HOOPER'S MEN AIM VICTORY LATE POLLS

Dispositive Wins Scored in Primaries Yesterday Form Basis of Optimism And Boast

Some Elections Show Governor Smith Has Big Delegate Power

WASHINGTON, Apr. 25. (NS)—Herbert Hoover's men were jubilantly proclaiming in Washington that "Hoover cannot be stopped." The decisive victories scored by the party candidate in the United States and Massachusetts primaries afforded the basis for optimism and their confidence as to the national convention in Kansas City.

The exact dimensions of these gains to be disclosed by tabulating in rural districts where the opposition was strongest, are certain that Hoover will receive the 25 delegates from Massachusetts and probably 25 of its delegation of 61.

On this basis, Hoover has had his delegate standing estimated at approximately 240, with a favorable Hoover territory to be heard from. A majority to nominate is 545. The tables show his nearest rival, Frank O. Lowden of Illinois, with 171.

Nothing can now stop the nomination of Hoover, said Congressman James W. Good, who assumed active charge of opposition here, "The Ohio and Massachusetts primaries have been the rank and file of the Hoovers the first real opportunity to express their choice. They are done in no uncertain terms."

In the case of the Ohio districts, Hoover's men were not only organized but also well advertised. In full-page advertisements in Ohio newspapers the Hoopers informed that a vote for Hoover would result in a vote for Hoover or Hughes. It was Hoover.

Hoover's present delegate strength from these states that he will win in one way or another, and his choice for the national nomination in Kansas City is clear.

Kiwanis Members Give Mock Talks In Candidates' Behalf

A mock campaign meeting with one of the candidates for governor presided over by members of the club was presented by the Kiwanis Club members at the Forest Lake hotel. A parody primary vote taken in the past showed a vote for Hoover and Catts each night with Carlton and Carson trailing behind.

Register Now

4 days left to register for June Primary. Poll tax of $1 must be paid by May 19 at office of John H. Jenkins at Court House. Voters may register at office of H. C. Dubose, 112 Park Avenue.

Sanford Stores To Close Tomorrow Afternoon For Baseball's Inauguration

Tomorrow afternoon Sanford will close up shop and go to the ball game—the first game of this season in the Florida State League. The newly acquired team of Celery Feds will clash with the Orlando Colts following a 10-minute opening celebration which will end when Mayor E. F. Henshler pitches the first ball. The game is scheduled to start at 3:30 P. M.

Virtually every Sanford merchant has agreed to close his doors and go to the game, and today several relief funds were being considered. Judge DeWitt T. Gray has received the present trial of Forrest Lake for the afternoon to permit attorneys, judge and jury to see the game. A record opening day crowd is predicted by A. R. Wallace, the new president of the baseball club. He announced today that the sale of season tickets for the opening game indicated a big crowd. Arrangements for the opening exercises were completed today by Floyd A. Palmer, former president of the club, who has been given charge of the arrangements for the game. He announced the exercises would open with the hoisting of the 1928 pennant won by the Celery Feds and the American flag while the American Legion Drum and Bugle Corps plays the Star Spangled Banner and the two ball teams stand at attention. Following the flag raising, Mayor E. F. Henshler will make a short talk on baseball and what it means to Sanford. Then he will step to the pitcher's mound and hurl the opening ball.

LOCKHART DIES IN ACCIDENT ON BEACH COURSE

Blow-out Of Tire On Famous Racer's Car Results In Somersaulting And Throwing Driver Out Upon Ground

Tragedy Occurs In Full View Of Wife

Speed Demon Had Gone South At Estimated Speed Of 203 m.p.h. And Was On Way Back

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., Apr. 25.—(NS)—Frank Lockhart, one of the world's most famous racing drivers, was fatally injured here shortly after seven o'clock this morning when his car somersaulted as he was making an attempt to break the world's speed record. Lockhart was thrown clear off the State Blackhawk as it turned over the first time but received injuries from which he died shortly after reaching the hospital.

It was at first believed that the light construction of the front part of his car caused it to "lift" with the powerful rush of wind beneath it, but examination of the car, which was almost demolished, proved that a rear left tire had blown out.

Lockhart had gone south on the beach at an estimated speed of about 203 miles an hour, the best time he had recorded in any of his attempts on the record 207 miles an hour—and had started back to the north run when the accident occurred in front of the grandstand.

Last February Lockhart survived a similar accident here when the car was driving down into the ocean and somersaulted. He was rescued from being crushed to death and drowning at that time by another racing driver who went in to the water after him.

Yesterday he made six trials but the best speed he could attain was 191 miles an hour. He was confident that he would break the record in today's attempt. The present world's record, which was set last Sunday by Ray Keech, of Philadelphia, broke the mark made by Major Malcolm Campbell of England.

Following Keech's successful attempt on the record, Lockhart was more than ever determined to break it. Keech announced that he would try again today and he would try again to break it.

Last night Lockhart attended a banquet and William Shaw, who came here with the other drivers asking a new world's speed record, showed his air way made a number of unsuccessful attempts to set a new mark in his Whippet.

The body of Lockhart will probably be sent to Indianapolis for burial. Mrs. Lockhart is suffering from the shock of seeing her husband killed before her eyes.

Evidence Reveals Racer Was Making Terrific Speed Rate

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., Apr. 25.—(NS)—The terrific speed at which Frank Lockhart was driving to his death on the Daytona Beach speedway today is evidenced by the fact that his Stutz Blackhawk leaped high in the air five times, attaining a height of 25 feet, and throwing Lockhart 60 feet skyward in the second jump. Experts who examined the smashed machine, declared the accident resulted from the bursting of an old tire on the rear wheel. They said the tire had been in poor condition when Lockhart made his first run here and should have been discarded. Holding his position until the careening car was almost upon him, Ludwig Geisler, a cameraman, escaped death by an inch and his camera was demolished. Directly behind him was Max Amos, a local photographer, who was knocked down and slightly injured.

PROBE SHOWS FLOYD BENNETT DIES POWER TRUST As Heroic Efforts OPPOSED BILL To Save Life Fail

Efforts Of Powerful Utility Concerns To Defeat Plans For Boulder Dam Barely Fore Investigating Group

Former Governor Is Involved In Case

WASHINGTON, April 25. (NS)—Efforts of the so-called power trust to defeat the Swing-Johnson Boulder dam bill were barred at the Federal Trade Commission's public utility investigation today. Evidence was put into the record to show that ex-Governor M. C. Mechem of New Mexico was in the employ of the joint committee of national utility associations at the time he was supposed to be representing New Mexico in the Colorado River project negotiations.

The investigation has revealed that vast sums were being spent to fight government development of river projects. Among the persons listed on the payroll was ex-Senator Leonard (B.) Wisconsin, who received $20,000 for opposing the Walsh power trust resolution. Another recipient was Richard Washington Child, ex-ambassador to Italy.

The committee's cash book showed a copy of a resolution signed by Mechem, which was presented to the Denver interstate conference last December. It urged delay in developing the Colorado River project.

The committee's cash book showed that payments had been made to Feichtel at about that time. L. Feichtel, assistant director, and previously testified that E. C. Wilson, not Mechem, was official representative of New Mexico at the conference. He said Mechem was employed to make verbal reports on the activities at the conference.

The committee thereby "clouded" the country with public utility and propaganda, its records showed. Headquarters was set up in Washington because officials felt the capital was becoming increasingly important in the political and industrial life of the nation. State committees were also organized. At a cost of $1,000 monthly the committee is a home literature to more than 5,000 individuals and organizations all over the country. The Boston branch of the National Electric Light Association distributed on widely in New England a speech made by Ogden Mill, under secretary of treasury, while he was a candidate for governor of New York against Al Smith, Minn.

CHINESE ARMIES MENACE PEKING IN DRIVE NORTH

Several Hundred Americans Residing In Shantung Are Ordered To Concentrate In Constitution City For Protection

WASHINGTON, April 25.—(NS)—With two Southern armies moving northward in Sha Tung, Shansi, and Chihli provinces virtually unopposed the fall of Peking is imminent, according to official military advices reaching here today. Several hundred Americans scattered throughout Northern Shantung Province have been ordered to concentrate on the report of Clegg and State Department experts are considering the advisability of evacuating all Americans in the three war-torn provinces. About 2,500 Americans, many of them missionaries, are within the potential battle area.

Additional naval vessels have been asked by American Consul Webber at Chefoo. Two British naval vessels are standing by. The Nationalist armies are now on the outskirts of Tsinan, the Capital of Shantung Province, with its population of some 40,000,000, and an important junction on the Tientsin-Peking Railway. Provincial defenders are in retreat toward Tschow, 40 miles northward, where, at the Grand Canal and the Peking Railway, the Northern defenders of Peking probably will make their last desperate effort to save the city for Chang-Tao-Lin, the Manchurian war lord and Northern dictator.

A second Southern army is moving northward in Eastern Shantung toward Taingtan, where Japanese marines are stationed to resist the Japanese concession at Kiefow. A serious diplomatic situation is presented in the possible clash of the Japanese troops and the victorious Nationalist columns. The Nationalist strategy, according to military experts, calls for a consolidation of the two columns immediately to the south of Techow, where the decisive battle for control of the ancient capital is expected within perhaps ten days. The vanguard of the Southern army is already within 200 miles of the forbidden city.

World Famous Flyer Succumbs To Pneumonia Contracted On Way To Germans

Aviation Leaders Mourn His Death

Was Co-Pilot of Byrd In Epic Flight Over Region Of North Pole

QUEBEC, Que., Apr. 25.—(NS)—Floyd Bennett, internationally famous aviator and conqueror of the North Pole, died at 10:53 this morning in the Jeffery Hale Hospital of pneumonia which he had contracted in the line of duty. Bennett was thirty-eight years old. He was born at Lake George, N. Y., on Oct. 25, 1890, and his present home was in Brooklyn, N. Y.

He was one of the most courageous aviators whose names have been written indelibly in the annals of aviation progress. His greatest achievement was when, as co-pilot for Commander Richard E. Byrd, in 1926, he flew to the North Pole—the first time this epic feat had been accomplished.

Bennett's death was hastened by his fidelity to duty. He was ill when he left Detroit several days ago in the Ford rescue plane which was bringing replacements for the trans-Atlantic Bremen, which was forced down on Grenady Island. He was forced to give up the flight when half way and was taken to the hospital in Quebec.

Drama and pathos surrounded last minute efforts to save Bennett's life. Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh, a comrade of the air, learning that special serum was needed for the treatment of Bennett, sped in an airplane from Curtiss Field, N. Y., yesterday afternoon with the serum, arriving in a flying "Joy" at 6:30 last evening. Lindbergh flew as he never flew before, making the distance in record time. The serum, however, was not the kind necessary and his dramatic trip proved in vain.

Lindbergh, who had been nervously waiting at Chateau Frontenac since early morning—he had risen earlier than usual so as to be ready to do anything further that might be within his power—was heartbroken when he heard that Bennett had passed away.

So was Commander Richard E. Byrd, for years a bosom friend of Bennett's. He had already named Bennett as second in command of their expedition this Fall to the South Pole. "I am too grieved for words," said Byrd tears in his eyes. For days he had been at the hospital, aiding Bennett all he could.

Both Bennett and Byrd had received numerous decorations for their great work as flyers, including the Congressional Medal of Honor. President Coolidge on one occasion presented Byrd with the Hubbard Medal of the National Geographic Society and pinned on Bennett a gold medal.

"Bennett was one in a million—absolutely fearless," Byrd had often said of his companion flyer. "He was one of the greatest pilots in the navy. He was a real man." Other flyers expressed similar sentiments concerning Bennett. They all like the quiet, bloods flyer.

Bennett's good humor and grin first showed itself in noisy circles about the middle of December, 1919. (Continued On Page 4)

LAKE CASE JURY PICKED AFTER 60 ARE DISCHARGED

Fifth Trial Of Forrest Lake Breaks Record Of Previous Cases When First Panel Is Used Up And Second Called

The jury which will try Forrest Lake in his fifth case against the former Sanford banker was sworn in at three o'clock this afternoon after 60 talesmen had passed through the jury box. Taking of evidence in the case began about four o'clock and will continue throughout tonight and at least part of tomorrow.

The jurors are: Calvin A. Oldham, grocery store operator; E. C. Lates, Alhambra Springs Hotel; Monte George E. Babcock, Altamonte Springs; George A. G. Moore, farmer; J. D. Evans, farmer; W. E. Bennett, laborer.

The fifth trial of Forrest Lake broke the record of all the previous bank trials last night when at 10:30 the panel of 100 gentlemen was exhausted and a jury in the case will remain undecided. Of the 100 men summoned by Judge DeWitt T. Gray five retained a temporary seat on the jury.

An additional panel of 50 was summoned for a possible afternoon session and a defense lawyer attempted again to come to an agreement on six o'clock to try the charge of mis-appropriation of $25,000 of the bank's funds against Lake. The lack of jury material prevented a session of court this morning.

Last night the defense indicated two times that it was satisfied with the jurors in the box, once at 9:30 and once at 9:45. The state, however, each time refused a juror and the search for the right men went on.

At the close of last night's session, the state had used three of its five preliminary challenge and the defense four. These excused by (Continued On Page 4)

PRESIDENT WILL DELIVER SPEECH AT GETTYSBURG

Coolidge's Decision To Make Memorial Day Address At Historic Battle Ground Is Cause For Much Discussion

WASHINGTON, April 25.—(NS)—Considerable discussion has been aroused in Washington over President Coolidge's decision to deliver his Memorial Day speech this year on Gettysburg's historic battle ground.

Fourteen Presidents have held office since Lincoln made his immortal Gettysburg Address, and if Mr. Coolidge carries out his present intention of speaking there on May 30th, he will be the first to inaugurate the custom of the people, for the people, by the people, for the people, round the world.

Just why none of the successors to Lincoln has spoken at Gettysburg is not all together plain. Every President delivered Memorial Day addresses, but since Grover Cleveland they have all chosen to speak at Arlington Memorial Cemetery, just across the river in Virginia.

A tradition seems to have grown up that Gettysburg is too particularly to Lincoln's classic address which most historical claimants scribbled on the back of an old envelope held on the anniversary of the great emancipator. At any rate, Gettysburg has heard no Presidential Memorial Day address since Lincoln's.

Inquiries at the White House brought the statement today that Mr. Coolidge planned to speak at the historic battleground for reasons of aptitude. Each year since he became President, it was explained, he has spoken at Arlington, usually to the same audience of Washingtonians, and this year he desired a change.

Rabcock Is Elected Rotary Club Head To Succeed LeRoy

George Rabcock was picked to succeed Leon L. LeRoy as president of the Sanford Rotary Club for the coming year at the club's annual election of officers at the Forest Lake Hotel yesterday. Other officers elected were: Rev. Mortimer Glover, secretary; Rev. Randall Chase, treasurer; and Edward Markell and Walter H. Jones, directors.

Dr. Luther Bridgers, who started evangelistic services at the First Methodist Church Sunday, and the Rev. W. P. Buhman, pastor of the church, were among the speakers. Frank Kay Anderson, of Altamonte Springs, made a short talk on law enforcement. Arthur Milles, golf professional at the Sanlando Country club, was elected a member of the local club. Mrs. Leon LeRoy furnished piano music. Among the guests were M. E. Dooley, of Geneva, and L. J. Hartley, of Longwood.

GEORGIA FLOODS INUNDATE LARGE FARM LAND AREA

Five Thousand Are Homeless And Much Damage Has Done As Waters Continue To Spread Wide Desolation

ATLANTA, Apr. 25.—(NS)—With more than 5,000 homeless, thousands of acres of farm lands inundated and rivers still on a rampage, flood waters held sway over South Georgia and Alabama today.

In Georgia, the flood conditions were most severe in the highlands of Albany, Rabun and Camilla, where the spreading deluge over a wide area, a few towns in these sections are cut off and travel is at a stand still.

The committee's cash book showed that payments had been made to Feichtel at about that time. L. Feichtel, assistant director, and previously testified that E. C. Wilson, not Mechem, was official representative of New Mexico at the conference. He said Mechem was employed to make verbal reports on the activities at the conference.

In Alabama, the Tombigbee, Alabama and Chattahoochee rivers are rising steadily, while occupants of the lowlands along the Tombigbee and Flint rivers are preparing to evacuate their homes. Train service which was broken off by the torrential rains Sunday was resumed on limit of schedule by Prewitt and other towns in that vicinity.

Senate's Inquiry Into Continental Company's Bonds Nears Its Close

WASHINGTON, Apr. 25.—The Senate's inquiry into the Continental Trading Company's mysterious $3,080,000 Liberty bond fund entered its closing stage today since the Senate Public Lands Committee has located $2,877,100 of the "slush fund" bonds. The story of Robert W. Stewart, chairman of the Standard Oil of Indiana, that he received $750,000 of the Continental bonds and held them in secret trust for six years, accounted for a major portion of the hitherto missing bonds. There remained but $203,000 of the bonds accounted for and all these apparently went to Harry F. Sinclair,

Miss Hof-Mac Wins Hydroplane Race In Yesterday Regatta

"Miss Hof-Mac," the 151 class hydroplane owned and piloted by W. D. Hoffman of Sanford, triumphed over the other entries in her own class and in the free for all race in the annual Sanford Regatta held on Lake Monroe yesterday afternoon. "Buz" won the Class B and Class C outboard races and carried home two cups. Hundreds of persons lined the yacht basin and bank abutment to see the sporty boats race over the choppy water kicked up by a light wind. A couple of spills from the little outboard-motored boats added thrills not included on the regular program.

Honors in the aquaplane contest were divided evenly between the three contestants, Vernon Schaefer, Warner Scoggin and Oran Harper. The rough water made it difficult for the judge to pick a winner.

The results in the three events for speed boats were:
151 hydroplane—Miss Hof-Mac, first; See-me-go, second, and Miss Flute, third.
Class B Outboards—Bozo, first; City of Homes, second; and Havana-tampa, third.
Class C Outboards—Bozo, first; City of Homes, second and Havana-tampa, third.

Judges of the races and aquaplane contest were E. H. Markell, Weyman E. White, Nelson Gray and Karl Schultz. Loving cups were awarded for first, second and third places.

BIBLE VERSE FOR TODAY

PRAYER—O Lord, Thou art our hope and Thou dost satisfy the desires of our heart.

The goodly blood and gentle Goes stale in April's sun, And I am drunk with beauty Till April's course is run. I know not good from evil When I am caught like this: But oh, I can remember Dark passion and a kiss!

That police trial in Miami is becoming interesting. It seems that it is no longer right for officers to beat up prisoners.

The Tamiami Trail is to be opened this week. What a psychological time for Dr. Hathaway to appear on the scene and collect some votes.

If some of our political candidates were half as mad at each other as they appear to be, there'd be an awful fight every time they get together.

The Sarasota Times' proposal to stop supporting Carlton if Hathaway would prove the charges untrue seems to be the attitude of many Florida newspapers.

Tampa Life is another Tampa newspaper which has come out for Doyle Carlton. Doyle seems to have the Tampa newspaper situation pretty well in hand.

The Tampa Tribune writes learnedly of "iodine for fishes." We know a couple of poor fish around here we wouldn't mind seeing get some of that iodine.

We saw a couple of Sanford boys the other day trying to learn how to skin the cat. If they are really in earnest we suggest that they watch Jim Carson for practical instruction.

Catts, in his Miami speech, charged up San Juan Hill, led the "Charge of the Light Brigade" and fought the Crimean War, sang "Swanee River" and "My Old Kentucky Home", buried Confederate at Appomattox, and captivated the people with his edition of "Anna Laurus". True, modern politics is developing a high degree of oratory.

The Degeneration Of Boxing

Gene Tunney, heavyweight boxing champion of the world, lectured to a Shakespeare class of Yale students the other day and seems to have made a favorable impression. At least the students cheered him when the lecture was over.

In introducing his protege, Professor William Lyon Phelps, instructor of the Shakespeare class, said of Mr. Tunney that his knowledge of literature was real and deep and not superficial as so many people seemed to think. "I know that Mr. Tunney," the Professor continued, "loves art and literature for its own sake."

Just what Professor John L. Sullivan would have thought of a heavyweight champion who loved art and literature for its own sake, we can well imagine. Those were the days when fights were fought with bare knuckles. But the tendency among fighters of the first class has been to rise in the ranks of the intellectuals.

Even Jess Willard did not confine his activities to fist-fana, but occupied at least a part of his time with the more elevating occupation of running a road show. This, little as it is, shows a marked inclination to rise, and undoubtedly would have been regarded by the earlier fighters as sissy.

Jack Dempsey, though the Manassa Mauler, was a beau brummel. While always carrying his attack to the button of the jaw, out of the ring he was a ladies' man of the first order. Not only did he have his broad and decidedly pug nose straightened by a synthetic operation, but he also performed in the movies, and at one time attempted to break into polo at Newport. Later he posed for a picture called "The Thinker," a crime for which there is no pardon.

But the genial Gene, the ex-Marine, who carried his argument with the Kaiser clear to the Rhine, has gone them all one better. John L. must have turned over in his grave when he heard it. Lecturing to Yale students about Shakespeare is bad enough but liking it is even worse. And Professor Phelps says, "Mr. Tunney appeared far better on the lecture platform than I should have in the ring."

Excess Baggage

Bad boys of the Navy last week embarrassed Secretary Wilbur, who likes to think of all his bluejackets as nice, when Commander Cobb of the destroyer Billingsley radioed him that a female stowaway had been found on board. Rear Admiral Clark, informed of his commander's dilemma, considered his own door step, or rather ship holds.

He found Rose McQuore, Billy Lacer, Flossie Rice, and Ramilda Avery, who announced themselves as "waitresses from Philadelphia" on their way back to work. The Rear Admiral evidently concluded his ships could not be used for transportation service, especially passenger service, since he disembarked his uninvited guests when his ships rounded Key West.

Wilbur, however, has not yet heard the last of it. He promptly received a telegram from the irate father of one of the girls asking how such things could happen. Secretary Wilbur, according to the magazine Time, could say nothing beyond expressing regret "since Navy tradition mentions only a wife in every port and none on shipboard and the regulations say very little about human nature."

We are moved to wonder if the girl's father has never read those lines by Harry Lauder which go:

"They say that every sailor's got A wife in every port, That's a dirty lie because He's nothing of the sort. If a sailor has a wife In every port, then take my tip, That every sailor's wife has got A man on every ship."

AN IMPORTANT MEETING

JACKSONVILLE JOURNAL

Jacksonville business leaders will gather tonight at a dinner in the Hotel George Washington to discuss and to be informed about the purposes of the United Florida movement launched by the state chamber of commerce. Throughout the state communities are realizing that there is an irresistible force in united effort and they are banding together to participate in the movement to direct their energies so far as the state's interests are concerned through a single channel in the task of accelerating the progress and development of Florida.

As Florida's leading city Jacksonville cannot afford not to become prominently identified with the movement. For selfish reasons, if for no other, this city should be among the first to give its support. Everything that benefits Florida helps Jacksonville. Some part of almost every dollar brought into Florida is left in this city.

The United Florida movement is designed to merge the efforts of its citizens to present with a single force of appeal the state's advantages and to weigh with a single mind what is best for the state as a whole. The purpose of it is to develop the state, to bring more people and more trade into

SMASH THE MACHINE

TAMPA TRIBUNE

The Manatee Advertiser gives conclusive and unanswerable reasons for opposing the election of Fona Hathaway as Governor of Florida. After mentioning instances of fact brought out in the Hathaway record, the Advertiser says:

Our objection to Mr. Hathaway is not based upon the criticisms made by Mr. Carlton. Mr. Hathaway has been one of the central figures in the most extravagant administration the state has ever known—an administration so devoid of real statesmanship that it was swept entirely off its feet by the real estate boom, and so lacking in constructive intelligence that it was months behind the people of the state in discovering that the boom was over.

As a central figure in his administration, Mr. Hathaway saw the road fund depleted from a surplus of millions to a huge deficit. Then, at a time when the of state roads—for Hathaway, as Governor undoubtedly would appoint as his successor in the direction of the State Road Department a man who would carry out his policies and do his bidding—which would consist, mainly, of paying off the political debts incurred in his campaign.

Thus, the people of Florida would be subjected to four years more of Road Department extravagance, disregard of law, favoritism to political friends and financial backers and the further building and strengthening of the machine which is now attempting to perpetuate itself as the controlling power of the state government.

Members Of W.C.T.U. Hold Friday Meeting

On Friday afternoon the regular meeting of the W. C. T. U. was held at the home of Mrs. W. L. Cooper on Central Avenue. With Mrs. Cooper, Mrs. Sem and Mrs. C. C. Priest as hostesses. The rooms where the members assembled were effectively adorned with a profusion of calendulas, snap dragons, roses and other Spring blossoms combined with greenery.

Mrs. F. R. Mitchell, the president of the Union presided over the business session at which time routine business was carried out. The meeting opened with the song "Carry On", after which the scripture lesson, Ephesians, 1:13 was read. After the business session, Mrs. John Leonard in her usual delightful manner, introduced Mrs. Mary S. Howarth of DeLand, the first woman to graduate from John B. Stetson University, was charter member of Phi Delta Delta, women's legal fraternity, was first woman to be admitted to Florida Bar Association and practiced law for ten years at Chester, Pa., and is now a member of the firm of Stewart and Stewart at DeLand. Mrs. Howarth talked on "Good Citizenship," stating that good citizenship was not in just voting, but making oneself a power for good in the community. She sees as one of the dangers of good citizenship, a paternalistic tendency in government, and instead of appealing to Washington, each community and state should work out its own problems. She criticized as extravagance, the useless work seen along our public highways. She felt certain public offices were especially fitted for women, such as places of the school boards and as county superintendent of public instruction.

Mrs. Mable Perkins Deun, of DeLand, recording Secretary of the State W. C. T. U. told of the election pamphlets gotten out by the W. C. T. U. Mrs. E. M. Weeks, president of the Union at DeLand, invited the Sanford Union to meet at the home of Mrs. Katherine Aldis, corner Boulevard and East Plymouth street, DeLand, next Friday at 3:00 o'clock, at which time Mrs. John Leonard will be the principal speaker.

Delegates were elected to the county Federation of Women's Clubs meeting to be held in May, as follows: Mrs. Louis Stevelling, Mrs. John D. Abrahams, Mrs. G. B. Elliott, Mrs. W. I. Hughey, Alternates, Mrs. E. M. Carroll, Miss Esther Hughey, Mrs. Sem and Mrs. James McLelland. Mrs. Carroll, Mrs. Elliott and Mrs. Abrahams were named as a committee to ask that women be placed as full members on the election lists for the June election.

After all business had been transacted a social hour was enjoyed. The hostesses served refreshments of iced tea, assorted sandwiches and cakes.

Among those present were Mrs. Prudy Bennett, Mrs. J. S. May, Mrs. T. A. Wall, Mrs. E. M. Weeks, Mrs. Mable Perkins, Mrs. W. I. Hughey, Mrs. E. M. Carroll, Mrs. Sem, Mrs. W. I. Hughey, Mrs. F. R. Mrs. Boyle had invited Mrs. C. H. Smith as hostess. An attractive assortment of various-colored Spring blossoms including gladioli, snap dragons, larkspurs and petunias was used in decorating the club auditorium where the tables had been arranged for play.

Scores were kept on tables done in red roses, the club flower, and at the conclusion of the fifth progression, it was found that Mrs. Alfred W. Lee Jr. had scored the most points and received a lovely white kid pocket book. The low score prize, a pretty shoulder bag, went to Mrs. Braxton L. Perkins.

Late in the afternoon after the prizes had been awarded, the hostesses served tuna fish salad, saltines, spiced peaches and iced tea. There were ten tables of players who enjoyed this interesting card game.

Old Mother Nature is also on hand and assists in welcoming these young guests to Fairyland.

During this attractive summer scene, the "Roses", fireflies and flowers dance the old fashioned minuet, and the Night Moth and Summer Fairy also do a clever little dance.

"Autumn and Winter", are ushered in by the dancing of the leaves, and the children are guided by old Mr. Gray Squirrel. The

Chrysler's Recieve High Rating After 14 Months Test By Army Officials

It has recently been learned from authoritative sources, according to the Parkside Motor Company that exhaustive tests just completed by the Motor Transport Division of the United States Army have resulted in an exceptionally high rating for Chrysler cars in performance, economy and durability.

The tests have been under way for about 14 months, than than thh about 14 months. During this time two Chrysler touring cars of the "60" and "68" models have been driven day after day in all kinds of weather and over every kind of road by the various drivers who were mostly private soldiers in the army, and none of whom had any special familiarity with Chryslers. In the entire period of 14 months each car covered a total distance of 30,000 miles.

Advices reaching the Chrysler Corporation state that itemized charges for all expenses during the 14 months test, including fuel, oil, labor, parts, tires and depreciation, resulted in a total cost per car mile of less than three and a half cents for the model "60" and under three and nine tenths cents for the model "68".

Army engineers at Camp Holabird, Md. kept a painstakingly close check of the performance of the two cars throughout the entire trial. Each car was charged with all operating expenses and depreciation according to fixed schedules laid down by the government for application to all cars tested. At the end of 15,000 and 30,000 miles the cars were torn down and inspected and the cost of these two minute inspections of every part was included in operating expense under the heading of labor. By the Chrysler Corporation is an unofficial information received regard the operation, figures as to what the effect that army officers much enthusiasm over the showing; remarkable, as they were lower than those ever shown by any other cars that have undergone the test, either four or six cylinder. It is also reported that throughout the entire 14 months of exposure to severe weather, highway and driving conditions the Chryslers have never failed to function faultlessly and after being torn down for inspection and reassembled they ran as smoothly as ever in spite of the rough usage to which they had been subjected.

The test was made largely in cross-country army maneuvers over all kinds of roads and at times no roads.

Vegetable Minerals A Mine of Health

SAVE the liquid in which vegetables have been cooked, is the advice of Dr. D. Bruce Jones, of the United States Department of Agriculture. One of the main reasons for eating vegetables is their high mineral content. Calcium, phosphorus, iron, iodine and other minerals constitute a protection to the body. Poor bone growth, goiter, and various other derangements are known to be due to insufficient minerals in the diet. The mineral content of quality peas, string beans, lima beans and spinach is especially good.

content will be found in the liquid. Therefore, Dr. Jones states that "the large part of these food elements may be lost by discarding the water in which the vegetables were cooked." Since the liquid in case of vegetables is simply the water in which the vegetables were cooked, it should be used. After leaching the vegetables in their own juices, the excess should be poured off and stored in the ice box, for it is a valuable part of a quality product.

A general recipe for making a cream soup from left-over vegetable stock is this: melt four tablespoons butter in a sauce pan. Add three and one-half tablespoons flour, salt and one-half cups milk. Bring to a boiling point, stirring constantly. Then add one and one-half cups vegetable juice. Add left-over peas, string beans, or lima beans can be added, too.

Minerals Are Not Metals

However, there is one point to remember regarding these minerals; they do not consist of a lump of metal. In fact, they are very soluble, so that when vegetables are cooked a large proportion of the mineral

Romance Of Sea To Be Feature Picture At Milane Theatre

The Narwhal, one of the most famous ships in the history of American shipping, center of a thousand adventures in the Orient, and used by a famous explorer to plough through the ice fields of the Arctic, was Ramon Novarro's home for more than a month when he called the Pacific as a floating studio for his newest starring vehicle, "Across to Singapore," a Metro Goldwyn Mayer production, now playing at the Milane Theatre.

The old ship was chartered for the cruise, manned by a picked crew and carried the cast from the M-G-M studios, including John Crawford, the heroine, Ernest Torrence, James Mason, Duke Martin, Dan Waldron and others. A terrific storm was blazed, a mighty albatross ship, an attack of Oriental pirates, and other thrilling action. True to the adventure novel, "Across to Singapore," a ship, wrecked far different from those than that of being motion picture studios.

The chartering of the ship was one of a number of elaborate tasks in connection with the new picture, a graphic romance of the high seas, based on the story by Ben Ames Williams, famous Saturday Evening Post author. Another was the erection of a New England village and the construction of a part of Singapore, including a no. orous water front drive.

The most elaborate of Singapore, with several hundred players, representing almost every nationality in the world in the "melting pot" of the Orient. Anna May Wong, famous Chinese actress, appears in this sequence as an Oriental street dancer in the picture; Frank Currier, Edward Connelly, Ernest Torrence, Anna May Wong and others of note.

William Nigh, who directed "Mr. Wu," was the director. The opening scenes are an elaborate reproduction of New England village and the sea series are particularly elaborate.

Mrs. Christopher Williams, who has been spending the past a few weeks with her daughter, Mrs. Edwina L. Martell, an "Old Water" farm, left Wednesday for New York where she will spend a short time before going to points in Connecticut for the summer.

Inventor Of France Will Try Atlantic Hop In Gas Balloon

PARIS, April 25. (AP)—No motor, no fuel, no "worry"—this lightning, Lucien Dodin, inventor of aeronautical devices used by the French Army will set out across the Atlantic this year in a newly designed balloon that he says never loses gas.

Believing the final end of transoceanic transatlantic flights, provided that progress in airplane motor construction is at a standstill, Dodin decided the ancient balloon could make a comeback.

Lucien Dodin, novelist, who for saw submarines and airplanes about fifty years ago, wrote a book, entitled "Five Weeks in a Balloon." Dodin says his book inspired the plan for his new balloon.

Dodin says his balloon can be inflated at any altitude without the use of gas or ballast. The bag is horizontally divided into two parts. The upper chamber is inflated with gas and hermetically sealed so that none of the gas can escape. Through the lower chamber circulates but air which is generated by the action of chemicals on platinum. The heat in the air filled chamber can be increased or diminished and the balloon thus lowered or elevated.

Lightning and wind are Dodin's only concern. He believes airplanes and balloons run the same danger of lightning while air currents in the South Atlantic

HOOVER'S MEN CLAIM VICTORY IN LATE POLLS

Michigan, 33; Minnesota, 4; Missouri, 6; New Hampshire, 12; North Carolina, 6; Oregon, 13; (and Hoover filed); Rhode Island, 12; Virginia, 15; Wisconsin, 1. Add to these the 29 from Massachusetts and indicated 35 from Ohio and the total is 240.

States still to act and claimed so far for Hoover are: Alabama, 15; California, 29; Colorado, 15; Connecticut, 17; Maryland, 19; Mississippi, 12; New Jersey, 12; Tennessee, 19; Texas, 25; Washington, 17; Total, 209, and grand total of 449.

To these claims the Hoover forces add 60 from Pennsylvania and at least 47 from New York, which push the commerce secretary across the line with 550, or five more than a majority.

The opposition to Hoover admittedly was somewhat downcast over the situation today, but there was no indication that the fight is to be lessened in anyway. On the contrary, it probably will be pursued with renewed vigor now that the seriousness of the situation, from the opposite standpoint, is apparent.

Hoover's "grim" help opposition to Hoover, at any rate, is steadily growing stronger, and being rendered a balloon crossing from Casablanca to Brazil a near jaunt.

Floyd Bennett Dies As Heroic Efforts To Save Life Fail

17, when he enlisted. He remained in after the war, taking an interest in the aeronautical branch which made him one of the best mechanics of the service.

It was Commander Byrd who drew him out of obscurity in 1925, when the Commander organized a naval air contingent to go with the MacMillan expedition to hunt land supposed to exist in the Arctic Ocean northwest of Etah, Greenland.

Bennett's wizardry with an aircraft motor and his flying ability were such that Byrd chose him as his companion in the N.A.1. They flying over bleak, dangerous ice fields. Mutual confidence between them grew into a close friendship. Consequently, when next year Byrd sailed in the Chantier for Spitzbergen, Bennett went along as his fellow-pilot in the dash to the pole.

Their take-off in a tri-motored Fokker loaded with 10,000 pounds was a spectacular event in which they barely escaped crashing in jagged ice at the end of their run-way. They snubbed into an Arctic midnight, headed for the pole 750 miles away. An oil leak gave them a scare, but fortunately it finally stopped of its own accord.

On May 9, 1926, they arrived over the pole, took sights to confirm their position, made some motion and still pictures and then headed back towards where they hoped Spitzbergen was. Fortune again favored them. Despite the plentiful opportunity of missing their goal, they came dead up on it. It was following this achievement that they were honored by President Coolidge, Bennett's birthplace, Lake

Hours Versus Days

If you live on a farm you count the time between the picking of your fresh vegetables and fruits and the time when they are sold in hours, at the most. If you live in the city you count the time it takes to get your so-called "fresh" vegetables and fruits to you, at the least. Sometimes it is more than a week before the food in the field appears on your table. But are you able to get them as fresh? The average quality string beans and green peas arrive in the Eastern market months as "fresh" vegetables, but do not upon arrival meet the demands of the best canner. The canner, like the farm dweller, cooks his fruits and vegetables in a few hours after they are picked.

In the case of green peas, during the winter the peas in the East market come from the West of Mexico. The housewife boasts that she never serves but fresh vegetables on her table, and she goes to the market and buys a handful of these peas at a high price. The vendor assures her they are fresh. He fails to tell her how many days have elapsed between the time the peas are picked and the time she purchases them.

Vegetables are not always fresh. They are necessarily fresh, because freshness very often is not the basis. Some of the most nutritious and most delicious foods, cooked from three to six hours after they are taken from the field or the orchard.

Let us look at the can of peas. Out in the fields of Wisconsin, where some of our best peas are grown, there are special fields set apart for the canning industry. The canners located near by. Field men are employed to watch the crop and tell the farmer the moment that peas are at their best to harvest for canning. The peas are pulled early in the morning, while the dew is on them and hurried to the cannery before the dew dries. Within three to six hours after they have been taken from the fields the peas are in cans. And in the many processes of separating into sizes and sorting according to quality, each pea has been bathed—but they are never touched by human hands.

Now a Quality Ungraded Pea. Peas are sorted into fancy, choice and standard grades according to quality and for various uses, because even in the most scientific garden, the peas are not all the same. They are separated into sizes so that the consumer may purchase a uniform size for table service. There is, however, being canned now, a quality ungraded pea, which takes the peas just as they come from the garden, without regard to size.

Fruits and vegetables which have been a long time coming to market accumulate additional bacteria during the transportation and exposure for sale. Intense heating in scientific cookers kills any possible bacteria in canned foods, whereas home cooking is less likely to do this. In the cannery, corn is cooked 75 minutes and at a temperature of 250 degrees. On the average at home, it is boiled for twenty minutes at 212 degrees at the maximum.

It is also thorough sterilization which goes on in the process of canning food which makes it proof against any kind of deterioration.

Dr. William Brady, widely-known health authority, points out the fact that any food may be kept in a can after it is opened without any more fear of spoilage than any other kind of food. "Meats and other foods that may be canned or tinned may be kept in any other container," Dr. Brady says. "It is the experience of millions of people that canned food remains wholesome when kept standing for hours or days in the opened can, if it is fit to eat when it is put in the can in the first place."

All grades of food put up by reliable canners are perfectly safe foods; the only differences denoted by the quality marked on the can is that some of the foods are choicer than others.

Buffet Cars and Buffalo Robes

HERE sleighs with the occupant snugly wrapped in buffalo robes once traveled the "long" trip of five miles or more to town there now are swift trains, hurtling over hundreds of miles a day. And where people used to be satisfied with any food at all, they now demand the best of the world. Both the dining car and the buffet car are serving a discriminating public.

Usually the railroad companies manage their own dining cars, but when circumstances make it advisable, the Pullman company steps in and provides only the highest quality service between the United States and Mexico City via Laredo, Texas. Problems of peculiar difficulty arise and this is borne out by noting that cans of cleaned, metal polish and silver polish, as well as bars of kitchen soap are to be had on order.

Fresh Foods

Coming back more strictly to the question of what we eat, the first thing that strikes the mind of a housewife is that no flour, arrow-root, or other thickening agent is used. In part this may be explained by the fact that pastry is made in the kitchen and that condiments are of great variety. Chicken, chicken, consommé, mock turtle, omelet, tomato, and clam chowder are used, both because of the economy of time, space and material and because their fine quality causes customers to like them.

The Modest Chop

The food, as it comes into the buffet car may be either baked, broiled, or sautéed. The Pullman commissary requisition lists fresh ham, baked or broiled, fresh or evaporated, the variety of supplies which are available for Pullman buffet cars in parts of the country is being the first thing that strikes the mind of a housewife is that no flour, arrow-root, or other thickening agent is used.
