Baron Recounts Experi-

Green Reviews Plan
For Arrot-Sharing

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—(AP)—He who investigated the so-called testimony today that Communists were holding Americans in jail in Loyalist Spain said Baron George Green, testifying before the Dies Committee, investigating国民党在湖南的监狱，and the only way to get them out was through public pressure.

Baron himself had been arrested and held in a dungeon in Spain. He said Communists, after extending aid to the belligerent, had set up a reign of terror to keep out the opportunity to Communism.

Chairman Dies (D. L.) of the AFL said today the Communists would need to have legislation to ban additional funds.

William Green told a Senate Committee today that labor can not except industrial profit-making unless it goes hand in hand with collective bargaining.

Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, and this organization was "singularly opposed" to using the tax power of the government to promote profit-sharing plans.

He added the AFL was opposed to amending the Social Security Act to give tax credit for funds allocated to profit sharing.

McCall's Appeal To Be Heard On Dec. 13

TALLAHASSEE, Nov. 23.—(AP)—Franklin Pierce Metcalf's appeal from his death sentence for the notorious kidnapping of James Bailey Cash Jr. will be heard by the Florida Supreme Court on Dec. 13. The court set the hearing date after receiving from Attorney General George Cooper Green a declaration that there were "no circumstances" that entitled Metcalf to a new trial for the crime he admitted in open court.

Metcalf's counsel has not filed a reply to the State's brief, but court officials said the Dec. 13 hearing date allowed sufficient time for a reply.

While lifeboats went to the aid of small craft, the liner Queen Mary which left for New York Nov. 18 was unable to land 230 passengers and 1,500 bags of mail at Plymouth and was forced to proceed to Southampton.

The gale caused postponement of the battleship Royal Oak's departure from Portsmouth for Norway to carry home the body of Queen Maud.

BIBLE VERSE FOR TODAY

THE TIME IS SHORTER THAN YOU THINK: I must work the works of him that sent me, while it is day; the night cometh, when no man can work. John 9:4

The Ossola Star predicts a revolution in Germany. That would be almost too good to be true.

Secretary Hull says in the Japanese reply to his points of unsatisfactory. And the Japanese may want to know what we are going to do about it, as well they?

Frank Gannett, New York publisher, predicts Roosevelt's defeat if he runs for a third term. We don't think there is any likelihood of his seeking a third term.

Government leaders are now said to be planning some sort of profit-sharing legislation. The trouble seems to be that you have to have the profit before you can share it.

Commenting upon the prospects of his candidacy for president in 1940 during a brief stop in Orlando the other day, Mayor LaGuardia said he had a rather tough plane trip down. At least he didn't say it.

The German government, that Hitler's "Mein Kampf" has sold more than 400,000 copies—surpassing all books but the Bible. Miami Post. Which just shows how close is the struggle between good and evil.

Mistress—"You say your baby's name is Opium? What an odd name. You know opium is a product of the wild poppy, don't you?"

Mandy—"Yassum, an' a day evan wuz a chile had a wild poppy, she's got one." —Capra Weekly.

Don't be too critical of Col. Lindbergh's seeking a home for the winter in Berlin. He may pick up a good deal of aeromarine information which would prove invaluable to the United States in the event of war. We for one are set ready to call Col. Lindbergh a traitor.

Florida benefits from the new trade pact with Great Britain and Canada. To what extent do these benefits offset the losses caused by the Cuban treaty? We can arrive at the net gains of these parts only by considering them together, not separately—Ossola Star.

Cost of State government in Florida has jumped from $8 million to $9 million in one year during an administration pledged to economy. Wonder what would have happened if men who believed in spending had been elected to office, and what will happen if this government extravagance continues?

The RWA has announced that it has run out of money; at least it is down to its last $25,000,000, and for a moment agitated in this day and time that's scrapping the bottom. So there will be no hospital for Seminole County until Congress acts and makes another appropriation. Then Seminole County should be at the top of the list.

When WPA workers in Washington started to cut down some trees in order to build a memorial to Thomas Jefferson, state did wonder of the capital city promptly staged a riot, threatened to chain themselves to the trees in order to save them. The result was a decision that while some of the trees would have to be cut down to make place for the memorial a thousand new trees would be planted, or a net gain of 918 trees.

Your Blessings

People in the United States have much to be thankful for this year as another season of Thanksgiving rolls around. Looking around to other countries in the world where the ravages of war, civil strife, persecution, inhumanity, oppression, and hatred predominate, every other character of human existence, we in this country can indeed thank Heaven that so far at least we have escaped most of this grief.

We can be thankful that no tobacco military power has invaded our shores as China has been invaded and burnt to the ground during the past year or more, by fire and water with the resulting destruction of billions of dollars worth of property, the loss of thousands of innocent lives, the humiliation, degradation, and pollution of millions of humble toilers driven people who have been forced to flee from their burned or bomb-shattered homes to new and insecure refuges.

We can be thankful though the parks of evil strife has been fanned in this country and resulted in some down-riots, some racing, some shooting, the common voice of our citizenry has prevailed and the danger seems to have passed when the so-called "have" and have-nots can be aligned against each other in a blood and brush struggle such as is now shaking the civilization of Spain to its very foundations.

We can be thankful that our forefathers saw fit to establish our Constitution guaranteeing every individual freedom of religious worship and that the traditions of our people protect everyone from such persecution as intolerance, bigotry, and hatred are now breeding in Germany. We can be thankful for this who we belong to some minority group which might be persecuted, or to the majority which might feel on such intolerance, bigotry, and on us.

And we can be thankful that though we have come through a long period of hard times which have seen crops wasting in the fields for want of a market to open which have seen millions of men unemployed, and in many places breaking to the vanishing point, no one in this country has starved, been homeless, or deprived of the necessities of life, as they have in many other nations of the world.

As Thanksgiving Day arrives tomorrow, we believe in and everyone of us have much for which to be thankful, even as our Pilgrim forefathers did after a most difficult summer long ago. If you will count your blessings as they did theirs, you will find that you too, however hard your lot may be, may well thank Heaven that you live in a land of freedom, equality and peace.

Mrs. Roosevelt's New Wardrobe

I take all kinds of news to make a new paper. What may be of greatest interest to one is of very little interest to another. And as all kinds of people, from all classes of society read newspapers, all kinds of news may be printed.

So that, we believe, of particular interest to the ladies, to read that Mrs. Roosevelt has at last completed the selection of her winter wardrobe. This may not be of any concern to the farmer, worrying about the ham market, or to the busy business man, trying to meet his last week's payroll, but to the ladies, this is news of the first importance.

Red and violet hues, we read, predominate in the collection of eight new gowns which the President's wife has ordered for the White House season. She has no new gown of the famous Elsie's blue, a pale gray-blue, but she has one street dress of teal blue. This is a crepe made with draped blouse and square neck filled in with seventeen strands of pearl beads and with pearl buckles on the shoulders.

The evening gowns include a dinner gown of Baguette velvet of Lanvin red, with square neck and jeweled straps; a formal costume of Persian coral, a new shade resembling ashes of roses, made with a low-cut bodice and a wide scarf crossing from shoulder to shoulder in front and falling to the floor from each shoulder at the back, with which is worn two large corsages of violets on the left shoulder; an evening ensemble of plain black crepe worn with a gold lame "windbreaker" jacket; another black evening dress of shirtwaist type, with gold filigree on pocket and belt, and a long pleated skirt; and a formal gown in three colors, shading iron pink to rose and tawny, the bodice and hips covered with bead embroidery in the same colors.

For afternoon, beside the teal blue dress, Mrs. Roosevelt selected a black street frock with neck and cuff trim in Persian striped lame, and a wine-colored street ensemble consisting of a three-quarter-length wool coat trimmed with saddle-dyed skunk Tuxedo revers, a wool skirt and satin blouse of the same shade. With this she will wear a wine-colored felt beret. Mrs. Roosevelt had the final fittings for these gowns at Arnold Constable's, Fifth Avenue, New York Street, where they had been selected for her by Miss Lucille Mahoney, and provisionally approved on an earlier visit to the shop.

To the merchants of Washington it should be of interest that Mrs. Roosevelt is shopping out of town.

NATURE'S WAYS
Edited by C. R. Mason, President, Florida Audubon Society

Can You Identify The Ducks? A local hunter said to me this week: "How am I going to tell one duck from another when I see them in a flock or on the water?" It is difficult for me to recognize many of them even after I have them in my hand." This problem of duck identification is made more acute by certain provisions of our game laws which limit the number of the scarce species that may be taken in a day's shooting. In a day's bag you may have more than three of any one or three in the aggregate of Canvashack, Redhead, Bufflehead and Ruddy Duck species.

Although none of the above ducks are found in great numbers here in Seminole County, all of them occur here, and at times are found in small flocks, so it becomes the hunter's task to learn to recognize ducks in order to keep the limits in numbers to be taken as given above.

Canvashack And Redhead Similar
The Canvashack male is a white duck with reddish head and neck and black breast while the female is grayish with a suggestion of the reddish of the Scapulae.

THANKSGIVING SERVICES*When The Frost Is On The Punkin

By JAMES WHITCOMB RILEY

From biographical sketch on life of James Whitcomb Riley published by Putnam Publishing Company. The poem is here given in its original form. When the frost is on the punkin and the fodder's in the shock,

And you hear the kyonk and goode of the struttin' turkey

And the chokin' of the guineys, and the chickin' of the hens.

And the cooter's half-holiday as he tipsies on the fence,

It's the time the feller is weelin' at his best,

With the sun's on to greet him from a night of peaceful rest.

A few leaves the house, bareheaded, and goes out to feed the stock.

When the frost is on the punkin and the fodder's in the shock

They're somethin' kinda party like about the atmosphere.

When the heat's onn' over and the coolin' fall is here—

Of course we sees the flowers, and the blossoms on the trees,

And the minnows of the hummin-birds and buzzards of the bees.

But the air's so appetin' and the landscape through the house

On a crisp and sunny morning of the early autumn days

is a picture that no painter has the colorin' to mock—

Or it sets my hart a-chokin' like the ticklin' of a clock.

When the frost is on the punkin and the fodder's in the shock

The hush, myst'ry, rustle of the tassels of the corn,

And the rippin' of the tangled leaves, as golden as the morn;

And a stuble in the furries—kinda lonesome-like, but still

A preachin' sermons to us of the barns they grew to fill;

The strawstack in the meder, and the raper in the shed;

The horses in their stalls hollow—the clover overhead!

O, it sets my hart a-chokin' like the ticklin' of a clock,

When the frost is on the punkin and the fodder's in the shock.

Then your apples is all gathered, and the ones a fellas keeps

Is pured around the cellar floor in red and yellow heap;

And your elder-makin's over, and your summern-folks is through.

With their mince and apple butter, theyr sauce and sausage too!

I don't know how to tell it—but of such a thing could be

As the Angels wantin' boundin', and they'll call around on me—

I'd want to 'commode em—all the whole-indurin flock—

When the frost is on the punkin and the fodder's in the shock.

"TOO LATE TO CLASSIFY"

By RUSSELL KAY

While the Florida Gators have won a more or less sluggish performance this season, allowing themselves to be kicked and cuffed around with only an occasional snarl of their jaws, Florida is not without football hopes, for her practically unknown and unsung "Rattlers" have been gliding throughout the south, winning with "deadly" results at every foe, to secure for the second consecutive year the coveted title of Southern Conference Champions.

Among the south's institutions of higher learning, Florida Agricultural and Mechanical College for negroes at Tallahassee ranks high, and every Floridian may point with pride to the record established in advancing the welfare of our negroes and the service it has rendered in publishing and promoting our state.

Handicapped by lack of funds, leading "Big Bill" Bell, former Florida one-star modest and unassuming, despite his amazing coaching ability, has taken the raw material at hand and given Florida A & M College a football team that for two years stands UNBEATEN.

While Floridians for the most part have given little thought to their colored brethren, we should not overlook the fact that this team, too, is "Florida's" and while it may be little known at home, it is known and respected throughout the south.

So far this season Florida A & M has played in a total score of 160 points to their opponents' 160. Among them brilliant victory was the defeat of North Carolina State 11 to 0 and Tuskegee 40 to 0.

The Florida Orange Blossom Quartet, all students of the Northern stat and Canada, coming to central Florida only during the winter months. They usually give a late October or early November concert, and are singing throughout the state. The band of football these southern colored lad have been turning out is so good that "white folk" have been flocking to their games this year throughout the south.

At Southeastern Conference Champions, the Florida A & M Rattlers have invited the Florida Panthers to a contest with such artists as Major Bowes, Ed Wynne, Ray Perkins, Spangler and Bodie, Ray Palmer, Southwest Champion in the Ruffner and Graham McNamee.
