

Committee Named By Poultrymen To Map Policy

Group Is Headed By Corrigan, big producer of Bradenton

JACKSONVILLE, June 7.—A committee was appointed at a meeting of Florida poultrymen

at Orlando last week to prepare a program for presentation to Washington officials and to cooperate by investigating the possibilities of improving local conditions.

This committee is headed by F. H. Corrigan of Bradenton, one of the largest poultry producers in Florida, and other members of the committee appear to realize fully the need for a complete program of them to survive the restrictions imposed by the war.

Conditions at specific markets he described as follows: "The Fort Pierce State Farmers' Market closed last week-end after a very successful season. The market continued operations after produce houses had closed in order to give the growers in that section an outlet for the good produce they still had ready to sell."

President Warns Axis Against Use Of Poisonous Gas When Invasion Commences

WASHINGTON, June 9. (AP)—The Army Chemical Warfare Service today warned the nation that effective protective devices have been developed in case Allied soldiers have to face poison gas in invading Europe. President Roosevelt spoke again of the possibility of the Axis resorting to a promised retaliation if they did.

The U.S. Army itself has developed a stand-by production of poison gas, and Maj. Gen. William N. Porter, chief of the Chemical Warfare Service, said if the enemy starts using war gases, "We have plenty to give back and they'll probably get more than they give out."

Waxes, salves and treated clothing are on hand to protect the Allies.

(By Associated Press) By sea and air the Allies bludgeoned Italy's Mediterranean citadels of Pantelleria, Sardinia and Sicily and stepped up the assault of Axis-occupied Greece.

Italian headquarters announced that the garrison at Pantelleria had refused to surrender on an invitation contained in leaflets dropped from the air. Since May 9 the island has been attacked 140 times.

Other war developments today included President Roosevelt's third warning to the Axis against the use of poison gas, Russia's repulse of German attacks in two sectors, the bombing of four enemy bases by United States planes in the southwest Pacific and a warning to the Japanese by a Tokyo parliament speaker to prepare for a long war.

LONDON, June 9. (AP)— Winston Churchill, as though raising at last the bright signal that will send the invading Allied armies plunging forward, quietly told the world yesterday that amphibious attacks are "a peculiar complexity" (Continued on Page Two)

Professor King Is Main Speaker At School Exercises

Telling the children that the world will need them when the war is won, Professor Olin D. King of Seminole High School addressed the members of the eighth grade at Sanford Junior High School's promotion exercises Monday morning at 10:00 o'clock.

H. E. Morris, principal of the school, awarded Bill Ludwig a prize as winner of the essay contest and Mrs. A. E. Kay, D.A.R. historian, presented a medal to DeLoris Lee for the highest average in history of the junior high students.

The school orchestra played the professional and the recreational and the eighth grade sang the class song, "Play the Game." Clerk and Joyce Goodspeed played a piano trio to complete the musical part of the program.

The Rev. D. E. Brownie pronounced the invocation and T. W. Lawton, county school superintendent, introduced Mr. King. Mr. Morris presented the diplomas.

Prof. King urged the members of the school to take advantage of what the teachers and text books had to offer them during the course of the high school years and pointed out it is not a trait of selfishness to reach out and grasp learning.

Rev. Tolle Talks To Senior Class Of Seminole High

Seven Class Members Already In Service; Two At Exercises

Although times have changed and the world pattern has become different, Rev. Tolle was facing an uncertain future as we were 20 years ago," the Rev. Joe A. Tolle told the Seminole High School graduating class of 1943 Monday evening as he recalled the day he sat on a platform with cap and gown eagerly awaiting his degree.

Declaring that many a great city of ancient times has fallen, leaving a desert waste behind because the enemy cut down the "fruit" trees on which the city depended, Rev. Tolle warned the graduates to be careful not to cut down the "fruit" trees today which might support their hope of progress on the morrow. These trees are: first, health; second, education and third, morals.

Beardall Is President Of River Group

Association Formed To Work For Development Of Central Florida Waterways

Mayor William Beardall of Orlando was elected president of a new organization designed for the development of the St. Johns River and Central Florida inland waterways at a luncheon today at the Mayfair attended by several scores of civic leaders from every community in Central Florida and as far away as Jacksonville. Mayor Ed Higgins of Sanford was named secretary and George Ware, banker of Leesburg, treasurer. Ellis Davis of Kissimmee will serve as vice president.

The purpose of the organization was explained by Mayor Beardall who presided over the meeting. It is to make numerous surveys in order to develop a program to select one unified program upon which all can agree and to work toward its fruition.

"Orlando has no selfish motive," Mayor Beardall said, "Orlando is interested only in developing the surrounding country for if you buy as prosperous, we're bound to prosper. Orlando will assist in every way possible if all others can agree upon a program."

Mayor Higgins made the address of welcome and Hon. Frank Foley pronounced the invocation. Mayor Beardall called upon all Sanford persons present, as well as guests and visitors, to introduce themselves. He also called upon a representative from every community present to express himself upon the proposed program.

W. A. Leffler, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, said that Sanford is primarily interested in the development of the St. Johns River, but he suggested that each community should present its own project and then all work together for the betterment of all.

W. G. Johnson, manager of the Jacksonville Chamber of Commerce, said that better water transportation means better freight rates and added that the present use of the St. Johns, small as it is, is keeping freight rates from being much higher than they are.

When Robert, editor of the Orlando Sentinel, expressed his gratification at seeing so many men of liberal minds present, Beardall said, "What we have in mind is to get together and to do something in our own right before we ask help from anyone else. I believe we are just on the threshold of doing something."

Others who spoke included Fred Ward of Winter Park who offered the co-operation of the State Road Department; H. M. McNelly, who said that the cross-state canal was lost because of diversified interests and the split between north and south Florida; and Charles L. Heath of Deland who declared what "we can accomplish more as an association than as individuals."

Out-of-town representatives included Fred Ward, Winter Park; Fred Hanna, Rollins College; Warren Roberts, Editor, Orlando Morning Sentinel; Martin Anderson, Publisher, Orlando News; J. C. L. Smith, Mayor of Altamonte Springs; J. Earl Myers, Eustis; R. T. Schneider, president, Orlando Chamber of Commerce; A. J. Slaughter, secretary Orlando Chamber of Commerce; W. Johnson, manager Jacksonville Chamber of Commerce; Daniel D. Dale, chairman of Industrial Committee of Jacksonville Chamber (Continued on Page Two)

Herman Morris Is Named Head Of High School

Herman E. Morris was today named as principal of Seminole High School, succeeding G. E. McKay, retired, and Earl Kipp was named principal of both Junior High School and Sanford Grammar School by the Seminole County Board of Public Instruction which met this morning at the County House, these appointments followed the recommendations of the Sanford Board of Trustees which met yesterday.

These promotions, Supt. Lawton said, were made largely on a basis of seniority in naming Mr. Kipp as principal of both the Junior High School and Sanford Grammar School, which latter position he now occupies. Mr. Lawton stated that it was felt both schools should be more closely coordinated under one head.

The bid of F.M. English for re-roofing the Lake Monroe School was accepted by the Board.

A report of the school financial statement by W.R. England, assistant state auditor, was received. According to Mr. England's report, the affairs of the Seminole County Board of Public Instruction have been efficiently and economically managed, and the finances as to current funds are in sound condition. Budgets are well prepared, and records are stated to be in good condition for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1942.

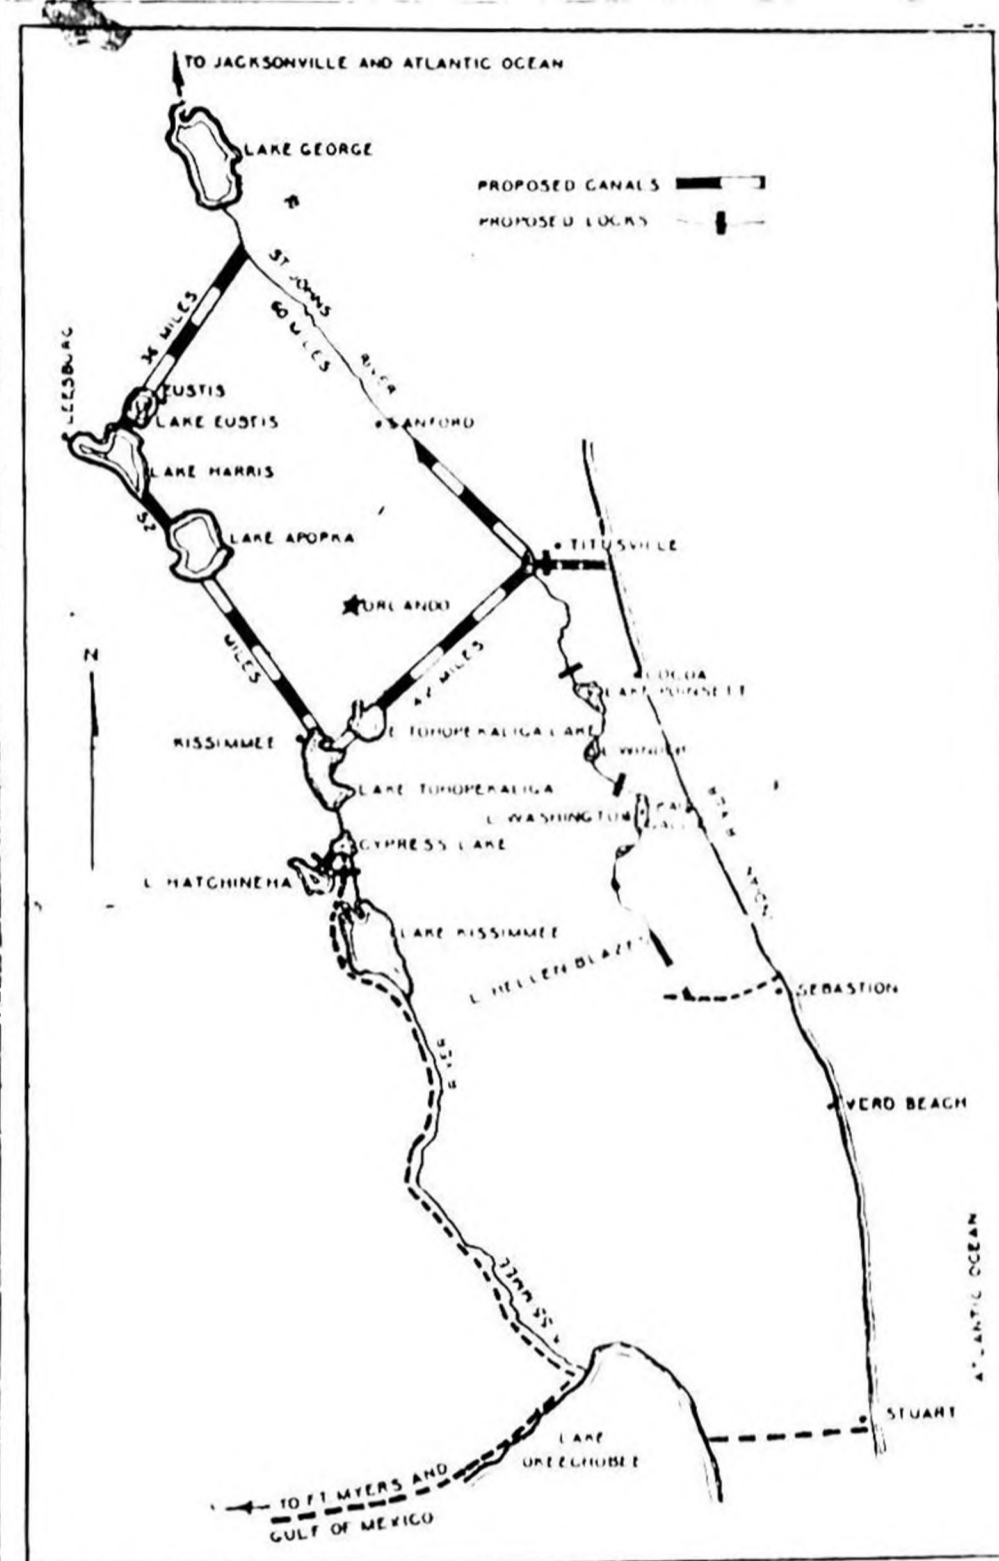

Major Campbell Now Lieutenant Colonel

W.G. Campbell, a member of the U.S. Army Air Corps Administration and son of Mr. and Mrs. P.F. Campbell, has been promoted from a major to a lieutenant colonel.

Lieut. Col. Campbell is with the air force in England where, he writes, every town and site interesting from a historical point of view is disclosed that soon he will be able to take a trip to Scotland.

In the Army 12 years, Lieut. Col. Campbell was for a number of years a district inspector for Civilian Conservation Corps camps and since 1940 when he went into the air force he has been stationed at Fort Ord, Calif., Tampa and attended war colleges in Washington, D.C. and Fort Belvoir, Ill. He was promoted to lieutenant colonel and transferred to England.

Proposed Waterway System

THIS MAP IS NOT supposed to be final in any way definitive of the proposed waterway project for Central Florida. In a general way only it is suggestive of how the final plan might evolve. The final plan will come only after the report of army or other competent engineers. But the connection between the two river systems is practicable, as the map shows.

Salvation Army Leader Crossed Paths With Frank Evans In Youth

While Col. C.J. Hickey, veteran Salvation Army man was speaking at the luncheon at Hotel Mayfair, Monday, your reporter noted an astonishing likeness between him and Frank Evans, seated at the table but a short distance from him.

"What is more, we noted the similar way Col. Hickey had of speaking, direct and forceful but with that twinkle of the eye, and constant bubbling up of vital good humor that characterizes Mr. Evans."

We got to speculating what the two of them would say if they met after the meeting. Both are short, a bit stout, and vigorous, while hair parted the same way.

After the meeting, the two met in the hall, immediately an almost incredible conversation occurred. During his luncheon talk, Col. Hickey had referred to his boyhood days in the west and of Boston, and Mr. Evans who had gone north to Boston at the age of 20, began reciting names of families and streets.

Both diverged from their earlier reminiscence to their childhood, which Evans to become a successful manufacturer of chemicals, and Hickey to become an outstanding leader of the Salvation Army.

Legion Scrap Drive Nears Record Total

Members of the champion scrap gathering post of the United States, Campbell Lassing Post of the American Legion, are nearing their goal of 1,600,000 pounds of scrap collected, according to Bill Thorne, post commander.

"The strain and heat of summer is telling on the boys," said Comdr. Thorne, "and we would greatly appreciate the co-operation of the public in bringing scrap to the Legion scrap pile on West First Street next to the Kilgus Beed Company. Paper especially is needed at the present time."

Last Sunday, the post members brought in 9,930 pounds of metal. Thorne said, and added that if the public would help swell the scrap total, "the boys could get a vacation from their toil."

Axis Present Condition Compared To U. S. After Attack On Pearl Harbor

ANNAPOLIS, June 9. (AP)—Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox declared today that "in effect" information to the United States says the leading in Tokyo and Berlin is akin to ours after Pearl Harbor. The choice, place and time for striking is now ours.

Addressing 600 Naval Academy midshipmen, Secretary Knox asserted there is a lot of talk about a second front, "but, there are eight fronts and one is the land battle to the importance of an open sea and the United States would not consent to pass up anything of naval strength."

WASHINGTON, June 9. (AP)—For the second time in three days, Japan's South Pacific airforce suffered a severe defeat at the hands of American airmen Monday. The Navy reported yesterday.

In a battle giving fresh evidence of qualitative superiority of American planes and pilots, the enemy lost 19 Zero fighters out of a flight of 40 to 50 fighters and bombers apparently attempting to raid United States positions in the Russell Group of the Solomon Islands. In addition 5 Zeros were damaged. Seven of our planes were lost but three pilots were saved.

A Naval communication announced the latest South Pacific air victory shortly after Secretary Knox disclosed at a press conference that Adm. Ernest J. King, naval chief here conferred with Adm. Chester W. Nimitz, Pacific fleet commander, on plans for the prosecution of the war in the Pacific theater.

It was assumed that King had secured approval of an overall results of the recent conferences between President Roosevelt, Gen. Douglas MacArthur and Gen.issimo, and naval admirals.

King and Nimitz last week at about the same time they had George G. Meade, Army chief of staff, and Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, the American commander in the Mediterranean area, in North Africa.

He then went on to explain how similar were conditions of child delinquency during that war and at present, and added, "I don't think youth has changed much." He reminded his listeners of the problems youth faced during the depression of ten years ago, and how many of them ran away from home, to relieve the family of having to feed them.

Col. Hickey stated that he believed the Salvation Army and churches had a very decided contribution to make in combatting delinquency among youth, but he warned that it was not necessary to turn churches into dance halls in order to do this. Col. Hickey was introduced by Fred R. Wilson.

Col. Hickey and Col. and Mrs. William B. Bowers of Sebring and

Adj. G. Swyers of Jacksonville, and Capt. and Mrs. George Woods were welcomed as members of the Salvation Army by Major Edward Higgins.

And again the prime minister emphasized the brotherly association of the two great English-speaking powers in this greatest test of history and, momentarily ranging beyond the struggles of the day, he declared that when the victory came the English-speaking democracies "shall be stronger than ever before, in force, and I trust in faith." And he added:

"There can be no doubt that whatever world organization is brought into being after this war that organization must be richer and stronger if it is founded on the fraternal relations and the deep understanding prevailing and now growing between the British commonwealth of nations and the United States."

You, TOO, HAVE A PLACE IN THE ASSEMBLY LINE!

Munitions plants are loading shells—high-explosive shells that will hit the Axis and hurt! Long distance telephone service has a vital part in the efficient, smooth running of this and other war industries. Tens of thousands of urgent long distance calls are made daily to get materials, discuss government orders and shipments.

Existing telephone equipment must handle war production and important civilian calls, too, and facilities cannot be expanded to meet the increasing demand for service because telephone materials, also, are going to war.

You can help relieve the load of long distance calls by making only the most essential calls, and by especially avoiding calls to busy war centers. When it is necessary for you to make a long distance call, won't you please do all you can to make your call as brief as possible so as to release the circuits for other important calls? Thank you.

PLEASE BE BRIEF. Material needed to build our telephone lines are not going to waste. To receive the greatest number of people with the equipment we have, we must be sure that our calls will be brief on all calls.

News Restrictions Seen As Setting Bad Precedent

(First of two articles on wartime news restrictions.)

By Jack STINNETT

Washington, June 8.—(AP)—The new news restrictions have had three important effects on the visits of such foreign personages as Prime Minister Winston Churchill.

(1) On the surface, they have cut complications for the news men and visiting bigwigs to the irreducible minimum.

(2) They have amplified the job of the Secret Service, which is charged with guarding these visitors, in spite of the fact that it was the increased Secret Service responsibilities a thousand fold.

(3) They are establishing a dangerous precedent against complete freedom of the press, recently manifested in Bermuda and the world food conference at White Sulphur Springs, W. Va.

The latest visit of Churchill to this country doesn't quite cover all the points, it does illustrate the lengths to which news restrictions have gone.

Newsmen here, several of whom wanted that Churchill was on his way.

$90,000 In War Bonds Sold In Lake County

With three banks and eight post offices unreported at noon, Saturday, June 8, Lake County has again gone over the top in purchases of War Savings Bonds. With a quota of $74,400, and on E bonds at cost price counting, reports already received by the Lake County Chamber of Commerce show over $90,000 worth of these bonds sold by banks and post offices.

Groveland and Montverde are outstanding communities as far as both towns having more than doubled their quota. Groveland post office reporting $8,900 on a quota of $3,000, and Montverde reporting $266.25 on a quota of $100.

The First Federal Saving & Loan Association of Eustis sold more than a third of Eustis' quota and Umatilla State Bank over sold Umatilla's quota by more than $1,000.

In addition to the sale of E bonds, reports of sales show sales of over $5,000 in stamps and $20,000 in F and G bonds, with the indication that holders of unexpired stamp books are being encouraged to sell these books and exchange them for E bonds.

The June quota is higher than for May, but with local chairman, Barnes and postmaster continuing their fine work Lake County will surely meet it as usual, and have some to spare.

Farmers Wind Up Busy Six-Months Period Resolved To Continue Effort

ANGEL'S EAT SHACK

Henceforth will be closed all day on Mondays due to the shortage of help.

J. Price Angel

planting one of the busiest six-months periods of their lives and ready to swing into the home stretch of 1943 with a continuation of the tremendous effort they have made since January 1 to meet their production goals in the war-time agricultural program.

Reviewing the winter-spring period today, the State Agricultural Extension Service brought out these salient points of developments, problems, and achievements:

Despite cold which destroyed considerable acreage, growers produced the largest crop of winter beans in the history of the state and went well over their production goal.

The 1942-43 crop of citrus was a record-breaker of high quality and brought larger gross returns than any other Florida history. More acreage was devoted to vegetable production, for both home use and market, than ever before.

While complete reports are not yet available, it is practically certain that spring farrowing topped should for any similar period in many years and sent farmers well on the way toward meeting their 1943 pork production goal.

People, corn and oats planting increased those of 1942 by a wide margin, as farmers prepared to do their part in meeting peanut oil and feed needs.

More acreage has been planted to the longer staple varieties of upland cotton than in many a year in response to higher prices and government needs.

Late cold damaged considerable acreage of garden crops, but replantings were made as soon as possible in most cases. It also produced the tung crop.

Livestock and poultry numbers swelled to a new high. (In view of meat rationing, there were more chickens raised in cities than ever before.) Egg production for the period was higher than for the first six months of 1942.

Shortage of labor has been and will continue to be a problem, but by extra effort on their part and the part of many laborers who worked for them, farmers have succeeded in doing most of the harvesting and planting they intend to do. How they come out during the hot summer months remains to be seen, but most farmers are determined to do the job.

Entomologists Are Fighting Bugs To Protect Soldiers

By JOHN GROVER
AP Features Writer
BELTSVILLE, Md.—Bugs that literally eat the pants off U.S. soldiers are not the least hazard of tropical warfare.

Until U.S. Department of Agriculture entomologists came to the rescue, Yank troops in the tropics were in danger of going into battle like Gunga Din, wearing "nothing much before and rather less than 'arf o' that behind."

Tropical uniforms are cotton. Cotton is mostly cellulose. Cellulose is ice cream and cake for termites. Tents, parachute harness and other cotton equipment were in constant danger of "evaporating" if left on the ground for an instant.

Termite-Tamer
That's where Dr. Raymond St. George, termite-tamer extraordinaire, at the Agriculture Department's experimental farm, stepped into the picture. Dr. St. George hasn't got anything against termites personally, but his job is to protect bigger and better stamachers for them.

Meat of his previous work has been concerned with protecting wooden structures from termites. Wood is cellulose, too. Damages done by termites runs into the hundreds of millions annually.

The job of keeping tropical troops presentable, or at least decent, is only partly done. Dr. St. George's chemical stomachaches for termites are strictly military secrets, but the bare outline of his test methods gives a hint just how big his job is.

Uniform fabrics are protected by impregnating the cloth with chemicals which repel termites. That sounds simple enough, but back of it may be months of patient experiments.

Chemically Protected
First, the Army Medical Department must conduct a separate series of tests with each compound to determine whether they are toxic to man. Then the chemicals must pass many tests devised by Dr. St. George and other Department of Agriculture scientists. While Dr. St. George is cooking up intelligence for his termites other experts are working with compounds to retard mold and mildew.

Most of the tests are done in a special laboratory. Patches of fabric, one impregnated and one untreated, are exposed to a colony of termites. The extent of damage after a stated period determines the rating of the chemical as a termite repellent. That's only half the story, though. After the laboratory tests, field tests must be made with each chemical.

Impregnating compounds already are in use by the Army. Dr. St. George aims at finding a better one. When he's finished, there won't be any danger that a Yank in the tropics will suddenly discover that while he was sitting down to lunch in the field the seat of his pants was lunch for a termite.

Ruth, Meusel, Combs Trio Hailed By Stengel As Greatest Outfield

By DILLON GRAHAM
AP Features Sports Editor
NEW YORK—Down through the years the Speaker-Lewis-Hopper trio has been hailed as baseball's greatest outfield but Casey Stengel, a one-time flycatcher himself, casts a dissenting ballot.

Figuring that the Boston Braves maestro, stretched out on a Boston hospital bed, had time hanging heavy on his hands, we asked him to recall the great outfield he had seen, and rank them.

And Casey, that delightful combination of comedian and commander, passed the renowned Red Sox group to name the New York Yankees' Babe Ruth, Bob Meusel and Earl Combs as his No. 1 selection.

Stengel has always been a National League partisan and it may go hard with him to name the Red Sox trio when he is considered the senior circuit when his list ranked the best of all time. But he did not choose a single National League trio among his four selections. Here's how he rates them:

1. Ruth, Meusel and Combs of the Yankees.
2. Tris Speaker, Duffy Lewis and Harry Hooper of the Red Sox.
3. Joe Muroff, Tommy Henrich and Charles Keller of the Yankees.
4. T. Cobb, Wahoo Sam Crawford and Bob Veach of the Tigers.

That Yankee trio played as a unit for five years, 1925 through 1930, and averaged well over 300 hitting each season but 1927 was its peak year. That was the season Ruth set the all-time home run mark at 60 and the Yankees battered the Pirates four straight in the World Series. The outfield averaged .349 at bat. Ruth and Combs hit 356 each and Meusel hit 337. Paced by Ruth, they were all long distance hitters, likely to hit one into the stands at any moment. They were also a crack defensive unit.

The Red Sox group rightly belongs right on the heels of the Yankee threesome. They were together from 1910 through 1918 and, in Speaker, possessed one of the greatest hitters of the league and a defensive hawk still regarded as the peer of all centerfielders. Lewis was a good fielder and hitter while Hooper has done one of the finest throwing acts in the game. Speaker's best year was in 1915 when he hit .383 but the group's average was tops in 1911 at .315. Speaker hit 321, Hooper .311 and Lewis .311 and Lewis .307.

The DiMaggio-Keller-Henrich outfit was certainly the best seen in the last decade or so. They played together from 1935 through 1942 and 1939 was their best year with a combined average of .350. DiMaggio led the league in batting with .381, Keller hit .334 and Henrich .277, never high, he was a long distance slugger and hit many homers. Keller and DiMaggio were always among the league leaders in homers and runs batted in. All had good throwing arms. And some even regarded DiMaggio as Speaker's peer as a centerfielder.

The Detroit entry had its best combined average, .327, in 1915 when Cobb hit .313 and Crawford .399. Cobb was baseball's greatest all-around star, tops at bat and on the bases, and a good fielder and thrower.

Stengel, who was struck by an automobile just before the season began and sustained a broken leg, confined his selections to outfielders he had seen. Others he might have led off with a National League trio that boasted the biggest combined average of all time—an even .400. That was Ed Delahanty, Billy Hamilton and Sam Thompson of the Phillies in 1894.

Actually, there have been nine outfield units which show a higher average than Stengel's Ruth-Meuse-Combs selection. Tops among modern outfielders as to hitting was the Detroit unit of 1925 with a .380 average; Cobb had .378, Harry Hallman .399 and Red Wingo .370. The

Billy Fleming Is Awarded Schaal Football Trophy

Billy Fleming, left halfback for Coach Leonard McLucas' Seminole High School football team of last season, Monday night was announced as the winner of the 15th annual Peter Schaal trophy as the "most valuable player on the squad."

Prof. G. E. McKay made the announcement in a letter from the donor, a letter that pointed out in part that young Fleming is the second junior to win the honor since Lofton Edenfield first won the trophy in 1928.

"The 1942 winner," Prof. McKay read, "was the unanimous choice of the judges as indeed being the most valuable man on the squad. He was a dependable sportsman, and a born leader, he constantly displayed those qualities of leadership that make him a man among men."

"The donor," Prof. McKay concluded asked me to remind those boys who will make up the squad this fall that they should prepare now to develop those qualities that will find them competing for the honor at the end of next season."

Fifteen trophies thus have been awarded since 1928 when Mr. Edenfield, scrappy end, for Coach Hugh J. Welchel's squad, was unanimous choice.

Edenfield repeated in 1929, after which the award went to George Maye in 1930, Johnnie Courter in 1931, Hendrix Lyles in 1932, Quillian Jordan in 1933, George McClelland in 1934, Elywn Squires in 1935, Leland McClelland in 1936, Robert Stoinoff in 1937, Darrall Ferguson in 1938, Jim Riser in 1939, Vernon Altman in 1940, Bill Brandan in 1941 and Fleming in 1942.

Coach McLucas, pointing out that Billy "did all of our passing and kicking and was a Grade A player throughout," said that his best game was probably that against St. Augustine.

"I wish I could have him at Robert E. Lee this fall," he added.

Baltimore Orioles of 1895 had a .376 average for Keller, Brodie and Kelley.

Other hard-hitting outfielders include:

Detroit Tigers, 1931—Hollmann, Cobb, Veach, Average 374.
Chicago Cubs, 1930—Stephenson, Cuyler, Wilson, Average 358.
Brooklyn Dodgers, 1938—Sherman, Hendrick, Frederick, Average 354.
Philadelphia A's, 1928—Hamm, Miller Lamar, Average 345.
Cleveland Indians, 1923—Jamieson, Speaker, Summa, Average 331.
St. Louis Browns, 1921—Tobin, Williams, Jacobson, Average 330.

Casey regrets he cannot include his current Boston Braves outfield of Ross, Holmes and Workman among the better hitting units. This trio is averaging something under .350. But Casey figures it is a pretty good threesome as that is to be Frank Casey is pretty well satisfied with his Braves as a whole. They're perched well up in the first division, going great and surprising evens.

Stengel who was once paid $15,000 not to manage Brooklyn, wonders whether, if this splurge keeps on, someone will not suggest that he just remain in the hospital indefinitely and let Coleman and Kelly continue to mastermind the Braves.

Plans Being Made For Girls Major Softball League Pvt. Vanderlinde May Prove To Be Another Tunney

By DAVE HOFF
AP Features
CHICAGO, (Professional girls softball, with a $100,000 bankroll and the brains of two top-notch baseball organizations behind it, hopes after spending this summer in an experimental hot-house to blossom forth next year in the nation's big cities—right alongside its big brother, major league baseball.)

When Phillip K. Wrigley, the Chicago Cubs' owner, and Branch Rickey, the Brooklyn Dodgers' vice president and general manager, formed the all-American girls' softball league, they weren't just doing it to throw away excess cash. They visualized a day when fans will jam the big city ball parks to watch young lady "names" perform.

The girls will wear three-quarter length skirts—no slacks, no shorts. Beulah hairnets are out. And the salaries being offered are good enough to assure the finest and fastest of talent.

"For instance the lowest salary called for in a current contract is $45 a week, more than the average stenographer or factory girl gets, and far above the pay of the average Class B minor leaguer."

The best salary is $85 a week, comparing favorably with the pay received by players in the top minor leagues.

And in usual baseball style the girls get all their expenses paid while they're on the road.

League Signs Girls

Instead of being under contract to their respective clubs, the girls will be signed by the league which will distribute the talent at the start of the season as equally as possible among the four teams. The first games are listed for May 30 with upwards of 100 contests carded for each club. There are a few changes made in the standard softball playing rules. The pitcher is 40 feet instead of 35 feet from home plate. There are only nine players on each team, with the traditional short fielder eliminated. Bases runners may take a leadoff. The pitcher may use a rock to facilitate deception in delivery.

The four member cities—Kenosha and Racine in Wisconsin and St. Paul and Chicago in Illinois—have been chosen because of the large number of industrial plants in shipyard circles and in the city.

If the attendance is good and the league shows workability, it "name" stars develop among the original players, another year or two may find the girls traveling the major league ball fields, playing at home when the local baseball team is on the road, traveling when the major leaguers are home.

AP Features
SAN DIEGO, Calif.—Pvt. Marty Schwartz figures he may have uncovered a second Gene Tunney on a married wife may prove to be the best heavyweight boxing prospect to come out of the military services in this war.

The possible contender for the Louis' crown is Pvt. Jack Vanderlinde, 17 years old, six-foot-one inch tall, and weighing 190 pounds without an ounce of visible fat.

Trainer of Marine Sergeant Barney Ross in the years the latter held the junior welterweight, lightweight and welterweight championships of the world, Private Schwartz has served here as boxing instructor in the Marine Corps Base's Recruit Depot for almost a year and during that time has refereed approximately 300 bouts staged by young Marines from every section of the nation.

Vanderlinde, now serving as a physical instructor in the Recruit Depot, halls from Sioux City, South Dakota.

Changed His Mind

Schwartz, who calls Chicago home, thought for a time, that in Private Dudley Richardson, USMC, 24, of San Jose, California, also a six-footer a likely looking heavyweight prospect. But when he matched the hard hitting Vanderlinde and Richardson he changed his mind. The strapping South Dakotan won the unanimous decision of the judges in a slambang three-round fight.

"I've seen hundreds of young fighters come and go, but I'm willing to go on record that Vanderlinde is the best looking heavyweight prospect I have seen in many a year," said Schwartz.

So enthused is Schwartz over Vanderlinde that he spends a deal of time daily with the youth in teaching him the fine points of boxing.

"I used to be considered a good fighter in shipyard circles and in knocking about the country with my dad, a construction engineer, but this Vanderlinde is the best looking young heavyweight I ever swapped punches with and I fought in some dozen states," said Richardson.

Pantelleria Garrison Surrenders To Allies

Mussolini Has Case Of Invasion Jitters As Key Island Defenses Surrender

WASHINGTON, June 11, (AP)—President Roosevelt today declared the surrender of Pantelleria was very good news and appealed indirectly but strongly to Italy to get out of the war. He said the Italian people now had an opportunity to choose the kind of non-Nazi, non-Fascist government they want.

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, June 11, (AP)—Allied headquarters announced today the Italian island of Pantelleria had surrendered and was being occupied by Allied forces. This surrender is the result of a period of continuous and intense air bombardment, supported by naval bombardment, a special communication and "two previous offers of surrender made to the commanders were ignored."

The Pantelleria garrison, estimated at 8,000 men, surrendered unconditionally, thus placing in Allied hands a key stepping stone only 80 miles from Sicily. Activities in other sectors were minor, although a Berlin military commentator said the German invasion armies were ready to open their summer campaign in Sicily in the southwest. He said the Allies were planning to land in Sicily in the next few days.

The fever was rising elsewhere in Europe. Italy's occupation army of 50,000 in Corsica was reported working against the deal threat of Allied invasion and action by French patriots who were reported hiding in the mountains awaiting the signal to spring upon the fascists.

First To Feel Invasion Might

WITH A SECOND ALLIED DEMAND that its garrison surrender reported rejected, the island of Pantelleria, Italian outpost in the Mediterranean, finally gave up today after being under the heaviest assault the Allies have launched so far in this war. The attack is reported to have been a synchronized sea and air assault, with the big guns of the British Mediterranean fleet aiding the Allied air fleets in reducing the island fortresses. Mayor Higgins Has Plan For Building City

Asks Help Of Large Income Taxpayers In Raising Funds For Improvements

Suggesting that Sanford and Seminole County should begin their post-war planning now and make arrangements to provide their own funds for public improvements and to furnish jobs to returning soldiers, Mayor Ed Higgins today pointed out that large income taxpayers might make donations to the City or County for specific purposes, with most of it coming out of the income tax.

"At a recent meeting of the Florida Commercial Secretaries Association held in Miami, which I had the privilege to attend, the matter of post-war planning was discussed very thoroughly, and everyone agreed that each community should join the State and the Nation in making plans to provide employment for returning soldiers and sailors and also to take up the slack that will be caused by the abandonment or removal of the military camps from the State."

"These were two lines of thought as to how this work should be done, the Federal Government to furnish the money to carry out this work, but there was a different opinion that really predominated, that if we are going to depend upon the Federal Government to do this work, we are then actually sanctioning the continuation of such organizations as A. F. A., P. W. A. and other organizations that tend to take the conduct of our affairs away from our local people and centralize it in Washington."

"The building of public roads and improvement of waterways are primarily government projects, however, the selection of the various branches of the government were related to-day by Sen. E. F. Housholder, who acted as chairman of the committee, and president pro tem of the Senate. "I went to the Legislature feeling that we could save large sums of money in government expenditures, and that reductions were necessary," he said.

WASHINGTON, June 11, (AP)—A powder keg atmosphere hung over the nation's coal fields today as government fines on miners for the last walkout brought threats of new strikes.

"An act which takes nearly $3,000,000 worth of food from the fingers and mouths of children of the mining camps—a brutal application of economic sanctions against free citizens. Miss Laurelle Dutton Wins Kiwanis Club's Competitive Essay Contest

Dear Diary, I am so thrilled, dear diary, to have graduated, at least September 7, 1943. This is my very first day at Mount College. I know I'm going to like it even more than I have expected. The dormitories are top! All of the faculty members are well, and I love the majestic height and beauty of the mountains, the cool, clear air, and the peaceful calmness of the lakes. This is a wonderful opportunity—coming here to study, to make life-long friends, and to live so close to nature. Here are the subjects that thrill of my prearranged course calls for: English, Bible, Spanish, Chemistry, Biology, Hygiene, History and Bible, Spanish and Chemistry, and Physical Education. Then next year I will continue with English, Bible, Spanish and Chemistry, and also study Psychology, Sociology, Economics, and Nutrition. God, it's really going to be great!
