Mr. Mrs. J. C. Sapp Observe Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Sapp celebrated their 30th wedding anniversary last Sunday. They were married Aug. 14, 1920 in Valdosta, Ga.

Mr. and Mrs. Sapp lived in Daytona Beach for 19 and one-half years before moving to Sanford. Mr. Sapp is now working for the Florida Power and Light Co. She devotes her time to her housework and flowers.

They have two daughters, Mrs. Edward Wyatt of Cincinnati, O. and Mrs. Gladys Freedom of Paola and one son, Cpl. J. C. Sapp of the U. S. Army Air Force. They also have six grandchildren.

The family and other relatives gathered for a luncheon in the yard. The house was beautifully decorated with arrangements of multicolored gladioluses and sinias. The dining table was overlaid with an extra lace cloth and was centered with a three tiered cake with a miniature bride and groom on top.

Approximately 75 guests arrived to congratulate the couple. Mrs. C. M. Colbron, Mrs. H. W. Holdridge and Mrs. Myrtle Nettles served refreshments and Mrs. Nettles acted as hostess.

Taegu Panic

ed toward the front happily singing what Americans call their "hoose face" song.
It is a kind of singsong chant that tells how the recruits are going to drive back the invaders and free Korea.
A North Korean regiment had smashed down from the north to within 12 miles of Taegu just a few hours before. And the rookies were happy at the chance to live up to their song.
But before dawn the distant guns moved nearer on the horizon.
Six enemy shells cracked into the city, killing at least four people and hitting a locomotive tender in a railroad.
By daylight hundreds of refugees were marching out and in informing the provisional government ordered all non-essential citizens to leave. It was not until 10 o'clock that the city was a safety measure to avoid a last-minute rush such as took place during the fall of Seoul, the abandoned republican capital.
Long before the order was issued I looked out the window and saw the family below packing on their backs the few belongings left behind. They struggled out the window and disappeared in a line of refugees.
Taegu normally is a city of about 350,000. It has swelled in a week to 700,000 or more. It seemed as though the whole city was emptying itself.
Refugees swarmed out by the score of thousands southward as military columns roared northward. There was choking dust, noise and panic on every street.
Storekeepers boarded up their shops against looting. Ricketty trucks loaded with heavily armed native police cruised about wildly to guard against any guerrilla outbreak.
There were such sights as:
A weary mother crumpling by a telephone pole to suckle her waiting infant.
A middle-aged man hunched between the shafts of a heavily loaded wood-wheeled plow on the south side.
A specialist in domestic relations and criminal law, Mrs. Sampson has been interested in UN activities since its inception. She has visited Lake Success several times, but never has had a regular job with the UN.
She took post-graduate work at the school of social service administration of the University of Chicago. A native of Pittsburgh, Pa., she has spent most of her life in Chicago.

Korean War

means was stopped 12 miles north of Taegu by South Koreans.
Then American and South Korean troops launched the big Red force by Friday night with a blazing counter-attack.
At Changnyong, where 12,000 North Koreans had lodged eastward on the Allied bank of the Naktong River 23 miles southwest of Taegu, American Marines and doughboys whipped the Communists in a bitter battle. Many Reds retreated back across the river abandoning their weapons in panic.
Maj. General John H. Church commanding the joint Marine-infantry attack at Changnyong was jubilant over what his troops had done to the Reds.
Two South Korean divisions stalled the 12,000 Communist north of mountain-walled Taegu Friday morning. One of them, the South Korean First Infantry pounced on the Reds in a counter-attack immediately. Friday afternoon and the U.S. 27th Regiment piled into the battle.
When I looked out the window I saw the family below struggling back through their gateway. One small boy looked up at me. I threw a few pieces of chewing gum. He ran and picked them up and then looked up at the window and saluted smartly.
It is getting on toward dusk now. The mother is preparing the evening meal. The panic is over.
The city is in a state of peace again in the home below —at least for another night.

Steel Strike

Mine Workers (Ind.), also quit work Tuesday at five T. C. I. mines.
T. C. I.'s two big steel mills at Fairfield and Enley were closed yesterday on the morning shifts when the employees there refused to cross picket lines.
The White House called in union leaders for 3:00 P. M. today in an effort to find some way to head off the creeping strike of railway trainmen and conductors.
John R. Steelman, assistant to the President, talked with management representatives last night. His conferences were described as a canvas of prospects for renewal of direct negotiations on the wage-hour dispute.
In a strategic move to impress their demands without creating a national emergency, the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen and Order of Railroad Conductors scheduled five-day token strikes on two steel and coal carrying lines, beginning next Tuesday at 6 A. pionage conspiracy in wartime, accused—faces a possible death penalty.

The FBI said Sobell fled the Greenglass, a former Army man

Heart Trouble

H. K. RINE, D. C.
Nerve energy is transmitted from the brain to the nervous system.
There must be no interference with these nerves leading from the brain to the heart, or they cannot properly transmit their energy and as a result the function of the heart will be abnormal.
The spine is the place where such interference may exist. When the vertebrae are in abnormal positions they produce pressure upon nerve fibres.
It is true that disease of the heart may be produced by over-sure upon nerve fibres supplying the heart. Then it should be equally true that the release of this pressure would restore normal transmission of nerve energy to the heart. This could then result in the tissues of the heart becoming normal again. adv.

Union and Company

Union and company officials agreed a shutdown of the two lines would seriously hamper movement of steel, coal and iron ore.
The workers want a 40-hour work week for men in yard service without loss in their present pay for a 40-hour week. They demand wage adjustments for those in the general train service to narrow the gap between their earnings and those of engineers and firemen.
A presidential board in May recommended a pay boost of 18 cents an hour as a compromise for the yardmen, but denied pay boosts to train service men.

BIG MOMENT - with a Double Impact

It's a big moment when any new car rolls up to your door and you start out fresh and spanking bright. Think, then, what it's going to mean when that new car is a ROADMASTER like this one pictured here. You'll swing wide the door and slide into a car that's truly fine — and looks it. You'll put foot to treadle and touch off the might of a great, 152-horsepower Fireball straight-eight that's ready to master any road—or anything it meets there. You'll have the silken magic of Dyna-flow Drive to simplify your driving, ease your way. A handsome flexible steering wheel, automatic windshield washers, soft Foamtex cushions, and many other items that are "extras" elsewhere are standard equipment here. But even while you enjoy all that, you've still deeper satisfaction enriching your pleasure. For here you have not only a fine car, but a sound and frugal investment as well. You have paid less per pound than any comparable car costs—and automotive men will tell you price per pound is the soundest measure there is of solid, thoroughgoing merit. You've bought quality—top quality—all the fine things a fine car should provide. But you haven't spent a penny more than a fine car need cost. And that can mean a lot. For instance— Drop in on your Buick dealer. Try out a ROADMASTER. Match it, feature by feature and point by point, with any other fine car on the road. Then get the price. You may well find that you can get not only a new ROADMASTER for the sum you had in mind—but maybe a new fur coat for your wife as well!
