

SHA Backs Down On Legal Clinics Ban

The Sanford Housing Authority, apparently finding itself backed into a corner, agreed Thursday to allow Central Florida Legal Services to continue offering free legal clinics on housing property.

The vote was unanimous. The commissioners, with the exception of Chairman A.A. McClanahan, indicated they only reversed their position in light of the lawsuit the legal aid agency filed last week. McClanahan had all along opposed banning the clinics and asked the commission to reverse its Oct. 24 decision at last month's board meeting.

He put the proposal into the form of a motion Thursday night, although commissioners refused to second it.

"I don't want it coming from him," said Commissioner Robert Frazier, who offered a second motion, which the commission adopted. Board attorney Ned Julian was then directed to meet with the legal service's representatives to work out the logistics of dropping the suit.

The agency's managing attorney was not available for comment today, but said earlier the suit would be dropped if the clinics were re-allowed.

Prior to the vote, Julian said if the case went to court, he felt a judge would side with the legal aid agency.

"You let too many other organizations use housing property to refuse the clinics," he said. "If you don't agree to let them in, a judge will probably end up telling us how and when the service will be provided."

Julian also recommended that the Sanford

Raid Snags Bartender In Suspected Drug Deals

A drug bust at a Sanford bar by police and agents of the state Division of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms snagged two Sanford men Thursday.

One man charged is the bartender at the raided bar, The Silver Tip Beer and Wine Bar, 1509 W. 13th St. The other man was arrested after he ran from the premises when the police moved in.

Division director Howard Rasmussen signed an emergency order of suspension to close the licensed premises alleging nine counts of sale and delivery of cocaine by an employee.

The 3:45 p.m. raid was the culmination of three months of undercover work by the division and Sanford police, said Sanford Police Chief Steve Harriett. Agents reported purchasing various quantities of cocaine and marijuana from a bartender at the bar during the period.

According to a Sanford arrest report, when the police moved in, a man ran from the bar and was captured by a Sanford officer and an agent across the street. They reported finding 10 capsules of cocaine in a match box in his pants pocket.

Arrested and charged by state agents was Joseph Lee Solomon, 33, 1900 W. 18th Street, Sanford. See RAID, page 12A

Longwood Woman Dies In Car Crash

A Longwood woman was killed Thursday and her car destroyed when she lost control of the vehicle and smashed into some trees in Forest City.

Dead is Elizabeth Lees Maney, 45, of 208 Berkshire Circle. She died in the 8:26 p.m. accident at Hunt Club Blvd. and Churchill Dr., according to the Florida Highway Patrol.

According to the report, Mrs. Maney was northbound on Hunt Club when she lost control of her 1977 Pontiac, ran off the right side of the road, and hit some trees. She was alone in the vehicle and no other vehicles were involved in that incident, the report said.

The accident was not alcohol related.

Mrs. Maney was not wearing a seat belt, according to FHP.

Her death is the 42nd traffic fatality of the year in Seminole County. —Deane Jordan

McClanahan Berated

Housing Director Backed By Board

By Karen Talley
Herald Staff Writer

Sanford Housing Authority commissioners gave SHA Executive Director Elliott Smith resounding expressions of confidence at Thursday night's board meeting, and two commissioners joined Smith in criticizing Chairman A.A. McClanahan for addressing Smith's slight impediment publicly.

Commissioners Velma Williams and Alexander Wynn III cited this year's SHA audit as proof Smith was an able administrator and questioned whether McClanahan should continue to serve as SHA chairman.

"You've offered plenty of criticism, but no proof," Wynn said to McClanahan. "If you don't have the SHA and its tenants' best interests at heart, then you better step down."

McClanahan, however, also pointed to the audit, which had questioned Smith's administrative abilities in light of his slight impediment.

The subject was raised publicly, he said, "out of concern, not animosity," and "only because the board refused to address it at last month's meeting."

"If the board feels it has no problem with Mr. Smith's capabilities, then that's fine," McClanahan said.

The issue, however, served as catalyst for a lengthy debate during the meeting at the Castle Brewer Court community room, off W. 10th Street. Smith and the commissioners repeatedly questioned the propriety of McClanahan's actions.

During the discourse, while criticizing McClanahan, Ms. Williams also indicated she was apparently unaware of the Sunshine law prohibiting commissioners from privately discussing administrative business.

"If you were so concerned about what was said in the audit, why not just call us?" she asked.

After board attorney Ned Julian explained that to do so would have been a violation of the Sunshine law, McClanahan said, "The rest of the board doesn't realize that because they talk back and forth all the time."

"Send us a memo then," Ms. Williams said. "Why try to discredit the SHA when there are other ways to handle the issue?"

Smith told McClanahan "you should have come to me with your concerns instead of letting me get my information from a newspaper."

"You've made very serious allegations," Smith said. "But you never approached me to discuss them or offer any proof."

McClanahan said some of the proof was evident "in your illegible signatures on the checks I counter sign."

"Where are they?" Smith asked. "You've yet to show me any specific proof."

Courtroom Kidnappers Arrive At Airport; Free 2

NANTES, France (UPI) — Three heavily armed men who seized a courtroom full of people handcuffed themselves to their last four captives today and drove to a local airport, where they freed two of the hostages, witnesses said.

The gunmen, each armed with powerful .357 Magnum pistols and hand grenades, were still holding Judge Dominique Bathache and another magistrate, witnesses said. The identities of the two men freed were not immediately known.

The three gunmen had departed with their hostages from the courthouse in Nantes, 200 miles southwest of Paris.

earlier today as a police SWAT team and a crowd of reporters watched.

They got into a beige Renault mini-van they had requested from police and — after firing several shots in the air — departed into Nantes with five or six other vehicles following. In one car were police officers wearing bullet-proof vests.

After winding through some Nantes streets blocked by police barricades, the gunman driving the mini-van appeared to be traveling aimlessly before they arrived at Chateau-Bougon airport near Nantes. The men parked just outside the facility, not far from the runway, witnesses said.

There was no indication whether they would attempt to board a plane and it was not known if there had been a demand for a plane.

The departure from the courthouse, where the men had been holed up with hostages for more than 27 hours, came minutes after the trio's apparent leader, Georges Courtois, fired randomly over the heads of reporters and toward police from a balcony.

Courtois, 34, was first to leave. He was handcuffed to Judge Dominique Bathache, who was presiding over Courtois' armed robbery trial when the hostage incident began before noon

Fighter Pilot Grew Up In Sanford

Lt. Sirkin Killed In Auto Collision In Germany

First Lt. Stephen Stuart Sirkin, 24, died Saturday, Dec. 14, as the result of injuries sustained in a head-on collision en route to his squadron at Hahn Air Base, Germany.

Memorial services for Lt. Sirkin were held Wednesday by the 10th Tactical Fighter Squadron to which he was attached. His mother and stepfather, Jane and F. Whitner Chase of Sanford, flew to Germany to make arrangements and attend the services. His uncle, Harold Costello, of Asolo, Italy, joined them in Germany.

Local funeral arrangements are incomplete and will be announced.

Lt. Stephen S. Sirkin

An F-16 Falcon pilot, Lt. Sirkin had been attached to the 50th Tactical Fighter Wing at Hahn AB since September.

Born April 7, 1961 in Daytona Beach, he later moved to Sanford, where he spent most of his life. He attended Trinity Preparatory School, Goldenrod, for four years and ran on the Varsity Cross Country team. He graduated from the Hotchkiss School, Lakeville, Conn., where he was president of the computer club and a member of the varsity soccer and track teams.

He was employed at Walt Disney World for a year before going on to Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute, Troy, N.Y., for a degree in Aeronautical Engineering. At RPI he was a member of the Phi Kappa Tau Fraternity and the Air Force ROTC Program. He was commissioned second lieutenant upon receiving his degree from RPI in 1983.

The following October he was ordered to Columbus Air Force Base in Mississippi for undergraduate pilot training, receiving his wings a year later. Fourth in his class, he was cited as a "distinguished graduate."

Lt. Sirkin then reported to Holloman AFB, New Mex., for advanced fighter training. From there he was sent to Luke AFB, Ariz., for training in the F-16 Falcon. One of his instructors wrote: "This fine young officer stands

Shultz Splits With Reagan On Polygraphs

WASHINGTON (UPI) — An open split is apparent in the administration over lie detector tests, with Secretary of State George Shultz saying he would quit if his honesty were questioned.

Shultz, his voice thickened with emotion, told reporters who asked about his views on lie detector tests, "The minute in this government I am told that I'm not trusted is the day that I leave." He then turned and left the room.

Shultz scheduled an afternoon meeting with President Reagan.

White House spokesman Larry Speakes said Thursday Cabinet officers are among those who might be asked to take the tests.

A White House official declined to comment on Shultz's statement, saying, "We're going to have his words and explanation stand on its own."

The official said that Reagan was "aware" of Shultz's position. During an interview earlier in the day on the NBC "Today" show, Shultz said, "I've taken it up with the president."

The official pointed out that a counterintelligence task force is currently working out details and timing of the polygraph program which is expected to start in early 1986.

"While we have 4.2 million employees who have security clearance, this policy affects only about 100,000 who deal in classified (material)," he said.

He also noted that cabinet officials go through "stringent background" investigations before they are appointed and also during their confirmation.

"Each agency will have to determine how they administer these tests from senior officials on down," he said. "The specifics (are) still to be worked out."

IN BRIEF

Kennedy Says He Will Not Seek Presidency in Next Election

BOSTON (UPI) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, stunning the political world with his announcement that he will not seek the Democratic nomination for the White House in 1988, says he realizes he "may never be president."

In his statement, the five-term Massachusetts Democrat said, "I have decided that the best way to advance the values you and I share — peace on earth, economic growth at home, and compassion for all Americans — is to be a United States senator, and not a candidate for president."

Kennedy's announcement Thursday night removed him as one of the major Democratic front-runners and boosted the presidential aspirations of two other leading contenders, Sen. Gary Hart of Colorado and Gov. Mario Cuomo of New York.

Personal tragedy has haunted Kennedy's political career, from the accident at Chappaquiddick that killed Mary Jo Kopechne July 18, 1969, to his wife's bouts with alcoholism. On Jan. 21, 1981, Kennedy and his wife, Joan, announced they were ending their marriage of 22 years.

Congress Fills Its Stockings

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Members of a Congress, filled with the spirit of giving, prepared to go home for Christmas today carrying bundles of special gifts they voted for themselves during the adjournment rush.

All were neatly wrapped inside major bills approved in the frantic last days of the 1985 session. Some presents can be opened right away, some next year and some may even have to be exchanged.

But they are all yuletide goodies: cash, campaign contributions and prospects of more pay.

And The Grinch, personified by Sen. David Boren, D-Okla., was properly sent packing when the Senate rejected his proposal to limit how much money congressional candidates could accept from political action committees.

'Breakout' Inspires S.C. Escape

PELZER, S.C. (UPI) — A nationwide alert was out today for a woman and three "extremely dangerous" convicts who were airlifted from prison in a daring helicopter escape reminiscent of the Charles Bronson movie "Breakout."

A guard at the Perry Correctional Institution was shot trying to stop the 90-second escape launched Thursday by a strawberry blonde and executed with military precision.

The overloaded three-passenger chopper lumbered off a crowded prison exercise yard amid a hail of bullets, barely cleared the 12-foot-high fence and landed four miles away, where the four fled in a silver sedan.

Police said the silver car was abandoned after a seven-mile ride and the four continued their escape in a blue Dodge possibly owned by the woman.

South African Troops Invade Angola To Seize Materiel Cache

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (UPI) — South African troops killed six black guerrillas in southern Angola and seized a large cache of weapons and ammunition, state-run television said.

In Tzanced, a white community near the northern border with Zimbabwe, residents today gathered to bury a 59-year-old woman and her two grandchildren — among six people killed in a landmine attack during the weekend.

The South African Broadcasting Corporation said Thursday a small force of South African troops crossed into southern Angola from Namibia during the weekend and was still there.

It was the third South African incursion into Angola since South Africa ended its occupation April 17. South African withdrawal from southern Angola was negotiated by U.S. Assistant Secretary of State for African Affairs Chester Crocker as a first step toward Namibian independence.

Investigators End Spy Probe

TEL AVIV, Israel (UPI) — U.S. investigators have wrapped up a secret investigation into alleged links between Israeli diplomats and a Navy counterterrorism expert accused of selling secrets to Israel.

The four-member investigative team headed by Abraham Sofaer, legal adviser at the State Department, boarded a New York-bound flight Thursday, declining to make any statement before their departure, Israel radio said.

Jonathan Pollard, a civilian U.S. Navy counterterrorism analyst, was arrested outside the Israeli Embassy in Washington Nov. 21 and charged with selling U.S. defense secrets to Israel. His wife was arrested 48 hours later and charged with illegal possession of classified documents.

The U.S. investigators arrived in Israel last week under a deal worked out with the Israeli government.

Gunmen Hold Hostages In Court

NANTES, France (UPI) — Three men armed with pistols and hand grenades tried today to escape from a courthouse where they are holding at least 12 hostages but were forced back inside. One hostage escaped in the confusion, authorities said.

Around 5 a.m. local time the three gunmen — a Moroccan and two Frenchmen he had tried to free from their armed robbery trial Thursday — moved out of the criminal courtroom.

Longwood Extends Closure Of 2 Shadow Hill Streets

By Jane Casselberry
Herald Staff Writer

It was an open and shut case in Longwood Wednesday night when city commissioners at first each said they wanted to reopen two streets in Shadow Hill subdivision that have been barricaded for 18 months.

However, after listening to residents present and receiving a petition signed by 70 Shadow Hill residents they reversed themselves and voted to keep Lamont Avenue and Shadow Trail closed for another six months.

Between now and June 30 when the ordinance expires they said they would look into permanently closing the exits on Lamont Avenue and Shadow Trail to Myrtle Lake Hills Road, which is in the county.

The commission also voted to hire Buford "Slick" Helms, a 50-year resident of Longwood with 40 years experience as a residential building contractor, to be the new city building official at a starting salary of $18,000 a year. He will be hired on a six-month probationary basis to replace former building official R.A. "Bud" Bryant, who was fired Nov. 12.

The commission took the actions at a special meeting at which a public hearing on extending the streets closing, continued from the Dec. 9 meeting, was held. Prior to the Wednesday meeting the commission met for an hour with residents at work session to discuss the situation. The commission expressed disappointment that more residents did not show up Wednesday after announcements of the meeting were hand delivered to each home.

The residents had originally requested the closings before Myrtle Lake Hills Road was paved when they were complaining of people cutting through the subdivision speeding and littering and vandalizing their property. They said that since the streets had been closed to the outside, incidents of theft had gone down. The commissioners each said they felt these things had been resolved and the two entrances should be reopened on a trial basis to see if problems still exist. They also cited a recent police report that revealed speeders arrested at Shadow Hill were residents rather than outsiders posing a threat to children's safety.

If the streets are closed permanently they will become private streets and the city can no longer maintain them, according to the city attorney Gerald Korman.

Both those for and against extending the closings submitted petitions supporting their viewpoint, but the proponents had more than twice as many signatures and only two or three of those attending Monday night wanted the streets opened.

Don Faulkner, no relation to the commissioner Perry Faulkner, has been pushing for removing the barricades to provide to additional entrances to the subdivision which would relieve the what he says is congestion and a safety hazard at the main entrance where children catch their school buses. But Wednesday night, in the interest of peace in the community, he withdrew his objection to the closing when it was obvious he was in the minority.

The commission also agreed to address several other safety concerns of the Shadow Hill residents by looking into putting in a sidewalk along the north side of E.E. Williamson Road, putting lights in the park, putting up speed limit signs in the subdivision and getting the county to put a traffic light on E.E. Williamson.

Mayor Harvey Smerilson said, "We live in a democratic society and have to go with the majority. I don't see any other alternative."

Congress Hangs In For Another Day

By Robert Shepard

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Congress edged to the brink of adjournment early today, but was thwarted in its effort to head home for the holidays by a stalemate over a $74 billion package of spending cuts and taxes.

The drive to wrap up business for the 1985 session was to resume during daylight hours after the weary lawmakers caught a few hours of sleep.

Tangled up in the congressional impasse was the fate of the 16-cent-per-pack cigarette tax and a proposed new tax on manufacturers to help pay for the nation's toxic waste cleanup program.

The end of the first session of the 99th Congress appeared to have finally arrived at about 1 a.m. EST today when the House refused to consider the Senate's latest offer and House Democratic leader Jim Wright of Texas declared the chamber had completed its business for the year.

The adjournment resolution was passed and House leaders prepared to join senators in the traditional telephone call to President Reagan informing him Congress had called it quits for the year. But the leaders instead huddled in Dole's private office to consider their options.

Dole finally emerged and recessed the Senate until 11 a.m. today. The House followed suit, quitting until noon.

During the long session that began Thursday morning, the two chambers approved a $368 billion catchall spending bill and sent it on to Reagan, who promptly signed it. The bill was thought to be the last major obstacle to adjournment.

But the two chambers then got into a long squabble, described by several members as "a game of chicken," over the $74 billion "budget reconciliation" measure.

The delay caused the 16-cent cigarette tax to expire and technically revert to 8 cents a pack.

Among the key points of contention was the new, broad-based tax on manufacturers to help finance the Superfund toxic waste cleanup program, backed by the Senate, but resisted by the House and the administration.

"We have to make a judgment on dropping the (Superfund) tax or insisting on it and sending it back to the House," Senate Republican leader Robert Dole said at about 2 a.m.

Dole said Congress might have to approve a cigarette tax today and "deem it to have been passed" on Thursday.

The Senate had insisted the package include the Superfund tax, but the House repeatedly refused to go along. Instead, it proposed that portions of the deficit reduction bill — including the cigarette tax and a freeze on Medicare payments to doctors and hospitals — be extended until March 15.

The Senate agreed after midnight to accept the House-proposed bill, but the House mysteriously scotched the deal and refused the Senate's offer to accept the compromise. Wright said the House would not conduct any more business and prepared to adjourn.

In addition to the spending bill, the House also passed and sent to the president Thursday a measure giving the families of the 248 U.S. military personnel killed in a charter plane crash last week an extra three months housing allowance and up to $15,000 in extra life insurance coverage for each victim.

The Senate went on record in favor of delaying the effective date of any tax reform legislation until Jan. 1, 1987, and approved a crucial bill governing the disposal of low-level nuclear waste, sending it back to the House, which made a minor change and sent it back to the Senate.

The catchall spending bill provides financing for the Defense, Interior, Agriculture, Treasury and Transportation departments and other government offices, including the White House.

The bill also abolishes the Synthetic Fuels Corp. and prohibits the agency from spending any of its $7.3 billion budget on additional projects, unless it has funds committed in a legally binding contract.

The bill also includes $128 million for production of chemical weapons and a one-year ban on anti-satellite weapons testing.

Water Tests Successful

Lake Mary's new $1.4 million water plant is in full operation following successful tests conducted which were conducted Tuesday, according to Jim Ortoles, superintendent of public works.

"Barring any major problems, the plant will remain on-line," Ortoles said Thursday.

The plant went on-line for testing at 9 a.m. Tuesday. The tests were hampered by an air lock which developed in a city water line during hydrant flushing, resulting in city-wide low water pressure, and brief interruptions of service in some areas. Crews had located and corrected the air lock problem by 4:30 p.m. Tuesday. There were no problems reported at the new

Final Quarter GNP Estimate Shows Growth

By SUZANNE TRINELL

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The gross national product grew at a surprisingly strong 3.2 percent during the final quarter of this year, according to the government's "flash" estimate released today, but revised figures showed third-quarter growth was less than reported earlier.

Based on the Commerce Department's estimate for fourth-quarter growth, the GNP, the nation's total output of goods and services, was expected to increase 2.8 percent from the final quarter of last year to the final quarter this year.

That figure fell short of the Reagan administration's target for 3.0 percent growth for 1985.

The Commerce Department's projection for fourth-quarter growth was above that of most economists, who forecast more moderate growth in the 2.0 percent to 2.5 percent range.

In its report, the department adjusted third-quarter GNP downward from the 4.3 percent figure released last month. The department said third-quarter growth actually was 3.0 percent.

For the fourth-quarter, government economists said they expect real final sales to increase only "moderately," following a substantial increase during the third quarter.

They said consumer spending was expected to decrease.

"Purchases of motor vehicles are expected to decrease sharply; most other consumer expenditures are expected to increase," the report said.

Largest Cut Gem Is Gift

NEW YORK (UPI) — The world's largest cut gem — a 9 1/2-pound, icy blue topaz large enough to be set in a ring for the Statue of Liberty — is an early Christmas gift to the American Museum of Natural History.

The "Brazilian Princess," a 21,327-carat topaz from the eastern mountains of Brazil, arrived at the museum Thursday packed in a bed of sponges and protected by armed guards.

The topaz, said to be the world's largest cut gem, was given to the museum by an anonymous donor last month and will be placed on display in January.

County Port Authority Inks Pact With Tenant

By Sarah Nunn
Herald Staff Writer

Agra-Energy, the Seminole County Port Authority's newest tenant, is gearing up to begin operations next month.

The lease approved by the port authority two months ago has been approved, according to Port Authority Administrator Dennis Dolgner.

Representatives of Agra-Energy told the port's board of directors Wednesday that the company is in the process of remodeling the facility on Orange Boulevard and expects to be in production by mid-January.

Agra-Energy Vice President of Operations Dick Clark said the 3.5 million gallon facility will be in the business of blending and distributing gasoline.

The company will receive the fuel on barges via the St. Johns River and sell the product to Central Florida "independents," companies which distribute the fuel to convenience stores and gasoline stations, Clark said.

"We feel this is a good location and has a lot to offer," he said of the 1.5 acre site on the north half of port property. "We are pleased to be here." Clark said the company will employ between four and six people within six months.

In other business Wednesday, Dolgner told the port authority that Joe Justice will be resigning his chairmanship on the board to accept a job in Georgia. He anticipated that vice chairman Claire H. Paul will serve as the new chairman, and the port authority will ask the county commission to fill the vacancy left by Justice. Justice has been a member of the port authority board for three years.

The board also approved a report by its personnel committee which updates the port authority's personnel manual and accepted a $13,479 bid by Superior Asphalt for the Orange Boulevard deceleration lane project.

Hovering For A Handout

Seagulls hover around Jill Hardester of Lake Mary as she feeds them bread chunks along the Lake Monroe beach on Holiday Isle in Sanford. While some of the gulls were catching the bread in midair, resident ducks were waiting on the ground for their handouts. Ms. Hardester chose her birthday Tuesday for an outing to feed feathered friends and watch waves.

Suspicious Actions Lead To Arrests

Acting suspiciously and having the wrong license plate on a vehicle prompted the arrest of two Orlando men on grand theft and possession of burglary tool charges.

An Altamonte Springs officer reported that just after midnight Thursday he watched a car drive about several business in that city near Springs Oak Boulevard and then, after the occupants saw the officer, drive off. The officer followed the car which went to a service station where the men got out and inspected the car, then left.

Again the officer followed the car, this time westbound on State Road 436. The car made a U-turn and the officer followed it to Interstate 4 and south towards Orlando. A computer check on the tag showed it was supposed to be on a Ford but the men were in a Buick. The officer called for backup and stopped the car near the Maitland Interchange.

Arrested and charged with grand theft and possession of burglary tools (leather gloves, a tire iron, and bandannas) were Calvin James Bell, 25, driver of the car, and Brad Lee, also 25. They were being held in the Seminole County jail in lieu of $1,000 bond each.

DIDN'T NEED SEARCH WARRANT

An Altamonte Springs man cooperated with lawmen after they showed him they had a search warrant to look in his home for drugs.

According to an arrest report, he showed agents drugs that were in the house.

Arrested and charge with possession of less than 20 grams of marijuana was Vincent Joseph Fidel, 27, of 1424 Sundance. He was being held in lieu of $500 bond Thursday.

ARMED ROBBERIES

In separate incidents, two men have been arrested on charges of armed robbery.

In the first case, a man was photographed by surveillance cameras at 2161 N. Park Ave. in south Seminole County. An informant said he recognized the person photographed and police went to the man's home. After a comparison of the photograph to the suspect and talking with him, he was placed under arrest at 1:10 a.m. Wednesday.

Charged in that case is Allen Leon Gainey, 25, of 9655 Albemarle. He was being held

SANFORD POLICE

A 1986 Corvette, valued at $26,200, was taken from Ken Rummel Chevrolet, 3455 Orlando Drive, on Friday night, according to a Sanford police report. Sales manager Bob Gerstner said he discovered the car was missing when he arrived at the auto dealership on Saturday morning. Sanford police are investigating.

A grinch stole Christmas presents from a Myrtle Avenue home on Monday, between 7 a.m. and 12:20 p.m., according to a Sanford police report. John Walker told police his child's presents and three gold chains, with a combined value of $548, were taken by persons who entered his home through an unlocked window.

Thieves made off with $300 from a pocketbook and $74 in cash and $82 in checks from cashbox located in a desk drawer at Child's World Child Care Center, 2854 S. Sanford Ave., on Monday afternoon, a Sanford police report said. Director Theresa Swaggerty said she left the office for a half-hour for lunch and discovered the theft when she returned. The door to the office was unlocked during her absence, she told police.

BURGLARIES AND THEFTS

Female Artificial Heart Patient Weak

MINNEAPOLIS (UPI) — Mary Lund, the world's first female artificial heart patient, was able to open her eyes and move her limbs on command after receiving her small-scale Jarvik-7, but remained "very, very weak," doctors said.

Lund, 40, of Kensington, Minn., who suffers from a rare viral infection that rapidly damaged her heart, was in critical but stable condition late Thursday at Abbott Northwestern Hospital. She underwent implant surgery and a second operation to check for internal bleeding earlier Thursday.

Lund rested comfortably during the night without experiencing any bleeding, and her kidney function was improving, a hospital report said. A spokesman early today said the next update on her condition would be given at a news conference at 10 a.m. EST.

"She responds to queries such as, 'Squeeze my hand. Move your legs,'" said Dr. Frederick L. Goebel, spokesman for the hospital's cardiac team and a heart surgeon. "She opened her eyes. That's a very good sign."

But the doctor said it would be several weeks before a human heart transplant would be considered.

"We'll take her situation day by day, hour by hour," Goebel said. "It will be weeks before she is a candidate for a heart transplant. She is very, very weak."

He said surgeons were concerned her virus would attack a new human heart.

Her husband, DuWayne, visited Lund Thursday when she started to awaken from an anesthetic. Her 14-year-old son, Scott, was at the hospital when she underwent surgery.

"She's responding to questions, but she is not speaking because she is still connected to a respirator," said Goebel, adding that her lungs "seem clear."

Lund was the world's 12th artificial heart patient and the eighth to receive the Jarvik-7. Two of five who had permanent implants are alive in Louisville, Ky., although both have suffered strokes — a risk posed by the devices.

The Jarvik-7 heart inserted in Lund, who weighs 110 pounds and is 5-foot-4, is the size of a tennis ball and was designed for a small chest cavity. It was the first of its size ever implanted, and Goebel said, "It just fit."

Dr. Lyle Joyce, who assisted Dr. William DeVries in the first total artificial heart implant in Barney Clark in 1982 in Salt Lake City, led a team of three surgeons in the seven-hour operation ending at 1:45 a.m. EST Thursday.

Surgeons conducted a two-hour exploratory operation ending at 10 a.m. EST Thursday when fluid started to build up in her chest cavity. They said they determined the fluid came from her previous condition and was not the result of the surgery.

Board Oks Agricultural To Residential Rezoning

The Lake Mary Planning and Zoning Board approved a landowner's request for single family residential zoning of her land designated for agriculture.

P&Z board advisor Stan Welling told the board he "didn't see a big problem" with approving Katherine Stanley's request for a zoning change from A-1 Agriculture to R-1AA Single Family Residential for land adjacent to Crystal Lake Estates, north of Old Lake Mary Road. The board approved the request unanimously, but stipulated that horses on the property would have to be removed and an unfinished pistol range not be used.

In other business, Alma Vogel's request for changing zoning of five acres of property owned by Horace Fortner was withdrawn by Fortner. Although Ms. Vogel made the request and paid the application fee, the final decision to withdraw the request was made by Fortner.

Ms. Vogel was attempting to purchase Fortner's property at 280 Washington Avenue and change its zoning from A-1 Agriculture to RCE Rural Country Estates. She later planned to build up to two single dwelling homes on the five acres of land. Board Chairman Jim Talmadge said there was potential for the property to be subdivided into four lots.

Welling told the board there was no water line to service the property, and that the road was unimproved.

Ms. Vogel's ability to purchase the land was in doubt since she had planned on financing the purchase of Fortner's property with proceeds from the sale of another parcel of land she owned. That sale fell through.

Talmadge told the two that if they pursued their request and it was denied, there would be a one year waiting period before they could again request a change. He also said other options included asking the board to postpone their decision or withdraw the request. Fortner opted for withdrawal, and no further action was needed from the board.

The next meeting by the body is set for January 15.

Franking Right Is Senate Rip-Off

The cost of franking privileges and government-paid mailings by the U.S. Senate has been revealed for the first time, and it is appalling.

In three months of this year, 100 senators have managed to spend $11 million, sending "junk mail" flyers to constituents. Most of the material is out-and-out campaign propaganda, issued by senators coming up for re-election in November. This is material that should come out of privately donated campaign funds, not the pockets of the taxpayers.

Worst of the Senate spendthrifts was California's Alan Cranston. His government-paid mail for the three-month period cost $1,632,832.

Cranston says his expenditure is justified because it is important to communicate with 26 million Californians — and that his mailing cost was only 6 cents per constituent. It won't wash. The total still is $1.6 million and it can't be excused.

Sen. Charles Mathias, Jr., R-Md., chairman of the Senate Committee on Rules and Administration, has been working for some time to get the closely guarded mailing costs opened to the public. He says the 1985 cost of the free-mail privilege in both the House and the Senate will run $144 million.

Mathias says the misuse of the mailing privilege is an embarrassing example of the waste of the taxpayers' money. We say the senator from Maryland is so right.

Cranston should be ashamed to lead this rip-off list.

Ads Misleading

High Frontier, the private group promoting President Reagan's Strategic Defense Initiative (SDI), has been running a TV cartoon ad showing missiles bounding off a rainbow shield that covers a house and family. The clear purpose is to persuade viewers that Reagan's so-called Star Wars plan can protect every American home from Russian nuclear rockets. It's blatantly misleading, of course, as none other than Lt. Gen. James Abrahamson, the administration's SDI director, and Richard Perle, the assistant secretary of defense, have conceded.

Questioned sharply by members of a Senate committee recently, both officials acknowledged what everyone close to SDI knows full well that there's no such thing as a perfect shield, and that even if SDI worked effectively enough to allow penetration by only a limited number of enemy missiles, American citizens would still be devastated and millions would die.

The High Frontier people know that as well as anybody. They also know that most viewers don't understand SDI's complex technology well enough to see through their flimflam. And while TV cartoon ads opposing Star Wars likewise take some liberty with the facts — implying that SDI space weapons, in the process of stopping enemy missiles, would incinerate the earth below — those ads contain at least a grain of truth: SDI X-ray laser beams would in fact be powered by nuclear explosions in space whose consequences are entirely unpredictable. The pro-SDI ad hasn't even a saving note of accuracy: it's a flat-out lie.

Despite the Abrahamson and Perle disavowals, the phony High Frontier pitch is still on the tube. Any soap seller is required to have more respect for the truth.

Reagans On Christmas Party-Go-Round

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President and Mrs. Reagan have been on a heavy round of Christmas parties and socializing during the current season.

In some ways, the president has been more visible at the Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts than at the White House where coverage of his official activities has been severely limited.

Despite the legislative pressure of the dying days of Congress, the Reagans have been stepping out a lot, and hosting parties and receptions galore in a fast paced holiday schedule.

The Reagans' merry-go-round began early in the month when they attended a Variety Club salute to the president in Los Angeles.

Afterward, they attended the Kennedy Center Honors program in Washington and a few days later attended a dinner in New York honoring conservative columnist William Buckley and the 30th anniversary of his magazine, National Review.

The Reagans then launched a series of Christmas parties, with receptions for Congress, the press, their staff, official and household and members of the Secret Service and White House police.

Last Saturday, the Reagans were honored at a dinner by members of the Reagan Library Foundation. The following day they went to the Washington National Museum for the NBC Christmas program taping.

On Monday, the first couple attended a dinner at the home of former CIA director Richard Helms with actor Rex Harrison and Mrs. Harrison among the guests.

Tuesday evening, the Reagans went to see their old friend, Claudette Colbert, in the stage play "Aren't We All," at the Kennedy Center.

All this says a lot for the 74-year-old president's enormous stamina.

The president drew loud laughter in lobbying for his tax revision plan recently when he said: "It's hard to realize that a senator back in 1911, when they were debating the first income tax amendment, was literally laughed out of politics and lost his office because in opposing the income tax, he said, 'Why, the way this is worded some day we could find a government could take even as much as 10 percent of a man's earnings."

"And they thought that was so ridiculous that they literally, as I say, laughed him out of politics. Well, wouldn't it be nice to be back there. In the business I used to be in (Hollywood actor), it was good enough for an agent."

Reagan also told the tax supporters: "The Lord says that his share is a tenth. We believe in tithing, but when you start computing Caesar's share nowadays — and the Lord said, 'If I profit you 10 times as much, you will give 10 times as much.' Now, in Caesar's case, if he profits you 10 times as much, you give 50 times as much — to him."

Deputy press secretary Larry Speakes sometimes lectures reporters.

In a mini-debate with UPI's Ira Allen and Bruce Drake of the New York Daily News recently, Speakes told Drake:

"I don't mean to be ugly to you and Ira, but..." The response from Drake was: "Go ahead. I want to bring out the best in you."

DON GRAFF

Philippine Policy Not Working

These are certainly hectic days in Manila.

The opposition has finally gotten together on a ticket (or had as of this writing, but no telling how many times that may have been off and on again by the time you read this) and heads into the presidential election campaign with high hopes of unseating Ferdinand Marcos.

They are hopes not shared by Richard Kessler, an associate with the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace in Washington. Kessler is an expert on and frequent visitor to the Philippines.

But don't get him wrong. He's all for the ticket — the best, he thinks, that could be put together. In Corazon Aquino, he sees an inspirational leader capable of uniting fractious opposition groups, an encouraging sign that traditional political attitudes in the Philippines are changing.

True, her running mate, Salvador Laurel, is very much the traditional politician. But the compromises he is now willing to make suggest, at least to Kessler, that Laurel is no longer the wheeler-dealer many have taken him to be.

But that much said, Kessler pretty much runs out of good news. He expects the Aquino-Laurel ticket to give it a good try. But it will be an uphill battle, one Kessler thinks is highly unlikely Aquino and Laurel can win, even with the support of the majority of Filipinos, which he thinks is likely.

"Their problem," he says, "is that the election will be decided not at the ballot box, but where the votes are counted."

Marcos is already predicting that he will take 75 percent to 80 percent of those votes and is in control of the machinery to ensure it, although Kessler expects the result that will be officially reported to be a more reasonable 65 percent or so.

But that will not make much difference to post-election reaction in the Philippines and Washington. Especially the latter.

There has to date been a high degree of unity in this country on the Reagan administration's Philippines policy. And that is to use the limited leverage available to the United States to press for change.

Iran Is Waging Proxy War Against U.S.

By Jack Anderson And Dale Van Atta

WASHINGTON — The evidence is overwhelming that Iran is waging an undeclared war on the United States.

We have disclosed Iranian culpability for the torture-induced death of CIA agent William Buckley in Tehran last April. We have also disclosed the contents of a telephone intercept that proved beyond question Iran's collusion in the bloody hijacking of a Kuwaiti plane a year ago; it resulted in the savage murder of two American government employees.

Since that incident in December 1984, even more evidence has been uncovered that adds to the proof of Iranian involvement. Several of the pieces were first disclosed in a recent Reader's Digest story by Nathan Adams, "Anatomy of a Hijacking."

From that evidence and other sources, we have put together a chronology of the Kuwait Airways Flight 221 hijacking:

Nov. 22, 1984: Four men met in eastern Lebanon to plan a hijacking with American and Kuwait passengers as their targets. One of the

WILLIAM RUSHER

Loyal VP Lauds Loeb

If Jesse Jackson addressed the annual convention of the Ku Klux Klan, he could hardly raise more eyebrows than Vice President George Bush did recently when he gave the principal speech at a Washington testimonial dinner in honor of the late William Loeb.

Loeb was the longtime owner and publisher of the Manchester (N.H.) Union-Leader who died in 1981. While he lived, he enjoyed running editorials in his newspaper that were outspoken by any standard, and since he was a far-right conservative, his editorials tended to flay just about anyone to the left of Attila the Hun.

Bush swam into Loeb's sights as a contender for the Republican presidential nomination in 1980 and a contestant in that year's New Hampshire Republican primary. Loeb, who didn't believe in understatement, denounced Bush (and every other candidate except Reagan) in his usual unmeasured terms. Bush, Loeb bellowed, was a "spoon-fed little rich kid" who was "unfit" to be president. Whether Loeb's attacks were responsible or not (and they certainly didn't help, Reagan trounced Bush and the rest of his New Hampshire primary opponents and went on to win the nomination.

Yet here was George Bush, now Ronald Reagan's vice president and very much a contender for the 1988 presidential nomination, rising to pay a tribute to Bill Loeb! The media on hand could hardly wait to contrast Bush's kind words about Loeb with Loeb's savage attacks on Bush, but Bush shrewdly saved them the trouble: He quoted Loeb's attacks himself, then brushed them aside as part of the "rough and tumble" of politics and saluted Loeb as "triumphantly right about the fact that Ronald Reagan is one of the greatest presidents in our history."

No wonder White House Chief of Staff Don Regan, introducing Bush to the dinner guests, hailed him as "the most loyal and most effective of all Ronald Reagan supporters."

What George Bush is doing these days is a tribute both to the power of conservatism in contemporary politics and to Bush's own ability to move with the times when he perceives that those times have changed.

Hull Tests Advance Knowledge

By Frances Ann Burns

HOBOKEN, N.J. (UPI) — In a pair of tanks that look like misshapen swimming pools, engineers at Stevens Institute play with models of America's Cup contenders, submarines, ferries, and almost anything else that moves on, in or under the water.

They use the models to see how hulls of widely varying designs perform under every conceivable condition.

Peter Ward Brown, who heads the lab's Marine Craft Development Group, and his colleagues, for example, use wave machines and models to find out how different types of hulls would behave in seas generated by bad weather.

"We can make a North Atlantic storm. We can make a Pacific swell," lab director Daniel Savitsky said. "We can simulate conditions as if there's a local storm and a distant one that's also affecting the area."

The power to control the weather is especially useful for tests of flood drilling platforms and ships that will operate mainly in one climactic area.

Kenneth Davidson founded the Davidson Laboratory 50 years ago, after swimmers objected to having to share the institute's pool with his floating experiments.

At first, the lab was involved only in the design of racing yachts. But as World War II approached, it began testing military vessels.

"It's really like a big erector set," Brown said. "We can put it together to test anything we want."

Davidson, a Stevens professor who directed the lab until he died in 1958, was a racing enthusiast. The lab has assisted in the design of every American challenger for the America's Cup since 1937 and is now helping to prepare a boat for the 1987 race against Australia.

About 80 percent of the lab's work is now done for the military, Savitsky said. He warned reporters on a recent tour that some questions about military vessels — and the design of future America's Cup challengers — would not be answered.

The lab also is working on a new boat for the U.S. Coast Guard, designed to alleviate the age-old problem of sea sickness.

Dec. 3: A dozen men, possibly including Iranian government officials, conversed earnestly throughout the night in the Tehran airport restaurant, long after closing time.

Dec. 4, pre-dawn: Thirty minutes after Flight 221 took off from Dubai airport in the United Arab Emirates, four terrorists hijacked the plane and forced the pilot to land at Tehran. The dozen men left the airport restaurant after the plane landed.

Among the passengers on Flight 221 were two Iranian agents posing as students. Their job was to mingle with the passengers and report any resistance plans.

Dec. 4, late morning: Charles Hegna, an Agency for International Development official, was shot and dumped out of the plane onto the tarmac.

Dec. 4, early afternoon: The National Security Agency intercepted a telephone call between Ambassador Mohtashami and the foreign ministry in Tehran. The call clearly established the Iranian government's involvement in the hijacking, and included a discussion about flying the plane to Beirut. The White House ordered that a crack anti-terrorist unit be put on alert for a possible flight to the Middle East.

Dec. 5, morning: Al-Yafi strutted up and down the plane aisle displaying Iranian newspapers with graphic reports of Hegna's murder. Delivered with the papers were coils of rope and an additional pistol.

Dec. 5: Another AID official, William Stanford, was shot and thrown out of the plane. The two remaining Americans aboard were tied up and one was nearly choked to death with the Iranian-supplied rope.

Meanwhile, Al-Yafi was conferring with Iranian negotiators linked to terrorist training centers in Iran. Two of the officials were overheard using the hijackers' real names.

Dec. 6: Kuwait's prime minister sent an urgent request to Tehran that Iran take "all necessary measures" to protect the hostages' lives. Kuwaiti officials requested an early rescue attempt, but Iran later claimed it didn't have Kuwaiti permission to storm the plane.

Dec. 7: An Iranian foreign ministry official interviewed released passengers and asked if anyone had considered trying to overpower the hijackers. One foolishly said several passengers had weighed the possibility. Within minutes, Al-Yafi threatened to shoot another hostage unless the plotters identified themselves. When nobody confessed, Al-Yafi made all the Pakistani passengers swear on the Koran that they would not resist.

Dec. 8: The two surviving American hostages were brutally beaten and burned with cigarettes.

Dec. 9: One of the hijackers, changed from his jogging clothes to a suit and tie. Minutes later, an obviously choreographed rescue was made by Iranian security forces. The hijackers were never tried. All ballistic evidence was removed from the bodies of the two dead Americans before they were turned over to U.S. authorities, so the murder weapons could never be traced.

Footnote: Only after President Reagan and Syrian President Hafez Assad secretly accused Iran of complicity in the hijacking did the Tehran government stage its rescue.

Classic Encounters Mark First Round

Near-Perfect Seminole Clobbers Bartow, 81-60

By Sam Cook
Herald Sports Editor

Seminole High's basketball team, whose inexperience has been its biggest nemesis this year, wasn't listed among the favorites to win the first Central Florida Classic.

Hempstead, N.Y. and Clearwater Countryside were christened most likely to succeed prior to the 16-team extravaganza which opened Thursday at Seminole Community College and Lake Mary High School.

It only took the Seminoles one quarter against Bartow, however, to change some pre-tournament thinking.

Putting together all phases of Dr. James NalSmith's indoor game, Seminole, 4-3, turned in a near-perfect first eight minutes while building a 26-6 bulge over Bartow. The rest was academic as the Tribe powered to an impressive 81-60 first-round victory over the stunned Yellow Jackets.

"I don't think we can play any better than that," coach Bill Klein said about the first-period romp. "We had everything working for us. Whew! And then some."

And then some more. Seminole sped to a 10-0 lead before 1-2 Bartow scored. Then, it was 19-4 and finally 26-6. More of the same took place in the second quarter as the margin climbed to 40-10 before Klein emptied the bench.

Rod Henderson, who continued to stamp himself as the best all-around player in the county, said the incentive is one of atonement. "We want to make up for the last tournament we were in," Henderson said about an early (0-2) exit from the Winter Park Rotary Tip-Off Classic. "We played better team ball tonight. And we were much more intense."

Henderson, a 6-4 junior forward, was the hub of all the excitement. He handed out a career-high 13 assists, scored 15 points and yanked down 10 rebounds for a rare triple-double.

He and sophomore guard Andre Whitney, who had 10 assists and three steals, made the inside play an easy game for 6-7 Rod Fossitt, 6-7 Craig Walker and 6-0 Joe Holden, who combined for 34 points. The frontline, in turn, outletted the ball with authority, helping Jerry Parker to a game-high 17 points.

"We really went to the boards early," Klein said. "That was the key. We jumped on them early."

Leading the Windex Patrol, was Fossitt, a senior, who has excelled after a slow start. The stringbean forward hauled in a career-high 13 rebounds, scored 11 points and came away with his first dunk.

"I was just going to lay it in but then I saw how high I was, so I went ahead and slammed it," Fossitt said. "We got some great passes tonight."

Another Seminole on the receiving end was Holden, who filled the third forward role with 11 points, five boards and two steals. "I just got down court fast because I knew Andre (Whitney) and Rod (Henderson) would get Seminole's near-flawless showing sets up tonight's 9 o'clock showdown at the SCC Health Center with Dunedin, a 72-68 victor over Lake Mary's hard-luck Rams. In tonight's 7:30 tilt, Lake Brantley, which slipped past Lake Wales, 59-57, battles impressive Hempstead, which stomped Merritt Island, 66-45. In consolation round games, Lake Wales and Merritt Island square off at 4:30 p.m. while Bartow and Lake Mary meet at 8 p.m.

DUNEDIN OUTGUNS RAMS
Dunedin, which upset Ram coach Willie Richardson's pre-game strategy with a sizzling outside game, had its hands full with Lake Mary. Sophomore Tony Collie dropped in a 12-footer with 52 seconds left and sharpshooting guard Chris Williams notched a free throw with 14 seconds to go to ensure the win.

"They really shot the ball well," Richardson said. "The report we got was the guards weren't that strong. We went with a zone but they shot it as well as I could have imagined."

Williams, a 5-10 senior gunner, finished with 21 points while Collie, a muscular 6-3 left-handed sophomore, tallied 16. Kirk Hadley added 12 while 6-5 Lon Hadwin and Adolphus Merrick each had nine.

Dunedin, 2-5, took advantage of a poor start by 1-4 Lake Mary to forge a 7-0 lead. The Rams battled back behind the strong inside play of Chris Jackson (18 points and 12 boards) and outside gunnery of Kelly McKinnon (career-high 23 points) to take a 23-20 lead into the second quarter.

Another dryspell, though, this one of 3½ minutes cost the Rams their lead. Once again, however, Jackson, McKinnon and Ray Hartsfield caught fire to close the halftime deficit to 34-33.

In the second half, Williams and Merricks began to assert themselves as Dunedin took a 57-46 lead with late in the third quarter. McKinnon came back with a basket to trim the deficit to nine going into the final eight minutes.

Terry "The Cat" Miller popped off the bench to feed Kevin Willis and Jackson for two buckets and two minutes later, McKinnon followed up two shots with rebound buckets to pare the lead to 63-58 with 3:48 to play.

The Rams, though, couldn't creep any closer than four. They had two chances to cut it below four in the final minutes but Hartsfield fired up an airball and then watched his drive roll off with 1:40 to play.

"We just can't put it all together," Richardson said about his fourth close setback. "I

Countryside Tips Lyman — Lions Survive Luther

By Chris Fister
Herald Sports Writer

Hounds were in abundance Thursday night but, while the kennel of Bloodhounds from Auburndale was victorious, the 'Hounds from Lyman High bowed out in the final seconds.

Meanwhile, the team with the sniffles, Oviedo's Lions, almost got snuffed by the undermanned but scappy Luther Crusaders in what was an often confusing but nonetheless interesting first round of the first Central Florida Classic at Seminole Community College.

In the only blowout of the four opening round games at SCC, Cocoa High pounded Wymore Education Center, 86-53, in Thursday's first game. Clearwater Countryside then nipped Lyman's Greyhounds, 67-65, while Auburndale's 'Hounds thumped Lake Howell's Silver Hawks, 76-61, and Oviedo survived Luther, 52-45.

In loser's bracket action tonight at SCC, Lyman takes on Wymore at 4:30 and Lake Howell meets Luther at 6. In the winner's bracket, Countryside tangles with Cocoa at 7:30 and Auburndale goes against Oviedo at 9.

In the most exciting game of the night, Lyman and Clearwater Countryside's Cougars battled down to the wire. Lyman had a chance to send the game into overtime with two seconds left but Ralph Philpott couldn't connect on a pair of free throws and the Cougars escaped with a two-point victory.

"I thought the kids played pretty well considering a lot of them are sick with the flu," Lyman coach Tom Lawrence said. "We had five players in double figures so you can't ask for much better team play than that."

Vince Florence led the way for Lyman with 14 points while Philpott shook off the effects of the flu enough to score 13. T.J. Scallita and Brett Marshall tossed in 11 points each while Craig Radzak added 10.

Greg Stauffer was hitting from the outer limits for Countryside as he fired in a game-high 24 points. David Fletcher contributed 15 points for the Cougars while Matt Geiger dropped in 12 and Matt Brecher added eight points and 12 rebounds.

Lyman, 5-2, has enjoyed tremendous early-season success and showed why in the early going as the 'Hounds raced to a 17-7 lead with 1:33 left in the first quarter. Florence had the hot hand early with six first-quarter points including a three-point play that put the 'Hounds up by 10. Lyman took an 11-point lead, 20-9, into the second period.

"The guys really came out and played strong in the first quarter," Lawrence said. "But we missed some free throws in the first and second quarters that could have put us up by more."

Countryside came back and outscored the Greyhounds, 15-2, in the first three minutes of the second quarter as the Cougars took a 24-22 lead on Brecher's tip in with 5:18 left in the half.

The two teams traded baskets the remainder of the first half and Lyman ended up with a 33-32 halftime lead.

Radzak's three-point play got the 'Hounds going in the second half and they built up a six-point lead, 42-36, midway through the third quarter. Countryside came back within three, 48-45, going into the final period.

The inside work of Geiger, a 6-9 junior, and the outside bombs of Stauffer enabled Countryside to outscore the 'Hounds, 10-4, in the early going of the fourth quarter for a 55-52 lead.

Lyman came back with four straight points, the second two coming on Philpott's layup, for a 58-55 lead with 2:29 left to play. Countryside came back tough, though, and ran up a five-point lead, 64-59, with 53 seconds remaining.

Lyman cut it to 64-61 on Marshall's baseline jumper, and after a pair of missed free throws, Lyman pulled within 64-63 on a pair of free throws by Florence with 28 seconds left.

Stauffer hit a pair of free throws with 26 seconds left to boost the Cougars' lead back up to three, 66-63, but Robert Thomas came right back to hit a jumper for Lyman that made it 66-65 with 15 seconds left.

Lyman then sent Fletcher to the line for two shots with nine seconds left. Fletcher missed the first shot but made the second for a 67-65 lead.

The Greyhounds came down and Florence immediately put up a shot. Marshall grabbed the rebound but missed the followup. Philpott kept the 'Hounds alive by grabbing the offensive board but couldn't convert. However, Stauffer was hacked by Geiger going up and went to the line for a pair of free throws with two seconds left.

Philpott's first attempt hit off the side of the rim. He missed his second attempt and the ball bounced around loose before Countryside picked it up at the buzzer.

BARBER SHAVES HOWELL
Terence Barber, a member of Florida's 4A All-State Football team, just shed his gear a week ago but he is already making waves in the basketball arena.

Barber, an all-world wide receiver for the Auburndale football team that went to the semifinals of 4A and finally bowed out to powerful Pensacola Escambia, was just as elusive on the hardwood Thursday night as the 5-11 point guard pumped in a game-high 27 points in leading the Greyhounds past a hard-fighting Lake Howell squad.

Barber, who caught 81 passes for over 1,200 yards, is one of many key players for Auburndale just coming off football. Coach Scott Pospichal said the footballers have had just four days of practice but he's glad to have them back.

"Before we got our guards from the football team, we had one of our centers running the point," Pospichal said. "I figured it would take us at least three

Smith Makes Third-Team All-State

Andrew Smith, Oviedo High's workhorse running back, was named to the Third Team of the Class 4A All-State Football Team announced Friday by the Florida Sports Writers Association.

Smith, a senior, carried the load for coach Jack Blanton's Lions, toting the ball 251 times for 1,580 yards. The 5-9, 165-pounder scored 14 touchdowns and a two-point conversion for 86 points. All three totals led the way in Seminole County.

While Smith was accorded first-team honors, his equal defensively, Seminole High linebacker Brian Brinson, was not named on any of the three teams. Brinson, a tenacious 5-8, 205-pound senior, made 105 solo tackles and assisted on 61 more for 166 total.

Smith and Brinson were chosen Burger King Offensive and Defensive Players of the Year, respectively, last week.

On the first team, Reggie Jackson, the state's biggest player, and Emmitt Smith, the state's most talked-about player, were the top choices.

Scoring 'Benge' Helps Tribe Girls To First Win

By Chris Fister
Herald Sports Writer

Defender Cindy Benge brought new blood to the anemic Seminole High offense Thursday night and her offensive play put a charge in the Lady Tribe as they erupted for three second-half goals en route to a 4-2 victory over Winter Park's Lady Wildcats at Seminole High.

The Lady Tribe snapped a

six-game losing streak and scored more goals Thursday than in the first six games combined. Seminole, 1-6, returns to play tonight at home in a Seminole Athletic Conference match against Oviedo.

"I moved Cindy (Benge) from fullback to forward and she made a real change in our offense," Seminole coach Suzy Reno said. "She didn't score, but she really moved the ball around well and got our offense going."

Winter Park got off to a fast start Thursday as it scored two goals in the first 17 minutes of the game. Reno said the second goal shouldn't have counted because Winter Park was off-falder on the play but the non-call by the official seemed to fire up the Lady Seminoles.

Seminole cut the Wildcats' lead to 2-1 with just under 10 minutes left in the first half when Vicky "Spuffy" Pakovic fired in a penalty kick.

Optimistic Peters Seeks To Spring Upset Of Brandon

By Sam Cook
Herald Sports Editor

LONGWOOD — Doug Peters is an optimist. Most first-year head coaches are. Peters, however, has more reason to be optimistic than other wrestling mentors cutting their first varsity teeth.

First of all, Peters coaches the Lake Mary Rams. Former coach Frank Schwartz and Peters, as his capable assistant, whipped the Rams into a state power in just four years. During that time, the Rams have won 44 of 45 dual meets.

Second of all, Peters has a fine wrestling mind, accumulated by many years at his favorite trade. He took two gambles in a dual meet Wednesday against Lake Mary and the strategy paid off with a 35-21 victory for the Rams.

When the second is applied to the first, one can see why the former Lyman High star and University of Central Florida All-America has reason to believe in his Rams. This weekend, however, at the 14th Emerson Electric-sponsored Lyman Christmas Tournament, Peters' optimism has its most optimistic venture.

He actually believes that Brandon can be beaten. That's Brandon, the state 4A champion the past two years. That's Brandon, the Lyman Christmas Tournament champion the past two years.

"I really believe that we can win it," Peters said about his 5-0 club. "The big win over Bishop Moore did a lot for our confidence. We are really wrestling the way a Peters' team should wrestle — aggressively."

Peters and his Rams hope to put that aggressiveness to work today at 5:30 when the tournament's first round begins. The second round will be tonight at 8. The third round is Saturday morning at 10. Wristlebacks (noon), consolation (6 p.m.) and finals (8 p.m.) follow on Saturday. Tickets are $2.50 and available at the gate.

Although Lyman athletic director Skip Pletzer shares some of Peters' optimism, he wasn't ready to predict an upset. "I'd say there are three favorites," Pletzer said, ticking off Brandon, Lake Mary and Colonial. Notice the order of teams. "I don't think it will be a Brandon runaway this year. There are a lot of schools who have two or three good wrestlers."

One of those schools is Seminole. Coach Glenn Matolini's Tribe will be well represented by the Turner brothers — Troy (157) and Tracey (147). Junior Troy missed last year's tournament due to illness. Sophomore Tracey was knocked into the consolation round last year and would like to atone this time around. Both are No. 1 seeds and unbeaten this year although Tracey has been bothered by a sore ankle and illness.

Lyman is another school with two blue chippers. Senior Chad Dubin (121) lost in the semifinals to champion Jerry Jordan last year. Senior Pat Perkins (222), who came on strong to win the region last year, lost in the semifinals last year, like Dubin. Perkins and Dubin are unbeaten and both No. 1 seeds.

Two more No. 1 seeds come from Lake Brantley. Junior Danny Roth (100) sports a 6-0 record while teammate Kevin Greenstein (107) is also unbeaten in six outings. Senior

If Lake Mary's Matt Broberg (top) is in pain, you can imagine how Bishop Moore's Mark Ogier must feel. Ogier felt a little worse seconds later as the Lake Mary wrestling captain pinned him in 2:17. Broberg leads the unbeaten Rams into the 14th Lyman Christmas Tournament today. The first round is at 5:30 p.m. and the second at 8 p.m.

Greenstein lost to Dubin in the first round last year at 107.

Another Patriot who coach Kevin Carpenter is touting is senior Troy Lewis. The Lake Brantley class president is 6-0 with five pins at 187 pounds.

Although Seminole, Lyman and Brantley have several stellar individuals, none is expected to challenge for team honors. Lake Mary will concentrate on that with its stable of impressive performers.

The Rams seeded Wayne Clayton (107, fourth), Craig Johnson (114, second), Enrique Carbia (121, fourth), Matt Broberg (128, first), Rob Richards (134, third), Tom Olson (140, fourth), Bill Richards (147, third), Scott Ross (157, second), Troy Jackson (unlimited, first).

Per usual, Peters said the Rams will have to do well in the lower and middle weights since they don't have a standout after 157. Jackson, a 365-pounder from Sanford, is coming off two eye operations but could pull out from points at unlimited. Paul Owen, who sparked against Bishop Moore with a pin, could also be a factor at 222, as could Tony Lavalle, another rough-and-tumble Ram at 187 or lower.

"Colonial has 10 wrestlers returning, so they will be a factor," Peters said. "If we wrestle like we did Wednesday night, I like our chances."

guess we just ran out of gas at the end. We worked pretty hard in the first half."

BELL BEATS BUZZER

While Seminole waltzed into the quarterfinals and Lake Mary just missed, Lake Brantley struggled before pulling out a two-point victory over stubborn Lake Wales in Thursday's first game.

First-year coach Steve Jucker said his Patriots would have to play much better to beat Hempstead. "Hempstead is big and plays good fullcourt pressure," he said. "Their whole game is to get you into their tempo."

The Patriots found themselves wrapped in a 57-57 tie with eight seconds remaining. Brantley set up a shot which never materialized but Wade Wittig forced a short jumper with three seconds left. It missed but Brent Bell tipped in the rebound at the buzzer for the victory.

Brantley, 5-2, started quickly against 1-7 Lake Wales. Mark Moser popped in nine points and Wittig added six as the Pats blew off to a 21-12 first-quarter lead. Lake Wales, though, cut into the margin and pulled within 33-29 at halftime.

In the second half David Hardwick accounted for 13 of his team-high 17 points to lead the attack. Hardwick also handed out eight assists and came up with a steal for a strong all-around game.

Wittig (14) and Moser (13) were also in double digits for Brantley. Sophomore Darren Leva pull off seven rebounds and Wittig yanked down six. Lake Wales' Keith Parker drilled in 22 points to lead all scorers. Darryl Griffin added 12.

HEMPSTEAD BREEZES

Hempstead, meanwhile, played well enough to easily dispose of Merritt Island but coach Ted Adams was far from pleased despite the 21-point victory.

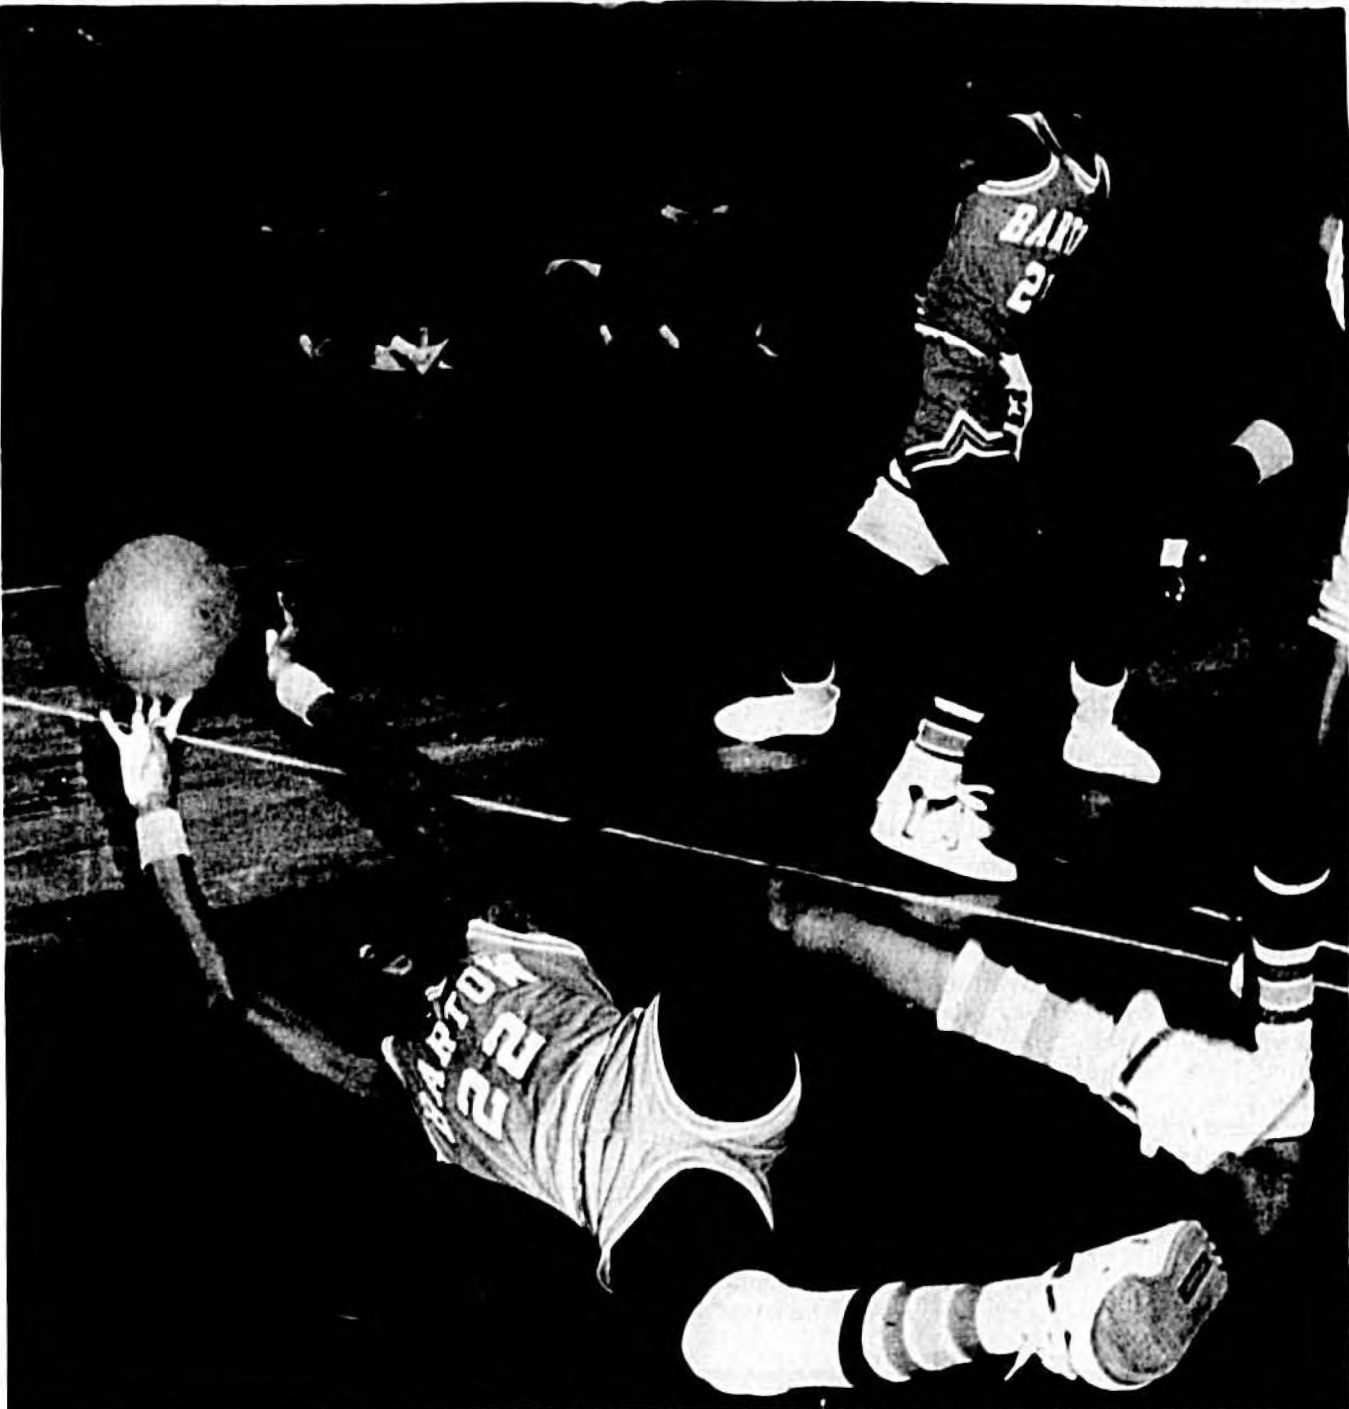

"We were not into the game mentally or physically," he said. "I hope it was the ride last night that had something to do with it. I could have told the guys very succinctly how they played the first half but I didn't want to use profanity."

Regardless of the effort, Hempstead showed itself as a contender for the title with excellent quickness in the backcourt and several strong leapers up front.

Adams' crew bolted to a 30-17 lead in the early going and opened the margin to 20 points near the end of the third quarter as the New Yorkers began to work out the kinks of the long ride.

George Alfred, Byron Prince and Joseph Smith each scored 12 points to lead the balanced attack. Robert Moore, a 6-4 leaper, added 10 while Charles Smith was next with eight.

Adams, whose team is 3-0, said Hempstead was at a point now where it didn't look at margin of victory. "We're looking at performance now," he said. "That was a mediocre performance tonight."

Reds Peddle 4 Players For Gullickson, Butera

CINCINNATI (UPI) — The Cincinnati Reds completed their second major trade of the off-season Thursday, acquiring veteran right-hander Bill Gullickson from the Montreal Expos in a six-player deal.

After getting right-hander John Denny from the Philadelphia Phillies during the winter meetings, the Reds added more experience to their pitching staff in acquiring Gullickson, who had a 14-12 record last season with Montreal.

The Reds also acquired reserve catcher Sal Butera in exchange for pitchers Jay Tibbs, Andy McGaffigan, John Stuper and catcher Dann Bilardello.

"I think we're going to have the finest pitching staff that we've ever seen," said Reds' owner Marge Schott, "and now

N.L. Baseball

(manager) Mr. (Pete) Rose has no excuse not to give me a World Series in 1986."

Rose said he did not understand why Montreal wanted to get rid of Gullickson, who has a career mark of 72-61 and a 3.44 lifetime ERA.

"I don't think there's a manager in the league that wouldn't want Gullickson," Rose said. "He told me last year during the season he wanted to go somewhere."

Gullickson admitted he had been a little more specific than that when he chatted with Rose.

"When Pete played for us, I enjoyed playing with him," said

Gullickson. "When he went to Cincinnati, I was wondering if I could get over there. I was ready for a change. I mentioned it to him around the batting cage."

"I feel honored Pete wanted me to play for him. Last year, Cincinnati proved that it's on the move up. I think the future will hold a lot of happy moments for the Reds."

"I figured we didn't have anything to lose so I made some changes," added Reno. "We had to try something different and this time the whole team played like they wanted to win. It was an all-around team effort."

"She also took four charges," Lake Howell coach Dennis Codrey said of Lewis. "She's been playing really well all around the past few games."

Also contributing to what was a big advantage on the boards were Sarina Winston and Carey Manuel with seven rebounds each and Kelly Grider and Kellee Johnson with six each.

"The game wasn't really close after the first quarter," Codrey said. "The girls played really well in the first half, but not very well in the second."

Rumler, and a tough Tribe defense, kept the Wildcats out of the net the rest of the way. Rumler had 18 saves for the game while Reno said Angela Freeman, Kim Machnik, Kim Walsh and Jennifer Roberts played outstanding defense.

The Lady Seminoles tied the game 6-30 into the second half when Christy Gonzales unloaded a shot from 25 yards out that soared past the Winter Park keeper.

"That was a beautiful shot," Reno said of Gonzales' goal. "I've been telling the girls to take the shot from far out if they're open instead of trying to dribble in. Christy (Gonzales) found an opening and had a direct shot to the goal and she put it in."

Seminole broke the tie with 13 minutes left in the match on a goal by Tracey Farrelly. Allyson Cahill crossed the ball to Farrelly who fired a shot that was deflected. Rachelle Denmark gathered in the loose ball and fed it back to Farrelly who stuck it in the goal for a 3-2 Seminole lead. Both Cahill and Denmark picked up assists on the play.

Seminole sewed up its first victory with 3:18 left to play when Denmark scored on an assist from Pakovic.

"The girls finally played as a team," Reno said. "And, for the first time this season, we had more shots on goal than the other team. We outshot Winter Park, outran them and outplayed them."

"I figured we didn't have anything to lose so I made some changes," added Reno. "We had to try something different and this time the whole team played like they wanted to win. It was an all-around team effort."

Hatters End 3-Game Losing Skid

DELAND (UPI) — The Stetson Hatters took the lead in the first five minutes Thursday night and increased their margin the rest of the way to overpower Dartmouth, 79-53, in a college basketball game.

Charles Stevenson, Junior College Player of the Year last year at Daytona Beach, led Stetson with 22 points and three other Hatters scored in double figures. DeLand freshman Randy Anderson hit for 15 points and Daytona Beach freshman Terry Johnson and junior Gary Coachman each added 10.

For the Dartmouth Big Green, John Mackay and Eugene Sims each had 10 points.

Stetson, which ended a three-game losing skid, evened its season mark at 4-4, while Dartmouth fell to 1-4.

The Stetson shooters hit on 60 percent of their shots from the field in the first half, compared to only 29 percent by Dartmouth, to give the Hatters a comfortable 38-25 halftime lead.

Long Wins 49th Maxwell Trophy

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Iowa quarterback Chuck Long accomplished what he set out to do when he passed up a chance to turn pro and remain with the Hawkeyes for a fifth year.

Long, who led the Hawkeyes to a 10-1 season and a berth in the Rose Bowl against Pacific 10 champion UCLA, will get his degree in marketing.

He got a bonus, however, when he was named Thursday as the 49th recipient of the Maxwell Award, presented annually by the Maxwell Football Club to the college football player of the year.

"I'd heard about it (the award) from year to year, but I never dreamed of getting it," said Long, who threw for 2,974 yards and 26 touchdowns this season. "I never really thought about it. That's why it's such a surprise."

Long was selected for the award over Auburn running back Bo Jackson, the winner of the Heisman Trophy.

ABC's Cosell Hangs Up Mouth

NEW YORK (UPI) — Howard Cosell, the outspoken sports commentator audiences love to hate, has quit ABC television after 20 years.

The network announced Thursday Cosell, 65, will continue to work on ABC's Radio Network, where he began in 1953 with his show, "Speaking of Sports." He was named Broadcaster of the Year in 1974 by the International Radio and Television Society.

Roone Arledge, president of ABC News and Sports, said Cosell asked to forego his remaining 1988 contract commitments with ABC Sports. He had been scheduled to broadcast the Kentucky Derby, Preakness Stakes and Tournament of Champions Tennis Classic in 1988.

"We wish him nothing but success in his future endeavors," Arledge said.

Stenerud Announces Retirement

EDEN PRAIRIE, Minn. (UPI) — Jan Stenerud says he's known for the past few months that his career was over.

The Norwegian ski jumper who became one of pro football's greatest kickers announced Thursday he will retire after the Minnesota Vikings conclude their season Sunday against the Philadelphia Eagles.

Stenerud, 43, is the oldest player in the NFL. He has kicked a league-record 373 field goals during his 19-year career.

"I really enjoy what I'm doing," he said, adding he felt during mid-season he was not doing well. "I decided pretty much at that time this would be my last year."

Davis: Wilander Looks For Edge

MUNICH, West Germany (UPI) — Although Stefan Edberg will have to face Wimbledon champion Boris Becker and a partisan crowd by himself, Mats Wilander can give his teammate an emotional edge.

Sweden's Wilander, the world's No. 3 player, will take on West Germany's Michael Westphal, ranked near No. 50, in the first singles match of this weekend's Davis Cup Final.

'Fridge II' Cools Down For Gophers.

SHREVEPORT, La. (UPI) — Unless a bowl game happens to have national championship overtones, which the Independence Bowl does not, a majority of the interest usually focuses on individual players — those who might find themselves in the headlines in years to come.

That's where the Clemson Tigers' newest major appliance comes in.

Another Refrigerator is starting to cool down at Clemson these days and may have a noteworthy career ahead of him as long as he can stay out of the repair shop.

Sophomore defensive end Michael Dean Perry will be trying to put the chill on the opposition Saturday night in the Independence Bowl when Clemson takes on the Minnesota Golden Gophers.

Perry is the brother of William Perry, who earned the nickname Refrigerator while at Clemson because of his fond friendship with food as well as his bulk. The elder Perry has gone on to become one of the most well-publicized rookies in the history of the NFL.

The younger Perry, meanwhile, is not so much interested in publicity as he is simply playing football. He has had a hard time doing much of it this season.

But despite a problem with injuries and a shift from tackle to end, Perry has been the second-leading tackler on a team which put on a late-year rush to finish 6-5.

"The injury slowed me down, though," said Perry. "I lost my timing and I lost my endurance. It took me a while to get them back."

That injury was an ankle sprain, suffered before the opening game of the season. As a result he missed the first three games of the year and wound up playing in only six of the Tigers' 11 contests.

While Perry was struggling through the process of getting back in playing condition, his brother began lighting up the NFL — blocking for Walter Payton, running in for touchdowns and catching a touchdown pass.

Refrigerator II has had no such opportunities at Clemson.

"I don't think I'm quite ready to play fullback yet," said the younger Perry, who stands 6-1 and weighs 280. "I did play fullback a little in high school (in Aiken, S.C.), but I never carried the ball. I just blocked for people."

The original Refrigerator casts a big shadow under normal circumstances, but that shadow is even larger for a brother who is trying to emerge from it.

"Fans at Clemson look at me as William's brother and expect me to be as good or better," Perry said. "I feel like I have to be better than he was."

Perry has two more years to produce the kind of reputation his brother earned before going off to earn money and fame in the NFL, and he may be a little behind schedule.

The Independence Bowl could be just the place for Clemson's newest cooling machine to start the ice forming.

ROSS EYES REDEMPTION

PONTIAC, Mich. (UPI) — Maryland football coach Bobby Ross said the Cherry Bowl offers his Terrapins a chance for redemption.

The Terrapins, 8-3, meet the Syracuse Orangemen, 7-4, Saturday in the Pontiac Silverdome.

When Maryland last ventured to Michigan three months ago, the Terps lost 20-0 to the University of Michigan.

weeks to get right but the kids came out and played with a positive attitude tonight and I was really pleased with the way they played."

Auburndale ran off the first seven points of the game before Lake Howell woke up and pulled within three, 13-10, at the end of the first quarter.

With Kevin Lienard and Fred Hicks playing strong inside, the Silver Hawks evened the score at 20-20 midway through the second period. Auburndale then reeled off nine straight points, with Barber and Jay Taylor scoring four each, for a 29-20 lead with 1:19 left in the first half.

After Randy Keller hit a short jumper for Lake Howell to make it 29-22, John Beverage popped in two straight jumpers for a 33-22 Auburndale lead at the half.

Auburndale went on to take a 13-point lead, 44-31, late in the third quarter with a three-point play by Barber accounting for the last three points of the rally. The 'Hounds were up by 12, 48-36, going into the fourth quarter.

Auburndale then went to its spread offense early in the fourth quarter and that's when Lake Howell made its move. The Silver Hawks capitalized on a number of Auburndale turnovers out of the spread to pull within five points, 52-47, with 4:25 left to play.

Winston Turner hit a jumper to interrupt Lake Howell's comeback and give the 'Hounds a 54-47 lead but Lake Howell came back with four straight points. Lienard hit a short jumper on an assist from J. Lowe to cut it to five, 54-47. Hicks dropped in a layup, trimmed the margin to three, 54-51, with 3:33 left to play.

Behind Barber for Auburndale, David MacPhee hit 14 points and pulled down 10 rebounds while Turner added 13 points.

Hicks was high for Lake

Howell with 15 points and he also grabbed 11 boards. Lienard added 11 points and Lowe and Shane Johnson tossed in 10 apiece.

LIONS SHAKE LUTHER

Oviedo's Lions not only had to fight the flu Thursday but they went a few rounds with "Downtown" Darryl Reifford and the Luther Crusaders as well.

Reifford, a South Seminole Middle School and Inter-County Basketball Association graduate, was hitting from Highway 17-92 as he tickled the twin for a game-high 28 points.

Reifford's blazing shooting, along with an all-out hustling defense, enabled Luther to make what was expected to be a blowout close. Oviedo managed to shake off the flu bug enough to pull out a 52-45 victory.

The Lions came out strong as they built up an 18-9 lead after one quarter and led by as much as 13 in the second period. Luther got the lead down to nine, 33-24, at halftime.

Geoffrey Won's three-point play got the Crusaders off to a quick start in the second half and three consecutive jumpers by Reifford cut the Oviedo lead to four, 37-33, with four minutes left in the third quarter. Luther stayed within six, 41-35, going into the final period.

Oviedo opened the fourth quarter with four straight points by Robb Hughes for a 45-35 lead. The pesky Crusaders kept battling though and were within six with two minutes to play but Oviedo hung in and pulled away in the closing seconds.

Allen Unroe's 17 points and seven rebounds led the way for the Lions while Hughes added 12 and Cary Justice eight. Both Unroe and Hughes have had bouts with the flu this week.

COCOA HAMMERS WYMORE

Cocoa High ran up a 45-26 halftime lead and never looked back en route to a 86-53 rout of Wymore Education Center Thursday night.

Wilson Smokes had the hot hand for Cocoa as he poured in a game-high 18 points while Ray Holder added 12 and Troy Davis 10. Eleven players hit the scoring column for Cocoa.

Jeff Sims' 12 points were high for Wymore while Jeffrey Gaines tossed in 10.

Developing Muscles Is Easier Than Hair

DEAR DR. GOTT — I am a 30-year-old man. My father and grandfather both have very hairy chests, but mine is completely hairless. Several of the girls I have dated have ridiculed me for this. I have been told that there are hair-growing remedies around to help this condition. Can you give me some information on this?

DEAR READER — I'm sure you have noticed a wide variety of hair patterns in other men. If not, an afternoon on the beach or at the gym may convince you (and the women you mention) that "masculine" men do not always sport an abundance of chest hair. In fact, bodybuilders often shave their body hair (chest included) in order to achieve the appearance of better muscle definition.

I do not know of any legitimate product to promote the growth of chest hair. In my experience, women are usually more interested in what's under the skin than what grows on it. Rather than fret about being smooth-chested, why not embark on an exercise program to develop your torso? Then you could turn an apparent disadvantage into an asset.

A final note of optimism: Have you ever noticed that men with thick body hair often grow bald prematurely? Be happy knowing you'll probably have a full head of hair long after your hairy-chested colleagues have turned wispy and balding.

DEAR DR. GOTT — My daughter is 12 and she has stretch marks all over her buttocks and legs. She has never been fat. She begs me to have them removed. She is really having an emotional problem with this and I am very concerned about her mental attitude and condition. Can you give me any advice?

DEAR READER — Although stretch marks (stria) usually result from rapid weight accumulation and growth, some people seem to develop stria as a normal consequence of development. If your daughter is truly concerned, have a board-certified plastic surgeon examine her to see if she is a candidate for cosmetic surgery.

DEAR DR. GOTT — Lower G.I. and blood tests only revealed that I have lactose intolerance, but everything I consume turns to liquid. Seventy-percent lactose-reduced milk seems to react faster than regular milk, and I am considering becoming a vegetarian. Is it safe for me to consume lactose-reduced milk daily or do you think I should get a second opinion?

DEAR READER — Your lactose intolerance should be markedly improved by the use of the predigested milk Lactaid.

WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby

It's always a bit exciting to describe a deal where a slam makes with meager high-card strength in the combined hands. Today we see a slam easily making with 11 high-card points facing only 13, and three of the 13 — the club king — are not needed.

Some may take exception to the cue-bid of four spades by North. After all, there may be hands where even five hearts might be in jeopardy. However, North expected his opponents to sacrifice at four spades since they were not vulnerable. Since he intended to bid five hearts if that happened, it seemed right to let his partner know he had first-round control of spades and slam interest.

East kept his finger in the pie by bidding five spades, but South was not deterred. Bolstered by the diamond strength he had not really shown, he carried on to six hearts. There might have been a problem if either defender was void of hearts, but such was not the case. The surprise on this deal was that West did not bid six spades. Against perfect defense, he would have given up 900, but that would have been a good bit better than the 1430 that North-South scored.

HOROSCOPE

What The Day Will Bring...

YOUR BIRTHDAY

DECEMBER 21, 1985

In the year ahead, you will be instrumental in organizing an interesting enterprise. It will be something grander in scale than you've dealt with previously.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) It will take the edge off of your good time today if you neglect your duties. Get responsibility out of the way early, then go have a ball. Know where to look for romance and you'll find it. The Astro-Graph Matchmaker set instantly reveals which signs are romantically perfect for you. Mail $2 to Matchmaker, c/o this newspaper, Box 1846, Cincinnati, OH 45201.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) If anyone is entitled to have a good time today, it's you. But don't take this as your cue to overindulge. Know when to call it a night.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19)

Today you might feel compelled to make some improvements around the house, but don't undertake a major renovation. You could lose interest before it's completed.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) In friendly conversations with pals today, try not to introduce volatile topics. Religion or politics could lead to heated debates.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) You'll be reasonably good at managing your personal affairs today, but you might not be as adept at handling things for others. Be careful about your involvements.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Confidential family matters should not be discussed in front of outsiders today by either you or your mate. Talk only when others aren't present.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Profitable results are possible today, but you must handle business matters with extreme care. Don't demand too much or give away more than is necessary.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) At a social gathering with friends today, don't try to be the center of attention. You'll be more effective if you're a bit laid back.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) It will be a mistake if you take things for granted today where an important issue is at stake. Indifference could cost you victory.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Weigh your every word before speaking today. Unless you are on guard, you might unintentionally blurt out something others will find offensive.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) It's best today that you make do with what you have and not borrow anything from others, especially money. Hard feelings could result if you don't repay promptly.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Show your mate the same consideration and attention you show friends today. If he or she feels neglected it could lead to harsh words.

Protection Needed To Keep Florida 'Land Of Flowers'

Most of us know that the Bald Eagle, the Manatee, and many other endangered or threatened animals in our state are protected by law. But, are you aware that many of our native plants are protected, too? Yes, Florida has a Plant Protection Law. And with growing popularity of native plants in landscapes perhaps this is a good time to review this legislation.

Florida's Plant Protection Law prohibits destroying, injuring, harvesting, collecting, picking, or otherwise removing any threatened or endangered plant from private or public grounds, without first obtaining written permission from the landowner or custodian. And in some instances, permission is required from the Endangered Plant Advisory Council, as well.

The Law makes it illegal to transport on public roads, or offer for sale, any plants collected without written permission from the appropriate sources. That's the law, as it is stated.

You may be wondering what constitutes an "endangered" or "threatened" plant, and what the difference is between the two.

The "threatened" plants are of a more general nature, covering entire plant species—those which are in some danger of disappearing from their native environments within the foreseeable future. "Endangered" plants are of a more critical nature—specific plants that are very rare, of limited distribution, or in imminent danger of becoming extinct in the wilds.

A few examples of some threatened plants that you may recognize include all species of the Bromeliad family, except Spanish moss and ball moss, all native cacti, orchids, ferns, palms, and rhododendrons. Some endangered plants are the wild pine bromeliad, the tree cactus, the dollar orchid, the narrow swamp fern, the Florida royal palm, and the Ashe magnolia. Of course, there are many more than those listed. The wisest policy is, if in doubt, get written permission before removing any plant materials.

Before we go any further, we need to mention that certain groups are exempt from the restrictions and penalties of the law. The Seminole Indians are not affected by the legislation.

Alfred Bosseson
Urban Horticulturist
323-2500
Ext. 181

And, licensed, certified nurserymen are allowed to sell plants listed "threatened" or "endangered" provided they grow the plants from seed, or propagate them vegetatively.

Persons involved in logging and utility operations are not in violation of the law, either, if they need to remove, trim, or transport any threatened or endangered species as an incidental part of their job, or to maintain a public service utility. Unfortunately, the rest of us are subject to the restrictions and provisions of the legislation.

To make sure people adhere to this legislation, the law provides for plant inspectors to make regular checks of nurseries, flea markets, roadside stands, and public grounds. If a protected plant suddenly appears at a nursery in a mature stage, showing several years growth, the inspectors are allowed to request proof of how and where the plant was obtained.

Agents of the Division of Plant Industry of the Florida Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services are allowed to enter areas where harvesting or storing of protected plants is taking place, and to inspect vehicles which may be transporting the plants. If they find plants taken in violation of the law, the inspectors will confiscate the plants, and the violators will be subject to penalties.

When it comes to highway construction, the law states that the Department of Transportation will work with the Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services, along with the Endangered Plant Advisory Council, to preserve plants that may be affected by any construction projects.

The Endangered Plant Advisory Council, as provided by the law, encourages the propagation of endangered or depleted plant species, and provides control or restriction on the harvesting of native plants. Permits are granted based on the following considerations: environmental damage, natural regeneration of the plants and their function in providing protection against erosion or fire hazards. The Council also adds new plants to the protection list. Plants eligible for protection must be in present or threatened danger of disappearing, or being overused by commercial, scientific, or educational institutions.

What all this means is that we can't pick, dig, or remove any protected plants without written permission from the landowner or custodian of public grounds.

And, if you enjoy foraging for wild plants, you cannot settle for a verbal agreement. Make sure you get written permission before removing any protected plants.

If you question the need for such stiff plant protection legislation, it's because many beautiful plants are rapidly disappearing from our state. The law intends that Florida, in the spirit of its Spanish name, continues to be "the land of flowers." Happy Gardening!

Checkout Policy Poses Relative Problem

DEAR ABBY: This letter seeks your advice about a problem that is probably familiar to many of your readers. The supermarket where I am employed has a policy that forbids customers from purchasing items that will be rung up at the register operated by a relative.

My mother-in-law thinks this policy is an insult and refuses to shop here even though she has shopped here exclusively for years. (She has to go out of her way to shop elsewhere.)

Dear Abby

I am not the only member of the family working here — there are three of us! We have tried to tell "Mom" that this is a common practice among retail stores and is not meant as an insult to its employees or their relatives.

We employees think our relatives should patronize this store, as it helps the volume of sales.

We would appreciate your views as well as those of your readers.

CASHIER, NIAGARA COUNTY, N.Y.
DEAR CASHIER: The policy that prevails at your place of employment was established for a valid reason. Everyone involved — employees and their relatives — should realize this, and accept it without feeling offended or resentful.

DEAR ABBY: Now I have heard everything! Please tell that Smith College graduate that she may have learned something about art at Smith, but eat a banana with a teaspoon? My hat!

When I went to Smith, I ate bananas the only way that made any sense — I held the banana in one hand, peeled it and ate it. Never mind the plate, fruit knife or spoon.

Supreme Court Upholds Line Item Veto Power By Graham

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — House and Senate leaders will find it harder to reward their supporters with legislative "turkeys" because of a Supreme Court ruling backing Gov. Bob Graham's right to veto individual items in a $232 million school construction bill.

The court ruled 4-2 that the fact that the 1985 Legislature passed the Public Education Capital Outlay, or PECO, bill, separately from its main budget bill does not matter: if a bill's chief aim is to spend state money, it is a "general appropriations" bill. And the constitution gives governors the authority to line-item veto general appropriations bills.

House Speaker James Harold Thompson challenged Graham's June vetoes of PECO items worth $5.8 million. He did so as a private taxpayer after Senate President Harry Johnston declined to join him, and after Graham charged Thompson lacked the authority to challenge the vetoes as house speaker.

PECO projects generally are warmly received in lawmakers' home districts and are a reflection of lawmakers' clout. In Capitol Hill parlance, such goodies are known as "turkeys."

Batch Air Says "Blameless"

MIAMI (UPI) — A spokesman for Batch Air, which maintains Arrow Air's planes, says the company is blameless for a Colombian plane crash in 1983 that has made it one of the defendants in about 30 lawsuits.

Batch Air, a subsidiary of Arrow Air, was accused of negligence in maintaining and servicing a TAMPA Boeing 707 and for allowing it to take off with a faulty engine.

An attorney for Batch Air denied the allegations. Batch Air does maintenance on many of Arrow Air's planes, but Arrow Air spokesman Robin Matell refused to say whether Batch did the maintenance on the Arrow Air military charter flight that crashed in Newfoundland last Dec. 12, killing all 256 people aboard.

The TAMPA (Transportes Aereos Mercantiles Pan Americanos) jet crashed on take off at Medellin, Colombia on Dec. 14, 1983, killing the plane's crew and about 40 people on the ground. The plane was headed to Miami, allegedly for engine repairs.

The lawsuits filed by relatives of the victims also named Colombian-owned TAMPA, Boeing Co., and Pratt & Whitney, the maker of the plane's engines.

Fugitive Arrested In Hospital

FORT PIERCE (UPI) — A fugitive in a $6.5 million oil fraud has been arrested in his hospital bed, where he is recovering from what police believe is a self-inflicted gunshot wound to the head, the FBI says.

Richard Mason, 55, was arraigned Thursday at Longwood Memorial Center in Fort Pierce by U.S. Magistrate J. Michael Brennan and ordered held without bond. He was listed in serious condition, a hospital spokeswoman said.

"Mason and his deceased wife, Eleanor Duse Mason, were named in a 722-count indictment returned in South Illinois Nov. 22 which charged them with mail fraud, wire fraud and securities violations," said Joseph Corless, special agent in charge of the Miami FBI district.

The Masons were charged in the suppressed 150-page indictment handed up by a grand jury in East St. Louis, Mo., which was made public Nov. 26, involving a string of petroleum companies. The firms had solicited $6.5 million from 300 investors primarily in Wisconsin, Michigan, California and Utah.

Soldier Home For The Holidays

FORT CAMPBELL, Ky. (UPI) — A Lake City, Fla., soldier, who was supposed to have been aboard the Christmas flight that crashed in Newfoundland, will return home from Kentucky with his family this weekend.

Pfc. Eric Harrington was reunited with his mother, father, wife and 2-year-old son early Thursday when he arrived with a planeload of soldiers after a six-month tour of duty on the Sinai Peninsula as part of an international peace-keeping force.

He was supposed to have arrived home last week with other members of the Army's 101st Airborne Division, but missed the plane that eventually crashed after losing his passport at the Cairo, Egypt airport.

"I've never been so glad to miss a flight in my life," Harrington said, as he hugged and kissed his family. "I just wish all my buddies on that (crashed) plane could have been as lucky as I have been. There will be no happiness for their families' holidays. Too many good people went down with that plane."

Reagan recently ordered polygraph tests for officials with access to national security information in order to cut down on leaks and espionage.

The directive, which was revealed after a flurry of spy arrests, has been portrayed as a tool to protect national secrets from foreign powers, but the administration has in the past considered similar measures to halt news leaks.

The American Foreign Service Association, which represents U.S. diplomats in their dealings with the department, denounced the lie detector tests, saying, "The careers of public servants should not depend on the results of a machine that classifies one-third of all honest people as liars, but fails to reliably detect real liars."

Shultz made the same point when asked about the tests at a briefing that was supposed to be limited to U.S. policy on South Africa:

"Personally, I have grave reservations about so-called lie detector tests. ... From what I've seen, it's hardly a scientific instrument.

Under a separate program authorized by Congress, the Defense Department is performing polygraph tests on its employees to deter and detect espionage.

authority develop a policy to govern the access it allows to organizations. It was agreed that Executive Director Elliott Smith will contact other housing authorities to ascertain the limitations they impose when allowing private agencies to utilize housing property.

Julian said after the suit was filed, he tried to obtain this type of policy information from the state Department of Housing and Urban Development. The attorney said although HUD told him there are no set rules to address access, HUD chief assistant Verlon Shannon did respond to Sanford's situation in a letter. It states in part, "There is no reasonable basis for exclusion (of the CFLS clinics)," and the board "should be encouraged to reverse its position."

In making his motion, Frazier said, "I guess we really don't have a choice in light of what's going on. It will be a way for us to help the sick and elderly."

Commissioner Alexander Wynn III said he was "still not in favor" of the clinics "but I would hate to see other organizations put out because of we didn't allow the clinics in."

"At first I was ambivalent about the clinics," Commissioner Velma Williams said. "But then as things started happening I started to get negative feelings about them."

Although they reversed a decision which had barred the clinics, commissioners said Thursday night there had never been a formal vote to allow the service in the first place.

Wynn said he was unaware the clinics would be held until a week before he made his Oct. 24 motion to discontinue them. On Oct. 17, he received a report from Smith that said the clinics would be offered on alternating weeks at Redding Gardens and Castle Brewer Court.

During the commissions' Aug. 15 meeting, CFLS attorney Bruce Scott proposed the clinics to the commissioners. However, Thursday night, Smith said the minutes of the August meeting had been erroneously transcribed to reflect that the commission had formally adopted the proposal. Wynn said although Scott approached the board that night, "We never voted to allow them to come in."

He said once he saw Smith's memo on Oct. 17, "I made the motion asking that they be discontinued until we finished working on the audit (which had been received earlier in the fall). I also left the door open for them to come back when we were done."

"For some reason they had such a pressing need to have the clinics and so they started all this," Wynn said. "I would have had no problem dealing with it (continuation of the clinics) once we finished what we want to do."

British Doctor Says AIDS May Be Germ Warfare Product

LONDON (UPI) — A respected but sometimes controversial British expert on sexually transmitted diseases has speculated the AIDS virus may be the product of a germ warfare laboratory but U.S. and British experts are skeptical.

Dr. John Seale said Thursday the deadly visna virus found in sheep had a structure remarkably similar to the AIDS virus and caused a similar disease. The visna virus can be grown easily and scientists have known about it since 1949.

"The potential of visna virus for development as a strategic weapon in biological warfare would have been considered by several appropriate research establishments since 1949," Seale said in a brief report prepared for the New Zealand AIDS Foundation.

His central thesis is that the the worst critics of the housing authority. Wynn said, "Everytime we turn around it's you talking about Mr. Smith's vision, not the audit's overall findings."

McClanahan said the audit results had been favorable. "In a relative way, when they're compared to the poor results we've had in the past. We've still got a long way to go."

"We'll have a longer way to go unless you get your act together," Wynn said.

When asked what he was referring to, Wynn said McClanahan had placed "too much focus on Smith's eye problem" and "sold us short by not concentrating on the entire audit and the efforts we were taking to address it."

McClanahan appointed Wynn and Ms. Williams to a committee in October to work with Smith in reviewing organizational and staff policies. Wynn said the committee's efforts were "directly related" to the audit's findings, although McClanahan "chose to push us into the background and only talk about the general findings (which address Smith's sight impediment)."

On Thursday night Wynn and Ms. Williams presented the preliminary results of their study to the commission. The document addresses staff salary, attendance and personnel reviews and the authority's rent and lease guidelines. It is five times the size of the authority's present guideline booklet.

McClanahan said he did not "see a relationship" between what the committee did and his call for the board to address Smith's sight impediment.

"It was proper we discuss our executive director's problem as a commission, not through a committee," he said.

Regarding Smith's sight impediment, Wynn said "I haven't found any proof he's hurting us. By looking at the last audit, I think he's helped us."

"We had executive directors with 20-20 vision who weren't able to get us audit results as good as this year's," Wynn said. "If Smith's partial vision is affecting us, I need proof, not accusations."

Smith acknowledged he's had to make "adjustments" to accommodate his sight impediment, although he also pointed to the authority's solvency as proof his abilities are not hampered.

"If a review is done," Smith said, "It should be objective and contain proof instead of accusations."

"We've given Elliott a vote of confidence tonight, but we also need to have confidence in you, Mr. McClanahan," Ms. Williams said.

"From what's happened here tonight," she said, "It's pretty obvious where things stand right now."

Christmas Decorations Egg Her On

By Susan Loden
Herald Staff Writer

The egg and Mrs. Howell. One look at Gwen Howell's Christmas tree tells the tale. She's hung up on eggs, which are hanging all over the tree decked out in her Winter Springs home.

These former yoke-bearers didn't go straight from the carton to the tree. In fact chicken eggs, with their thin shells, just aren't usually treasured by Mrs. Howell, who for 11 years has transformed the spherical shells of the lowly eggs of ducks, geese, quail and the ostrich in the tradition of Fabrege.

At the time Mrs. Howell first became an egghead she had never heard of the artistic Fabrege, whose jewel-adorned eggs were a favorite on the gift list of Nicholas II the last czar of Russia, who regularly commissioned their creation until his death in the Russian Revolution.

But after delving into the craft, which she said, apparently draws little interest in Seminole County, this former resident of Rochester, N.Y., said she now hopes to one day see one of Fabrege's fabled, fabulous eggs, some of which are displayed in museums.

Old Black and White Movies Now In Color

By Dick Kleiner

HOLLYWOOD — Charlie Powell can't wait to get his hands on thousands of old movies. When he does, he is going to turn them from black and white to glorious computer-generated color.

Powell and his partner, Buddy Young, and an inventor named Ralph Wienger have a company called Color Systems Technology. They have this system that colors old movies. Already the job they did on "Miracle on 34th Street" is history. It was seen, in its new colored glory, on TV in November.

What happens is that somebody human colors the first frame of each scene in a picture, and the last frame. Powell calls them "a starting frame and an out frame." Then the computer colors every frame in between.

Using these tactics, they can color 10 minutes of film per day, Powell says, and they are getting better and faster all the time. But that doesn't take into account the time they spend on research, before they plug their computers in.

"For example," Powell says, "if Greta Garbo says, 'Bring me my blue gown,' we'd better have that gown be blue. So we have to break every scene down.

And we go back and try to find out the real colors that were used. On 'Miracle,' for the Santa Claus suit that Edmund Gwenn wore, we had people go to Macy's in New York and get the actual color red of their Santa suits."

There are thousands of black-and-white movies waiting to be colored, he says. He's "dying to color 'Casablanca,'" he says, and he may or may not have intended the pun.

Some purists object to mucking around with classics. But Powell contends these pictures would have been made in color in the first place, if they could have been, but in the early years of the Technicolor process only a few pictures a year were permitted to be shot in color by that company.

Joel Grey Veteran Actor

Joel Grey has been around awhile, and everybody knows he is a fine actor. But he hasn't ever had as much fun acting as he had playing Chiun, a 75-year-old Korean wizard, in "Remo Williams: The Adventure Begins."

That is because the part was the kind he dreamed about when he first was entranced by acting, as a small boy back in Cleveland.

"This is the part I think I always wanted to do," Grey says, "ever since I was a 10-year-old boy. I can remember being fascinated by illusion and magic back then.

"I was working at the Cleveland Playhouse and somebody gave me a fishing tackle box all decorated with the comedy and tragedy masks, and with my name on it and the number of my dressing room. And it was filled with crepe hair and spirit gum and nose putty and all those wild makeup ingredients.

"When other kids were outside playing ball, I was making myself into King Lear."

And to play Chiun, he and the makeup department labored four hours a day, transforming Grey's youthful face into the wizened elderly Oriental gentleman who has such a major role in the adventures of Remo Williams (Fred Ward).

The picture has had mixed reviews, but Grey received straight-arrow raves for his performance as Chiun. And he is prepared to play the character again, if a sequel materializes. He thinks it will.

"The picture comes from the company that did the Bond movies," he says. "They have been looking for something else in the same vein. And there were 60 or so books in the Remo Williams series, so I know they are hoping for a sequel. My guess is that it has good chance."

And he says he would like that to happen. He says he thinks it is good for an actor to play the same character several times. And yet he would not particularly like to do a TV series.

Mrs. Howell has come up with some pretty fancy creations herself, which would never be recognized by a member of the feathered force from which they sprang.

In fact the first egg Mrs. Howell decorated, under the tutelage of a Rochester egg-sperit, is covered with quail feathers. Perhaps an ironic fate for a duck egg, which opens to reveal a woody setting created by Mrs. Howell from moss and tiny bits of dried foliage along with a pheasant she made of dough and hand painted.

That egg was just the beginning of the shell-filled side of Mrs. Howell's life. At first she mimicked the designs of her teacher, but soon started adding a personal touch, which expanded into full-blown egg-perimentation on her part.

In pushing her craft to the limit, Mrs. Howell, who said egg shells aren't as fragile as you might think, developed an open, floral designed egg, testing to see how much of the shell she could cut away before the egg gave way. It never yielded and that creation, in pink and gold blooms on in her cased collection.

Other fascinating ovals in her secure showcase are a prized ostrich egg, larger than all others, which holds miniature figures of an ancient Chinese emperor and empress; an oblong-shaped world globe; and ever-blooming silk rose revealed when hinged sections of its eggshell are opened; and many other mixed designs of various themes.

All are creations of eggshell, paint, glitter, hobblist's findings, glue, fabric and tiny figurines and forms, mixed with imagination.

It can take many months for Mrs. Howell to come up with an idea for a special egg, she said.

Once the idea is there any designs to be cut into the shell itself are sketched on, and then cut out with a tiny hobblist's cutter. Although the shells may be painted, for the most part they remain in a natural state, with no type of special preservative added.

Hinges may be added, if the egg is going to be an open-and-close case for an inside scene.

Whether painting or gluing is required it's all painstaking work, which can add up to many hours. Mrs. Howell, who had no artistic experience before hitting on her egg-ant hobby, said she works in short sessions, but may have several eggs in the works at the same time and some of the more elaborate designs may take months to complete.

She's lost count of the eggs she's altered over the years. The 100 or so on her Christmas tree are but a sample and are a bit more simplistic than her major works, which she often creates as gifts.

Egg work is exacting and tedious. And although it really isn't all that complex, Mrs. Howell said, an egg fancier would be hard pressed to find a teacher of the craft in Seminole County. She added, there are some tricks of the trade that you just can't pick up in books on the craft.

Mrs. Howell, a former clerk, said her only effort at teaching her hobby was for a class of hyperactive youngsters in New York. Out of a group of 30, only one shattered his egg, she said. But despite that success Mrs. Howell said she's more interested in creating rather than in teaching her craft.

She added that the cost of the hobby, like most, can add up. Egg shells, which can be ordered from supply houses, start at $2.50 each and then all of the bits and pieces that go into a creation, the paint, findings and figures can add up to a minimum investment in a single egg which along with the time invested would give it a bottom-line final retail value of about $30, she said.

A word of caution. Involvement with eggshells may bring a flood of eggs into your diet. Mrs. Howell, who when she first began working with eggs was collecting her raw material from farmers, said: "We ate so many eggs, we started looking like eggs."

She added there is no difference between the flavor of goose eggs and chicken eggs, but a dozen goose eggs will yield about a gallon of contents.

Anyone for eggnog?

In a series of movies," Grey says, "gives me flexibility. You are not tied down the way you are on a TV series."

"I had a Chinese fortune cookie a few weeks ago, and the fortune read, 'Many of your ideals are being realized.' And it seems to be happening. I have always wanted the ability to move in and out of the different media and continue to grow and take career chances and do things that were hard and have them occasionally work."

He took a chance recently in a New York play called "The Normal Heart." At the beginning of the play, he had to take his clothes off, as a doctor examined him for AIDS.

"Everything was off except my skivvies," Grey says. "There was no hiding place. It was very difficult for me at first."

Since "Cabaret," which brought him to the world's attention, he has been in demand.

"After I made 'Cabaret,'" he says, "I was extremely choosy about what movies I accepted. I think, if I'd wanted to, I could have gone an entirely different route — I could have done four or five big movies right then and become a Hollywood staple of sorts."

"But that would have meant doing projects I really didn't believe in, or that weren't really very interesting."

He has done some things, either for the money or because he was persuaded to do them, which he now regrets. Mostly, those things have been television roles. And he could do a lot more of these TV guest-starring roles.

He says that many of his friends and advisers ask him why he doesn't do more of them, and his answer is a simple, "Because I really don't enjoy them." So he continues to be choosy, doing only those parts he find intriguing. Like Chiun in "Remo Williams." That was what he has been waiting for since he was 10.

"Love Connection" Short Circuits Other Dating Shows

By Vernon Scott

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Among the estimated 60 million single adults in the United States one of the great traumas is the time-honored blind date, so what better forum to exploit these terrors than TV?

"Love Connection" has been doing just that in syndication for the past three years with top daytime ratings.

Hosted by veteran daytime TV emcee Chuck Woolery, the daily show examines the actions of men and women during real-life blind dates arranged by the producers.

It works like this: producer Eric Lieber has a list of some 6,000 single men and women willing to participate. Every day two unattached parties appear on the show and select a date from three video-taped interviews from among the 6,000.

The three prospects are chosen by age and physical and personality types deemed best suited for the person seeking the date. The dater (picker) is given $75 by the producers to show the datee (the picked) a good time.

The couple range in age from their 20s to 80s and do not appear on "Love Connection" until after their dates. The dater (male or female) is seen on camera with Woolery. The datee is seen by an off-stage camera for comments and reactions to Woolery's questioning.

Frequently the results are hilarious. Some, like many blind dates, are dull. A few are vitriolic.

Unlike the long-running "The Dating Game," "Love Connection" doesn't get its laughs through the device of having a man or woman select a date. These participants tell the studio audience and viewers what happened on the date.

"It's one of the best studies of human nature on TV," said Woolery, who also hosts NBC-TV's daily "Scrabble" game show.

"Most people never learn what their blind dates think of them. On this show they find out, a lot of times with some very blunt observations.

"Every date has two sides. Sometimes the man and woman aren't compatible, sometimes they are. Once in a while I feel like a man in the middle of a war zone. They blast each other on their manners, clothes, finances, automobiles and attitudes.

"What breaks me up is the honesty that most of them display. It's about a fifty-fifty breakdown. Half the couples loved their date and half couldn't stand each other. And a few of them are indifferent."

After more than 800 blind dates, two marriages and one engagement have bloomed as a result of "Love Connection" dates. Woolery says to his knowledge none of the couples has come to blows.

He was stunned earlier this year when a man proposed to his date on the air and whipped out his grandmother's engagement ring to seal the bargain. Fortunately for him, she accepted.

Then again, there are the poor souls — both male and female — who say they would like to go out a second time, only to have the other half of the date beg off with a groan.

One of Woolery's most embarrassing moments occurred when the male half of a date informed the audience, "I've been around. I'm a sophisticated man."

Blonde Bombshells Flood Tinsel Town

By Vernon Scott
UPI Hollywood Reporter
HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — If there's one thing Hollywood has in abundance it is abundant blonde actresses.

ers who identify her as Sonny, which both pleases and annoys her.
"It was a show before its time," Dixon said the other day. "But I wouldn't say Sonny was a dumb blonde. She was naive."

Dixon is neither. She is a smart cookie who, at 27, is trying to build a career after being something of an acting dilettante before her marriage to Aykroyd three years ago.

"I didn't take my career seriously," said the beautiful, statuesque Dixon. "I was learning my craft on 'Bosom Buddies' while I earned a salary. I really needed to study acting and take part in workshops to learn technique."

"After I met Danny in 'Dr. Detroit,' I took a year off to provide a foundation for my marriage and home life before going back to work. During that time I really worked at self-improvement. I went to plays, studied and took risks and learned about myself."

"When I decided to go back to acting I knew I'd have to work harder than anyone else because I started relatively late."

Dixon swings back into action in "Spies Like Us," playing, as they say, a pivotal role with her husband and Chevy Chase who portray a couple of wacko undercover agents in the sandy wastes of North Africa and the frozen steppes of Scandinavia.

Because Dixon is clearly the picture's most visual asset, it has been her task to publicize the comedy.

She goes a little overboard on the hard sell: "This is the best comedy you'll ever see. It's beautiful too. It cost $23 million and took five months to produce. Everybody should rush right out to see it."

So much for subtlety. Dixon, an ex-model, believes her beauty has been more hindrance than help in her brief career, which included a co-starring role in the short-lived TV series, "Berengera."

"I play Dr. Karen Boyer in 'Spies Like Us,'" she said. "She's strong, intelligent and dedicated and just happens to be beautiful."

And, like Marilyn Monroe, each and every one wants to be taken seriously as an actress, all the while displaying radiant smiles and as much epidermis as the law allows.

The strange hybrid of sex appeal and intellect can be confusing, especially when the young women in question attempt to offset one with the other.

They seem unwilling to dress demurely enough to conceal their curves or diminish interest in their charms. Nor do they eschew theatrical eye makeup and wet-look lipstick. Compensating with glasses perched on turned-up noses does little to suggest intellectual profundity.

Moreover, this large sorority of 18- to 30-year-olds feels the necessity to discuss Proust or Plato to prove their mental processes are as fully developed as their obvious physical assets.

While it is patently unfair to assume that all young blonde actresses are numskulls, it is also unrealistic to suppose that beneath each set of golden tresses lies a potential Rhodes Scholar.

This dichotomy of brains and beauty coalesced into stunning careers in years past for Jean Harlow, Carole Lombard, Monroe and a few others.

But thanks to the T-and-A mentality of today's TV producers, pleasingly proportioned young blondes are exploited as sex objects. Some exploitees are happy with their lot. Others are not.

One such is Donna Dixon, wife of comedy actor Dan Aykroyd, who is best known for her role in "Bosom Buddies" — (get the double entendre, there, pal?) — which ran from 1980-84. Dixon played Sonny Lumet, a thoroughgoing sexpot.

Although she was in the series only a single season, the show has become something of a cult attraction and still plays in endless reruns. Dixon is frequently stopped by strang-

"There have been some embarrassing moments. One couple in their 50s spent their date at a spa taking mud baths and then at a motel. We assumed they dated several times after that."

"The nice thing about the audience collapsed with big bone of contention is brought together on our kissing on the first date. Some are for it, some against. Some are for it, some against."

Johnny Carson Began As A Radio Announcer

Dear Dick — Johnny Carson has been a prominent TV figure for a long time. How old is he, and has he ever done anything besides the Carson show? — Unsigned, Houston.

You don't imagine he started his career hosting that show, do you? He put in many years before he got his present job, like most show business stars. Carson turned 60 in October. He didn't become host of "The Tonight Show" on NBC-TV until Oct. 1, 1962. He started after World War II as a radio announcer in Nebraska. Then he had a local show in Los Angeles when TV was in its infancy. Carson also attracted attention as a comedy writer — he wrote for Red Skelton. Then he hosted a string of TV game shows and summer replacements before replacing Jack Paar on "The Tonight Show."

Dear Dick — I am a big fan of Robert Conrad. Besides "The Black Sheep Squadron" and "The Wild, Wild West," what was the series he played opposite a black man with a metal hand? Also, what is he doing now? — J.L.S., Westover, W. Va.

The show you remember is "A Man Called Sloane." Conrad, one of TV's favorite leading men, is putting together another show for ABC —

Ask Dick Kleiner

"Charlie Hannah" could be on as soon as this spring, but more probably next fall.

Dear Dick — I would like to know what has become of Tom Laughlin, the star of "Billy Jack." It seems I haven't heard much about him since the last episode. — D.P., Midway, Texas.

He has been conspicuously missing from the public eye, hasn't he? But that is changing. Laughlin is, even as we communicate, filming "The Return of Billy Jack."

Dear Dick — The show "Happy Days" went off the air in 1984. I would like to know why did it go off, and will it ever return? — T.H., Knoxville, Tenn.

It had had a long and honorable run, and the ratings were sliding, so everybody agreed it was time to call it quits. It will not return. But the old episodes are being shown constantly in syndicated reruns, so you'll have plenty of chances to see it again.

Dear Dick — Did Mike Duffy, who played Bobby on "Dallas," ever live in Washington State? I heard he attended a high school in Everett. Years ago, I taught a Mike Duffy at a Lake Stevens grade school. Could this be the same Mike Duffy? — M.N., Sanger, Calif.

Possibly, except the Duffy of "Dallas" is Patrick, not Mike. But Patrick Duffy, who was born in Montana, did move to Everett, Wash., when he was 12, and he went to Cascade High School.

Dear Dick — I went to elementary school with a George Wendt in Hauppauge, New York, who moved at an early age to Chicago. Could you tell me if this is the same George Wendt that appears on "Cheers"? — J.M., Knoxville, Tenn.

No. The Chicago part is right, but our George Wendt was born and raised in Chicago.

Priest Characters Move Into Prime-Time Series

By Vernon Scott
UPI Hollywood Reporter

HOLLYWOOD — The Roman Catholic priest as scrappy hero and as "clergyman with feet of clay" currently are seen in two prime-time series. "Hell Town" and "Falcon Crest."

For some reason, probably their vows of poverty and chastity, Catholic priests and nuns are fascinating characters, both for performers and audiences.

The clergy have an aura, a titillating factor of unattainability, that appeals to both sexes. This, combined with an often saintly image, makes for provocative drama.

Spencer Tracy was effective as a priest in "Boys' Town." Bing Crosby succeeded mightily in "Going My Way," as did Barry Fitzgerald as the crusty old priest in the same film. Pat O'Brien played so many priests he looked undressed without a Roman collar.

Gregory Peck probably set an all-time high for priestly sex appeal in "The Keys of the Kingdom" back in 1944.

However, Dick Van Dyke, playing a priest involved in murder in "The Runner Stumbles" (1957) met with failure. Jack Lemmon didn't do so well either as a priest in last year's "Mass Appeal."

For the most part, actresses playing nuns have fared as well or better than actors portraying priests. Notable screen nuns include Ingrid Bergman in "The Bells of Saint Mary's," Jennifer Jones in "The Song of Bernadette" and Audrey Hepburn in "The Nun's Story."
