Myrna Loy And Clark Gable In "Parnell" To Head Cast Of Big Names In Ritz Film

Story Of The Uncrowned King Of Ireland To Be Shown Here On Screen Sunday And Monday In Dramatic Picture

Hailed as the most powerful motion picture attraction in years, "Parnell," the tremendous moving historical drama of Charles Stewart Parnell, "Uncrowned King of Ireland," show Sunday and Monday at the Ritz Theater with Clark Gable and Myrna Loy co-starring at the head of a cast of big names.

Marking thirty-five starring successes since "Men in White" and "Manhattan Melodrama," the new picture presents Gable as the dynamic Irish patriot who sacrificed a gorgeous career because of another man's wife and Miss Loy as that woman, the lovely Katie O'Shea, wedded to a man she despised.

The picture was directed and produced by John Stahl, who gave the screen such successes as "Back Street," "Imitation of Life" and "Magnificent Obsession." It is based on the recent Broadway hit, written by Miss T. Schaffner, with the screen version the work of John Van Druten.

In the impressive supporting cast are Edna May Oliver in her first role since "Romeo and Juliet," this time seen as the feisty Aunt Ben; Billie Burke as the giggling, giddy Clara; and Allan Marshall as the ambitious Carl Willie O'Shea.

Director Stahl personally selected every member of the remaining seventy-five players.

The Vaudeville palace of the 1925 Golden Gate International Exposition will dramatize the urge to travel.

An airplane would pass over four states, a foreign country and a sea if it would take an airline route to the five corners of Texas. The distance flown would be nearly as far from Los Angeles to New York.

Comedy-Romance To Show At Ritz Next Wednesday

The delicious goings-on in the camp of a radio Swami, a look into the future, phoney who starts out after a bankroll and winds up with a bride, provides the theme and substance of Columbia's new comedy romance, "It Can't Last Forever," which will be offered at the Ritz Theater Wednesday and Thursday on a double bill with "Married Before Breakfast."

Ralph Bellamy heads the cast in his first major role as a comedian with Betty Furness furnishing the romantic interest and Robert Armstrong and Raymond Walburn adding to the general merriment. Interposed between the comedy scenes are several musical numbers featuring Barbara Burbank, a charming young screen newcomer with a torch-song voice.

The "Blenders," famous radio, vaudeville, and stage quartet, the Mordca-Brothers and a group of negro swingers.

"It Can't Last Forever" is an original story by the youngest writing team in Hollywood, Leo Loeb and Harold Buchman, who also wrote the screen story for the Astaire brothers "Skull and Bones." Hamilton MacFadden directed.

The picture tells the story of Bellamy and Armstrong, a couple of vaudeville agents who plan to build up a colossal fake called "The Master Mind," played by Raymond Walburn, into a radio sensation. The point in their campaign is the "discovery" of a valuable stolen pearl which the agents, as part of their plan, have stolen and hidden.

GABLE IN SCENE FROM "PARNELL"

Clark Gable is at his best in "Parnell," M-G-M's new hit production, which shows at the Ritz Theater Sunday and Monday. Myrna Loy is co-starring with Gable.

Screen Clowns Return To Ritz For Friday Film

Wheeler, Woolsey Play In Mad Comedy As Makers Of Pills

Highlighted by a bevy of pretty girls and speed with songs and dances, the top clowns of the screen, Bert Wheeler and Robert Woolsey, hit a new high in hilarity in their latest opus, "On Again-Off Again," which shows Friday at the Ritz Theater. Partnership troubles comprise the background of the side-splitting story, and this background is satirized in the dizzy duo's best style, from the musical-comedy chorus which makes up the personnel of the company's offices to the hectic complications that develop.

Wheeler and Woolsey are partners in a prosperous pill-manufacturing company, but never agree on which one is responsible for the world-wide success of their product. Their constant quarrels threaten to drive their legal adviser, Russel Hicks, insane.

The discord is augmented by the rivalries of Woolsey's wife and Wheeler's father.

ROBERT YOUNG AND FLORENCE RICE

Robert Young and Florence Rice are the principals in the light-hearted laugh-provoking romantic comedy, "Married Before Breakfast," which heads the program at the Ritz Theater Wednesday and Thursday. Young portrays a happy-go-lucky playboy who tries to find a husband for Miss Rice but in the end decides that he is the best man for that job himself!

Rice And Young Play Together In Ritz Picture

Stars Appear In Film On Double Feature Billing Wednesday

Teaming Robert Young and Florence Rice for the third time, "Married Before Breakfast," directed by Edwin L. Marin, plays at the Ritz Theater Wednesday and Thursday in a double feature program with "It Can't Last Forever."

As Tom Wakefield, a care-free young inventor, Young becomes enmeshed in a series of laugh-provoking adventures with Kitty Brent, played by Miss Rice, Barnett Parker, as Young's valet, is responsible for much of the comedy. Other featured roles include June Clayworth as June Baylin, socially prominent fiancée of Wakefield; and Hugh Marlowe as Kenneth, the insurance-selling beau of Kitty Brent.

Young recently completed "I Met Him in Paris" with Claudette Colbert and "The Emperor's Candlesticks" with William Powell and Luise Rainer. Miss Rice's most recent film was "All of a Sudden" with Joe E. Brown.

The romantic twosome have previously appeared together in "Sworn Enemy" and "The Loneliest Night."

The principal sets for their new picture include a palatial Fifth Avenue mansion, a swank hotel suite, an interior of a large office building, a middle-class boarding house and a travel agency office. There are twenty-six major sets in all, together with many exteriors.

FRANKFORT, Ky., July 31.—(P)—Circuit Judge Charles C. Marshall has held that dog racing is illegal in Kentucky and has dissolved a temporary injunction against state police raids on the Tacoma Kennel club at Dayton, Ky.

SOB SISTER

Betty Furness is seen as a newspaper woman in Columbia's "It Can't Last Forever," which plays Wednesday and Thursday at the Ritz Theater, with Ralph Bellamy as her headline-hunting swain. The romantic escapades of the two provide many of the film's merriment, with Robert Armstrong and Raymond Walburn taking up where Ralph and Betty leave off.

"The Go-Getter" Will Play Return Showing

The irascible but lovable old scuffling character created by Peter D. Kyne—Cappy Ricks—comes to life on the screen in "The Go-Getter," which plays a return engagement at the Ritz Theater Friday on a double feature program with "On Again-Off Again."

What Shorthand System Can She Use?

Co-proprietors of a pill factory, Bert Wheeler and Robert Woolsey in their new comedy riot for RKO Radio, "On Again-Off Again," do a little double dictating duty, with Kitty McHugh trying to take down their rapid-fire selling literature. "On Again-Off Again" is their twentieth comedy and one of their major hits, with melody and dancing mingled with their gags and laugh-provoking repartee.

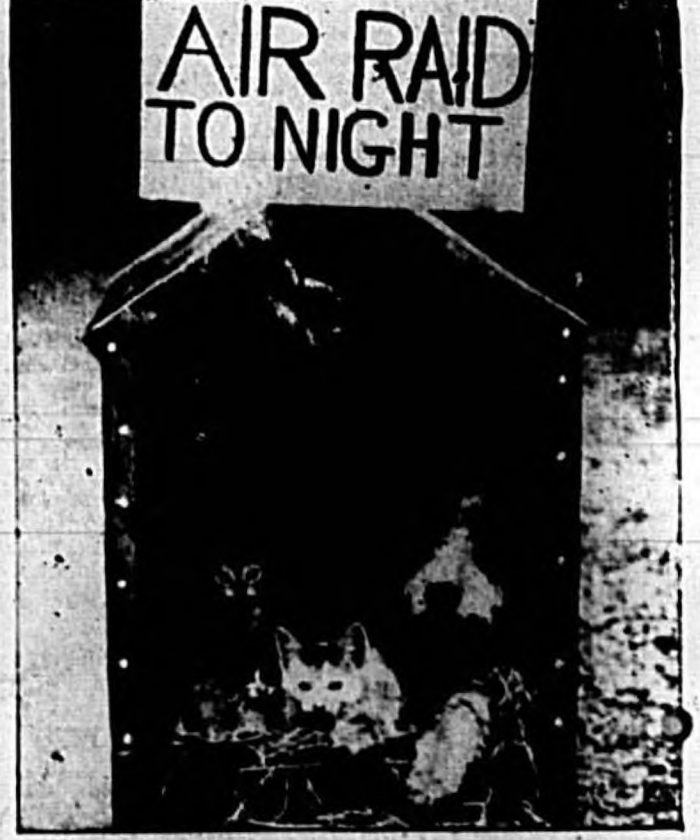

HOT FEET. Their prospective trip to France, where they will present a review at Cannes, seemed to have put too much gusto into the rehearsals of this chorus at New York. At any rate, George Hale, the dance director, called in the emergency fire apparatus and cooled down the "smouldering" doggies. The show must go on!

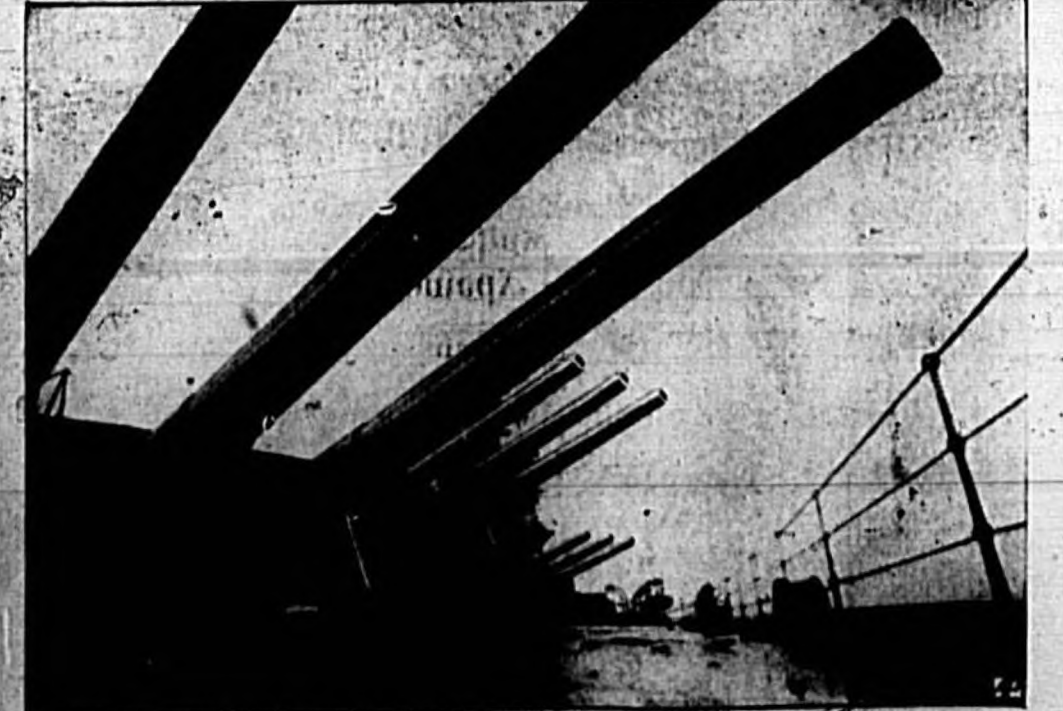

THANKS, POP! "Nothing like a good big black cigar after a meal," Brandon Hanson, 21-month-old Memphis youngster, seems to say. His father, Nick Hanson, with whom he is shown, says the boy has been smoking cigars since he was just one year old.

PANHANDLER. This is "Jesse James, Jr." following in the footsteps of his father by asking Yosemite park tourists for handouts.

AIR RAID TO NIGHT. It's serious business, this civilian training in England for imaginary air raids. For instance, in the "black out" of the Portsmouth area, animals and humans were directed to shelters. In the rush, this little shelter drew an odd assortment of refugees.

FIRES ON ENGLAND. Britain used part of her military forces to "attack" the south coast at Portsmouth during war maneuvers. This photograph shows all nine of His Majesty's Ship Rodney's fifteen-inch guns trained on the city of Portsmouth during the mock raid. The ship belonged to the "Bluebird" force of ships and planes which sought to break the defense of the "Redland."

'WAR' IN SOUTHERN ENGLAND. Just across the English channel from Europe, coast dwellers of Britain at Portsmouth enacted realistic wartime scenes, joining in with the army, navy and air force in the coastal defense exercises. Here are city engineers doing rescue work after a "bombing" attack. An "injured" man is being borne on a stretcher down a ladder.

GOODYE FOLKS. Here goes Marlene Dietrich and her husband, Rudolf Sieber, to Europe. They are shown on the Normandie at the start of a three-month voyage. Marlene wore a gray tailored suit and a sage green children's coat, matched by a felt hat.

With no hurricanes reported so far this summer, the tendency might be to forget that we have such disturbances and to overlook the fact that a far-flung system of storm detection is constantly on vigil to report the first sign of a tropical blow.

Weather instruments are of great importance in locating the origin, whereabouts, and progress of hurricanes and a check of barometers used by 25 special forecasters in the Bahamas Islands has just been completed assuring the weather bureau of reliable data.

The task of predicting the course of a hurricane is a difficult one and so amount of observation and technical analysis can determine exactly the path which a storm may take. It is for this reason that the public should learn to interpret weather bureau reports in the light of the fallibility of the weather man.

The sensible thing to do, when a hurricane is reported and it begins to look as though a certain section is endangered, is to get prepared and pray that the preparator will not be needed. The person who views weather reports as "just another false alarm" will be the one who will get caught with his windows up and the cows out in the pasture.

Friend Or Enemy?

Fishing enthusiasts are anxious to preserve the alligator for it is claimed these reptiles are very effective destroyers of gars which live on black bass. The opposition to this thought claims that the alligators eat up hunters' dogs, muskrats, otters, beavers, ducks, and other animals.

"What is there about snakes which arouses revulsion in so many persons?" asks the St. Petersburg Independent, which continues to say: "Dislike and fear for the deadly varieties is understandable, of course; but when not only women but hard-bitten and normally courageous men admit that even the most harmless varieties of snakes make their blood run cold and fill them with some elemental horror, it is hard to understand."

"The deadliness even of poisonous snakes is greatly overrated, and of the hundreds of varieties of snakes in this country, only four are poisonous—rattlesnakes, copperheads, moccasins, and coral snakes. The United States contains none of the deadly tropical constrictors—except in circuses, where they are carelessly handled by women."

"According to Clifford Pope, author of 'Snakes Alive and How They Live,' fewer than 4 percent of persons bitten by rattlesnakes die—provided they receive the correct treatment promptly. Even where treatment is neglected or delayed, or the wrong treatment is given, about six out of every seven persons bitten recover. As for copperheads, Mr. Pope says their bite is almost never fatal."

"Improper treatment, greatly increasing danger of dying from snake bite, includes such common remedies as drinking whiskey and burning the bite with gunpowder. 'The four varieties of poisonous snakes are distinctive in appearance, and every person should be able to recognize them at sight. Other snakes are harmless to man, and one of his greatest allies in eliminating harmful rodents. Farmers who kill snakes, says Mr. Pope, are virtually burning dollar bills.'

"Most varieties of snakes are man's friend, and do not deserve the loathing they inspire."

SANFORD TWENTY YEARS AGO

Mid-West Farmers Now Laugh At Ole John Grasshopper

LINCOLN, Neb., Aug. 2.—(AP)—Ole John Grasshopper is just about the most-reviled, most joked about and most long-suffering bug in the long Nebraska category.

At first it was all in the grasshoppers' favor. Farmers and entomologists told about the bug's ravenous appetites, about the damage to corn, described the plague as "the worst in history." It was all grim as death.

Everyone joined hands to poison him, swat him, drown him, get rid of him in any way possible. Washington helped. The state helped.

Then mother nature stepped in. First a maggot known as the flesh fly attacked the "hoppers" the maggot killed them. Then the flies came and they ate the hoppers. Then the hoppers were eaten by the flies.

It looks now as if Nebraska has got Ole John Grasshopper licked. That is, he is not so much a pest as he once was.

Bargain Days Are Reported In Suit Clothing Business

Return Of Prosperity Seen In Innovations In Wearing Apparel

NEW YORK, Aug. 2.—(AP)—Except for the moths chewing holes in your winter suits, things are pretty quiet in the clothing world. It's sale time and a good time to lay in warm-weather clothing if your supply is at all low.

Most of the summer suits—tropical worsteds, flannels, rayons, and the rest—are washed down from a quarter to a third, and a lot of accessories, like shirts, socks and ties are reduced to half price. Anything bought now probably will be a cheery sight in your wardrobe next spring, and the dollars saved will look nice too.

The return of better times is evidenced by the increasing number of innovations in all types of wearables. Manufacturers are springing new materials and new fashions of pattern, color and texture in a profusion that would have scared the merchants back in the "retrenchment" days.

New summer suitings with trick names are appearing faster than you can pronounce them; silk shirts are actually selling popular again; a dealer can introduce a new item with reasonable assurance it'll be grabbed up; and everybody's happy.

A lot of the innovations have been in beach and sports clothes—turtle-neck cotton and wool half-sleeved colored shirts, Madras print swimming shorts, and garments made of everything from denim to satinet.

But if you aren't interested, forget it—the picture of the man who catches the big fish and wins the railroad races and tennis games show most of them wearing a pair of white pants and a white shirt.

One item that seems to be taking hold is flexible straw hats made of dark coarse fibers, most of which are called coconut, with wide twisted cloth bands.

The swimming trunk industry is marching ahead. Some bright person noticed that prize-fighters, some of whom have to move quickly with a minimum of clothing, had perfected tight-fitting trunks, so the latest swimming trunks are engineered this same way, of light material, with elastic string belts, and cut for mobility.

Incidentally, if you want an idea of whether men ultimately are going to beat the censors in the battle over shirtless bathing, notice the number of pants-aloos that are advertised.

The years of martyrdom that men put in having white flannels cleaned seem to be bearing fruit at last. The white flannels are giving way to colored, to other light wool patterned trousers, and to white washables that don't take a scientist to renovate after the dog has jumped on them.

Blue serge suits, that used to be as much a part of the American business man as the blue plaid lunch, seem to be waning. They're being advertised now at as low as half old-time prices, with a timid reminder that you can wear the coats with white flannels.

If time is hanging heavily, you might while it away trying to find somebody wearing knickerbockers or one of those evening formal white lounge jackets. The latter started in the British Indian civil service and seem to have gone right back there.

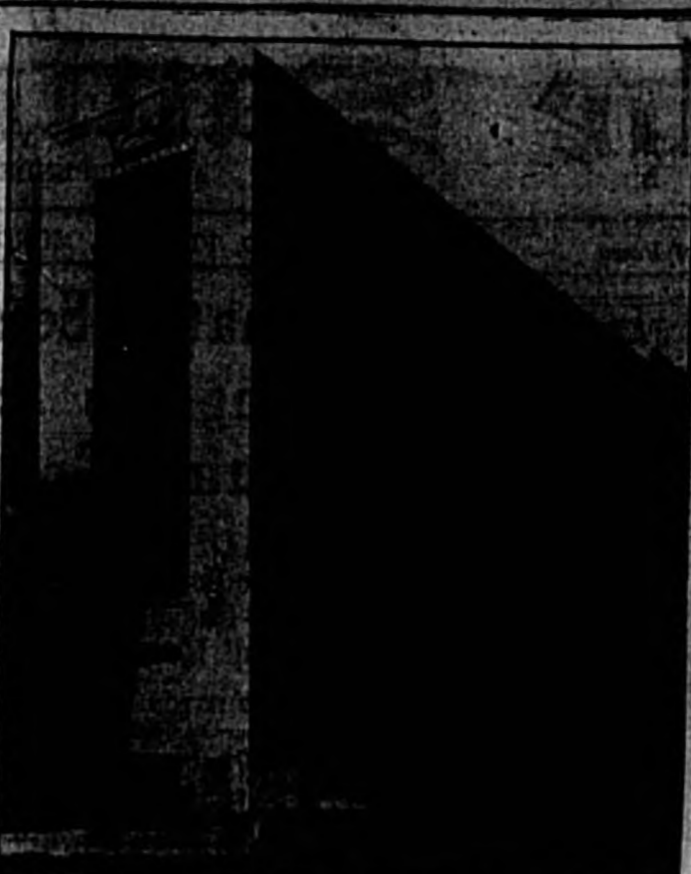

Here and there... One Broadway clothing store is advertising $475 overcoats. Yeah, they were left over... the current trend of Broadway-Coney Island circuit is a pair of four-dollar colored wool slacks, a colored polo shirt, suspenders and a girl.

These washable summer ties that cost only a few cents are going very strong. It looks as if more people than ever this year would be wearing them unblushingly through the winter.

A roving reporter asked likely-looking young men on the street the other day if they thought they were "shells." Of six who replied without hesitation, "Sure I'm a shell," one said he had the dollars of spending so much on clothes that he couldn't afford a telephone so that all the girls who thought he was a shell could call him up.

Combination of the week, seen on Fifth Avenue: White bow tie with red polka dots, blue shirt, white coat, blue-gray plaid pants, white shoes and tan gray-yellow socks.

An indecipherable magazine investigator has found that poetry, dynamic Major F. H. Edgerton has 212 hats, sending his chauffeur periodically to the store for them and the chauffeur's car.

IT'S STONE-PROOF. They've been talking about people who live in glass houses for years. Now's one in fact on New York's Fifth Avenue built mainly of glass blocks, with almost silver tinting. It will house the Coming Glass Works office.

Nomads Of Trailer Life-Saving Corps Become Subject Of Special Statutes Includes Several Attractive Girls

CHICAGO, Aug. 2.—(AP)—The nomad of the highway in his trailer has become the subject of special legislation in 53 cities, a survey by the American Municipal Association showed yesterday.

The trailer traveler in his home on wheels is regarded as a possible permanent resident whose activities must be regulated, large or cities have decided. Six of the 10 cities of more than 100,000 population surveyed by the association have set time limits for trailer camps. Sixteen cities prohibit the removal of wheels or blocking up of trailers.

They contend such an alteration removes the trailer from the city ordinance classification and places it under State and municipal housing code provisions. Dennis, Mass., was reported to have the strictest regulation. There, a 90-day residence limit in Ocean City, N. J., was the most lenient. Trailer dwellers may camp there for 120 days in any 18-month period.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., restricted general location to 90 days, but permitted the trailer occupants to settle during the winter months if they are gainfully employed and not likely to become public charges.

Glass As Preventive Of Tuberculosis Is Seen

WASHINGTON—In wartime gassing there is protection against tuberculosis, according to George E. Miller in the Chemical Warfare Bulletin.

He quotes the surgeon general of the U. S. report of 1920 that the tuberculosis rate among 70,822 gassed in 1918 was 2.66 per cent. The same year the rate was 3.50 among those serving in France but not gassed. The next year among the non-gassed Americans in France the tuberculosis rate was 4.30 per thousand soldiers.

He thinks this indicates a "positive preventative effect." He adds that 20 milligrams of mustard gas absorbed quickly into the human system will kill a man. But that in the war there was one death for each ton and a half of mustard gas.

The 1935 World's Fair in San Francisco will run for 225 days.

Americans In Far East Trust On Two Veterans

Col. John Marston and Admiral Harry Yarnell Watch Crisis

By The AP Feature Service The protection of some 900 American citizens in bullet peppered Peiping lies in the large, capable hands of color-headed Col. John Marston, veteran officer of the United States Marine Corps.

Officers at marine headquarters in Washington say that Marston, commander of the detachment of 400 "devil dogs" at the American embassy in the ancient Chinese capital, can be counted on to exercise alertness and good judgment in looking after the safety of the strait-forevered Americans.

Colonel Marston is a six-foot, 200-pounder of jovial disposition who has been in "snaky situations" before and has a way of winning the good will of foreign soldiers and citizens. He has had considerable service in foreign countries at periods when the anti-American spirit was running strong among the natives.

In 1914 he participated in the occupation of Vera Cruz, Mexico, and the engagement in connection with that expedition. From 1915 to 1918 he served in troubled Hawaii, taking part in operations against insurrectionary forces and was cited for meritorious service there.

He commanded the marine detachment at the American legation, Managua, Nicaragua, from 1922 to 1924, and was commended by the major general commandant of the marine corps for the energy, good judgment and tact which he displayed.

From 1929 to 1931 he was attached to the Nicaraguan national guard, and for his services received the Nicaraguan medal of distinction and the Nicaraguan medal of merit.

Colonel Marston, who is 52 years old, hails from Germantown, Pa. He was appointed a second lieutenant in the marine corps 29 years ago and was made a colonel in 1935. He has been in command of the marines at Peiping since April of this year.

Highest ranking American military officer in the war-torn Far East is Admiral Harry Yarnell, commander of the Asiatic fleet of the United States Navy. Yarnell is a 62-year-old, Iowa-born "salt," who has sailed the seven seas and loves the life of a sailor. As a cadet engineer he was aboard the battleship Oregon around The Horn at the outbreak of the Spanish-American war.

Augusta, has sailed north, but Admiral Yarnell can get in immediate touch by radio with the American embassy in Peiping where Col. John Marston and his small detachment of marines are protecting 800 marooned American citizens. Yarnell also maintains radio contact with naval headquarters.

Sanford Girls Enjoy Activities At Camp

An unusual and colorful entertainment at Laurel Falls Camp near Clayton, Ga., where many Sanford girls are spending the summer, was the annual cabaret featuring the dancing classes. This year the campers were transferred to a mighty Sultan's court. Oriental atmosphere was "quite realistic" with a throne covered in brilliant draperies, murals in ermine, purple and gold depicting Turkish court scenes and dancers, and palatial pillars in deep red and purple. A carpet of these shades led from the royal couch to the stage where a backdrop gave an exterior view of the palace. Vividly colored tables decorated with "silver sand" were most attractive. Little Turkish slaves in bright colors and gold masks in teasing nut caps. Adding to the color and gaiety of the occasion, each girl donned her favor, a red and gold "hat."

In order that the Sultan might be pleased, new dancers were brought in to try their skill. Campers under the direction of the dancing instructor, Miss Vivian Morgan of Brunswick Ga., and New York, presented ballet, tap, acrobatic and character numbers. In colorful regalia, New Mexico, Greece, Vienna, South America and other countries made appearance before the Sultan. Among the dancers were the Misses Margaret Laneley, Ellen Melwether, Anne Wiggins, and Kathryn Wiggins of Sanford.

"It is particularly pleasing to note that Florida leads the entire country in percentage of new construction, which reflects very favorably upon operations of the office in Jacksonville, Tampa, and Miami."

"It also proves that the lending institutions of Florida have faith in the economic situation of our State and are willing to cooperate with the funds necessary to build homes. This report is especially significant and I sincerely hope the good work can be continued."

Hilarious Comedy To Be At Ritz Tuesday

About as many laugh-winning players as Warner Bros. had on their own lot or could rally from outside sources were poured into "Marry the Girl," the wild and hilarious farce-comedy which has its local premiere tomorrow at the Ritz Theater.

Frank McHugh, for example, who recently wowed audiences with his "Olwin" in "Three Men On a Horse"; Carol Hughes, who was Frank's weepy wife in that same show; Hugh Herbert, fresh from his great triumph in "Sing Me a Love Song"; Mary Boland, long famed on stage and screen; Mischa Auer, the gorilla-man of "My Man Godfrey"; Allen Jenkins, Teddy Hart, Hugh O'Connell, Olin Howland and a dozen more.

"The goofiest, nuttiest show I ever saw, let alone directed," says William McGinnis, who guided the making of the picture. "That's probably right, according to preview reports of 'Marry the Girl.' It has to do with a big newspaper syndicate, whose writers, cartoonists, artists and the like are all to say the least—temperamentally eccentric.

The head of this is Hugh Herbert, most eccentric of all. His man-of-all-work is Frank McHugh, and his sister, the brains of the establishment, Miss Boland. Carol Hughes is their niece, who averages a love affair a week, and finally marries the man who helped her with all of them.

Mrs. Fred P. Coxe And Governor Graves Review Guard Troops

FORT MCCLURE, Ala., Aug. 2.—(AP)—Gov. Bibb Graves and the wife of Gov. Fred P. Coxe of Florida reviewed 5000 picked troops of the 42nd Infantry Brigade yesterday as a feature of the "Governor's Day" celebration of the summer encampment. Gov. and Mrs. Coxe, Mrs. Graves and Col. Preston A. Coxe, commanding officer of the 14th Infantry—the Florida regiment in camp here—entered the reservation at noon. An honor guard for Graves, who detailed from the 14th Infantry, the Alabama unit.

Each point of the ceremonies was the review. Company C, 167th, Selma, Ala., outfit, elated address guard mount. Capt. George P. Quarles served as officer of the guard.

Brig. Gen. John Q. Parsons, of Birmingham, is commander of the 42nd Brigade. This is the first time the two regiments have been assembled as a unit. Yesterday marked the half-way camp point. The Guards have been here one week. Guards units were first to move past the stand, and two units passed across the parade grounds in this.

War Memorial Of U. S. Is Dedicated On French Soil

Six thousand American and Frenchmen attended the ceremonies at the memorial, a tall white shaft of granite, designed by John Russell Oppie of New York. Rising from a hillside, it dominates the surrounding country like a lighthouse. Nearby are the ruins of the church and village of Montfaucon, destroyed in the last days of September, 1918, when the American army was going through its grimmest test of the great war.

President Roosevelt stressed the common democratic aims of the two countries. "The people of France and the people of the United States find union today in common devotion to the ideal which the memorial at Montfaucon symbolizes," he said. "That ideal, to which both nations bear faithful witness, is the ideal of freedom under democracy—liberty attained in democratic institutions."

President Le Brun, speaking immediately after President Roosevelt, said his words "brought forth emotion hard to control." "He spoke words of reason whose echo will go far beyond those to whom they were destined," Le Brun declared. "France here today publicly renews her gratitude to America on the site of her great victory."

General Pershing declared that the Mause-Argonne campaign, in which 1,000,000 Americans were in action, was "fierce and more heart-breaking" than any World War battle except Verdun. "It is memories such as these that make civilized soldiers hate war, and they do hate it," he declared. "The last conflict brought no profit to anyone, but left many questions unsettled. But they cannot be settled by war. Yet the prospects for peace do not look promising."

American attending the dedication included Josephus Daniels, war time secretary of the navy and now ambassador to Mexico; Gov. Robert E. Quinn of Rhode Island and Mrs. Quinn; Benedict Crowell of Cleveland, war time assistant secretary of state; Congressman Charles A. Eaton of New Jersey, Lister Hill of Alabama, and J. Walter Lambeth of North Carolina; Harry W. Colmery, national commander of the American Legion, and Brig.-Gen. Bernard W. Kearney, national commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Future Farmers Benefits Related By Alex Johnson

(Continued From Page One) and participation in activities throughout the state. Incidentally, the Future Farmers participate in more activities than any other organization in the school. To substantiate his statement Mr. Johnson presented the report of Herbert Thurston for his activities over a four-year period. According to the report Herbert made $97.34 profit from his projects during the four years. On his project this past season, the Future Farmer member made nearly $450 profit on a project which was carried on outside his regular school activities.

Aide from his projects, Herbert was active in all the affairs of the club. Some of his outstanding activities were: member of the F. F. A. Livestock Judging Team for two years, accompanied the F. F. A. on a vacation tour to Washington, D. C. in 1935, represented the Seminole Chapter at the Forestry Training Camp in 1936, received a State Farmer's Degree at the State Convention in 1937, won first prize of $25 at the Orlando Fair Cereals Exhibit in 1937.

Next year Mr. Johnson hopes to have a much larger class than ever before and the chapter also hopes to add many improvements to its farm at the rear of the High school, including the new building in which they will hold their classes and will also house their work-shop.

Flow Of Gold To United States Is Showing Let-Up

(Continued From Page One) funds it receives from the sale of gold. Under its gold "sterilization" program, the treasury borrows from the money market to pay for gold acquisitions. The program, launched last December, is designed to prevent gold imports from increasing the supply of domestic credit. Thus far, the treasury has borrowed more than $1,000,000,000 to operate the sterilization plan. Should this amount of gold be sold for export to other countries the treasury presumably would use the proceeds to retire a corresponding amount of indebtedness. Officials said it was unlikely the treasury would use receipts from gold sales to retire indebtedness as the transactions occurred, but probably would fund until it had a sizeable fund stored up for the purpose. Because movements of funds between countries generally are accomplished by gold shipments, the metal would move out of this country with any steady withdrawal of foreign investments here, or with broad-scale American investments abroad.

Bids Requested For New Ship Of Latest Design

(Continued From Page One) slightly larger. The specifications are: Overall length 723 feet; beam 92 feet; depth 75 feet to the promenade deck; speed 22 knots; passenger accommodations for about 1220 in cabin, tourist and third class quarters; crew of 630. Bids were asked on both a fixed sum and an adjusted price basis. The latter is subject to adjustment because of changes in the cost of labor and materials, providing any resultant increase in cost does not exceed 15 percent. The flexibility of this alternate arrangement is expected to facilitate the biddings, Chairman Joseph P. Kennedy said. The ship will be built under the construction differential subsidy provisions of the merchant marine act. These authorize the government to contribute up to 50 percent of total construction cost, depending on the difference between foreign and domestic costs. The United States lines laid up the Leviathan with the permission of the government after contending the cost of running her had risen too high to allow competition with modern trans-Atlantic craft. The commission asked some months ago for bids on two types of ships to replace the Leviathan. The bids were rejected on June 2 on grounds that they were not qualified—that a flat-price could not be determined. The two bids submitted at that time on a ship of the Manhattan-Washington type were $14,375,000 and $14,995,000. Bids for an alternate and slightly larger ship were

Locals Drop Two Out Of Three To G-Men

Second Game Of Four Game Series Called Because Of Rain With Sanford Leading

Lookouts Lose Third Game When G-Men Score Two Runs In Ninth To Win 2 To 1

The Sanford Lookouts were able to take but one game in the four-game series with the league leading Gainesville G-Men over the weekend.

In the first game, Lefty Joe Spikman effectively blanked the locals, allowing them but six scattered hits while the G-men were collecting 12 hits for six runs off Early Wynn, pitching for Sanford.

The second game rained out, a break for the G-Men in the second inning, the Lookouts were leading 5 to 0 with the bases loaded and one out. Then the rain poured down and the game was called.

Yesterday the Sanford Club traveled to Gainesville to meet them in another double bill.

In the first game, Big Dan Bralnard was on the mound for the locals. The Lookouts played loose ball behind him and he was in trouble one or two times.

In the fourth game of the series, the locals won by a score of four to two. Sanford used Mote, Gehrig, and Wright, while Gainesville pitched for the win.

The Lookouts play the Palatka team in Sanford today. The locals are only three and one half games out of first place.

State League Now Led By Deland's Star Infielder

Chuck Aleno Passes Martin Of Daytona With .338 Average

ORLANDO, Aug. 2.—For the first time in weeks, pitching predominated Florida's State League play, a fact reflected in the general slump of a large majority of the 66-odd regular players whose marks touched the .300 or better figure.

Official averages released here by League Secretary Peter Schaal reveal that Chuck Aleno, the flashy Deland third sacker, has replaced Popper Martin of Daytona Beach as the league's leading batter among the majority-game regulars.

In 78 games to date for Martin, Aleno has pounded out 164 hits in 308 trips for an average of .338, just three points better than the 345 of Martin. Aleno also is second in runs batted in with 63.

Four players cracked the .350 or better mark for the first time in weeks. They were: Smith of Palatka, Charlie of Ft. Augustine, Honner of Leesburg and Overstreet of Orlando.

The Deland Reds boosted their club batting mark in a 7-1, six points ahead of the Daytona Beach Islanders, mainly because of their record-breaking 25-10 victory over Orlando.

More Jap Re-inforcements Pour In From Manchoukuo Bases

TIENSIN, Aug. 2.—(AP)—Japanese warplanes rained bombs on the vanguard of advancing Chinese armies today at Tschow on the border of Hopeh and Shantung provinces, 80 miles south of here.

A column of Japanese infantry, supported by artillery and tanks, was pressing southward by forced marches, to dispute the advance of central government troops into Hopeh province.

While more reinforcements poured in from Manchoukuo, the Japanese-sponsored state on the north, Japanese scouting and bombing planes rained over a wide area to the south.

After twice bombing Peipingfu on the Peiping-Hankow Railway southwest of Peiping, one of the Japanese planes proceeded south into the heart of Hopeh province to strike the Changchow strategic rail junction and most important Chinese military center of the vicinity.

Other Japanese planes attacked Tschow, capital of Shantung province, to the east.

Blinding Of Library Books Seen Probable Through WPA Grants

The employment of needy persons for the binding and repairing of books at the Sanford Public Library has been approved, according to information received today from Sheriff Charles O. Anderson.

The WPA project, No. 21,623, calls for a modest contribution of $1,150 which will be used for the work. Although definite allocation of the funds depends largely upon the total allocation to the state, the fact that the project shows it is a favorable possibility, is the main reason.

It is expected that the project will be completed in the near future.

Effort Made To Get People To Make Souvenirs From State Raw Products

Co-operating with the Florida State Chamber of Commerce to their "buy Florida" drive for the coming year, the Florida State Agricultural Marketing Board and other State-wide agencies are making efforts to sell souvenirs and useful articles made of Florida raw materials to the tourist in place of the German and Japanese made articles depicting Florida that the tourists now buy.

Mrs. Gladys Kendall, house demonstration agent here, received the following message from the Florida State Marketing Board recently:

"Do you know of any people in your community who either now are making or are able to make unusual and interesting products from native raw materials? We have a wide range of things which will be interesting as souvenirs and memorabilia which our tourists will be glad to buy. These may be such articles of just 'souvenir' type. We have found opportunities at this point.

Two Department Of Commerce Officials Among Passengers

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2.—(AP)—The War Department received a message from its Panama military establishment today asserting an army plane had located the missing Pan-American-Grace Airways flying boat 30 miles northeast of Cristobal but had found no signs of life near it. The brief radio message said merely that the airliner which carried 11 passengers and a crew of three was located "totally under water with no signs of life."

BALBOA, Canal Zone, Aug. 2.—(AP)—Twenty-two United States navy planes fanned out over the Isthmus and coastline today in search of the missing Pan-American-Grace Airways flying boat with 11 passengers and a crew of three.

Two squadrons from the Navy's 1st Marine Air Wing commanded the area south of the plane which had not been heard from since it reported bad weather at 7:16 P. M. last night.

The Navy Department at Washington said a total of 65 planes, the Navy aircraft tender, Teal, the survey ship Nokomis and the destroyers Taylor and Habbitt had been ordered into the search.

A radio message last night indicated the ship was near Cristobal, its destination, on the Atlantic side of the canal and was descending in search of an opening in a heavy cloud bank.

The Pan-American clipper, scheduled to take off at 6 A. M. today for Miami, Florida, and with which the missing ship was to have made connections cancelled its flight and joined the search.

All other Pan-American-Grace Airways ships also were taken from their regular service to hunt the big Sikorsky amphibian which was flying from Guayaquil, Ecuador.

The pilot was Stephen Dann, among the passengers were two United States Department of Commerce officials—Alex. Martin and C. Q. Caldwell—Thomas Wakely, representative of the National City Bank of New York and Oscar Miller, a Ford Motor Company employe.

Byrd Leads Fight Against Bill For Large Re-vamping

Says Measure Would Give President Too Wide Federal Power

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2.—(AP)—Senator Byrd, Democrat, Virginia, charged yesterday that the administration's bill to reorganize the executive branch of the government would give President Roosevelt a vast amount of power which congress could be sure of recovering only by a two-thirds vote.

Charles E. Merriam, a member of the President's reorganization committee, retorted from the witness stand:

"I don't know whether Senator Byrd seriously intended to intimidate the (President's) committee did not intend to maintain the Democratic form of our government, but if he did, I resent it."

Many New Books Are Bought By Library

Many new books have been purchased for the enjoyment of the increased number of readers of the Sanford Public Library. It was stated today by Mrs. E. J. Moughtin, city librarian.

She stated that although June readers were great in number, the July circulation far exceeded 5,000, and it was expected that August would be the greatest month of the year.

Last year, the circulation of the library was about 55,000 and indications show that the coming year might tower over that amount.

Included in the new books for this summer were about 60 juvenile and countless light fiction books which should be very entertaining, Mrs. Moughtin said.
