

Adult Classes Set For Lyman School

Plans are being made to offer adult classes in typing and bookkeeping in the Lyman School area, according to an announcement by E. S. Douglass, director of Adult and Vocational Education in Seminole County.

An organizational meeting has been set for Feb. 3, at 7:30 p. m. All adults who are interested in taking these courses should report to Lyman High School at that time.

The bookkeeping class will be taught by Roger Harris, auditor for the county school system and formerly a member of the faculty of Seminole High School, Sanford. Typing will be taught by Mrs. Evelyn Hoberg of Altamonte Springs. Mrs. Hoberg has had extensive secretarial experience in Washington, D. C., and was employed by the Joseph F. Nebel Contracting Co., and the Borg-Warner Corp.

There have been many requests for a class in home sewing but a teacher has not as yet been found. As soon as an instructor who can qualify for an adult temporary certificate can be obtained, these classes will be added. The only charge for these courses is a registration fee of $1.00 and the cost of materials. Further information can be obtained from E. S. Douglass, Director, Adult & Vocational Education, School Administration Bldg., Sanford, Fla. The telephone is FA 2-4165.

Khrushchev Given Full Support Of 21st Red Congress

MOSCOW (UPI)—The 21st Communist Party congress of the Soviet Union was rapidly developing today into a show of massive unity behind Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

Only Yugoslavia has some under attack for failing to triumph over "revisionism," and the way was left open for the Yugoslavs to enter the fold again some time in the future.

Speaker after speaker painted a picture of triumph over "revisionism" which reared its head since the previous congress in 1956.

Approve Ideological Issue

On the prime ideological issue, the path to be followed by socialist countries, Khrushchev's concepts were approved by Polish Communist Leader Wladyslaw Gomulka and Palmiro Togliatti, head of the Italian Communist Party, the largest in Western Europe.

Khrushchev set the stage for this in opening address Tuesday when he said it was all right for countries to follow different paths to socialism if they do not sever from Marxist-Leninist principles.

Yugoslavia's Communist Party was keeping silence in the face of concerted attacks for "revisionism." It is the only Communist country not to send a delegation to the Soviet party congress and the absence was noted in Moscow with a series of blasts by Khrushchev and Chinese Communist Premier Chou En-Lai.

ICBM Squadron To Be Ready Soon

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Defense Secretary Neil H. McElroy revealed today that the United States will have a full squadron of intercontinental ballistic missiles ready to fire from the West Coast by next July.

A full squadron is expected to include 10 of the 5,500-mile Atlas ICBMs McElroy told a full-scale Senate inquiry they will be located at "Camp Cook." This presumably would locate them at Vandenberg Air Force Base which was created from part of Camp Cook north of Los Angeles.

McElroy was the lead-off witness at the opening of an "unvarnished" missile investigation by two Senate subcommittees headed by Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson.

The defense chief said under questioning that the Camp Cook ICBM station will be a "soft base" meaning that the missiles will be located above ground.

He conceded that should war come some of the missiles might be destroyed in an initial attack by the Soviets—possibly by missiles launched from submarines.

Speedup on Polaris McElroy also revealed that the Navy's Polaris missile has been "downgraded" somewhat in order to speed its development. He said there has been "some sacrifice in range."

Health Possible, Even If Married

LONDON (UPI)—Dr. Kenneth Hutchin told British men today they can still be healthy—even if they are married.

In the medical journal Family Doctor Dr. Hutchin gave his advice in an article headed "How To Be Healthy Though a Husband."

He did not explain what being married had to do with making men unhealthy.

Dr. Hutchin said the first rule for healthy husbands was, "When you are not working—forget it." The second: "Have a daily bath."

The advised husbands not to get dressed immediately after their daily bath. "Air your body," he counseled.

Spend the time shaving in the nude or doing exercises because then the body gets used to cool air after the warm bath and the bath is less likely to catch cold, he wrote.

He said that if the husband is a sedentary worker he should get up an hour earlier and exercise. He also recommended he wear just enough clothes in chilly weather to keep comfortable—otherwise he will be sluggish.

Suspect Captured; No 'Clue' Needed

One of Seminole County's best "clue" didn't need to look for the other day.

As Sheriff's Deputy Venn Brewer received a "wanted" call over his car radio the other day, he was looking at the license tag that was being read to him.

Brewer was sitting in his car at a Fern Park garage. When the sheriff's office relayed a telegram sent to Orlando from Lakeland, he found the guilty man's car was directed in front of Brewer's. The deputy, who has solved many difficult cases in the county, jumped out of his car and arrested the man.

L. E. Gallentine, Winter Park, was taken into custody and held for Lakeland authorities. He was wanted for taking money ($500) under false pretenses in Lakeland.

It took just 45 minutes from the time the wire was received in Orlando to have Gallentine lodged in the Seminole County jail.

Governor Suggests Integration Of Graduate Schools In Florida

Commissioners Planning Top-Notch Road Program

The Seminole County Commission, starting in October, plans to have one road budget, rather than the five which it has at present.

Under the present system, each district is allotted a portion of the annual budget. The road program is planned, to some degree, from the district basis. How much and what is constructed depend, to a great extent, on money available for the particular district.

In the future, the Commission will operate on one road fund for the county. Commissioners said planning, construction and spending will be approached on a county-wide basis.

Commission Chairman John Krider said that Seminole County "will have a real road program in one year."

As the first step toward setting up the program, the Commission Saturday will interview applicants for the new vacant county engineer's job.

At the next session of the county governing body, each commissioner is scheduled to present a "top priority" road for consideration of the entire group. Commissioners will decide road priorities from a county-wide level.

However, each Commissioner will represent, primarily, the district from which he is elected. Among the things suggested by Commissioners for establishing priority of roads were number of homes, traffic, whether it is a connecting link and similar considerations.

Commissioners expressed the view that this type of planning would give Seminole County the "finest road program" in its history.

15 Senators Push Bill To Strengthen Integration Ruling

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Fifteen senators today sponsored a broad civil rights bill to back up the Supreme Court's school integration order with "massive assistance" from the federal government.

Countering the conciliation plan offered by Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson, the liberal measure would offer legal, financial and technical aid in school integration cases. It would furnish advice, grants for school buildings and teachers, and the attorney general's legal intervention as needed.

Sen. Paul H. Douglas (D-Ill.), who introduced the legislation, said he expected the "threat of filibuster" to be used against the bill as it was in 1957. With obvious reference to the federal government, he added:

"Then some ostrichlike proposal, burying its head in the sand so that it cannot see the actual problem, offending—and helping—almost no one, will probably be served up as a 'reasonable compromise' as a step in the right direction—a means of 'ending controversy' and of preserving party unity. I hope the Senate will not be misled by these maneuvers."

Two other prior civil rights bills already are in the hopper. They are a liberal measure by Sen. Jacob K. Javits (R-N.Y.) and a proposal to amend the Constitution to states and local communities could take full control of the school problem, by Sen. Herman E. Talmadge (D-Ga.).

Douglas said his bill, backed by 11 Democrats and four Republicans would "put our moral house in order." He said court decisions in Virginia should prove that the "road of massive resistance is a blind alley."

Douglas also claimed the photographs were taken when a photographer tried to take a picture of him Wednesday night, he snapped, "Why don't you use that nude photograph?"

In 1954, Edinoff printed a one-edition newspaper in which he accused Andrews of showing the nude pictures "for extortion and blackmail—mail purposes." Andrews used a "file" and a "cut" awarded him $110,000. The decision is under appeal.

Growth Reflected In Economic Facts

Reports from the Chamber of Commerce reflect the growth and prosperity of Seminole County in 1957.

Bank deposits were up 10.7 per cent, resources up 20 per cent. Electric meter installations in Sanford were up 8.4 per cent; telephone installations up 12.8.

With no zoning board in 1957, the county building permits had little on which to base percentage, but permits amounted to $13,863,872 in 1957. Building permits in the city of Sanford showed the only drop in the report down 10.7 per cent.

The largest increase was reflected in postal receipts during the 4th quarter. Receipts totaled $66,000, $16,875 more than the same period in the previous year.

Local Promotion Will Be Discussed

Sanford Merchants will meet at the Civic Center tonight at 8 to discuss a proposed promotion program and the organization of the Retail Merchants Division.

The Division is open to all Sanford merchants. There is no expense involved.

Charles Stauber, former Sears, Roebuck & Co. executive, has assisted the executive committee in planning the sales promotions. Stauber, who has also given much constructive criticism, is attempting to help the business men guarantee a good shopping future. He will attend the meeting tonight to outline plans for the Division. His services are free.

All downtown merchants are urged to attend the meeting. Interest in the growth and progress of Sanford as a shopping community will be reflected by their attendance. Francis Roumillat, chairman, said:

The public is invited.

'Orfee Club' Sets Attendance Record

A record-breaking crowd attended the Chamber of Commerce "Orfee Club" this morning.

While "Orfee Club" members enjoyed orange juice, doughnuts and coffee at Mrs. Appleby's restaurant, Morrison continued the introductions: Mrs. Mary Lynn Douglas, Florida State Bank; Mrs. Anne Niekowski and Mrs. Jackie Canio, Sanford Nursery; Bill Purdom and associates, Jim Robinson and Wallace Odum, Rich Food Plan (donors of the orange juice); Aubrey Adams, Adams Typewriter Service.

Also introduced was Linus Heins, now with Odhams and Tudor. Among those attending were members of the County Commission, prominent Sanford businessmen, and city leaders.

Collins Cites Cost At Negro Colleges

TALLAHASSEE (UPI)—Gov. LeRoy Collins announced unexpectedly today that the Legislature must consider abolishing expensive graduate schools at A&M University and the Negro College of Agriculture, Pharmacy and Home Economics.

Collins said the proposition must be faced realistically, both from a financial standpoint as well as racial.

He said it is costing the state too much money to educate the few Negroes enrolled in the A&M Law School and graduate schools of Agriculture, Pharmacy and Home Economics.

The governor's suggestion was favored like a bombshell as the Cabinet Budget Commission delved into fund requests for the state Negro university in the next two years.

A number of persons have quietly discussed the expense of graduate schools at A&M but Collins is the first official to bring it out in the open.

He ordered Budget Director Harry Smith to furnish the Cabinet and Legislature complete figures on costs of operating the graduate schools at A&M since they were set up nearly a decade ago to provide Negroes with a "separate but equal" education.

Collins said that even in "massive resistance" states like Virginia and Arkansas, where the governors closed public schools rather than integrate them, Negroes and whites are attending graduate university schools together in peace.

The first Negro ever to attend the University of Florida Law School at Gainesville was enrolled last September without incident.

Collins said he has been told that the A&M law school has cost the state $14,000 in seven years and has graduated the sum total of six lawyers.

"That is $600 per lawyer," he said. Collins said he understands there are only 18 students enrolled in the Negro law school now.

King Is Pictured As Plot 'Victim'

BARTOW (UPI)—The defense today pictured former state Sen. Harry King of Winter Haven as the victim of political maneuvering in 1956 which "put Polk County in a turmoil that still exists today."

The summation came from chief defense counsel Chester Bedell of Jacksonville as King's nine-day trial on perjury charges began drawing to a close.

Bedell opened the closing arguments and was followed by the prosecution. Rebuttals were scheduled this afternoon before Criminal Court Judge Roy H. Amidon puts the case in the hands of the six-man jury.

Bedell took the case to the state but failed to prove charges that King had engineered a plot to block his possible indictment for allegedly paying former state Rep. Boone Tillet Jr. $10,000 to withdraw as his opponent in the 1956 state Senate race.

When Mr. King transferred $10,000 in currency to Mr. Tillet, it was entirely political in nature. But Mr. King is not being tried here for violation of election laws," Bedell said.

The defense lawyer pointed out that King is charged specifically with procuring two deputy sheriffs, Rollie Arnold and James Husbee, to testify falsely before the grand jury.

Everything else is beside the point, Bedell said.

State Audit Cites Seminole Records

Bryan Willis, state auditor, has made a report on the accounts and records of John L. Galloway, tax collector of Seminole County.

The report included July 1, '56 to April 30, '57. Willis' general comment said that collections of record were properly remitted; remittances were made regularly and accurately.

According to Willis, the percentage of tax collections were good and the rolls properly closed. Collections of occupational licenses were "diligently made" and commissions in general properly billed.

"Closely" remarks reveal in Willis' opinion, that the records in general were accurate and well kept.

A total of $120,658.11 was collected on the general rolls in 1957. The intangible rolls showed collections of $45,163.40.

The report was submitted to Gov. LeRoy Collins and the Legislative Auditing Committee.

Lake Mary Plans For Pioneer Night

Pioneer Night was originated by Evans. It will be held from 7:30-11:30 p. m. in the Lake Mary Chamber of Commerce building.

Local Students Will See Atomic Energy Exhibit

High school students in Sanford soon will have the opportunity of getting acquainted with the wonders of the present age at special assembly programs.

Featured on the programs will be "This Atomic World," a traveling atomic energy exhibit of the U. S. Atomic Energy Commission.

The exhibit will be shown at Grossus Academy, Feb. 4, and Seminole High School, Feb. 5. The exhibit will be sent to Sanford from the Museum Division of the Oak Ridge Institute of Nuclear Studies, which manages the exhibit, as well as the American Museum of Atomic Energy in Oak Ridge, Tenn. for the Commission.

"This Atomic World" is one of several traveling exhibits which the Commission has made available to towns and cities all over the U. S. It is designed to meet the needs of principals, science teachers—and civic leaders in stimulating a deeper interest in the peacetime uses of atomic energy.

In the programs, a staff member of the Museum Division will take the audience on an excursion into the atomic age. Utilizing exhibits and demonstration equipment, the demonstrator will explain in simple language the fundamentals of atomic energy and how it compares with other types of energy, how atomic energy is used in agriculture, medicine, industry, and other fields.

Illustrative charts, panels, models and equipment will play important roles in the demonstration. One of the outstanding attractions of "This Atomic World" will be a demonstration model of the Van de Graaff electrostatic generator. This device, which generates 250,000 volts of static electricity, will be used to explain how large models are used in physics laboratories to study atomic structure.

No Job For Negro Page, Northerners Embarrassed

By JAMES BAAR

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Embarrassed Northern Democrats wondered what to do today about a would-be page boy—a Negro—left on the Capitol doorstep by an elusive Chicago congressman.

The boy—14-year-old James A. Johnson Jr. of Chicago—flew to Washington under the impression that Rep. Barratt O'Hara (D-Ill.) had arranged an appointment for him as a House page boy.

But all indications were that he would not get the job. Key Democrats denied that O'Hara had the job to give. Chairman Francis E. Walter (D-Pa.) of the Democratic Patronage Committee said he informed O'Hara of this last Friday.

Walter said that he told O'Hara, before knowing that Jimmy was a Negro, that there was no job available and O'Hara should not have the youth come to Washington.

Jimmy, standing on the Capitol steps, said: "The Southern Democrats are against me."

O'Hara, finally contacted after a day and a half search, said that the whole matter was "a sad misunderstanding." He insisted that the situation could be straightened out by March 1 at the latest.

But he didn't say how.

"This is a case of a sequence of unfortunate misunderstandings," O'Hara told United Press International on his return here from Chicago. "I told the boy his appointment had been delayed and that he could either wait in Chicago or come back here to wait developments."

He said there was no indication that Southern congressmen were trying to block the appointment "but then I'm not on the patronage committee."

New Concentrate Like Real McCoy

ORLANDO (UPI)—They've finally come out with frozen orange concentrate that tastes just like the real McCoy.

Jack Fox, president of the Minute Maid Corp., announced Wednesday that tests of the new concentrate show that people can't tell it apart from freshly squeezed juice.

Consumer tests were made in Houston, Cincinnati and Syracuse, he said, and it was found to be "literally indistinguishable from freshly squeezed juice."

In the past, many Florida citrus men have conceded that there is a slight difference in taste between fresh orange juice and reconstituted frozen concentrate.

In a stockholders report, Fox said the new concentrate was developed after years of study. "Approximately 20 per cent of the 1958-59 pack of Minute Maid and Snow Crop orange concentrate is scheduled for production by the new techniques with full production scheduled for the following year," Fox added.

Harrison Ordered To Give Answers

JACKSONVILLE (UPI)—James F. Harrison, who turned up in Arizona last week after being given up for dead, was ordered to appear before the state attorney here today to answer questions about this three-month disappearance.

State Attorney William Holloway issued a subpoena for the 32-year-old Indian River City businessman Wednesday.

Holloway said he hoped Harrison might be able to throw some light on his mysterious disappearance shortly before his blood-spattered car was found abandoned here last October. Police said the amount of blood in the car indicated that some one was either killed or seriously injured.

A convicted slayer in California confessed earlier this month to killing Harrison or a man carrying his identification papers and then burying the body near Jacksonville. No body has been found.

Harrison claims he was struck on the head by a hitchhiker last Oct. 7 and suffered amnesia. He recovered his memory last Friday night in Phoenix, Ariz., but insists he does not remember anything he did during his disappearance.

Hoffa Friend Used Funds For Himself

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Senate Rackets Committee heard testimony yesterday that a Chicago friend of Teamster President James R. Hoffa withheld $51,401 in union insurance premiums for his own use.

John P. Findlay, a staff investigator, said the funds eventually were restored after the committee began investigating teamster welfare and pension funds in 1957.

Findlay said Allen Dorfman, a broker for two of the funds, retained $51,401 in premiums which had been paid by union members to keep their group insurance in effect during periods of unemployment.

He said this money which should have been forwarded to the Mount Vernon Life Insurance Co. of New York, was used by Dorfman for business and personal purposes between 1945 and 1957.

The committee was told Tuesday that Dorfman got the Teamster business through collusion between his father, Paul Dorfman, and Hoffa, who were "old friends," witnesses said the brokerage firm owned by the younger Dorfman and his mother had collected more than a million dollars in excessive fees and commissions.

Fairbanks Happier Peddling Popcorn

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Douglas Fairbanks Jr., fair-haired boy at the Court of St. James, may forego his film career to concentrate on his activities as a popcorn tycoon and other commercial ventures.

Fairbanks, debonair and English-accented, now is selling popcorn to English movie theaters instead of peddling his old celluloid charm.

It's been seven years since Junior has made a movie and as of the moment he has no plans to return to the screen—nor to perform on television again.

"I have no great desire to return to acting," he said. "Acting is an insecure business, dependent on too many outside factors that don't trouble people in other professions. If I fail in a business deal I have no one to blame but myself. This is not true in pictures."

In addition to his Dougfair Movie Company, Fairbanks is a director of a successful ballpoint pen company, part owner of an industrial development concern, a camera corporation, a hotel syndicate and a big wheel in Pima Popcorn Ltd., which distributes popcorn to British theaters, hotels and pubs.

"I must admit I've made more money outside of the movies," the natty actor-businessman grinned.

"But in all honesty I have to add that the business world isn't as absorbing as performing in or producing films. There are compensations, though. When I went broke in the old days I'd scurry around looking for work until I was solvent again. That doesn't happen anymore."

Big Three Ready To Talk To Reds

PARIS (UPI)—The Western Big Three are preparing to begin their offer to Moscow of a meeting with Soviet leaders on Herlin, diplomatic sources here said today.

Reports from London said the talks would be held at the foreign ministers' level. They said no firm date would be proposed, but that the meeting probably would take place toward the end of April in Geneva.

The London sources said the foreign ministers of Britain, the United States, France and West Germany would meet in Paris in March to align Western strategy and agree on proposals to be made at the Big Four talks.

Diplomatic sources in the French capital said the West, in renewing their offer of a Herlin conference made last Dec. 31, would make it plain to the Russians that they were not being "panicked" by the Soviet demand that the West get out of Herlin by next May 27.

Public To Give Views On Local Legislation

Seminole County voters will have an opportunity to let the local legislative delegation know what they desire in the next session of the Legislature.

Sen. Douglas Stenstrom and Reps. Mack Cleveland Jr. and Gordon Frederick will meet the public on Feb. 14. In the interval, voters have been asked to give careful thought to subjects on which they desire legislation.

The Legislature's next session will be one of the most trying in Florida's history. Two big items with which legislators must tussle are money and integration.

It would be hard to pick one of these two as the item which will provide the most soul-searching, the most debate, the most midnight oil. Integration would be the top subject if budget requests were not $100 million more than anticipated income.

With knowledge that the Legislature faces some of the most pressing problems in history, Seminole residents should weigh, carefully, all proposed bills before presenting them to local legislators.

Voters should, however, take advantage of this opportunity to make known their wishes on subjects concerning Seminole County. Bills that require action of the entire Legislature (those which would become general laws) should be kept to a minimum.

Two votes in the house and one in the Senate are sufficient to pass "local" bills. Stenstrom, Cleveland and Frederick would not pledge themselves to passage of measures on which support of a majority of state legislators would be required. They might pledge their support.

Voters with suggested local acts probably can get "yes or no" answers in the Feb. 14 session with the three. Legislation which includes more than just Seminole County probably will be given a "maybe" tag.

So, if you have ideas about state-wide measures which should be enacted, or repealed, don't expect Stenstrom, Cleveland and Frederick to guarantee that the legislation will be passed. As they are quick to say, nobody knows what the Legislature will do.

Our Courtesy Couple

Seminole County today said farewell to its 1959 "Courtesy Couple." The young Ohio man and wife departed after some 48 hours of Southern hospitality.

The "arresting" delegation waited for about one hour before the "pinch" was made. During some 60 minutes, any number of motorists came by. Any might have been chosen. Officials, however were waiting for the "right" automobile.

The choice of Mr. and Mrs. Al Bastardo, Cleveland, Ohio, was ideal. The couple was en route home after a visit with Mrs. Bastardo's mother, Mrs. Richard Randall, in Winter Park.

The husband recently was discharged from the U. S. Air Force, after three years in Germany. The "arrest" came as quite a shock to the couple. Soon, however, the Bastardos had entered into the spirit of "Courtesy Week."

For the Bastardos, the "arrest" provided a fine ending for their Florida vacation. It also was a unique "welcome home" from Germany.

Although the meeting between Seminole County and the Bastardos was brief, the friendship could be lasting.

HOUR OF CHARITY

Washington Calling

By William R. White

WASHINGTON—The late President Calvin Coolidge once told a friend that when he got into political difficulty his policy was simply to stay put and stay silent—silent, that is, as in "Silent Cal."

This is the present technique of the somewhat cynical, but also very tough and able, chief of the Republican Old Guard in the Senate, Senator Styles Bridges. No doubt he could have got along very well otherwise, but it does no harm to carry a little insurance.

While the liberal modern and Old Guard Republicans generally have been breathing polite but genuine maledictions upon each other here, Bridges has been maintaining a grand and icy detachment in the chill fastnesses of his home State of New Hampshire.

Everybody knows he has been heart and center of the Old Guard's rugged defense against the effort of the liberal moderns to have a significant voice in the party leadership in the new Senate. But nobody can really prove it by anything Bridges has been saying—or been seen in the act of doing.

The truth is this: If the liberal moderns had really intended to shake up the Old Guard leadership where it would count they would have had first of all to dispose of Bridges. The fact that they have not tried to dispossess him as chairman of the Senate Republican Policy Committee does not indicate, however, that their campaign has been spurious.

It only indicates that they are sensible men. An old saying fits the case: if you strike at a king you must kill (and not merely wince) him. And to this could be added another: you cannot very well strike at a king, in any case, unless he presents some kind of target to you.

Bridges has stayed still, and absent, and thus presented no target—though even if he had, it is not likely that many guns would have been fired at him. The chances are that he will continue to present none. He has contented himself with a not-so-statement that, of course, the choice of their leaders is entirely up to all the Senate Republicans. You cannot do a great deal by way of attack upon such an observation, since it is hardly more belittling than a sage comment that Wednesday will usually follow Tuesday.

Thus it increasingly looks that the liberal moderns will confine themselves in the GOP caucus on Jan. 7 to:

1. A highly doubtful attempt to put Senator John Sherman Cooper of Kentucky in as floor leader over the Old Guard choice, Senator Everett Dirksen of Illinois.

2. A probably successful effort (since this one will have Bridge's concurrence) to elect as assistant leader a moderate liberal, Senator Thomas H. Kuchel of California.

Indeed, the net outlook is that Bridges in the new Congress will have a practical and personal power in the Senate not matched by any GOP member since the high days of the late Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio in the late 'forties and early 'fifties. This is not to say that Bridges will necessarily and openly and always dominate Dirksen—although if one is to be absolutely blunt even this possibility should not for a moment be excluded.

But it is to say, at the very least, that Dirksen succeeds to the leadership, as almost certainly he will, no one will be unaware that it is Styles Bridges who put him there. In short, it is more than likely that the real and final leadership of the GOP in the Senate—and to some extent in the Administration itself—will center in the chairman of "policy," Bridges.

Letters To The Editor

Editor, Sanford Herald,

I am an employee in downtown Sanford, a resident and home owner. Have been here several years and watched Sanford grow.

Being an employee, and also a customer, (I shop at home) and having also been in the retail merchandise business in Sanford, I can see the picture from all three sides. Employee, customer and merchant.

The merchant has his problems. None of them can possibly carry every item in their line of business, because they are in business to make a living, certainly not for his health. He has to carry the items that are in the most demand that will satisfy the majority of his customers. If he keeps the stock moving to prevent it from becoming outdated and shopworn, and at the same time bring in the money he must have to operate his business.

His bills come due on the 10th of the month, just like yours and mine. As for a worthwhile sale, Sanford has had a number of worthwhile sales. What looks like a bargain to one person, means nothing to someone else. There is no earthly way to keep everybody happy. The trouble is, people take for granted they can't find what they want in Sanford without looking to see. The merchants haven't had a fair chance.

As for discourteous salespeople, I agree with you sometimes it is true. Even though sometimes they are not classed as such, they are actually human beings and deserve a lot of credit they never seem to get. They have heartaches and problems, and maybe when you go out of your way to condemn them, if you only knew the story behind that forced smile, you might see a different picture.

The customers are much harder to deal with sometimes than the sales person. Just change places one day with a sales person, stand behind the counter and listen to the criticisms, gripes and complaints that the customers have to offer, and you will see the other side of the story. Sales people are not heartless. Sometimes the treatment they get from customers make them seem unkind. On the other side now — If some of the people that are screaming the loudest about this shop at home drive would stop a few minutes and take inventory and find out where most of their money is being spent it might help. While the business man (I don't mean just the retail merchant) is soliciting business from his personal friends and business associates, his wife is in the neighboring town spending their money. If spent in Sanford it would put some of the same money back in their own pocket. Weigh your own faults and it will correct a lot of difficulties. Sanford is not all bad. Some of the people can only see one side of the story. It takes cooperation to make a success of anything.

Inez Robb Says

BY INEZ ROBB

Only last week I expressed a hankering to peek at Gov. Nelson Rockefeller's fan mail, after New York's new governor had suggested the state might have to raise taxes in order to pay its bills.

At that time, I pointed out that the most violent "Dear Sir, You cur" letters received by this column always followed any innocent suggestion of mine that a slight raise in Federal taxes might whittle away the national deficit and stop the alarming erosion of the American dollar.

Now, I itch to have a look at the fan mail of (1) the Kings County grand jury probing crime in the New York City schools and (2) County Judge Samuel S. Leibowitz.

A few days ago the grand jury suggested that a dose of willow tea applied where nature intended it would help straighten out unruly pupils. Judge Leibowitz, to whom the grand jury handed its presentation, heartily concurred that sparing the rod spoiled both the students and the school.

It is my experience that the second most violent "Dear Sir, You cur" missives always follow any suggestion in this column that schools enforce discipline with a little birch bark or that teachers be permitted the privilege of self-defense against big bullies of both sexes.

The mere suggestion that a teacher be permitted to lay a finger on a pupil, no matter how howl, results in a pile of letters from soft-headed parents and teachers in which the most flattering comparisons of the columnist are to a werewolf, Dracula and the Beast of Belsen.

The hysterical outbursts imply that helpless, itty-bitty children will be beaten to death by rogue killers. The letters would lead one to believe that the only teachers in the nation's schools are lineal descendants of Little Borden and Jack the Ripper.

The jurors will be lucky to escape with their lives for having declared in their presentation that "it is essential that teachers today have the right to use reasonable force" and "we have found ample evidence showing a direct connection between the rambo-pamby attitude of the educational hierarchy and the collapse of discipline in the schools."

"Our classrooms are turning out far too many delinquents and it can be expected that matters will be worse until teachers again are placed in command. Respect for teachers has been tossed out the window by starry-eyed educational leaders who encourage freedom while de-emphasizing responsibility for one's actions."

If the grand jurors laid it on the line, Judge Leibowitz underscored the situation by saying, "A powerful clique, which has held our educational system in its grip all these years, defies the laws of the state. Never mind the law. His Honor described as the attitude of the clique. We are the law and if you dare lay a finger on a punk in our school-house, we'll fire you!"

"How much longer," the judge asked, "are we going to put up with this dangerous nonsense and arrogance?"

Well, bully for judge and jury! Maybe, as the saying goes, you can't fight City Hall. But the judge and jury have taken on the Board of Education which forbids any kind of corporal punishment, no matter what the education.

And, perhaps, if the judge and jury win in this instance, it'll give the rest of the country the courage to demand the reinstatement of discipline in all schools.

Rupp, Lapchick Seeking New Cage Glory Tonight

United Press International
Adolph Rupp and Joe Lapchick, a couple of "old pros" in college basketball circles, can add luster to already-brilliant coaching careers tonight when Kentucky takes on Georgia and St. John's of New York meets St. Louis.

The Wildcats, top-ranked among the nation's major colleges, will be out to give Rupp his 800th victory as Kentucky coach in the important Southeastern Conference contest.

Lapchick, who returned to his old seat on the St. John's bench following a stint with the New York Knickerbockers, should go higher than his eighth-place rating if the Redmen get by St. Louis at St. Louis. There aren't too many top-notch opponents remaining on the St. John's schedule.

Ninth-ranked Bradley put on a deep freeze late in the game to whip Toledo, 66-55, Wednesday night, while Michigan prepped for renewal of Big Ten play by downing Washington University of St. Louis, 68-63.

Four men hit in double figures as Bradley racked up its 12th win in 14 starts. Dan Smith scored 21, Bobby Joe Mason, 14, Al Saunders 12 and Mike Owens 10 as the Bears sank 25 of 48 shots from the field.

Bradley, holding a six-point lead with nine minutes to go, set up a freeze that Toledo couldn't penetrate. John Papcun's 15 points were high for Toledo.

In other top games, Dayton clocked against Canisius, 67-54. Xavier of Ohio defeated Georgetown, 70-62, once beaten St. Bonaventure 74-58, Fordham beat Wagner, 93-67, Pittsburgh topped Geneva, 84-62, and Muhlenberg whipped Rutgers, 67-66.

Cage Title, Pride? Reds Must Decide

SANTIAGO, Chile (UPI)—The Russians practically clinched the world amateur basketball championship by beating the United States, but they can still lose it if they refuse to swallow their political pride.

Russia, which never before had beaten an American basketball team, crushed the U.S., 63-37, before 34,000 fans, by far the largest crowd of the tournament.

The victory was the Russians' fifth straight in the final round and gave them a total of 10 points. The United States now is tied with Brazil for second place with seven points. Each team has a 3-1 record, with a victory counting two points and a defeat one point.

Russia is scheduled to meet Nationalist China Friday night and the Soviets will be a heavy favorite if the game is played. Up to now, however, the Russians have refused to meet the Chinese, who have a 6-4 record, on the grounds that the U.S.S.R. does not recognize the Formosan government.

If the Russians go through with their refusal, the game probably will be forfeited to Nationalist China and the Soviets will wind up with 10 points. The Americans could then retain the championship with a total of 11 points by winning the two remaining games they have scheduled with Chile tonight and Brazil Friday night.

Tiger Jones Wins, Looks To Basilio

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI)—Middleweight contender Ralph (Tiger) Jones hoped today for a bout with injured Carmen Basilio because of his upset victory Wednesday night over Joey Giardello.

Jones of Yonkers, N.Y., won a split 10-round decision over blood-smeared Giardello of Brooklyn before 4,000 at the Kentucky Exposition Center.

Lombardi To Coach Green Bay Packers

GREEN BAY, Wis. (UPI)—The Green Bay Packers Wednesday night picked backfield coach Vince Lombardi of the New York Giants as the man to make them a National Football League contender again, and gave him five years to do it.

The appointment of Lombardi, 45, as general manager and head coach by the 13-man executive committee brought an end to a rumor-filled two-month search, and apparently put a stop to meddlesome front office set-up under which the Packers had three coaches in the past 10 years.

"My word will be final," Lombardi said in New York after the Packers announced his unanimous selection by the executive committee.

Real Fight Looms For Sandspur Lead

At this point, it looks as if a real fight is shaping up for the lead in the Sandspur Bowling League.

Five teams are lunched in the first three slots. Perfection Dairies has a one-game margin as it added one point to the list of wins, making a total of 8-4. Trailing Perfection by one game is ABC Garbage Service with 7-5, and half the league, Rounillat and Anderson Drugs, Wilson-Maier Furniture Co., and Robson Sporting Goods are in third place with a total of 6-8. In fourth slot is Wade's Market with 3-9.

Wilson-Maier rolled for two wins over Perfection, with Marie Woods rolling high for the furniture team with a 172-450 High for the Harry was Martin Adams with 162-474.

ABC took two games from Wade's in three close games. Betty Kelper was high for ABC and Dot Teslo rolled high for the Wade team.

Rounillat defeated Robson two out of the three games in another close match. Alberto Shaw was the drug-drugger, picking up the 6-11 split along the way. Rolling high for Robson's was Pat Foster.

Next Tuesday night will see Perfection pitted against Robson's. Wilson - Maier going against Wade's, and Rounillat's playing ABC.

Coast Sites Eyed

NEW YORK (UPI)—The National Basketball Association will send a four-man committee, headed by league President Maurice Podoloff, to the West Coast next month to study the possibility of expansion.

One out of every 14 American families has at least two television sets.

Mantle Deeper In Stengel's Doghouse

NEW YORK (UPI)—Mickey Mantle, the man the New York Yankees expected to be the "new DiMaggio," obviously was a step deeper in Casey Stengel's doghouse today as result of his salary holdout.

Mantle reportedly receives from $10,000 to $15,000. He is believed to be asking for $20,000.

Stengel believes Mantle could earn $125,000 but adds "he has kept himself from earning it."

The Mick obviously was one of Stengel's main targets as the grumpy Yankee skipper announced a new get tough policy in which laggards will be fined and those who fracture training rules "had better be able to tell midnight from noon" on the threat of being hit in the rear bumper by a moving van. In other words, those who don't put out 100 per cent will be traded. This could include Mantle.

Mantle is a man of great baseball talents. But he has not become either "the new" DiMaggio or a fairly acceptable factor in the old one. Last season he drew official wrath when he missed the train on a western trip. Stengel has made a point of his fielding deficiencies and said, on signing his current managerial contract, that Mantle was his "greatest disappointment."

Mantle is inclined to be sulky and petulant. Thus you can draw your own conclusions when Stengel says: "I wouldn't want a dissatisfied player. If he doesn't have a 100 per cent feeling, I would have to say we are open for deals. Nobody has a good year every year. Mantle led in three departments. He could have led in five, for he has the points to do it."

Thus when Stengel launches into a tirade against those who don't run out every ball, and against violators of the Yankees' unofficial curfew, most of the signs point in Mantle's direction. He also is irritated at Whitey Ford.

"The rules will be more strict this year," Stengel says. "They're gonna have to hustle or they'll be fined. And they better obey the training rules. Anybody who thinks he's bigger than the ball club might find himself traded."

Orioles To Be Much Stronger

EDITORS NOTE: This is the list of 16 dispatches by major league managers giving mid-winter appraisals of their teams.

By PAUL RICHARDS
Manager, Baltimore Orioles
Written For UPI

SCOTTSDALE, Ariz. (UPI)—

The Orioles of 1959 should be vastly improved over the 1958 team and a season relatively free of injuries to key performers could give us a real shot at the first division.

We figure to be improved for the following reasons:

1. The acquisition of veterans Chico Carrasquel, Bobby Avila, Jim Finigan and Billy Klaus have added considerable punch to the infield—a factor which was practically non-existent last year.
2. We seem to have found a center-fielder in Willie Tasby who can both hit and field and should help give us our best all-around outfield since Baltimore returned to the majors in 1954.
3. Our pitching should rank with the best in the American League.
4. Brooks Robinson, with a year of major league experience under his belt, could achieve stardom. Let's break down the team into its component parts and analyze them.

There's the outlook for strong pitching with a possible starting rotation of Jack Harshman, Milt Pappas, Billy O'Dell and Arnold Porter. Carrasquel, Hal Brown and Hoyt Wilhelm are available for spot starting as well as relief. The emergence of Wilhelm as a starter late last season gave a big lift to the staff. Ernie Johnson and George Zvernick help round out a capable bullpen. If Connie

Johnson and Billy Loes regain their 1957 form, the staff could boast as much depth as any in the majors.

Our catching is solid and experienced with Gus Triandos and Joe Mauer over the long haul, with Ginsberg at his best handling spot assignments.

The infield should be vastly improved. Kalus, Avila, Carrasquel and Finigan plus Robinson, Willie Miranda, Bob Boyd and Willie Gardner give us great depth and versatility in this department. Dark horse Ron Hansen should make veterans extend themselves at shortstop.

Tasby, Gene Woodling, Bob Nieman and Gene Green give ample opportunity for platooning and also for an "offensive outfield" as well as a "defensive" outfield in late innings. Rookie Leo Burke could make his presence felt with a good spring training showing.

I'm not one for making astonishing predictions but I believe the talent and depth of our squad means we're going to have a successful season.

Braves Unhappy; Friend Gets Raise, Yogi Signs

By MILTON RICHMAN
United Press International
Warren Spahn and the Milwaukee Braves are locked in a $50,000 stalemate, and the southpaw ace says it's their move because he won't budge an inch.

Spahn, who won 22 games last season and then added two more against the Yankees in the World Series, has been offered the same $50,000 contract as last year. He feels he deserves more and $10,000 would be a good guess at what he's asking.

Birdie Tebbets, executive vice president of the Braves, said, "We're not far apart."

In that opinion, he seems to be a minority of one, however.

"I'm glad Birdie feels we're not far apart," Spahn said. "I thought we were. I expect a raise."

Other Braves Dissatisfied

Spahn previously served notice he might be a tough customer to deal with this time when he revealed what his contract talks would be like before he even started them.

"I'll go in and remind them that I won 20 games again," said Spahn, who has done it nine times.

"And then they'll say, 'That's what we're paying you for, Warren, old boy.'"

In any case, Spahn isn't the only member of the Braves who is dissatisfied with his contract. Hank Aaron, Lew Burdette, Wes Covington and Don McMahon also are asking for more than they have been offered.

Some big leaguers, however, are setting the kind of raises they want.

Hoh Friend of the Pirates is one.

Gets Substantial Boost

Friend, who also won 22 games last season, became the 15th Pittsburgh player to sign after receiving a substantial boost. Friend earned it in spades, making the early start of any National League pitcher, 28, and becoming the first pitcher to win 20 games since Murry Dickson did it in 1951.

The Yankees made some headway in their contract signing campaign Wednesday by getting catcher Yogi Berra, although their ace pitcher, Bob Turley, dropped into their office, talked for a little while, and then walked out without agreeing to terms.

Berra said he was "very satisfied" with his new contract, believed to call for $37,500. That represented the restoration of part of a big slice he took last year after experiencing the worst season of his career in 1957. Tigers Sign Two

Rick Ferrell, the new acting general manager of the Tigers, signed his first two players, pitcher Paul Foyack, a 15-game winner last season, and infielder Inman (Cool) Veal, who batted .256 in 58 games.

The Phillies announced the signing of outfielder Wally Post and catcher Stan Lopata, while the Dodgers received the signed contracts of catcher John Roseboro and infielder Charlie Neal.

The Cardinals reported 18 players under contract with the signing of pitcher Von McDaniel and outfielder Chuck Essagian. McDaniel, a sensation in 1957, flopped completely last season and was dispatched first to Houston of the Texas League and then to Winston-Salem of the Class B Carolina League. Essagian was acquired from the Phils last month.

Signings announced by other clubs were:

While Sox—First baseman Ron Jackson, infielder Sammy Esposito, and pitchers Tom Quatters and Bill Dufour.

Athletics—Pitcher Bud Daley.

Orioles—infielder Wayne Causey and catcher Charlie (Sugar) White.

Most Germans Are Indignant, Feel No Guilt

FRANKFURT, Germany—(UPI)—Most Germans are indignant about—but feel no guilt for—crimes committed by Nazi concentration camp doctors and SS "liquidation" squads.

That is the view of Eugen Kogon, Germany's best known historian of Hitler's infamous concentration camp system.

Kogon was commenting in an interview on the reasons for and results of the recent rash of trials by West German courts of former Nazis.

"Public reaction to these trials," Kogon said, "has been one of great interest. Newspaper coverage of the trials of these same people or their colleagues by the Allied courts from 1945 to 1948 was just as comprehensive.

"The Germans weren't interested then. Now they are. But they are interested in these Nazi crimes much as they are interested in crimes of passion. There is great indignation. But there is no sense of collective guilt, and their reaction has not taken a political form."

On the other hand, Kogon said, medical associations for the first time formally are disassociating themselves as a group from the concentration camp doctors who used their syringes to murder for the Nazis.

Similarly, he said, the Waffen SS as a group has disassociated itself from the liquidation squads whose job was to exterminate Jews and other "Non-Aryan" races.

"And with state judicial officers and the newspapers turning a searchlight on the former Nazis," Kogon added, "any possible 'rehabilitation' of Germany has been delayed."

But, he added, he knows of no case in which a university has withdrawn a medical degree or title from a concentration camp doctor-murderer, although all such men obviously broke the Hippocratic Oath.

Kogon, a writer, magazine editor and university professor, was active early in the anti-Nazi movement in Germany and Austria and spent many years in Buchenwald concentration camp, from which the American army freed him in 1945.

Shortly thereafter, he wrote a book called "Der SS Staat" (the American edition was titled "The Theory and Practice of Hell") which was the first detailed account of the Nazi concentration camp system. It is still considered one of the best books in this field, and has just been reissued both in Germany and the United States.

During the last two years, there has been a flurry of trials of former Nazis by German courts. Kogon said he is as much at a loss as anyone else to account for this sudden activity.

All he can do is record the circumstantial evidence.

"From 1943 to 1948, the Allies handled all the war crimes trials of Nazis, and the Germans apparently considered it was strictly an affair for the Allies. After 1948 (when the Allied trials ended), the Germans considered the whole business settled," Kogon said.

He continued:

"What I don't understand is the failure of the German authorities to draw up lists of all Nazis suspected of crimes, and see which ones required further prosecution. No one did this, although the documents were certainly available."

"Beginning in 1950, there was an occasional German trial of Nazis. All of these, note well, were based on denunciations. Some individuals who had been in a concentration camp would see one of these former doctors who had killed in a matter walking on the street and report to the police. A case would be prepared, and from that case would come perhaps one or two new cases."

Another element was the return, beginning in 1953, of prisoners of war from Russia. These returnees included some Nazi criminals who were tried, and their cases in turn caused new cases.

"But one great difficulty in preparing such cases," Kogon continued, "is the lack of witnesses. The best witnesses have since died."

"And the best witnesses of all, the Communists, won't testify. There are several reasons for this. First, most of the German Communists who could be witnesses now live in East Germany. Second, the Communists always allege West Germany is a Nazi-controlled, militaristic state, and they have no political interest in helping West Germany clean house."

"Third, there is the question of co-responsibility. The Communists themselves were responsible for many of the things that happened inside the concentration camps. They do not care to have the fact exposed."

"The difficulty in all this is that, for lack of witnesses, many trials may end in acquittal for the Nazis. I foresee the current interest in these trials going on for another two years or so and then possibly for lack of conviction, the German people will throw up their hands and say, 'spare us from all this foolishness!'"

Too Late To Classify

By Russell Kay

Progress in the exploration of outer space has been so rapid that it is beyond the capacity of the average mind to grasp and understand what is happening. From experimental rockets we have moved into outer space with satellites capable of probing the universe itself.

The layman wonders if the tremendous effort and expense involved in attempts to shoot the moon or put a satellite in orbit around the sun is justified when there is still so much that needs to be done here on earth.

What returns can we expect from this type of investment? According to the scientists and military authorities concerned with scientific progress and national defense, the knowledge and experience we are gaining is worth all and more than the program is costing.

The benefits to mankind they tell us can prove immeasurable, not only from the standpoint of national defense but in many other ways. It is their firm belief from knowledge already gained we can look forward to the day when man will be able to control the weather, subdue hurricanes, forecast months in advance what weather may be expected in different areas.

Through the study of radiation, heat and light waves and other data, much aid can be given in the fields of transportation and communication. They vision the day when television programs will reach every corner of the globe bounced from satellites back to earth and you will sit in your living room and watch live programs coming to you via outer space from Paris, Tokyo or Australia.

Medical science hopes that through knowledge gained from outer space we will be able in time to control many diseases including cancer. There is much to be gained from a study of cosmic rays and magnetic fields and the beep-beep of present day satellites is revealing much information of tremendous scientific value.

Rockets and satellites will play an important part in Florida's development. Already they have brought thousands of technicians to the state, caused the establishment of numerous industries that are giving permanent employment to a great many people.

As these thousands of people migrate to our state it means that we must step up our building program, real estate values rise, new stores and services are required so that the prosperity trickles down to the butcher, and baker, and candlestick maker.

Florida is in a dominant position in this fast developing new field. Indications are that the program will be stepped up as our competition with Russia becomes keener. Rocket launching will be expanded in the state, more new industries will develop, more jobs of every kind will be opening up, and more and more people will migrate here to remain as permanent residents.

If you are interested in learning more about satellites and what they mean to Florida and the nation's future I suggest you read "Satellite" written by Eric Herzog and William Heller,

Tax Cut Possible For Self-Employed

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Congressional tax writers soon will begin a drive to give major tax relief to self-employed persons, it was disclosed yesterday.

The drive will start so early in the 80th Congress that backers figure the legislation has a good chance of reaching the White House this year.

The tax relief proposal—which would cost the Treasury an estimated 265 million dollars in revenue—is designed to help doctors, lawyers, business proprietors and other self-employed persons build up retirement funds.

It would allow self-employed persons to defer payment of taxes until age 65 on 10 per cent of their earnings which they voluntarily place in retirement funds. The maximum amount on which tax deferral would be granted would be set at $2,500 a year.

Members said the bill would be voted up for a vote within the next week or two in the House Ways and Means Committee, which initiates all tax legislation. It was regarded as a foregone conclusion that the legislation would be approved.

Ex-Suitor Shoots Woman, Kills Self

MIAMI (UPI)—A rejected suitor shot his ex-girlfriend and then killed himself Tuesday night in view of her three children and her new boyfriend.

The woman, Mrs. Jacqueline Louise Costan, 32, was in "good" condition at a hospital today. But the suitor, James Thomas Cheatham, 41, was killed instantly when he shot himself in the head.

Police said Cheatham, who was married, had been pestering Mrs. Costan for several days. She had hired a private detective service for protection. She had dated Cheatham for about a year before meeting R. J. Platt, 35, recently.

Cheatham came to her home only minutes after the agency she had hired for protection checked the house. He pounded on the door while Mrs. Costan and Platt were putting her three children to bed.

Mrs. Costan went to a front window to plead with Cheatham to leave, and he shot her as she was silhouetted in the window. Cheatham crashed through the front door and grappled with Platt. The struggle broke off when both men saw the injured woman lying on the floor. As Platt ran to the woman, Cheatham shot himself.

Despite 'Strain,' Singer Still GI

SOUTHAMPTON, England (UPI)—British rock and roll singer Terry Dene will stay in the army for a while despite the "emotional strain" army officials said yesterday.

Dene, 19, who says he patterned his singing style and gyrations after those of Elvis Presley, has found the British army tougher sounding than GI Elvis has the American.

He was inducted last week with Presley-style press and television coverage, but two days later was in bed in a psychiatric ward because of the emotional strain.

However, the army said, press reports that he was getting a medical discharge yesterday were "quite untrue."

Parliament was going into the Dene issue yesterday after wide-spread criticism of the way his six-day army career turned out.

Elvis, in the meantime, was contentedly serving with an armored division in Germany, releasing from his jeep-driving duties in a hotel suite he has rented and commuting to his barracks in a hand-built sports car.

Drifting 8 Days, 2 Rescued At Sea

NORFOLK, Va. (UPI)—Two men who lived eight days on fruit juice and biscuits in an open dingy after their yacht sank in a heavy gale were on their way to Fayport, Fla. yesterday, giving thanks to a Dutch baron who saved their lives.

The men, George Harrington, 37, a lawyer from Row Gardens, N. Y., and Marson Crowell, 34, a boat-builder from Riverton, N. J., were described in a terse bulletin from the Dutch aircraft carrier Karel Doorman as "thin, nevertheless in good condition."

The Baron of Slottspoorville, Holland, who doubles as Navy Lt. and pilot Jaa van den Clooster, spotted the open dingy on his radar screen as he flew a routine patrol exercise from the carrier Tuesday.

A helicopter was dispatched from the carrier and the men were picked up and brought aboard.

The Coast Guard at Norfolk said the men, missing since they left New York for Bermuda 18 days ago aboard the 46-foot sloop Altair, took to the dingy Jan. 10 when a two-day gale sank their sloop.

They drifted aimlessly for eight days with nothing but fruit juice and biscuits until spotted by the baron.

Man's Space Ship To Get First Test

DATYON, Ohio (UPI)—The U. S. will move a step closer to manned space flight Saturday when the Air Force's X15 will be carried aloft for the first time by B-52.

The X15 has been named by the Defense Department officials as the vehicle which will probably carry the first American into space.

'D-Day' in Paris: Dior Will Unveil New 'Supple' Line

PARIS (UPI)—Today was "D" day in Paris. "D" standing for Dior, standing for the House of Dior that helped pull France out of her post-war slump by launching the controversial money-making new look.

Today, as every year at this time since the war, hundreds of newswomen and buyers examined the grey and gold Dior salon to watch the unveiling of a new line that could change female fashions around the world.

Also showing today were two of the most influential dressmakers in Paris: Lanvin Castillo and Chanel. Castillo was said to have the most colorful and elaborately embroidered collection in Paris.

He told United Press International Wednesday, 24 hours before unveiling his pace-setting spring collection, that his new line would make a woman look like nature made her.

"For the first time in years women will be simple, supple and natural," he said.

And he explained that this meant busts and waists where they should be, although all dresses would not be belted.

"Skirts will be natural," said Saint-Laurent, pointing out that, of course, their length would vary with the dress.

This back-to-nature line is what the Paris dressmakers have been showing all week.

Guy La Roche, Jacques Griffe and Serge Matia all presented their own variations on this silhouette theme Wednesday.

Slasher Kills One, Cuts Eight Others

TOKYO (UPI)—One teen-age girl was killed and eight other young women injured Tuesday night by a maniac who rode through a crowded Tokyo street on a bicycle and slashed away with a razor sharp instrument.

The attacks occurred so suddenly that most of the victims did not even see the slasher.

Dead from excessive bleeding from slashes across her breast was Yoshiko Tanabe, a 14-year-old junior high school student who was on the street in front of her home.

Another 17-year-old was in critical condition with chest wounds. Several of the others, all in their late teens or early twenties, were reported with serious injuries.

Witnesses reported that the assailant, a young man about 20 years old and dressed as a factory worker, did not stop his bicycle during his attacks.

Pro Golfers Pick Bayer In Tourney
SAN DIEGO, Calif. (UPI)—The touring golf professionals held a caucus and came to the conclusion that George Bayer, the long hitter from Glen Eagles, Ill., should win the San Diego Open golf tournament, hands down.

"This is a driving man's course," said Jimmy Demaret, the veteran from Texas as play got under way today. "And Bayer is the man to beat. As a matter of fact, he should win the tournament by five strokes."

Bayer, however, has been having his troubles on the putting greens and more unbiased observers believe the winner probably will come from such seasoned performers as Arnold Palmer, Art Wall or Ken Venturi.

No Patterson Bout In Folley's Future
DENVER (UPI)—Zora Folley doesn't expect to get a shot at Floyd Patterson, the world's heavyweight boxing champion, very soon, regardless of the outcome of tonight's bout with Alex Mitoff at the Denver Auditorium arena.

Folley, a 53 favorite to whip Mitoff in their scheduled 10-round heavyweight bout tonight, plans to return to England, where he will fight either Joe Erskine or Dick Richardson, high ranking British Empire heavyweights.

Folley, the fourth-ranked heavyweight contender from Chandler, Ariz., was No. 1 challenger to Patterson's crown until he lost to Henry Cooper, British Empire champion, by a decision last year in London. Mitoff is unranked.

Soviet Peasants Support Khrushchev

MOSCOW (UPI)—Russian peasants pledged themselves at rallies throughout the land today to carry out Premier Nikita Khrushchev's program to outproduce the West and win the world for Communism.

Mass meetings at factories and collective farms hailed the seven-year economic development plan which Khrushchev laid before the 21st special Communist Party congress Tuesday, the state radio reported.

They pledged to over-fulfill their quotas.

Revsde Warning Khrushchev told the Congress that war can be eliminated by peaceful economic competition.

But he warned that the enormous forces of the Communist world "can rebuff the imperialist aggressor and crush them if they unleash a new war." He added that Russian intercontinental missiles are now in mass production.

The congress' 1,200 voting delegates met today inside the Kremlin in voice agreement with Khrushchev's boast that:

"The seven-year plan plus production increases in other Soviet camp nations would bring their output to more than half the world's total."

"Other countries will see the superiority of Communism and adopt it as the quickest way to industrialization. Then the peaceful triumph of Communism over capitalism will be assured."

Meet In Secret The delegates, which included Khrushchev's deputy Anastas Mikoyan, fresh from his sortie behind the American lines, were meeting in secret after Tuesday's precedent-breaking action in admitting Western correspondents.

The "debate" on Khrushchev's program began this morning with a speech by Ukrainian Delegate Viktor Podgorny.

The Khrushchev speech also covered these points:

Berlin: West Berlin must be a free city with the possibility of United Nations guarantees.

Nuclear Arms: Both the West and the Soviet Union should destroy their stocks. An atom-free zone should be proclaimed throughout the Far East and the Pacific.

The American People: The majority of them want friendship with the Russians and "do not believe the anti-Soviet propaganda."

Other new men in the Sanford Company are Robert M. Morris, who with his father operates the M-Q Ranch at Osteen, James J. Harvey, P. O. Box 127 Osteen, employed by Sanford Electric Co., and Leander J. Gourley, 2100 Elm Ave., a student at Seminole High School.

Also enlisted in the unit were Louis A. Morris, P. O. Box 84 Geneva, a commercial fisherman, and Charles W. Park, New Hampshire St., Apopka.

Morris and Harvey already have departed for six-months active duty. The other men will leave for their training tour in the next few months.

When these men return to Sanford, Company B — with 106 men in its ranks — will have over 50 per cent of its members with active duty training credit. Thirty-two members already have completed the six-months course and seven others now are taking the training.

Many of the other guardsmen are World War II and Korean veterans.

The first leg of the guardsman's training will consist of eight weeks of basic combat training—the same training received by all regular Army recruits. After that the men are given a 14-day leave, followed by eight weeks of "specialist" training in their assigned military specialty.

This can range from advanced infantry leadership training, radio mechanics, vehicle mechanics, clerk's school or other military occupation.

The remaining eight weeks of the guardsman's six-months tour of duty will consist of unit training, in which he will have an opportunity to put his newly-acquired skills into practice under realistic field conditions.

Upon completion of the six months tour, the guardsmen return to the Sanford unit as qualified soldiers in their specialty.

Ben-Gurion Hints Of Locating Jews
TEL AVIV (UPI)—Israeli Premier David Ben-Gurion Wednesday night strongly hinted at the possibility of large-scale Jewish immigration here from Russia.

Ben-Gurion, addressing a rally for an immigration loan to aid Jews being allowed to come here from Communist Romania, said "there is reason to believe that if we absorb the present wave of 250,000 to 300,000 Jewish immigrants, the gates will be opened to the greatest concentration of Jews in the old world."

"If immigration were permitted from that country," he added "it would be the greatest miracle in our history."

Ben-Gurion did not mention the Soviet Union by name but it was plain that that is what he meant.

Cuba has published its first atlas. Based on the 1953 census, the 160-page book includes 156 municipal maps of the island's six provinces.

Guard Unit Here Enlists 40th Six-Month Recruit

Sanford's Army National Guard Unit, Company B, 154th Armored Infantry Battalion, Florida Army National Guard, has enlisted its 40th recruit for the six-months active duty training program.

During the past six weeks, seven new men have joined the local company to fulfill their military obligation while serving in the local unit. The latest enlistees in the unit are Harry H. Spencer and Robert L. Spencer. The two brothers reside at 3131 Orlando Dr. Harry is assistant manager of the Winn-Dixie Super Market in Sanford, Robert is employed at the Ritz Theatre.

Other new men in the Sanford Company are Robert M. Morris, who with his father operates the M-Q Ranch at Osteen, James J. Harvey, P. O. Box 127 Osteen, employed by Sanford Electric Co., and Leander J. Gourley, 2100 Elm Ave., a student at Seminole High School.

Eisenhower Plans Two Trips South

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Eisenhower was making plans today for two trips southward—a short vacation in Thomasville, Ga., next week and a meeting with new Mexican President Adolfo Lopez Mateos in Acapulco, Feb. 19-20.

The visit between the two presidents at the beach resort will be informal. This will eliminate the ceremonies which would be involved in a state visit to the Mexican capital, Mexico City.

A visit to Mexico City also would subject Eisenhower to all-titudes of more than 700 feet. This is considered too high for a person with a history of heart trouble.

Eisenhower will go to the Thomasville estate of former Treasury Secretary George M. Humphrey next Wednesday or Thursday for a quiet shooting holiday. He will return Feb. 8 and participate in the commemoration of Abraham Lincoln's 150th birthday later the same week.

Austria Flexes Muscles With Small, Good Army

VIENNA —(UPI)— In three days, Austria has built from scratch a small but well-trained army of 45,000 men, almost all infantry.

At the end of the British-French-American Soviet occupation in 1955, each of the four powers gave Austria vast stores of military material, including tankettes, small arms, vehicles, some tanks and ammunition.

Since then, Austria has purchased a number of 105s to 40 mm anti-aircraft guns from Sweden and a few British planes for its small air force.

Now, Defense Minister Ferdinand Graf told United Press International, he is planning to equip all infantrymen with rapid-fire submachine guns or "sturm gewehr," and is even negotiating with Communist Czechoslovakia on the possible purchase of rocket artillery.

The artillery consists of units of 32 barrels each, mounted on carriers. They were developed during World War II.

Graf said any rocket artillery more modern than this was too expensive for such a small nation as Austria, which has a population of only 7,000,000.

Such items as the American-made Matador guided missile, which can carry either a conventional or atomic warhead, and with which the West Germans will be equipped in about a year, would be too expensive, he said.

Graf explained that the Austrian ground forces now are formed into 10 brigades, nine infantry and one armored. The self-sufficient brigades can fight in isolation for long periods or can be grouped together in "building block" fashion to form a heavy concentration. This is the same system now being used by the new West German army.

The problems raised by Austria's geographical situation, in the heart of Europe and between the world's two major power blocs, are formidable, Graf said.

"For the Warsaw Pact states," he said, "Austria forms a strategic operational springboard for an advance into West Germany, to the Swiss border, towards Upper Italy and to the Adriatic."

Graf believes Austria is secure if it shows a strong national defense - strong enough to be respected by all sides. But, he warns, "A military vacuum would have a magnetic effect." In that case, each great power bloc would feel it must step in and control the ground in Austria.

Longhairs Riding, Barber Is Happy

HOLLYWOOD —(UPI)— The longhairs are back in the saddle again, and Ralph Trejo, a Hollywood barber, couldn't be happier.

"This sort of thing will put me in the upper brackets," he said. "Ab, I should have such a wonderful chance to know how it is to suffer because of wealth."

Trejo's personal recession ended up when westerns began cluttering up TV screens. Long may they clutter, as far as Trejo is concerned.

These cowboy actors must have hair which is considerably longer than most guys' hair," he said. "But that doesn't mean fewer haircuts—far from it. It means more haircuts. They have to keep it at the same length, and that means each guy has to get a haircut about every two weeks. Time was when a guy could go for three weeks, and it wouldn't look too bad."

"It's much more noticeable, too, not just because of the length but also because of the bleaching effect. Many actors in westerns are out in the sun longer than other people. Their hair starts to lighten on the ends. Then they come to me for haircuts."

One member of Trejo's clientele is Morgan Woodward, who plays Shotgun Gibbs in "The Life and Legend of Wyatt Earp" series.

"Mr. Woodward has interesting hair," his barber said. "It grows about half an inch every month. It's healthy. I cut it about every 12 days in keep it looking the same. He is one of those who are outdoors so much that the ends are bleached by the sun. He comes in every 12 days or sooner if the ends are lighter in color."

Trejo also reported that actors are more nervous than non-actors.

Lit'l Giant To Open Here Tomorrow

Sanford's newest chain store will open tomorrow.

The Lit'l Giant Food Store at French Ave. and Catherine St. will hold its grand opening Friday through Sunday.

The drive-in food store will remain open seven days a week from 7 a. m. until 11 p. m. Convenience is stressed in the Lit'l Giant store, which features quick service as well as curb service. The operation of the store is not to be compared with that of a super market, officials said.

John Graham has been selected as local manager. Graham and his wife have moved to Sanford from Omaha, where he was former manager of another Lit'l Giant store. The modern building is built of concrete block, and accessible from both streets. A well-paved parking area increases its convenience. The latest equipment has been installed. More than 4,000 items will be carried, including all food supplies and beauty aids.

The Lit'l Giant Food Stores are owned and operated by Giant Food Stores Inc., with headquarters in Omaha. Leon J. Souther, general manager of the company, will be in Sanford for the opening tomorrow.

Mardi Gras Fan

NEW ORLEANS (UPI)—Jon Wood, 18, must have wanted to see the Mardi Gras in the worst way.

He made the 1,000-mile trip here from his home in Brookfield, Wis., by bicycle. It took him three weeks and cost $16.

The new manager, John Graham, said "We feel very fortunate in securing this wonderful location in such a progressive, fast-growing city as Sanford. We are looking forward to becoming a part of your city and assisting in every way possible toward continued progress in the future."

LONDON (UPI)—The Association of Dog Biscuit Manufacturers announced that it will not award its silver trophy and a six-month supply of dog biscuits to the bravest British dog this year because no British dog has been sufficiently brave.

Cagers Traded

NEW YORK (UPI)—The New York Knicks have traded forward Guy Sparrow to the Philadelphia Warriors for guard Jack George in a deal forced on both clubs by their injury list. It was officially confirmed today.

Big Teen-Age War Headed Off By Law

WINTER HAVEN (UPI)—Police headed off a big teen-age war here Wednesday night after receiving tips from several anxious parents.

The entire police force of this small citrus city—10 men—was called after reports came to the station that two teen-age gangs would gather for a battle at the Big Lake Silver Amphitheater.

Two policemen were "staked out" at the amphitheater at 9 p. m. when groups of boys began arriving. They were armed with ammonite and sling shots to hurl heavy roofing staples.

The officers, Detective Ray Willis and Patrolman Gerald Hunter, called for help.

All six Winter Haven police cars were called out and some officers summoned from the police training school which was underway in the city courtroom. By the time officers arrived the milling mob had grown to about 50.

Despite being badly outnumbered, the foot-footed officers nabbed 21 persons ranging in age from 17 to at least two fruit pickers from nearby Auburndale who were over 20.

Police Chief Muncie Smith said several of the boys were from prominent families.

Gets Three Winners

WHEELING, W. Va. (UPI)—Jockey Fred Kratz highlighted the Charles Town racing program Tuesday with three straight winners. Kratz scored on Dauntless Darrah ($4.00) in the fourth, Andy Hope ($17.00) in the fifth and Happy Retreat ($18.00) in the sixth.

The average American sees his doctor about five times a year.

All were charged under a state law with unlawful assembly and under a city ordinance with vagrancy.

Bond was set at $125 but many were released on their own recognizance.

Police recovered no weapons. They said the boys threw their weapons away before being arrested and officers said they had their hands full catching the youths.

Several of the young prisoners said the boys who escaped told them they planned to double back later and pick up any weapons which had been thrown away.

County Purchasing Criticized In Audit

Seminole County Commissioners were criticized yesterday by State Auditor Bryan Willis, who reported that the Board made purchases of more than $51,000 contrary to a state law requiring bids on each purchase over $500.

Most of the buying was for road and bridge supplies; asphalt, culverts, lime rock, concrete pipe and slag. Some $2,500 was for an addressograph and typewriter, which came from the general fund. The addressograph was purchased for the Superintendent of Registration.

Willis also said that the Commission placed identical orders for official records indexes amounting to $498 each, at the same time, and had paid for them with the same check. The orders were made on a split invoice. The total of the two would have made the purchase subject to the bid law.

The net income was $23,126.89. O. P. Herndon, clerk, was paid a salary of $9,000, and returned $14,126.89 to the county.

Total receipts of Prosecuting Attorney Karlje Housholder were $10,635. Housholder's expenses came to $1,604. His compensation is $7,500. Justice of the Peace Hugh Duncan reported receipts of $7,231.65. His expenses were $1,210.57. He received a net income of $6,021.08.
