"Always Goodbye" Is Dramatic Story Of Mother-Love

Beauty is the immediate and all-inclusive definition for "Always Goodbye," one of the finest in the chain of excellent 20th Century-Fox productions. Seldom does a story come to the attention of the fans with as much understanding and fine sense of the value of dramatic minutiae.

In the capable hands of co-stars Barbara Stanwyck and Herbert Marshall and under the fine touch of Sidney Lanfield's direction, "Always Goodbye" acquires the beauty of sheer simplicity in a story that on several occasions—conductive to a lump in the throat.

Setting a beautiful tale of modern mother love before a kaffioscopic background of occasional grimness, sporadic sorrow and vivacious, resplendent gowns on Fifth Avenue and in Paris, the film scintillates with the many facets of love that comes to its characters.

Barbara Stanwyck, in love, waits for her eager young man who is speeding to City Hall to marry her. He is killed as his car crashes into a trolley. Stunned at the tragedy, she wanders toward the river where Herbert Marshall, a derelict physician, talks her out of a suicide attempt. She faints and the physician sees that she is taken to a hospital... where her son is born.

Marshall's sincere love for the brave girl; her love for her child (Johnnie Russell); the love of foster parents who adopt the youngster; the temperamental Parisian ardor of Cesar Romero and the ultimate love which brings the story to a suspenseful conclusion create a beautiful saga with a throbbing message for today's womanhood.

Jan Hunter heads the featured cast including Cesar Romero, Lynn Bari, Blinnie Barnes and John Russell. Darryl F. Zanuck, in charge of production, selected Sidney Lanfield to direct, with Raymond Griffith associate producer.

Edward G. Robinson Plays Dual Role Of Type of Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde

Hersholt Sees First Circus In His Life

Jean Hersholt is one of the few people in the world who never saw a circus in his life! It wasn't particularly that he couldn't have attended just as regularly as the spirit moved him, but something of a feud had existed between circuses and Hersholt for more than a generation.

Twenty years ago, Jean decided to take his then 4-year-old son to the big top. Before they reached the main gates he found that a gold watch and chain which his mother had given him years before, had been lifted.

Complaints unavailing, Jean marched home with the boy and never went near a circus again. But recently he was called upon to play the role of a clown in Warner Baxter's starring comedy romance, "I'll Give a Million." To gather atmosphere and realistic touches for his role,

Ginger Finds Love In Romantic Spot At Vacation Camp

Edward G. Robinson has the greatest role of his career in "The Amazing Dr. Clitterhouse," which shows at the Ritz Theatre Tuesday and Wednesday.

Long famous for his portrayals of ruthless criminals, Robinson has the great good fortune in this picture of being able to demonstrate the high order of his acting skill by enacting an engrossingly complex character.

Just as with the central character, the picture itself has an effectiveness far beyond that of the ordinary crime film, because there is added to all the thrilling, exciting action of such productions, the fascinating problem in criminal psychology presented by its unusual hero, and an underlying note of comedy.

He is, on the surface, a highly respected neurological surgeon who becomes so obsessed with a study of the physical and mental reactions of criminals at the times when they are committing their crimes that he determines to engage in criminal activities himself in order to observe his own reactions and those of the criminals he will be associated with.

Dr. Clitterhouse soon rises to the leadership of a band of robbers formerly led by Humphrey Bogart and for which Claire Trevor acts as "fence" and co-leader. Hardened criminals all, they don't know what to make of "the Professor," but they good-humoredly indulge his whims, and allow him to test their reactions during the commission of their many crimes.

Bogart, alone of the gang, is suspicious of him, and his threat of exposure leads the Doctor to commit the ultimate crime of murder.

The murder leads to his unmasking, and he is arrested and put on trial for his life. Although his lawyer has presented a plea of insanity, Clitterhouse staunchly declares himself sane. This convinces the jury of his insanity, and he is acquitted.

Fifty Soviet Planes Bomb Railways In Changkufeng Area

Four Planes Brought Down By Japanese Anti-Aircraft Fire, Jap Army Reports Incident Follows Clash On Sunday Japs Claim To Have Driven Enemy Out In Terrible Fight

HSINKING. Manchoukuo, Aug. 1.—(AP)—The Japanese army announced today that 50 Soviet warplanes inflicted slight damage on some railways in an afternoon raid today on Changkufeng and vicinity in the disputed border region. It said four Russian planes were brought down on Korean territory while one was believed down in Manchoukuo after the raiders dropped nearly 30 bombs. The zone reported bombarded is near the junction of the borders of Japanese Korea, Manchoukuo and Russian Siberia. The announcement said the Japanese used only anti-aircraft fire as they were too near the border to use defensive planes. A Tokyo announcement of the same incident said Japanese planes were used to repel the reported attack.

TOKYO, Aug. 1.—(AP)—A Japanese army communiqué said Russian troops were withdrawing northward from Changkufeng, on the Manchoukuo-Siberian border, where a clash described as a "terrible fight" took place yesterday. The report of the Russian withdrawal followed a Japanese assertion that Soviet forces had been driven from the disputed frontier territory. The communiqué said only about 800 Russian soldiers remained in the area. It is assumed they were outside the territory claimed by Japan.

Both the war office and the foreign office declared Japan had no intention of advancing farther. A Moscow communiqué dealing with the same area and assembly the same battle, asserted the Japanese invaded Soviet territory Sunday night and were "strongly rebuffed with a heavy loss of men and equipment."

Korean army headquarters estimated the Russians suffered 200 casualties and lost considerable equipment. Japanese were reported to have sustained some casualties. The war office said large forces were deployed on both sides of the ill-defined border with the Soviet troops bombarding one frontier point with heavy artillery concealed in the hills. The area is close to the junction of the boundaries of Manchoukuo, Russian Siberia and Japanese Korea, southwest of Vladivostok. Russians have held it for nearly three weeks and Moscow reported Japanese and Manchoukuoan protests that they were on Manchoukuoan territory.

103 Charged With Liquor Law Evasion

NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—(AP)—An indictment charging 103 persons, including six politicians and six treasury department investigators with violating federal liquor laws was opened today by Federal Judge T. Whitfield Davison. The men were accused of manufacturing more than 200,000 gallons of alcohol and large quantities of brandy and whiskey, a foreign beverage, and processing domestic alcohol. Losses in taxes to the government, approximately $1,200,000 which the New York state government lost about $1,000,000 according to Assistant District Attorney W. Robert Robinson, who said the men were the "biggest and most important" in the state's liquor problem.

Grand Jury Probe Of Earle Machine Okeyed By Judge

Inquiry Into Graft Charges Permitted By Bench Decision

HARRISBURG, Pa., Aug. 1.—(AP)—Judge Paul M. Schaeffer today held that the Pennsylvania legislature could not suspend a grand jury investigation of political graft and corruption charges against Gov. George H. Earle and 12 others high in state Democratic ranks. Legislation to permit the general assembly to take a projected inquiry away from the grand jury and place it in the hands of a legislative committee was passed Saturday and signed by the governor. The judge's opinion was on a petition by District Attorney Carl B. Shelly of Harrisburg. He is in charge of the grand jury inquiry. The judge also ordered Shelly's evidence locked up, and prohibited all persons subpoenaed to appear before the grand jury from testifying before the legislative committee.

Townsend Credited With Thomas' Win

TULSA, Okla., Aug. 1.—Although neither daily paper in Tulsa attributed any portion of Sen. Thomas' victory to Dr. Townsend and the Townsend organization, William K. Hutchinson, Washington correspondent for the International News Service, declares the President must "share the credit with Dr. Townsend," according to the Tulsa West Side Journal, which says: "Both President Franklin D. Roosevelt and Dr. Francis E. Townsend called Oklahoma and said a 'few kind words' for the nomination and, of course, re-election of Sen. Elmer Thomas to the U. S. Senate. The President wanted him re-elected to the U. S. Senate because he is one of the outstanding statesmen in the Senate, a progressive who cooperates with the administration program. Dr. Francis E. Townsend, president of the Townsend National Recovery Plan wants Elmer Thomas re-elected because he gave his unqualified endorsement of the General Welfare Act (The Townsend Plan), H. R. 4199, and promises to do all he can to effect its enactment into law when he was the only candidate for the U. S. Senate who did endorse the Townsend Plan in its entirety, although both Homer Smith and E. W. Harland claimed they were for the General Welfare Act, but with amendments."

Marble Game Is Hit Again By High Court

Supreme Court Denies Petition For Rehearing In 3rd Attempt To Operate

TALLAHASSEE, Aug. 1.—(AP)—Operators of marble games lost their third attempt in the Supreme Court today to prevent the seizure of their boards by order of Gov. Clegg. Without comment, the Court denied an extraordinary petition for a hearing of its decision holding the games might be operated contrary to the State's anti-slot machine law and thus would become subject to seizure. The court last July 8 held that officials could seize the marble boards if the operator was arrested for violating the slot machine law. Three cases were involved in each of the decisions, one from Brevard and two from Volusia.

Daily Attendance At Zoo Estimated To Be About 1,200

Chamber of Commerce officials have estimated that the average summer week-day attendance at the Municipal Zoo is approximately 1,200. Saturday morning was designated as the average week-day and several Boy Scouts of Troop No. 5 counted visitors at the zoo between the hours of 8:30 o'clock in the morning and 5:00 o'clock in the afternoon and found that 810 persons stopped to look at the animals. From 5:00 o'clock on Chamber of Commerce officials kept close watch and estimated that approximately 207 additional persons visited the zoo.

Chamber Secretary Ralph F. Bagwell, said daily attendance averaged particularly low for Saturday, and other Chamber officials and zoo attendants reported attendance was unusually low. Under the circumstances it was decided that an additional 200 could reasonably be added to Saturday's count which would bring the total estimate to 1,200. A count of Sunday visitors will be made later and this figure, together with the week-day average will be used as a comparison during the winter season. Members of Troop 5 who helped count the visitors Saturday are as follows: Joe Tenhet, Billie Herndon, Billy Hollyhood, Al Brock, Pete Brock, and Billie Fleming.

Ickes Advises Apply For PWA Works Now

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—(AP)—Administrator Ickes cautioned municipalities today against further delay in applying for public works projects. Dwindling resources, he said, made it apparent the PWA would be unable to take care of all projects submitted for consideration.

National Guard Troops Entrain For Mississippi

Heavy Rains Presage Wet Ground During Annual Maneuvers Leaving Sanford early Sunday afternoon were approximately 100 young men, members of the three companies of the National Guard here. The troops en-trained at the Atlantic Coast Line depot shortly after noon for Ocean Springs, Miss., to take part in the annual encampment. Troops will return from Mississippi on Saturday, Aug. 13, arriving in Sanford about 10:00 o'clock Sunday morning. Accompanying the troop train will be units from Gaines City and Orlando as well as those from Sanford. Press dispatches this morning indicated that the troops will have anything but a pleasant time of it for the first few days, inasmuch as heavy rains have drenched acres of low lands housing thousands of soldiers prepared for two weeks of war maneuvers. National Guard trucks lumbered through muddy roads all day Sunday carrying National Guardsmen from five Southern States for the theoretical attack and defense of the Gulf Coast. Long lines of special transport sped through the downpour and discharged troops at stations through southern Mississippi. The men were transferred to the thickly wooded H. S. National Forest where nearly 30,000 of the regular Army, Reserve and National Guard will engage in jungle warfare. While the men awaited the zero hour, set for Wednesday, Maj.-Gen. Albert H. Blanding of the Florida National Guard explained the purpose of the maneuvers. "This will be extremely valuable training for us and upon his arrival from Jacksonville, the concentration will coordinate the artillery, infantry, cavalry, engineers and other units and show actual conditions in the field." Blanding will command a "Brown" force of approximately 20,000 men theoretically landed by enemy ships along the Gulf Coast, several miles south of here. The area will be defended by the "Blues" army, about 10,000 strong, commanded by Col. Walter D. Smith, Columbia, S. C. The Blues and Browns already have set up cavalry forces but at nightfall the other units were not ready. Maj.-Gen. George Van Horn Moseley, commander of the Third Army, was expected to arrive today from Atlanta, Ga.

Cone's condition was reported today by Dr. Stanley Egan who is attending the Chief Executive in a hospital here. "The Governor continues to improve and is in no immediate danger," the physician said. "His heart is doing its work remarkably well and if he can be kept quiet, free from annoyance and excitement, he should get over this attack. Gov. Cone is in good spots and it is with difficulty that he is kept in bed as he wishes to keep close contact with the duties of his office." The Governor was taken to the hospital Friday after he had spent a week in a hotel here under the doctor's care. Mr. Cone and the Governor's daughter, Mrs. Mark Byron of Miami, are at the hospital. The physician declined to comment on reports an oxygen tent was used in the Governor's treatment. JACKSONVILLE, Aug. 1.—(AP)—Governor Cone was placed under a heavy oxygen tent Saturday night and Sunday morning in St. Vincent's hospital here, a close friend of the family said, but Dr. Egan, one of his physicians, indicated that his condition was not alarming. The governor occupies room No. 202 of the hospital where he was taken in an ambulance Friday surrounded by the greatest secrecy and is not permitted to have visitors. A friend who was in close touch with the situation said, however, that oxygen had been administered, and that his condition had been diagnosed as a heart ailment. Choosing as his subject "Return Ticket" Superintendent L. F. Chapman of the Florida State Penitentiary at Raiford spoke at the Union Church meeting Sunday night at the Baptist Church, Rev. Paul Redfern, president of the Sanford Ministerial Alliance said today. Mr. Chapman pointed out four reasons why prisoners are often returned to prison after once having been released. First, he said, there is lacking proper Christian charity on the part of the public; second, broken home ties take from the former prisoner a valuable aid in the return to society; third, the prisoner has forgotten how to work in a world where work must be voluntary and not compulsory; and last, there is nothing to hold the prisoner to any one place. Mr. Chapman suggested that the public could do much by changing its attitude toward prisoners and in helping them to readjust themselves to society once again. Inviting the public to Raiford to see how the penal institution is conducted, Mr. Chapman declared that visitors are always welcome.

BIBLE VERSE FOR TODAY

PATIENCE IS A VIRTUE. Enduring one another in love. Ephesians 4:2.

VALLEY HOME

Spots are the roads to my valley town, Lean are the winds that wander there, For are the jewels that stud its crown, And often as not its fields are brown With crops too starved to gleam or share.

WANTERS ITS JEWELS! Yet field and plain, Trees and thicket and orchard place, Each shaft of sun and lance of rain, Each rounding fruit and swelling grain, Each weathered eave and its spider-lace

Wish for its heart a friendly shield, Wish for its growth a heart warm hand, And never a patch of harvest yield

But what the Maker of home and field, It thanks for blessing my valley land.

Spots are the roadways that wander through, The western hills to my valley plain— Yet never a breath of the morning dew But starts the ancient ache anew To find and follow them home again!

—Sidney Cooksley.

Yeah, the nervous breakdowns in the printing business are caused by that deafening roar of silence coming from the back office.

It is being predicted that the payroll tax will disappear in five years and that the sales tax will take its place. It is also being predicted that the Social Security money will be extended to farming and all small business men and women. This is as it should be. There is no justice in limiting security to those who are in the wage class. There are thousands of small business men who cannot come under the present law but are in every way as deserving and worthy of its protection as any regularly employed man receiving from industry a regular pay check. In many instances the men on the payroll receive more than the farmers and small business men who are excluded under the present law. The benefits it affords, in fact, in five years is too long to correct such a law.

Advertising Expenditures

In spite of the drastic decline in national advertising as a result of the nationwide recession during the past year, newspapers still receive a higher percentage of total advertising expenditures than any other advertising medium, showing again the power of newspaper advertising. As compared with radio, newspapers received nearly three times as much.

This information comes by way of the American Newspapers Publishers Association which has prepared figures showing that national advertisers spent $467,334,000 in 1937 to acquaint the American public with the goods which they have to sell. This huge expenditure was apportioned among the various media as follows: Newspapers, $191,000,000, or 40.6 percent; magazines, $165,706,000, or 35.5 percent; network radio, $68,828,000, or 14.7 percent; outdoor, $39,300,000, or 8.4 percent, and car cards, $2,500,000, or 0.5 percent.

Automotive grabbed second spot among 422 studied accounts, each of which spent more than $50,000 in newspapers, being topped only by foods. The 422 accounts expended $299,058,874 in newspapers, magazines and radio. Eleven car and truck companies spent $21,255,000 in newspapers; $13,423,223 in magazines and $5,889,707 on chain broadcasts—for a total of $40,567,930. Food firms spent $46,800,467, while the third spot was taken by tobacco with $36,182,629.

Pedestrian Accidents

A young lady standing on First Street the other day talking to a friend in a car parked by the curb, suddenly left her friend and started across the street without looking, as far as we could see, in either direction, keeping her eyes apparently on her friend with whom she was still talking. Vigilant drivers coming from opposite directions narrowly missed her as she went blithely on her way.

A recent report on "Accident Facts", just received from the National Safety Council, declares that human beings are much like chickens when it comes to crossing the road. Out of 39,500 persons killed in traffic accidents last year, 15,400 were pedestrians. Of 7,250 of these pedestrians who died in cities, 85 percent were killed while trying to cross the road.

"Many pedestrians show utter lack of caution in their use of streets and highways", says the National Safety Council. "Combined state reports for 1937 show that in 67 percent of all fatal pedestrian accidents the pedestrian either was violating a traffic law or was acting in an obviously unsafe manner. In non-fatal accidents the pedestrian faults appeared in 69 percent of the cases."

In view of the fact that whenever a pedestrian meets a car in the middle of the street, the pedestrian doesn't have a chance, it would seem the better part of wisdom for the pedestrian to make absolutely sure that no such meeting ever takes place. Look both ways before crossing the street! And then get across as quickly as possible. Don't trust to luck. The next time the automobile driver might not be so alert.

ANDRE-PIERRE CALES—French prisoner of war in a German prison camp. WAS PERMITTED BY THE KAISER TO LEAVE GERMANY FOR 6 DAYS TO VISIT HIS DYING FATHER IN FRANCE! (Feb. 1916)

PRISONER AT LARGE

Almost unprecedented in military annals is the story of Andre-Pierre Cales, French prisoner in a German war camp who went home to France to visit his father while the war was still in progress. Wounded at Sulpes on February 12, 1915, he was captured and sent to a military hospital at Spire and later interned at Wursberg, Bavaria. Early the following year Cales received word that his father in

TAXES, OUR NO. 1 PROBLEM

By MERLE THORPE

Just one hundred years ago a British cotton manufacturer published a book to warn his countrymen. He called it "England and America Contrasted, or the Evils of Taxation." "It is utterly impossible," he wrote, "that we can compete with America under this immense burden of taxation." Britain could not hope to keep step with "America, where every stimulus is given to the energies of industry," and where a workman could subsist as well on three hours labor a day as he could in England on 12 hours. ("Taxes are paid in the sweat of every man who labors.") With this tremendous advantage to the manufacturers and workmen of America, he predicted that the new country would become the richest and most prosperous in the world.

The Englishman's prophecy was fulfilled. America went on and up until she surpassed the Motherland in every index of the abundant life. We produced more and consumed more and "laid up" more than our cousins, the John Bulls. The commercial capital of the world was moved from London to New York. Our dollar became the standard of value.

Taxes, when the Britisher wrote, were taking from ten to 12 per cent of the gross national income of Great Britain, while here one-fourth that. At the close of the Great War Englishmen gave up 25 per cent of what they earned to the taxgatherer. Ours grew from two per cent in 1850 to six per cent in 1900, 13 per cent in 1914. Today it is 27 per cent, and if we were paying as we go, our expenses for Government—state, federal and local—would require nearly one-third of the income of all of us.

Great Britain's tax burden is spread 20 per cent. For the first time since our federal Government was set up, it is taking more from its citizens than the United Kingdom. There is much loose talk in comparing our tax burden with those of other countries. Mr. Harry Hopkins said cynically that "we don't know what it is to be taxed," but the record—"and don't let any one tell you different"—judged on any basis, per capita, cost of government or income, proves the United States now has bigger tax burden than any other country.

Our American manufacturer-author might paraphrase his British cousin of 10 years ago: America cannot hope to regain its industrial stride under the present immense burden of taxation.

Doctor Says Governor Is In No Danger

relative said. Dr. Erwin, a general practitioner, would not comment when asked if an oxygen tent had been used.

"Will you deny it?" he was asked. "No," said Dr. Erwin. "I have no comment."

"I am trying to cooperate with the press," the physician added, "so fix it up nice."

"The governor's condition is not alarming. His heart action, pulse rate, respiration and temperature are satisfactory. He is improving and is doing as well as could be expected under the circumstances."

"This case had called for a great deal of consultation and the treatment is satisfactory. The case has been completely diagnosed."

"Would you mind revealing the diagnosis?" the doctor was asked. "I can't elaborate on what I have already given," he said. "Governor Cone is my private patient."

"No visitors except Mrs. Cone and Mrs. Mark Byron, of Miami, his daughter, are allowed to see him. He needs complete rest and quiet. Now if you want any more than that, talk to Mrs. Cone."

Mrs. Cone previously had referred this reporter to Dr. Erwin. "All I know is what the doctor tells me," she said, "and he has told me the governor is suffering from a mild circulatory upset. You see the doctor and he'll tell you the whole truth."

"I don't care what the rumors are," she added, smiling. "The governor is still among the living."

"How long will he be in the hospital?" she was asked just outside the governor's room. "I don't know that," she said. "I don't know anything except what the doctor tells me and I have told you that."

She denied that an oxygen tent had been used.

While Mrs. Cone was talking she was called into the room by Mrs. Byron, and was emphatic that no one else could see the governor who could be heard talking in a low voice.

Governor Cone is in a deluxe corner room, furnished with red and tan upholstery and overlooking the St. Johns river. It is on the extreme corner on the fifth and top floor of the large rambling hospital in the Riverside section. A sign, "no visitors," hangs on the door which is left slightly ajar. A screen conceals his bed from view in the corridor.

Visiting hours at the hospital are from 2 to 4 in the afternoon, but the Associated Press has arranged to keep a reporter at the hospital on a day and night watch some distance from the sick room.

Governor Cone was removed from the hospital on an air conditioned suite in the George Washington hotel after doctors ordered him to take a rest.

Since he left the capital July 20 his whereabouts had been closely guarded. Although he was taken from the hotel in an ambulance, it was not generally known he was in the hospital until Saturday.

On July 22 Dr. Robert B. Harkness, of Lake City, his personal physician, denied rumors that he was ill. Dr. Harkness consulted Saturday with Dr. Erwin and Dr. Gordon Ira, of Jacksonville.

Cuban exports of sugar from January 1 to July 2, 1938 totalled 1,394,107 long tons, 12 per cent less than in the corresponding period of last year.

G-Men Outhit Lookouts 9 To 6 To Win Contest

Triple-Play By Visitors In Third Is Feature Of Game

Adz, Sanford Catcher, Is Hit On Head By Pitched Ball And Is Replaced By Allen

Outhitting Sanford 13 to 6, the Gainesville G-Men scored a 9 to 6 victory over the Lookouts Sunday afternoon at the Municipal ball park.

Gainesville scored first in the second inning when Sparkman sacrificed to bring DeVincenti across the plate. McMullen scored in the same inning on Bray's single to center. Gallagher's clean single in the third added two more to the G-Men's total when Sparkman and McMullen tagged the home sack.

In the second Sanford's third baseman, Hudson, singled high to left field, scoring Atwater and Moore, to tie the count temporarily.

Rogers gave the G-Men another marker in the sixth on errors by Allen and Pitman.

Tallying four runs off four hits and a pair of errors by Sanford, the G-Men practically put the game on ice in the seventh.

Sanford scored twice in the seventh on an error by Gallagher and a single by Verner.

The Lookouts' last two markers were scored in the eighth when Hudson singled and came in on Pitman's triple to be followed by the other scorers when Allen's long fly to left permitted the Sanford shortstop time enough to tag-up and make home.

The third inning saw the G-Men pull a triple play when Pitman lined to Rogino who nailed Schmidt off second and Rodgers caught Hudson off first to complete the play.

Rain threatened constantly throughout the afternoon and in the sixth time out had to be taken for a light shower.

In the second inning Adz, the Sanford catcher, was hit on the head on a pitch from Sparkman,

G-men Gain Close Win Over Sanford Outfit Saturday

Stolen Base Allows Gainesville 1-Run Margin Over Locals

With two away in the 11th inning, Street Gallagher stole home to give the Gainesville G-Men the winning margin in a 6-4 victory over the Sanford Lookouts Saturday night in Gainesville.

After Hudson retired the first two batters to face him, Gallagher lashed one down the first base line for a double, advanced to third on a balk and sneaked home as Hudson took his wind-up.

Gainesville tied the count in the ninth inning when they scored three times after two were away.

Taking the lead in the fourth inning when three hits brought in two runs, Sanford added two more in the eighth on three more hits.

Helms, Gainesville pitcher, was relieved by Larry Weldon at the end of the eighth but received credit for the win. Helms was taken out for a pinch hitter.

Revival Services For Colored Race Tonight

A special invitation has been issued to the white friends of the colored race to attend a revival service and choir singing to be held at the Trinity Methodist Episcopal Church, located at Sixth Street and Sanford Avenue, at 8:00 o'clock tonight.

An evangelistic revival is now being conducted among the colored people by Rev. R. W. Wells of North Carolina who arrived in the city only recently and began his services Sunday morning. The service began at the Williams Temple, but owing to the bad condition of the church building, they were moved to the Trinity church through the kindness of the Pastor Currier.

A special service has been planned by Rev. Wells tonight and the choir from Orlando will sing a number of plantation melodies and jubilee songs. A special room in the church has been reserved for the white ministers and their congregations.

Lookouts To Face Azaleas Tonight On Local Diamond

Rogers' Men Will Seek To Jump Back Into Their Winning Ways

The Lookouts meet the Palatka Azaleas here tonight at the Municipal ball park in an effort to get back into their winning ways.

Loosing Friday night to the DeLand Reds by the narrow margin of 3-2, and again Saturday night to the Gainesville G-Men by 5-4, the Lookouts' defense hit up in the tight spots yesterday against the G-Men but tonight Manager Bill (Raw Meat) Rodgers will put a team on the field that will be hard to beat.

The loss of Mayo Langston, stellar fielder, who had an appendectomy performed last week, has hurt the Sanford club no little. The hard-hitting ball hawk was a source of strength and when lost to the team he had a batting average of .308.

Although losing Langston, several new players have been added to the team recently and it is expected that they will do much to bolster the Sanford nine.

Following the game with the Azaleas tonight, a return engagement will take the Lookouts to Palatka where they will conclude the two game series with the sixth place outfit.

Starting batteries for the game tonight have not been announced.
