit Him by our doubts and wavering attitudes. For Him to get His way with most of us is going to involve a long process.

It is said that God never closes a door without raising a window. Consider that for Him to get His way with most of us will take quite a lot of door closing and window raising.

The situation resembles that of many young couples who employ an architect and contractor to build their new home. Even so, from the first day, the eager couple change the plans, moving a wall here, a door and a window there. Hampered and heckled, the contractor finishes the job with a sigh of relief.

Pastor's Corner

THE REV. WIGHT KIRTLEY
Community United Methodist Church

When God says that certain beams, walls and supports do not fit life's architecture, and particular choices do not complement a unified way of living, 'He isn't being tyrannical... he is being the best architect of life.

Remember, God closed dungeon doors on John Bunyan, but at the same time opened a window through which the lines of Pilgrim's Progress streamed. A providentially slammed door for an Alsatian youth, caused a window to be opened in Lambarene, illuminating that part of dark Africa with an unextinguishable light.

You and your Father God can be involved in the same sort of life's building process. He may be designing you to do and become something far beyond your fondest dream.

Thoughts

Judging by divorce statistics, Paul's statement that husbands wish to please wives and wives wish to please husbands does not apply to all couples.

"But he that is married careth for the things of the world, how he may please his wife — she that is married careth for the things of the world, how she may please her husband." — 1 Cor. 7:33-34

HOROSCOPE

By BERNICE BEDE OSOL
For Sunday, February 6, 1983

YOUR BIRTHDAY
February 6, 1983
Your special gift for being able to make friends with persons from all walks of life will prove to be an enormous asset this coming year. Contacts will open doors.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Suggestions for social activities today will be highly appealing, but before you consent to be involved check to see if you can afford them. Order now: The NEW Astro-Graph Matchmaker wheel and booklet which reveals romantic combinations, compatibilities for all signs, tells how to get along with others, finds rising signs, hidden qualities, plus more. Mail $2 to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Send an additional $1 for your Aquarius Astro-Graph predictions 1983. Be sure to give your zodiac sign.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Your recent achievements will be of interest to you, but a rerun of them may not play so well with your pals. Keep quiet about your accomplishments.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Valuable information meant to be shared with others may come to you today from a least-expected source. Don't keep these tidbits to yourself.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Good fortune will be smiling on you today, but if your choice of companions is poor, their negative influence could nullify your luck.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) You have the capacity to turn a dull day into something exciting and fun. Follow through on your little flashes of inspiration.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Early in the day you may be full of energy and raring to do, but by afternoon your industriousness could come to an abrupt halt. Plan accordingly.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) An unexpected windfall could have you feeling quite rich today. Unfortunately, this newfound wealth may last only as long as it takes to make a purchase.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Although you might not like it and it could impose upon your independence, try to handle family obligations cheerfully today. Don't make waves.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) The morning may start out looking as though you might have time to yourself today, but don't bank on it. Unexpected developments could alter your plans.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Conditions should begin to improve today in a relationship which hasn't been too harmonious lately. Each will be understanding of the other's needs.

CANCER (June 21-July 21) Try to be of service to those who need your help today. Your efforts on their behalf will not go unrewarded.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Something beneficial could develop for you today through a partnership arrangement. Keep on the best of terms with allies who have clout.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Tasks which you usually deem to be a bore could prove to be pleasant diversions today. This may be especially true of household projects.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) You have a manner about you today which commands attention and respect. You're not likely to be unnoticed wherever you go.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Favorable conditions are astral at this time which will strengthen your material security. Play your hunches to firm-up your foundations.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) You could be the recipient good news today which will affect others as well as yourself. The bulletin may come through an unusual channel.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Be alert for an opportunity to fill your piggy bank. Something profitable might suddenly pop up today in which you'll be invited to participate.

WIN AT BRIDGE

South had a very strong diamond opening. West's jump to two hearts was one of those weak jump overcalls invented by Oswald Jacoby back in 1931 and in common expert use today. North's double was negative to ask partner to bid and with a near guarantee of four spades Alvin Roth invented this bid in the early '50s.

East was pretty sure that North-South had a game and jammed them with a jump to five hearts.

South refused to be shut out. He went to five spades and everyone passed. West opened the queen of hearts to East's ace. Now, if East had returned his king of diamonds South would have gone down one, but East shifted to a club.

South won and cashed two high spades. Then he did some high-powered thinking and cashed his second high club. Next came a spade to dummy's 10 and four rounds of clubs while discarding four diamonds. Finally, he led a diamond. East took his king, but had no diamond to lead to West's ace.

He had to play a heart. South discarded his last diamond, ruffed in dummy and had successfully countered East's pre-empt.
