Big Year Predicted For Seminole County

Only optimism for 1954 has been expressed by Sanford and Seminole County community leaders. As a matter of fact, 1954 will be bigger in every way, according to the outlook of Sanford bankers, Sanford's mayor, its State Senator, and the president of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce.

Senator Douglas Stenstrom was emphatic in his outlook for the local community when he said "I think we can look forward to a continuation of the unprecedented progress experienced by our community in 1953."

In his outlook for the coming 12 months, Senator Stenstrom commented, "I feel we have really just begun to utilize all of the fine resources which our community and county has to offer."

Mayor David Gatchel expressed optimism in the completion of projects for the City of Sanford when he said "I think that the city will decide one way or the other on the docks and terminals project — and I am optimistic about it."

"We are looking forward to the completion of our capital improvement projects," said the Mayor, "and the addition of a full time recreation director."

Our first big convention will take place here in 1954 with an expected attendance of over 1,500, Mayor Gatchel stated. "We are looking forward to additional industry and our first major step in industrial development as well as anxiously awaiting Congressional approval of Navy expansion at the Sanford Naval Air Station," stated the Mayor.

The Mayor concluded "Overall, we have a very optimistic year ahead of us — we have had a good year in 1953 and have that much and more to look forward to in 1954."

Bankers in Sanford have expressed a very secure year ahead as they point to the twelve months of 1953.

T. E. Tucker, president of the Florida State Bank, said "We're expecting a good 1954."

There will be a good tourist season—further industrial development in Florida as a whole, said Tucker. He stated "In Florida, in Central Florida, and in Sanford the new year will be as good as 1953 or better."

Looking at the agriculture picture Tucker said "The problem there is yet unknown but there is still a good chance of its adjusting itself in 1954."

R. J. Bauman, president of the Sanford Atlantic National Bank, also had a forward-looking statement on the year ahead. "We look for a good year in 1954," he said, "with all indications pointing to a better year."

"Indications point to an industrial climb in the Sanford area," said Bauman, "and for the city and county there is an optimistic outlook for 1954."

Clifford McKibbin, president of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce, expects industrial development, increased commercial activity, and a better year in 1954.

McKibbin said "The Chamber of Commerce' industrial promotion work will continue and if it is as effective in 1954 as it was in 1953 it will mean additional plants in the Seminole County area."

"With the coming of Heavy Attack Squadron 3 to the Sanford Naval Air Station we should experience increased commercial activity," he said.

A similar increase in commercial activity will be created with the continued flow of retired people coming in this area, was the thought expressed by McKibbin. "Much of their shopping is done here," he said.

"We are looking forward to an optimistic 1954," said the Chamber of Commerce president.

No doubt, 1954 will be a most successful and profitable year for every phase of business activity in the Sanford-Seminole County community. The man on the street, with more money in his pockets, will spend more during the coming 12 months.

As long as the employment picture continues at its present high level in Sanford and Seminole County only a highly optimistic year can be the outcome with housing developments one of the major expansion pictures.

Burton Appointed To Zoning Board

John Burton IV, Sanford architect, has been appointed a member of the Seminole County Zoning Commission, according to an announcement made today by Raymond M. Ball, chairman.

Burton fills a vacancy on the county zoning board created by the resignation of Robert S. Brown who accepted the position as Director of the county board.

"The appointment of Burton to the Zoning Board," said the board's chairman, "will mean much in carrying out the content of the regulations which must be adhered to in countywide expansion and building."

TAKE IT OFF STORRS, Conn.—(UP)—William Kneeland qualified as a state policeman, but only after working off 118 pounds. He's now a trim 178 pounds, instead of 324.

March Of Dimes Campaign Opens Here Tomorrow

The annual March of Dimes fund campaign, sponsored locally by the Seminole County Chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, will get underway tomorrow, said John Sauls, chairman.

Serving as co-chairman for the month-long March of Dimes Drive is Wight Kirtley, Mrs. Russell E. Spencer is the Mothers' March chairman, Sauls said today.

Goal for this year's March of Dimes drive is $10,000.

Already in the mail and being delivered to citizens throughout the county are the March of Dimes coin containers for contributions. Canteens for March of Dimes contributions will also be placed in stores and public places throughout the county, Sauls explained.

The need is urgent, Sauls said this morning, as he pointed out the various sources into which contributions are channeled.

Already, the Seminole County Chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis has had three advances from the national foundation. The latest advance, received only recently, was for $950.

In Seminole County this year, said Sauls, we have had five new cases of polio and there are six old cases, all of which are receiving assistance from the local chapter.

Nationally, he said, there are 45 million people between the ages of 20 and 40 who have not had even one shot of Salk vaccine.

It seems ironical that less than half that of 1950 due to the effectiveness of the Salk Vaccine, patient care costs have declined but little, Sauls said. "This is because the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, and the local chapters such as our organization here in Seminole County, are attempting to restore to a productive and happy life the thousands of seriously disabled polio victims of previous years," he said.

Place To Continue Career In Navy For 6 More Years

Wesley T. Place, Photographers Mate First Class, USN, of 133 Pinerest Dr., Sanford, was reenlisted in the Navy for six years yesterday at the Naval Air Station, Sanford. He is currently serving with Heavy Attack Squadron Eleven (VAH-11).

A veteran of both the Korean conflict and World War II, Place has over fifteen years active duty with the Navy. He served in the Atlantic in World War II with Amphibious Group Eleven, and in the Korean action he was aboard the USS Leyte (CVS-32).

In VAH-11 Place works in Air Intelligence supervising the radar photography that is taken by the squadron A3D "Sky Warriors" jet aircraft. He also is petty officer in charge of the NAS Photo Laboratory.

Among his decorations Place has the Navy Unit Commendation, American Area Medal, Asiatic-Pacific Area Medal, World War II Victory Medal, the Korean Medal, and the Good Conduct Medal with four awards.

CDR. Ray C. Fernandez, USN, commanding officer of VAH-11, invited Petty Officer First Class Place's wife, Bettie Jean, and their two children, Patricia age 12, and Richard age 8, to observe the ceremony. CDR. Fernandez also presented Richard with several color photographs of Navy aircraft.

Two Accidents Cause Over $2,000 Damage

First Federal Will Pay $106,084.95 In Dividends

Holders of savings accounts at First Federal Savings and Loan Assn. are getting $106,084.95 in dividends that are being added to accounts, and which with the mid-year earnings distributed by the association brings the total for 1953 to $208,324.40, according to George Touhy, executive vice president.

The three and a half percent a year rate of earnings together with the assurance of safety provided by "better-than-average reserves" has appealed to thrifty minded persons, said Touhy, in spite of the events of a year that was filled with "tight money" problems.

The slide of the market prices of securities on the stock market whittled the interest of many investors in the stability of value in savings accounts and where the field was quite adequate in view of the absence of speculation, he added.

The association official said that there was a strong demand for money for the building and the purchase of homes and it was running well ahead of the supply of funds. One of the disturbing elements to a firm dedicated to the stimulation of home ownership, has been the inability to grant immediate loans for this purpose, Touhy added.

The coming year will bring no quick relief from the "tight money" situation, although it is believed that the Federal Reserve officials will make another move to "ease the pain," but its effects will not be felt at once, commented Touhy.

Businessmen Have Optimistic Outlook For This Year

NEW YORK UP—Businessmen are fairly optimistic about the outlook for 1954, a United Press survey of representative spokesmen for 14 key industries showed today.

A few of these officials look for a lower level of activity in their fields in 1954, but they emphasize that their operations will be well above recession levels. Some of them expect a record year.

The consensus was that the decline in business would run its course by the middle of 1954, with a second-half recovery leaving by the middle of 1955, with a second-half recovery leaving the economy slightly higher on balance.

Competition for the consumer's dollar will be severe in 1954, which will make it difficult for companies to raise their prices. Most businessmen look for higher dollar sales but lower earnings in 1954, as the profit-squeeze continues.

Two accidents during the early hours of 1954 caused more than $2,000 in property damage, sent one man to the hospital, and another injured but not seriously enough to be hospitalized.

Shortly after 2:30 this morning, a 1954 Plymouth coupe, driven by Charles Bax, 20-year-old navy man attached to FASRON 31 at the Sanford Naval Air Station, struck down Edna W. Herrmann, 27-year-old actor attached to Heavy Attack Squadron 9.

Ena, Herrmann was first taken to Seminole Memorial Hospital and then transferred immediately to Orange Memorial Hospital where he underwent surgery this morning for injuries received in the automobile accident.

Doctors at Orange Memorial Hospital said this morning that the young officer received a head injury, compound fracture of the right leg, a fracture of the left leg, and a rib fracture. His condition was described as "fair."

The automobile which struck down Ena, Herrmann was traveling south on Sanford Ave. at an estimated 30-35 miles an hour, according to Deputy Sheriff J. L. Kriz. The Ensign was walking south on Sanford Ave. with traffic and was dressed in white.

Ena, Herrmann was carried approximately 100 feet when hit by the right fender of the automobile and thrown into the windshield. His right shoe was found about 10 feet from the point of impact on the right side of the highway, his left shoe left on the highway about 80 feet from the point of impact.

Deputy Sheriff Kriz said that the driver of the car "swerved to miss the young officer but he either fell or stepped in front of the car. Bax told Kriz that "it happened so fast I don't know whether he fell or stepped in front of the car."

Bax was accompanied by Richard F. Alvord, 19, of Heavy Attack Training Unit at SNAS.

In another accident this morning at approximately 4:45 a.m., a 1954 Plymouth, traveling east on First St., and driven by William James Holman, 33-year-old Sanford insurance man, plowed into a 1937 Ford parked on First St.

Damage to the Plymouth has been estimated by investigating officers of the Sanford Police Department at $300 with damage to the Ford $1,200.

The Ford automobile is owned by National Car Rentals and leased by Merle Warner's Gulf Service.

At W. R. Cosgrave and Patrolman E. F. Hayden, investigating the early morning accident, said the parked car was thrown 28 feet by the impact.

Larges of reckless driving were placed against Holman, the officers said.

EDNA HURD, (left) lovely and talented actress and Will Sandy, director and leading actor will appear with the "Village Players."

Seminole County Welcomes 1954

Seminole County celebrated last night and this morning. Folks turned out to sing, dance and laugh the old year out and the New Year in.

The San Francisco Giants Mayfair Inn, holding its gigantic New Year's Eve Party in the ballroom, entertained more than 400 local celebrators, a group that included Sanford folks, Navy folks, and guests of the Mayfair Inn.

It was a gay party with bright and colorful hats, noisy noise-makers, and plenty of confetti. The "big push" came exactly at midnight when hundreds of balloons were released from a contraneer at the ceiling level and all dancers attempted to take at least one balloon away with them.

A buffet supper was served to all guests one hour after the New Year had been greeted and on its way toward making "futures."

Other parties were held throughout the county. The Turf Club, just out of Casselberry, in the Seminole Raceway Park, was open until the wee hours this morning entertaining its guests at a gala party.

The Elk's Club, the Sanford Shrine Club, Jim Spencer's, the Veterans of Foreign Wars staged New Year's Parties for their friends and neighbors as well as members of the organizations.

There were literally "hundreds" of other parties held throughout the county.

Revelers, however, watched their "traffic rules" with only two accidents in the county during the night-long party-going and travelling.

This year's celebration—watching the old year, successful, prosperous, and unpredictable, slip out into the past and greeting a brand new 1954 with hopes for even a greater year ahead of it—was one that won't be forgotten.

Schools To Take Part In Courtesy Week

Interest in Courtesy Week, slated to get underway in Sanford Jan. 6, has spread to the schools, said Howard McNulty, Jaycee Courtesy Week Committee Chairman.

Mrs. Velma Mitchell, principal of Southside School, will appoint Courtesy Week chairmen in each classroom of the school and join in with the activities of the week, said McNulty.

In the past, plans have been made for the week-long event in Sanford.

Tags are slated for distribution either Friday or Saturday, streamers will be distributed to the various stores and offices in the business area and bumper strips will be attached to local cars.

Secret committees will begin Monday morning the gigantic task of selecting the most courteous waitress, saleslady, salesman, policeman, and set. Winner in each group will receive a $25 U. S. Savings Bond.

It is expected that other events will take place during the week to point up the meaning of the practice of courtesy. "We have other plans," said McNulty, "but announcement of details will be withheld for the time being."

Courtesy Week is being co-sponsored in Sanford by the Sanford-Seminole County Junior Chamber of Commerce and the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce.

Sid Caesar Will Return To TV Screen Jan. 26

By FRED DANZIG
United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK — For many of us, television entertainment vanished abruptly last May 15 when Sid Caesar left NBC and it won't come back until Sid does.
Well, the happy day, or night, is almost here.
On Sunday, Jan. 26, a half-hour show titled, "Sid Caesar Entertains" will debut at 9 p. m. EST over the ABC-TV Network and the world will be back in shape again.
In discussing the new format, Caesar said, "We won't have time for special dancing, singing or production numbers. It's going to be packed with comedy." Adding him will be such comedy pros as Imogene Coca, Carl Reiner and Paul Reed.

Shrugs Off Ratings
Looking fit as he relaxed in an upholstered swivel chair in his plush penthouse office, with wall-to-wall carpeting underfoot, a great mahogany desk before him, oil paintings and bookshelves on all sides, Caesar shrugged off talk about ratings.
"You know how it goes. You work hard, put forth a tremendous effort to put on the best show possible. Then the figures come in—and they kill you! Whatever the figures say, okay. Why fight it? Why worry in advance?"

He talks, Caesar employs more than mere words to make his point. A shrug of the shoulder, wave of the hand, a chuckle or grunt all help him flavor his meaning.
Caesar notes that television—now loaded with variety shows and westerns—appears to have taken a vacation from comedy. "People should have more of a choice," he said. "There should be a balance. In the 1920s and '30s, no matter how elaborate the shows were on Broadway, how beautiful the girls, the scenery and the music—if there was no comedian, they minded off. Comedy balances things off."

Viewer Is Not Alone
The basis of his humor, Caesar said, is identification. "When I do a sketch, I try to say something that I try to show people they are not alone. Say you have trouble with a shoe, something like tying a shoelace. We'll have even more trouble tying that shoelace and you'll feel better knowing you're not alone."
"Above all, my comedy is guided by taste. I would rather forego the laugh than do something in bad taste. Remember Cool Cees, the jazz saxophone player? He was so nearsighted. We didn't realize it, but this offended a number of people and as soon as we heard about it, we dropped him."

Education Will Be in School At Crossroads

The education of the nation's youth is being shown to a group of school officials at a meeting of the National Academy of Education, which will convene in Washington on Jan. 26.

The tremendous influence of the nation's education system on our economy and our future is being shown to a group of school officials at a meeting of the National Academy of Education, which will convene in Washington on Jan. 26.

Revival Meetings To Start Tonight

Revival meetings will get underway tonight at the Church of God in Christ, 1000 Elm Ave., the Rev. J. H. Miller, pastor of the church, will lead the services.

Speakers in a series of continuing meetings in the city include Charles Wesley of Ohio, and Rev. Messer said.

He'll never look back. In his place he has a Hornby, another cool cat. The fellow who has to stoop on radio to warn him he comes too close to the edge.

"Everybody knows them!" This somnolent, Caesar feels, is no mistake, or escape for a wide audience.

The man I mean means business, even though they try to make the guy disappear—are all over. Nobody knows about them. It's real," he said.

As to the refusal to do a half-hour for ABC and then a half-hour for NBC, Caesar said, "That's the story that I've heard out at NBC. Actually, I wanted to dissolve my union, go here, go there, do it here, there, now and then, and be on every week with company. You just don't break a company like that. I want continuity, to be on every week. Whether it's for an hour or four. I'm getting what I want. ABC and that's why I'm here. Welcome."

Literary Research Plan Aids Science

CHICAGO—There's more to scientific research than meets the test tube—there's the problem of keeping up with work of other test tubes.

The research scientist not only needs to keep informed in his own area of work but in related areas which might affect his scientific contributions. Sometimes the researchers must dig back into the past as far as 100 years to gain knowledge on certain items.

The great impetus given scientific research during World War II caused the volume of technical literature to increase at an amazing rate, Mrs. Ann P. Wennerberg said.

Mrs. Wennerberg, acting supervisor of literature research at the Armour Research Foundation, said no scientist is able to cover adequately all literature needs to supplement information he gains in the lab.

To answer the need, the foundation's chemistry and chemical engineering division nearly a decade ago formed the literature research section to aid the lab scientist.

The specialized services of the section later were expanded to include all nine research departments of the foundation, Mrs. Wennerberg said.

Traveling Researchers
Dull? Not at all, said the six women scientists who "man" the task of keeping the literature research section up-to-date on the facts of chemistry, ceramics and minerals, electronics, economics, international research, mechanics, metals, physics, propulsion and fluid mechanics.

In addition to traveling, the women find their work less confining subject-wise than lab work, Mrs. Wennerberg said. Also they meet more people and encounter more variety in each day's routine.

When local sources are exhausted, the search heads out of town, Mrs. Wennerberg said. Much information is gained by attendance at scientific meetings and symposia.

When information is gathered, abstracts or summaries of all pertinent data are prepared on standard punched cards, for which coding systems can be designed on request.

The system not only saves the researcher time, Mrs. Wennerberg said, but also provides him with information that, in many cases, would have been overlooked.

The many trips the fact-finders have taken have led them to dub themselves the "flying literature section."

But whether flying or grounded, their ability to find information and supply it to the lab has provided science with a valuable service.

R. Ball To Move Into New Offices Thursday Morning

Raymond M. Ball, real estate and insurance, will move into new offices and be open for business Thursday morning.

New offices for the firm will be located at Third St. and Park Ave. on the northwest corner.

"There will be plenty of parking area," said Ball, "as well as the drive-in facilities which make it much more convenient for our customers and friends."

Ball stated that additional office space has been acquired in the new office location with plenty of room for the entire real estate and insurance operation.

"We will have separate departments for our real estate and insurance," said Ball as he described the new offices and office location.

"All of our clients, customers, and friends are invited to come by and inspect the new offices," Ball said today.

You Are Invited To Live At GREATER FANTABULOUS CHULUOTA

TRULY A Town Site planned for low priced home-living in a Country Club Community. A Multi-Million dollar residential area which will contain more than 7,000 acres and covers an area of approximately 11 square miles. Surrounding 20 beautiful lakes where nature has done its best in landscaping of gorgeous pines, monstrous spreading oaks and expansive palms, along the Econlockhatchee River which winds its way into the St. John's, which will permit you to drift or speed on to the Atlantic Ocean.

CHU-LU-O-TA means Land of Lakes and Pines, and, was named by the Seminole Indians in the early days. Selected by George Flagler of The Florida East Coast Railway fame as one of the townsite Railroad stations in the early Fabulous Days of Florida.

It is located 19 miles west of U.S. 1—16 miles southeast of Sanford—11 miles east of Winter Park—16 miles east of Orlando—1 miles east of Oviedo—1 miles from Route 30, Florida's most traveled East-to-West Coast Highway—19 miles from East Coast U.S. 1—Average yearly temperature 71 degrees—wind velocity 8 miles per hour—Average yearly rainfall 43 inches, mostly in the summer months.

In the heart of Central Florida, the fairest, most fruitful and pleasant land in the world. CHULUOTA needs no exaggeration of promoters or visionary superlatives of dreamers. It is just endowed by nature with a wealth of natural assets as immutable as the Sun and Stars.

HOTEL CHULUOTA INN on Lake Catherine, Post Office, Private and Public Schools by bus, Churches and Meeting Places are presently here. Planned Shopping Center, Recreational Center and Parks, in proper location soon to be under development. Several hundred new homes are expected to be built during Fall, Winter and Spring of 1957-58.

CHULUOTA is not a land sale or speculative offering. It is truly Fabulous as it compares to the beauty of its neighbor city Winter Park. The homes being offered and to be built are at prices which are exclaimed to be fantastic. THIS IS WHY WE USE THE TRUE WORD EXPRESSION—FANTABULOUS!

We now have in CHULUOTA more than 15 miles of paved streets with water lines from deep wells to supply you with health-giving water.

A Happy New Year To Everyone From The Sanford Herald Staff

The New Year's resolution has been the butt of innumerable jokes, most of them centering about the idea that resolutions are made only to be broken. Perhaps as a result of this, the custom of resolving to improve one's behavior in this way or that during the coming year has declined somewhat. Still it is a good custom.

Americans don't seem to take themselves quite as seriously as they used to, and on the whole that may be a good thing. Yet this is a time for seriousness and high resolve. It is a time when, recognizing that 1957 was a year of setbacks, we must determine to focus our thoughts and energies on the main task of working to strengthen and defend the way of freedom.

To be resolute, that is the thing. Not only to make high resolutions, but to have resolution—determination, firmness, constancy of purpose. It is all right to make jokes about broken resolutions to quit smoking or eating bon bons. But when it comes to freedom and human dignity, and the tests to which they will be subjected in the year ahead, jokes are out of place. We must be high-minded and resolute.

The entire staff of The Sanford Herald takes this opportunity to wish for everyone, everywhere, a most prosperous New Year. As our neighbors here in Seminole County wish us prosper, so shall we prosper.

Along with prosperity, however, The Sanford Herald staff would also wish for our readers and our neighbors everywhere the greatest happiness the coming year can provide.

The New Year is bound to have its tragedies, its heart-aches, and its moments that break away from the aura of happiness—but with resolute wishes and the help of all who are neighbors and friends happiness will and shall prevail throughout 1958's 365 days.

The Gaither Report Needs Airing

All across the nation the press has headlined news stories about the Gaither report which offered President Eisenhower gloomy conclusions about the security of America and the condition of its defenses. We have more than adequate grounds for expressing deep concern over the recent military decline of the United States vis-a-vis the Soviet Union. The Russians either now have ICBMs zeroed in on American cities, or else they will soon possess these. The Soviet Union has gained a momentum which it will not be easy for America to match unless we act with drastic speed.

However, the United States is still powerful. The people and the leaders of this country can reverse the trend of American decline if they will do so and work to achieve this aim.

The Gaither report cannot be evaluated in an all-sided way merely on the basis of news stories about its contents. If it is complacently ignored, or dismissed with inspirational evasions styled by Madison Avenue, then we cannot regard ourselves as a serious people. But, recognizing that we have declined, the extreme gloom of this report and of new headlines cannot be accepted without study and added knowledge.

The Senate should air this report in a balanced manner. We must know more clearly where we are. Otherwise, this nation might be demoralized, and the hope of freedom in the future would then be almost shattered.

But there is new hope—and another side of the story, too.

A Lutheran writer for a Milwaukee, Wisconsin, church bi-weekly has declared: "We have been humiliated by Sputnik, but not humbled by our sin—frightened, but not fearful of a final judgement."

Veterans Corner

Here are authoritative answers from the Veterans Administration to questions of interest to former servicemen and their families:

Q. I am planning to sell my house and let the buyer take over my GI loan. I also want to apply to VA for release from liability. Our house is in my wife's and my name. Will she also be released from liability?
A. If you are released from liability, she will be, also.

Q. I am the widow of a World War I veteran. VA is paying extra death compensation on behalf of my 17-year-old daughter. If she goes to school under the War Orphans Education program, will those extra payments stop? She already has finished high school and is ready for college.
A. If she enrolls in college under the War Orphans Education program, she may receive both the extra death compensation and her educational allowances. However, once she reaches age 18, the death compensation payments must stop.

Q. A friend of mine, a World War II veteran, recently died of a service-connected condition. Will his widow have a choice of obtaining death compensation payments or payments under the Survivor Benefits Act?
A. No. Since his death occurred after January 1, 1957, his widow does not have a choice. She may be eligible only for benefits under the Survivor Benefits Act. Had the death occurred before Jan. 1, 1957, the widow would have had a choice between the two benefits.

Q. I am taking on-the-job training under the Korean GI Bill, and my entitlement has nearly run out. Is it possible to have my entitlement extended, as is the case with veterans in school?
A. No. The law prohibits the extension of entitlement for veterans taking on-the-job training under the Korean GI Bill. Your GI training will end as of the date your entitlement expires.

OUR WISH FOR '58

Too Late To Classify

By Russell Kay
When Jack Frost galloped through Florida recently blowing his frigid breath in all directions he left a trail of death and destruction to the tender plant life such as we seldom experience in this usually balm clime.

Colorful poinsettias, gorgeous flame vine, oleanders, hibiscus and bougainvillea that the day before had been greeting our winter visitors joyously hung lifeless amid a pitiful display of dead foliage. Grass turned from green to brown, dead leaves fluttered to earth leaving stark skeletons where thrilling floral beauty had been before.

It was a sickening and tragic situation and I shuddered as I visualized the scene that confronted my good friend Dick Pope of Cypress Gardens. I knew he would do his utmost to save the gardens but it was too much to hope that he could combat such a sustained attack.

I phoned to express my condolence and was amazed to hear his cheery voice as he enthusiastically urged me to come over and see his gorgeous garden standing unscathed with flaming poinsettias lifting their thankful heads to greet the warming sun.

"Don't you know there will always be a Beautiful Cypress Gardens?" Dick queried. Then he told me the thrilling story of his battle with the elements that terminated in a complete rout for Jack Frost and left his precious gardens more beautiful than ever with every leaf, twig and bud untouched.

As soon as the first warning came Dick went into action. 700 forced draft oil heaters, made in California by the way, were fired up, each heater connected by pipe lines with oil storage tanks capable of keeping them in full operation for an unlimited period. They are not snudge pots but heaters that poured out a warmth over the entire 70 acres of gardens, holding the temperature at 37 through the entire period of the freeze.

Outside the gardens the temperature dropped to a drastic 27, out on Lake Eloise running water on the ski jump froze and icicles a foot long hung from the structure while a few hundred feet away all was green and colorful. It was unbelievable.

BACK PAY CONFISCATED
AMMAN, Jordan, (UP)—Gen. Habib Majali, military governor of Jordan, has ordered the confiscation of some $12,600 in back pay owed to the seven legislators dismissed last week from parliament. It was announced today.

Six of the ousted lawmakers fled to Syria after last spring's government crisis. The seventh, Fayek Warrad, has been sentenced to serve 19 years in prison for Communist activities.

Testimonial Buquet Set For HST

By LYLE C. WILSON
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (UP)—Former President Harry S. Truman is a friendly man who likes to re-visit the scenes of yesterday, splash some branch water in a dollop of Jack Daniels and chat.

HST will be back in town in a few weeks as honored at a testimonial banquet from which the Democratic party will raise from $100 a plate up. The date, just announced, is Feb. 22.

The former president that night will be keynoting the 1958 Democratic Congressional campaign. The occasion will give Truman scope for the kind of give-'em-hell operations in which he delights. Some of his nostalgia for his former Washington haunts, however, will be unappreciated.

Mr. T., for example, probably will not re-visit the Senate chamber in the north wing of the Capitol, where he rose from obscurity to the vice presidency of the United States. The former president has some personal rules of conduct, and one of them is that he will not enter a room in which Vice President Richard M. Nixon is present.

Dislikes Nixon
On a visit to Washington some years ago, the former president was about to enter the Senate chamber to get at his old desk for old times' sake when he paused just outside the barrier. Turning to his escort of friends, Truman snapped that he would not enter if Nixon were there.

The vice president not only was absent from the chamber, he was outside the continental limits of the United States on a mission for President Eisenhower. Being assured of that, Truman entered and had a big time.

His feud with Nixon goes back to the 1952 and 1954 political campaigns in which the vice president wounded the feelings of most Democratic Party leaders with his frank discussion of communist infiltration of S. government. Truman made no effort to conceal his feelings toward Eisenhower are less well known than Truman's friends, however, impression is now that Truman Missouri is no more than a name.

Eisenhower occasionally has spoken of Truman as a friendly, sympathetic man. He is not a political enemy. Truman is a man who has been no White House adviser and considerably since then.

capt. Harry S. Truman is a soft hearted for soldiers, especially generals, of course. Gen. Douglas MacArthur, Eisenhower relates in his "Crusade for Europe" that in 1945 Truman looked him in the eye and said:

"General, there is nothing that you may want that I won't try to help you get. That I definitely and specifically includes the presidency in 1948. Times have changed for advice and

Decline
Friends of Sir Anthony Eden are seriously worried about his health. His doctors have announced that he has recovered from a fever which kept him in bed on Christmas Day and the day after. But the 60-year-old former British prime minister does not seem to be pulling back satisfactorily from his long abdominal illnesses. This common Moscow source: Russia prepared to offer Indonesia of 5,000 "volunteers" if it to take Netherlands New G by force. The corps is made of Moslems. It was formed of the Suez Canal crisis, to be led to the Arab countries if we take out. The Indonesians, Uthman, are Moslem. The "vol" corps, well-equipped for war, has been kept together as now being moved eastward to Indonesia or to New G.

Dulles Herter
Washington has say Secretary of State, Foster Dulles and under Secy, Christian A. Herter, former governor of Massachusetts, are pulling well together. In months, Herter felt that Dulles' give him enough to do. It was speculation that he might. When Herter went to Washington, he was regarded as a sturdy, ready to step into the job if Dulles stepped out. Latest report about Dulles is he may try with the idea resigning when he reaches his birthday, Feb. 25. But the fact that he will stay on and Herter will stay with him now their relations are better.

Jan
A congressional committee will predict, in sport due in January, another year of rough financial for American farmers. The next will be based on the going increase in production, the crop controls, and the delay of finding markets for the increased output. Keep your eye on Indian Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru. He may play a big part in any move toward a conference between Russia and the western allies. Nehru would do anything he could to bring the two sides together. He is to confer next week with British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, who arrives in New Delhi Jan. 3 to begin a Commonwealth tour. Nehru may have some idea for Macmillan to relay to Washington.

Operations Of Soil Bank Program Save Government Money
WASHINGTON (UP)—Agriculture Department officials calculate operations of the soil bank program saved the federal government about one billion dollars in farm price support payments in 1957. They emphasized, however, that the government obligated itself to pay farmers who participated in the program about $14 million dollars as a premium for taking part of their land out of production.

Under the soil bank program, a farmer is paid a subsidy to set aside part of his land for conservation purposes, rather than for raising crops. The plan was designed to cut down on this country's multi-billion dollar crop surpluses.

Village Players Have Vast Experience

When the curtain goes up Tuesday evening, January 7, Sanford Mutual Concert Association members will see three actors who have had vast experience in some of the finest stock companies in the nation. Will Sandy, an actor and director with a wide range of experience is particularly well known for his thorough and careful delineation of character creation. In his thirteen years as a professional actor, he has portrayed over 125 leading and major roles. Mr. Sandy has spent three years at Mt. Gretna, Pa., three seasons at Flat Rock, N. C., where he has been seen by several summering Sanfordites, and two summers each at Keene, N. H. and the Boothbay Playhouse, Boothbay, Me. His long list of credits also includes nationwide tours with Uta Hagen and Jose Ferrer. He has appeared on many television shows.

Edna Hurl was the star and co-producer at the Green Mountain Playhouse for four years. She is renowned for her versatility as well as her beauty and obvious talent. Miss Hurl has shown her capability to portray the tragic Catherine in "The Heiress", or Laura in "Tess and Sympathy"—then switch to the light touch desired in such comedy roles as those called for by "The Importance of Being Earnest," "Hay Fever" and "Bus Stop." Miss Hurl benefited greatly from two years in radio, where she dramatized children's classics and fairy tales. She was a dramatic instructor for several years and has a long list of major roles in a variety of playhouses. Since the Village Players present a large selection of varied productions, she is well suited for her task.

The assisting actor, David Julian, has a colorful background of theatrical experience. He has a sincere interest in folklore, and has appeared with the "Lost Colony" and the original company of "Thun-dertland." He has toured with the Barter Theatre in "The Tempest" and "Three Men on a Horse" and with another repertory company in "As You Like It." His talents also include singing and dancing.

What Not To Wear In 1958 Told By Fashion Experts

By CLAIRE COX
United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK, Dec. 28 (AP)—The fashion dictators pulled a switch today. They decided to tell women what not (repeat not) to wear in 1958.

In a set of New Year's resolutions for their stylish customers, some of the nation's leading designers made these suggestions: Mollie Parnis: Don't wear wide skirts to a party and wind up sweeping the canapes off the cocktail table. Arnold Scaasi: The chemise will be the biggest thing in fashion in 1958, but it is not for short, plump or tall, emaciated women. They'll have to stick to dresses with both waistlines and flaring hems. Sydney S. Wragges: The beltless fashion should not be accepted blindly as a fad. It is all right in moderation and with individualized refinements.

Vivid Color
Ben Zuckerman: Women are determined to wear vivid colors next year, but they should avoid garish combinations. Larry Aldrich: Simple, casual clothes are inevitable, but the women who wear them should resolve to avoid the carelessness—that easily could result.

Cell Chapman: 1958 is sure to bring more uniformity in fashion, with the slim, straighter silhouette, but it also will bring a challenge to avoid monotony and uninteresting detail. Pauline Trigere: Skirts will get shorter; and shorter, but women should have sense enough to keep them within the bounds of good taste—a minimum of 12 inches from the floor and a maximum of 17.

Hilda Almark of Branell: The future fashion will accent youthfulness, but the woman who no longer is a girl should not try to dress like one. Harvey Berlin: Most women will want to lose all their clothes in the rag bag next year and buy a new wardrobe. They should try to reach compromises with the fellows who pay—their husbands.

Betty Carol of Mam'selle: The simple fashions will hold sway, but the girls will have to pay more attention to good grooming to look both sleek and chic. Lilly Dache: The clever woman will learn a new technique of painting her face with blue, green, violet, red, rose and white combinations—but she'll have to do it without making herself look like the prima ballerina in an Indian war dance.

Taller Hats Coming
Emme: Taller hats are coming in, which means hair must be shorter. It is all right if a fringe of hair shows in front, but not a wisp should be visible in back. Adele Simpson: The loose silhouette is going to be a challenge to feminine court—courts to ignore extremes that do not flatter any but the flattest figures.

Hoxane of Samuel Winston: The pointed bosom has no place under straight dresses. Relaxed clothes must be worn over relaxed underpinnings.

Last Year Gary Berry's First Season In Past Three Without Using Crutches

COMMERCE, Texas (Special)—Crutch manufacturers have in the past three years been sure of at least one sale per football season—but not this year. This may be a confusing statement, but Gary Berry, the ET Lions starting left half, understands.

Berry has participated in four full seasons of college football to date, and this past season at East Texas was the first year that he hasn't been on crutches at least part of the season.

The fleet halfback began his college football at Tarleton State college in 1954. His freshman season there, saw the first of three ankle injuries, the right one to be exact. The first year he missed, he only sprained the ankle, but it was bad enough to make him miss one game, and spend a couple of days on the wooden brace.

His sophomore year at TSC there was another injury to the ankle, this time more serious, causing him to miss three tilts and spend two weeks on the "thing" (as Berry calls the crutches).

Even the ankle injury that year didn't stop him for long, for he won a place on the second-team all-conference squad and was voted Tarleton's outstanding back of the year.

Transferring to Midwestern University at Wichita Falls, Berry's ankle suffered its biggest blow. He broke the ankle mid-way in the season. Midwestern gave up football that year, and Berry transferred to ET.

This time not a single injury.

"I'm sure glad," said Berry. "I tried not to think about the past injuries, but at times it was difficult not to favor the ankle."

"Evidently Berry didn't favor the ankle for all he did was lead the conference and the Lions in scoring with 66 points on 11 touchdowns, and to a conference co-championship.

He also paced the Lions' in kick-off and punt returns.

From now on, if Berry has his way, the crutch manufacturers may have to make a living selling pencils on the street corner.

Cagers Practicing To Rock 'N' Roll

BECKLEY, W. Va. (Special)—Beckley College basketball coach Billy Bowman set up a record player to produce rock-and-roll sounds during his team's practice sessions.

Bowman said the music keeps the players from feeling tired and also keeps them relaxed.

Results of the experiment, Bowman hopes, will tend to give the Hawks a speedy offense "which will outrun our opponents."

NEW YORK (UP)—We'll look at the New Year and yet it also is a time to look back in sadness for those who played the last inning in 1957.

Every sport lost some of the old heroes in the year which is being rung out. And some of the not so old, too.

Like young John Marshall, the powerful human fish from Australia who rewrote the record book at Yale. At 26, he succumbed to automobile accident injuries. And one ran out, too, for strapping Len Eshmont, at 39 still one of Fordham's brightest gridiron memories.

Coaches Die in 50's

Football lost others who'll could be spared. Big Charley Caldwell, the Princeton coach, was only 53, and rugged Denny Myers, the former Boston College coach, was but 51. Younger than either of them was Tony Morabito, owner of the San Francisco 49'ers, who closed the books at 47, and along with them went the immortal Bob Zupke at 78 and Yale's famed Ted Jones at 70.

Baseball will long remember four who went away. Frits Ostermueller, the former pitcher, was only 50. With him passed three of the elder statesmen. They were sharp-eyed Paul Krichell, chief scout of the New York Yankees, at 74; excitable Dolf Luque, former pitcher and coach of the Giants, at 66, and 64-year-old Billy Meyer, the genial, easy-going man who formerly managed the Pirates.

It will be a long time before basketball forgets Florida-faced Pat Kennedy, the actor of the hardwood who passed at 30. Along with this colorful referee went Chris Leonard, 67, a member of the original Celtics.

Golf Figures Pass

No longer will golf see genial Willie Klein, who was only 53, or Al Espinosa, who holed out at 64. And tennis saw the final set for Maurice McLaughlin, to whom it owed such a tremendous debt. For it was the 67-year-old California Comet who started the game on its way to being a national sport.

Boxing tolled the bell for two former middleweight champions, Mike O'Dowd, 62, and Babe Risko, 48, as well as former featherweight champion Johnny Kilbane, 68.

The turf said goodbye to a trio of its revered veterans. A. B. Hancock Sr., owner of Claiborne Farm, had a full life of 80 years. Bill Kyne, general manager of the Sanford Boat and Ski Club will swing into action this week getting the financial machinery rolling that will make Sanford the spotlight of national speedboat racing Sunday, Jan. 19.

A non-profit undertaking by the club, the nation's finest hydroplane racers will be brought to Lake Monroe for the mid-January event that last year attracted 10,000 spectators to this community for a sunny day that made history for Sanford.

Boat and Ski Club commodore, Dr. A. W. Woodall, remarked, "We still will not be attempting to make a profit on this event. We want to take advantage of the wonderful resources here and make them better known for their recreational facilities and at the same time bring to the people of this area a wonderful and thrilling spectator sport."

"The club was not expecting such a gigantic turnout last year," Woodall said, "and frankly we were not prepared for such immense crowds, but we will be this year."

Woodall said that he and representatives of the club were in contact with the State Road Department, and that the results of cooperation were "highly favorable."

"This project is going to be our annual attempt to bring something worthwhile to Sanford and Seminole County," Woodall declared, and added, "This year the races will be bigger and better, and the facilities will be very greatly improved."

Woodall said that representatives of the club would be contacting downtown merchants this week, seeking help to make the national races a financial possibility.

Top Cage Teams

By EARL WRIGHT
United Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (UP)—Kansas and Kansas State, the top basketball teams in the Big Eight Conference, placed 1-2 today in the United Press ratings for the second straight week, while North Carolina moved up to third.

The 35 coaches who make up the United Press rating board based their rankings on performances through Saturday night, Dec. 28. Kansas and Kansas State met last night in the final of the Big Eight tournament.

North Carolina, defending national champion which dropped from first to fourth last week after losing to West Virginia, advanced a notch in the wake of its triumph in the Dixie Classic Saturday night. West Virginia, unbeaten Southern Conference leader, slipped from third to fourth after a week of idleness.

Temple Only Newcomer

Temple, a finalist in the Holiday Festival tournament at New York, was the only newcomer in the top ten. The Philadelphia school, 12th last week, advanced to 10th. Utah dropped from 10th to 12th. San Francisco remained fifth and Michigan State held sixth place. Maryland, a finalist in the Sugar Bowl tournament last night, advanced from ninth to seventh. Cincinnati slipped from seventh to eighth and Bradley from eighth to ninth.

For the second straight week, 19 of the 35 coaches tabbed Kansas as the No. 1 team. With points awarded on a 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 basis for votes from first to 10th place, Kansas collected 312 points.

KSU Runner Up With 278

Kansas State received four first-place votes and 278 points. North Carolina drew three first-place votes and 241 points. West Virginia was close behind with three first-place votes and 232 points.

San Francisco received four first-place votes and 218 points, while Michigan State received the other two first-place votes and 156 points.

Maryland, with 124; Cincinnati, 117; Bradley, 54; and Temple, 40, rounded out the first 10.

Oregon State advanced from 17th to head this week's second 10 group. Then came Utah, Texas Christian, Oklahoma State, Kentucky, Seattle, California, Notre Dame, UCLA, and Iowa State.

A total of 25 teams were mentioned on the ballots. Louisville, St. John's N. Y., Illinois, Mississippi State and Dartmouth were the other teams that received votes.

Bay Meads, passed away and Tom Smith, the 78-year-old coach who trained the mighty Seabiscuit.

Look back just a moment for the sake of Auld Lang Syne.

Improved Boating Laws Are Sought

CHICAGO (Special)—A national group of boating enthusiasts and firms has proposed a formula to guide state legislators considering regulation of water sports.

The Outboard Boating Club of America said the formula was a step forward from a recommended uniform boat regulation act set up some time ago and used by more than 24 states to establish similar laws.

OBCC executive director Guy W. Hughes said initial reaction to the new formula has been "very promising" and that legislators eyeing boating problems in California, Michigan, Tennessee and Connecticut have indicated deep interest in it.

The new proposed bill has sections lacking in the earlier one to cover water skiing, careless operation, overloading, overpowering and operation in restricted areas. It also bans regulation of boating by local communities and is based on the OBCC contention that regulation is a matter for the states.

However, the OBCC said, the state laws should be uniform across the country to prevent conflict and confusion. It hopes that the new legislation proposed also will influence forthcoming federal laws on boating.

Coach Says Holley Steady, Dependable

COMMERCIAL, Tex. (Special)—Probably one of the toughest jobs on a football team is playing behind an all-conference, all-star all-American.

Don Holley, No. 2 East Texas right end, fills in behind Norman Roberts, the team's most celebrated member. And he draws words of praise from the coach, too.

"He's steady and dependable," said J. V. Sikes, East Texas head football coach. "He's good on defense and in a good blocker. You can always depend on Holley to do well."

Holley a transfer from Kilgore junior college, caught three passes for 33 yards during the regular season. He names the tilt with Stephen F. Austin State College as the one in which he played best all season.

"I got a few more tackles in that game," he explained. "And how does he feel about playing in the Tangerine Bowl?"

"There's nothing like playing in a bowl game for excitement and thrills," the mild-mannered business administration major said. "And he should know. Holley played on the Kilgore team that beat Pearl River junior college in the Hospitality Bowl in 1956. He caught one touchdown pass in the 20-8 triumph—his only touchdown pass that year."

Like many of his teammates, Holley played a different position in high school than he does now. He was a halfback for Kilgore high school—a pretty good one. He was selected as second team all-district in his senior year.

"But I like playing end better," he said. "I can see what's going on." And "seeing" is one of his problems. He plays with regulation glasses all the time. They never seem to get broken, but he has a spare along just in case.

Even though the East Texas foe, Mississippi Southern, is a bigger team, Holley thinks the Texans' team spirit will play a big role in tonight's classic.

"The spirit is as high as I've seen on a college team," he said. "I am glad to be a part of the squad."

Besides playing football, Holley's other interests include duck hunting and fishing.

"I don't catch a lot of big fish, but I tell some big stories," he said with a grin.

Jim Mitchum Co-Starring With Father

By VERNON SCOTT
 United Press Hollywood Writer

HOLLYWOOD (UP)—The country may not be ready for another Mitchum, but ready or not Bob's 16-year-old son, Jim, co-stars with Papa in a new movie.

Slumped on a couch in his office, Bob said, "I don't intend to support Jim forever, so I put him to work. Now he can pay his own income tax."

Mitchum the elder has a quizzical, bemused approach to parenthood—a refreshing switch from the "how can I protect my boy from the limelight?" track employed by most stars.

Because Bob was a juvenile hood riding freight trains when he was 16, the broad-shouldered actor gets a kick from the normal trials and tribulations of his teenage sons. In addition to Jim, there is Chris, 14, and daughter Petrine, 5.

Reveal Own Scars

"I don't know if you could call me a strict disciplinarian," Mitchum says. "I've had no precedent because my dad died when I was only two."

"There is no handbook on how movie stars should raise kids. The only thing you can do is show them your own scars and try to teach them some values."

"But no 16-year-old kid has good judgment."

Young Jim plays Mitchum's kid brother in "Thunder Road," a D.R.M. production.

"When I asked Jim to take the role I told him what the hazards are in becoming an actor, and that he'd probably neglect his studies and other things," Bob added.

Mitchum's whimsy showed through when he was asked what subjects Jim majored in.

"He majors in ' goofing off ' at University High," he grinned.

A few minutes later Papa called Jim and was surprised to discover the boy is an above average math major in his senior year.

"I have no objections to Jim becoming an actor. He's had no formal training, so I raised hell with him on the set whenever he goofed or got self-conscious in front of the cameras. I was much rougher on him than on any actor I've ever worked with."

"He was paid a minimum salary of $250 a week. I'm a producer or first and a father second."

Orphan Boy Gets Belated Christmas Present Monday

NEW YORK (UP)—A 12-year-old Greek orphan boy now living in Miami got a belated Christmas present Monday in the form of a 10-year-old Greek orphan girl who will become his sister.

Nicholas Chenes Jr. of N. Bayshore Drive, Miami, kissed the brown-haired girl, Maria Zachari-as of Serris, Greece, and gave her a flaxen-haired doll when she arrived by plane from Athens.

Mrs. Nicholas K. Chenes, who has adopted both children, said "Nick wanted a sister. He said 'if I only had a little sister I could call Diane, I would be happy.'"

Chenes is a retired Troy, N. Y., restaurant owner who now lives in Florida.

The brown-haired boy said, "I'm going to become a civil engineer and Diane is going to be my secretary."

The girl speaks no English, but Nick said he would teach her.

Mrs. Chenes said Maria's name will be changed to Diane.

Nick arrived from Greece in 1951 and is now a seventh grade student at Miami Edison Junior High School. Diane will enroll in Moon-ingside School from which Nick graduated last June.

THE CARD OF THANKS

Very often a Card of Thanks in The Sanford Herald meets a need which is difficult to fill in any other way. Not only is it a gracious expression of gratitude to those who have sent floral tributes but also courteously acknowledges the services and kindnesses of the many to whom a personal note of thanks cannot well be mailed.

Newspaper Cards of Thanks are accepted as socially correct. Emily Post, the noted authority on etiquette, feels they serve many good uses.

There is no prescribed form for a Card of Thanks. It can be as brief or as detailed as you desire. When the occasion comes you will find a sympathetically understanding member of our staff to assist you.

THE "IN MEMORIAM" NOTICE

It is the custom of many families in this country to commemorate a bereavement by an "In Memoriam" notice in newspaper classified columns. They find a real solace therein. Preparation or selection of a suitable verse brings back to them tender, pleasant recollections. As Eliza Cook, the English poet has so beautifully expressed it:

"How cruelly sweet are the echoes that start
 What memory plays an old tune

Most frequently an In Memoriam is inserted on the anniversary of death. However, other dates, which it is felt are appropriate or meaningful are also selected. The birthday of the departed, the wedding anniversary, Memorial Day, even Christmas are among other significant occasions chosen.

If you are hesitant to express your tender thoughts in poetic form, you may avail yourself of the Herald's collection of original verses. These express in poetic beauty the emotions of the heart-strings. Among them are verses appropriate to any circumstance.

THE RATE

Cards of Thanks and In Memoriam notices, due to the fact they may run to considerable length, are billed at $1.00 per column inch.

Special Review Program Revealed

WASHINGTON (UP)—Army officials estimated that about 250 of 126 former officers and enlisted men discharged as security risks between 1948 and 1955 may soon be granted fully honorable military records.

That means that about 30 per cent of all former Army officers and enlisted men separated for security reasons since the government's loyalty program began may receive honorable discharge under a special review program.

The Army disclosed it had completed reconsideration of 630 security cases since the program began in March 1956, and 74 more remain to be decided.

Personnel officials emphasized that while the changes were designed to correct any unfair or harsh discharges, they did not signify a let-up in Army loyalty standards in the years since the end of congressional investigations.

They pointed out that the program was being administered under regulations issued by Army Secretary Wilbur M. Brucker in 1955. These require "common sense" judgments on the significance of previous subversive ties and consideration of the soldier's overall military record when discharged.

The 726 discharges did not concern security violations while in the Army. Most of the cases involved personal association with communist or other subversive organizations before Army induction. Many falsified their Army records to cover up such ties.

Paint Industry Sees Promising Year

By Arthur W. Stead, President The Sherwin-Williams Co. As in 1967, the paint industry should continue to expand and prosper in the year ahead. However, the increase in volume of sales will not come as easily; it will be the result of vigorous and consistent selling effort.

There is no doubt that our economy is pausing to catch its breath before again pushing ahead. We see signs of that in many areas of business endeavor. Indications are that this trend will continue, possibly through the first half of 1968, with the immediate prospect probably more favorable than one might be lead to believe by some of the headlines that describe it.

In the building field, for example, there is reason to believe that total expenditures may be higher in 1968 than in 1967. Although there may be some slackening of industrial construction, this should be more than offset by increases in residential building and public construction.

Housing will be spurred by the pent-up demand that was not satisfied during 1967. It will be further encouraged by the recent loosening of the "tight money" policy. The continuing demand for new schools shows no sign of dimming. In fact, it is increasing, as indicated by the great number of school building bond issues which voters approved at the last election in hundreds of communities throughout the country.

All new buildings require paint, of course. But even more significant to the paint industry is the need for repainting of homes and other buildings completed as recently as 1964. Many of the houses, farm buildings, schools, hospitals, churches and other buildings erected in the early years of this decade are now in need of repainting. Getting that job done in addition to supplying paint for structures of older vintage, should require the best efforts of the paint industry.

Coupled with the need for paint for protection against erosion and weather, there is another important factor. That is the growing tendency of people to consider paint a style item. Realizing that it takes only a very modest investment in paint to re-style a home, consumers now repaint more frequently than they did only a few years ago. As yet this trend appears to be confined largely to the interior of homes, but similar consideration of exteriors is also increasing. The problem for the paint industry is to encourage this trend in the face of all the other demands modern living makes on the individual consumer's income.

The familiar interior and exterior paints normally account for about 60 per cent of the paint industry's sales. The remaining 40 per cent is made up of sales of specialized finishing materials for industrial and transportation use. These include paint for automobiles, ships, railroad rolling stock, appliances, office and industrial equipment and a host of other products of industry. In addition, they include the maintenance paints necessary to keep our industrial plant in good condition.

As far as finishes for products are concerned, demand in 1968 will of course, depend directly on general manufacturing activity. There are encouraging signs that the levels reached in 1967 may be improved in 1968 in some types of industries. Hence, the sales opportunities for industrial products finishes should be quite favorable, with an increasing share of the business being won by those paint manufacturers whose effective research has brought forth dramatic new types of finishes.

In the industrial maintenance field, prospects are bright. New paint products that do a better job of protecting expensive installations have been introduced and industry generally has been quick to put them to use. With less new industrial construction indicated, it will become increasingly important for business to protect its present investments. There is no more economical or effective way to accomplish this than with paint.

At Sherwin-Williams we are confident that 1968 will be another record year, with sales surpassing those we enjoyed during our last fiscal year which ended August 31. We recognized that real effort will be needed - but such effort has always been required in the highly competitive paint industry.

REPRESENTATIVE TURKEY
PIERRE, R. D. - (UP) - A Thanksgiving turkey was costly to the Lutheran Memorial Church, $300. An eastern wild turkey crashed through a large, six-by-nine-foot window in the church. A construction company estimated replacement cost of the window at $200.

KEPT HIM AWAKE
WETHERFIELD, Conn. - (UP) - William H. Conroy was fined $5 for having a noisy muffler on his auto despite his excuse that "it keeps me awake while driving."

The U. S. Department of agriculture estimates farmers brought nearly 6000,000 wheel tractors during 1966. About three-fifths were used tractors.

Venezuela Forces March On Maracay To Crush Revolution

By JOSEPH TAYLOR
United Press Staff Correspondent
CARACAS, Venezuela (UP)—President Marcos Perez Jimenez announced today that Venezuelan forces were marching on Maracay today to crush a revolution by a military group that says it wants to bomb and seize the capital.

He expected a victory in a matter of hours. But there was no word yet of a major clash.

The revolt was led by air force units and army troops at the big military base in Maracay, 50 miles west of Caracas. Venezuelan sources in New York said the Navy had joined the uprising against what they called Perez Jimenez's dictatorship.

The U. S. Embassy reported all 30,000 Americans in the capital, mostly oil workers and their families, were safe. The city itself was at a standstill with residents fearful of new air raids.

The government admitted rebel plane attacks on the capital, but Perez Jimenez said the flights were "disorganized" and did no damage. He said one rebel aircraft buzzed the presidential palace but was shot down by anti-aircraft fire.

Authoritative sources in Washington said rebel jet and propeller planes strafed the capital Wednesday and one dropped a bomb but caused no casualties.

Caracas Radio broadcast uninterrupted classical music from 11 o'clock, a. s. t. Wednesday night. No telephone calls from New York were being accepted in Caracas. Cables were getting through from Caracas but the Venezuelan government censors outgoing cables.

Military police, security police and national guardsmen in battle dress guarded the presidential palace and the main public buildings in Caracas, capital of one of the richest oil-producing nations of the world.

Vehicle traffic in the city of 70,000 automobiles came almost to a standstill.

Residents stayed off the streets but maintained constant watches at windows and balconies for possible air raids.

State Department officials in Washington said the situation was "serious" but they declined to evaluate the full impact of it until they received further reports.

Perez Jimenez insisted the revolt was confined to only a few units at the big Maracay base along the Pan-American Highway.

At 9 o'clock Wednesday night he called on them to surrender or face annihilation.

Meanwhile, in Cairo the Afro-Asian "solidarity conference" ended Wednesday in a burst of anti-Western resolutions that condemned the Eisenhower Doctrine, NATO and the Baghdad Pact.

The delegates, mostly left wing groups, called on the West to accept the latest Soviet plea for an immediate end to nuclear tests and condemned the policies of the United States, Britain and France.

Egyptian newspapers bannerheaded the end of the conference and described the weeklong talks as "historic" and "epoch making" in developing the Afro-Asian bloc.

Egyptian workmen today were taking down the huge, five-language banners and signs that festooned Cairo during the conference. The delegates either were en route home or to Egypt's agricultural show place in Tahrir Liberation Province. Others were visiting the India's Anup Singh started work setting up a permanent solidarity committee with headquarters in Cairo to carry out the conference resolutions.

Arrangements for financing the new body were left vague in the final resolution establishing it but Egypt was expected to make the major contribution.

Western observers studied texts of the resolutions and hoped for detailed reports of what led up to them to get an inkling of what happens next.

Bicycle Stolen From 70-Year-Old Local Handyman

New Year's Day was a sort of disappointing one for George Swain, 70-year-old handyman, porter and janitor for a number of Sanford firms.

George, while working in the neighborhood of Commercial and Park Aves., left his bicycle in the rear of the Valdez Hotel.

When he returned the bicycle was gone. Someone, George reported, had apparently stolen the old bicycle on which he made his way to town each day from his home at 107 Locust Ave.

"It's going to be hard to identify the bicycle," George reported, "because it's so old and there was no number on it that I know of."

And, of course, as bicycles go, there are many just like the one that George used.

George Swain has lived here nearly all of his life and has served folks here and there to the best of his ability and certainly "court-cously and faithfully."

Many, many times, when tables were to be served at civic luncheons or special dinners and affairs, George Swain was "on the job" to see that everyone would be taken care of and served well.

Right now, George Swain has no way to get back and forth from his home to downtown Sanford—that is, unless his bicycle is returned—until he can get another to replace the old one.

Funny thing—New Year's Day brings many different observations. Some are good wishes for the coming year—others are parties and revelry to how the new year is to be. But for George Swain it is a sort of disappointment.

George is 70-years-old now and walking those 13 or 15 blocks to town isn't quite as easy as it used to be. That bicycle was a handy thing to have for transportation.

Courtesey Week in Sanford will give everyone an opportunity to take part in one of the biggest events ever staged here.

Merchants are going all out to make the event worthwhile for shoppers, too, by staging a Courtesey Week Clean-up Sale.

According to reports reaching The Sanford Herald, merchants are offering some of the biggest and finest bargains ever to be displayed on shelves and tables in the local stores. "It's really going to be big," one spokesman said.

Throughout the week merchants will offer Courtesey Week specials. Courtesey Week has been proclaimed by Gov. LeRoy Collins as a statewide event and has also been set aside as a special event for Sanford by Mayor David Gatchel. The Courtesey Week celebration will get underway Monday morning and will continue throughout the week.

Already, plans made by the Sanford-Seminole County Junior Chamber of Commerce, who will cooperate with the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce in staging Courtesey Week, here have been completed.

Appointed by M. L. Raborn, president of the local Jaycees, chairman of the local observance will be Howard McNulty.

Secret Committees have been appointed by McNulty to select the most courteous waitress, saleslady, salesman, policeman and most courteous act. Winners in each category will receive a $25 U. S. Savings Bond.

Other special events have been planned for the week and will be announced as the big week-long event gets underway.

Banners promoting the event will be distributed to merchants throughout the city. Also, paper strips will be attached to local automobiles and badges will be displayed by salespeople and others meeting the public.

Officials have said that "Courtesey Week" will be an annual event in Sanford and is expected to be one of the biggest celebrations of its kind to be staged here.

Officer's Condition Said 'Uncertain'

A 21-year-old Navy officer, struck down early yesterday morning as he walked along Sanford Ave. near 28th St., continued in an "uncertain condition" at Orange Memorial Hospital this morning.

Ensign Neil W. Herrmann of Heavy Attack Squadron Nine received a head injury, fractured leg, and fractured ribs when he either fell or stepped in front of an automobile traveling south shortly after 2:30 a. m. yesterday.

Hospital attaches at Orange Memorial said that no condition was available since the young officer was "still in a way this morning."

However, a spokesman for the officer's condition as "serious."

A doctor yesterday, immediately following surgery, said that Herrmann's condition was neither good nor bad, but that it could be listed as "fair."

Mrs. Cecil Ozier Dies In Illinois

Mrs. Cecil Ozier, 51, of Champagne, Ill., passed away suddenly last Saturday night.

Mrs. Ozier was well known in the Sanford area and had many friends and acquaintances here.

Funeral services for Mrs. Ozier were held Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock in Champagne, Ill.

Mrs. Ozier was a sister-in-law of Lowell Ozier, Sanford builder and developer.

Reduction Of Income Tax Rates Is Essential

Two members of the House Ways and Means Committee today declared that reduction of excessively high income tax rates is as essential to the bolstering of the presently sagging national economy as the strengthening of military defenses is in the prosecution of the missile race with Soviet Russia.

Sponsors of a bipartisan measure calling for complete reform of the individual and corporate income tax rate structure—Rep. Antoni N. Sadlak (R-Conn.) and Rep. A. S. Herlong, Jr. (D-Fla.)—emphasized their conviction that the "contest with Soviet Russia is basically one that will be determined by the relative capacity of the two nations to grow economically, rather than one in which the ultimate solution is arrived at by a temporary advantage in missile or space technology."

Pointing out that the present income tax system was developed largely during a series of emergency measures over the past 25 years, the legislators declared that "the income tax rate structure is clearly not in keeping with a free economy that must provide the revenue for continuing high-level defense outlays and at the same time assure continued economic growth without inflation. The income tax system must not be allowed to continue to discourage initiative, penalize ambition, and restrict capital formation; rather it must be completely reformed to strengthen the economic basis of our defense effort."

The Ways and Means Committee members said:

"At present the economy is in a recession coming after a period of inflation, caused in large part by our tax system which so severely limits the ability to save. As a result, business is apprehensive, production and income are declining, and government revenues are falling off. The revenue decline has resulted in the original estimates of a $1.3 billion surplus in the current fiscal year being discarded completely. Instead, it is expected that the surplus will be at best $200 million and the prospect of a budget deficit has not been ruled out."

"There are only two methods by which this situation can be reversed. The first of these, which we reject, is to provide new artificial props for the economy by manipulating the money and credit supply. It is exactly this that has brought us the almost continuous inflation of recent years, which in turn has brought us to the current recession.

"The other method is income tax reduction as soon as possible, designed principally to reform the rate structure, so that future growth of the economy will no longer be dependent upon continuing inflation. Our people will be encouraged by such action on the part of the Congress, the economy will be re-vitalized, income will rise, and government revenues will again resume their steady growth. Strange as it may seem, tax rate reform, in the light of the present recession, may be the only way we can insure an increase in tax revenues and eliminate the prospect of repeated federal deficits with their inflationary characteristics and consequent weakening of our defense effort."

"We are firm in our belief that not only can we afford to move ahead with reform of the tax structure, but actually we cannot afford not to do so if this Nation is to win the present race with the Soviet Union and, at the same time, assure healthy, non-inflationary growth of the economy to meet the needs of a rapidly growing population. The legislation we have introduced provides the Congress with an opportunity to begin

U. S. Is Urged To Become Full Member Of Pact

KARACHI, Pakistan (UP)—President Iskander Mirza today urged the United States to join the Baghdad Pact as a full member.

He also said he favored East-West summit talks—but only after extensive groundwork had been laid by the Western Big Four foreign ministers.

Interviewed by a group of visiting foreign newsmen, Mirza said U. S. membership in the Baghdad Pact would have "the greatest possible effect on the largest possible number of nations."

The United States now is a member only of the military and economic committees of the pact. The five full members are Pakistan, Iran, Iraq, Turkey and Great Britain.

Mirza, an impressive gray-haired figure radiating a powerful personality, received newsmen in the mansion, once a British government building.

"The Baghdad Pact should be strengthened," Mirza told the newsmen who are making a round-the-world flight with the Australian Qantas Airline. "The United States should come in as this would have the greatest possible effect on the largest possible number of nations."

"The pact is not aimed at the Arab League but supports it. Every Baghdad Pact member that I know of wants Arab unity."

Asked about the possibility of a summit meeting Mirza replied: "I favor one, but would prefer some spadework by the foreign ministers first. There perhaps something tangible could be achieved instead of a mere succession of receptions and banquets and so forth."

Mirza said the two main issues still keeping Pakistan-India relations at a peak of tension are those of Kashmir and the sharing of river waters which India repeatedly has threatened to cut off from Pakistan.

Traffic Death Toll Reaches 156 Mark

The nation's motorists opened the new year with a "distressing" traffic death toll, and safety experts said their estimates of the holiday highway slaughter probably would be "far exceeded."

The National Safety Council had estimated that 130 persons would be killed in traffic during the 30-hour mid-week New Year's holiday period.

At 10 p. m. e. s. t., today the United Press traffic death count had reached the 156 mark for the period from 6 p. m. New Year's Eve through 6 a. m. Wednesday. Fires caused 16 deaths, 1 person was killed in a plane crash and 14 died in other mishaps for a total of 191.

New York had the highest reported traffic toll with 24 killed. California reported 14 on the highways, New Jersey 13, Texas 9, Virginia 8 each and Illinois 7.

Ned H. Dearborn, council president, said all signs point to another tragic holiday on the highways. Only last week, at least 223 traffic fatalities marred the Christmas holiday, a figure well in excess of the 180 highway deaths estimated by the council.

"It's sad," Dearborn said, "but judging by past experiences the really heavy death reports will probably start coming in fast during the morning hours today."

Dearborn anticipated a heavy traffic count New Year's night because "that's when the American motorist is on his way back from visiting relatives or friends at holiday gatherings."

The final count will not be known until all reports are in later today, but Dearborn said figures so far show the toll is running at a rate 25 per cent greater than last year.

He said the holiday toll could double the "average" of 80 traffic deaths for a similar non-holiday period in early winter.

A New Year's Eve snowstorm that dumped 3 to 18 inches of snow across the nation's Midlands was blamed in part for the high traffic death rate.

Comedian Skelton Faces Indefinite Stay In Hospital

SANIT MONICA, Calif. (UP)—Comedian Red Skelton today faced an "indefinite" stay in St. John's Hospital where he was hospitalized after an acute "cardiac-asthmatic" attack which nearly cost him his life.

Dr. Garth K. Graham, the comic's physician, said Skelton was "progressing very satisfactorily" but that it still was too early to tell how long he must stay in the hospital.

"He still is a sick man," the doctor said.

Skelton was stricken Monday night at his Bel-Air home and rushed unconscious to the hospital where he was reported to have been near death.

The 43-year-old comedian rallied to greet the new year with a midnight phone call to his wife, Georgia, who had gone home to be with the couple's children.

"Sick as he is, he talked his doctor into letting him call me at midnight," Mrs. Skelton said.

Hospital attendants said earlier that Skelton was able to "joke a little."

Statement Shows Highest Assets In Firm's History

The year-end statement of First Federal Savings and Loan Assn. shows assets of $7,214,429.41, highest in the 23 year history of the organization and nine percent above the similar figure for December, 1956, thus continuing the firm's forward surge of recent years.

In spite of "the tightest money conditions in the past decade," the savings placed with First Federal exceeded $2,380,000 and inched ahead of the 1956 record. However, in the face of the "less rosy outlook, especially toward the end of the year, savers found it necessary to withdraw, or the purpose for which funds had been saved arrived and the net inflow was under last year's figure by 23 percent, according to Howard Faville, president.

The association executive added that there had been a strong de-

Family Held Captive By Teenagers

EDITOR'S NOTE: Florida yeoman Rich. rd. Rias tells in this dispatch the night of terror he and his wife and four children spent as captives of four teen-age pirates who took over their 40-foot boat.

By RICHARD RIAS
35 1/2 to UNITED PRESS
ISTAMORADA, Fla. (UP)—My family and I were in our boat—the "Siesta"—Tuesday night at Craig Key. We had planned a quiet New Year's Eve and had just gone to bed.

Suddenly these two boys burst into our cabin and said, "Don't move, don't make a sound. You keep quiet and we'll let you know what we're gonna do."

They held a rifle on us, and we couldn't do anything but what they said.

They woke up the children and told them the same thing. They were all very polite about it.

One of the boys kept the gun on us while the other two went out and started loading their equipment and food on the boat.

They said they wanted to take our boat and use it for about two or three weeks. They first talked of going to Cuba, then changed their minds and said they wanted to go to Mexico. Later they said St. Petersburg.

I finally persuaded them I couldn't navigate at night, and so we left Craig Key early New Year's morning. They said it would be all right for us to go to Islamorada for gas, but when we got there we had to wait an hour because the power was off.

My wife and the children deserve all the credit for getting us out of this safely. My wife slipped a note to my oldest son, David—he's 14—and he walked along the dock and slipped the note to a fisherman.

About that time I saw Wally

Kinney from Winter Haven, a friend of mine, and pretended I didn't know him. So he put two and two together and called the Coast Guard and Sheriff. It turned out he and the fisherman reported what was happening about the same time.

We pushed off from Islamorada, but a few minutes later the sheriff (John W. Spittawood) came out in a speedboat and really took charge. I was afraid the boys might try to shoot it out and somebody would get hurt, but they threw the rifle overboard just before the boat reached us.

One thing I'll have to say about those boys—they were very polite all the way through. They didn't use any bad language and didn't do any of us any harm.

But my wife was pretty shaken up when we finally brought the boat back in and she cried a lot. "I have owned and sailed boats for 30 years, but nothing like this ever happened before."
