

GERMANY IS DEBARRED FROM FURTHER PART IN THE GENOA CONFERENCE

Russo-German Treaty Before Conference Was Breach of Faith

CONFERENCE LAGS

ALTHOUGH ATTITUDE OF GERMAN AND RUSSIA WILL NOT EFFECT CONFERENCE SAY THE ALLIES

(By The Associated Press)
GENOA, April 19.—It is expected the German demand for discussion of her case before a plenary session of the conference will prove a mortal blow to the conference, was declared in a French communique issued here today dealing with the Russo-German treaty and the attitude of the Allies in considering Germany eliminated from further discussion of the Russian question. The communique declares dragging controversy into full session would bring about a situation Europe wished to avoid, namely, lining up of new political group, one against the other.

PARIS, April 19.—The reparations commission will be asked to consider whether the Russo-German treaty signed at Rapallo Sunday violates the treaty of Versailles in respect to German owned property in Russia. The property, under the Versailles treaty, is pledged to the commission for payment of reparations.

GENOA, April 19.—German Foreign Minister Rathenau conferred with Lloyd George of Great Britain, and Foreign Minister Chicherin, of Russia today regarding the Germans from Russian commission of the conference. The Germans will probably submit a formal reply tonight to the Allied note on the subject.

GENOA, April 19.—With Germany debarred from further deliberations with respect to the agreement which the powers hope to conclude with Russia, the Genoa conference was last night in a state of crisis. The Allied powers, sitting with the states of the little entente, have imposed a severe penalty on Germany because of what is termed her violation of the conditions to which she pledged herself in entering the conference.

This violation took the form of "secretly concluding" a treaty with Russia on the very matters which all the powers had agreed to discuss in common at Genoa.

Notwithstanding the allies' vigorous actions, indications last night were that the Germans would not bolt the conference, although they had not disclosed what attitude they would adopt. Apparently they will decide without consulting Berlin.

The allied note informing Germany that she is debarred from further participation in discussion of Russian affairs at the economic conference, by virtue of having signed the treaty with Russia at Appallo, condemns the secrecy of the treaty and calls it a violation of the conditions to which Germany pledged herself in entering the conference.

"The allies proved their readiness to waive the memories of war," says the note, "but Germany's act destroyed the spirit of mutual confidence which is indispensable to international co-operation."

LONDON, April 19.—The allies have agreed that the reparations commission shall declare the Russo-German treaty null and void, says the Genoa correspondent of the Daily Mail.

The representatives of the powers which convened the Genoa conference, together with the little entente, decided last night after an all-day discussion to continue the economic conference regardless of the attitude of Germany and Russia.

A strong note was prepared and sent to the German delegation, which declared that "Germany's act had destroyed the spirit of mutual confidence indispensable to international co-operation" and informing Germany that she is debarred from further participation in discussion of Russian affairs at the economic conference.

The discussions were calm and dignified, although considerable differ-

ARBUCKLE UNDECIDED WHAT TO DO

CONTRACTS ARE CANCELLED AND PLAYS WITHDRAWN IN NEW YORK

(By The Associated Press)
LOS ANGELES, Calif., April 19.—Silence pending further developments was the avowed policy of Fatty Arbuckle, whose contracts have been cancelled and the finished screen plays withdrawn, according to an announcement last night by Will H. Hays, head of the motion picture producers association. "Gosh!" was Arbuckle's comment when informed of Hays' announcement.

"After consultation with Mr. Nicholas Schenck, representing Mr. Joseph Schenck, the producers, and Mr. Adolph Zuker and Mr. Lasky, of the Famous Players-Lasky Corporation, the distributors," Mr. Hays' statement said, "I will state that at my request they have cancelled all showings and all bookings of the Arbuckle films. They do this that the whole matter may have the consideration that its importance warrants, and the action is taken notwithstanding the fact that they had nearly 10,000 contracts in force for the Arbuckle pictures."

When Mr. Zuker was asked if the action of the producers' association had removed Arbuckle definitely from the list of screen stars, he replied:

"We simply left the matter in the hands of Mr. Hays. It is up to him to decide in the future whether it will be proper to reintroduce the Arbuckle pictures."

Mr. Zuker said recently that three Arbuckle feature comedies had been completed before the arrest of the comedian on charges growing out of the death of Miss Virginia Rappe. The producer announced shortly after Arbuckle's acquittal that one of the films would be released as a "test" of public opinion.

ences of opinion existed. Two groups formed, one led by England, and the other by France, while the Italian delegates displayed a conciliatory attitude. Some of the extremists are said to have proposed breaking up the conference, but a majority favored awaiting Moscow's reply to the allied demands.

According to information from French sources, Mr. Lloyd George emphasized the necessity of adopting a severe attitude toward both Russia and Germany, but especially against Germany, pointing out that Germany had signed the Versailles treaty, whereas Russia had not.

Signor Schanzer, the Italian foreign minister, favored an attitude of moderation in the interests of the conference. Mr. Lloyd George replied that it was no time to display weakness. He counseled sending a note to Germany and Russia declaring they must modify their attitude if they expected to be permitted to discuss Russian affairs at Genoa.

M. Chicherin, head of the Russian delegation, called on Chancellor Wirth and Dr. Walter Rathenau, of the German delegation, at his hotel yesterday while the big and little entente powers were meeting to decide what they would do about the Russo-German treaty, and had a long conference with the Germans who displayed no uneasiness about the possibility of direct consequences if the treaty is not abrogated.

According to the Germans, the signing of the treaty did not come as such a surprise to the British as some at first believed.

The Germans contends that they would have been responsible for reparations and their property and commercial rights in Russia would not have been protected if the entente powers had reached an agreement on Russian questions without consulting Germany. Consequently, the Germans took the bull by the horns and effected a treaty which puts them in the position of a favored nation and insures that their rights in Russia will be equal to those of the entente.

A NAVAL BUDGET FIGHT IS IN SIGHT IN THE HOUSE BARRING FLOW OF WORDS

ROTARY ANNES PULLED BIG ONE LAST NIGHT

ENTERTAINED ROTARY CLUB AT ONE OF MOST ENJOYABLE AFFAIRS OF THE SEASON

The Sanford Rotary Club has one of the liveliest bunch of Rotary-Anns that have ever been brought before the public and after attending the last "Ladies Night" of the Rotary Club the "Anns" have had their heads together and there have been mysterious gatherings of the clans of Anns and the Rotarians have been suspicious but learned nothing until about a week ago they received an invitation to a "Chicken Feed" at the Parish House Tuesday night—nothing more.

Well, there was something more when the Rotarians gathered at the appointed hour and from the time they sat down to the tables until they departed the men were on the gridiron and all their follies and foibles were shown up in a manner that completely floored them. The tables had been arranged in an open horseshoe effect opening from the kitchen and with the center open for the waiters and the stunts, all the guests sitting on the outside of the tables which were beautifully decorated in cut flowers and daisies and plumbago. Mrs. S. O. Chase was the toastmistress and carried out the part to perfection calling up each Rotarian in regulation roll call only when the Rotarian was called one of the ladies argued in his place and recited a jingle about him that touched the spot exactly. These all rhymed and were most excellent, being the work of Mrs. Chase and not a guilty man escaped the barbs of satire. The following program was carried out interspersed with the roll calls and the especially written songs of Mrs. E. F. Housholder, who cleverly re-wrote the Rotary songs to fit the occasion:

Welcome to Rotarians—Mrs. Rebecca Stevens.
Song—Assembly.
Speech—Dave Thrasher in the person of Mrs. Housholder.
Reb Call—Rotary-Anns.
Song—Roumillat and Housholder.
Speech—Mae Holly.
Song—Assembly.
Speech—Lettie Henry.
The speeches by the ladies were the surprise of the evening being very clever in every respect and the take-off of D. L. Thrasher in his speech at St. Louis by Mrs. Housholder, was especially good.

During the evening the toastmistress arose and said that she had under-rated Rotary stood for service and especially service to the boys and that she had something to bring before them in regard to a youngster who needed attention. Deane Turner, chairman of the Boys' Committee, immediately offered his help and it was finally decided that the Rotarian getting the lucky number should take care of the orphan boy. Mildred Holly passed the numbers and J. G. Hall was the lucky man. The orphan was brought in to him and instead of a ragged boy as Joe thought it would be it was a frying size Plymouth Rock rooster.

Another clever stunt was pulled on Dr. Ralph Stevens, who complained of his chicken being tough when Mrs. Holly arose and called the attention of the toastmistress to Dr. Stevens' kick. The toastmistress immediately ordered a tender chicken brought in for the Doctor and the waiters brought in a huge white egg and placed it before him. The two halves of the egg falling apart Mildred Holly jumped out and sang about a "Little Prairie Chicken" and then executed an Oriental dance in Egyptian costume, coming in on the encore and passing beautiful pansy boutenieres to the men. In fact the entire menu was interperated with some of the most clever stunts that have ever been pulled off here and the room was swept with gales of laughter for two hours as joke followed repartee and stunt followed jokes.

The following elegant menu was served in courses and was also the

Naval budget fite 36 Leaders of Measure Say It Will Pass Sometime Today

ADJOURN TONIGHT

BIGGER NAVY MEN DID NOT STAND BY THEIR SIDE SAYS CHAIRMAN

(By The Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, April 19.—An end of the fight over the naval budget is in sight today in the house barring an unexpected flow of debate leaders said the measure would come up for final passage before adjournment tonight.

WASHINGTON, April 19.—Decision of "big navy" men on the heels of their victory for a bigger enlisted force, not to offer amendments to the 1923 naval bill providing money increases for shore-station activities, provoked a bitter row in the house yesterday, in the course of which Chairman Kelly charged "they had backed down, expecting the senate to complete the job."

Starting unexpectedly, it raged for an hour or more and drew many into the fray. The "good faith" of those who had changed their plan at the eleventh hour was questioned by Chairman Kelly and Representative Mondell, the Republican leader, and quickly resented by those who had put through the amendment increasing the personnel from 67,000 to 86,000.

Ready with proposals, one calling for $6,000,000 additional for the bureau of construction and repair, and another for $2,000,000 for the bureau of engineers, the forces opposed to the committee measure agreed to let the bill sail along as framed.

Then all at once, the storm broke. It came while the house was considering the item, providing commissions in the navy for only 200 of the 451 members of the first year class at Annapolis. Pending was a proposal to commission all.

"This discussion," said Chairman Kelly, "simply illustrates that everybody wants disarmament in the abstract, but not in the concrete."

Declaring "the cat was out of the bag," he shouted to the house that the whole question at issue circled around the number of officers, and then charged that the navy department, in insisting on an increased personnel, wanted to put 200 additional destroyers in commission.

Webster's machine is the altitude record holder for seaplanes, having taken four passengers a height of 19,500 feet at Port Washington on August 16, 1921.

Webster said that on several occasions he was compelled to fly as low as 20 feet above the surface to escape dense fogs. The average height at which he flew, the pilot said, was 1800 feet.

MARCONI REALLY FATHER OF RADIO

Story of the Gifted Italian's Work in Development of Air Communication.

While experiments along the line of radio really started as far back as 1827 and hundreds of scientists were interested in solving the problems involved for many years, it was not until 1896 when Senator Guglielmo Marconi took out his first patent that the mystery of air communication got its first great impetus. His life history is to all practical intents the history of radio communication.

Senator Guglielmo Marconi, G. C. V. O., L. L. D., D. Sc., M. I. E. E., was born in Bologna, Italy, April 25, 1874. His mother was Irish, while his father was of a family whose mechanical ability was marked. After an education at Leghorn and Bologna, the young man interested himself in the problem of wireless telegraphy, starting his research in 1895. He went to England and in 1898 took out the first patent ever granted for a practical system of wireless telegraphy, by the use of electric waves. His early experiments in England were made at Westbourne Park. Shortly afterward Marconi saw W. H. Preece and at his request made some experiments for officials of the postoffice. Some further experiments were made in May, 1897, in the Bristol channel, wireless communication being established between Lavernock and Bran Down, a distance of nine miles.

On the invitation of the Italian government Marconi afterward went to Spezia where a land station was erected, which was kept in constant communication with two Italian battleships working from a distance of 12 miles. For this success the Italian government conferred upon Marconi the honor of knighthood. After a return to England further experiments were conducted and on July 20, 1897, the first radio company was formed and two permanent stations erected. In 1898 wireless reports of yacht races in Kingston were made and proved the usefulness and adaptability to which the system lends it-services at the disposal of King Victor and was given the rank of lieutenant in the Italian army. He was employed on important military missions to England by the Italian government and after this service was transferred as temporary commander in the Italian navy. Marconi visited the United States in 1917 as member of the official mission sent by Italy. In 1919 Marconi was appointed plenipotentiary delegate to the peace conference at Paris, and in this capacity signed the peace treaties with Austria and Bulgaria. He was afterward awarded the Italian military cross.

This very important figure in the wireless world, who has received about all the honors possible for the scientific world to bestow upon him.

Guglielmo Marconi.

Including the Nobel prize, has not given up active work, but is even now engaged in radio telephone experiments.

Radio enthusiasts have increased tenfold within the last few months, it appears from a survey conducted by the Associated Press and covering the central west, Kentucky and Texas. At virtually all points from which reports have been received, there are thousands of radio sets, particularly for purposes of telephony, where at most there were hundreds before.

While the sets are used chiefly for pleasure and experience, they are being put to practical uses in many cases. Numerous farmers are receiv-self to commercial purposes. In December, 1898, Marconi installed apparatus to provide communication between the South Foreland lighthouse and a lighthouse on the south coast. In 1899 Marconi read a paper on "Wireless Telegraphy" before the Institution of Electrical Engineers in London.

Early in 1901 telegraphic communication was established between two points more than 250 miles distant and at the end of that year Marconi transmitted signals from Poldhu, in Cornwall to St. Johns, Newfoundland. In 1902 he received on board the steamship Philadelphia in the presence of the officers, good messages on the tape when at a distance of over 1,500 miles from the transmitting station and signals at over 2,000 miles. In December, 1902, the station established at Cape Breton, Nova Scotia, under a contract with the Canadian government for transatlantic wireless telegraphy, was put into communication with the Cornwall station at Poldhu and inaugural messages were transmitted to the King of England, the King of Italy and to the London Times. In October, 1903, the steamship Lucania published a daily wireless bulletin from messages received from the Marconi stations. A powerful station at Clifden on the west coast of Ireland was opened early in 1907 for the establishment of commercial relations with the American continent at Glace Bay.

Mr. Marconi's work has been recognized by many governments and seats of learning; he has been decorated by the King of Italy and the late ex-Czar of Russia as an honorary doctor of many universities, including Oxford, Glasgow, Aberdeen, Liverpool and Pennsylvania, besides having received the freedom of the principal Italian cities. In 1914 he was elected a senator in the Italian parliament. He also holds many scientific awards granted by various societies and institutions.

Upon the declaration of war by Italy, Senator Marconi placed his ing market and weather reports, and police are receiving bulletins. Sermons, concerts, health talks and style talks are transmitted. Universities and professional operators are cooperating.

Approximate figures are reported from various states and centers indicating the present number of radio sets. According to A. L. Benson of St. Louis, division manager of the American Radio Relay league, about 90,000 radiophones are used in four states as follows: Iowa, 23,000; Missouri, 25,000; Nebraska, 22,000; Kansas, 20,000. In St. Louis alone there are some 2,200. The radiophones chiefly carry concert music, but in many localities farmers have installed them to receive market reports.

Correspondence from Texas reports 263 stations in Dallas, ranging in size from 1/4 K. W. to 20 watts, and almost equal numbers in other cities of the state.

Cleveland, Ohio, reports probably 15,000 radio enthusiasts, 1,000 sending stations in greater Cleveland, virtually all amateur, and 10,000 receiving sets used almost nightly. These estimates exclude commercial sets. Cincinnati reports 500 sets.

Indiana has 4,500 amateur radio sets and Indianapolis 1,000 radiophones.

Wisconsin has nearly 1,500 stations, and the number is said by Malcolm P. Hanson, University of Wisconsin operator, to be increasing at the rate of five a day. Nearly 1,000 sets are reported in Milwaukee and vicinity.

North Dakota has a number of receiving stations and a few fairly powerful telegraph and telephone sending stations. The North Dakota Agricultural college is planning to install a 100-watt service for farmers. The vacuum tube is displacing older equipment in the state.

Market growth is reported at Omaha, Neb., by two radio clubs which have been in existence only six months. The University of Nebraska and Nebraska Wesleyan, co-operating send to students in Nebraska, South Dakota, Iowa, Colorado and Kansas.

NEARLY 30,000 CARS OF CITRUS SHIPPED

Florida has shipped, during the present season, approximately 29,500 cars of citrus fruit and 15,000 cars of vegetables, according to statistics compiled by the Florida department of the New York Packer, with headquarters in Jacksonville.

When the shipments of valencias are completed it is believed that the present season will establish a new record in shipments of fruit from the Peninsular State. Local shippers yesterday quoted prices on valencias as from $6 to $6.75 a box f. o. b. shipping point and declared that market conditions were good, a great demand being registered for Florida oranges. Demand for grapefruit is lighter, according to the same authority, although from 95 to 100 cars are leaving the state daily.

Shippers yesterday declared that Florida's vegetable crops are needing rain badly, although shipments thus far have been unusually heavy with prospects for a bumper crop.

INTERESTING PUZZLE GAME

You will find today on another page of our paper a very interesting and unique picture puzzle game—now being conducted by the Tampa Morning Tribune. It consists of a picture containing a number of objects and articles beginning with the letter "T." The object of the game is to see who can find the largest and nearest correct lists of words beginning with this letter.

This class of puzzle picture has been run throughout the country and many valuable prizes have been won. The Tampa Morning Tribune is offering a first prize of $1,000.00, which is well worth trying for. Why not get busy on this puzzle and bring some of those prizes to Sanford or vicinity. $1,000 is a lot of money and some of our folks had as well have it as not.

Cave Man Stuff

Back near the beginning of things, our prehistoric forebears would have perished from the earth if they had not understood the science of reading advertising.

The cavemen didn't know much about underwear, hair tonic or phonographs, but they did have to eat. The one who could follow the tracks of the game he hunted, or read the meaning of a twisted leaf or broken twig, was best off in life.

Then as now, the most consistent reader of advertising was best dressed, best fed and most contented. There has been something of an evolution in advertising in the last few thousand years but the principle is just the same.

The consistent reader of the advertisements is invariably best informed on what to eat and where to get it; what to wear and how much to pay for it; what to do and how to do it. He's up on the most important things in life. Consequently he gets most from life.

Throughout the ages, advertising has done much to make life livable and pleasant. We owe it much.

The Sanford Herald truthfully says that the idea of shipping by water is growing every day. What Sanford needs is municipal docks large enough to take care of trade from that city south to Haines City. The shipments south to be made by truck and there is no reason in the world why every orange raised in the Ridge section and the raw sugar and syrup made near Moore Haven could not be shipped from Sanford by water. But it takes cash and a lot of pep, for those docks will cost a lot of money, but they will make Sanford.—Winter Park Post.

STATE DIVISION INSTEAD OF CAPITAL REMOVAL

Many of the papers of south Florida are in favor of state division instead of capital removal and are making strenuous efforts to put over the division idea with the conclusion that the capital cannot be removed at this time but the state could be divided. We do not agree with them in this premise. At the present time under a Republican administration it is a foregone conclusion that the state being Democratic will never be divided and waiting for division means waiting for another Democratic victory. Of course we can wait for division just as we can wait for capital removal for these changes will not come in a day and we have plenty of time to ponder over them and discuss them. The Tampa Times takes up the subject as follows:

"The Miami Herald cannot discover any method by which the capital removal agitation can succeed. Applying cold and unanswerable logic, the Herald says:

As we understand it the plan now is to hold a primary at a no distant day, with the counties in south Florida, only, voting on the place to which the capital is to be moved, if the people of the state give their consent to that proposition. It is assumed that when the proposition is voted on by the people all who entered this preliminary primary will vote for the city chosen by that primary, and so settle the question.

We may assume that, if the people of the state of Florida were given an opportunity to vote on the question of capital removal, they would remove the capital from its present location. At least the history of the last attempt to remove the capital from Tallahassee would indicate that if only one candidate were in the field against that city, the other candidate would receive the majority of the votes cast.

Looking at it only from that one standpoint, there is some reason for the optimism of the supporters of the present project.

What they studiously avoid discussing, however, are the preliminary steps toward securing the right of the people to pass upon the question of capital removal, and there is just where the rub comes.

It will be necessary to persuade three-fifths of the members elected to each house of the state legislature affirmatively to consent to the submission of a proposed amendment of the state constitution to a vote of the people.

Under the present apportionment 13 senators can block the movement. Forty-two votes in the house could defeat the resolution. There are more than 13 senators; there are more than 42 members of the house in the western part of the state added to those whose counties lie immediately around Tallahassee, all of whom it may be presumed, will object to capital removal.

That is a clear statement of the case. The location of the capital is fixed by the constitution, and in order to put through the legislature a resolution providing for an amendment to the constitution permitting the people of the state—providing they approve the amendment at an election—to vote on the question of moving the capital, it will be necessary to secure the support of three-fifths of the members of each house. As the Herald points out, under the present unfair apportionment of representation in the legislature, this seems impossible.

T. M. Shackelford, Jr., representative of the Tampa board of trade at the meeting at which the capital removal association was formed, frankly told the members of the board in his report on the meeting that he believes the time and effort is being wasted. He expressed the opinion, however, that the state can be divided as many of the legislators representing west and north Florida counties have expressed themselves as favorably inclined to this solution of the controversy.

Then why not concentrate all of south and central Florida in a movement for the division of the state and the creation of the state of South Florida?

There will always be controversy and ill-feeling between the two sections, and this state of affairs retards progress. It cannot be expected that the populous and progressive counties of south Florida will submit quietly to the injustices perpetrated by the politicians of west and north Florida. Session after session of the legislature they have violated the plain mandate of the constitution directing a reapportionment based on population at intervals of ten years. Holding a balance of power given them 30 years ago, when south Florida was sparsely settled, they turn deaf ears to all appeals for a square deal. No argument will reach them, and their attitude on the capital removal question is a convincing illustration of the manner in which they use their unfair advantage.

The Times would gladly throw its support to a movement for the division of the state, and it believes that a vast majority of the people of south Florida are of the same inclination."

DEAN OF STATE PRESS SEES WORLD PROGRESS

Frank Harris, editor of the Ocala Banner, is dean of the Florida Press, beloved by his associates in the profession and by people in all walks of life who know him. Verily, he is Florida's man of friends!

Mr. Harris is seventy-five years old and has been editing The Banner for more than fifty years. Following the War Between the States, in which he served with distinction, Mr. Harris began his journalistic career with the Banner and has been steering its destinies ever since. Today The Banner stands as a monument to his labors and is a credit to Ocala and the surrounding territory for which it speaks with such dignity and with such force.

One of Mr. Harris' most charming characteristics is his display of interest in things of the moment; his mind is not anchored in the past and all of his dreams are not in the future—he is still living in the biggest sense of the word!

It is a common characteristic of men and women who have reached the age—Mr. Harris has in life to dig into the past for their subjects of conversation and to compare things of the present with things of the past and to find the things of the present always lacking. While statistics are impossible, the great majority of men and women who have passed the three score and ten mark sincerely believe that the world is growing worse; that once prominent virtues are now insignificant; that men are not as honorable as they used to be; that women of this age are not modest as the women of a generation ago; that children are less respectful, and that the whole movement of the times is towards moral degradation.

But Frank Harris, editor and philosopher, is an exception! In a recent issue of his paper he said:

Notwithstanding all that is said in denunciation and condemnation of the present time, the lax in morals; the wave of crime; the impeachment of the moving pictures; the jazz music; the modern dance; woman's dress and other maledictions sounded from pulpit, press and platform, we still maintain, and feel sure of our ground that we are living in the golden era of the centuries—viewed from any direction, there is no other age comparable to it.

UNCLE HANK

Whenever some fellers try to speak with their better selves, it just seems like Central gives 'em th' wrong number.

There never was an age in which there were so much benevolence shown; so many gifts to public and private charities.

There was never before so much tolerance of thought and good fellowship shown among the different religious denominations, one toward all the others, and full and free expression of one's political opinions.

There was never before such vast sums appropriated for education; for the eradication of disease; for the care and sanitation of those in prison bonds and for the betterment of humanity in so many uplifting ways.

The pages of the past are stained with fierce and bitter religious wars and it has not been so very long since one had to maintain his political opinions at the point of sword and pistol.

Not so any longer. In our time we have seen duelling put under the ban of public opinion; we have seen slavery, after an existence of thousands of years, abolished; we have seen the doors of the "open saloon," which has broken the hearts of so many mothers, forever closed; we have seen woman lifted to her place beside her male companion where she will be in a position to exercise more potentially her influence, like a sweet benediction, for the betterment of the world.

Unlike many of the older generation, Mr. Harris believes in the right and need of women in politics. Recognizing that woman's kingdom is the home, he still sees a place for her in helping direct the affairs of our government.

Mr. Harris also possesses the vision of prohibition. Years of experience have taught him that the world cannot be re-shaped over night and that great reforms come slowly, only after moral forces have been completely mobilized.

Touching upon these two subjects, Mr. Harris predicts that—

As splendidly different as the times are now from half a century ago, better times are yet ahead of us.

Women's influence is going to be felt in our politics.

They are going to vote for officials who will rigidly and impartially enforce our laws.

Those of us who were accustomed to the "side-board and decanter" and the "open saloon" will soon be "gathered to our fathers," and those who are to take our places, not having to contend with those influences, will not have contracted the drink habit, and our nation will be controlled by a sober and intellectual people whose influence will gradually expand and cover the whole world as the waters cover the sea.

How admirable a character, a man who can stand in the evening of his years, with the thought of being called to his fathers stirring in his mind, and solemnly voice the opinion the world is better than it ever was before and is moving toward the attainment of a finer ideal!

The world needs more men like Frank Harris—men who are not afraid to stand out on the ramparts of life and challenge the insidious forces at work seeking to color the horizon with the soon faded paints of their own nearsightedness!

The world needs vision, the vision possessed by the dean of the Florida Press.—Jacksonville Metropolis.

GOOD ADVERTISING ADVICE

St. Petersburg, which has perhaps better learned the value of newspaper publicity and advertising than any Florida city, has been invited to join in a combined advertising scheme, whereby Miami and St. Petersburg will be exploited in the same article in a nationally read weekly magazine.

There is no doubt of the value of an advertisement in that journal, the Saturday Evening Post, but there remains the very debatable question whether a Florida west coast resort and a Florida east coast resort city can benefit to the same extent by a joint effort in one article. But granting that they can and will, it behooves St. Petersburg to pay careful attention to the warning suggestion of the St. Petersburg Times when it says:

"The only caution The Times would extend to the board of governors and the advertising committee is that the expenditure of the amount of money necessary for the publication of this opening advertisement should not be allowed to curtail the regular campaign in the newspapers."

For years St. Petersburg has been a most liberal patronizer of the metropolitan daily press of the country; and during those several years that city has steadily grown in attractive power in the minds of the people and has reaped an annually increasing harvest of prosperity. St. Petersburg knows the value of its daily paper advertising and publicity. It has seen this medium of seeking fame and notice tested to the utmost with always a direct profitable return on the investment.

Tampa has used this same daily newspaper publicity and advertising in connection with its booklets, circulars, and post card campaigns, and has been wondrously pleased with the results. In fact the same media used by St. Petersburg have been used by Tampa, so that this city is able to back up the statement made for the Sunshine City, of the value of the service bought.

Tampa will undoubtedly stick to the daily press and the metropolitan centers for its publicity and advertisement; and in addition, Tampa will undoubtedly do its own advertising, and not in connection with any other section, certainly not with one so far away from it and appealing to so different a class generally, that what is written for one cannot be logically appealing for the other.

The St. Petersburg Times says in this same editorial, that the Board of Trade governors agree: "if it had not been for the fact that St. Petersburg spent more money judiciously in northern newspapers than any other city in Florida, the season here might have been a 'bloomer.'"

Then it adds this most conclusive fact why it should not go into some-thing untried:

"Results, the governors said, were directly traceable to the advertising campaign, because of the inquiries received and the actual arrival later of thousands of visitors, here for their first time, most of whom admitted that they were attracted to St. Petersburg through newspaper advertising."

In view of this statement, if we were St. Petersburg, no matter how attractive a sounding proposition was made us to join teams in advertising with some east coast resort city, we would hesitate a long time before giving up a sure thing for theoretic possibilities.—Tampa Tribune.

THERE'S A REASON

Why is it, D. L. Thrasher's business continues to grow, and sales, the first three months of this year are bigger than during the same length of time in 1921? There's a Reason. He sells for cash only. Everybody knows they can buy cheaper for cash and the buying public is spending its money with the store that sells for cash only. Good reasoning, you will agree. If you have not been trading with him, he invites you to his store, with the assurance of his greatest effort to please you, by serving you in the most courteous manner and giving in exchange for your money, its value.

FOR VISITOR

One of the prettiest parties of this week was the bridge party given on Monday afternoon by Mrs. Hal Wight and Mrs. Ralph Wight at the home of the former on Park avenue, honoring Mrs. Bart Peterson, of Jamestown, N. Y., who is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Starling. There were four tables of players and a number of tea guests.

The rooms where the card tables were placed were converted into a veritable bower with quantities of lovely spring flowers and greenery.

Of exceptional interest was the game of bridge played during the afternoon, high score being made by Mrs. George Knight, who was awarded a half dozen linen tea napkins. The honoree was presented a hand painted cake box.

At the conclusion of the card game the hostesses served delicious refreshments consisting of chicken a la king in patties, hot rolls, pickles, and coffee followed by an ice course.

State Bankers To Meet Friday

Nationally Prominent Men Will Appear on Florida Program.

The State Bankers' Association of Florida and the Florida Bankers' Association will hold a joint convention in Gainesville Friday and Saturday, April 21 and 22.

The program includes addresses by men of national prominence, and is one of the strongest programs ever offered a bankers' convention in this state.

Comptroller D. R. Crissinger will be present, and as he is the man in charge of all of the national banks of the United States, the banks of Florida want to hear him and meet him, and particularly are the national bankers interested in what he has to say.

Thomas B. Adams, president of the American Bankers' Association will have as his subject "The Day After Tomorrow." Mr. McAdams, by virtue of his position, is in the closest of touch with conditions throughout the country.

Both Mr. Crissinger and Mr. McAdams are men of national prominence, and their addresses, it is expected, will be published throughout the United States.

Governor Cary A. Hardee will be present with his military staff, and he is on the program for an address. Governor Hardee, as is well known is a successful banker of Live Oak, as well as lawyer of ability.

The program also includes addresses by:

The Mayor of Gainesville.
Dr. A. A. Murphree, president of the University of Florida.

Archie Livingston, president of the Florida Bankers' Association.

Lucius Moody, Ph. O., department of sociology and economics, University of Florida. His subject will be, "Training for Business and Citizenship."

Ernest Amos, Comptroller of Florida.

Robert E. Harvey, secretary of the Georgia-Florida Agricultural Loan Agency of the War Finance Corporation, Atlanta, Ga. Mr. Harvey's subject will be, "Activities of the War Finance Corporation."

And others.

Reports from Gainesville are that hotel reservations are being made rapidly, and, judging from the reservations already made, this convention will probably be the largest bankers' convention ever held in the state. The people of Gainesville have made elaborate preparations for entertaining the bankers.

Rebecca Stevens—Aida Newman.

The scene was laid in the living room of the Chase residence and the time was supposed to be about two in the morning when Mr. Chase comes in with all his golf togs on and feeling mighty good meets his wife and tells her he has been out golfing and having a bet up with Arthur Yowell coming in from a fishing trip he naturally should be feeling good. The play ran on with scenes of Sidney and Harry trying to make peace with their wives while Laura and Rebecca were trying to get the facts in the case. A letter is found in the pockets of Mr. Chase and it tells them to come to Savannah to the meeting of the Rotarians there to inspect two mysterious beings supposed, of course, to be "chickens" and in the dialogues following every Rotarian in the room came in for his share of the clever thrusts from the ladies depicting the parts in the play. There was not an idle moment from start to finish and it was superior to any home talent ever put on here. The husbands and wives were finally united by the explanation that the "two dears" they were to inspect were two fine saddle horses for the wives and all was peace and happiness again in the Chase and Stevens homes. This play was written for the occasion by Mrs. E. F. Householder and was one of the best skits ever attempted at a Rotary affair.

Lack of space will not permit an extended account of the banquet that was pronounced by all present to be one of the best that has ever been presented here and it was good enough to be repeated at some future meeting of the Rotary Clubs of the state. The following songs written by Mrs. Householder and taken from the Rotary songs were rendered during the evening:

I'm A Rotary-Anne
I am a little Rotary Anne
Planning a feed for my ole man.
Nobody knows just how much stuff
His stomach will hold before it'll bust.
His stomach will hold before it'll bust.

I am a little Rotary Anne
Trying to fill up my pore ole man.
Chicken an' 'taters an' canned peas too
Gravy an' all but a drop o' home-brew.
Gravy an' all but a drop o' home-brew.

I am a little Rotary Anne
Trying to amuse my Rotary Man.
Songs and dances—all but the shimmy
I might do that, too, if a nickel
you'll gimme.

I might do that, too, if a nickel
you'll gimme.

Now I just said that
Just for the rhyme,
So don't call my bluff
For I wouldn't have time.

"Rotes"
There are Rotes that make us happy,
There are Rotes we think divine,
There are Rotes that steal away our tear-drops,
As some others steal away your shine.
There are Rotes that radiate good feeling,
There are some—we know not what they be,
But the Rote that fills my life with sunshine
Is the Rote that belongs to me.

Long, Long Trail
There's a long, long trail a'winding
Into the land of my dreams;
Where the country club is standing
And our golf course gleams;
There are many others waiting
Until my dreams all come true;
'Till the day when I'll be playing down
That sporting course with you.

AUTO LICENSE FUND TO MARCH 1, $1,229,443

TALLAHASSEE, April 18.—Comptroller Ernest Amos has made the third distribution of the automobile license tax receipts, the money covering the license tag sales for the month of February. While it may appear on the face that these distributions are not made as promptly and chartered; about 50 per cent of these children were found to be under weight. Besides the weighing and measuring, Miss Bolcum has given a course of lectures, covering 16 nutrition lessons to the teachers and parents interested about forty persons attended these lectures which were held in the Grammar School.

Two nutrition classes have also been organized in the primary school which will meet each Friday at 2:15 P. M. at the West Side and every Monday at 2:15 at the East Side. The classes will last only one hour and will be conducted by Mrs. John Leonard and Mrs. R. E. Tolar.

The children in the nutrition classes had a complete physical examination. This being done by local physicians who have taken a keen interest in the health work. Dr. Denton and Dr. Caswell made a thorough examination of the West Side Primary and Dr. Langley and Dr. Caswell doing the examination in the East Side. In both cases only children in the nutrition classes were examined.

Nearly all showed need of dental treatment and many had severe granulated eyelids, enlarged tonsils and glands and adenoids. The parents will be notified of the findings and recommended to take their child to the family physician and dentist for immediate treatment. So that the child will be free to gain.

The doctors, health workers and teachers feel that there is great need for a dental clinic and a County nurse who could do a great deal of the follow up work.

Much credit for the success of the Health Work is due to the splendid co-operation given by the School Supt., Mrs. Lawton and the Principals of the Schools and teachers.

HOT WATER FOR SICK HEADACHES

Tells why everyone should drink hot water with phosphoric acid in it before breakfast.

Headaches are caused by auto-intoxication—which means self-poisoning. Liver and bowel poisons called toxins, sucked into the blood excite the heart which pumps the blood so fast that it congests in the smaller arteries and veins of the head, producing violent, throbbing pain and distress, called headache. You become nervous, despondent, sick, feverish and miserable, your meals sour and almost nauseate you. Then you resort to acetanilid, aspirin or the bromides, which temporarily relieve but do not rid the blood of these irritating toxins.

A glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, drank before breakfast will not only wash these poisons from your system and cure you of headache, but will cleanse, purify and freshen the alimentary canal.

Ask your pharmacist for a quarter pound of limestone phosphate. It is inexpensive, harmless as sugar.

If you aren't feeling your best, if tongue is coated or you wake up with bad taste, foul breath or have colds, indigestion, biliousness, constipation or sour, acid stomach, begin the phosphated hot water cure to rid your system of toxins and poisons.—Adv.

YOU CAN WIN $1,000.00

It costs nothing to try and you don't have to send in a single subscription in order to win a prize. If the judges award your answer first prize you will win $35.00. But if you would like to win more than $35.00, you are given an opportunity during this publicity campaign to win as much as $1,000.00 by sending in one or two six-months subscriptions, with remittance to cover, to "The Tampa Tribune."

HOW? If your list of "T-words" is awarded First Prize by the judges and you have sent one six-months subscription, (either new or renewal) to The Tampa Tribune, you will receive $350.00 in place of only $35.00. (See second column of figures in Prize List.)

OR, if you are awarded First Prize and have sent TWO six-months subscriptions or one for a full year, you will receive $1,000.00 in place of only $35.00. (See third column of figures in Prize List.)

Two subscriptions are all you need to qualify your answer for the big bonus rewards. Absolutely two subscriptions is the maximum and these can be either new or renewal. Your own subscription will count as one and you can get the subscription of a friend or neighbor. Or, you can send in your own subscription for a full year and this will qualify your answer. We can also take subscriptions to start at any future date. In sending in subscriptions give full instructions on a separate sheet from that on which you send in your answer.
