Casselberry Lions Club Gets 3 New Members

CASSELBERRY—The application for membership in the Casselberry Lions Club of Willis O. Benson, 271 Lake Griffin Dr., and Fred of the science department at Glenridge Junior High School, Winter Park, was approved prior to the meeting Thursday night. Benson joins another club lion, Leonard M. Thomas, and both will be inducted at an early date. Also approved for membership by transfer is Ralph Digs, Lyman School principal. Digs formerly was a member of the Rison, Ark. Club.

E. P. Richards, bulletin editor and head of the English department at Lyman School and a Lion for several years prior to coming to Florida a year ago said that he expects to publish a bi-monthly bulletin beginning after the final August meeting. Richards asked for any suggestions by members and requested that they be mailed to his post office box, 174-A, Longwood.

Ben Evans, chairman of the eight conservation committee, reported that arrangements for eye examination and a complete physical check-up for a 15-year-old girl have been arranged. Joe Weller, a member of the committee, reported that eye glasses for an

Holland Says Will Stick To Record In Campaign

By United Press International

Sen. Spenard L. Holland said Sunday he would stick to the record in his campaign for reelection and that "name-calling has no place in a Democratic primary."

Claude D. Pepper, his opponent, countered that he was "delighted to hear" that Holland was going to run on his record. He said Holland's record was one "that brands him as a supporter of the Republican Party and with no record of support for the average working man and average citizen of Florida."

Holland, speaking in his home town of Bartow, said if Pepper was returned to Congress, Florida would be represented by only one senator instead of two.

He said when Pepper was in the Senate before, he "strayed so far from the thinking of the people that he impaired the unity and effectiveness of the Florida delegation."

The senator added that "name-calling has no place in a Democratic campaign" and that he has "no intention of resorting to those tactics in this or any other election."

Holland said "the voters of Florida are intelligent people and I don't think they are interested in infectiveness. They are interested in what's on the record. When they have compared my record in the Senate with that of

An investigation into the complaints made by citizens before the Seminole County Equalization Board was begun this morning on the arrival in Sanford of Carlyle Ausley, Administrative Assistant and Field Supervisor in the office of Ray E. Green, State Comptroller.

Ausley reported immediately this morning to John Krider, Chairman of the Board of Seminole County Commissioners to review the complaints made by numerous citizens before going into the Seminole County area to see the properties involved.

It is expected that the "troubleshooter" from the State Comptroller's will make his report to Tallahassee for a decision as to what steps will be taken to correct the alleged inequalities in the Seminole County Tax rolls.

Ausley came to Sanford when the Board of Equalization agreed, unanimously, that there was "nothing they could do" and approved a request to the State Comptroller to send representatives of his office here to look into the complaints and the methods used in the office of the Seminole County Tax Assessor.

It all came about when citizens appeared before the Equalization Board at a series of meetings to hear complaints. Formal complaints were filed with the board.

There has been no definite date as to when the investigation here would be completed or when the decision as to what would be done here would be reached.

It is expected that persons who filed complaints will be asked to appear before the Field Supervisor here in Sanford to dig into the details for a report to Tallahassee.

Unwanted Child Loses 2nd Mother In Plane Crash

LONDON (UPI)—Three-year-old Anthea Lycett, unwanted daughter of a British noblewoman, lay in serious condition in an African hospital today while her real and foster families discussed her future.

Anthea was one of 18 survivors of the flaming crash of a Central African Airways Viscount near Salisbury Rhodesia Saturday. The crash killed 20 persons including Anthea's new foster mother.

All Britain was following the case of the little girl who lost two mothers within a year. She was in the British military hospital in Benghazi, Libya, with a broken arm and severe burns.

Anthea was born Marzia Miller, daughter of 37-year-old Lady Diana Miller, wife of Robert Miller, a wealthy Rhodesian.

But the British noblewoman said she "no longer had any love for the child" and offered her for adoption to foster parents despite opposition from her own and her husband's family.

The foster parents were not identified publicly until after Saturday's tragedy. The airline disclosed that the foster mother, Mrs. Maira Lycett of Salisbury, was killed while taking Anthea to London for a brief holiday.

Lady Diana said through her lawyers she has no plans to take the child back, but her mother, the dowage Countess of Yarborough, told reporters "we shall have to investigate the legal situation."

The countess was so bitter when Lady Diana gave her daughter away she cut Lady Diana out of her will.

The child's foster grandmother, Mrs. Florence Miller, said "I shall try to get her back in the family."

The foster father, Michael Lycett, 30, an insurance broker, was on a canoe expedition on the Zambezi River when he learned of his wife's death. He was located by a plane which flew over the jungles in a day-long search and then flew him to Anthea's bedside Sunday night.

Request To Build Jai Alai Fronton Near Sanford Turned Down

MIAMI (UPI)—The Florida Racing Commission today denied a request by Florida Jai Alai Inc., to build a jai alai fronton near Sanford.

The commission turned down the request on the grounds that the proposed plant was within 20 miles of an existing racing plant—the Sanford-Orlando Kennel Club.

The Seminole County Zoning Board, last Thursday, granted a use permit to the petitioners for the Jai Alai fronton, provided that they met the requirements of the State Racing Commission.

FINISHING TOUCHES TO THE 500 "cracker poles" were completed Friday night at the City Shops by Jaycees as they made ready for the 9th Annual Jaycee Fishing Rodeo which will get underway at Lake Carola Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 p.m. Working on the poles are (left to right) Everett Harper, Jim Dunn, Mrs. Wilbur, Mrs. Harper, and Jack Wilbur. Jaycee Fishing Rodeo Wednesday

Everything is in readiness for the 9th annual Jaycee Fishing Rodeo which will be staged Wednesday afternoon beginning at 2:30 at Lake Carola in Fort Mellon Park, according to the last word from Fishing Rodeo Chairman Everett Harper.

Our committee has been constantly working to arrange every detail possible to make Wednesday afternoon a momentous one for children 14 years old and younger, he said.

Members of the committee, in addition to Harper are: Jack Wilbur, co-chairman; Glen McCall, Bob McGee and Art Harris. Members of the Jaycee Wives Club assisting the committee are: Irene Harris, Maryann Wilbur and Patty Ann Harper.

"One thing that I would like to impress upon all of those who plan to participate, is this," said Harper. "If they have a 'cracker pole' we would like for them to bring it along."

"We have just 500 poles, complete with line, cork, sinker and float," he said, "and we expect hundreds more to participate in this year's Jaycee Fishing Rodeo."

"There is a possibility that we won't have enough cracker poles," the chairman said, "and those who can bring along their own poles would greatly assist us in making sure that there are plenty of poles for everyone."

Co-chairmen Everett Harper and Jack Wilbur were prolific in their expressions of gratitude for the assistance already rendered by Jim Dunn and Sid Richard, both employees of the City of Sanford.

And "our thanks go to the Sportsman Association for furnishing the bait, to Hobson Sporting Goods for the hooks, line, and sinkers and to many merchants who are furnishing the prizes, gifts and refreshments."

Judges for the event, announced this morning, are: Porter Lansing, president of the Seminole County Sportsman Association, George Pittard, and the two Wildlife Officers stationed in this vicinity.

Harper and Wilbur pointed out that there will be lifeguards and a nurse on duty the entire duration of the fishing rodeo. "In addition to making this year's Jaycees Fishing Rodeo one of the most successful, we also want it to be the safest," they said.

Buses will operate on the announced schedule in order to get children to Lake Carola on time for the all-afternoon event.

"We hope to have our complete plans for the rodeo ready for tomorrow afternoon's announcement," the two chairmen said. All details have been completed, they said, with the exception of just exactly how each child would receive the pole, bait, soft drink and ice cream. "Those we hope to have ready by late today so that everything will be arranged and go off at the appointed time," they said.

Exchange Student Arrives From Germany

A smiling, sparkling-eyed, 16-year-old German girl arrived in Sanford yesterday, shortly after noon to prepare for entering Seminole High School as a senior for the 1938-39 session.

Brigitte Geissler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hans Geissler, a merchant of Farnstrasse 48, Bochum Weiphala, Germany, is an exchange student of the Sanford Kiwanis Club, will make her home with Dr. and Mrs. John Wilson and their daughter Bonny.

Miss Geissler said that she came over on the Dutch ship Johan van Ollen Carnevel which docked at New York City Saturday morning at 6 a. m. after a 10-day "very pleasant and wonderful voyage."

Speaking excellent English, Miss Geissler described her arrival, going through customs until 2 p. m., and then boarding the train for her arrival here on Sunday.

Asked about her excellent English, Miss Geissler said "I studied English for even years," and added that her other speaking subjects were Latin, French, "and of course, German."

"It's just wonderful to be here," she said, as she greeted Dr. Wilson, Mrs. Wilson and Bonny Wilson at the Atlantic Coast Line station.

Miss Geissler met two Sanford vacationers and their families returning home from New York. She was accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Roy Mann and Mr. and Mrs. George Touhy.

Sheriff, Beverage Agents Destroy Moonshine Still

A six-barrel still reported to be of 60-gallon moonshine per week capacity was destroyed by Sheriff J. L. Hobby, along with federal and state beverage agents.

Sheriff Hobby said that the still was located about seven miles southeast of Sanford.

The Seminole County Sheriff, accompanied by the federal and state beverage agents, moved in on the still Friday night and arrested Walter C. Gay, 41, of Sanford in the raid.

Also taken by the Sheriff and beverage men were Gay's automobile and 15-gallons of illegal moonshine.

Gay was brought to the Seminole County Jail where he was held until the still and other paraphernalia could be destroyed by the officers.

Accompanying Sheriff Hobby on the raid was K. J. Lester, acting district supervisor of the State Beverage Department in this area, as well as other state and federal officers.

Wife Says Hubby Been On Treasure Hunt For 2 Years

MIAMI (UPI) - A Miami wife told a strange tale of pirate gold and a wandering husband who called away two years ago - never to return.

Mrs. Clarie Bariz, who works at a local hospital, said her husband, Edward, 37, left on a boat from California in 1934.

His destination was the small, uninhabited Pacific island of Cocca. To recover the buried treasure buried there more than 300 years ago, according to legend, by English buccaners.

Ever since we were married in 1934, Ed talked about recovering the treasure," Mrs. Bariz said.

He told me he had found it some years ago when he was shipwrecked on Cocca Island. He said it included great piles of golden objects - chalices and statuettes from the churches and other loot taken by pirates on their raids.

When he was rescued he hid the treasure and covered it with rocks. He planned to go back and get it as soon as he could.

He started out on a voyage to return, but his ship blew up at sea causing him to temporarily give up the venture, the woman said.

Church Building Boom Affected By Recession

By LOUIS CASSELL
United Press International
The recession has put a crimp in America's church building boom.

But in virtually every city today there are large, new church buildings under construction. In the suburbs there are hundreds of new churches holding services in movie theaters, school auditoriums and other makeshift quarters.

At a meeting in Detroit last February, officials of 50 major denominations arrived at an estimate that 2,000 new churches will be needed each year for the foreseeable future.

Government economists attribute the drop to the tight money market, the high interest rates and the general uncertainty about future economic conditions that prevailed last winter.

Upward expansion of the church building boom is assumed to decline will be temporary. Church building has set new records every year since the end of World War II. The annual outlay climbed from 15 million dollars in 1946 to 715 million dollars in 1950 - an increase of 1,000 per cent over a 10-year period.

In 1957, the full-year total was 84 million dollars.

Behind the building boom are two factors: The sharp rise in U.S. church membership since the 1930s from the cities to the suburbs.

The latter factor has been the most important of the two. If every existing church were being used to capacity, major religious denominations could have accommodated their present increase in membership with only a fraction

Ninth Annual Fishing Rodeo To Be Staged Wednesday By Jaycees

One of the annual events to which young people look forward with eagerness is the Jaycees Fishing Rodeo.

Here is "good sportsmanship" in action. And it is a demonstration of cooperation, between members of a civic organization and those upon whom these members most depend for help.

The Sanford-Jaycees County Junior Chamber of Commerce, each year for nine years (including 1958) has staged the Annual Fishing Rodeo so that children under 14 years of age can (first) have their own big fishing fun before school gets underway for the next term. Second, the Jaycees want to convince youngsters that "fishing is real fun." And then, these young businessmen of our community want to imbue into the minds of youngsters that there is more fun, and greater realization of ambition and goals, when "good sportsmanship" is practiced.

Members of the Jaycees have prepared, under the guidance of committee chairmen, at least 600 fishing poles complete with hook, line, sinker and float. These will be furnished to the children Wednesday afternoon free of charge. In addition, through the generosity of the Sportsman Association bait will be furnished without charge.

As a matter of fact, children will not be charged anything at all for the full afternoon of fun and pleasure. They'll even get ice cream and cold drinks.

Frankly, it takes work to prepare one of these events for nearly a thousand children of all ages. There's planning to be done, preparing the poles and other gear, gathering together prizes for each one of the events, judging the catches, and watching after the safety and health of so many young people who take part each year in this annual venture of the Jaycees.

We think that the Jaycees deserve a round of applause from all of the citizens of the community for planning this event each year and for taking the time away from their duties and work to stage the annual fishing competition between youngsters up to 14 years of age.

This year, undoubtedly, the crowds will be larger than ever before. And, as Wednesday afternoon draws to a close, there will be a memory left in each youngsters mind and heart, of a day of fun, of thrills, good sportsmanship, and good fishing.

Now's The Time To Be Convinced

The tempo is picking up. And more people, day by day, are talking about better schools, more schools, crowded conditions, additional classrooms, and the need for passing the School Bond issue to provide these necessities.

Lines have formed at the office of the supervisor of Registration to register so that a vote might be cast in favor of the school bonds.

Well, the die has been cast for registration books are closed. We'll soon know the number of voters who will tramp to the polls on September 9 in an effort to assure our children the schoolrooms and facilities necessary to learn science, mathematics, physics, geometry, and other subjects necessary for a well rounded education and a future in a more complex America.

All that is left to be done is for neighbors to convince one another that schools are needed.

And rest assured, there will be a lot of talking and discussing before the polls open at 7 a.m. less than a month from now. The reason for such a vast amount of conversation is the fact that organizations in every section of the county are announcing their intentions to support the School Bond Issue.

The Jaycees have opened an office in downtown Sanford to provide information to any person who might want a question answered. If there is any kind of question which might convince you further that schools are needed if it is answered, then be sure to let the Jaycees and their manned booth help you reach a conclusion.

The special election to be held on Sept. 9 on the School Bond Issue provides you an opportunity to render your community an invaluable service.

One organization is rendering that invaluable service now. The Officers Wives Club staged a campaign to register as many people as possible in the areas in which they worked. Now, determined to do more in the interest of a better community with better schools, they are going to furnish transportation to the polls on election day for any person who calls on them.

We know that there are other organizations which have rendered invaluable service in the interest of more and better schools. These mentioned today were predominant in their efforts. And, too, there are individuals who have also given generously of their time to convince neighbors and friends that schools are important and we need them badly.

If you have not been convinced that new and better schools are important, we suggest that you talk to your neighbor about the problems that are existing because of inadequate facilities. Talk with a family who will have children going to double sessions. Talk with the teacher who has had, for years, to make use of inadequate equipment and space.

A service you can perform is to get a neighborly group together and discuss the school bond issue. There is not the least bit of doubt, should you do this, more and more will learn that "schools are needed now!"

East, West Forget Differences In Worldwide Fight On Disease

By PATRICIA M-CORMACK
NEW YORK — (UPI) — Nations of the world that are so sharply divided over control of nuclear weapons and other such questions of life and death have taken a sane-minded approach to matters humanitarian.

In the past 10 years, they have been doing this—free world and Communist world, east and west—through the 26-nation World Health Organization.

As a result, sick children have been cured to health, the hungry have been fed, the blind have been seen.

Most of the human beings to whom WHO has extended its aid have been parts of the world, however, to us, are no more than names in a geography book. There, the health organization is sparing all-out war on mankind's five biggest scourges—malaria, tuberculosis, yaws, trachoma, and leprosy. And it is engaged in similar warfare with 20 other diseases as well.

For 25 years a person, WHO devotees have found a way to earn money and give millions a new lease on life. When the money was first formed in 1948, members spent 300 million dollars a year. Today, the toll has been cut in half.

Five more years and 25 million more dollars may wipe out the disease altogether, WHO hopes. Many million members of the world's poor suffer from yaws.

But WHO points out that nine out of 10 cases can be cured with their records on penicillin — at 25 cents each.

Fifteen per cent of the world's population suffers from blinding trachoma. Through WHO, Formosa alone has cured more than one million cases among school children — at 40 cents each.

Free information about nutrition and sanitation is being poured into backward parts of the world to give infants in these outposts of civilization at least an even chance for survival during the first year of life.

In too many places, however, infants, if they survive, still have only a 50-50 chance of making it to their sixth birthday!

Since the same nations that hold armament secrets so close to the vest, have merged their medical fire-power, however, hope for these tots is running high.

Dr. M. G. Candau, director general of WHO, with headquarters in Geneva, Switzerland, sums up the impact of the organization by saying:

"It will be considered by future historians as one of the most significant factors in... progress during the last 10 years."

If historians have to chisel their records on stone, as cave men did, they might note:

"The bomb ended it all. But for a while the WHO had proved that nation's could work together."

World Peace Plan Is Outlined

By KINGSBURY SMITH
United Press International
MINNFORD, Wales (UPI)—A practical world peace plan that would be considered at a United Nations General Assembly meeting, or a summit conference, if one is ever held, was outlined today by Lord Bertrand Russell, Britain's most famous philosopher.

In an exclusive interview with this correspondent, the 86-year-old intellectual genius, who wrote a masterpiece on mathematics and won the Nobel Prize for literature, warned that time is running out for the adoption of effective measures to prevent a nuclear war that is likely to destroy the human race.

"The chances at present seem to me to be about 50-50 whether there will be a human being left in the world 40 years hence," he said. "If present policies continue to be pursued, the chances will be very much less than that."

Agreements "in principle" were outlined by Lord Russell. The plan outlined by Lord Russell envisaged agreements "in principle" with Russia which he felt could pave the way for permanent peace and a "paradise" on earth for mankind.

The renowned and highly controversial "free-thinker" developed the points of his peace plan in response to questions put to him by this correspondent who traveled over 200 miles from London to a picturesque hillside in Wales to interview the man who is generally recognized as possessing one of the world's greatest minds.

Since the Middle East situation involves a danger to world peace, Lord Russell felt that any U.N. General Assembly or summit meeting on that subject should consider the broader issue of how to prevent a nuclear war. If agreement could be reached on that question, he is confident such problems as those of the Middle East would be much easier to solve than they are likely to be otherwise.

He thinks it would be a good idea to have two outstanding personalities who are not closely associated with either the East or West bloc attend the opening session of a General Assembly or summit conference on the Middle East problem and address the meeting as the "representative of mankind" on the dangers of nuclear war and unrestricted atomic tests.

Names Albert Schweitzer and He suggested that Albert Schweitzer, the noted philosopher and humanist, would be a good man to be one of them. Asked whether he himself, as a recognized spokesman for those who fear the effects of nuclear explosions, would be willing to address such a meeting, if invited to do so, Lord Russell replied:

Gore's Renomination Eases Some Worries

By RAYBURN LAMB
United Press International
WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. Albert Gore's renomination in Tennessee's Democratic primary eased the worries of southern Democratic moderates and liberals. But it does not mean a sharp-of shift in the trend shown recently by Gov. Orval Faubus' runaway victory in the Arkansas primary.

Despite increased racial tension in the South because of the conflict over school integration, Gore was renominated against a traditional Dixiecrat campaign conducted by Francis Cooper, a former governor. Cooper attacked Gore for voting for the civil rights bill in the Senate last year and for failing to sign the southern congressional bloc's "manifesto" against mixing the races in schools. He also took a more conservative line than Gore on foreign and trade.

Gore's victory could not be interpreted as evidence of any slackening in racial tension. But his defeat would have been a loud, clear signal to southern politicians that taking the extremist position on the segregation issue was essential to political survival. There was a widespread belief among Democrats in the Senate that Gore's real trouble was not his record but his failure to give enough attention to fence repair in his home state. This is a not uncommon failing for senior senators who have let national issues monopolize their attention while the to their own states are weakened. But it is at least unusual for a first-termer like Gore, who had the political savvy to meet the venerable Kenneth D. McKellar only six years ago.

Democrats who made this analysis, however, that if Gore had been more concerned about his own political organization he would not have suddenly found himself confronted with an unexpected and formidable opponent. Cooper originally intended to run for governor.

Incumbent members of Congress usually are heavy favorites when they seek renomination. No senator who has sought renomination this year has been defeated in the primaries so far. Gore, the 15th to be renominated, won the hard way and by a margin that was less than overwhelming.

Gore's victory was similar to that won two weeks ago by Sen. Ralph Yarborough (D-Tex), another southern moderate who voted for the 1957 civil rights bill. Yarborough was more easily against a conservative challenger, Lee Arkansas.

But between Texas and Tennessee lies Arkansas. And between the Texas and Tennessee primaries came the Arkansas primary and the third-term nomination of Faubus, who has become the symbol of southern white resistance to racial integration.

Gore and Yarborough can be expected to be among those southern Democrats fighting for a United Democratic Party in the 1960 presidential campaign. Others will be less interested in keeping the South in the national party. This whole subject no doubt will get formal or informal attention from the southern Democratic leaders meeting for an unannounced purpose at Columbia, S.C., this weekend.

The Gore renomination, equivalent to re-election in Tennessee, keeps him in position to become a dark horse contender for a place on the national ticket in 1960. He was an also-ran for the vice presidential nomination in 1956, although he did muster substantial support before withdrawing in favor of his fellow Tennessean, Sen. Estes Kefauver.

Kefauver, who tried twice for the presidential nomination before taking second place in 1956, may again be a rival to Gore.

However, his Senate term expires in 1960 and he presumably must choose between making a third try for the big prize or trying for a third term in the Senate.

VEGETABLE CASSEROLE IS YEAR-A-ROUNDER

Looking for a new summer casserole? Here's one made from fresh vegetables and crisp toasted oat cereal.

You'll bring your own freshly-picked golden sweet corn and ripe red tomatoes for that wonderful garden flavor—then blend it with the crunchy doughnut-shaped cereal. Sprinkle it with green pepper and seasonings, sprinkle with more cereal and grated cheese, dot with butter, and bake.

Wonderful for outdoor eating and a vegetarian's delight, it is easy to prepare and economical. Canned vegetables make this a "round-the-year" dish when fresh vegetables aren't at hand. And expect to make this often—once your family has tasted it!

Here's the recipe:

No. 308 can cooked whole kernel corn, drained (2 cups) 2 tsp. butter
 No. 2 can tomatoes (2 1/2 cups) 1 1/2 tsp. salt
 1/4 cup chopped green pepper dash of pepper
 1 cup crushed CHEERIOS 1 cup grated cheese

Heat oven to 400° (moderately hot). Combine all ingredients in 1 1/2-lt. casserole, except 1/4 cup Cheerios and grated cheese. Sprinkle with Cheerios and cheese, dot with butter, if desired. Bake 25 minutes. 8 servings.

Note: 2 cups uncrushed Cheerios=1 cup crushed.

Salt Water Test For Potato Type

A "sink" may be lunch room parlance for a doughnut, but it also signifies a good baking potato.

Too few housewives are aware of a simple salt water test which separates bakers from boilers. Baking potatoes sink and boilers float when dropped in a brine of one part salt to four parts water.

The outer appearance of potatoes is no indication of their cooking qualities, and too often potatoes from the same sack produce varying results. Difference in specific gravity in the individual potatoes is the reason. It is here that the salt brine comes into the brine.

Potatoes that are mealy and suitable for baking or French frying have a high specific gravity, or a higher total of solids and less water. These potatoes sink in a salt test. "Waxy" potatoes which float together when boiled have a lower specific gravity, and thus float in a salt water bath.

Use at least a quart of water and four ounces of salt to make the test. As a word of caution, don't overload the salt water. Drop in only two or three potatoes at a time so they have ample room to rise or sink. The test is simple and worth the effort, not only to sort good, mealy bakers, but to sort French fries that produce uniform results when cooked.

Future Homes To Be Cheaper

By Edward Cowan

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Two experimental houses scheduled to go on display next month will preview the money-saving, comfort-making new materials and construction techniques of homes tomorrow.

Builders and engineers claim the new materials and methods will reduce the initial and maintenance costs of houses, make everyday living more comfortable and lighten the miller's housekeeping chores.

The two experimental houses will be built in South Bend, Ind., and Knoxville, Tenn., under the sponsorship of the National Assn. of Home Builders. Cosponsoring the Knoxville house is the Masonite Corp. of Chicago.

The houses will not be production prototypes. They will be "souped up" models incorporating a host of new features—more than are likely to be found in a conventional family home of the future.

Foam Plastic Core

Officials hope to have the two dwellings ready for public inspection by Sept. 8, the start of national home week. Site work on the South Bend house began last Monday while construction of the Knoxville house is scheduled to start next Monday.

Innovations in both houses, officials stress, will accent what home buyers can expect to find in the next few years, not what the "space house" of the 21st century will look like.

A key feature of both dwellings will be a foam plastic core between inside and outside walls. This type of panel, known as day-lie expandable polystyrene, has never been used in a residential building before officials say. The panel was developed by the Koppers Co. of Pittsburgh.

Technical experts at NIH headquarters in Washington claim the foam plastic will give extra strength to a house while providing insulation. It also is expected to offer better protection against absorption of moisture from outside air.

Cut Costs 5 per cent

In a medium-priced house, officials estimate, use of the foam plastic panels will cut overall construction costs up to 5 per cent. Volume production is believed possible within 12 to 15 months.

Other new aspects of the new house include:

A carport with side walls that will permit future inexpensive

Boaters Must Ask Permission Before Docking At Springs

SILVER SPRINGS—Due to the greatly increased boat traffic and the increasing number of accidents on the Silver River recently, management of Florida's Silver Springs is instituting a new procedure for boating visitors designed to promote courtesy and safety in this rapidly expanding sport. Boating visitors to Silver Springs in the future will be asked to write or call the Springs for permission to dock their boats in the park area.

"Silver Springs is always delighted to have boating enthusiasts visit here. We have always provided docking facilities and we will continue to do so at the request of those planning a visit," W. C. Ray, general manager said. "In order to reduce the possibility of accidents we will ask boating visitors to observe certain safety measures and procedure while in the Silver Springs area."

Visitors will be asked to refrain from swimming in the Glass Bottom Boat area; to refrain from exceeding the five miles an hour speed limit and pulling wakes; from using air lungs in the Springs; to refrain from throwing trash and rubbish in water and from littering the grounds.

"We have enjoyed very much having our boating friends visit us," Ray said. "In 1956 we donated a 22 acre tract of land to the state of Florida for boat docks and state park. This is located just six miles down the river from Silver Springs. Last year Ray, Davidson and Ray donated land to the Ocala Boat Club for a clubhouse. This has recently been completed. Excellent docking facilities, including loading ramps, are available there. Camping grounds and outdoor fire places have also been provided."

Ray said that those planning on docking their boats in the park area at the Springs should write or call Department D P at Florida's Silver Springs.

Today's Sports Parade

By JACK CUBBY

United Press International
NEW YORK (UPI) — Ty Cobb said today, "I played about half my career with a glass arm, and I guess that's one of the reasons my baseball heroes are the pitchers."

The immortal Tyros, 71, wore only a pair of dark-rimmed spectacles, blue-dotted red shorts and a pair of sandals as he sat in his hotel room and praised the pitchers, past and present.

The man from Cornelia, Ga., brought up the subject of moundmen by remarking, "It seems to me that the pitchers this season are doing about the best job since the lively ball was brought into the majors—judging by the number of close, low-hitting games."

Here to watch Saturday's old Timers' game between the 1907 Yankees and the 1908 Red Sox, Cobb told of the off-season pitching stint that had threatened his career. "I don't believe it's ever been published," said the tall, surprisingly fit oldster.

Enjoys Arm
"Although I nearly always played the outfield during my 22 years with Detroit and two with Philadelphia," Cobb said, "I got a kick out of going in at other positions in exhibition games during the off-season."

Shortly after the First World War, he took the mound for a pick-up team of major leaguers against the Bushwicks in Brooklyn in an exhibition game.

"That particular contest, right-hander Cobb always had a fine throwing arm, he stressed. And he was nitching well, when suddenly I had to field a swinging bunt and had to make an off-balance throw to first."

"The instant that ball left my hand, my arm and shoulder felt on fire. I didn't know exactly what had happened, but I knew I was in a terrible jam if I had thrown my arm out. And I'd have to hide it."

"You see, I was a high-salaried star with the Tigers — and trying to get more money. And any hint of an injury would weaken my negotiating position. All this flashed through my mind."

No, in spite of the pain, I threw one more ball to the catcher—making sure it was wide. Then I walked up to him and said I'd lost my stuff and they'd better put in another pitcher."

Helped By Friend
He never did find out what happened to his arm, he said, because he was afraid to go to a doctor—lest the secret leak out. A trusted friend massaged the arm and shoulder almost daily until spring training.

"Then I could throw just well enough—looping it — after I'd run in a ways from the outfield, to fool everyone. The arm improved gradually but it never was DARLINGTON — The entry list for the Labor Day Southern 500-mile stock car classic here soared to forty cars and drivers today.

Veteran Pecos Jones, Tampa, Fla., Johnny Gardner, Rock Hill, S. C. and Gene White, Martinsburg, Georgia are the latest to sign for the holiday event. Jones will drive a Chevrolet while Gardner and White will pilot Ford. Ten days remain before the entry list closes.

Jones finished ninth last year in a Ford, Gardner and White will be making their first start over the mile and three-eighths oval. The Southern 500, world's richest stock car race, will be limited to fifty starters this year. Time trials starting Aug. 27 will determine the starting field.

Ford leads the entry list for the 200,000 event with sixteen of the forty entries. Chevrolet, winner last year, comes next with thirteen. Mercury has four of the entries with Pontiac and Oldsmobile two each. Plymouth has one entry.

Lee Petty, 44-year-old veteran Oldsmobile driver who is leading point standings for the national title by a wide margin, is favored to top pole position and break Buck Baker's two year old Chrysler lap and qualifying record. Baker's marks stand at 120.07 mph for one lap and 119.83 mph for qualifying distance of four laps. The race record is 106.100 mph set last year by victor Speedy Thompson.

The huge race track will be closed to all but practicing race drivers on Monday and until race day, Darlington management announced. The last "open house" of the year will be held Sunday with visitors being permitted to drive on the new racing surface at 35 miles-an-hour.

ORLANDO — First in the nation once again is another Florida State League claim!

This time the league points to Germain Pizzaro, Gainesville veteran, and George Banks, rookie St. Petersburg slugger, as the first players to bat in 100 or more runs in 1958.

Pizzaro reached that elevated status with a bases-filled triple Tuesday night, while Banks got there Thursday night at Cocoa by ramming over two on a hot single.

No league in America, the majors not excepted, had even one 100 RBI batter as of midnight Thursday, and so once again the Florida State hit the national headlines as it has regularly since organization in 1938.

Another proud boast of the circuit was made possible last Monday night when for the second time within 10 days the Cincinnati Reds called up a Class D hurler off Johnny VanderMeer's Palatka Redie staff and saw him hurl remarkable ball against the Cleveland Indians in an exhibition tilt.

Bert Daladek was the second to be called and he responded with a fine 12-inning stint which he lost, 2 to 1, on Larry Doby's homer.

A week earlier, George McWilliams was called up, to defeat the Indians on an eight hit job. It is believed that this is the first time in baseball history that a major league club brought in Class D hurlers to face major leaguers, and loop directors were all smiles at the result.

Pizzaro and Jerry Bertanek of Cocoa went into a tie for the homer run leadership, too, and with 21 each were only one away from club records in that field.

Pizzaro got 20 in 1956 to tie the Gainesville club mark set by Charlie Brewer in 1951, while Bertanek needed only two more to break the Cocoa club record of 22 set by Cottrell in 1956.

Whether Banks and Pizzaro can top the 140 record RBIs pushed over by Buddy Lake of Sanford in 1940 before closing day Aug. 23 only they can say. In any event, the RBI and the HR race remain as about the only contest left in the loop what with Tom Hamilton's St. Petersburg Saints having gained a ten game lead over the field.

There was good reason to believe that the Saints will wind up with a blazing new record of victories. At midnight Thursday they won their 90th game, only eight away from the 98 wins against 35 losses by that great Sanford team of 1955, said by almost everyone to be the best team ever seen in the circuit.

The week was highlighted by the fact that the New York Yankees decided that Jim Horford's 18-3 record with the Saints deserved him a chance. So, they sent him to Birmingham of the Class A Eastern League where, altho he lost his first start on Monday night, great things are expected of him.

Meanwhile, the loop had a new batting leader in the veteran Art Pennington who was hitting .348 at midnight Thursday to Jim Niemann's .337 for Palatka, and Tom Hamilton's .329 for St. Pete.

Community Dinner Gathering Slated Saturday Night

The Geneva P-TA will sponsor a dinner Saturday night at the Community Home with serving slated to get underway at 8 p. m. A spokesman for the Geneva P-TA said "It is felt by the P-TA officers that in these critical times it is important that the people meet the candidates for the various public offices before election time. Since the Democratic Committee, in session on July 30, agreed to only one big political rally being held in the county, the spokesman explained, it is hoped that all candidates for office will avail themselves of an opportunity to get acquainted with the people of Geneva by coming to this gathering. "It is hoped that the school authorities will come out and meet our people," the spokesman said "in order that questions

Mrs. W. O. Benson To Open Kinder Kastle Next Month

By Mrs. Raymond Morris
CASSELBERRY—Kinder Kastle, kindergarten school for children five to six years of age will open at 9 a. m., Sept. 8, in the Casselberry Women's Club Building, according to Mrs. W. O. Benson, who will conduct the school. Hours will be from 9 to 12, Monday through Friday. Mrs. Benson has taught kindergarten in private schools in New York and has a background of nine years in teaching art and music, with school work being a specialty. Two years were spent at Robinson Barracks, Stuttgart, Germany, where Mrs. Benson accompanied her husband who was director of education there. During that time Mrs. Benson conducted a kindergarten having an enrollment of 30 children. Kinder Kastle will open with all new kindergarten equipment for instruction and special tables and chairs are on hand. Mrs. Benson said that before opening date Kinder Kastle will be equipped with all necessary books, craft materials, paints and toys, with singing being a daily part of class work. Mrs. Benson said that art pools are being organized in various areas, including Altamonte Springs, Leeswood, Bandedo and Casselberry. Pupils for Kinder Kastle will be accepted only after an interview with their parents and enrollment will close Sept. 5. Mr. and Mrs. Benson, located at 271 Lake Griffin Dr., moved here a year ago. Benson is head of the science department at Casselberry Junior High School at Winter Park. They have a son, Charles, age 13. Parents may contact Mrs. Benson by telephone at TE-1-2088.

W. Haynes Sees Sister For First Time In 50 Years

"You'd think a guy would visit his little sister often than once in fifty years, but this guy just didn't," which I regret." So said Walter Haynes Sr. who has just returned from a short trip around the circuit in the northern states. First he visited Dr. Walter Haynes Jr. and his wife Dr. Ruth Haynes and new baby daughter in Columbus, O. Incidentally he says that the doctors Haynes, who are well known in Sanford, are doing nicely in Columbus and will be in Sanford for a short visit late this month. His next stop was in Galesburg, Ill. where he visited his grandfather's old home, one of the first houses built in Central Illinois. This old house is a landmark and is still standing and in good condition. The house is of brick and the bricks were made by the grandfather. The house was also built by him in the then wilderness. Next stop was at Wichita, Kan. where he visited his brother whom he had not seen for 32 years. While there his younger sister Dorothy Gould flew in from Hollywood, Calif. This sister he had not seen for exactly 50 years and needless to say they had a wonderful reunion. They even visited the old home place near Wichita where they were all children together. Haynes stated that he visited the Wichita Eagle offices where he worked 40 years ago, before he left for Sanford to go into business with the late Bob Holly in the operation of The Sanford Herald. Of all the over 400 employees now working on that paper not a single person was found who was with the paper when he left, except the publisher. Also he noted that practically every business house in the city were those established since he was there. "Yes, I had a most wonderful vacation and trip" said he "but after all I was glad to be back in Sanford where I can see a few familiar faces." Haynes stated that his only regret was that his wife was unable to make the trip with him.
