Hopes For Escape Of 100 Japs On New Guinea Lost

Allies Round Up Last Of Enemy Held In Pocket Near Area Of Buna Mission

(By Associated Press)

In New Guinea, the Allies got off 100 Japanese troops from escape by sea in a methodical roundup of the last of the small enemy in a pocket of the Buna area.

United States troops have been in the Buna area since the Allies captured the area in a series of operations with Australian and American troops. The last small surviving Japanese force in the Buna area, field dispatches said, is locked in some fighting with American and Australian troops among the coconut groves and jungle undergrowth.

The Buna government station, a Buna mission also is called, and to the Americans late Saturday only a few hours after Australian tanks and infantry in a coordinated assault from the west and south. The enemy force at Buna, about 1,000 yards away, and which another and smaller Japanese force at Simeini.

Allied troops occupied the Buna government station and are now moving up the coast area. The Buna area late Saturday afternoon.

U. S. Planes Raid Port Of Sousse Twice

French, Supported By Americans, Hit Back Hard Attack In Pichon Sector

(By Associated Press)

From North Africa today came the announcement that French forces supported by United States anti-tank guns and planes hurled back a heavy Axis armored attack southeast of Pichon and captured German and Italian prisoners.

American warplanes made two raids on Axis armored equipment about the Port of Sousse and other points as Allied air power mounted.

American fliers scored their most smashing triumph of the North African war Saturday, destroying 23 enemy planes while the R.A.F. downed five more in furious air fighting in the Tunisia area featured by a devastating flying fortress raid on Tunis harbor. It was announced last night.

Thirty-four additional enemy craft were damaged, official dispatches from North Africa reported, as the Fortresses pummeled the Axis fighters by downing 17 Axis fighters by demonstrating once more their deadly firepower as well as bombing capability.

Simultaneously, the Fighting French reported that their army rolling northward over the Sahara has swept "several hundred miles" into Libya from the Chad territory and is continuing its drive toward the Axis rear in the narrowing North African front.

Bristling armored columns moved forward cautiously across the curve of the Gulf of Sirte in Libya yesterday and today, according to official dispatches.

R.A.F. Raids Ruhr, Germany; Reds Drive In Oil Field Area

Attacks Climax Day Long Assaults On Enemy Ports In Occupied Europe

(By Associated Press)

British bombers raided targets in the Ruhr last night, climaxing the daylong assault on Nazi strongholds which included a smashing attack by heavy United States bombers on St. Nazaire.

Seven big United States bombers were reported missing last night after a heavy daylight raid on St. Nazaire, Germany's huge submarine base and repair station in the Bay of Biscay, marking the largest loss since United States airmen began large bomber raids on German-held territory in July.

Ugill Sunday the greatest loss was six heavy bombers which failed to return on Romilly Sur Seine Dec. 20. In the attack on that air base and plane repair shops, 20 enemy fighters were shot down.

Paris, 44 enemy fighters were shot down yesterday's smash at St. Nazaire probably were flying Fortresses. They were officially identified as "heavy bombers," the term usually used in communications to describe the fortresses.

A joint communique of the United States eighth army air force and air ministry said no German planes were encountered on the long flight to or from St. Nazaire, but the enemy fighters apparently were heavily concentrated at the port and "numbers" were shot down by the bombers in a long running fight.

The raid was a nearly 1000-mile round-trip jaunt for the bombers. It was carried out in good weather and bombs were seen to fall on the target area, starting fires.

The bombers were escorted by a force of hundreds of Allied fighters and fighters.

Pioneers Enjoy Annual New Year's Meeting At Lake Mary

Another memorable event in the lives of pioneers still living in this section, occurred Friday evening at the Lake Mary Chamber of Commerce, when for the 18th time the old folks celebrated the new year, in a program of wit, humor and sparkling anecdote, under direction of Frank Evans, himself a pioneer, organizer of the program, and master of ceremonies.

Ninety-two pioneers were present, the oldest of whom was James Cowan, 85, and who with Mrs. Cowan moved to Lake Mary when the Sanford Naval Air Station took over his property here.

Mr. Cowan received from Mr. Evans a cane, carved by J.B. Moss of Geneva, with heads of men and animals carved on the knolls of the orange wood. To the next four oldest men, W.E. ...

Mr. Evans introduced the next speaker by announcing a man who had no vocal chords, Frank Beers, a winter visitor from Newark, N.J., would talk to the pioneers.

In soft accents, perfectly audible, Mr. Beers said, "It is quite difficult to talk at times, especially after eating or drinking. I talk from the stomach and it is very tiring, but I am glad to be able to talk at all. I had my vocal chords removed in 1918. It cost a lot of money but I am still here."

The pioneer quiz conducted by Mr. Evans. Among the interesting facts brought to light by this was that the first church bell to ring in Orange county in that part now Seminole was at Fort Reed. The bell was donated to the church by a brother of the late Non Wylie of Lake Mary. Prior to receiving its present name, Lake Mary was known as Bents Station.

Another question brought to light that a train robbery had occurred near Monroe in 1899, with the robbers killing an expressman named Sanders, and that investigating that robbery was Sheriff Charles Hanks first job.

At this statement, Judge R.W. Ware arose, "I would like to interrupt right here to say that my brother Thomas Ware was the regular expressman on that run, but he was sick and could not go that night and the other man went in his place."

Followed "Prize the Lord and Pass the Ammunition" sung by six Lake Mary girls, Nettie and ...

Capture Of Molgobek, Mozdok Considered Major Victory As Nazi Lines Fall

(By Associated Press)

The Russian armies, smashing the Germans back from the Mozdok and Grozny oilfields, were reported today to be advancing along both banks of the Terek river after breaking the Nazi salient in the Caucasus.

Moscow announced new gains in the Kalmyck steppes, middle Don and on the north central front 70 miles from the Latvian border. The swift capture of Mozdok and Malgobek, 10 miles to the southeast, was considered a major victory, as German lines appeared to be crumbling amid big losses. Several other towns in the Mozdok area were liberated by the Reds.

Russian assault forces ripped into German lines on half a dozen fronts yesterday, capturing the railroad town of Mozdok in the Caucasus and two more Nazi strongholds as they fanned out from Velikie Luki toward the Latvian border. The high command announced earlier today.

A special communique reported the capture of Mozdok, on the Rostov-Caspian Railway in the east-central Caucasus, and the neighboring town of Malgobek in the offensive rolling the Germans back from the gates of the Grozny oil fields.

Later Sunday the midnight bulletin amplified the day's successes with a report of villages captured and advances scored inside the Caucasus and northwest of Stalingrad; on the middle Don front; and in the area of Velikie Luki, fallen German base 70 miles west-northwest of Moscow.

Breaking fierce German resistance southeast of Velikie Luki, the Red army captured the town.

The special communique the second disclosure in a day of a smashing Soviet success in the Caucasus, where dispatches said the devoted Red Army drive threatened to split the German forces.

A day earlier the Russian captured Elkhoto, 35 miles east of Nalchik, and the war reported, pounding ward toward Prokhladsk junction town on the railway.

Some of the bitterest of the late Summer rage, area of Mozdok, 35 miles west of Mozdok, and drove to the gates of Ordzhonikidze, the terminus of the Georgian highway through the Caucasus. The first falling blow Red army's Winter, hurled the invaders by Ordzhonikidze. The drive toward Nalchik, its last being the capture of ...

The New Victory Tax

A new tax law went into effect on the first of this year which will mean more tax bills deep into the pockets of practically every working man and woman in America.

All wages and salary earners are supposed to pay this tax except Army and Navy men, farm laborers, domestic servants, casual labor not in the course of the employer's regular business, employees of non-resident aliens not engaged in business in the United States, employees of a foreign government in the United States, American employees working outside the United States, and public officials, insofar as their fees are concerned but not their salaries.

The tax amounts to 5 percent of the salary or wage above $12 a week. In other words a person who earns $12 a week and no more, does not have to pay the tax. But a person who earns more than $12 a week has to pay a tax amounting to 5 percent on that part of his wages or salary which is over $12 a week.

Florida Asked To Increase Supply Of Eggs For Army

TALLAHASSEE, Jan. 4. (Special) -Eggs are an important item in supplies provided for our armed services as arms and ammunition, Nathan Mayo, commissioner of agriculture, said today in an appeal to Florida poultrymen to increase egg production and sales to Army and Navy camps.

He asked egg producers to consider the unusual demand for eggs coming from the Army and Navy and to give them preference over civilian markets in their sales program. "The Army and Navy should come first," he said.

The need for adequate supplies of eggs to maintain the health and fighting ability of men in our armed services is especially acute in the smaller camps which buy in small lots, Mayo pointed out. Large camps which buy in carload lots are able to import eggs from other sections of the country, but this is not true of the many small camps in Florida.

"We realize that some poultrymen find the strict army and navy inspections annoying, but these light inspections really help the producer who brings in good eggs of high quality and sets a high quality and sets a standard which will bring higher prices and improved flocks. In any event, we are at war and we

On The Spot By DILLON GRAHAM AP Features Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Jan. 4. It looks as though next season will give us a pretty good answer as to the real value of Spring baseball training.

That is, if the clubs train in the north near home or make a short trip to the Carolinas, as some now seem likely to do.

Along about June there may be some evidence as to whether the lack of the usual warm seasons in Florida, or Colorado, has handicapped the players in getting in shape, particularly the pitchers.

In past several years, many players and several managers have said the Spring drills were too long, that three weeks would suffice instead of the customary six weeks.

Then some have held that the early training over such a long period has done more harm than good. Several Brooklyn players felt that the hot Havana sun took too much out of them.

It is certain that the publicity value of the trip has been one of the chief reasons for Spring training. It served to get baseball news in the home town papers weeks before the season opened. It also spread the gospel of baseball in the hinterlands, particularly the exhibition games on the way north.

Landis Presents Streamlined Plan For Ball Clubs

CHICAGO, Jan. 4. (UP) -A five-point plan, streamlined to gear 1943 baseball with war time travel restrictions, was expected to be presented by Commissioner K. M. Landis Tuesday at his emergency session with officials of the National and American leagues.

Although Landis refrained from discussing his ideas until the parity, it was believed his plan received hearty approval of NAL Director Joseph H. Patton when the two conferred in Washington last Wednesday.

After that meeting, the commissioner wired officials of the 16 major league clubs, announcing the special parity in "diversified" Spring training and any item of business connected with it.

The meeting was expected to end the "shadow boxing" mood which has gone through since the travel question was brought up a month ago in a letter from Eastman urging curtailment of the club's training methods of reducing mileage.

Hopes For Escape Of 100 Japs, On New Guinea Lost

Allies Round Up Last Of Enemy Held In Pocket Near Area Of Buna Mission

In New Guinea, the Allies cut off 100 Japanese troops from escape by sea in a methodical roundup of the last of the enemy in a pocket of the Buna area.

United States jungle troops have seized Buna mission, chief objective of the Allied New Guinea offensive, and with Australians are now "mopping up the entire area," a special headquarters announcement said earlier today.

The last small surviving Japanese force in the Buna area, field dispatches said, is locked in fierce fighting with American and Australian troops among the coconut trees and jungle undergrowth along a stretch of beach front east of the mission for a few hundred yards.

The Buna government station, as Buna mission also is called, fell to the Americans late Saturday only a few hours after Australian tanks and infantry in a coordinated assault from the southeast smashed the enemy force at Galopra point, 1300 yards away, and wiped out another smaller Japanese force at Simeit creek.

"Allied troops occupied the Buna government station and are now mopping up the entire area," the special announcement said. "This was late Saturday afternoon."

"The Galopra point area has been cleared of the enemy, except for sniper who are being rapidly eliminated."

"In the Buna area, the only enemy resistance left is a small pocket west of Galopra creek, where the Japanese have been fighting desperately and where fighting now is in progress."

The announcement said that fighting was continuing in the Buna area, but that the Japanese were being driven back to a half mile northwest of the Buna area.

Hopes For Escape Of 100 Japs, On New Guinea Lost

Allies Round Up Last Of Enemy Held In Pocket Near Area Of Buna Mission

In New Guinea, the Allies cut off 100 Japanese troops from escape by sea in a methodical roundup of the last of the enemy in a pocket of the Buna area.

United States jungle troops have seized Buna mission, chief objective of the Allied New Guinea offensive, and with Australians are now "mopping up the entire area," a special headquarters announcement said earlier today.

The last small surviving Japanese force in the Buna area, field dispatches said, is locked in fierce fighting with American and Australian troops among the coconut trees and jungle undergrowth along a stretch of beach front east of the mission for a few hundred yards.

The Buna government station, as Buna mission also is called, fell to the Americans late Saturday only a few hours after Australian tanks and infantry in a coordinated assault from the southeast smashed the enemy force at Galatpa point, 1300 yards away, and wiped out another smaller Japanese force at Simeit creek.

"Allied troops occupied the Buna government station and are now mopping up the entire area," the special announcement said. "This was late Saturday afternoon."

"The Galatpa point area has been cleared of the enemy, except for a few who are being rapidly eliminated."

"In the Buna area, the only enemy resistance left is a small pocket west of Galatpa creek, where the Japanese have been fighting desperately and where fighting now is in progress."

The announcement said that fighting was continuing in the Buna area, but that the Japanese were being driven back some two and a half miles northwest of the Buna area.

The New Victory Tax

A new tax law went into effect on the first of this year which unlike most tax laws digs deep into the pocket-books of practically every working man and woman in America.

All wage and salary earners are supposed to pay this tax except Army and Navy men, farm laborers, domestic servants, casual labor not in the course of the employer's regular business, employees of non resident aliens not engaged in business in the United States, employees of a foreign government in the United States, American employees working outside the United States, and public officials, insofar as their fees are concerned but not their salaries.

The tax amounts to 5 percent of the salary or wage above $12 a week. In other words a person who earns $12 a week and no more, does not have to pay the tax. But a person who earns more than $12 a week has to pay a tax amounting to 5 percent on that part of his wages or salary which is over $12 a week.

The unfortunate part about this law, at least from the employer's point of view, is that it makes him the tax collector. It is up to him to compute the amount of the tax and to extract it from the employee's pay envelope.

And for instance, if your salary is $21 the table provides that your employer may withhold $5.50, though exactly 5 percent of the excess over $12 is only $4.50.

Now the amount to be withheld by the employer does not have to be exactly 5 percent. A "Table of Optional Withholding" is provided by the Revenue Bureau which is apt to be as confusing to the employee as it is helpful to the employer who has trouble figuring his percentage.

BEGINNING TO APPRECIATE THE MAIL MAN'S LOAD

One of the most heartening stories to come out of Puerto Rico was that the president of its university, young Jaime Benitez, received his degree at Georgetown university in Washington where he spent his years working his way through college; he was also registered at the university of Chicago in the institution which he now heads as an instructor for several years.

Pearl Buck famous writer and winner of the noble prize, was declared by Oswald Garrison Villard, himself a writer of merit, to be one of America's foremost women. However, she annals a disquieting note on the war, as reported by Mr. Villard, who quotes her as saying, "Nothing but a miracle can possibly prevent the loss of the war... and I can not possibly agree with that."

A Chicago woman who, it is asserted, is turning to stone, married recently. Evidently the mounting process did not begin at the heart but how about her opinions? Abram, the yard man, piped up with "Most of 'em are cot hardening of the heart now."

Mr. Tootleberry writes me: "I read by the papers that a gal wants the men folks to give her their galluses to make garters for wimmenses Geewhilkings, how's a feller goin' to keep his britches up 'thout them galluses? No signaw' dont ketch me givin' 'em away fer gater makin'."

Not so long ago I told a story about a dog, Mr. Bonfire. Here is a still more remarkable one about a dog named Rags, an Air-dale that belonged to Capt. James McKinnon, of Vancouver, B. C., as touched by Corporal magazine. The Captain was in the war and after some months his sister received the usual formal message of her brother's death. The dog sensed there was something wrong. Up to that time he had been sleeping before his master's door but at once discontinued the practice. The captain's name should have appeared among those missing instead of the dead. Some weeks went by. He made his escape, found his way to the Allies and to Canada from where he sent a message to his sister, telling her when he would reach home but the message was not delivered for some cause. That day Rags became restive, making frequent trips upstairs and out of the front gate. Finally he went to his master's room, climbed on a trunk and dragged from a hole his master's dispatch and carried them down to his accustomed chair. Ten hours later Capt. McKinnon reached home. If dogs do not have a sixth sense...

Newton, Mass. Jan. 4. (AP) In the 22 years that Frank Lindley has been Newton high school basketball coach his teams have won 236 out of 640 games for a percentage of 37. New had a half dozen or so state champs.

Old Gen. Jan Smuts, head of the South Africa British colonial empire, in an address to the students of Glasgow university, gave them this wise warning: "The disappearance of the sturdy, independent-minded, freedom-loving individual and his replacement by greatest human menace of our a servile, mass-mentality is the time." "Boiled down," it means stand up on your hind legs and do your own thinking; don't be led around by the nose wild-eyed theorist.

The council of social agencies has had experts at work to ascertain the necessary expenses of a family of three and four-fifths; the average American one, and finds it to be $76.55 per month as follows: food, $36.95; clothing, $20.05; shelter, $20; utilities, $4.97; household supplies, -5.75.

A pictorial weekly prints a story on how to milk a cow, saying it requires discipline and coordination. When a cow is on the farm a three-gallon pail and a pair of stout hands get lots better results.

"MAKE WAY... War's On The Wires!"

The New Year, 1943, is the end of the beginning. A greater burden of toll and conflict lies ahead. And while America's sons fight in deserts and jungles, telephone communication lines at home carry an ever-increasing load of calls vital to Victory. Telephone materials are still going to battle in the form of guns and shells. So, to get the most out of our present equipment, we will continue to need your help in keeping long distance lines clear of all but necessary calls. And remember, the greater the distance you talk, the greater the chance of your call getting in the way of important war calls. We are most grateful for the patriotic response during 1942 to our requests for voluntary reduction of unnecessary long distance calls. It helped to provide the services so badly needed in those critical times. For the duration, we can continue to best serve the necessary needs of all by serving priority first.

Women's Clothes Will Be Simpler And Fewer In '43

By DOROTHY ROE
Ap Fashion Editor

Clothes will be fewer, simpler and better than 1942. Dress manufacturers come in this second year of war. American women must learn to get along with less, buy more carefully, make their clothes last. All non-essentials have been pruned from the 1943 silhouette, which is slim, streamlined, geared to the tempo of the times.

Functionalism and quality are watchwords of the year.

This is the considered opinion of Mrs. Dorothy Anderson, executive director of the New York Dress Institute, the association of more than 200 dress manufacturers who supply the bulk of America's retail dress trade.

"Charting the course of fashion in 1943, Mrs. Anderson says: 'Look for shorter jackets, slimmer skirts, quantities of buttons on your new Spring clothes. Be prepared for a wide range of colors, more staple, monotone prints, new developments in fabrics.'

"You will see more suits and dresses made of anilac and nylon jersey, more coats of nylon fleece. These last two fabrics are made from the nylon brushings that cannot be used for any other purpose, and science has made them into beautiful and durable fabrics.

"We can expect shortages not only of wool and silk, but also of cotton and rayon. Yet in the face of multiple problems, designers and manufacturers are meeting the challenge of the times, turning out beautiful and practical clothes for the best dressed women in the world—Americans."

Designers have gone beyond the W.P.B. limitations imposed last Spring, when the "frozen silhouette" was the talk of the nation. Far from causing regimentation of fashion, the famous L.S. ruling has acted as a challenge to designers, who have produced in the last six months the best and most wearable collection since Paris handed the sceptre of style to America.

In the coming year we may find that our dresses are buttoned instead of zipped, we probably will get acquainted with new synthetics, we may even find our clothes rationed, but we can depend on American designers to keep us in the best dressed nation on earth.

HOLLYWOOD
By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 4. (WW)—Only housewives who have been shopping for the family meals in food-shortage communities will grant Limy Pleas all the sympathy he deserves.

In the midst of Los Angeles' most acute days, when butchers stood behind white stands boasting only a spare-rib or two, the screen writers decided to add an extra scene to "Mission: Impossible." It was a wonderful scene—a Russian banquet.

Limy is the peep man, which makes him ex-officio marketing agent for such occasions. Limy had been reading the papers, which the scripters apparently hadn't. Limy groaned, "I can't go buy a Russian banquet," he groaned. "If I could get lamb chops, I'd need eight for each of the men—about 30—at the feast, counting all the takes. Two hundred forty lamb chops—and we're scrambling from market to market in search of two or three, or anything that looks like meat. And I need fish, and caviar. No, I can't do it. It wouldn't be right!"

The morning paper saved his dilemma. The meat shortage had made the banner lines. But resourceful Limy had an idea: Why not, he asked, show the end of the banquet—the feast—just the guests lingering over delectable, brandy, vodka, and cigars.

"This is what you will see in the 'banquet' scene. And it is all right with Director Michael Curtiz. Mike wants to get on with the picture, one of the year's biggest, in order to get at the army colonel—'This is the Army.'"

Mike is afraid lest he be too long delayed on "Mission" and the "Army." Mike is given to another director: "If I don't do the Army picture," he explained in his highly colloquial language, "cut my throat and jump off every bridge in town until I die!"

Speaking of food again, Jack Carson and Alan Hale were rehearsing a humorous dinner for "Thank You, Lucky Stars." They were comparing notes on scarves, and prices between hoof-beats. "Would you believe it?" demanded Jack. "Last night I stopped at a restaurant for dinner. 'Bring me,' I said, 'the $2.50 dinner.' The waiter said, 'Certainly—would you like that sandwich on white or rye?'"

Laird Craig is now official agent for his Coldwater Canyon neighbors, Gene Tierney and Col. Tom Mix. Craig is also handling the Odeon and Palmer Regatta area in the service. They have a share-the-side club to see what can be done.

Gene Tierney has the dinner's end, and Laird has the entrance. Gene serves to Laird, partly to see if he can get to the door, and partly to see if he can get to the door.

Coiffures Of '43 Should Not Dim Ladies' Glamor

By BETTY CLARKE
A P Beauty Editor

No need to let last year's evening dress dim this year's glamorous Party coiffures of 1943 are really something enough to turn any man's head in your direction.

It doesn't matter much what you entwine in your hair, as long as its decorative. A feather in two, a string of pearls will do, a bunch of fruit, artificial, real, or merely a sprig of mistle, ermine tails, varicolored bows, sequin butterflies or flowers—these are a few suggestions. Just a case of letting your imagination work.

Perhaps you have a false hair piece that you haven't bothered with because of lack of time for ordinary wear. Formal parties are special occasions, and since every girl spends more than the usual time on hair for such an occasion, it's a good opportunity for you to give your money's worth out of your switch.

You can design a really original coiffure with a little extra "fix" time. Wear a braided coronet, entwined with ribbon, or make a topknot coil with beads, and bring your own hair up in side pompadours.

Edwina Lewis, hairdresser at the Althean Club, says that she has seen a number of "faded" styles from last year's collection at the Blue Bar.

Writer Describes "Spoils System" In OPA And WPB

By JOHN GOVER

Senator Robert Hannegan (D., Mo.) has formed up a statement that may ultimately spell the end of a "spoils system" in the Office of Price Administration and the War Production Board.

For some time, there have been rumors in OPA and WPB that Hannegan had been "in the know" on the matter of "spoils" and "cronies" in the War Production Board.

BIBLE VERSE FOR TODAY

PRAY THAT HUMANITY MAY LEARN, FALLING AWAY FROM THE GOOD LIFE IS FOLLOWED BY ACCEPTING FLAME, IDEALS AND LEADERSHIP. Let no man beguile you in any wise, for it will not be except the falling away come first, and the man of lawlessness be revealed, the son of perdition. - 2 Thes. 2:3.

The Song of an L. D. V.

(From Contemporary Poetry) If with parachute and gun The Nazi comes and I get one, I shall fly for his blood will blow. Kantian flowers which we know On some sunny slope, whereby we encounter, he and I. Or stronger some dog-day grow Underneath a summer sky. When the hills of chalk are dry And golden are the stalks of grain, Some pale hot thyme with deeper glow May cheer whoever chases to pass. Or tempt and feed the wandering bee With that blood from overseas; Or brighter shall a borage shine Or sweeter small some ginsengs. And just the same if he gets me. LORD DUNSTON.

The annual honey crop of the States, we read, is about 100,000,000 pounds. That strikes me as being a little bit heavy for some man like 'em that.

That the War Production Administration and newspaper companies are getting some of the same old dollar bills is a pretty interesting thing to see.

It is a fact that the War Production Administration has a list of 100,000 names of men who are doing a good job in the war effort.

The New Victory Tax

A new tax law went into effect on the first of this year which unlike most tax laws digs deep into the pocket books of practically every working man and woman in America. As not much is understood about this so-called Victory Tax locally and as almost everyone is going to have to pay it, we suppose a little space devoted to explanation might not run counter to the War Production Board's desire to conserve newspaper.

All wage and salary earners are supposed to pay this tax except Army and Navy men, farm laborers, domestic servants, casual labor not in the course of the employer's regular business, employees of non resident aliens not engaged in business in the United States, employees of a foreign government in the United States, American employees working outside the United States, and public officials, insofar as their fees are concerned but not their salaries.

The tax amounts to 5 percent of the salary or wages above $12 a week. In other words a person who earns $12 a week and no more, does not have to pay the tax. But a person who earns more than $12 a week has to pay a tax amounting to 5 percent on that part of his wages or salary which is over $12 a week. Thus a person earning $20 a week would have to pay 5 percent on $8, or $4.00 a week. A person who is paid by the year or by the month has to pay a tax computed on exactly the same basis.

The unfortunate part about this law, at least from the employer's point of view, is that it makes him the tax collector. It is up to him to compute the amount of the tax and to extract it from the employee's pay envelope. The employer keeps it temporarily and at the end of every three months remits to the government along with all the other sums which he has collected from his other employees and from his own pay check.

The employer is liable for the payment of all taxes by his employees. If he fails to collect from his employees, he has to make their payments himself. If he makes a mistake in the amount he withholds from their pay and does not collect enough, he has to make up the balance out of his own salary. If he collects too much, he is subject to a fine of $1,000, a year in jail, and $50 for each infraction.

Now the amount to be withheld by the employer does not have to be exactly 5 percent. A "Table of Optional Withholding" is provided by the Revenue Bureau which is apt to be as confusing to the employee as it is helpful to the employer who has trouble figuring his percentage. If your salary is between $12 and $16 the employer may withhold $1.10 regardless of whether that is exactly 5 percent or not.

And for instance, if your salary is $21 the table provides that your employer may withhold $5.50, though exactly 5 percent of the excess over $12 is only $4.45. This provision may prove confusing at times to the employee and lead him to believe that he is being rooked by his employer. In that event the thing for him to do is to write to the Bureau of Internal Revenue in Washington and find out for sure.

Help For China

It is very unfortunate that Chinese diplomats should leave Washington and go home feeling that they have been treated "shabbily" in the matter of aid to their country. Chinese feelings are deeply hurt. It is a bad situation for two nations that like and need each other, and must stand together against Japan.

The attitude of the United States government is understandable. The President, presumably on the advice of the military strategists, wants to concentrate on the European war and clean up Hitler before tackling Japan. That strategy would probably be all right if it were not for the human factor involved.

The Chinese have been fighting the Japanese, our mutual enemy, for many years under great difficulties. When we entered the war against Japan, the Chinese were obviously able to help and expected real cooperation. They had the man-power, the courage and the will to lick the Japs; all they asked for was war materials and supplies. But apparently they have not been getting any more now than they got before.

It is hard, of course, to get war stuff to them, because of the Japanese blockade; but doubtless more could be done than is now being done. Many American observers have been insisting that more help for the Chinese would pay far better than the fighting in the Solomon Islands.

The Johnsons Lead

The Johnson family leads in Army enlistments. One might have thought the Smiths would have the call; or the Joneses; or the Brownies.

Not so. The Johnsons are the most military of all, if mere weight of numbers rules that. Army records show 53,000 Johnsons on the rolls, with the Smiths a good second with 52,000. Of Brownies there are 45,000, and the Williams family comes in along with 47,000. The Joneses are right around there too.

Of the 53,000 Johnsons, something over 2,000 bear the first name of William—"Bill" to their mates. But there are 5,000 "Bill" Smiths out of the 52,000 total.

All they are all fighting men, whether the name be of the popular brand—so distinguished by numbers—or the more exceptional. All American soldiers have pretty good opinions about why they are in the fight, and all agree that they are fighting for the top-notch nation in the world, which turns out the best fighting man of all. Their job, as they see it, is to attain complete victory. And that is what they have set about doing.—Brentford Herald.

One of the most heartening stories to come out of Puerto Rico was that the president of its university, young James Baines, received his degrees at Georgetown university in Washington where he spent his years working his way through college; he was also registered at the university of Chicago. Not so long ago I told a story about a dog, Mr. Bouvier. Here is a still more remarkable one about a dog named Bessie, an Alsatian who belonged to Capt. James McKinnon, of Vancouver, B. C., as vouched for by Downey magazine.

The captain was in the war and after some months his sister received the weekly German message of her brother's death. The dog seemed there was something wrong. Up to that time he had been jumping before his master's feet but at once discontinued the practice. The captain's name should have appeared among those missing. Instead of it Bessie's name was found in way to the Allies and in Canada from where he sent a message to his master. Bessie's name was found in the news but the news was not believed. The news was that they had been captured and sent to Germany. The news was that they had been captured and sent to Germany. The news was that they had been captured and sent to Germany.

Work Of Mutes In Industry Praised By Big Company

AKRON, O., Jan. 4. (AP)—They can't speak and they can't hear, but they make swell airplanes.

That is the comment of Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co. officials when they talk about mutes working at their Akron aircraft plant.

The Goodyear company pioneers in the employment of mutes, regards them as the "most astounded, faithful and hard-working" of the thousands of men and women they hire.

More than 100 mutes are employed in the company's Akron war plant, occupying important positions of trust and responsibility.

Women's Clothes Will Be Simpler And Fewer In '43

By DOROTHY ROE
Ap Fashion Editor

Clothes will be fewer, simpler and better in 1943. Whether by not clothes rationing comes in this second year of war, American women must learn to get along with less, buy more carefully, make their clothes last.

All non-essentials have been pruned from the 1943 silhouette, which is slim, streamlined, geared to the tempo of the times.

Functionalism and quality are watchwords of the year.

This is the considered opinion of Mrs. Dorothy Anderson, executive director of the New York Dress Institute, an association of more than 600 dress manufacturers who supply the bulk of America's retail dress trade.

Charting the course of fashion in 1943, Mrs. Anderson says: "Look for shorter jackets, all-over skirts, quantities of buttons on your new Spring clothes. Be prepared for a narrower range of colors, more staple, monotonous prints, new developments in fabrics.

"You will see more suits and dresses made of rayon and nylon jersey, more coats of nylon fleece. These last two fabrics are made from the nylon brushings that cannot be used for any other purpose, and science has made them into beautiful and durable fabrics.

"We can expect shortages not only of wool and silk, but also of cotton and rayon. Yet in the face of multiple problems, designers and manufacturers are meeting the challenge of the times, turning out beautiful and practical clothes for the best-dressed women in the world—Americans.

Designers have gone beyond the 1942 limitations imposed last Spring, when the "frozen silhouette" was the talk of the nation. Far from causing regimentation of fashion, the famous L-85 ruling has acted as a challenge to designers, who have produced in the last six months the best and most wearable collections since Paris handed the scepter of style to America.

In the coming year we may find that our dresses are buttoned instead of zipped, we probably will get acquainted with new synthetics, we may even find our clothes rationed—but we can depend on American designers to keep us in the best-dressed nation on earth.

Coiffures Of '43 Should Not Dim Ladies' Glamour

By BETTY CLARKE
A P Beauty Editor

No need to let last year's evening dress dim this year's glamour. Party coiffures of 1943 are really something. Enough to turn any man's head in your direction.

It doesn't matter much what you entwine in your hair, as long as its decorative. A feather or two, a string of pearls will do, a bunch of fruit (artificial recommended), a sprig of mistletoe, ornate tails, varicolored bows, sequin butterflies or flowers—those are a few suggestions. Just a case of letting your imagination work.

Perhaps you have a false hair piece that you haven't bothered with because of lack of time for ordinary wear. Formal parties are special occasions, and since every girl spends more than the usual time on fixing up for 'em, it's a good opportunity for you to get your money's worth out of your switch.

You can design a really original coiffure in a half an hour. "Flax" time. Wear a braided coronet, entwined with ribbon, or make a topknot coil with your false piece, sprinkle it with beads, and bring your own hair up to side pompadours.

Writer Describes "Spoils System" In OPA And WPB

By JOHN GROVER
Congressman Robert Hampeck (D., Ill.) has turned up a situation that may ultimately smelt like a politician's pup in charging "personal patronage" in the Office of Price Administration and the War Production Board.

For some time, those close to things in OPA and WPB have remarked on the number of "cronies" hired by executives in these key war agencies. These are "cronies" in the Hollywood sense, meaning formerly business associates, not necessarily blood kin.

Hampeck has promised a Congressional investigation, and there's no one to believe he'll ease off in his demands, for he is Congress' most ardent champion of civil service. The proposed probe is also certain to find wide support in Congress. Other critics would rather have congressional control patronage than "outsiders" in the war agencies. They're enthusiastic for any investigation that clips the wings of war agency executives.

That there have been abuses in hiring is undisputed by analysts who know the facts. In operation since the size of the war effort, it was inevitable that some deadwood personnel climb aboard the bandwagon.

Congressional critics, however, threaten this factor of unavoidable deadwood, and still claim a lot of government nests have been made down for pals of the big shots. Some exceptions, say the objectors, have adopted a practice which is known in WPB and OPA corridors as "layering" favored subordinates.

Here is how it works. Say six branch directors, all of whom are inclusive, report to Deputy Director A, a subordinate of Director B. In some policy shake-up, Director B takes over for Director A. Director B then "layers" some associate directors between Deputy Director A and Branch Directors 1-6. Associate Directors 2 and 3 get the spots from A, and not infrequently make it so tough for 1-6 that they resign.

Likewise, Deputy Director A, short-circuited and largely deprived of authority, takes a polite powder. Director B then sees to it that the executives he "layers in" are his own friends, as 1-6 and A were friends of Director B.

Congressional critics of the "personal patronage" of war agencies chiefs admit that in many instances the "cronies" have done an admirable executive job after their appointments. However, they blame much of the confusion and inefficiency that has come to light in rationing and allocations programs generally on inter-closely knit "cronies" who have been found for bright young men with the right connections but little experience.

At any rate, the gentleman from Georgia is on the track of these and other employment practices in the war agencies. The promised investigation may do a lot to air a situation that has long been smoldering. Gossip here and there never has come in the open since the war effort was organized.

Colleges show a trend to accelerate their programs by giving up vacation to increase the year from 36 to 48 weeks. More than 2,000 high schools have started Victory Corps, Victory Garden plans laid the foundation for sending high school students to the aid of farmers in 1943.

Congress voted funds for two national war education programs: $4,000,000 for student loans, and $17,500,000 for special war vocational training. Funds were reserved by 270 colleges for 21,000 students at an average of $100 per student, 41 percent for engineering, 21 percent for medicine, 15 percent for chemistry, nine percent for dentistry, 5 percent for pharmacists, four percent for physicists and 2 percent for veterinarians.

The vocational training found for engineering, science, management or other wartime work was used by 190 colleges giving 5,149 courses for 12 to 16 weeks to 76,000 students.
