Supreme Court Justice Fortas Quits Under Fire

WASHINGTON (AP) — Supreme Court Justice Abe Fortas, under pressure to resign from the court after receiving and then returning $20,000 from the family foundation of convicted stock broker Louis Wolfson, announced his resignation today.

A court spokesman said today Fortas sent his letter of resignation to the White House Wednesday night and at the same time sent to the Chief Justice Earl Warren a letter of explanation about the Wolfson family foundation fee.

Fortas' office last night and he is announcing his resignation from the court this morning," the spokesman said. A resignation from the court under pressure is unprecedented.

Sen. Clark MacGregor, R-Miss., formally asked the House Judiciary Committee Wednesday to launch an investigation of the first step toward possible impeachment action.

MacGregor wanted the House committee to determine whether Fortas' conduct warranted impeachment proceedings. Fortas accepted the fee from the foundation while serving on the high court.

Fortas' office last night and he is announcing his resignation from the court this morning," the spokesman said. A resignation from the court under pressure is unprecedented.

Abe Fortas

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Nixon accepted today the resignation of Supreme Court Justice Abe Fortas, effective immediately.

The Justice Department declined to comment. Atty. Gen. John Mitchell discussed the case with Warren earlier this week.

The Times said the documents in the government's possession, plus Wolfson's statement to government investigators last week, are being interpreted by Justice Department officials to mean Fortas appeared to be willing to assist Wolfson in a Securities and Exchange Commission investigation of the firm.

The Los Angeles Times said Fortas' resignation was effective immediately.

Altamonte Council Stages Donnybrook

Explanation was given by Mayor W. Lawrence Swafford later that he had requested the law enforcement officers to be present when he received telephone calls threatening the safety of Councilman William Nuckols. "I had threatening calls saying they would 'get' Nuckols here tonight," the mayor declared.

The meeting which had been stormy throughout was Councilman Albert Sabharwal, Nuckols and Donald Martin walk out when Mayor Swafford, answering questions from the packed audience, refused to recognize motion by Nuckols to adjourn. A roar of boos was heard as the three left the Council chambers. The trio after hearing one another's statements plea after another from the audience, which spilled over in the clerk's office, the police chief's office and the parking lot outside, listened to a motion by Councilman Keith Nixon, with second by Swafford, to restore Mr. Bardeen to her full capacity as clerk. The motion, met with booming applause from the audience, was defeated on a three-to-two vote as Nuckols, Sabharwal and Martin cast "no" ballots on the motion. Nuckols insisted the 100-to-200 people present represented a small minority of the citizens of the city and that the matter of Mr. Bardeen's dismissal was

Local Airport Bond Bill Approved

By FRED VAN PELT

City of Sanford "won one and lost one" before the Seminole-Orange legislative delegation last night at Tallahassee, according to Rep. E. Pope Bassett in a telephone interview today.

The city won its airport revenue bonding bill and lost its urban renewal measure. Bassett, delegation secretary, said that the city being advised that "the delegation unanimously accepted the concept of creating an authority with powers to operate the airport at Sanford and with powers to issue industrial revenue bonds. Due to consideration of a general bill on individual revenue bonds the Democratic legislative leaders have tabled all local revenue bond bills until adoption of the statewide bill, at that time all local revenue bonds will be reauthorized to conform with the state law and approved."

Bassett said the city's request for urban renewal was not considered last night "after it was remembered we had killed that measure in the city of Sanford last March at Orlando."

The airport and urban renewal bills were on the agenda of a Monday evening session because, according to the delegation's attorney, Carter Bradford, "if couldn't find copies of the bills."

Sanford city commissioners gave carte blanche on several bills they measure in the delegation last night when it approved a measure permitting them "to set their own pay."

Former Sanford City Commissioner M. L. Raborn Jr. won his fight to have the voters of Sanford elect the mayor. (Currently, the five city commissioners choose the mayor from among themselves.)

Raborn's proposal, as a private citizen, was turned down at Monday night session in the former city commissioner appeared at last night's meeting in Tallahassee and successfully pleaded his case. The delegation reversed itself and approved Raborn's measure for presentation to the voters.

Urban Renewal 'Dead Issue'

Sanford City Manager W. E. Knowles has advised the City Commission that since the Seminole Mutual Concert Association is the only group needing the dressing rooms at the Civic Center, a review of the use of the facility by the concert group was made and according to the figures, the stage was used four times this year and total rental fee for all four times was $100.04. This indicates, Knowles explained that an average $25.00 per performance would be available from the concert group to amortize this improvement cost plus maintenance. Knowles notes, "with an estimated $21,000 cost to improve, this indicates it would take 830 years to amortize the work."

In the housing department, the Clerk didn't have the answer. Do you? Howcum the city and county allow trucks to line up along the roads and encroach in the produce business? The story is that there are few of these "merchants" that raise their inventory. Do they pay an occupational license fee like the merchants who have stores? They are located on highway rights of way — so evidently don't pay rent. And because of the "no overhead status" pay taxes with merchants that pay taxes on property, pay occupational license fees, generally contribute to community projects. So — howcum? As we said, we don't know the answer. Someone tell us.

COUNCILMAN WILLIAM NUCKOLS (see above) listens attentively to Paul Glauferstein, developer of an apartment building complex recently annexed to the city, as he heaps praise on the fired city clerk Mrs. Dorothy Bardeen. Glauferstein urged the city governing body to reinstate the clerk to her position for the good of the city. Meanwhile, Attorney Joe Murasko and Mayor W. Lawrence Swafford level charges at each other. Swafford urged citizens with questions concerning the Altamonte Springs City Council to contact a city official rather than writing to Washington at Murasko's house. (Photos by Virginia Scruggs)

Self-Help Plan Set Up For Blighted Areas

By HILL SCOTT

The Citizens Advisory Committee of the City of Sanford is planning a self-help program to enable residents of the blighted areas of Georgetown to receive free advice and help toward renovating their homes to bring them up to city code requirements.

Citing the inability of the city to get urban renewal legislation passed at Tallahassee to enable the city to receive federal grants from the Federal government, Art Harris, advisory chairman, said it appeared the only way to help persons living in areas to update their homes was to utilize the help of carpenters, plumbers, electricians and home improvement firms who move in with their blue suede shoes and promise much and do little.

John Daniel, advisory chairman, said it was surprising how many people are "in trouble" because of firms who, after receiving a signature on the dotted line, sell the paper to a finance company for a discount and the homeowner ends up paying nearly 10 times what a home repair

English Estates Building Nixed By Zoning Board

A delegation of 150 residents of the English Estates area won their fight against a rezoning change last night when the County Planning and Zoning Commission upheld their position.

The I-I-L Corporation had requested a recommendation for approval by the County Commission changing zoning from A-1 agriculture to R-3 multiple family of 20 acres just east of English Estates School.

The P and Z commission denied the I-I-L request for rezoning.

George W. Carver, Jr. was approved of a zoning change from M-1 industrial to A-1 agriculture at University Terrace, Inc. in culture of a tract in the vicinity of Cameron Avenue and Hughey Street.

Resignation Withdrawn

Altamonte Springs Councilman and Vice-mayor Keith Nixon, in a surprise move following walk-out of fellow Council members William Nuckols, Donald Martin and Albert Sabharwal, last night, withdrew his resignation from the Council.

"I am going to continue on for the rest of my term," he declared, "and see this matter through."

Nixon had stated his intention to resign before the Council last week when City Clerk Dorothy Bardeen was fired effective May 30. At a citizens meeting just last Friday, he remarked that although Council had refused to accept his resignation, he planned to quit anyway. "I can't bear the thought of having to sit behind Nuckols for another seven months," he said at the time.

He also told the citizens at the Community House of his sleepless nights after fruitless Council meetings.

Change in decision was apparently brought about last night by the large turnout of citizens indicating support for the clerk and for Nixon, who had stated that although Council had refused to accept his resignation, he planned to quit anyway. "I can't bear the thought of having to sit behind Nuckols for another seven months," he said at the time.

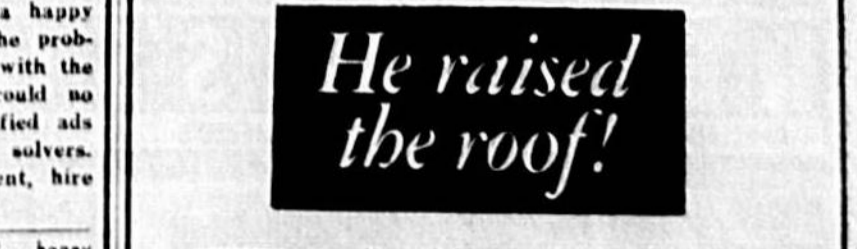

Another Session?

Another stormy session of Altamonte Springs City Council can be expected at 7:30 p.m. tonight if the majority of the governing body go through with their announced intent of holding an official meeting.

Councilmen William Nuckols, Albert Sabharwal and Donald Martin on making motion to adjourn, which was not recognized by the chairman, Mayor W. Lawrence Swafford, last night announced the meeting would continue tonight.

Peace Conferees To Get Nixon Offer

By LEWIS GILICK
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's eight-point Vietnam peace offer, including a plan for a mutual pull-out of major forces over a 12-month span, goes to Paris today amid a generally favorable response from U.S. politicians.

What enemy negotiators think of it will start unfolding when the chief U.S. envoy at the peace talks, Henry Cabot Lodge, presents it at the weekly Paris Friday in Paris.

Lodge hurried to Washington Wednesday to confer with Nixon, hear the President's nationwide address, attend a special combined national security Council-Cabinet session this morning and then speed back to Paris in an Air Force jet.

Nixon's half-hour telecast—his disguised American defeat," he said.

—Delivered a veiled warning to Hanoi against military offensives, saying, "I must make clear in all candor that if the need arises, suffering continues, this will affect other decisions."

—Appealed to the American people "whatever our differences," to back his peace offer.

—Nothing could have a greater effect in convincing the enemy that he should negotiate in good faith than to see the American people united behind a generous and reasonable peace offer," he said.

White House sources said Nixon timed his offer which had been ready for some weeks, for delivery now because this seems to be the best moment for a U.S. move to thaw the Paris deadlock. The President's "concrete proposals" were:

—"As soon as agreement can be reached, all non-South Vietnamese forces would begin withdrawals from South Vietnam."

—Over a period of 12 months, by agreed-upon stages, the major portions of all U.S. Allied and other non-South Vietnamese forces would be withdrawn. At the end of this 12-month period, the remaining U.S. Allied and other non-South Vietnamese forces would move into designated base areas and would not engage in combat operations.

—The remaining U.S. and allied forces would move to complete their withdrawals as the remaining North Vietnamese forces were withdrawn and returned to North Vietnam.

—An international supervisory body, acceptable to both sides, would be created for the purpose of verifying withdrawals, and for any other purposes agreed upon between the two sides.

—This international body would begin operating in accordance with an agreed timetable, and would participate in all international agreements under the supervision of the international body.

—"Arrangements would be made for the release of prisoners of war on both sides at the earliest possible time."

—All parties would agree to 1954 regarding Vietnam and Cambodia, and the Laos accords of 1962.

The first white man to settle in South Dakota was probably Pierre Dorion, who arrived in the lower James River in 1775.

VC, Nixon Peace Offers Compared

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's report to the nation on Vietnam, including his own formula for reaching peace, came six days after the Viet Cong presented a 10-point plan for settlement of the war.

Here is a summary comparison of the two proposals.

Point 1 of the Viet Cong asked respect for rights of independence, sovereignty, unity and territorial integrity as recognized by the 1954 Geneva agreement on Vietnam. Nixon said a peace agreement would have all parties agree to observe those accords.

Point 2 called for unconditional withdrawal of American troops and bases from South Vietnam.

Nixon proposed simultaneous withdrawal by both sides with complete disengagement from combat by foreign forces in 12 months. He said, "We have also ruled out either a one-sided withdrawal from Vietnam, or the acceptance in Paris of terms that would amount to a disguised American defeat."

In their third point, the Viet Cong said it is the right of Vietnamese people to continue to fight if they choose for their independence.

In proposing the 12-month pull-out, Nixon said foreign troops would then no longer engage in combat operations; saying nothing about requiring a halt. He suggested, however, the international supervisory group watching withdrawal of troops also could seek cease fires.

Point 4 of the Viet Cong said South Vietnamese people should "decide themselves the political regime of South Vietnam through free and democratic general elections," including a coalition government.

Nixon said: "We are prepared to accept any government in South Vietnam that results from the free choice of the South Vietnamese people themselves."

The fifth point of the Viet Cong says political forces representing all social strata and every shade of political tendency in South Vietnam would set up an interim government for the six to nine years. An estimated 20 million persons were stricken during the last outbreak in 1964.

Income Surtax Facing Troubles

By EDMOND LEBRET
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's proposed extension of the income surtax, a key part of the administration's fiscal plans, is facing problems both in and out of Congress.

"It is in serious trouble," declares Rep. Charles A. Vanik, D-Ohio, a member of the tax-writing House Ways and Means Committee. He said Nixon's urban policy had alienated some congressmen who might have supported the surtax extension past the June 30 deadline.

"We've got some work to do," concedes Rep. John W. Byrnes of Wisconsin, the ranking Republican on the committee.

New threats to the surtax extension came Wednesday when two powerful groups declared any such bill must be coupled with sweeping reforms of the entire federal tax structure.

The AFL-CIO Executive Council said it will not support the extension unless it is combined with "immediate, substantial and equitable reform." The suggested reforms go beyond what Nixon proposed last month.

Administration officials have a chance next week to try to stir up support for the Nixon program. They will appear before the committee to urge a surtax extension designed to produce about $10 billion to help balance the budget.

"At this point I find practically no one who is willing to support the surtax," reports Vanik, who says he conducted a survey of about 30 House members.

Byrnes wouldn't go that far, but he indicated that as the Republican's principal spokesman on tax matters in the House he will have some selling to do on the surtax issue.

"Of course it is quite essential to have that $10 billion revenue and the assumption has been that almost everybody would go along when the time came."

Byrnes said in an interview: "But we can't necessarily make that assumption."

There are 11 extant copies of the "Day Palm Book," the earliest book known to have been printed in the American colonies.

first, full-scale White House speech on Vietnam was a surprise from his supporters and subdued initial comment from war critics as the President also:

—Hinted anew at forthcoming U.S. troop withdrawals regardless of what happens at Paris.

—Vowed to keep his campaign pledge "to end this war in a way that would increase our chances to win true and lasting peace" and declared that "if I fail to do so, I expect the American people to hold me accountable for that failure."

Measles Outbreak Is Feared

ATLANTA (AP) — Millions of American youngsters will be immunized in a program designed to free the nation of German measles—a disease that causes birth defects.

The program will be started this summer, officials of the National Communicable Disease Center (NCDC) said Wednesday.

They said 8 million to 10 million children would be vaccinated in the first phase of the program and that eventually 40 million to 50 million children would be immunized.

The program is a massive effort to build resistance to the virus in children because they are its usual carriers, NCDC officials said.

Children—most likely to come in contact with the virus—pass it along to pregnant mothers. The disease, normally mild, is dangerous to pregnant women because it can cause malformation or death of the fetus.

The NCDC says outbreaks of German measles occur every six to nine years. An estimated 20 million persons were stricken during the last outbreak in 1964.

VC Reject Nixon Plan

PARIS (AP) — The Viet Cong's National Liberation Front, in its first comment on President Nixon's eight-point peace plan, said today that the United States "will cling to its old formula of a mutual withdrawal of troops, a formula which we have repeatedly rejected."

Carrying Coals To Newcastle

MIAMI (AP) — New York's Bronx Zoo is sending alligators to Florida—where they grow wild and occasionally wander into people's backyards and swimming pools.

But Dr. Wayne King, reptile curator in the public zoo in the Bronx, has some logic behind his banishment program. He says his alligators and crocodiles are growing so big—10 feet and more each—that they're staking out their own areas of domicile. This is unpleasant because they have to share air-conditioned quarters with other tenants.

King is exiling seven of them.

Unicameral Legislature Becoming Hot Issue

Editorial Comment

It may come as a surprise to some of our state legislators, but the most persuasive arguments for a change to a unicameral legislature are being set forth by the debates and actions of themselves right now in Tallahassee.

Surely they must recognize that the proponents of this one-body legislature are receiving mounting public support as the cost of the present bicameral system is ballooning and the inability of the senate and the house to confer as statesmen becomes more and more evident.

Then there is the political phenomena of the Republican Governor joining a drive by Democratic senators to bring about this unicameral organization. For the unicameral system is logical and reasonable enough on its own. Furthermore, it is in step with the times. It marches along with the drums of the "one man-one vote" decision becoming louder and louder.

One of the great challenges of today is that being thrown at the feet of the traditional chamions with the force of the present and the urgency of these days of crisis.

Our debate in Florida has put the spotlight on Nebraska where a one-house legislature has been in being for 25 years. According to Odell Hanson, an AP reporter writing from Lincoln, Nebraska: "Not a serious move to revert to two-house lawmaking has developed since voters in 1894 approved the enabling constitutional amendment."

Right here in Seminole County, the South Seminole Jaycees are in the vanguard of those who will push for a unicameral resolution on the 1970 ballot. Petitions will be circulated. This is only a sample of the public acceptance of the proposition that the present two-body legislature with its delaying and expensive "conference" procedure is too costly.

Senator Bill Gunter (D) of Orlando has been an advocate of the unicameral legislature and has introduced a bill to bring this about. But he does not feel it will get over the legislative hurdles in its path. He will go to the people with the referendum!

Gov. Claude R. Kirk, Jr. (R) is not letting any grass grow under his feet and is reported as having his legal staff prepare a new proposal for a one-house legislature.

Earlier the Governor has promised to take to the road himself and campaign up and down and across the state in favor of a unicameral legislature, asking citizens to sign a petition for the placing of such a proposal on the 1970 ballot, should the present legislature fail to do so.

This heating-up of the unicameral issue comes at a time in the political affairs of Florida when no further head needs to be applied. The regular session of the 1969 legislature is nearing its final weeks.

The first and most disruptive action was that to raise the salaries of its members in a manner which would allow and did permit the comment that this was a ten-fold raise from $1,200 a year to $12,000 a year.

Hitting the news columns at the time when the federal income tax had made everyone money-conscious, the cost of living headed for an all-time high, this salary grab was greatly resented and still is.

It muddled the flow of legislative debate. It gave an unhappy illustration of how fast the two-body legislature could act when it wanted as the senators and representatives quickly rode roughshod over a Kirk veto to nail down the salary increase.

Statistics from Tallahassee have not ceased to show that the cost of government cannot be contained within the present tax limits. Voters, in short, are revolted.

Whether or not this will result in such a basic change in the machinery of government as a change from a two-house legislature to a one-house body with a membership of a little more than one-half of the present is certainly in doubt.

But what is not in doubt is the need for our current legislature to demonstrate a degree of statesmanship that would prove that, even under the present system, the legislature can respond to the wishes of the voters and practice some degree of economy.

Essays On Zoo

Recently there took place in our city a somewhat minor event which has meanings of major importance.

Two participants were the pupils in our elementary schools and SISTER. The event was an essay writing contest which was promoted by the lively ladies who make up SISTER.

These civic-minded and perceptive Sanfordites recognized the popularity of the Sanford Zoo, saw so many visitors attracted to the obviously poorly-equipped attraction and asked the pupils to write on the subject: "Why I Like The Sanford Zoo?"

This proposal and this initiative is, we believe, a major factor in our city's life and illustrates the resources which we have in our residents.

This we bow, once more, towards SISTER! Happily and most enjoyably we were asked to be one of the judges who would read one group of these essays. They came from the fish grade of Southside Primary School.

Let us say at once that most of them could spell, all of them could observe and many of the essays showed a way with words that delighted this reader of that profession.

Nor would he hesitate to say that the number who did some research, expressed their love for the zoo by digging into its history was most commendable.

It would be unfair to select any name or any single essay for top commendation. We would rather give awards to all. We would express our gratitude for this opportunity to peek into the minds of these fine youngsters.

Thus we genuflect (look it up, students) with alacrity and take up the harder news, the more challenging news, the entirely too negative news, emboldened by what you wrote and what SISTER inspired.

Thanks!

Failure For Young Ugliers!

By BRUCE BLOSSAT

NEA Washington

WASHINGTON, D.C. (AP)—Of the 78.4 million Americans who voted for President last November, just 7.5 per cent were under 25 years of age.

The 1968 election that percentage represents people under 21. In Georgia and Kentucky, eligibility begins at 18. In Alaska it is 19, in Hawaii 20.

The rest, 7.2 per cent, were in the 21-24 age bracket.

No doubt the young militants of the New Left will contend that these figures represent an effective boycott by young voters against the establishment's voting process—or against the available major candidate choices.

Sorry. Some 80.8 per cent of the people in the 21-24 age category turned out to vote for president. That may not seem like an impressive turnout, but it is. It is the highest turnout of 67.8 per cent of the eligible population since back in the 1950s—when 40

Aedes Aegypti Gyps U. S. Till

By R. L. SCHWARTZ III
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Federal government spent $53 million over the past five years to stamp out a yellow fever-carrying mosquito only to find that the insect wasn't all that dead.

From a modest $1 million in 1964, the U. S. mosquito control program grew to $15.3 million in 1968. It jumped more than 40 percent in fiscal 1968, alone.

In last year's governmental economic squeeze this figure was cut back to $6.9 million.

Former President Johnson asked for $95,000 for fiscal 1970, but the new Republican administration decided to junk the program altogether, effective June 27.

"Using the existing eradication methods, eradication of the program would have required hundreds of millions of dollars in future U. S. expenditures without any real assurance of success," Nixon officials said.

At its peak, the program had more than 300 federal employees in the Communicable Disease Center in Atlanta, Ga.

There were thousands of other employees in Texas, Alabama, Georgia, Florida, South Carolina, Hawaii, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands under federal contracts to state or territorial health departments.

But in spite of the $53 million expense and the thousands of man hours that went into a program aimed at preventing a disease unknown in this country for four decades, there were those who defended the project.

Former director Dr. James V. Smith, said the program's value is "probably in relation to our commitments to South and Central America."

Officials say prevention of an outbreak here was a "secondary" objective, although the Aedes Aegypti was generally referred to in budget outlines only as "a carrier of yellow fever."

Podiatrist Shortage Is Field For Women

By JOYCE LAIN

Miss Lain awards a Mercury typewriter, courtesy of the Royal Typewriter Co., to Douglas Dockery, Greensboro, N.C.

Chiropractors or podiatrists? A. Let's start off on the right foot by defining titles: podiatrists (from the Greek "pous" meaning foot and "iatros" meaning physician) are those who practice in the field of podiatry, the medical study of the foot. Chiropractors (from the Greek "chiro" meaning hand and "praxis" meaning practice) are those who practice in the field of chiropractic, the medical study of the spine.

Podiatrists are men, the profession is actively encouraging women to enter its ranks. To give you an idea of the shortage, the U.S. Department of Labor estimates that by 1975 there must be a 165 per cent increase in podiatrists just to meet the health needs of people over 65. There are only some 800 licensed podiatrists, or one podiatrist for every 23,000 persons, as compared to one dentist for every 2100. There are only five accredited colleges of podiatric medicine and they are working like mad to expand their facilities.

Two factors underlying anticipated growth are (1) an expanding population with a greater proportion of older people, the age group needing most foot care, and (2) the trend toward providing preventive foot care for children is increasing.

Podiatrists keep people on their feet by diagnosing and treating deformities and diseases medically and surgically, using braces, drugs, prescribing corrective shoes, and fitting prosthetic devices.

They employ X-rays and perform blood and other tests.

When the podiatrist suspects other diseases such as arthritis or kidney trouble, he or she is indicated by foot exam-

CRUCIAL MANEUVER: In the Apollo 11 mission, shown in NASA artist's sketch, comes when the Lunar Module, with astronauts Stafford and Cernan aboard, detaches from the Command Module and descends on its own power to 16,000 feet. Receive More Scientific Briefings Spacemen Nearing Lunar Flight

By JIM STROTSMAN
Associated Press Writer
CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The three Apollo 11 astronauts received further scientific briefings today for their lunar flight and near approach to the moon in a landing module.

Stafford and Nery Cmdrs. John W. Young and Eugene A. Cernan are due to rocket away from earth at 11:49 EST Sunday on their eight-day flight. Meanwhile, they are discussing with experts what lunar features they should hunt for and photograph.

Stafford said that it recent jet aircraft flights at 50,000 feet they have given us a whole new view of things they are interested in taking pictures of. Young said Wednesday, "There isn't enough film in the world to get all the pictures they'd like to get, but we are going to do our best."

It is hoped Apollo 11 will be able to answer questions about the effect of lunar gravity on a spaceship in moon orbit and gather close-up photos of the intended Apollo 11 landing site near the crater Molke in the Sea of Tranquility.

Snuffy Smith Picture Of 'Revenooer' Is Passe Florida Almost Free Of Old-Time Moonshiner And Still

By ERIC SHARP
Associated Press Writer
Like his father and grandfather before him, Ed made a nice living from the profits of 30 gallons still he ran in a Collier County swamp. Then, Florida Beverage Department agents sent him into forced retirement for three years in the position of tony.

After his recent release, Ed now make moonshining a very risky trade. "Other than a time you could stash a still in the woods and hide it so well revenue officers walking 30 feet away wouldn't see it."

Ed's lament is sung by an increasing number of Florida's white lightning brewers. They say increased surveillance by Beverage Department agents and more liberalized liquor laws give agents an even greater advantage.

The Snuffy Smith picture of the revenue agent walking the woods with an ax is lost out of date," says Joseph Ogonowski, director of the Florida Department in Tampa.

"Now, we've got a trained police officer who knows how to handle the new tools. Today's picture of the revenue officer is of a man staked out in the woods, using a pen and pencil to keep the rain off his forehead and watching field mice finish off the remains of his lunch while he uses a telescope to watch a still."

The moonshiner's big problem is to hide his still, which some say produces a brew that emulates perfumed petroleum and slides down your throat with all the smoothness of broken glass.

Numerous, moonshine stills are still in operation throughout the state, says Inspector John Hanessey, chief of the Hillsborough County Sheriff's Department. "Sixty percent of the moonshiners get about $50 for five gallons of whiskey that cost him $1 or $1.50 to make. The wholesaler buys it at $50, cuts it, and sells it for about $120."

Hanessey says his department now finds only two or three small stills each year in Hillsborough County. "We used to get 700 gallons regularly at a time," he recalled. "Now, we find only a few small time operators. We catch them almost as fast as they set up."

There have been rumors of organized crime groups, such as the Mafia, moving into moonshining, but Ogonowski doubts they are true.

"Oh, up around the border of Georgia and Alabama we have a little organized moonshining, but that's a local organization. One guy makes it, another guy transports it and a third guy sells it."

"This state is pretty much free of large scale moonshining," he added. "Now, we're interested in the two-bit activities we've got going," he explained.

Ed the moonshiner says the incident cut off all comes from the Mafia, then turned him into the police.

"In the future, you could work without worrying too much," he said. "In fact, people would even tell you the law was watching you. Now, there's just too many cops and too many people who'll turn you in for a few bucks for themselves."

U.S. Verges On Nervous Breakdown

LONDON (AP) — Americans are troubled at home and embarrassed abroad by the existence of hunger in the affluent United States, says the London Times.

In another observation from abroad this week, a British journalist wrote: "America 'sometimes seems to be on the edge of a national nervous breakdown'."

The London Times said in an editorial: "For some time the American social conscience has been increasingly disturbed over the clear evidence that hunger and malnutrition exist side by side with American affluence and not just in small pockets of exceptional poverty or among the improvident and unemployed."

"This stands as a glaring moral reproach to American ideals, and is a corresponding by-product of the American dealings abroad," the newspaper said.

The editorial acknowledged that President Nixon has promised a $1 billion program to end hunger "eventually," but it said "higher welfare spending" cannot be recon-

Frederick Ellis, New York correspondent of the Daily Express, had a lighter observation about Americans. He predicted that they someday will lose the ability to walk.

"A neighbor of mine reviews his car down his driveway to pick up his papers," Ellis said.

Ellis said he was "regarded as a freak" because he walks to a local bar. "Last week walking to the pub a police car stopped and the officer asked politely: 'Are you in trouble?' simply because I was walking," Ellis said.

Deadline Is Today

Today is the deadline for persons wishing to reserve 900-to auto license tags. Tax Collector Troy Ray reports.

Previous notice of reserving tags was made in February and letters were sent to remind those who have reserved tags in the past. Reserved tags may be picked up during "Tag Rush" without waiting in line.

Ray also stated he wished to emphasize the advantages of having tags mailed in order to save a trip to the agencies during the big rush period. Small charges are levied for the added reservation service and mailing. Tags will not be reserved after May 15.

Seminole County motorists were also reminded that June 1 is beginning of the 1969-70 tag renewal period. The tags must be on all vehicles after July 20.

Cuba Trade In Red

MIAMI (AP)—Cuba bought more than $1 billion more in commodities than its principal trade partners during the past five years than it sold to them, according to figures compiled by the state news agency, AIP.

A survey directed by AIP economist Rafael Rivas Vazquez breaks down Cuba's balance of trade deficit to $911.1 million with the Soviet Union and $307.6 million with five non-communist countries.

Cuba had favorable trade balances with Spain and Japan, the survey showed, but big enough deficits with Canada, Britain and France to send the total trade with the five countries into the minus column.

Spain, listed as Cuba's No. 1 non-communist country trade source, was reported buying $213.9 million from Cuba and selling $195 million during the 1964-1968 period. That gives Cuba a $18.9 million favorable balance.

Cuba's favorable trade with Japan was reported at $73.3 million.

Gunter Tipped 'Best Bet'

By JOHN VAN GIESON
Associated Press Writer
MIAMI (AP)—A wave of discontent, sweeping young voters, threatens to engulf old-fashioned politicians in Florida in 1970, a political researcher said Wednesday.

State Sen. L. A. "Skip" Balala and Bill Gunter are the best bets to swim to success.

Irwin Premack of St. Petersburg, head of a motivational marketing research firm that runs polls for both parties, said Balala, R-North Palm Beach, and Gunter, D-Orlando, appear youthful and are able to connect with the new generation of voters that they are capable of electing change.

If not Balala, then perhaps State Sen. C. W. "Big Boy" Young of Seminole might do it for the Republicans, Premack said. And if not Gunter, he said, then perhaps Kitty Gen. Earl Faircloth, or possibly Dale County Mayor Chuck Hadd might make it for the Democrats.

Ammo Car Burns; Railroader Hero

By MARK PANITZ
Associated Press Writer
PALMDALE, Calif. (AP)—Charles M. Hastings acted so fast to ward a hoover of exploding ammunition and uncoupled other railcars that he saved the lives of 30 men on a train on a Los Angeles.

"I didn't have any time to be afraid," said Hastings, 47, a veteran Southern Pacific road foreman who acted Wednesday night after the freight car carrying 41 tons of ammunition caught fire and 40 men shells began blasting off at one-second intervals.

As the explosions held fire fighters and military ordinance experts a mile away, Hastings drove his truck to the train on a siding.

He uncoupled both ends of the 30-car train to within eight feet of the burning hoover to create a fire break. Hastings said "I knew when I'd gotten close enough."

Controversial Program May Be Dropped Soon

By JANE CASSELLBERRY
The controversial health education pilot program at three Seminole County Schools—English, Katoosa, and Lyman High School—may be dropped from the curriculum next year, officials here said today.

The program, which began in 1967, has been the subject of criticism or that the concept does not work, but because of threatened loss of all federal funds due to the school board's failure to comply with demands for integration.

This was brought out at a meeting of the Health Education Study Committee Tuesday night at English Katoosa School. The committee is composed of parents, doctors, and ministers as well as educators. Serving are Dr. Luis Perez, Dr. Michael Gutman, county psychiatrist; Rev. Freddie Smith, School Board Member Jean Bryant, Mrs. Jean Mueller, Mrs. Janet Farmer, Pat Van Buren, Jack Bratton, Mrs. Carlotta Merzoni, health teacher at English Katoosa; Mrs. Bobbie Ambrose, health teacher at Lyman; and Douglas Scott, health teacher at South Seminole Junior High.

Meeting with the group was Fred Ganax, coordinator of the program for a tri-county area. Ganax brought out that there is a waiting list in all three counties of those who want to take advantage of this new concept of teaching health.

It was also brought out that money to pay the teachers will be the lively "Sling Out Florida" group and three popular bands—"We, the People," "The Oxford Blue," and "Covington Town."

A used car in good operating condition will be given away free.

Youth Rally Scheduled By DeMolay For Sunday

By JANE CASSELLBERRY
At least 10,000 young people from all over Central Florida are expected to converge on Orlando's Tangerine Bowl Sunday at 2 p.m. for the May Day Rally for Youth and Morality being sponsored by the John M. Cheney Chapter, Order of DeMolay, a young men's service organization.

The event is described by Charles S. Stoyford, chapter advisor, as a "demonstration of moral force by that 80 per cent of young Central Floridians who are decent, law-abiding citizens."

Short talks on morality, old and new, will be given by State Sen. Bill Gunter and Dr. Charles N. Milman, president of Florida Technological University. Representatives of both the Young Republicans and Democrat organizations will also speak.

Featured on the program will be the lively "Sling Out Florida" group and three popular bands—"We, the People," "The Oxford Blue," and "Covington Town."

A used car in good operating condition will be given away free.

W.W. Hopper, publicity chairman for the organization, advised this will be a combined business and dinner meeting and wives and dates are invited. A program on cancer has been scheduled for the ladies.

Don Peterson, Leesburg Utility Superintendent, will host the meeting and buffet dinner.

E.M. Richard, Sanford utility superintendent and chairman of the ninth region, will preside.

HEAD MENTOR PERRIN

A SEMINOLE ALLEY-OOP

COACH RICHARD PORTER

Looking Ahead

Tom Perrin Starts Work

By TOM ALEXANDER
What does it take to play football? Guts, brains, experience? According to Seminole High's new coach, Tom Perrin, it takes a lot of desire. The will to play the game. Perrin took over the head coaching reins at Seminole High last week and on Tuesday he got his first look at the 1968 SIS pikemakers. Tuesday marked the opening of Spring practice. Boys of all sizes were on the field, some had never picked up a football, but they were there, ready to play and to try to make the SIS squad for the upcoming fall season. This is where football players start, and they start with only desire.

From Tuesday, till the end of the school year, Perrin and his assistants will bend, shape, and grind the young players into physical and mental shape for the upcoming season. They will teach the potential SIS players everything they know about the game of football, and then comes Fall, they will test this knowledge against some of the better football teams in the Sunshine State. Last year, Perrin's Clermont crew formed a 6-3-1 mark. The school was having a rebuilding program and that's exactly what is going on at Seminole High now. Coach Perrin brought another coach with him to assist in this rebuilding process, Jerry Poney. Poney is a young muscular type individual, who likes to run and do exercises with the team. Working with the team also are Darwin Booth, Richard Porter, and Grey Boyles. Boyles is the veteran of the group, being line coach for the Seminoles last year. Boyles is known for his aggressive defensive line that he has produced each year and he aims to keep that reputation this year. Each football candidate, having his day at each position in the line and backfield. The examination is on and it appears that the Seminoles are responding with every bit of energy in their bodies.

Mets Ruin Niekro Braves Fall To NY Rampage

Getting the hang of Phil Niekro's knuckeball was one thing for Ken Boswell and the New York Mets. Taking the sting out of George Stone's fastball was something else. Boswell played a key role, with his bat and left elbow, Wednesday night as the Mets ruined Niekro's no-hit bid in the seventh inning, wrecked Stone's relief effort in a wild, eight-run eighth and buried the Atlanta Braves 9-3.

Rainmakers Double Aqua Output

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Cloud seeding experiments over the Florida Everglades have proved scientists can make big clouds out of little ones and double their rainfall output.

Large-scale commercial cloud seeding would cost approximately $300 per cloud and produce 25,000 worth of water.

So reported Dr. Joanne Simpson, director of experimental meteorology at the Environmental Science Services Administration research laboratories at the University of Miami.

Dr. Simpson said that the Florida Association of Florida experimenters last May involved seeding 14 natural 18,000-foot high cumulus clouds by dropping pyrotechnic flares laced with silver iodide into them from a converted B-57 Canberra jet.

Thirteen of the clouds "exploded," growing about six times wider and climbing to about 40,000 feet to form nimbus thunderheads, she said.

California Insurance Favored By Solons

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — A joint legislative committee finds that Florida should continue the controversial "California Plan" for insurance rating because auto, and casualty insurance premiums have not risen excessively since it went into effect.

In a report released Wednesday, the committee said "there was no public testimony at committee hearings which would indicate any advantages to the citizens of Florida" in reverting to the old law, under which the state insurance commissioner had to approve any rate hikes.

The committee said the new law, which was passed in 1967, is less expensive to operate than the old one was.

"Each insurance company must at all times stand ready to justify its rate," the group said. "Under the prior approval law, this was not true. Justification was made for a change."

"The basic logic of the current law is that the insurance commissioner is not to fix rates, but rather, conduct periodic examination of all rating entities to see that the public is protected."

Because the law encourages open and free competition among insurance companies the committee said, it "will encourage the development of a progressive insurance industry."

It said abuses are more easily detected under the "California Plan" since the law now spells out what is meant by "excessive, inadequate and unfair discriminatory rates."

The law "places considerably more emphasis upon solvency and financial responsibility of insurers," the committee found.

There is "no tendency toward political interference in setting rates," it said. "Insurance companies must bear the burden of justifying rate increases to the public."

A total of some 70,000 computers had been installed world-wide by the close of 1966, with a purchase value of well over $20 billion.
