REACH DEEP WATER HARBOR ON THE ATLANTIC COAST WITH THE NEW RAILROAD

NATURAL HARBOR AT CAPE CANAVERAL WILL NOT NEED U. S. MONEY INTERESTING FACTS

About New Canaveral, Orlando & Southwestern R. R. That Will Touch Sanford

The following from the Titusville Advocate is most interesting to Seminole County people:

Improving the deepwater harbor on the Atlantic coast 12 miles east of Titusville is the quickest way to get navigable inland waterways.

With the biggest ocean steamships landing at Canaveral for freight and passengers, all inland waterways would lead to Canaveral for Atlantic Coast connections.

A railroad now in course of construction, the Canaveral, Orlando & Southwestern, has Canaveral for its Atlantic terminal, and the capitalists who are building this railroad will necessarily take steps for the early improvement of this great natural deep-water harbor.

The new railroad will extend from Canaveral across the state to Sebring, tapping Florida's greatest citrus fruit country and the phosphate section, and will furnish water transportation for all Florida products to the markets of the world.

In 1891 the Brevard county board of county commissioners petitioned congress to improve Canaveral Harbor for the following reasons:

Because, while a large part of the commerce of the United States, and of other countries, passes for many hundreds of miles along the dangerous coast of East Florida, there is no harbor, anchorage or refuge for large vessels between Fernandina and Key West except in the Bight of Canaveral. Here there is any depth of water required, up to six fathoms, plenty of room for an unlimited number of vessels, and no bar; but it is open to the winds, swells and storms on the southeast side which, at certain times, render it unavailable.

Because, owing to the location of the southeast shoals, on the east of the anchorage at Canaveral, a sufficient breakwater can be easily and inexpensively constructed, either with piles or rip rap, or with a combination of both, which would extend to and embrace twenty-seven feet of water, and meet all requirements of commerce.

Because the building of such breakwater would at once open a deep water port of the first class where it is most needed, and would establish a most important harbor of refuge and coaling station upon the edge of the Gulf Stream; would give all of South Florida direct water communication with its markets; would reduce time and freights enroute one-half, and do more to promote the settlement, development and prosperity of this peninsula than any other possible act the government could perform.

Because such a port would be by several hundred miles the nearest deepwater Atlantic port to the West Indies and South America, and would be of great importance in the rapid transportation of mails, etc., and in the revival of American commerce; and would promote reciprocity.

This petition presented to congress in 1891, was endorsed by the legislatures of Florida, Louisiana, Texas and New York, by U. S. engineers, the U. S. Coast Survey and the U. S. War department; by the Cotton Exchange and the Chamber of Commerce of New Orleans and the New York Chamber of Commerce; by practically all the Chambers of Commerce of the south; by the New York shippers; by all the Atlantic Steamship Lines; and by practically all the counties in Central Florida—all 32 years ago.

All these years it has been known that on the Atlantic Coast, midway between Jacksonville and Key West, is a natural deepwater harbor at Canaveral. Now the necessity for the deepwater harbor is being brought to the attention of Florida and the whole United States by the construction of the Canaveral, Orlando & Southwestern railroad with Canaveral harbor as its terminal.

WILL TRY SOME OTHER SCHEME TO GET THE MONEY

(By The Associated Press) PARIS, March 19.—The refusal by the United States to accept a reduction in its bill for the expenses of the American army of occupation by the value of the German ships seized in American ports, was presented to the Allied representatives in conference here on the re-imbursement question by Elliot Wadsworth, assistant secretary of the treasury. The Allied representatives called a separate meeting for tomorrow at which they will try to evolve another proposition which will be given Wadsworth at a full meeting of the conference Thursday.

DIED KNEELING BESIDE HER BERTH IN PULLMAN CAR

(By The Associated Press) RICHMOND, Va., March 19.—Heart failure was attributed by the coroner as the cause of the death of Mrs. Mary Chambers, of Brooklyn, whose body was found in a kneeling position beside the Pullman berth as if in prayer, when the Florida-New York train arrived here yesterday. Mrs. Chambers was returning to her home after wintering in Florida.

Star Witness for State to Testify in Foster's Trial

(By The Associated Press) ST. JOSEPH, Mich., March 19.—K. D. 97, government agent who rose so high in the Communist party of America that he attended the national convention here last August as a delegate, will take the stand today or tomorrow in the Berrien county circuit court as the chief state witness against William Z. Foster, Chicago, charged with criminal syndicalism.

The cryptic symbol of the government agent hides the identity of Francis Morrow in the records of the department of justice.

As government under-cover agent at Camden, N. J., Morrow entered the shipyards and then joined the Communist party under the name of Ashworth. By that name he was known to Communist leaders, but at the Bridgman convention, where all delegates used assumed names and were forbidden to disclose their true identity, he used the alias "Day."

NASHVILLE, March 19.—Colonel Alfred M. Shook, 77, retired capitalist in coal and iron industry in the south, died at his home here yesterday, after an extended period of ill health. He was a Confederate veteran.

associates are the men behind this Canaveral railroad that means more to Florida than pen can tell. Mr. Ange, now 52 years of age, is president of the railroad company, and his record in Orlando is a guarantee that the road will be built as quickly as men with plenty of money can build it.

Mr. Ange organized and is president of the Bank of Orlando & Trust Co., now the biggest bank in Orlando; and of the Orlando Mortgage Loan Co. On Wednesday of last week the Angebilt Hotel, a 12-story hotel built at a cost of $1,200,000, Orlando's biggest and best hotel, was formally opened to the public.

With three big enterprises to their credit, the public can rest assured that Mr. Ange and his associates will make as great a success of the Canaveral, Orlando & Southwestern railroad as they have of their other great business enterprises.

Mr. Ange is a contractor and builder, and since he located in Orlando about nine years ago, he has built the big Yowell-Drew department store, a 12-story hotel, and, as an Orlando paper says, innumerable business houses and homes for the people.

HARDING WILL BE CANDIDATE TO SUCCEED HIMSELF SAYS HIS FRIEND DAUGHERTY

Only One Man Who Will Oppose President and That is Hiram

(By The Associated Press) MIAMI BEACH, March 19.—Prediction that President Harding will be a candidate for renomination, will be selected as the Republican standard-bearer and will be re-elected, was made here Saturday by Attorney General Daugherty, pre-convention campaign manager for Mr. Harding in 1920, and since then his chief political adviser.

"President Harding will be a candidate for renomination," said the attorney general. "There will be no other candidate against him except one and that one is always a candidate. He will be renominated and reelected. The country and the party will demand it."

Mr. Daugherty, who is at Miami Beach recuperating from his recent illness, made his statement to the newspaper correspondents with President Harding's Florida vacation party for whom he sent. The statement is regarded as by far the most informal President Harding's intentions with respect to 1924 yet made because of the close relationship between the chief executive and Mr. Daugherty with respect to political matters.

The president and Mr. Daugherty had several conferences since the vacation party left Washington early this month and they had seen each other two or three times during the

POSTAL SERVICE CRIPPLED BY FAILURE OF CONGRESS TO APPROPRIATE USUAL FUNDS

For Emergency Expenses Where Postoffices Are Crowded to Capacity Now

From reports from all parts of the United States it seems that the postal service is being badly crippled by the lack of emergency funds from which salaries for additional clerks and carriers could be taken as these exigencies may arise from time to time and they arise quite frequently in Florida. This same thing holds true of Sanford and the service here has been badly crippled for some time for the lack of sufficient help to distribute the mail and to get out on time and to get it carried. Postmaster Elder has been working night after night to keep up with the additional burdens imposed by the shortage of help and he cannot under present conditions keep up with the growth of the city and the attendant duties devolved upon the postoffice. It seems that the heads of the postal department in their efforts to curtail expenses have not taken cognizance of the growing Florida cities. The Orlando Sentinel has the following article on the same subject:

"Echoes of the do-nothing congress bounced out of the capitol yesterday and struck Orlando squarely between the eyes.

"Failure of congress to appropriate the usual fund for emergency expenses of the postal department may seriously impair the postal service here as in many other cities where postoffices are crowded and where the volume of business is steadily increasing, it was learned.

"Postmaster W. M. McLean would not comment on the situation yesterday, but it is known that for some time the local office has been operating with a large part of its expense paid out of the emergency fund. Whether special provision can be made in some way for stations where rapid growth of the city makes continual additions to the working force necessary, is not known. Mr. McLean has wired Washington for instructions. He said he would have no statement to make until he received a reply from the postoffice department.

"Congress, seemingly, sought to punish the postal department for failing to meet its expenses, though there have been many times in the past when the postoffice department was not a profitable enterprise for the government. The idea of shutting off emergency appropriations in departments already hopelessly overburdened is believed to be a new one. It is another achievement, observers point out, of the wonderful congress which recently waddled through a spectacular closing session. In New York city, for example, the postoffice pays twice as much to the government coffers as it demands in expense, yet the New York postoffice will suffer.

"In Orlando the same situation obtains. The postal receipts are steadily increasing. Every quarter sees a new record established, though the postal business continues to be administered in a miniature building, outgrown by the city before it was erected. Naturally, this steady increase makes it necessary to go beyond the regular appropriation to meet operating expenses, so Orlando has come to be more or less dependent on special appropriations.

"How the office here is to weather the storm without reducing a force already painfully restricted is a question no one seems able to answer. Postmaster McLean expects to hear from Washington in the next few days and refuses to give up hope until the cold truth is told officially."

Railway Assessment Board in Session at the Capital

(By The Associated Press) TALLAHASSEE, March 19.—The railway assessment board met to hear the argument today on 1923 tax returns of carriers operating in this state. Virtually every line in the state was represented at the morning session, and it was planned to hear representatives of the Seaboard Air Line at the afternoon session.

Circus Closed Saturday Night Successful Week

PRIZES GIVEN AWAY HELD BIG CROWD UNTIL A LATE HOUR

The American Legion closed a successful week with their Circus, Saturday night, and despite the rain that fell almost every night the big tent was usually crowded with people and the Campbell-Lossing Post are well satisfied with the results and especially with the Roberts Circus and Bazaar Company that furnished the tent and all the attractions. She, the Getchel Educated Dog show, Freddie Guthrie on high wire and flying trapeze, Prof. Etting, the man of mystery; Carson & Campbell, expert rifle shots and knife throwers; Keno, the clown, formerly with Sparks' Shows, and the trick juggler and many other good acts are all worthy of special mention. These acts with the band and the candy booths and other places of amusement made a big carnival of noise and fun for the entire week and the Legion boys are well satisfied with their effort and with the Roberts shows.

The big feature of Saturday night was the drawing of the many prizes and the young ladies who had worked hard all week and their many friends were on hand when the votes were counted and the following were proclaimed the winners.

First Prize, diamond ring, Alberta Aycock.

Second prize, diamond ring, Margaret Cowan.

Third Prize, wrist watch, Allie Gilton.

A special committee of well known business men of Sanford handled the affair and also the drawing for the Overland automobile. A little girl drew out the lucky number for this after all the votes had been thoroughly shuffled and the picking of the winner was fair and square in every way and reflects great credit on the Legion and all those who had any part in the drawing.

A man named McQueen who is an employee of the A. C. L. shops drew the Overland car and he drew a real prize, and one that brought out hundreds of people to see the last night of the show.

The circus was all right according to all reports from the Legion and the boys made a neat little sum for their club house that will be built on their lake front some time in the near future.

South Atlantic Ports Interested in Roads—Meet in Charleston

(By The Associated Press) CHARLESTON, S. C., March 19.—Representatives of the five South Atlantic ports—Wilmington, Charleston, Savannah, Brunswick, and Jacksonville—met here today for the meeting of the South Atlantic Coastal Highway Association which will last through tomorrow. High officials of the government and state officials of all coast states between Washington and Florida were expected to be in attendance. In addition there were named delegations by the governors of the interested states.

The conference, according to its preliminary announcements, was to be devoted to furthering the work of the association, which is organized to secure a federal highway from the National Capital along the coast to Miami.

"In less than 18 months we hope to see this highway completed, with permanent bridges crossing the rivers and streams between the points mentioned," said the letter of invitation sent out by the association officials.

One of the most important links in the proposed highway is the Santee river bridge, in South Carolina, which will be open for traffic early this summer, according to present plans. Originators of the association say that proposals for this bridge while they were still in nebulous state gave them the inspiration to form an organization for the purpose of developing the coastal route.

Another link in the chain has already been effected with the erection over a year ago of the St. Johns river bridge at Jacksonville, which cost that city over a million dollars.

The first of January, 1925, is set by members of the association as the date on which the highway will probably be open for traffic and travel throughout its entire length.

Negro Murderer is Killed by Farmer

(By The Associated Press) NEW ORLEANS, March 19.—Willie Johnson, negro, was shot and killed by a farmer near Bowie after being surrounded in a swamp by a posse of several hundred white men. The negro had been pursued since last Monday, when he shot and killed Robert Sellers, state conservation agent at Waggman. This morning the negro emerged from his hiding place in the swamp and reached a farm house where he demanded food. As he was eating a loaf of bread he was shot down.

ENTIRE CENTRAL STATES IN GRIP OF COLD WAVE DESPITE COMING OF SPRING

PRESIDENT AND MRS. HARDING BOUND NORTH

(By The Associated Press) PALM BEACH, March 19.—President and Mrs. Harding and vacation party today began the northward cruise that will end Thursday or Friday at St. Augustine. After Sunday in Palm Beach, members of the party last night boarded the houseboat Pioneer which came up from Miami.

Fishing tackle and bait were aboard the Pioneer when she left here this morning and it was thought the monotony of chugging up the Indian and Halifax rivers might be varied by fishing. Tentative plans for the cruise do not provide for so many stops as on the way down but it is regarded as likely two or three rounds of golf will be played, including one over the course at Daytona.

Red Cross Goes to Aid Storm Sufferers in North Mississippi

MEMPHIS, March 19.—With the death list standing at twenty-eight, the Red Cross and other agencies of relief are undertaking the task of providing for the many families rendered homeless by the tornado which swept through Savage and other north Mississippi towns Thursday.

G. C. Crane, in charge of Red Cross work at Savage, says that 102 houses were destroyed.

Volunteer relief parties from surrounding towns have supplied large quantities of food and clothing. An emergency kitchen is being operated in box cars at Savage and meals are being served to hundreds of refugees.

Fifty tents have been supplied in the stricken town and the war department, cooperating with the Red Cross, has shipped 75 army tents to Memphis. Other supplies are being concentrated here, and C. E. Lovett, a Red Cross worker, will arrive from Atlanta today to supervise the distribution.

Although 125 or more persons were injured, a score of them seriously, it is not thought that more deaths will occur.

FROM FAR NORTHWEST TO FLORIDA AND FROM ROCKIES EAST SNOW, BLIZZARD

(By The Associated Press) CHICAGO, March 19.—The entire central area of the country is today in the grasp of a bitter cold wave despite the theoretical proximity of spring. From the Rocky mountains eastward, from the far northwest to upper Florida with much of the territory covered by snow, the temperatures ranging from subzero to March records, were registered. In upper Mississippi valley and the Rocky mountain regions, train service and wire communication are demoralized. Throughout the northwest orders were issued by railroads cancelling freight trains and certain passenger trains. Some roads placed embargoes on perishables. At Baxter, Colo., three children were frozen to death in a small shelter a quarter of a mile from their home. Near Kutch, Colo., an aged man was found frozen to death.

Will Be Frost as Far South as Palm Beach

WASHINGTON, March 19.—Winter's final blast, which has been attended by blizzards and near zero in temperature in the middle west will overpread the east and south tonight but relief is promised by Wednesday. The cold wave from the northwest will rapidly envelope the south tonight, the weather bureau says, with frost as far south as Palm Beach. The storm is of wide extent and considerable energy moving southeast over the Canadian northwest. Weather experts predict the temperature will be higher generally as far east as the Appalachian mountains Tuesday and throughout Southeastern states Wednesday.

Temperature Takes a Big Tumble at Birmingham

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., March 19.—Snow began falling here this morning at 10 o'clock. At that hour the temperature which registered 25 above zero began falling rapidly. The district forecaster predicted a temperature of fifteen above zero tonight. The temperature dropped 27 degrees here from midnight to ten o'clock this morning.

Notice to Insurance Agents and The Policy Holders

TALLAHASSEE, March 17.—Effective April 1, premiums for insurance written by fire insurance companies, miscellaneous insurance and "reciprocal exchanges," operating in this state must be paid within sixty days from the date of the policy "or contract from the date of renewal thereof" according to an order issued by Treasurer J. C. Luning, ex-officio insurance commissioner.

The treasurer's order further says that "the premium must be paid either in cash or by note; if settlement by note, the note must be dated within the sixty day period and must bear the legal rate of interest in this state from such date, namely eight per cent."

The order was prompted, according to statement accompanying it, by the practice of some insurance agents of the class of extending credit for an unreasonable length of time "in the payment of premiums for the insurance, which practice amounts to a rebate and is in violation of our anti-rebate laws."

The statement adds that any violation of the ruling will constitute sufficient grounds for the cancellation of the agent's or company's license and any complaints of this character coming to this department will be vigorously prosecuted.

Abolish Convict System Followed by Counties and Jury Selection Idea

Is Plan of Commissioner McRae in His Biennial Report

(By The Associated Press) TALLAHASSEE, March 17.—Recommendations that the county convict lease system be abolished, that the law governing the jury selection be changed and that the state convicts be paid more than $10 on their discharge from prison, are contained in the biennial report governing the prison division of his department, submitted by Commissioner of Agriculture W. A. McRae. Mr. McRae has been advocating the abolition of the county convict lease system for some time. In this connection his biennial report says: "No man can justify the lease system for state convicts. If the lease system is bad for convicts, it is much worse for the short term county convict. The term of sentence for county convicts runs from 30 days to six months, the average sentence being about four months. To justify the lease of the short term, county convicts in paying the usual high price for their labor, the poor, unfortunate prisoners are immediately after conviction, rushed to the remorseless temporary stockades and are put at the very hardest labor, and in the broiling sun at that before they have had time to get "seasoned," the great majority of them having spent some time in jail before conviction.

"Many of these poor unfortunates have lost their lives from exposure and others have become broken in health."

"The law that permits women county convicts to be carried to the stockades where the male convicts are also worked," the report continues, "and there used as 'domestics' should be amended, even though the leasing of county convicts is not abolished."

"Some hundreds of county commissioners, and I say this to their credit, will not lease the women along with the men, for that is just what it amounts to. Yet there are others who, like Shyllock, want the "pound of flesh" and be it said to their shame are leasing prisoners, white and black."

In urging that the discharged state convict be given more than $10 the agriculture commissioner declares the amount is not sufficient to even pay his railroad fare to his destination, much less to outfit him with civilian clothes. In some cases he is provided with clothes by those who pity him, otherwise he would have to go home in the garb of a convict, the report continues, and adds: I am reliably informed that some discharged prisoners have had to do this."

Regarding his recommendation that the system of jury selection be changed the commissioner asserts that sections 2783 and 2784 of the Revised General statutes leave to the discretion of the court as to whether special venues necessitated by the exhaustion of the regular panel, must be drawn from the bystanders of the body of the county.

"It frequently happens," the report sets forth, "that these venues are large, especially when important murder cases are being tried. The time of the sheriff to secure the required number of jurors is often limited, and through this limitation of time in some instances, and through personal feeling of the sheriff in others, such venues are composed of the 'professional juror' or those who are biased for or prejudiced against the man tried."

The commissioner declares he is thoroughly convinced that nine tenths of "the miscarriages of justice in our trial courts are a direct or indirect outcome of this practice."

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

The last few weeks have been exceedingly successful ones in the Presbyterian church, groups of two to four have united with the church every Sabbath. Last Sunday a congregational meeting was held in which the church budget for $12,500 for the next church year, April 1, 1923, March 31, 1924, was adopted. Mr. J. W. Corley was elected an elder and Mr. J. H. Lehman was elected a deacon. The officers will be installed at an early date to be determined.

Sunday afternoon the Every Member Canvass will be conducted. Upon this date the canvass will be made by all the Presbyterian Church of America. The members of the congregation are asked to remain at their homes until after the canvassers have called.

Sunday services as follows:

9:45 a. m., Sunday school.

11 a. m., preaching.

2 p. m., Junior C. E.

2:45 p. m., Covenantor C. E.

7 p. m., Senior C. E.

8 p. m., preaching.

ALL SOULS LENTEN SERVICES

This evening at fifteen minutes before eight the usual lenten devotions will take place at All Souls church, consisting of Stations of the Cross, sermon and benediction of the Blessed Sacrament.

The subject of this evening's lecture will be "Conscience, a proof of God's Existence."

This series of lenten talks are dealing first with the proofs according to common sense of a Supreme Being and finally a comparison of Christianity with Eastern religions. Tonight's lecture is one of the most interesting of the series.

Strangers invited to free sittings.

FIRST METHODIST CHURCH

W. J. Carpenter, Pastor.

On Sunday morning the pastor will preach on "The Mastery of the Penalty."

The Rev. Dr. Brown, one of our prominent visitors will fill the pulpit at night. Dr. Brown has been in the ministry forty-five years and more. He will give a thrillingly interesting sermon.

The Epworth League will hold a devotional meeting at 6:30 p. m. Let every Leaguer be present and make it a great service.

A Pre-Easter prayer meeting will be held on next Wednesday evening. Every official and working member of the church is expected to be present.

THE SCRAP IRON CLASS

The Scrap Iron Class hopes President Lake has another good speaker on tap for tomorrow's meeting. Judge Sharon delivered an interesting talk last Sunday, one full of inspiration, faith and common sense. The Judge is an eloquent speaker and the class hopes that he will come to see us again.

Dr. Carpenter gave a fine exposition of the lesson. There was a shortage in attendance last Sunday, but let's make up for it tomorrow. It is hard to stay in doors this sort of weather, but we can afford to spend an hour in Bible study once a week.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

Sunday school 9:30—not 9:31.

Morning worship and sermon 11 a. m.

The members of the Sanford Chapter of the Order of De Molay will be the guests of the church at the morning hour. Subject of sermon, "Why This Pressing Emergency and How to Meet It."

Baptist Young People's Unions at 6:45 p. m.

Evening Worship and sermon 7:30

Subject "When the Tide Comes In."

Sunbeam Band Monday 3:30 p. m.

Prayer meeting and Bible Study Wednesday evening 7:30.

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH

Tomorrow is another day given for rest and worship. Let us gather in our various houses dedicated to God and reverentially worship and return our thanks to the Author of every good and perfect gift, who has so bountifully filled our lives with good.

To rest awhile in the Divine presence in meditation and prayer will purify the heart and charge the soul with the dynamics of nobler life. We all need this stimulus. Go somewhere and meet in fellowship with your brother who is seeking God.

You will be welcome at the Congregational church. Our pastor will preach at 11 o'clock in the morning.

We will be glad to have you attend our men's Bible class at 9:45 a. m.

At 7:45 p. m. we will show four reels of the Story of William Tell, a very beautiful picture, and draw from it some useful lessons for today. Come early and bring your friends.

Let every Christian Endeavorer be present at the meeting at 6:45 p. m. in the auditor school room in the parsonage. Matters of interest will be presented and we need you. Come.

ALL SOULS CHURCH

Tomorrow, Passion Sunday, services as follows:

FUNERAL OF E. L. FERRAN AT EUSTIS TOMORROW

E. L. Ferran will be buried at Eustis tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Presbyterian church. Mr. Ferran died at the Johns Hopkins hospital in Baltimore after an operation Friday evening. He was one of the pioneers of Eustis, one of the largest merchants of that city and one of the most progressive citizens of Florida. He was well known in Sanford and was greatly beloved by many of her citizens where he visited from time to time. He is the father of Mrs. D. L. Thrasher of this city and leaves five sons, one daughter and a wife to mourn his loss.

The sympathy of the many friends here is extended to the wife and family in their hour of sorrow.

Hizzard in northwest today and cold weather predicted from Canada to Florida. It may reach here but it does not look like it today.

And this should be another warning to those Florida visitors who are so anxious to rush back home before the cold weather is over, March and April are uncertain quantities in the north.

Harding will be a candidate for reelection to the highest position in the land, says Attorney General Daugherty. Since Harry put him in there before, we opine this statement comes from authentic sources but it will not cause a ripple on the surface of the political waters.

Tornadoes, storms, blizzards, earthquakes, death in every form and the papers teck with the details but down here in Florida all is peaceful and is pleasant and the weather is delightful and nothing ever happens to mar the peaceful routine of those who live in the most favored spot in the world. Slow, perhaps inactive, nothing doing on the surface to those who are accustomed to living in the big cities but the folks down here in Florida come nearer to enjoying life than any inhabitants of any other part of the United States or of the world. Contentment may be the death of progress in some ways, but contentment in Florida is the biggest thing in the real enjoyment of life.

"DON'T SIGN MY NAME!"

There are still a lot of things an editor can't understand, and one of them is why some people will call him on a legn holiday or out of bed at night to give him an earful of scandal, or to tell him a report they heard about somebody's shortcomings and insist that he publish it is bold black and white, while the informant would not for the world sign their own name to such an article. They want the editor to be the goat at all times.

We have sometimes thought that the editor can run a good paper, make both ends meet, and get along smoothly with mankind and womankind, if fit for the job, no matter how big it is. And we don't think we will ever have occasion to change our opinions. —Milton Gazette.

FLOWERS INSTEAD OF CURSES

The Tampa Tribune makes pointed but logical comment on a too common practice in life in the following:

Sarasota citizens Wednesday evening tendered a banquet to Ralph C. Caples and presented him with an appropriately engraved gold watch as an appreciation of his untiring efforts toward the building up of Sarasota.

Rather out of the ordinary. It is the custom to get tall you can out of a man and then cuss him more or less, if you haven't gotten all you wanted or thought he should have given.

We hear a thousand men respond, "ain't it the truth?" How many a man

IS IT A CRIME?

Is an attorney-at-law justified in accepting for his services money obtained through a violation of the law?

This is a question brought forward by the fact that attorneys are employed by bootleggers and every dollar they have is obtained through bootlegging.

Money is a commodity. If illegally obtained ewhy would not the men who knowingly accept it, place themselves in the category of accepting stolen goods?

The time may come when the legal profession will take the view as suggested above:

In xpressing himself in regard to this question, W. R. Hardee, an influential citizen of Key West, among other things, says:

"If a man is willing to accept money which he knows, or has good reason to believe, has been obtained through a violation of the law, he is just as much justified in accepting as compensation for his services any other class of stolen goods, for anything that is obtained by or through a violation of the law is a crime or a misdemeanor, and the man or men who are perhaps too cowardly to take the first step, are none too good to take it second-hand, under a camouflage of assumed respectability, which has degenerated into professional depravity. This type of men, in my opinion, constitute the greatest menace which we are confronted with in our efforts to check crime; for brought down to final analysis, all parties who knowingly profit by and from the financial proceeds of law violations are joined guiltily, whether it be the man who commits the original act or the attorney or attorneys who share with him the financial benefits derived from the illegal transgression."—Jacksonville Observer.

NO-FENCE LAW

The Sanford Herald predicts that state-wide "no fence" law, will be passed in 1925. Bob Holly does not pose as a prophet. But he has an intimate knowledge of the sentiment of this state as any man no matter what his business or political status.

Any man who reads the newspapers of the state knows that the sentiment is overwhelmingly for a no-fence law. It is a race-between progress and poverty. Cattlemen are making no money. They are simply in a rut and have not the foresight to get out of it.

Kissimmee, the center of a great cattle industry, has suffered much in the last ten years. There was no such thing as prosperity there. But in the last two years men have been turning attention to gardening and to strawberries and Kissimmee today shows more progress and prosperity than it has shown at any time in ten years. New homes are being built. Lands are being cleared up and put into cultivation. Bank accounts are being increased and the country around the city, and the city itself are taking on new life. The cattlemen are not playing a losing game. But the rich farm lands in that country are producing so well that a new era of prosperity has set in. Sanford's prosperity, too, comes from the farm and garden lands and not the woods cattle.

Cattle have a place in Florida. The cattle industry can be made to pay, if properly handled. But the industry is a disgrace to the state as now handled. A lot of scrawny cattle full of ticks is no recommendation to the state nor a credit to the man that owns them. A no-fence law will mean that there will be better cattle. Men will fence, their grazing lands and dip their cattle against the tick. They will raise a better grade of stock and provide rough feed for a short period in the winter. When men get to operating in this manner, cattle for beef purposes will be profitable, just as dairying is now profitable, where men follow it intelligently.

Within five years after the no-fence law becomes effective we will not be apologizing for Florida beef by selling it a few cents lower than western beef though western beef has paid a high freight in reaching us. It will be much better business judgment to have fewer hoofs and more beef on those hoofs and of a quality that will compete with the western product than to continue to advertise western beef and apologize for the Florida product. Progressive men are seeing the light and this is why the whole state is crying out against the present short-sighted policy of a few cattlemen.—Orlando Reporter-Star.

HAINES FOR VICE-PRESIDENT

During the past few months many noted politicians of national reputation have visited former Congressman Charles D. Haines at his home in Altamonte Springs. From one of those visitors the Herald got this piece of real information.

Henry Ford is not averse to the nomination for the presidency on the Democratic ticket. The Democratic party believes their chances for winning the presidency is good. The leaders are looking a long way ahead and the vice presidency will not be a hazardous choice at the convention. Who would strengthen the Ford ticket? A northern man for the presidency and a southern man for the vice presidency.

Charles D. Haines is the choice of many of the leaders for the vice presidency. Haines refuses to be a candidate under any circumstances. It is said that some of his close friends have been sent to prevail upon him such acceptance should it appear like good chances for a successful issue.

"Haines," said the Herald's informant, "has long been a national figure but reserved and averse to politics. The history of this man is not only unique, but probably without parallel in our country's history.

"A farmer boy who through his own efforts became a railroad president before he was 21, and a member of Congress before 30 years of age, and at that time the New York press stating that he was one of the most brilliant men New York had ever sent to the National house of representatives.

"During different administrations Haines has been offered posts of the first order, but would not consent to hold any public office, preferring to be useful, he said, rather than being used.

"During his career he has built and operated over a score of railroads, operating in twelve states, Mexico and Canada, and been a manufacturer employing thousands of men. He gave as he went, increasing wages without solicitation and was a benevolent employer beloved by all with whom he came in contact.

"Few men possess so firm and influential a grasp upon the hearts and minds of his fellows as Charles D. Haines. A man of great intellect and whose wonderful common sense directs all his motives and on which he bases all his conclusions. He is a man of great tact, bold and fearless, a safe advisor, always fair and impartial. He has a patriotism inspired by an earnest desire for the public welfare and as president of the American Patriots became known to millions of people during the war period and today has a close and unyielding friendship with many hundred thousands of America's progressive citizenship.

"I have been in practical politics all my life and I study the times and trend of conditions and affairs and peep a long way into the future and know most of the prominent men in public life and I state my belief that had Charles D. Haines remained in politics he would long since have been governor of New York state and our next candidate for the presidency."

WHEN A GOOD MAN DIES

We would rather have friends than money, and by friends we mean the kind of friends that are friendly because they recognize the fact that you are a real man, that you have befriended them when they needed a friend, that you have led the kind of life that you preach about, that you have helped your town grow by putting your shoulder to the wheel at all times, that you have worked early and late for your own town without any thought of personal gain and that you have been a man in every sense of the word. There is a difference in the life of men and there is a difference in the demise of a good man and one who has lived within himself all his life with no thought of his fellow man.

We are constrained to take note of this by the death and the funeral of our old friend, E. L. Ferran, of Eustis, who was probably one of the best men that ever lived in this state or any other state. He was so nearly the personification of all that is good in human form that his death will leave a void in Eustis and in this part of the state that will be difficult to fill. And living such a life is an inspiration to others for it carries out the Scriptural teachings and examples as nothing else would do and brings with full force those sacred truths that the eyes of modern people may see in all the fullness thereof.

In a notice of his death Friday the Eustis Lake Region stated:

"For forty years Mr. Edgar L. Ferran has stood within her gates a pillar of strength and honor, like one of those giant forest trees in the city of the dead whose spreading capitals support the sky and beneath whose shade he will sleep.

He leaves the legacy of a life well lived, and can bequeath no richer heritage than the example of a long and faithful life of labor which was not unrewarded, and the heritage he bequeaths to all. His record is untarnished. In the business world, from which he retired some few years ago, he stood as a man among men, the soul of integrity, industrious, faithful, honorable. To the young men of this generation, his life is a lesson worthy to be learned well. His character was firm, his mind strong, his manner that of a courteous, Christian gentleman, and he was not slothful in good works, and while the charities were numerous they were hidden from the eyes of the world.

Those who knew him in his home loved him the best, for there the nobleness of his character came nearest to perfection.

To those who sit within the gloom where grief's curtains are drawn closely, he was the embodiment of gentleness and kindness and love. To draw aside these curtains would not be charity, and the many who mourn with those nearest to the dead cannot lessen the tender sympathies, the bitterness of their sorrow nor assuage the poignancy of their grief. The one consolation which pierces the gloom, like the halo of a blessed benediction, is that when the end came it crowned a life of useful labor which, in God's providence, had gone beyond the allotted period of mortal man.

PURE WATER MEANS MUCH

Water is everything in daily life and you never miss it until you get to some place where it is not. Sanford has the purest water that any city can boast but it is not agreeable to the palate of the average guest of the city because it contains sulphur gas and emits an odor that is distasteful to those who have not been accustomed to it. But it is absolutely free from any contamination coming from the bowels of the earth and up in a gushing geyser that is the life stream for this farming section. However, at this time we are against the artesian water for it is bad on plumbing and bad for domestic purposes and the decree has gone forth to find a supply of pure, soft water that will not only be palatable for drinking and soft enough for domestic use but will be absolutely pure for drinking purposes and the City Commissioners have employed an engineer to find this water and when it is found the city of Sanford will lay plans to own their water works plant. Tampa is after the same thing as the following from the Tribune would indicate:

"Now that the City Commissioners must begin considering a source of water supply for Tampa, it is well that they take into account all phases of the subject and have the advantage of all the expert advice they can obtain.

"This the Commissioners undoubtedly intend doing. As the Tribune has pointed out, it is not a matter for hasty decision. In acquiring a water supply, the Commissioners will be providing for the needs of the city for many years to come.

"In this connection, The Tribune notes a brief article in the current report of the State Board of Health, by Chief Sanitary Engineer George W. Simons, Jr., of the Board, which should be taken into consideration by the Commission. Mr. Simons says:

"Next to air, water is most necessary to the maintenance of life and health. Water is an essential of diet. As Aristotle has well stated, The greatest influence in health is exerted by those things which we most freely and frequently require for our existence and this is especially true of water and air. Not alone is it sufficient to say that water is necessary but this should be further qualified by saying water free from contamination or infection. Water in its passage over and through the soil comes in contact with so many things it is often liable to carry infection, sometimes of a very serious nature.

"Disease germs, which get into the body and multiply there, producing such diseases as typhoid fever, dysentery, etc., pass from the bodies of the persons afflicted with the disease and only from their bodies. When carelessness, ignorance or indifference prevails these infectious sometimes get into the water supply — the well, spring, lake — and thereby transmit the infection from one to many. The waste products of bodies must be kept away from water supplies—water must be kept pure. Too great care cannot be exercised in selecting and providing a water supply, especially as pertains to the location of the supply. No supply should be so located that human or animal filth can gain access."

A BAR TO FLORIDA'S DEVELOPMENT

Ancient privilege dies hard. Give to any class of citizens special privileges over the rest of humanity, and that class will fight to the death for the retention of those privileges. It is comparatively easy to give, but mighty hard to take away. The beneficiaries of special privileges take no account of changing conditions. They seem to think that privileges once granted them must be theirs for all time, no matter what hardships they may impose upon others. The stand taken by the cattlemen is a cost in point. When they were granted the privilege of running their cattle on any unoccupied land, and granted freedom from any responsibility for the damage their wild and hungry herds might do, they represented the main industry of that time.

There was almost no agricultural development, for the opinion was almost universal that farming could not be done in Florida with success, that the land was too poor to bring farm products to maturity, that it was only fit for grazing. The few oranges that were grown were only for the use of the scattered inhabitants, and not for export. There were no paved roads reaching the few market towns fringing the seaboard, and no railroads reaching out to the great markets of the nation. In fact, there was nothing to export except the wild cattle of the woods, and they were sent by water to Cuba and neighboring islands. It was the heyday of the razor-back hog and the long horned steer. There was no special hardship in the grant of special privileges to the cattlemen for, there was no other class to compete with them for the use of the land.

But in the last few years there has been a wonderful development in the line of agriculture. The hardy pioneers have proved that Florida has no competitor in the union in the growing of an immense variety of fruits and winter vegetables. Great railroad lines have penetrated every corner of the state and carry thousands of car loads annually of Florida's products to the great markets of the nation. The farmers and truckers and fruit growers have come into their own, and now represent the main industry of the state. The fruits of their toil would buy every year all the tick-eaten cattle of the state and leave a surplus of profit. They are now demanding decent protection of their crops against the free ranging cattle and destructive wild hogs. The legislature is bound to consider their urgent appeal, for they have right and justice behind them, and right must ultimately prevail.

In the meantime the cattlemen have made no step forward. They adhere stubbornly to their ancient privileges. They insist upon their right to raise ticky cattle and enjoy the free range, regardless of the rights of the truckers and fruit growers. They insist upon their right to ship their ticky cattle wherever they can find a market, even if they spread disease and death in the herds of other states. They have controlled the legislature of their own state and won a great "victory" in the abolition of compulsory dipping, but it turned against them when the federal government decreed that tick-eaten cattle could not be shipped out of the state. Deprived of their market, cattle raising loses its interest, and forward-looking cattlemen are seeking for a way out. They have already suffered severe losses, and are beginning to see the light of reason. But they still stick to the free range, oblivious of the fact that it is a great bar to the development of the state.

Eventually they must see that the closed range and universal eradication of the tick are inseparably connected. By giving their consent to these progressive measures they can make Florida the greatest cattle-growing state in the union, and in no other way. It can never be done with the open range.—Tampa Times.

RESURRECT CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

(By The Associated Press) FERNANDINA, March 17.—The Business Men's Association of this town has been absorbed by the resurrected Chamber of Commerce. At a recent meeting of the Chamber was re-organized and it was decided that it could perform the functions of the Business Men's Association. Albert D. Simons was named president.

CHANGE OUR NAME

(By The Associated Press) BRADENTOWN, March 17.—The legislature is to be asked to change the name of this city to Bradenton, leaving out the letter "w." The appendix "town" was considered a detriment and local folk think they have outgrown that denomination. The town was once named Bradentown.

NOTICE TO TAX PAYERS

City Tax Books close April 1, 1923, after which all taxes remaining unpaid will be collected by levy and sale of the property upon which taxes are delinquent. ALFRED FOSTER, City Tax Collector. 3-15-18th Apr. 1 By: E. HOY, D. C.

PROPERTY OWNERS, TAKE NOTICE!

The law provides that "If taxes upon real estate shall not be paid before the first day of April of any year, the tax collector shall advertise and sell." This is to notify all concerned that the requirements of law will be complied with, and the tax books will positively be closed on April first, as provided by law, and all lands on which taxes have not been paid will be advertised, and executions issued for unpaid personal property taxes. JNO. D. JINKINS, Tax Collector, Seminole County. 3-14-10tc

CITRUS FRUITS BY-PRODUCTS

Experts Have Shown How Profits to Growers From Materials Once Waste Can Be Made.

To offset the serious losses in the citrus fruit industry occurring through bruised, undersized or over-sized oranges, grapefruit and lemons usually allowed to go to waste, the bureau of Chemistry of the United States Department of Agriculture has investigated methods for getting by-products that will return a profit to the grower. Some of these products require a preliminary expense for equipment, but it has been demonstrated that the investment can soon be made profitable. Grapefruit juice, which is increasing in popularity, can be easily made if directions for pressing, straining, pasteurizing, clarifying, sweetening and bottling the juice are carefully followed. These directions may be obtained from the department. A blend of grapefruit juice with loganberry juice has been found popular. Orange vinegar is a satisfactory substitute for apple vinegar and should be made in districts where many cull oranges would otherwise be a total loss. Citric acid is a valuable commercial article which can be made from cull lemons or limes if proper apparatus is installed. Other by-products from citrus fruits often wasted include candied citrus peel, for use as a confection or by bakers in place of citron, marmalades, jellies, butters and pectin.

FRENCHMAN HAD RIGHT IDEA

Principles of Flying Set Out by Louis Pierre Mouillard Have Been Proved Correct.

Who was the first glider? In supplying an answer there is room for the patriots of many nations to delve in medieval annals. Italy and France have a good case. Jean Baptiste Dene is said to have made a successful glide at Perugia in the Fifteenth century, while the marquis of Bacquerville, in the middle of the Eighteenth century, skinned across the Seine at Paris.

Details of a convincing kind are, however, lacking. But there is no doubt of the theoretical claims of the Frenchman Louis Pierre Mouillard, who died a quarter of a century ago in poverty at Cairo. In two volumes he set out the principles that should guide man in seeking conquest of the air. To seek to fly by imitating the beating of a bird's wing was not feasible. "Men should imitate such birds as fly with steady wings and avail themselves of the currents of the air."

Ten years after Mouillard was dead (with his dreams of an actual machine unfulfilled) the Wright brothers began the development of his ideas. Eekimos. Canada's mounted police count noses and find only about 2,700 Eskimos living in the Far North, not including Alaska. The low figure is surprising. Beginning with our first lessons in geography, we have heard so much about the Eskimos that most of us imagined they existed in much greater numbers. In bidding for fame, the Eskimos have had the additional handicap of never producing a great man. Despite mediocrity and fewness, the Eskimos have become known in all parts of the earth. This shows the power of advertising.

Peculiar Well. The attention of the geological survey has been called to a peculiar well in Ohio, and has caused an investigation to be made of it. It appears that the well produces both fresh and salt water through two separate pumps. The explanation proves to be very simple. Two water-bearing beds, confined between layers of limestone, occur at this point, one above the other. The pipe of the fresh-water pump taps the upper vein at a depth of 10 feet. The pipe of the salt-water pump touches the lower vein at a depth of 25-feet; and the brine, being heavier than the fresh water, does not mix with it, but remains at the bottom.

Meatless Diet in a Hospital. The experiment of a meatless diet is being tried in the Beth Israel hospital of New York by Superintendent J. Louis Frank. Until recently it was contended by some that meat was the source of vitamins, but this has been recently disproved by Dr. E. V. McCollom, professor of chemistry and hygiene of the Johns Hopkins university. From a medical standpoint it is now asserted that there is nothing inherent in meat that cannot be supplied by fish, milk, eggs and milk products.

Swallows Cover World. Swallows, it has been established by experiment, migrate from England to South Africa, 5,000 miles. A man in Berkshire, in 1921, fastened a mark on a swallow and found it loose. The bird was reported as having been caught five months later at Johannesburg, South Africa. Other marked swallows, liberated in England, have been reported from Natal, Orange Free State, Cape Province and the Transvaal.

Getting It Out of His System. "Where are those cool nights you advertised?" "Just wait," said the proprietor of a summer hotel, confidently, "they'll be along." "Sure," snarled the guest, "but if it's winter you are thinking about, I won't be here."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

Teacher Revised Grammar. Teacher was endeavoring to make clear to the youngsters the grammatical tenses. "My father had money," she pointed out, "is in the past tense. Now, Grace, what tense would you be employing if you should say, 'My father has money'?" "That would be pretense," said Grace, very soberly.—Exchange.

versity and is one of the few men who have served as governors of American commonwealths to receive this degree. He held the chair of economics and sociology in Mississippi and Arkansas for a period of sixteen years prior to his election as governor. As a lecturer, he is always enthusiastically received.

Population on Farms.

The total farm population, which in the last census for the first time was enumerated separately from the rural population as a whole and therefore has no comparative figures in the preceding census, amounts to 61 per cent of the rural population, which includes residents of incorporated cities and villages having fewer than 2,500 inhabitants, unincorporated hamlets, mining regions, and other areas not devoted to agriculture. Thus, while the rural population constitutes nearly one-half of the country's total, only about three-tenths of its inhabitants are living on farms.

Early Irish Monastery. The site of one of the earliest Christian monasteries in Ireland has been found at Mahee Island, Strangford Lough, near Belfast. The ruins have been identified as those of Nendrum monastery, mentioned in Malcolin's "Life of St. Patrick," written before 630 A. D. Extensive excavations have been carried out and valuable material, including some stones with writing, the exact meaning of which has not yet been ascertained, have been unearthed. Some of the writings are believed to be of Danish origin.

Simplicity. Mrs. Casey was calling upon Mrs. Callahan, and soon the talk turned to the daughter of the latter, who had but recently returned from school in another town. "There's a plain girl for ye," said Mrs. Callahan, "absolutely no airs, in spite of the fact that she has been at a finishing school. Nothing stuck up about Mary. She's unanimous to everybody and never keeps a girl waiting. No, Mrs. Casey, she just runs down, non de plume as she is!"—Exchange.

Misunderstood. He was in his first week at college, and when he went to the stationer's to buy a fountain pen he felt desirous that the young woman who waited on him should know that in spite of his youth he was no high-school boy. When she handed him a sheet of paper he wrote on it, with many flourishes, in a large, bold hand, "Alma Mater, Alma Mater," eight or nine times. The clerk watched him with a slumber, and at last she spoke. "Why don't you let her try it herself," she suggested, "and then if it doesn't suit, of course, we'll change it."—Milwaukee Sentinel.

FOR THE MOVIE FAN

Looking for "Trifling Women?" Then be at the Princess tonight.

It is Rex Ingram's outstanding masterpiece, with Barbara La Marr, Ramon Navarro and Lewis Stone taking the leading roles.

It is the tale of Zarenda, a sorceress, and of three men who loved her in vain. She played them as you would pawns in a chess game.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. A. Speer and son Algen are the invited guests for tonight and will see "Trifling Women" without charge.

Wednesday night finds Norma Talmadge at the Princess in "Love's Redemption," and R. D. Blackmore's famous book "Lorna Doone" Thursday night, with "Quincy Adams Sawyer" as the week end feature, Friday and Saturday.

And if for any reason you are not able to get to the Princess tonight to see "Trifling Women," this fine picture will be shown tomorrow night, also.

Electricity and Bullets. At a rifle meeting in Switzerland it was discovered that the steel-jacketed bullets of the marksmen were swerved from their course by the influence of telegraph and telephone wires running alongside the range, says the Washington Star. Experiments were then made at them by placing four steel cables parallel with the range and about 40 yards distant from it and sending a current of 8,000 volts through them. The effect, it is said, was to turn the bullets so far from their course that the deviation amounted to 24 yards on a range of 300 yards. The bullets on being taken from the targets were found to be unquarrelled. Next, on an artillery range of 3,000 yards, the electro-magnetic influence was generated 200 yards in front of the targets and 40 yards to one side. The projectiles were swerved 14 degrees from a straight line.

A Doubtful Hit. One sister in this Evansville family is a newspaper reporter and the other a school teacher. And the little teacher is much given to borrowing her sister's clothes. The good-natured reporter usually doesn't object, but the other day she felt her sister had gone too far when she wore her new silk dress and fall hat to school. She told her so too.

"But I had heard the school board would be at the building today," the teacher excused herself, "and I wanted to make a hit with them."

"I bet you did," came back the dry retort, "for they all nearly went wild about that dress when I wore it to the school board meeting last night."—Indianapolis News.

In Search of Ambergris. An expedition has left Seattle for the sea to search for ambergris, which is now more precious than gold. There is a decided shortage of this material, which is used in perfumery, and as yet no substitute has been evolved.

Ambergris is a morbid growth in the whale's intestines and when ejected into the sea floats like the chilled grease on broth, until found. It contains a property necessary to hold various chemicals in solution.

Near the mouth of the Yukon river there is said to exist a virgin field for ambergris. Actions of various currents tend to congregate all floats into one gigantic whirlpool, and in the hopes of finding ambergris there, several hardy fellows are now en route north on the steamer Victoria.

Rug Factories in Peking. There are sixty rug factories in Peking, China, employing over 200 workmen each and with capitals ranging about $10,000. This is a remarkable increase on the figures recorded a few years ago, and is explained by the increasing popularity of Peking rugs in the United States. Direct buying is now done by many large American firms. In addition to this number, there are numerous small establishments—estimated at over a hundred—which each employ a few score workmen and operate with a small capital.

OUR WEEKLY CITRUS REVIEW

ORLANDO, March 19.—The weekly citrus review by F. L. Skelly, as issued from the office of the American Fruit Growers, Inc., says:

Reports from all Florida citrus areas indicate that the bloom has been very heavy. Coupled with showers which have fallen upon many sections during the last week, the outlook for next season's crop is said to be very excellent. It is, of course, too early for any definite anticipation of the size of the crop as there is yet opportunity for many hazards to intervene; but the first requisite, a heavy bloom upon the trees, has been met.

Oranges.—The demand has been strong with the prices adjusting to new higher levels. Indications are that the supply of mid-season oranges is nearing exhaustion. Next developments will feature Valencia for which there is already undoubted demand, but Valencia transactions thus far have been too slight to set a price basis.

Grapefruit.—Heavy shipments of the previous ten days resulted during the previous week in a lessening of the f. o. b. demand and correspondingly easier markets. High grade grapefruit continued in strong demand in the larger markets, but there was less interest manifest in ordinary grapefruit. Due to the fact that so large a part of the grapefruit has now moved, the fruit remaining actually is in a strong position and the easier tone of the markets as related may be regarded as a temporary condition.

The continuation of excellent business conditions throughout the country, amounting in many lines to a condition of almost boom prosperity, provides a purchasing power ample to absorb all citrus offerings. There is an abundant ability to pay the price, which therefore, is governed by the desirability of the fruit offered and the manner in which it is prepared for market.

Teacher Training in High School Not Successful

According to Biennial Report of Superintendent Cawthon

(By The Associated Press) TALLAHASSEE, Fla., March 19.—Teacher training in the high schools of Florida has not met with the success anticipated, according to the biennial report of W. S. Cawthon, superintendent of public instruction. Mr. Cawthon says in his report that pupil teachers should be educated and then trained. The number of high schools maintaining teacher training departments is smaller now than it was several years ago, the report continues; and the total number of students receiving instruction in these departments since the latter were created is negligible in counting the total number of teachers in the state manifestly in need of such instruction.

Relatively few of the students complete the tenth grade, before entering the teacher training departments, the report says, continuing: "The state should not encourage professional training until those who are to receive it have acquired sufficient maturity and academic knowledge to enable them to appreciate that training. In other words, pupil teachers should be educated first and then trained."

"It seems that almost any four year high school might well maintain a teacher training department and obtain state aid," the report says, "if it offered as electives in the Eleventh and Twelfth Grades Pedagogy, History of Education, Reviews of the Common School Branches, and Practice Teaching, requiring approximately half of the time of the pupils of this department on such electives. The other half of the time should be spent on academic subjects along with high school pupils who were not expecting to teach. Pupils of the teacher training department could graduate with the regular Twelfth grade classes and receive high school diplomas. In small high schools, the professional work need not take much more than half of the time of a high school teacher and the state's five hundred dollars would almost if not quite pay for this time. The county would have but little expense, since it would have to pay for the academic instructions received, by these high school pupils anyway."

"In any event, a considerable number of our high school graduates teach; why not arrange for them to direct their attention to the vocation of teaching during the last two years of their high school course and thereby prepare to enter upon their work with much better preparation than they would otherwise make?"

Several officials of the Southern Bell Telephone Co., were here over Sunday and inspected the local plant and were taken over the surrounding county and the city by the local manager, Howard Overlin. They found everything here in first class shape and were greatly surprised at the remarkable growth and development in Sanford and in every part of Seminole county. The following were in the party:

Frederick H. Reid, vice president; F. E. Montague, General Traffic Manager; W. D. Moore, General plant manager; David Laird, Florida manager; T. L. Moore, Florida plant superintendent; C. D. Cook, Florida Traffic superintendent.

TO ERADICATE BOLL WEEVIL. (By The Associated Press) TALLAHASSEE, March 17.—Steps have been taken here looking to cooperative buying of boll weevil eradication material by the farmers of Leon county. J. R. Alford was elected chairman, at a recent mass meeting, of a committee to get the best price on the necessary chemicals.

Conners to Build Miles of Roadway Thru Everglades

Big Land Owner Would Build Road and Then Sell It

(By The Associated Press) TALLAHASSEE, March 17.—Internal improvement board agreed to cooperate with W. J. Conners, of Buffalo and Florida Everglades capitalist, in construction of highway 60 miles long through Everglades to extent of giving him right-of-way and selling him rock material.

TALLAHASSEE, March 17. — W. J. Conners, a large landowner in the everglades who proposes to build fifty miles of highway in that section, and his attorney M. B. Carmichael, member of the legislature, appeared before the internal improvement board in connection with the project today. Conners plans, according to reports, to construct a highway, then sell it to the county or operate it as a private toll road. It is understood the conference with the board was in connection with the acquisition by Conners of land through which the road would be built.

THE HERALD DOES RUSH JOB PRINTING

How to Insure Sales for Your Product!

The chief asset of any business is the demand for its product. As long as that demand continues, the business is on a sure foundation. But let that demand subside, and every other asset of the business is in danger of becoming a liability.

In times of prosperity and a rising market there is a general demand for the products of industry that comes to be accepted as a matter of course. It is seldom listed among the assets of the business—it is simply assumed that it will always be there.

But, overnight, conditions may change—as they have done before—and the matter-of-course demand becomes conspicuous by its absence. The business, once strong and flourishing, is suddenly found to be in a very tight place. The demand had not been insured—and yet the entire business depended upon its continuance.

The modern, economical way to insure the market for any reliable product is by Advertising to the public which consumes it. Advertising creates a steadily increasing number of customers who desire the product, and ask for it by name.
