Salvation Army to host farewell services for Major Williams

Soldiers, friends and members of the local Salvation Army Advisory Board will say "farewell" to Major Bruce Williams, Corps Officer, on Sunday, June 10 and Sunday, June 17. The farewells will be offered during the Sunday Holiness meetings at 11 a.m. at 700 West 24th Street in Sanford.

Major Williams is in his sixth year as leader of the Salvation Army for Seminole County. He and his wife, Faith, came to Seminole County in 1995.

Under their leadership community services have grown and new programs have been developed. Most notable are the growth in emergency assistance to the needy and the homeless, and the Family Focus program that provides a safe environment for monitored parental visits.

Major Faith Williams was "Promoted to Glory" in November 1999. Since her death, Major Bruce Williams has continued his role of community leader and pastor and has had the additional responsibility of Major Faith's duties.

Many people in the community will remember Major Williams when he was on duty and served thousands of people following the tornado of 1998. Major Williams is an active member or participant in several community organizations including Kiwanis and Seminole H.E.A.R.T. and the Sheriff's Chaplains Association.

Major Williams said he is grateful to the community and the Salvation Army's donors for their support.

Individuals and groups interested in saying their farewells should contact Bill Stewart at 407-322-2642. The public is invited to attend the "Farewell" meeting held Sunday June 10 and Sunday, June 17.

Dale hired to operate airport

By Dan Ping

Board unanimously approves position for former Sanford mayor

SANFORD — Former Mayor Larry Dale's hiatus from public service didn't last long.

Two months after handing over the gavel to Brady Lessard, Dale was named president and CEO of the Orlando Sanford International Airport during Tuesday's meeting of the Airport Authority. Dale will begin working July 23.

port's current executive director, Victor White, will become the No. 2 man at OSI, and will have the title executive vice president.

Authority members approved the measure unanimously and there was little substantial discussion about the contracts

Dale presented to the board for himself and White.

Authority secretary/treasurer Geoffrey Longstaff did suggest the severance package for both men be reduced from one year's salary to six months salary. He also recommended Dale and White — not the airport — pay for family members health insurance, and that a 90-day notice for failure to renew employment be inserted in each contract.

"I'm very comfortable with the contract," Longstaff said. Board members accepted Longstaff's recommendations.

The length of White's contract sparked the only controversy during the meeting. White was under a three-year contract as executive director; however, his new position as vice president is for a one-year

Father Al dies Saturday

Fornance traded stethoscope for clergy robes at 77

Reverend Father Albert J. Fornace, D.O., F.A.C.O.I., Parochial Vicar of All Souls Catholic Church in Sanford, died Friday, June 1, 2001 at Memorial Hospital Peninsula in Ormond Beach, of congestive heart failure.

Born April 14, 1920 in Philadelphia Pennsylvania, he grew up there with his younger brother, the late Horace, and his sister Mary Dot Klock of Key Largo, Florida. He attended Saint Joseph Preparatory then St. Joseph College.

He was trained as a physician at the Philadelphia College of Osteopathic Medicine, (PCOM). He began medical practice at Riverview Osteopathic Hospital in Norristown, Penn.

At Riverview, he was instrumental in bringing physician training and new cardiac modalities to the local area. He arranged to have a patient at Riverview receive one of the first pacemakers implanted in the Philadelphia area and introduced a new concept of cardiac massage and resuscitation locally. Dr. Fornace was on the teaching faculty of PCOM.

Father Al Fornace

He convinced the Osteopathic School to get the medical students away from total classroom training and come to Riverview Hospital to train with physicians and patients. This then evolved into a residency program establishing an Osteopathic training hospital in Norristown. Many of the physicians he trained stayed in the local area to practice. He was instrumental in the hospital's move in 1972 to its present location in the local area. He arranged to have a patient at Riverview receive one of the first pacemakers implanted in the Philadelphia area and introduced a new concept of cardiac massage and resuscitation locally. Rec board stands firm on skate park

Chairman asks staff to relocate facility away from neighborhood

By Michelle Jeria
Managing Editor

LAKE MARY — The Parks and Recreation Board reaffirmed Monday its recommendation to build a skate park in the city's Sports Complex.

The Board unanimously voted to uphold its previous recommendation to City Commission following a public hearing attended by residents both opposed to and in favor of the proposed facility. However, the Board deviated from its earlier decision by asking the Parks and Recreation Department to examine alternative locations within the Sports Complex for the park.

City Commission sent the issue back to the Board last month after several residents living near the park's proposed location spoke out against construction of the facility. Although in favor of a skate park, several said they don't want it located in the neighborhood adjacent to the sports complex, citing traffic and noise concerns.

"I think it's a quality of life issue," said Kathy Randell, who lives in the neighborhood near the park. "There is already too much traffic on Rantoul Lane."

"I have nothing against a skate park, but build it somewhere else in Lake Mary," she said. "I think we have met our quota on Rantoul Lane."

Several residents are also concerned about children's safety while traveling to and from the park. There are no sidewalks leading to the sports complex, which could pose a threat to children riding bicycles or skateboards to the complex.

Police operation tries to raise awareness of underage drinking

By Christopher Patton
Staff Writer

SANFORD — From May 29 to June 3, the Seminole County Sheriff's Department and other law enforcement agencies in Seminole County conducted the "Enhanced Zero Tolerance Operation" targeting alcohol possession by underage persons.

While law enforcement agencies are constantly discouraging underage drinking, for the few select days during high schools graduations officers tried to send a message to the community — underage drinking is the law and they will enforce it.

"People can debate if a 15-year-old is old enough to drink, but it's still against the law," said

Deputy Director Mark Rader of the SCSD Juvenile Crime Enforcement and Intervention. "If we can send a message it's not acceptable then we're doing our job."

During the operation, the task force made 98 compliance checks, 26 adult arrests, 31 juvenile arrests, 16 citations and 15 notices to appear. Of the 98 compliance checks, 15 stores failed as they sold alcohol to an underage informant. According to Rader, this year's arrests slightly outnumbered the two previous Zero Tolerance Operations.

"Defined success to me is we didn't have any alcohol related accidents in the week," Rader said. "I think the biggest improvement we are seeing is in our education effort as every kid we talked to knew we were doing the Zero Tolerance Operation."

According to Rader, when the juvenile assessment center was built in November 1997, many people balked at the idea and claimed juvenile crime would rise in Seminole County. However, Seminole County has the lowest juvenile crime rate in the state for counties with more than 15,000 people. In fact, the juvenile crime rate has decreased by 31 percent over the last four years in Seminole County.

Rader believes much of success is attributed to operations like the zero tolerance and several diversion programs that help

Officers hunt for two Longwood bank robbers

By Christopher Patton
Staff Writer

LONGWOOD — Police are searching for two bank robbers after the First Union Bank at 120 S. Highway 17-92 was held up at approximately 10:10 a.m. Monday.

A black male entered the bank armed with an unidentified firearm and stole an undisclosed amount of cash. The suspect then fled the scene in a blue Geo Metro which was being driven by a second black male.

According to eyewitnesses, the get-away car sped down

State Road 434 towards Interstate 4. Seminole County Sheriff's Department helicopter helped LPD search the area. Not long after the armed robbery, officers found the blue Geo Metro parked at the abandoned Hardee's on State Road 434. The car was listed as a stolen vehicle by the Orange County Sheriff's Department.

Dozens of customers were turned away from the bank's doors as investigators established a perimeter and searched for clues. Witnesses were inter-

SEMINOLE SUMMARY

A GLANCE AROUND OUR COUNTY

Keep guns away from children

They tried an experiment in Atlanta recently. A group studying children's reactions to guns hid one in a drawer at a location frequented by 64 boys age 8 through 12. After hiding the gun, which was not loaded, they watched from a secret location.

Nick Pfeiffauf

After they found the gun, almost half, 30 of them, handled the gun. Sixteen boys actually pulled the trigger, and several of them looked down the barrel of the gun. Yet the study group said most of the boys had previously received some type of gun safety education.

We all know — guns attract the attention of youngsters. They are a "no-no" which, when the opportunity presents itself, is a mystery for a child to investigate.

The argument over gun control is between those who say guns kill people, versus those who say people, not guns, kill people. That can be argued both ways, and I won't get into it.

The point here, however, for those who have guns in their home or business, is to keep them secured. If they are in a drawer, be certain the drawer is locked and children are unable to open them — they shouldn't know where you have hidden the key.

Here again, we have another disagreement. Keep the gun locked up for the protection of the children, or keep it unlocked so it can be easily accessible in time of emergency.

A couple in Zephyrhills this past weekend didn't keep their guns locked up. Hearing a noise outside his mobile home apparently in the middle of the night, a man took one handgun from a drawer and gave another handgun to his wife. He then went outside to see where the noise was coming from. The wife, hearing more noises outside the door, fired a number of shots through the door, one of which killed her husband.

If those guns had been locked up, it probably would have required more time to remove them from the drawer, and if there had been a prowler, their safety could have been threatened. On the other hand, using a gun for self protection cost this man his life.

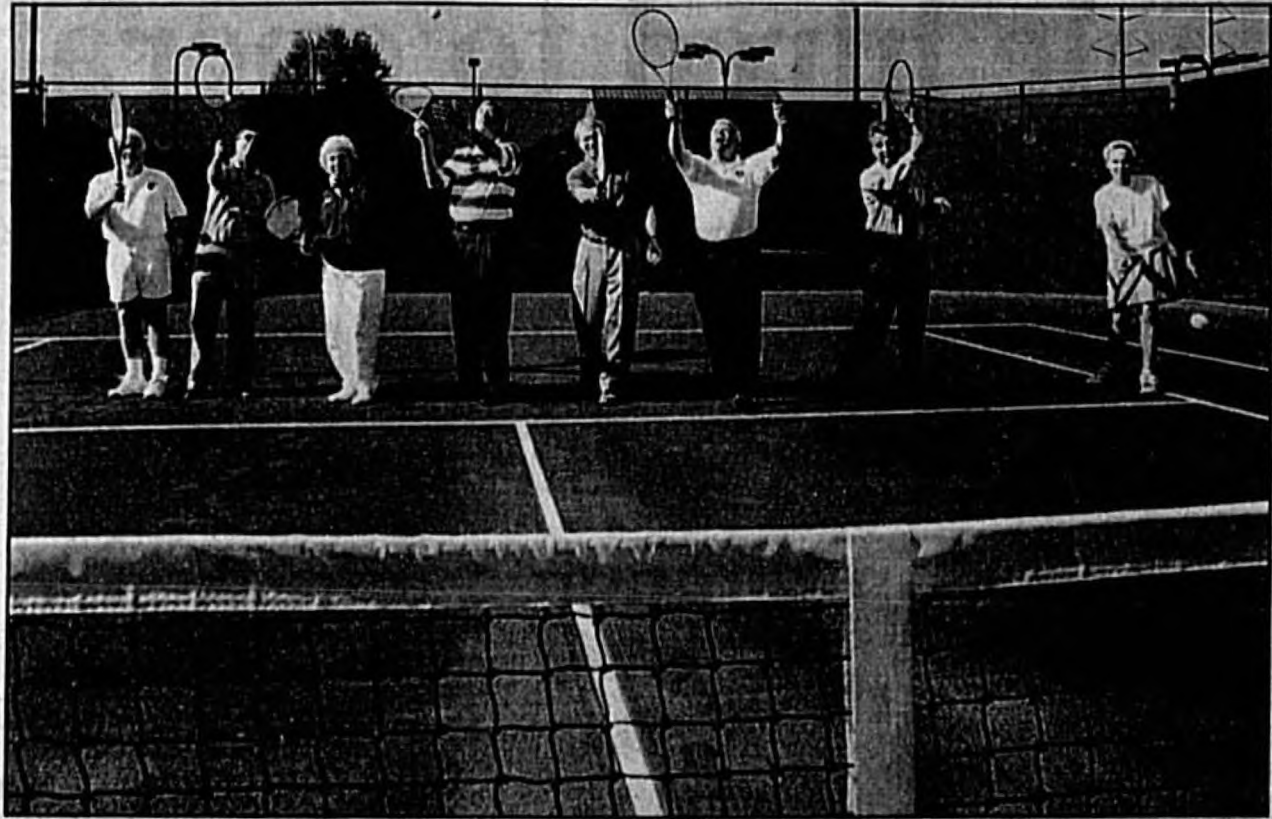

Who is right — who is wrong? Depending on which way you envision gun control, you could argue either way.

But the sole point of this writing is to urge people who have handguns or rifles in their homes, as well as children living there or visiting, to lock them up. Prevent them from falling into the hands of a curious child. Even with trigger guards, be doubly safe and have them locked into a cabinet or drawer — and hide the key.

What is even more frightening about guns left unsecured, is that — in order to show off — a child may take it to school or out in the neighborhood to show his (or her) friends. Is the gun loaded or not? Many of them wouldn't know. What they DO know is you fire a gun by pulling the trigger. Just like the kids in Atlanta, no doubt many of them will try. If the gun is loaded, we have another unnecessary disaster.

If you have guns, especially if you have kids, keep the two separated by lock and key.

You gotta have a theme

Whenever our relatives come to visit, Sweetie and I have to dash around the house planting all the gifts they've given us over the years. It's not that we're ungrateful. It's just that a chamber pot filled with plastic poinsettias doesn't really go with our decor.

"Isn't that the birdhouse I gave you last Christmas?" my aunt asks, starting off the deck.

"Indeed it is," I say, praying it doesn't crash to the ground before she backs the Crown Victoria out of the driveway.

Squinting, she leans over the rail only to shrink back in horror.

"You painted over the half-moon!" she cries, glaring at me like I've drawn a smiley face on the Mona Lisa.

"It's the neighborhood building restrictions," I say soberly. "We're not allowed to hang outhouses in the trees."

One relative's treasure is a second relative's suspicion that the first relative was switched at birth in the nursery.

"It's your own fault," my little sister says. "You don't have a theme."

"A theme?" I frown.

I give this some thought, and Sis is absolutely right. When it comes to gifts, everyone in the family has a theme.

Sweetie's mom collects frogs; anything frog will do. My cousin collects antique pull-puppets. And my Great-aunt Sadie collects eggs. Not Faberge — real eggs, like you scramble in the morning. The artist pricks a hole in each end, blows the guts out, and then decorates the shell with paint and glitter.

Her entire living room is just like Madame Tussaud's Wax Museum, except in eggs. She has George Washington wearing a powdered wig and perched on the bow of a little boat, Marilyn Egg-Monroe in sequins and Elvis Egg-Presley — the later years.

She even has the Last Supper in eggs, 11 little Humpty Dumpty Disciples sitting in front of an egg carton covered with a miniature red-and-white-checked tablecloth.

"I had to throw Peter away," she says, as she adjusts Paul's pipe cleaner arm. "He got to smelling a little rank." Sometimes in the artist's creative frenzy, she forgets to rinse out the shell.

Apparently, if you don't have a theme, your family gets together and chooses one for you. Somewhere along the line, our loved ones looked at Sweetie and me, then looked at each other and declared, "Toilets!"

Safely stored in our basement is every bathroom-related gift known to man. We have stacks of books filled with bathroom humor, salt and pepper shakers shaped like Porta Potties, and rolls of gag toilet paper made out of straw, dollar bills and The Washington Post. Someone actually gave us a little bank shaped like a commode. You throw a coin in the bowl, pull the handle and it goes WHOOSH!

I don't know what disturbs me most — all the time, money and brain-power our relatives have flushed down the toilet, or the fact that people who have known us all our lives think our ideal gift is a commode plunger with a bottle opener on the handle.

The solution, of course, is to come up with a theme. And after considerable thought, I think I have one.

"Refrigerator magnets," I say. Taking a drag off her cigarette, Sis gives this some thought.

"Readily available, easily stored and can be thrown up in a flash whenever relatives drop by uninvited," she says. "I like it."

"So, what's your theme?" I ask. "Cash," she says, blowing smoke rings toward our new toilet-shaped hummingbird feeder, "but a check will do."

Zero Tolerance

The Seminole County Sheriff's Department stated earlier they would concentrate on parties at this graduation time, to assure no persons under age 21 would be consuming alcohol. Sunday, they made two arrests at a party on Scarlet Iris Place near Winter Park. Vanessa E. Sain, 18, of Maitland was arrested on a charge of possession of liquor by a person under 21 years of age. Nicolas Jacques Allard, 18, of Winter Park, was arrested on charges of possession of liquor by a person under 21, possession of under 20 grams of marijuana, and possession of a controlled substance.

Sanford police responded to a house party Sunday on Hidden Lake Drive. James William Slaughter, 20, of Casselberry, was arrested on a charge of possession of liquor by a person under 21 years of age.

Thefts

• Greg Charles Prager, 41, of Thomas Stables Road, Sanford, was arrested by Sanford police Monday. Officers said he broke the front window of a convenience store in the 1900 block of Country Club Drive, entered the store and removed a 12-pack of beer, bottles of wine coolers, many cigarette packs, and $25 in cash for a total of $88.22. He was apprehended and charged with burglary of a structure, petty larceny, and damage/criminal mischief over $200.

• Gloria Maxine Hinton, 39, Fairway Drive, Sanford, was arrested by Casselberry police

Monday at a retail store on Highway 17-92. The arrest report said she removed two bathing suits and other items from the store without paying. She was charged with retail theft.

• Chris Alan Watson, 19, was arrested by Sanford police Monday. Officers said he took a $2.29 bottle of beer from a convenience store on CR-427 without paying. He was charged with petty larceny.

Traffic Stops

• David Leejr Parker, 32, of Georgia Avenue, Sanford, was stopped by Sanford police Sunday at 27th Street and French Avenue. He was charged with driving under the influence of alcohol, reckless driving, and no proof of insurance.

Over exposure Follies and fame in national politics

There are a lot of things in the papers these days that I don't need to know anything more about, beginning with the president's daughter flashing a false ID at a bar in Austin.

Richard Reeves

Right up there in the gimme-a-break category is the relationship between the president of Mexico and his live-in press secretary, which took up more than two columns in Friday's New York Times under the headline: "The President's Sweetheart Is Also His Spokeswoman." Until then, knowing I should know more about his views on oil production, the only thing I really knew about Vicente Fox was that he was tall.

Then there were the Clintons, not only Bill and Hillary but brother Roger and the overweight Rodhams. Now there are the Giulianis, Mayor Rudy and his legal wife, Donna Hanover. New Yorkers have become a captive audience for the bitter and long-running divorce of the two of them — and of the perils of the mayor's new friend, Judith something-or-other. Among the things we now know are the sexual side effects of the mayor's prostate cancer medication and that Hanover is no longer getting free tickets to New York Yankees games, which she seems to feel is her legal right as the legal Mrs. Giuliani.

The Yankee tickets are the latest perk of contention in the domestic dispute from hell. Hanover's lawyers filed suit in State Supreme Court last week demanding Giuliani pay her more than $250,000 for various expenses she incurred as first lady of the Big Apple. Having to pay for Yankee tickets on Mother's Day was part of the complaint, along with $2,000 in hotel bills for her father, a Navy veteran who came to the city during Fleet Week, when ships parade around New York Harbor. Before divorce papers were filed, she said, her dad stayed at Gracie Mansion, the lovely old farmhouse on the East River, which serves as our White House.

We know, by the way, that the aggrieved Donna sleeps alone in the master bedroom of the little mansion and His Honor has been relegated to a guest room. The other woman used to stop by, but Hanover got a court order to stop that, saying that such visits were corrupting the mayoral children, who are 15 and 11.

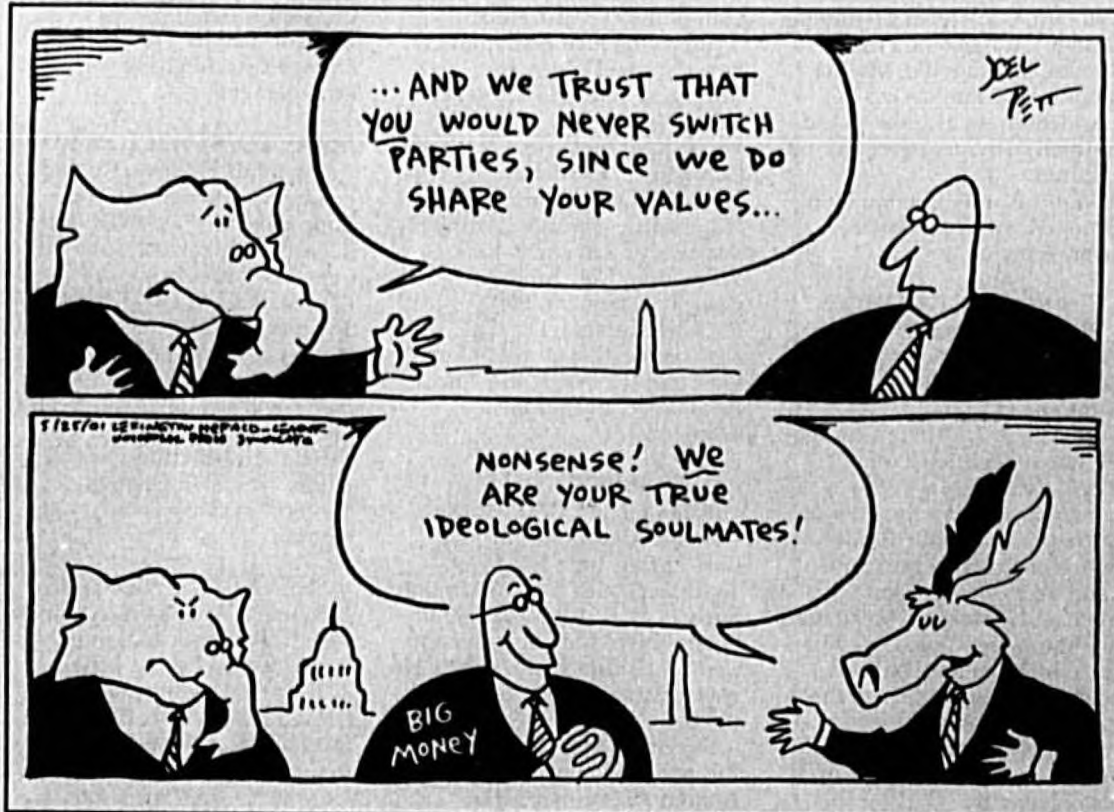

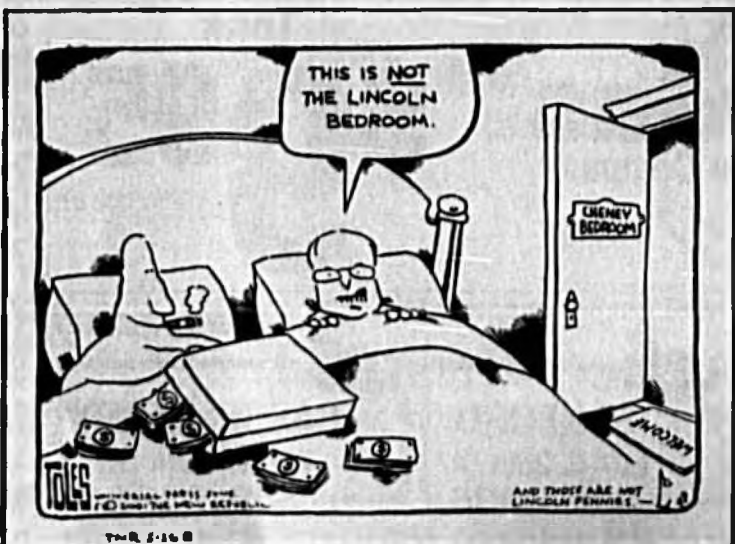

Who cares about all this? Newspaper editors and the photographers and television cameramen who wait in ambush to get shots of the players in this marital triangle certainly care — presuming that the public is hanging on every motion filed. Lawyers care, too. Giuliani's counsel, Raul Felder, has been getting more time on television than his client, His Honor.

How did it come to this? One man's opinion is that this all should be blamed on the Kennedys and the Clintons. In his runs for Congress and the presidency, John F. Kennedy highlighted and exploited his attractive family, first his sisters and then his wife and children, in a way rarely seen east of Hollywood or west of Buckingham Palace. JFK had learned that trade at the feet of a master, his father, Joseph P. Kennedy, who had owned and run a film studio — and realized that politicians and their legal near and dear could be sold in the same way movie stars were.

All Kennedys became famous, not just the one who needed fame to become president. And all Kennedys became targets — and not just of photographers. Fame, and its illegitimate little brother, celebrity, has been an affront to the gods since the ancient Greeks coined the word "hubris." Many, many politicians adopted the Kennedy style of winning public office, and the public, too, by using the wife and kids (rarely husband and kids) to get the power they wanted so badly, and then tried, with predictable failure, to ask press and public to give them back their privacy.

Thirty years later, Bill and Hillary Clinton practically created a new constitutional office: first lady. The job provided all the perks of power without responsibility or accountability. That was the title and position Donna Hanover coveted and attempted to imitate on a local level, becoming New York's first lady. Her role quickly deteriorated into both tragedy and parody — for her, her children, and now for the overburdened readers of New York City.

Black America avoids AIDS by looking other way

You don't see black activists taking to the streets on this one. You don't see Jesse Jackson or Al Sharpton calling press conferences.

You don't see African-American politicians demanding that Congress or the White House take action.

This is an issue no one wants to touch: AIDS has replaced homicide as the leading cause of death among young black men. According to a new study from the Atlanta-based Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, nearly 15 percent of gay and bisexual black men between the ages of 23 and 29 are infected with HIV annually. AIDS researchers say that infection rate, frighteningly, compares to that of South Africa, where the disease threatens national stability.

But the deadly virus provokes few alarms. Instead, the subject fills African-Americans with shame and fear, embarrassment and apprehension, so we are silent. And silence and shame allow the virus to spread. Twenty years after physicians first detected a new disease in our midst, the rate of transmission nationwide has leveled off at 40,000 new cases annually. But African-Americans, only 12 percent of the population, account for half of the new infections.

The stigma associated with AIDS hovers over white America, too; there is still a reluctance on the part of many white Americans, including President Bush, to confront this epidemic directly. And the stinginess with which the nation has handed out resources to fight AIDS is a national failing of successive presidents and congresses and mayors. There is blame enough to go around.

Black America is more vulnerable to AIDS because it is more vulnerable to every disease. More likely to be impoverished, less likely to have access to health care, African-Americans have shorter life spans than whites. "When America gets a cold," Joseph Lowery, president emeritus of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference once said, "black America gets pneumonia."

But there is another factor at work here, one that only black America can confront: Homophobia runs rampant in the community, reinforced by conservative black churches and their narrow-minded ministers. The stigma is so widespread that few prominent black activists will speak out on the subject of AIDS. While Coretta Scott King, widow of the Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., has given a few speeches promoting AIDS prevention and denouncing homophobia, her son, Martin L. King III, now president of SCLC, will not return phone calls to a gay men's advocacy group called Gay Men of African Descent, according to program director Maurice Franklin.

While there is homophobia aplenty in white America, too, gay white men have been able to build networks that promote the self-esteem of members as well as AIDS prevention. Gay black men have few of those. And it is hard to build them, Franklin said. "Being gay is not valued in black America. You have to be married with children," he added.

As a result, many black gay or bisexual men live dual lives, AIDS researchers say, dating women and engaging in heterosexual sex — even marrying. But they still have sex with men covertly, or "on the down low," as many black bisexual men refer to it. Despite their homosexual sex, they refuse to describe themselves as gay or even bisexual. And they stubbornly resist the safe-sex messages that have helped to curb the epidemic among whites.

This is a crisis for black America, one that involves life and death. It is a crisis that demands the community look deep inside itself at its prejudices and fears and wrong-headed assumptions. And there is not much time.

From A to Z

Art Zielski asks people what they think ...

As more and more people move into our community, the city of Sanford will naturally continue to grow. Community growth involves changes, and most people have an idea what changes they would like to see take place. So today our question is, "What would you do to improve Sanford?"

Give us our park (Melton Park) back. New people come to Sanford and don't understand the significance of the park to people who lived here a long time.
Martha Barnes, Sanford

I think the most important thing is the development of the lake front. We also should pursue the development of our antique stores.
Bill Fraase, Sanford

I've been here all my life, and I love Sanford. I think the city has been improving over the past five years. My only criticism would be to improve some of the roads.
Lisa Hunt, Sanford

I think they keep everything in the city pretty clean. The police department does a good job. And the city does a good job with community planning and development.
Harvey Hale, Sanford

Sanford needs a little more love. That's the key. Everything will work better with love. I also think the city should keep the park. I'll hate to see the park go. I enjoy it.
Harry Roberts, Sanford

Skate

Proponents of the park, including children and parents, encouraged the Board to continue plans for the skate facility saying it will provide a place for skateboarders and rollerbladers to practice their sport.

"The skate park is a good idea," 13-year-old Nicholas Rowell said. "Kids have nowhere to go. They hang out in a parking lot to do (skating) tricks and get into trouble. The park will keep kids out of trouble."

Resident Cecil Thompson said the city needs to provide some sort of activity for children who don't participate in organized sports, such as baseball or basketball. Currently, there are not many places within the city where skateboarding or in-line skating are allowed.

"In the sports complex and in many shopping centers, there are signs that say 'no skateboarding or rollerblading,'" Thompson said. "Let's not punish the majority of kids. Let's not let the perception of three or four kids ruin it for the rest of them."

The city's plans for a skate park originated after the Florida Legislature passed a bill in 1999 to encourage governments to make land available for skateboarding, in-line skating and freestyle bicycling. The government also passed legislation making no municipality or employee liable if a person is injured during activity at such a park.

In July, the city accepted a $112,500 grant from the state Department of Environmental Protection to use toward construction of a skate center in the Lake Mary Sports Complex. The city also agreed to match the funds by $37,000 and complete the project by Nov. 2002.

Drinking

young offenders keep their record clean if they're not repeat offenders.

During the Zero Tolerance Operation, Rader said the majority of the parents were in support of the task force's efforts, but several parents were not as happy. One adult in particular was arrested for hosting an open house party.

The task force's biggest bust during the operation came at a Resident's Inn when the task force caught 19 underage persons partying in a room. Seven of the 19 individuals were arrested.

"The other 12 were probably drinking too, but we make sure we have good cases for the state attorney's office and the other 12 we did not observe drinking," Rader said.

Although the other 12 were not arrested, their parents were phoned and asked to pick their child up. Rader said he talked to more than 30 parents during the weekend.

According to Rader, many of the parents were surprised to receive a call from the police, because many of the students did not tell their parents where they were going.

"I even had one parent tell me they didn't even know she was gone (from the home)," Rader said about a 14-year-old that was caught at the Resident's Inn party bust.

viewed and a K-9 unit sniffed for evidence.

"The guy came in with a ski mask and told everybody to get on the floor," said eyewitness Glenn Hubbard. "He had some pretty impressive looking semi-automatic weapons."

The first suspect is described as a light to medium skin black male, 5-foot 8-inches tall, with a medium build. He was wearing a white Tommy Hilfiger shirt with blue collar and baggy two-tone Tommy Hilfiger jeans. The second suspect is described as only a black male with no further information.

Anyone with information about the armed robbers are urged to call LPD at 260-3400.

Father Al

moved from Philadelphia to Fort Washington, where his yard projects and tool collection culminated in a newspaper article about the "bridge builder." His Howdy Doodly puppet shows, first for family parties then for community events, became legendary. They raised eight children; three physicians, two nurses, an engineer and an artist. The first family tragedy was the loss of his second child, Robert, at the age of 20, from an accident. His wife died after a seven-year battle with leukemia at the age of 56. He was remarried to Roberta Buckwalter in 1985 and moved to East Norriton. Roberta died in 1995 of stomach cancer.

Dr. Fornace suffered his first attack at the age of 40. Eight years later, after a second heart attack, he was told his outlook for survival was poor and his wife began to make plans to take care of the family without him. He overcame his illnesses and moved to Sanford in 1997.

Locally, he was a member of the steering committee of the Sanford Crisis Pregnancy Center. Just prior to his ordination, he purchased a building at 1002 French Avenue, to help establish the Sanford Crisis Pregnancy Center, leasing the building to the agency for $1 per year.

Two weeks before his 78th birthday, he received his ordination in a ceremony on March 28, 1998 at All Souls Catholic Church in Sanford.

Survivors include sons, Dr. Albert Fornace, Jr., Bethesda, Md., Dr. Jack Fornace, Norristown, Penn., Dr. Donald Fornace, Interment will be private.

Barbecue benefit set for June 16

A benefit barbecue is scheduled for June 16 to benefit Breezy Leonard of Sanford.

Leonard has been diagnosed with Lupus, and the disease is attacking her internal organs. Currently, there is no known cure for the disease.

Breezy Leonard

The 12-year-old is being treated in Shands Children's Hospital in Gainesville. She is constantly in and out of the hospital.

Leonard's mother, Kim, had to quit her job in order to care for Breezy.

The barbecue, which will begin at noon at VFW Post No. 8093 off of 17-92 in DeBary, is a fund-raiser to help pay for the family's traveling expenses to and from Shands Hospital. Barbecue chicken dinners will be available for a $5 donation.

Anyone who can help with grills, food items, paper goods or to help serve and cook, please call 407-330-3871 and ask for Kim or Carolyn Leonard.

SJS Entertainment bringing musical 'Hello Dolly!' to Sanford theater

SJS Entertainment is bringing the classic Jerry Herman musical "Hello, Dolly!" to the stage beginning Friday, June 8, and running through Saturday, June 23.

This turn-of-the-century tale centers around Dolly Gallagher Levi (Karen Marshall of Orlando) who has been engaged to help Horace Vandergelder (Rod Canney of Orlando) in his pursuit of a mate.

The show is directed by Todd M. Eakin and performed at the Broadway Theatre in the SJS Entertainment Complex at 2921 Orlando Drive (17-92) in Sanford. Craig Phillips is the music director with choreography by Brent D. Kuerning and K. Shane Wages. Set Designs are by Brian Craig with lighting and sound designs by Earl A. Press. Performances are Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings at 8 p.m. with a 2:30 p.m. matinee on Saturdays. Tickets are $12 for adults and $10 for children 12 and under. Call for group discount information. A portion of the proceeds from the show will go to benefit Broadway Cares/Equity Fights AIDS Foundation and the Jennifer Leah Kalris Theatre Scholarship. Call 407-324-2906 for tickets reservation or more information.

Noted journalist visits Sanford

Veronica Byrd was home recently visiting her mother, Joyce Byrd. Veronica has become a noted journalist in her field. She is presently a reporter for "People," writing a weekly column called "Passages," which is a roundup of celebrity engagements, marriages, births, divorces and deaths, as well as breaking news.

Veronica Byrd

Veronica says she has been writing the column since February. While chatting with this columnist, her life as a New York City reporter with the "People," New York Bureau, is indeed exciting. She reports articles and works on everything from celebrity stories (like the engagement of comedian-actor Jerry Seinfeld) to breaking news (the cancer of New York City Mayor Rudolph Giuliani).

Having been at "People" for almost three years, she says her work is a life style of many adventures which she enjoys.

Prior to "People," she was a reporter for "Vanity Fair," also business reporter and writer at "Money" (1988-90 and 1995-96), and "Business Week" (1994-95).

Byrd's desire and love of writing since a young girl lead her to choose a career as a journalist and writer. After graduating from Seminole High School, she attended Rollins College part time, and earned her Bachelor of Science in communications in May 1988. By then she had completed a summer internship at "Essence" magazine (1986) and wanted to return to New York City to work and live.

Knowing just what she wanted in life, Veronica graduated from Rollins on a Saturday and was on a plane back to New York the very next day. She has attended graduate school at Columbia University, earning a master's degree in journalism, and has completed a two year training program at the New York Times.

Byrd's goal is to become editor-in-chief of the popular magazine "Essence," and to write a novel.

She says she often tells her

Veronica Byrd

mom that, given all the negative things you read about African-American youth, more should be written about those who go on to lead exemplary lives.

She says she considered herself one of those blessed souls. Don't forget to read Passages in the weekly "People Magazine" (Passages by Veronica Byrd), Time Inc. People.

Musical accolades

The Winter Springs High School Girls Chorus and the Mixed Concert Chorus participated in the recent Orlando Musicfest competition. Eighty-nine choruses and bands from all over the United States participated. WSHS' Girls Chorus and Mixed Concert received first place in their category. As a unit, they received Grand Chorus Award, first place of all choruses, and the Grand Sweepstake Award. As the Orlando Musicfest Grand Sweepstake Award winner, WSHS Chorus will be included in the National Musicfest competition.

Central Florida organizations receive state art grants

Florida Secretary of State Katherine Harris has announced the awarding of more than 400 cultural grants totaling more than $10 million to organizations throughout the state in the first major funding round of Fiscal Year 2001-2002 by the Florida Department of State, Division of Cultural Affairs, Florida's state arts agency.

According to the list of recipients, three organizations headquartered in Seminole County will receive a total of $20,076.

Asian Cultural Association of Central Florida Inc., granted under the Folk Arts classification, will receive $10,062 for the Festival of Indian Dance and Music/Poola Exhibit. The Asian Cultural Association of Central Florida, Inc. will also receive $5,115 for the Artist Residency/World of Drums project in the classification of Arts in Education.

The Orlando Theater Project, Inc., will receive $4,899 for the 2001-2002 season under the Professional Theater category.

Orange County will receive 30 awards for a total of $787,033. Many of these projects will also involve Seminole County residents, including three awards to the Bach Festival Society in Winter Park, The Central Florida

Lyric Opera, Crealde Arts Inc., Florida Children's Repertory Theater, Maitland Art Association, Orlando Opera Company, Southern Ballet Theatre, and a number of others, with many performing at locations in Sanford.

"On behalf of Florida's thriving cultural community, I want to thank the Florida Legislature for their commitment to supporting cultural endeavors throughout our great state," Harris said. "With their assistance, Florida has maintained the rank of third nationally in funding for culture and the arts for a number of years."

Prescription for a good Father's Day: Get annual exam

DEAR ABBY: It has taken me years to be able to write this letter. With Father's Day approaching, I can't put it off any longer. This is the 10th year I will avoid greeting card stores, full-page ads for Father's Day specials, and any other reference to Father's Day.

Please accept my sympathy for the loss of your father. While I can urge readers to schedule annual physicals, it is eloquent letters like yours that often give them the added "push" they need to safeguard their health. If they won't do it for themselves, sometimes they'll do it for the peace of mind of their families.

Dear Abby

My beloved father was buried the day before Father's Day in 1991. His surgery to repair damage from a heart attack was unsuccessful. He had seen the doctor the week before, complaining of chest pains. After a short exam, he was given a prescription for an antacid and advised to return in two weeks if the problem persisted. He didn't survive two weeks.

I'm sorry you're still suffering so much pain. Perhaps it will help you to take a moment on Father's Day to remember some of the special times you shared with him. I can't imagine a finer tribute.

We were stunned that this active, vital man could, without his knowledge, have a heart problem so severe that it proved to be fatal. After the funeral I did some research. The most startling statistic I discovered is 225,000 people die unexpectedly each year from heart attacks. One cardiologist told me, "Sometimes the first symptom is that the patient is dead."

DEAR ABBY: This morning while I was waiting for some repair work to be done on my car, I read with interest the letters in your column about the symbolism of finding one or more pennies.

Abby, this figure accounts for one-fourth of all heart disease-related deaths in this country. Had my father been properly diagnosed, in all probability he could have received treatment to prevent his heart attack. As it turned out, his heart was so badly damaged, he was unable to withstand the surgery to try to save his life.

When the repairs were finished, I went out to my car, opened the car door, and guess what was sitting in the middle of my driver's seat? A bright, shiny 2001 penny! I wonder if my father (who has been deceased for 12 years) was sending me a message.

Abby, please urge your readers to insist that their loved ones see a doctor regularly for a complete physical examination — especially if there's a history of heart disease or other high-risk factors in their family.

DAVE BROWN, BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

If one father takes my advice and spares his children the pain of a fatherless Father's Day, my wonderful father's death will not have been without meaning.

DEAR DAVE: I don't know what your mechanic charges, but your dad may have thought you needed the money.

Bentley guest speaker during Historical Society meeting

By Grace M. Stinecpher
Herald Correspondent

"A History of Sanford Avenue" was the topic of the program presented at the recent meeting of the Sanford Historical Society.

Presenting the program was Altemese Bentley, a Sanford native who came back to the city in 1975 after retiring as an educator in several cities, including Philadelphia. She is the author of "Georgetown, A History of a Black Neighborhood" and "Seminole County" in the Black America Series.

In her talk, Bentley talked about Sanford Avenue during the first half of the last century, which was a thriving, vibrant business area. During the early days, people would come on Saturdays from all over the area to spend the day and evening shopping and visiting. Some came by train from the Oviedo area and others by ferry from Volusia County.

General Henry Sanford had brought blacks from mostly north

Florida to help settle the town. The majority of them were trained in some vocation, which they continued here. Others secured jobs at the Sanford House, railroad and steamboats. Some of their wives opened businesses on Sanford Avenue and their husbands helped at night.

Mrs. Bentley first told the group about the businesses on the west side of Sanford Avenue, starting at First Street.

In the 100 block was a dress-making and millinery shop owned by Sara Gilbert Lewis, Marie Dorsey and Jennie Eaverly Walker.

In the 200/300 block, there was Dr. Ed Strickland, dentist, and Dr. Hughs, medical doctor, in offices upstairs in the Odd Fellows Building. Downstairs was Siplo Bracey's barber shop, James Brokenborrow's Shoe Shine and D.C. Brock Tailor Shop (Herman Refore, Sr. was tailor). Rivers Grocery Store (meat market managed by A.C. Hawkins, Marva's father) came next.

In the alley between Sanford and Palmetto Avenues was W.O. Green's Blacksmith Shop.

In the 400 block was Burnett's Restaurant, Strobot Boarding House and King Solomon Johnson who was both undertaker and realtor. Also there was A.J. Coulter, jeweler, and Dr. Keillix, medical doctor.

Architect Prince Speers had an office in the 500 block where Poor Boys is now. There were three boarding houses on the east side of the 2100 block followed by Rufus Shepard's Barber Shop.

In the 300/400 block was Frazier's General Store, three restaurants, Levi Knight's Barber Shop, three cab services (Duhard, Frazier and Felder), Sheffield's boarding house and Stokes Fish Market.

Dr. Strickland's office was in a yellow house in the 500 block while in the 600 block there was an insurance office. The St. James AME Methodist parsonage was at 700 Sanford Avenue.

H.L. Duhard has his Salvage Business in the 900 block and Hambeau had his catering business in the 1800 block. Mr. Bronson managed the city pound at the corner of Sanford and Celery Avenues.

During the Society's business meeting conducted by president Christine Best, the group was informed that the booklet "New Upsala — a Sweedish Settlement and its People" had just been published by the Society. It includes a reprint of a 1979 Historical Paper "New Upsala" by Bettye Smith and "Topping a Saplin" — the Olga Hunter Story" compiled by Ten Patterson. Patterson, a Swedish descendant, has donated mugs printed with the Swedish flags. Both of these can be purchased at the Sanford Museum.

"Sanford, the Gate City" videos continue to be sold at the Sanford Museum.

Strengthening Families is a program designed for youth between the ages of 12 and 14 and their families.

A Booster Session was recently held for the last group of students and their parents to participate in the program. Parents and children enjoyed many topics taught on how to deal with abuse. After dinner was served, the parents were given prizes and gifts to all children in the program.

A new program is scheduled for this session, with registration on Thursday, June 7 at the Boys and Girls Club, West Sanford, located at 919 Persimmon Ave., from 4:30 until 6:30 p.m. The session will be held June 12 through July 17. There will be six sessions from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. on Tuesdays. Topics include: Using Love and Limits, Making House Rules, Encouraging Good Behavior, Using Consequences, Building Bridges, and Protection Against position as vice president is for a one-year tenure ending Sept. 20, 2002.

"The message I'm getting is that in 12 months I'm gone," White said in asking the board to extend the contract.

"It's very difficult to get a job in this business, and, in fact it takes about a year," White said. "Therefore, during the next 12 months my focus wouldn't be on my job at this airport."

Vice Chairman Lon Howell said the length of the contract was no indication that White was on the way out.

"You shouldn't even be thinking about one year," Howell said. "You should be focusing on the future. Don't worry about the year."

Dale, who prepared White's contract, agreed with Howell and said the one-year contract was not "a stipulation that Victor is gone."

"That was not the intention at all," Dale said. "The length of service is to provide a guideline in the contract."

"With that settled, the contract is acceptable to me," White said.

Authority member Robbie Robertson raised concerns about whether the airport is ready for the growth in industrial development that Dale is being hired to create. Robertson questioned whether the area surrounding the airport would need to grow before progress could be made on airport sites.

"Do we feel like this area is ready to be developed, and our we in a position to develop it?" Robertson asked. "I'm concerned in two or three years if nothing has happened, we'll all look pretty foolish."

No board members responded to Robertson's question, and in the end, he agreed to the reorganization and the two contracts.

Under the contract, Dale would earn $125,000 per year for a three-year period. The contract will automatically renew for another three years on July 23, 2004 unless Dale or the Airport Authority provide a written notice 90 days prior to the anniversary date.

In addition, the contract calls for up to a $12,000 deferred compensation plan with minimum performance standards established by Dale and the authority. Other contract terms include:

- Four weeks paid vacation.
- Annual increases based on merit.
- Health insurance, as well as a $250,000 life insurance policy. Dale will have to pay the expense for his family's insurance.
- Florida Retirement System benefits.
- Bonuses at the board's discretion.
- An automobile plus maintenance, fuel and insurance.

Dale would have primary responsibility for the operation and administration of the airport and would be expected to develop short- and long-range goals for the airport. In addition, he would be responsible to "promote, develop and market the commerce park, industrial and all other real property owned/operated by the Authority."

White's contract is similar to Dale's. However, White would not be eligible for a deferred compensation plan or annual bonuses. Other terms of White's contract include:

- $100,000 annual salary.
- Annual increases based on merit.
- Health insurance for White and his family, as well as a $250,000 life insurance policy.
- Florida Retirement System benefits.
- An automobile plus maintenance, fuel and insurance.

Selective Service: Are You Registered?

By Nick Pfeiffaut
Staff Writer

Across the nation, approximately 5,000 teenagers turn 18 years of age everyday. That's a startling number. But within 30 days after their 18th birthday, men are required, by law, to register with Selective Service.

The latest nationwide figures were released recently, showing that the percentage of men registering with Selective Service has increased to 87 percent, up from 83 percent in the previous report. Numbers were up in almost every state.

But the numbers are not up to 100 percent. According to Selective Service Director of Public Affairs Law Brodsky, "Compliance is still too low in our inner cities and our southern border states, meaning that young men risk losing out on a college education, good jobs, job training, and for immigrants, their change to become a U.S. citizen.

"Our research shows that the biggest barrier to young men's compliance is simply a lack of awareness," he said.

Five states presently require persons 18 or older to have a valid Selective Service registration before they will issue a driver's license. While Florida is not one of those states at the present time, a bill is pending before the legislature which will establish such a requirement.

Persons who are not registered may also find themselves prevented from obtaining a job with the Executive Branch of the Federal Government and the U.S. Postal Service (This applies only to men born after Dec. 31, 1959).

Men may also find they cannot obtain student financial aid including Pell Grants, College Work Study, Guaranteed Student/Plus Loans and National Direct Student Loans.

There are other consequences, the largest of these perhaps is a penalty of up to $250,000 and up to five years in prison for failing to register with Selective Service.

Locally, registration forms are available at any post office.

While Brodsky is pleased with the percentage increase of men 18 and older registering with Selective Service, he says there is still a lot to be done to inform youngsters of this requirement. "It is tragic to see young men potentially missing out on future opportunities because they just don't know that they are required to register," he said. "But even more tragic is that our experience shows the young men most likely to miss the message are the very men who may stand the most to gain from these opportunities."

Quota hunt applications available

Individuals who want to hunt on the state's public wildlife management areas need to begin making plans for the 2001-2002 hunting season.

The first phase of the quota hunt program began June 1. Regular and special quota hunt applications for the coming hunting seasons are available from the regional offices of the Fish and Wildlife Conservation Commission (FWC), county tax collectors and their sub-agents.

Florida's quota hunt program was established to prevent overcrowding and to control harvest on Type I wildlife management areas. The quota hunt program controls and distributes hunting pressure during specific time periods and serves to provide quality hunting experiences for Florida hunters.

The quota, or maximum number of hunters allowed on an area, is based on each area's size, habitat types, game populations and specific regulations.

Individuals who want to hunt on a wildlife management area during a quota hunt period must submit an application. The regular nine-day application is for permits to hunt the first nine days of the general gun season and other general gun and modern gun hunts. The special hunt application is for permits for archery and muzzleloading gun hunts.

To apply for quota hunt permits, hunters must purchase a wildlife management area permit or a sportsman's, lifetime sportsman's, or lifetime hunting license which includes a wildlife management area permit. Hunters must provide proof of purchase as instructed on the application form.

Permits are issued during the first phase based on a random selection of applications received (not post-marked) in the Commission's Tallahassee office through 4:30 p.m. EDT June 11.

Applications received after June 11 will compete on a first-come, first-served basis for permits left unissued after the random selection.

Also, in the Northwest Region, the Robert Brent Wildlife Management Area (WMA) was reduced in size. Consequently, the quota was reduced from 1,200 to 250 still hunt and 250 dog hunt.

In the North Central Region, Camp Blanding WMA, hunter quotas were reduced to accommodate an acreage reduction. The spring turkey quota went from 65 to 35. On Big Shoals WMA, hunter quotas were reduced to accommodate an acreage reduction. Archery went from 50 to 35, muzzle-loading gun went down from 30 to 20 and spring turkey also went from 30 to 20.

In the Northeast Region, Relay and Georgia Pacific WMAs were reduced in size, and the quota was reduced for both areas. The quota for Relay was reduced from 500 to 400. The quota for Georgia Pacific was reduced from 130 to 40. On Triple N Ranch WMA, hog hunt quotas were converted from special-opportunity to regular quota, and the hunter quota increased from 15 to 50.

A limited number of antlerless deer permits are available. See Outdoors, Page 3B

JETS impress at Southeast Regional

Special to the Herald

JACKSONVILLE — The Florida JETS Wrestling Club traveled to Jacksonville the weekend of May 25-27 to compete in the Southeast Regional Wrestling Tournament.

The venue was the Prime Osborne Convention Center, with the best wrestlers aged 6-to-15 from nine southeastern states competing in the preliminary step to the national tournament level.

The states competing included Florida, Alabama, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, North Carolina, South Carolina, Tennessee, and Virginia.

Oviedo-based wrestling club has 18 of 20 matmen place at Jacksonville Memorial Day weekend event

The JETS club took 20 wrestlers to the Southeast Regional and came away with 18 place finishers amongst the elite wrestlers converging for competition on this Memorial Day weekend.

Leading the way were John Christiansen (Novice Division, grades 5-6, 80 pounds) and Justin Fraga (Schoolboy Division, grades 7-8, 115 pounds) with a pair of firsts each in their respective divisions, winning the Greco Roman and freestyle events.

Aaron Fisher (Schoolboy Division, 85 pounds) and Jason Robbins (Cadet Division, grades 9-10, 112 pounds) also claimed first places for the JETS in Greco Roman.

Next up for the JETS wrestlers is competition at various national tournament sites, as well as the FAWA State tournament at the Lakeland Center, June 30-July 1.

Wrestlers in the Novice and Schoolboy divisions will compete in either the USA Wrestling National Championships in Fresno, California or the Amateur Athletic Union (AAU) Grand Nationals in Albuquerque, New Mexico. Both national events are scheduled for July 4-7.

Jason Robbins and Kyle Coffman will compete for the Florida National Team at the Cadet National Duals in Englewood, Colorado, June 13-17.

State recognition

SAC has 14 merit baseball All-State

By Dean Smith
Sports Editor

GAINESVILLE — The Seminole Athletic Conference was well represented on the Class 5A and 6A All-State Baseball Teams announced last Friday by the Florida Sports Writers Association.

Fourteen players from five teams, four of which that won over 18 games each this season, were named to either the First, Second, Third or Honorable Mention teams.

Leading the way was Lake Mary senior lefthanded pitcher Adam Sanabria who was named First Team All-State in Class 6A.

Sanabria was the top winner in Central Florida this season, compiling an 11-3 record, including a tough 2-1 loss to Wellington in the State semifinals, for the 27-7 Rams.

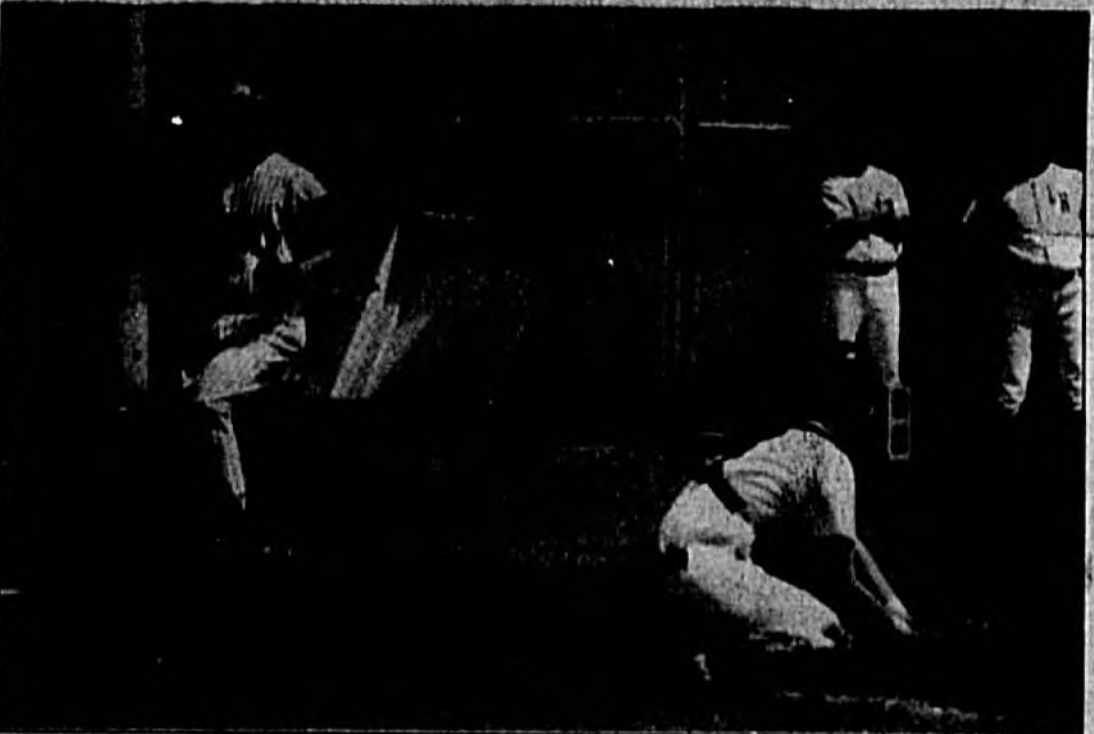

He posted an earned run average of 1.73, giving up just 23 earned runs and 64 hits, while striking out 115 and walking 31, in 93 innings.

The only Second Team All-State selection was Oviedo star catcher Jason Wolf.

The senior provided power to a strong offense and did a great job of handling a very young pitching staff as he helped lead the Lions of first-year head coach Scott Wainscott to an 18-10 season.

The Third Team was the biggest for SAC representation as three players made the Class 6A Third Team and two Seminole High athletes were on the Class 5A Third Team.

See All-State, Page 3B

Junior's Kyle Bono (No. 30, top), the leading hitter for Lake Mary, and Chris Krall (No. 19, bottom), the leading hitter for Seminole, were both named to Third Team All-State teams in Class 6A and Class 5A, respectively, just two of 14 players to make some form of the All-State Baseball Teams announced by the Florida Sports Writers Association.

Neufeld going to Omaha

By Dean Smith
Sports Editor

SANFORD — When the NCAA announced the 64 teams that would play in the Division I Baseball Tournament two weeks ago, Florida had nine teams in the regionals and the possibility existed that as many as four could qualify for a trip to the World Series in Omaha, Nebraska.

But when the Super Regionals were finally finished on Monday only one Florida team, No. 1 ranked Miami, was left among the final 8 that will begin play this Friday.

Seminole County fans, however, will have another reason to watch the tournament as former Oviedo High School and Sanford Campbell-Lossing American Legion Post 53 star Andy Neufeld will be in Omaha as a member of the University of Georgia Bulldogs.

Neufeld and his Southeastern Conference Champion teammates bounced back from a loss earlier in the day on Monday to thump Florida State, 8-3, to edge the Seminole 2-1 in the Super Regional at Athens, Georgia.

The Bulldogs, 46-19 and ranked No. 7 in the nation, will take on Southern California in its first game on Saturday starting at 1:30 p.m. at Rosenblatt Stadium in Omaha.

The game will be televised locally on WKMG, Channel 6.

All of the tournament will be on either ESPN or CBS. Leadoff batter Neufeld, who was one of the main cogs on Post 53's World Championship team in 1997, opened the Super Regional on Saturday with a double and scored the tournament's first run, and then eventually scored the game-winning run in the 10th inning on an error as the Bulldogs won Game 1, 8-7.

Neufeld then went 1-for-5. See College, Page 3B

Expos explode past Cubs

By Dean Smith
Sports Editor

SANFORD — The Sunniland Corporation Expos excelled in every phase of the game as they won the City of Sanford Recreation and Parks Department Babe Ruth Baseball Cal Ripken Major Division Championship at the Chase Park Youth Sports Complex Friday night.

Travarius McGill, A.J. Armstrong and Ray Armstrong combined on a one-hitter and nine different players either had a hit or a run scored as the Expos blanked the Railroaders Cubs, 12-0, to claim the 2001 City title.

The double-elimination City Series for 11-12 year olds went according to seeding as the top-seeded Expos went 3-0, the No. 2 seeded Cubs went 2-2, the No. 3 Marlins went 1-2, and the No. 4 Braves were 0-2.

The game actually began on Thursday with the Expos taking a 2-0 lead in the top of the first inning before the game had to be suspended in the bottom of the second inning because of lightning throughout the Sanford area.

A light rain fell for much of Friday's game, at times it got quite heavy, but it never rained enough to stop the action and this time the lightning stayed away from the area.

The Expos' first two runs scored when Greg Hardy Jr. led off with single, stole second and went on to third on a throwing error, and scored one out later when McGill reached on an error.

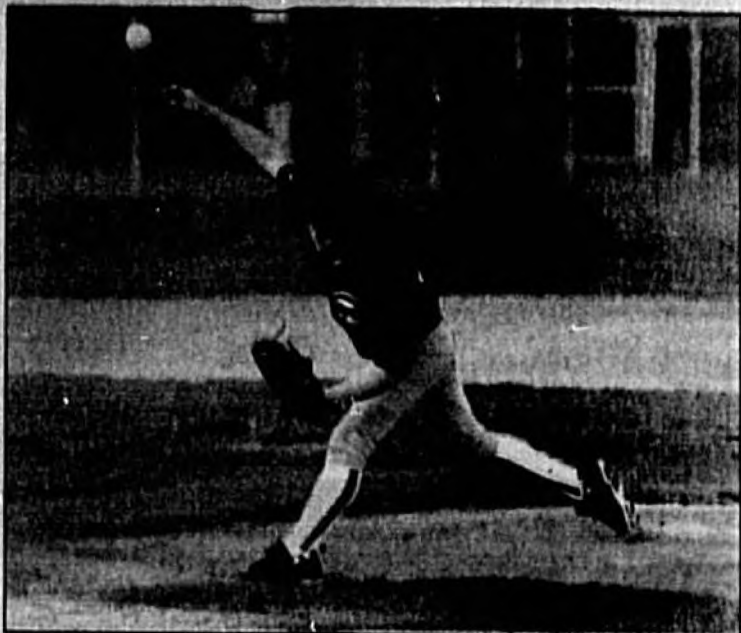

McGill then advanced to third on a double by A.J. Armstrong and scored on a wild pitch.

The Cubs' only real scoring threat came in the second inning. Jimmy Maloney walked and stole second, but with one out was cut down in a rundown between second and third on a ground ball off the bat of Brandon Bostich.

McGill then walked Skyler Cowhig and Phillip Basti to load the bases, but got out of the jam with his second strike out of the inning.

The Expos then took a giant step toward victory in the top of the third inning, scoring two more runs.

With one out, McGill walked and A.J. Armstrong and Thomas Hicks followed with single. See Expos, Page 3B

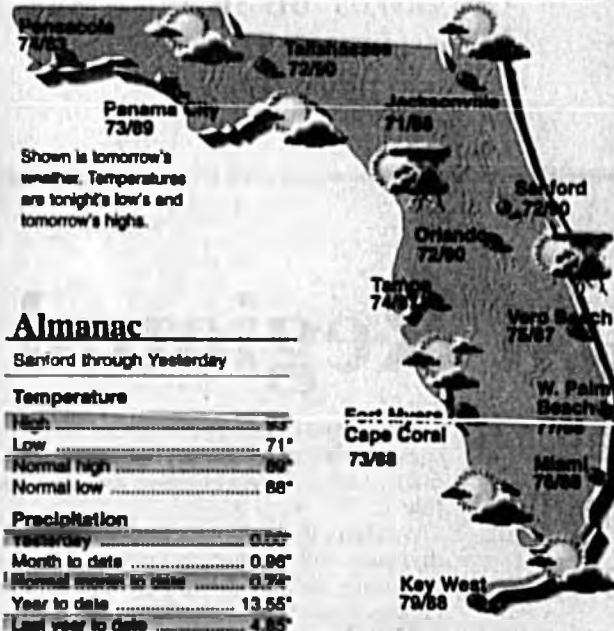

The Cubs' Roddy Heckie held the Expos to only two runs in a three inning relief stint, but it was not good enough to keep the Sunniland Corporation sponsored team from rolling to the Cal Ripken Majors City Championship.

Samion does unique double at Orlando Speedworld

By Dave Westerman Special to the Herald

BITHLO — Orlando's Doug Samion showed up last Friday night at Orlando Speedworld with a race car and a school bus and by the end of the evening, he had put both in victory lane.

This Friday night (June 8th) Orlando Speedworld will try again to host number two of the Florida Mini Stock Challenge "50" sponsored by South 40 Motorsports. The original May 25th date was rained out.

Also on the card will be heats and features in the regular FASCAR classes of Super Late Model, Modified, Sportsman, Super Stock & Strictly Stock.

Samion started the evening by leading most of the way to take a rather convincing win in the Sportsman division driving his Rinaldi's Air Conditioning Repair/Buffalo Enterprises/Do-All Exteriors Chevy.

Kelly Jarrett made a late charge but had to settle for second over Bruce Gayton, Rich Hight and Scott Tyler.

It was the Tim & Tim show again in the Mini Stocks as Tim Clark and Tim "Missleman" McPhail ran side by side during the second half of the feature keeping the large crowd on the edge of their seats.

Clark kept his Space Coast General Contractors/Solid Rock Excavating Pinto just wide enough to hold McPhail at bay to claim his third win of the season.

The lady drivers took the next three spots with Rose Dickenson having another solid run for third ahead of Trisha Gray and Rae Williams.

After early leader Duane Freed found the "Bithlo Car Wash" in the infield, Bill Loomis put his All Auto Salvage Monte Carlo out front and held off defending champion Carl Peters for the Super Stock win.

Newcomer Steve Thomas of Brooksville took third spot just in front of Rick Johns and Rip Dyal. Don Smith again dominated the Strictly Stock class taking an easy win over Russ Rinaldi, Steve Hoerner, David Smith and Armand Audbe.

Fifteen school buses came to the start of the School Bus Figure-8 race and it was a wild one to say the least as one red flag was needed for a wild roll-over in the intersection.

Samion led early, got shuffled back to third, then drove back into the lead and won going away. After Samion took the checker, he tried to do a doughnut in the infield and promptly plopped his bus on its side. Samion scrambled out of his toppled steed to the thunderous applause of the crowd.

Second best in the School Bus event was James

Adams who led Chuck "Junkyard Dog" Rush to the line ahead of "Dog Catcher" Butch Pierce who was unable to catch the dog on this night. Carl Peters crossed the line in fifth.

The Camper Trailer race saw half the competitors eliminated before they could get down the straightaway on the first lap. A red flag was thrown to clean up the mess and when all was said and done, Ray Hindman took the win over a fast-closing Wes Railing with Chester "Destroyer" Sutorus hanging on for third.

Rush came back to top the 4-cylinder Demo Derby over Tony Bell while Ted Bowman crunched his way to the V-8 Demo win over Jim Talley.

In other notes from Orlando Speedworld: The races were held in honor of "Mr. School Bus Figure 8" Bucky Buckman who was unable to attend due to illness.

"Dirty Dingus" made his first appearance at Orlando Speedworld and delighted the crowd with his antics.

The action was filmed by CBS and will be shown on the "CBS Sunday Morning Show" on June 17.

Gates open a 6 p.m. and racing begins at 8 p.m. every Friday night at the track located 17 miles east of Orlando between Orlando and Titusville on Highway 50 at the 520 Cocoa Cutoff.

NEW SMYRNA SPEEDWAY

SAMSULA — This Saturday (June 9), the 911 Racing tour will be at the fast 1/2-mile.

Also on the schedule are heats and features in all of the regular FASCAR divisions of Super Late Model, Late Model, Mini-Stock, Modified, Sportsman, Super Stock and Strictly Stock.

Gates open at 5 p.m. and racing begins at 7:30 p.m. every Saturday night at the track located at the corner of SR 44 and CR 419, between New Smyrna, DeLand and Daytona.

TEST AND TUNE

BITHLO — Test and Tune will be held every Wednesday night from 6 p.m. to 10 p.m. at Orlando Speedworld.

Cost is $20, which is good for the car and three people in the pits only, while individuals can enter for $5.

For more information on any local short track action, call the FASCAR offices at (407) 568-1367 (Orlando) or (386) 427-4129 (New Smyrna), or check the Internet site at WWW.NEWSMYRNA-SPEEDWAY.COM, or E-Mail at FASCARNOW@AOL.COM.

Continued from page 1B and scored a run on Sunday in Game 2, but FSU was up 8-6 when the game was suspended because of rain and lightning. The teams picked up where they left off on Monday and the Seminoles were able to hang on for an 11-6 victory, evening the Best-of-Three series at 1-1. In the final, Neufeld was on base three times, going 1-for-3, scoring a run, and also reaching on a walk and by being hit by a pitch. For the season, the senior third baseman is hitting .339 (94-277) with 20 doubles, one triple, 10 home runs and 38 RBI in 67 games. Another ex-Lion and Post 53 star, Jeremy Frost, also had a huge season and just missed helping the University of Central Florida advance to the Super Regional. Frost, a junior catcher, showed off his power as the Golden Knights, which finished the season with a school-record 51-14 campaign, won its first two games at the University of South Carolina and needed just one win to advance to the final 16. Frost was 5-for-14 in the first three games with three home runs, two doubles, a walk and four RBI. But in the final game, the Gamecocks shut down the big righthander, holding him to an 0-for-3 game with a walk. For the season, Frost hit .325 (75-for-231) for former Seminole Community College coach Jay Bergman's UCF squad. He had 15 doubles, three triples, 13 home runs, drove in 56 and also scored 52 runs. He also showed he has exceptional speed too, stealing 14 bases in 19 attempts. Two other former Seminole Athletic Conference stars, Lake Mary grads Josh O'Brien and Scott Hillinski, are back home after leading Warner Southern College to a third place finish in the 45th Annual NAIA Baseball World Series on Harris Field at Lewis-Clark State College in Lewiston, Idaho. The Royals (53-16) suffered a tough loss in the opening game, dropping a 9-8 decision to Western Oregon on a three-run home run in the bottom of the eighth inning. O'Brien, a sophomore, was the starting pitcher and left after four innings with a 6-3 lead. WSC bounced back to win a pair of games, outslugging Ohio Dominican, 15-13, as Hillinski had a pair of hits, and defending National Champion Indiana Tech, 6-1, as Hillinski, also a sophomore, hit a 2-run home run, his 14th of the season. But the run came to an end in the semifinals as the Royals again were victimized late, 5-3 in 10-innings by Bellevue (Neb.) College. O'Brien again was the starter and carried a 3-0 lead into the seventh inning. But the righthander left during a three-run seventh, in which the Royals used three pitchers, and did not figure in the decision.

Expos

Continued from page 1B gles to load the bases. A strike out by Roddy Heckle looked like it might stem the tide, but Daniel Little came through with a two-strike single after fouling off several pitches, to drive home McGill and Armstrong. The Expos then all but put the game out of reach in the fifth inning as McGill singled, A.J. Armstrong reached on an error and Hicks walked to load the bases with no one out. The Cubs had a chance to get out of the inning unscathed as the next batter struck out and the subsequent hitter bounced back to the mound, but the throw got past the catcher and two runs scored before a third runner was gunned down at the plate. A wild pitch then allowed the third run of the inning to score, raising the advantage to 7-0. The Expos then capped off the shutout in the sixth inning as Justin Smith and Shakeyia Colyer walked ahead of a home run by Hardy. Henry Colyer followed with another walk and one out later A.J. Armstrong was hit by a pitch and both advanced on a ground out by Hicks before Ray Armstrong singled in the final two runs. McGill went the first four innings, striking out seven and walking four and allowing the Cubs only hit on an infield single by Maloney. A.J. Armstrong worked the fifth inning, striking out two, and Ray Armstrong worked the night, also striking out two. Contributing to the Expos offense were Hardy (home run, single, two runs, three RBI), A.J. Armstrong (double, single, three runs), McGill (single, three runs, RBI), Little (single, run, two RBI), Ray Armstrong (single, two RBI), Hicks (single), and Henry Colyer, Smith and Shakeyia Colyer (one run scored each). The Expos were managed by Greg Hardy Sr. with Bruce Danilla, Henry Colyer Sr. and Mark Layton Sr. serving as assistant coaches. Members of the championship team were Greg Hardy Jr., Mark Layton Jr., Henry Colyer Jr., Travarius McGill, A.J. Armstrong, Thomas Hicks, Ray Armstrong, Nick Danilla, Daniel Little, Matt Kearney, Justin Smith, James Kearney, Shakeyia Colyer, Tim Duvall, Matt Hoelter and Darvis Colyer. The Cubs were coached by Tom Kelly and Ron Hummel with Jermaine Casey, Mike Hummel, Danny Cohen, Roddy Heckle, Reggie Robinson, Jimmy Maloney, John Sykes, Brandon Bostich, Skyler Cowhig, Phillip Basti, Grady Pflueger, Adam Hoglen, Maurice Holloway, Jacob Pyle and Jimmy Sellers making up the team.

FISHING FORECAST Bass action in the river is finally slowing down with the approach of summer. Expect the best fishing to be early and late in the day. Bream and catfish will continue to bite in the deep bays in spite of the heat. Worms and mussels are best for these species. Sebastian Inlet has fair action with snook, trout, flounder and redfish. Large live shrimp and small baitfish are hard to beat. Trout are also hitting on the grass flats just inside the Inlet. Captain Jack at Port Canaveral reports fair offshore action with dolphin and wahoo. King mackerel can be found on A Reef and Pelican Flats. A few tripletail are in the buoy line, while flounder and sheepshead can be found inside the Port. Trout and redfish are rated as fair in the Banana and Indian rivers. Ponce Inlet has fast action with drum, redfish, sheepshead, bluefish and jack crevalle. Live or dead shrimp is the top bait. Trout and redfish are rated from fair to good in Mosquito Lagoon.

slow start to lead Lake Mary in his first year as a starter. The strong-armed rightfielder hit .434 (49-for-113), including nine doubles, eight triples, two home runs, and 30 RBI. Lake Mary, which was ranked as high as No. 6 in the nation and was in three different national polls at one time this season, also had three players make Honorable Mention in Class 6A, junior catcher Ryan Bono, junior shortstop Matt Horwath, and senior center-fielder Chad LeGate, who will be a member of a University of Tennessee team this fall that is taking part in the NCAA Division I College World Series this weekend. The final three Class 6A Honorable Mention spots went to Lake Brantley stars Ian Holmen, Greg Moreira and Ray Horal. Seniors Holmen and Moreira were the pitching stars for coach Mike Smith's 22-10 district champion Patriots, while the junior Horal was an outstanding infielder and hitter for the Pats. The final Honorable Mention selection was in Class 5A and it went to Lyman senior Kyle Sommerville. The catcher-turned-first baseman had a super season for coach Bob McCullough's Greyhounds.

CHANGES ARE MADE IN DETERMINATIONS OF THE UNINCORPORATED AREAS OF SEMINOLE COUNTY, FLORIDA, BASE (1% ANNUAL CHANCE) FLOOD ELEVATIONS (BFEs) AND ZONE DESIGNATIONS UNDER THE NATIONAL FLOOD INSURANCE PROGRAM (NFIP)

On April 17, 1988, the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) identified Special Flood Hazard Areas in the Unincorporated Areas of Seminole County, Florida, through issuance of a Flood Insurance Rate Map (FIRM).

The Associate Director for Mitigation has determined that modification of the elevations and zone designations of the flood having a one-percent chance of occurrence in any given year (base flood) for certain locations in the unincorporated areas of Seminole County, is appropriate. The modified BFEs and zone designations amend the FEMA FIRM for the community.

This modification to the effective FIRM reflects more up-to-date and detailed topographic information and more detailed hydrologic and hydraulic analysis along three unnamed lakes, hereinafter referred to as Lakes 10, 11, and 12. As a result of the modifications, there is widening and narrowing of the 1% annual chance (100-year) floodplain for Lakes 10 and 11; narrowing of the 1% annual chance (100-year) floodplain for Lake 12; and change in zone designation from Zone 1 to Zone AE. In addition, BFEs have been added to Lakes 10, 11 and 12. The revised BFEs are as follows:

LAKES	Base Flood Elevations (NGVD)*
	Effective	Revised
Lake 10: Approximately 8,500 feet northwest of the intersection State Route 19 and Brunley Road	None	*46
Lake 11: Approximately 2,000 feet northwest of the intersection State Route 19 and Brunley Road	None	*48
Lake 12: Approximately 3,000 feet northeast of the intersection State Route 418 and 4th Street	None	*50

*Elevation in feet National Geodetic Vertical Datum

The changes are made pursuant to Section 206 of the Flood Disaster Protection Act of 1973 (P.L. 93-234), and are in accordance with the National Flood Insurance Act of 1968, as amended. (Title XIII of the Housing and Urban Development Act of 1968, P.L. 90-448) 42 U.S.C. 4001-4128, and 44 CFR Part 63.

Under the above mentioned Acts of 1968 and 1973, the Associate Director for Mitigation, must develop criteria for floodplain management. In order for the community to participate in the NFIP, the community will be using the new BFEs and zone designations to administer the floodplain management measures of the NFIP. These modified BFEs and zone designations will also be used to calculate the appropriate flood insurance premium rates for new buildings and their contents.

Upon the second publication of notice of these changes in this paper, any person has 90 days in which he can request through the Chief Executive officer of the community that the Associate Director for Mitigation reconsider the determination. Any request for reconsideration must be based on knowledge of changed conditions or new scientific or technical data. All interested parties are on notice that upon the 90-day period elapses, the Associate Director's determination to modify the BFEs and zone designations may itself be changed.

Any person having knowledge or wishing to comment on these changes should immediately notify:
