IGN EXPERTS ING SPEED IN LANE DESIGN

As High As 300 Kilometers An Hour Are Claimed by Manufacturers; Trend Is
From Heavy Bombers

Jan. 10.—Speed, speed, speed, was the main object which airplane manufacturers during 1924, the exhibits shown at the French Aviation Salon at Paris. It seems as if toward monstrous machines weight lifting capacity from three to five tons, at last year's salon, has been achieved. To achieve speed, the demand manufacturers have on monoplane and session, all-metal thick wings, and powerful motors built a slight manufacturer must build the customer wants."

said Monsieur E. Dewoitine. "In our case the customer is the state and the state wants fast planes, so it is up to us to supply them."

There are orders for 300 of these fast planes now on file at the Dewoitine plant for delivery in 1925. They are distributed among the following governments: Yugoslavia, Italy, Czechoslovakia, Belgium and Japan. It is understood that the largest order comes from the Far Eastern country.

Nieuport presents a sesquiplane, armed with four machine guns, despite the fact that it is only 7.50 meters in length and has a wing spread of only 12 metres. They say its 450 horse-power motor can haul that plane at a rate of 360 kilometers per hour for three solid hours. It has a lifting capacity of 500 kilos.

Fotez, Salomon, Brequet and Caudron all turned in "pursuit planes" with dimensions and lifting capacity similar to the Nieuport. They all claim to be able to negotiate between 250 and 300 kilometers an hour.

Farman alone exhibits a huge bombing biplane, equipped with four 500 horse-power motors, which weighs 11,000 kilos when ready to take the air. This weight includes 2,500 kilos of bombs and 2,000 kilos of fuel.

The armament of this air cruiser consists of 32 bombs of 56 kilos each, with seven to ten bombs of 100 and 200 kilos, all arranged with automatic release. Provision is made for bombs of 500 kilos instead of the lighter bombs when necessary. Two machine guns, one fore and another aft, complete the military equipment. It carries a crew of seven men; two machine gunners, two pilots, two mechanics and a navigating officer, who also acts as bombing expert.

A Salmson motor capable of developing 480 horse-power and weighing only 330 kilos, was the subject of much scrutiny by the experts.

To the layman one of the most popular features of the salon has been the Brequet machine with which Captain Pelletier d'Olisy flew from Paris to Shanghai. The motor which propelled the plane from Paris to Hanoi has been taken apart and the worn condition of some of the pieces just holding by a thread has been giving the visitors a thrill as they discuss "what might have been."

Urges Florida To Develop Fish And Oyster Industries

TALLAHASSEE, Jan. 12.—Florida has a great opportunity for development of her fish industry, according to T. R. Hoges, state shell fish commissioner, who has given the subject much attention during his tenure in office and prior to assuming the duties as director of the state's efforts to preserve and propagate fish and oysters.

At this time, however, this state is doing little or nothing towards artificial propagation, of fish, although it is spending considerable sums in the plating of oysters. Florida has approximately three thousand miles of salt water fishing territory, and two or three miles of rivers suitable for fresh water fish, in addition to the many hundreds of lakes of all sizes, yet no effort is being made, it is pointed out, to conserve, the fish by propagation.

California, on the other hand, is shown, now has thirty-five fish hatcheries, and is spending hund-

Fatherland Preferred To Death in England

BERLIN, Jan. 12.—Dr. Max Waechter of Berlin is one of the most discussed men in Germany since he announced he will not accept the $1,150,000 left to him by his uncle, Sir Max Waechter, on condition that the nephew must become a British subject.

reds of thousands of dollars annually on this work. The state began as early as 1871 the work of artificial propagation. In that year 15,000 young fish were planted, and by 1921 this work had progressed to the point where 33,319,319 had been planted.

The Pacific coast state also owns and operates a salt water biological station on which it is spending more than a quarter of a million dollars annually, Mr. Hodges says.

Efforts were made a few years ago to begin propagation work in Florida, and proceeded to the point where the federal government had offered to participate to a great extent, but the move finally was called off because of a lack of funds at the time.

"I am a German and I shall continue to be one," Dr. Waechter said in discussing the bequest. He declared that he was always on good terms with his uncle, who became a naturalized Englishman, and that he is fond of England, but cannot see his way clear to abandon his nationality and homeland, as he is very happy in Germany.

Sir Max Waechter was a native of Stettin. He migrated to England in 1857 and was naturalized there eight years later. He recently died in London at the age of 87. He amassed an immense fortune and spent much time and money in advocating a Pan-European movement.

PRUSSIA STOPS CO-EDUCATION

BERLIN, Jan. 12.—The secondary schools of Prussia have decided against co-education on the ground that girls are generally superior mentally to boys up to the time they are 16. Thereafter the boys surpass the girls in general intelligence. This inequality of intelligence, it is argued, puts both the boys and the girls at a disadvantage if they are compelled to attend the same classes.

ENGLISH RECORD FACES OF THEIR PROMINENT MEN

Find Men Agreeable to Posing But Experience Difficulty in Getting Famous Woman Before Camera

LONDON, Jan. 10.—The National Portrait Gallery is compiling photographs of distinguished men and women in all fields of British life. Already 2,000 of the great and near-great have posed for this national collection which is to go into the gallery's archives.

Very few of the faces in the collection are feminine. This is not entirely due to the fact that women of prominence outside the domestic sphere are rarer than men; it is partly because—well, one knows how women are about their photographs. It is an exceptional person, man or woman, who becomes distinguished before the age of forty. Some of the beauty of women often fades before then, so that the trustees of the National Portrait Gallery have not been greatly surprised, when in several instances, after inviting a distinguished woman to have her picture made for their collection, the lady visited a photographer but refused to approve of the result.

Photographs of more than 250 of the distinguished contemporaries, as the trustees of the gallery call those whom they invite to sit for their collection, have recently been placed on public exhibition. Most of the faces are old, but some of them, notably John Drinkwater's, the dramatist, are on the sunny side of middle-age. Only one man in the collection wears a monocle—Austen Chamberlain, the foreign secretary. And even more strange, since these are Britons, is the absence of a pipe.

The procession of prominent men who have passed before the camera for the National Portrait Gallery collection include besides statesmen, politicians, generals, admirals and divines, leaders in other activities—almost all of them, in fact. There are grizzled old ship-building magnates.

THE TRAGEDY OF FORT MELLON

Possibility of its Becoming Center of Large City Lost in Legal Controversy Which Drove Residents to Sanford

IN 1870 Fort Mellon was but a straggling little community with only one store and a few other buildings. And then suddenly it took on new life and developed into what was for those days in Florida a thriving little village. Several additional stores were built and a number of small homes, not to mention at least two very popular saloons. It was at this time that the boat service to Jacksonville was inaugurated. For some time the schedule consisted of one boat a month but this was gradually augmented until two boats each week were in regular service.

THESE BOATS were owned by Captain Brock and were operated by him or his son until about twenty years ago when the line was sold. They brought from Jacksonville practically everything then used by the inhabitants of central and southern Florida. Fort Mellon was at that time the distributing point for this vast area. Even the settlers upon the lower Coast waited for their mail to be brought up the St. Johns River to Fort Mellon, thence carried overland to New Smyrna and down the east coast to Palm Beach.

FORT MELLON might very well have been the site of the present city of Sanford had it not been for a long legal controversy which disgusted the inhabitants and forced them to move. The land was then owned by one Aaron Jernigan and his sons, self-styled "regulators", but in reality scarcely more than a species of bandits. For a while they bulldozed the people of their vicinity in a most lordly fashion, until one day the father became involved in a murder in Orlando and was sompelled to leave the state.

JERNIGAN went to Texas and was not heard from for approximately thirty years. Then a relative of his, a man named Weeks, instituted court proceedings to regain the property, Fort Mellon. The case was dragged out in court until everyone connected with it had become thoroughly disgusted. When General Sanford opened his holdings on Lake Monroe to settlement, residents of Fort Mellon moved out en masse and built their homes on the site of our present city. The matter of ownership of Fort Mellon was later thrashed out in the courts.

IN RECENT years the expansion of Sanford has made necessary the incorporation of Fort Mellon as a part of this city, and the growth of our population makes it imperative that additional homesites embracing health and attractiveness be found for their convenience. In selecting Fort Mellon the developers of this ideal subdivision, have obtained the most suitable tract in the city for a beautiful residential district amid the memories of a historic and romantic past.

Herewith is solution to Puzzle No. 73.

How to Solve It
Every number indicates the beginning of a word—if horizontal, crosswise, until the first shaded stop to the right; if vertical, downwards until the first shaded stop below. Compare the synonyms in the appended lists to the spaces in the diagrams and fill in the words you know. These will give you clues to the more difficult words. When completed the words should interlock perfectly.

Says Anglo-American Unity Will Stabilize International Affairs

MELBOURNE, Australia, Jan. 10.—Speaker Watt of the federal parliament drew cheers recently when he declared: "The moral effect of a proclamation of unity between Great Britain and America would prevent any great conflict in the future, and would stabilize the world."
This is the salient point of the gospel Mr. Watt has been preaching lately. In view of the recent feeling aroused here by Japanese successes at the Geneva conference and the fear that the white Australia policy might be endangered, the speaker's sentiments are being received cordially in every quarter.

Sheriff Prepared For Private Hanging

BUTLER, Ga., Jan. 10.—Sheriff R. P. McGuffin, indicted today that he took steps remedy alleged defects in the physical arrangements which caused the court intervene Friday with temporary injunction halting execution. Willie Jones and Gervis Bloodworth who are under sentence of death for the murder of Howard F. Underwood Dec. 3, 1923.
The execution of the 2 youths set for Friday morning, ordered stayed by the Superior Court Judge, Searey because conditions were such that the hanging could not be conducted privately. There is a 16 foot board fence around the lot it is said, which makes it impossible for anyone on the outside to observe the execution. The point upon which the injunction against the execution was granted was that persons, by stationing themselves on the housetops could observe the hanging.

Vagrant Monarch Is Offered Sanctuary

BAGDAD, Jan. 10.—The suggestion that former king Hussein of the Hedjaz might find a home in Iraq, where his son Feisal is king, may be the solution of the homeless ex-monarch's problem.
The Bagdad Times learns on good authority that this question has been discussed by the council of ministers. The decision arrived at was that there would be no objection to Hussein's taking up residence in Basrah, provided he came to Iraq as a private individual, not as a monarch.
It is considered probable that Hussein will agree to these terms.

DeLAND RATES REDUCED

DeLAND, Jan. 10.—The maximum rate on electric current used here has been reduced from 13 to 11 cents per kilowatt hour by the Florida Public Service Company. The reduction became effective with January bills. This is the second reduction within a year.

Hon. William Jennings Bryan to Lecture Daily to Visitors at Venetian Casino, Coral Gables on Florida and its Opportunities

THE Hon. William Jennings Bryan is giving a series of lectures on Florida and its opportunities for investment, at the Venetian Casino at Coral Gables. These lectures are given daily (except Sunday) at 12 o'clock noon.

In the Venetian Casino which has just been completed, you will see the most beautiful work of its kind in America. The colored waters, the swaying palms, the Spanish tiles and furnishings, combine to make a most delightful setting in which to listen to Mr. Bryan's lecture.

Mr. Bryan is Florida's and Miami's first citizen. He has made his winter home in Miami for 12 years and taken an important part in local affairs. He is now a citizen of the state. No one man in this country has played a more important part in national and international affairs during the last thirty years, or made more friends than Mr. Bryan.

It is only natural that Mr. Bryan's great interests the country over should in course of time be linked with two great interests in South Florida. Thousands of his friends have written him, or come to him personally, or sought through mutual friends to learn his views on the progress and development of a section which commands first place in the concern of big men everywhere. He has given these views privately and in interviews in the past, times without number.

Mr. Bryan has accepted a most favorable opportunity of giving his views on Florida and its development in a large way. In these lectures he will be broadcasting—as it were—opinions and arguments which are of inestimable value to everyone interested in this subject.

You are cordially invited to visit Coral Gables and hear Mr. Bryan's lecture. Transportation is free in luxurious Higway Pullman Coaches, leaving the local Coral Gables office each week. For full particulars and reservations, call at the Coral Gables office.
