By LARRY VERSELL
 Vernon Dunn's proposal on a fulltime county attorney will be killed without any fanfare by the County Commission this afternoon.

Supervisor of registration Camilla Bruce sure is optimistic . . . Said Monday night before city fathers that city registrations up to 5,000 as compared to 3,300 last year and adds she expects 4,000 to turn out to the polls in the city in November . . . We'll be lucky if 2,500 turn out . . . Clip this out, Cammie, and we'll talk about it in November.

The city is considering selling its property on East Second St. which was recommended in a master plan to be utilized as another downtown fire station.

A CONVERSATION WITH CITY MANAGER W. E. KNOWLES:
 Reporter: Just how much did that shaggy dog case cost the taxpayers of this city?
 Knowles: 100 percent more than it should have.
 Reporter: Come on, Pete . . . how much?
 Knowles: It's been going on since February, police working on it . . . would be hard to judge.

Well, we know it cost $50 for the municipal judge.

RUMINATIONS AFTER THE TRIAL OF A SHAGGY DOG . . . It was made pretty clear at the trial of Shep, that unless a dog is registered with the American Kennel Club, he just hasn't arrived . . . nor have his owners acquired that patina of respectability so essential in modern society . . . The city has been since May trying to find an attorney that would sit as judge in the case, but none of the local members of the clan of Hammarabral cared to be suspected of sitting in judgment on a dog . . . Shep's ability to be man's best friend nearly unbridled the whole proceeding . . . how can you be dignified when the defendant is nuzzling everybody in sight . . . his wagging his tail . . . his reaction to the decision was an enthusiastic licking of his huge chops . . . Looked like some notorious man was on trial with Chief of Police Williams and four members of the department lined up in the hall, instead of "good Ol' Shep" . . . Going to check and see if we can find out how much the case cost the taxpayers of Sanford . . . O well, it's all over now, and Ol' Shep is home again.

Diagonal Parking Plan OK'd By City

City crews will start blanketing out parallel parking stalls on the south side of First St. from Oak to Sanford as the first step in a downtown improvement program approved by the City Commission Monday night.

Commissioners okayed a six man committee report by a 4-1 vote with Tom McDonald voting against diagonal parking. "It will cost more money and we know that parking is not the answer," McDonald said.

McDonald said he approved

Group Hands Problem Back

The Courthouse Committee threw the problem of where to find offices for the new county administrative aide back in the laps of the county commissioners at Monday night's meeting.

A motion made by Andrew Carraway stated that "inasmuch as the courthouse committee has previously allocated all the space in the courthouse (under room 0-11) it is recommended that space be found in a suitable existing office building or other place," (outside the courthouse. The motion was seconded and passed unanimously and secretary Bill Bush instructed to draft a letter to the County Commissioners to that effect.

In discussion prior to the motion, the only space the committee felt could possibly be utilized might be the portion of the law library directly behind the commission chambers. Committee members noted that all the recommended changes have been made in the allocation of courthouse space, with the exception of the registration office. Registrar Camilla Bruce had said that due to the coming election, she would not be able to move her offices into the courthouse until the first of next year.

Near Independence

KAMPALA, Uganda (UPI)—Uganda, a mountainous land of pygmies and seven-foot Batutais, became the 33rd African state today to take the uncertain step to independence.

Four Hour Trial Ol' Shep Wins Case

Every dog has his day, and Ol' Shep had his Monday in court. And it was a victorious one.

Called for 4 p.m., the inability of the attorney for Shep, E. N. Kirkland, Orlando, to make the date on time resulted in setting City Judge Albert N. Fitts, not getting the proceedings underway until 8:30 p.m.

If it was Shep's day, it certainly wasn't City Attorney William Hutchison Jr.'s day. All of his forensic skill was used to prove Shep's passive animosity towards smaller dogs constituted his being a "vicious, ferocious and destructive animal", within the meaning of the statutes covering situations involving somewhat wayward beasts. But it was in vain.

The owners of the "registered, expensive" miniature dachshunds, who swore out warrants against Shep's owners because of the inability of Shep and the two miniature dachshunds to get along together, did their best on the witness stand to prove Shep's ferocity, as did two witnesses.

But the efforts of the witnesses fell flat when one of them admitted her pre-school youngsters regularly played with Ol' Shep, both on their lawn and on his, and had never been harmed by the allegedly "vicious, ferocious and destructive" dog. Nor could the owners of the dachshunds say Shep had ever attacked people to their knowledge.

It was pointed out by Shep's attorney, that in order to be considered within the meaning of the ordinances and the statute they were copied from, Shep had to attack people. And nobody would say he had done so.

When it came time for the defense to call its witnesses, Attorney Kirkland said, "We have only one witness." He walked out to the hall and in came Shep on a leash.

The first thing Shep did was coo up to a spectator, who petted him and Shep revelled in it, then he spied Atty. Mack Cleveland, and the big shaggy dog proceeded to make friends and (perhaps) influence people.

Anyway, after the final arguments, Judge Fitts ruled there was no "corpus delicti" established and the prevailing statutes applied "in rem" and not to the owner. This all means, that no crime had been proved, and that the punishments applied to the animals and not to the animal's owners.

Judge Fitts dismissed the case at 7:50 p. m.

Seminole Will Cooperate With Orange On Drainage

The delegation was headed by Commissioner Donald Evans, who pointed out that the Orange County commission did not want to feed into Seminole County

Drainage Plan OK'd Bellmeade Set

A drainage plan submitted by the Bellmeade Corp. for the site of their proposed shopping center on French Ave. at 27th St., was accepted today by the County Commission.

Acceptance of the plan will permit the company to begin construction within two weeks on the new project which will include a huge new Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company supermarket, according to Tom Chalmers, Bellmeade representative who presented the plan.

The proposal, which had the support of County Engineer Bill Bush, will drain into an old drainage ditch which passes under Ocoira Road on its way to Lake Jessup.

Bush assured the Commission the underpass at Ocoira Road would be sufficient to carry the additional outfall without enlargement, "under conditions of normal rainfall in a normal year."

There was some discussion, started by Commissioner Ted Williams, about the ability of the present ditch to accept more runoff than it now receives, but the board was reassured by Engineer Bush and Chalmers said, after the approval, that the grocery chain was "pushing" to get the project underway, and time was of the essence if Sanford was to have a new supermarket.

In other business the commission opened the way for the Sunland Garden Club to negotiate with Bralley Odham for the transfer of former park property from the county to the club so they can start construction on their new club and community building.

The plat of a section of Meredith Manor was approved with the proviso that this is the last replat permitted that has features not in strict accordance with the law.

1,100 Cuban Invaders Set To Be Released?

MIAMI (UPI)—The Miami Herald reported today that the release of 1,113 captured Cuban invaders has been arranged and they may be brought to Miami today.

HAVANA (UPI)— Usually informed sources said today Premier Fidel Castro's absence from Havana was holding up a resumption of talks aimed at the release of 1,113 Cuban invasion prisoners.

New York Attorney James B. Donovan was reported "marking time" pending Castro's availability for more talks.

In its first edition, the Herald said the prisoners would arrive early today. In later editions, however, it said the transfer of the prisoners might be delayed but that it was still possible they would get to Miami today.

The newspaper said the delay was caused by the last-minute scheduling of a meeting today between Premier Fidel Castro and James B. Donovan, the New York attorney who has been negotiating their release.

Reliable sources reported the prisoners were being moved from a prison on the Isle of Pines off Cuba's southern coast to prisons on the mainland.

Castro and Donovan met most recently Friday night, when they were closeted for more than two hours. No details of their talks were made public officially, but they were believed near agreement on terms for the release.

The Cuban leader had demanded $62 million ransom for the prisoners. Donovan was believed to be offering him food and medicines of considerable less value, perhaps with a cash payment as well.

Algeria Pledges African Support

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (UPI)—Algerian Premier Ahmed Ben Bella pledged unconditional support today to African nationalists in their struggles in Angola, Rhodesia, South Africa and Southwest Africa.

He made no mention of the situation between the United States and Cuba, which he is scheduled to visit after talks with President Kennedy in Washington last week. But he did support the seating of Communist China in the United Nations.

Casselberry Delays Water Request Again

Action on Casselberry Utilities' request to raise its water rates was delayed again Monday night by the Board of Aldermen pending the company's presentation of a certified audit and satisfactory evidence that the request is justified.

A statement of income for the last fiscal year was presented by A. S. Barlow of the accounting firm Potter Bower and Co. of Orlando showing that the company suffered a net loss of $4,007.78. Barlow, who said his firm's certified opinion would follow in a few days, also had prepared a schedule of the proposed new rates showing in detail increases in relation to usage.

After the board studied and questioned the report for more than an hour Alderman Rohn Lady moved that the whole matter be delayed by the present board until after the December elections. A second from Mrs. Hope Bennett and "nays" from George Howard and Cliff Overman deadlocked the board since Chairman Paul Bates refused to vote.

At this time Attorney Kenneth McIntosh advised that in order to comply with minutes of the last two meetings the matter should be delayed until the certified audit report is forthcoming after which time the board could ask the utility company for still further information showing why the added income is necessary.

In other business the board accepted the low bid of Holler Motors of Sanford to provide a new police car at a cost of $1,205 with trade in. Other bids came from Strickland - Morrison, $1,850 and Brass Motors, $2,100.

Meredith Hits Army Unit Move
OXFORD, Miss. (UPI)— Negro James Meredith complained today that Army units guarding against violent protests against his enrollment at the University of Mississippi have been segregated.

In a three-page handwritten statement Meredith also denied that he had been "picked or selected" by Negro leaders to enter the school.

The statement was issued from Meredith's apartment in Baxter Hall to a pool correspondent.

"Certainly no price is too high to pay for the rights of enjoying full American citizenship. Yet when it comes to forfeiting one particular right or privilege in order to receive another right or privilege, it is quite possible to get the bad end of the bargain," Meredith said.

"There are two things that have occurred and are now occurring that have made my struggle most difficult.

"The first concerns the military. The first two days of my stay at the University of Mississippi, the military units looked like American units. All soldiers held their position and performed the task for which they had been trained and ordered to do. Since that time the units have been re-segregated. Negroes have been purged from their positions to ranks. On Thursday, Oct. 4, 1962, I brought this to the attention of the proper authorities. On Friday, I was informed that the situation would be corrected and the Negroes would be put back into their places in the ranks."

Invasion Time Ripe—Chiang

TAIPEI, Formosa (UPI)— President Chiang Kai-shek declared today "the time is ripe now" for an all-out attack on Communist China, led by himself.

Chiang's declaration, released tonight, will be read at a mass rally Wednesday celebrating the Republic of China's "double ten" national day—the 51st anniversary of Sun Yat-sen's Oct. 10, 1911 revolution which overthrew the Manchu emperors.

It will be repeated in broadcasts aimed at the Communist-governed mainland.

"I will lead our armed forces," Chiang said.

This will be the 13th national day the 74-year-old Chiang has observed on Formosa.

The Courthouse Committee threw the problem of where to find offices for the new county administrative aide back in the laps of the county commissioners at Monday night's meeting.

Clamp Down Set On 'Vendors'

City Commissioners Monday clamped down on produce vendors using wayside stands requiring them to start conforming with the sanitary codes of the city.

City Manager W. E. Knowles hit at the lack of sanitation of the stands and rapped the "whole makeshift operation."

In other business the commission put into effect new sewer rates which will mean Sanford residents will start paying a minimum of $2.35 on their sewer bills starting Oct. 15.

The new ordinance, drafted Monday night, paves the way for the financing of the sewage treatment plant.

Approved a pay raise for Lt. Joe Hickson of the police department.

Mackle Brothers Back In Business

MIAMI—The three Mackle brothers announced their return to active community development operations in Florida.

The Mackles, who have for years been pace-makers of the community development industry and among the nation's home-building leaders, said they will launch their renewed activities with the opening Nov. 1 of a 15,000-acre community near DeLand, midway between Orlando and Daytona Beach.

The new city, called "Deltona," will be the first to feature several development, sales and growth concepts wholly new to the industry.

To get their operations off to a flying start the Mackles have:

Formed a completely new company, The Mackle Bros., Inc., to serve as their vehicle for the development of Deltona and other fully-planned Florida communities, and to engage in other construction and development activities.

Set a $20 million sales goal for the first year of operations of The Mackle Bros., Inc. — $15 million in Deltona home-site sales and $5 million in house sales.

Earmarked a solid $1 million for advertising in the first year alone, much of it scheduled for local media in key metropolitan markets of Florida and throughout the North.

Established a network of franchised agents to carry Mackle Bros., Inc., sales to principal northern states and abroad, with emphasis on the growing retirement and pre-retirement markets.

"Our plans for Deltona, covering every square foot of the area, are nearing completion and the initial work already is under way," said Frank E. Mackle, Jr., president of The Mackle Bros., Inc.

The Democratic Club of DeBary opened its fall season last Wednesday with a covered dish supper and program for which Volusia County Sheriff Rodney Thursby and Rep. James Sweeney were speakers.

Sweeney also answered questions on reapportionment.

Announcement was made that Congressman Syd Herlong will begin his tour of the county at the DeBary Recreation Hall on Oct. 27 at 10 a.m.

New members joining the club at the opening meeting were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ulrich, Thomas Howard, Mr. and Mrs. Matheson and Mr. and Mrs. Joyce.

Jordan Marsh Nearly Set

Central Florida's largest complete department store, the new Jordan Marsh in Orlando, reached its final stages of construction at Colonial Plaza Shopping Center this month, and will open its doors Oct. 22, general manager Harry E. Hanson has announced.

The four-story 220,000 square-foot Jordan Marsh, which forms the apex of a new air-conditioned shoppers' mall at Colonial Plaza Center, will introduce the newest concepts in department store design and will offer a complete selection of fine merchandise in medium- to better price ranges.

The spacious, modern lines and interior design of the new Jordan Marsh will be counterpointed by a Neo-Colonial decor, with dramatic styling in every area. Towering simulated oak trees, typifying the Central Florida area, will "grow" inside the store and even change their foliage with the seasons. In the store's "Oakmont Restaurant," a photographic mural of an authentic Southern Colonial mansion will provide the background for two more of the beautiful simulated oaks and an actual miniature Florida lake.

Although Neo-Colonial will be the dominate decor, each area of the store will portray a dramatic theme of its own for the display of complete merchandise from the finest markets in the world. Exotic woods, exclusive decorator fixtures, especially designed floor coverings, and creative color will carry out the individual decor of each area, and subtle, warm lighting will be achieved by lowered ceilings, dropped panels, recessed spotlights, or lanterns and chandeliers to match the setting.

Words that are spelled alike, but pronounced differently, are known as heteronyms.

der, welcomed members and guests and told the plans for the year.

Mrs. Betty Overman, chairman of tournaments and events, outlined the events planned for the season which runs through May.

Handbooks were distributed listing the season's events and names of officers and other information. Mrs. Pender and Mrs. Overman were in charge of making up the books and the cover design was drawn by Mrs. Pat Olsen.

The CWGA will play golf every Thursday, teeing off at 8:30 a. m. The regular business meetings are scheduled for the last Thursday of each month.

Longwood Asked For Additional Street Markers

Longwood Building Inspector W. F. Little, speaking as a representative of the Longwood Area Chamber of Commerce at last Thursday night's council meeting, asked that more street markers be put up for unidentified streets.

Little was advised that the city was aware of the situation and had included funds in its new budget to buy some 27 new markers.

He also was told, after pointing out that city limits weren't marked on the annexed Hwy. 17-92 area, that the city had been trying for some time to set a meeting with State Road Dept. officials to take care of this matter. No signs can be placed on the highway without approval from the state.

In connection with the area, the council also voted to set Oct. 30 as the date for a public hearing on establishing zoning classifications for the properties involved.

Good Government Award Deadline Set

Nominations for this year's winner of the Sanford-Seminole Jaycees Good Government award are now open, but the closing deadline is Wednesday with the general public invited to send in their entries to Chairman Jack Wilber at the Jaycee Building.

"This is a way of honoring an outstanding person who has contributed greatly to the community and the people of the area, in the field of government," Wilber said.

There is no age limit, and entry forms may be picked up at the Jaycee Building, to aid in listing the qualifications and accomplishments of the nominee.

A brief biographical sketch of the nominee is also desirable.

Last year, City Manager W. E. Knowles received the award and the year before it was John Krider, manager of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce.

The local winner is to be entered in the Jaycee State competition, Oct. 15, Wilber said.

If all roads were superhighways, Chevrolet's remarkably smooth and silent ride might be just another luxury. But as most town and country roads will demonstrate, this is one Chevrolet advantage that's mighty easy to get excited about. (The way those four deep-coil springs put the kibosh on bumps, you'd almost think Chevrolet was working for the highway commission.) The '63 Bel Air, Biscaynes and Impalas are equally easy going on upkeep. Brakes are self-adjusting. New Delco-tron generator s-t-r-e-t-c-h-e-s battery life. Democracy Plus!

Some should be paid for the election vote as heavily for one party or the other that it is cause for wonder that politicians of the other party ever bother to vote them.

Yet it is a fact that they do. Consequently we see Democratic candidates appealing to businessmen who most often vote Republican, and GOP office-seekers talking to laboring men who tend to vote Democratic in large numbers.

Republicans even contest for the big city Negro vote, which is the nearest thing this nation has to a "blue vote." In many cities the Negro vote Democratic by margins of seven, eight and nine to one.

Obviously many politicians do this because hope springs eternal. They are not prepared to concede whole sections of the electorate without at least a show of a fight. They sometimes calculate that even small inroads into the opposition's normal strength may make the difference between victory and defeat.

Furthermore, to appeal merely to those portions of the electorate normally friendly to them is to accept a stamp as "labor's candidate" or the "businessman's candidate."

A Republican talking to laboring men may meet high resistance and convert few. The same may be true of a Democrat addressing a group of businessmen.

But when such a politician wins, particularly if he is running for the presidency, the governorship, or other executive position, important dividends may result from his appeals to his resistant listeners.

These people may not have voted for him. But, having seen and heard him, they may be encouraged to accept him graciously as their leader—as they must if democracy and ma-majority rule are to work within an orderly framework.

Majority rule cannot be truly effective if the minority does not support. Soliciting the opposition elements may not convert them. But it can be immensely valuable in capturing their good will, which is so necessary to the peaceful operation of a political system.

More than this, some political scientists believe that any executive leader in government wisely does not try to govern merely by relying upon the majority which elected him.

Since he becomes automatically the president or the governor of all the people, he must seek to enlist at least some measure of support from them in putting over his programs.

That, say the theorists, is why many leaders draft programs intended to appeal broadly to the electorate rather than simply to their own partisans. That is why, too, they often happily accept compromises proposed at least in part by their opponents.

This course of action seldom pleases the sharp partisans. They want their desires translated into policy. But they do not have to govern a whole state or the nation.

The theorists say the wise president seeks a "national consensus," a path that wins the peaceful acceptance—if not the solid endorsement—of all but the extremists in his constituency. A governor, at his level, does the same.

This is not only an admirable but an absolutely essential goal in a democratic political system. The politicians who doggedly invade "opposition" territory lay a proper base for this necessary achievement.

Worry Clinic

Nora is like millions of patriotic Democrats and Republicans who prefer to be free Americans instead of millionaires of government-owned bureaucrats. Do you want Uncle Sam to be the impartial referee of the pack on the playing referee of modern times? You haven't led to decide so send for the frank booklet below and pass it around fast.

CASE N-450; Nora O., aged 32, is an energetic housewife. "Dr. Crane," she began, "I understand that our government wants to tax the interest on our meager savings accounts and even our Christmas funds at their source.

"And anybody who owns stocks or bonds will have the dividends taxed at the source and forwarded to Uncle Sam. "The government says it is losing $50 million of dollars each year by not taxing our deposits and dividends.

"Well, if the government is losing all that money, to whom is it being lost?

"It is to us frugal housewives and other hardworking little people, isn't it?"

"So who are more despoiling of these $50 million—the bureaucrats in Washington or us housewives who are struggling to make ends meet?"

"It seems to me we citizens would be far better off if the government lost about 50 BILLION dollars annually, as long as it was losing that money to us little people.

"For then we'd spend it on more food and more electric toasters or refrigerators and washing machines, clothing, automobiles, etc.

"I know that most of the women in my neighborhood are far better bargain hunters than the Prodigal Sons who are the bureaucrats in Washington. Don't you agree?"

Our Founding Fathers wanted the government to stay out of the affairs of us private citizens in our daily economic competition.

Indeed, Uncle Sam was to be enshrined on the sidelines as an impartial referee in our "free enterprise" game.

He was thus to see that we were not cheated. But he was NOT to enter the game as a playing referee, which is an intolerable situation!

Nowadays, however, Uncle Sam has run out on the field to compete with us, yet he still wants to serve as umpire or referee!

So Uncle Sam now operates 700 tax-free corporations in direct competition with all of us ordinary citizens.

Those 700 corporations are estimated, by a government agency, to be worth 260 billions of dollars—almost our total federal debt!

If they were sold back to private investors, we could thus reduce that debt by at least half and meanwhile those assets would then go back on our assessors books, to help us taxpayers meet the terrific tax load.

In the last 30 years, a new philosophy has arisen at variance with that of our Founding Fathers, such as Jefferson, Washington, Hamilton and wise old Benjamin Franklin.

Nowadays our government says: "You housewives and husbands can't think for yourselves! You are unable to spend your hard earned dollars as efficiently as we bureaucrats can squander them.

"So we are going to tax and tax until you must look to us for the complete direction and control of your lives and the welfare of your children."

Well, that is an American doctrine. It suggests Russia and Socialistic Britain!

Both Democrats and Republicans must quickly team-up to save America, so send for my booklet, "How To Save Our Republic," enclosing a stamped, return envelope, plus 20 cents. Pass it around fast! (Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long 4 cent stamped, addressed envelope and 20 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.

Political Notebook

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—Winding up its business in a legislative stampede, the 87th Congress is giving President Kennedy far more of his program than he may have hoped for three months ago.

As of Oct. 1, the Congressional Record's monthly tabulation shows 391 bills signed into law this year. That compares with 332 in the same period last year for a total of 733 in the two-year session, to date.

The total may well reach 800 or more on a final count after adjournment, for Congress has cleared many bills the President has not had time to consider. And he has 10 days after adjournment, not counting Sundays, to sign or pocket veto final measures.

Legislative action has come so fast in the final two weeks of the session that it will take some time for Budget Bureau and the executive agencies of government to figure out who gets exactly what and how much for the current fiscal year.

Most of the new laws, of course, are government house-keeping operations like Public Law 720 which authorizes the sale of chestnut extract from the national stockpile or P.L. 695, authorizing North Dakota Indians to graze cattle at Garrison Dam.

But over and above all this legislative fish-mash that Congress handles to solve local problems, the administration can count at least 50 solid achievements. In about half of these cases, the administration got only a part of what it asked for. In the other half it got practically what it wanted.

Among the major accomplishments in the field of foreign affairs are the trade expansion act, a new tariff classification act, a ready-reserve call-up of 150,000 men for a year's service. The $10 million United Nations loan was approved, the U. S. was authorized to participate in loans to International Monetary Fund and a $75 million war damage payment to the Philippines.

was made. Foreign aid is being cut but not as much as feared.

In the field of general government, postal rates are being raised but free congressional junk mail is being abolished. Federal pay rates are being increased. Antitrust case investigation was facilitated. A constitutional amendment abolishing the poll tax was passed, subject to ratification by the states. The national debt limit was raised to a whopping $308 billion.

In labor and public welfare, a cutdown manpower retraining program was initiated; reporting on union pension funds was tightened; public assistance and child welfare benefits were increased.

A new drug control law is being passed. A senior citizens housing aid act has been signed. Educational television was given a boost and new state will be required to carry all channels.

To aid the domestic economy, business is being given $1.3 billion to tax relief for new investments. Self-employed people will be given a tax reduction to finance their own retirement funds. A $900 million emergency public works program was authorized for use in offsetting recessions. The Communications Satellite Corporation was authorized in the form the administration wanted it. A so-called omnibus farm bill was passed giving the administration only a part and a delayed start on what was really asked for.

Congress was slower and later than it has ever been in passing appropriation bills to fund the government this fiscal year, already one-fourth gone. Total figures aren't available.

yet and won't be for some days.

As approved by the House, expenditures will be over $90 billion and maybe over $91 billion. Even so, this is $4 billion less than what the Kennedy administration requested.

The importance of this record, pro and con, is how much effect it will have on the November elections.

Republicans will take credit for administration defeats and point with horror at administration successes.

The Democratic pitch will be to point with pride to achievement of a good start on the Kennedy administration program at the half-way mark, after some hard fights. For administration defeats, an appeal will be made to elect more Democratic candidates to push through more of the program in the second half.

Stiff Fight
HONOLULU (UPI)—Republican Gov. William F. Quinn will face a stiff fight with Democrat John A. Burns next month in their bid for the Hawaii gubernatorial post, according to complete returns from the nation's last primary election.

College? Certainly, you want your youngster to have good training but with taxes what they are one of the best things you can leave your children is a good education. Perhaps it's time to start saving for it now with our help and that big dividend we pay every six months.

FIRST FEDERAL Savings & Loan ASSOCIATION

Helen Fuller Says Behind Washington Scenes...

The tragedy in Mississippi and the triumph of Astronaut Walter Sherrin in space last week overshadowed so many noteworthy goings-on in Washington.

These dramatic events outclassed what the 87th Congress was choosing to do and not to do in its final days before adjournment. The choices Congress was making, however, may contain more significant clues to the future.

In one week, the House of Representatives voted $10 million to build a "fish hotel," as Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Ore.), dub the new aquarium to be constructed in Washington, and voted against aid to higher education which would have provided $17.5 million for grants to promising, needy college students next year.

The $10-million aquarium bill sailed through both houses. Pressures of both kinds killed the college-aid bill for this year and possibly for years to come.

What really happened behind the scenes to make building the fish hotel popular and aiding colleges unpopular with Congress is not discussed in much detail because the story involves family secrets on Capitol Hill and political taboos.

From last February until last week the House and Senate had tried to compromise their differences and arrive at a college-aid bill acceptable to both. Those in both parties who have studied the subject are aware that the U. S. must double its present college plant in the next 15-20 years to make room for the generation now growing up.

The cost of such a program will be so huge that private funds cannot pay for it all. The Federal government will have to supply some help. It is generally accepted, too, that larger numbers of college-trained Americans are essential to maintaining our leadership in scientific, space and other crucial contests with the Russians in the years ahead.

The big disagreement, in Congress, as in the country, is over how much and what kind of Federal help it will take to keep college facilities adequate for needs created by the postwar baby boom.

The compromise college-aid bill finally hammered out this summer by conferees of both parties from both houses at first appeared to have a good chance to pass. No group was totally pleased with the final version—which political masterminds cited as a sign it was not "too extreme" in any direction.

The compromise measure authorized $1.5 billion in grants and loans over five years to both public and private colleges for construction of classrooms and libraries, $200 million in grant to public community colleges, and about $200 million in student loans over five years. These loans were to be made by the colleges. Each could set aside 20 percent of the loan fund for outright grants to exceptionally promising and needy students.

To meet objections to giving public funds to private schools on religious or constitutional grounds the federal grants would be limited to construction of buildings used for science, engineering and libraries. Loans would be made for general-purpose classrooms. No federal funds would be given to build chapels, divinity schools, or sport facilities to which admission would be charged.

For a while the compromise climate seemed sunny. Then the rains descended and the floods came. An election day drew near, political partisanship sharpened. To impress the voters with their separate personalities Democrats and Republicans were more interested in disagreeing than agreeing. The Supreme Court decision in the school prayer case in June inflamed the religious issue again, particularly in the South. As tension grew over admission of James Meredith to "Ole Miss," some Southerners in Congress backed away from the bill for fear loans to "exceptionally needy" students might go heavily to Negroes.

The National Education Association and the National Congress of Parents and Teachers came out against letting federal funds to private schools on the ground that to do so imperiled "America's traditional concept of separation of church and state."

His argument fell on deaf ears. It had yet to be proved that supporting fish-watching could cost a Congressman votes, especially when the sponsor of the plan had so many goodies to give away.

INTRODUCING THE 1963 DODGE
People can't help being carried away by the 1963 Dodge. Who can blame them? Dodge looks like an expensive car. But it's priced down with other low-price cars. And inside there's room galore! The roofline sweeps straight back instead of sloping off. That means ample headroom in back, not just in front. There's more legroom and footroom, too. The seats are chair-high, whether you choose a model with soft style, buckets or fold-down center arm rest in front. Little wonder, people get carried away... especially now that every 1963 Dodge is backed by a new five-year/50,000-mile warranty! See your Dodge Dealer and drive the '63 Dodge.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Do you know of an institution or home where a 12-year-old can stay? My parents both say that I drive them crazy and they drive me nuts, too. Everybody yells at me and picks on me. All I want is to go away somewhere to give everybody a rest, including me. My parents are willing to pay double for a place to put me for a month or so. Please give me the name, address and phone number of a good institution. Thanks.

AN UNDERPRIVILEGED 12-YEAR-OLD

DEAR "UNDERPRIVILEGED": As soon as we have enough convalescent homes for oldsters we'll start thinking of adolescent homes for youngsters.

DEAR ABBY: I was glad to read where you said "What's a cold foot or a knee in your back compared with 'togetherness'?" I wish my wife (now "ex-wife") thought so.

On our first vacation, after having driven 600 miles, we stopped at a motor court at 10:00 p. m. and the only room available had a big double bed. My wife created such a commotion that we had to drive another 100 miles before we came to a motel with twin beds. She said I was trying to ruin her vacation. I neither drink, smoke nor snore. What should I have done? SLOW LEARNER

DEAR SLOW: According to your letter, you did it!

DEAR ABBY: I have been married 23 years and have a very good husband in many ways, but one fault he has is eating me up alive. He has never addressed me by my name. Here is an example: "Where is my shirt?" and "Get ready, we're going." We have argued about this ever since we were married. He has more respect for our dog. At least he calls the dog by his name. I tell him I was baptized like everyone else and have a name, but he says I am just looking for a fight. Sometimes I make believe I don't hear him and he yells, "DO YOU HEAR ME?" What should I do? NO NAME

DEAR NO NAME: Sometimes it's best to know when to give up. Nagging a husband about something he has refused to correct for 23 years will net you nothing but an ulcer. Why don't you forget it for the next 23 years and see how that works?

CONFIDENTIAL TO "SWEET 16 AND NEVER BEEN KISSED": Don't expect too much too soon. You'll be shaping up before long.

What's on your mind? For a personal reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Abby, Box 8365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

For Abby's booklet, "How To Have A Lovely Wedding," send 50 cents to Abby, Box 8365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

Jacoby On Bridge By Oswald Jacoby

North's four diamond bid was that new convention I discussed yesterday. It showed a strong heart support—at least four trumps headed by two of the three top honors and a singleton or void in diamonds. This response told South everything he wanted to know for a small slam. There were no losers in spades or clubs and since North had shown at least four trumps headed by two of the three top honors the trumps were solid. Hence, the hand would make six if North held a singleton diamond and seven if he were void of the suit or if his singleton diamond were the ace.

The second part of the convention enabled South to find out. He bid four no-trump and North responded six diamonds to show one ace. South knew of the diamond void and he contracted for seven hearts and spread his hand when East followed to the first club. I have not adopted this convention as yet. It has the great weakness that it does not come up often and maybe I should find one from which I will be able to get more mileage. I am going to adopt some four club-diamond convention before long. Maybe some readers will experiment with it and give me your ideas on the subject. It is not for casual play, but any established partnership should avail itself of every possible winning bid.

We The Women: By Ruth Millett

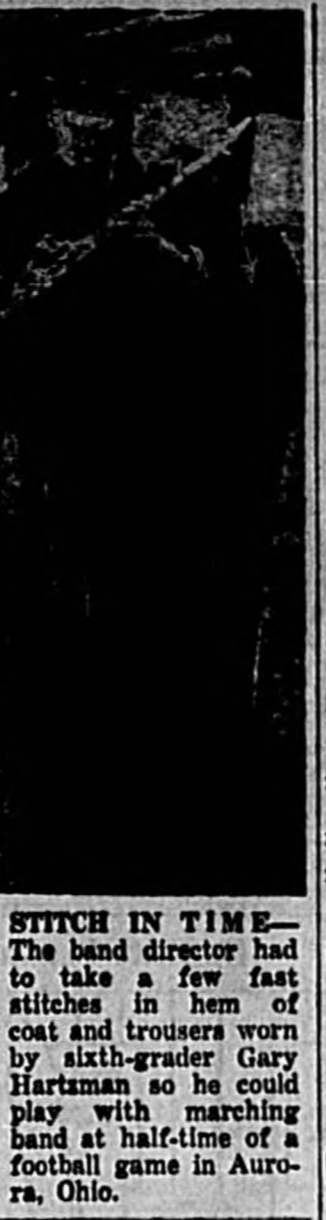

Do you want to be the kind of wife whose husband would rather take her on a trip than go without her? All right, then— Be enthusiastic about his plans, whatever they are, instead of merely lukewarm. Don't burden your husband with the dull details of all you will have to do in order to be able to get away. Just quietly get to work and take care of all the preparations. Don't have a "better idea" whenever your husband mentions his ideas about where you will stay, what you will do, and so on.

Once you're off on the trip, forget the responsibilities you have left behind, relax and be a care-free companion. If you can't help wondering if everything is going along all right in your absence, keep your nagging thoughts to yourself. Don't fret and complain when things don't work out exactly right, or make sure remarks as "I told you that you ought to make a reservation" or "We should have gone to some other restaurant. The food here is terrible."

Work Of Family Counseling Service Shown

The following is a report by Mrs. Gerald Woods, director of public relations for the United Fund, spotlighting the work of the eight agencies which are benefited by funds from the annual drive:

By James Woods
"My husband has started to drink—he's found another woman. It all began with a job that kept him long hours at work and my nagging at him when he did get home. I've suggested he leave home, and yet, neither of us want to end our marriage."

These words came from the lips of a distressed Seminole County woman who sought help at the Family Counseling Service located on Magnolia Avenue in Sanford. Through this agency the above case was resolved as the involved couple sat down with a professionally-trained Counselor and saw together how the trouble began, how they might get back together, and how to avoid a repeat performance. From Jan. 1 to July 3 of this year 224 persons from various economic and educational levels and presenting a cross-section of our county's population, took their problems to this agency. The people counseled were concerned primarily about family relationships and personal adjustments but other cases included emotionally ill persons who were referred to physicians in Orlando and a number of boys and girls who attended the Gonas Camp this past summer. A Seminole County lawman said, "It's nice to know our community has an agency where we can take our personal and family problems and the service is given regardless of race, religion or how much money we make. Not every problem can be solved, but I wouldn't guess how much unhappiness the agency has helped to prevent by helping avert broken homes and delinquency. What's more—problems are told and kept in confidence." The Family Counseling Service is one of the agencies participating in the United Fund Campaign.

Business Briefs

Many Features Combined In Raborn Laundry

For 15 years the Seminole County Laundry has been owned by the Raborn family.

Started in 1920 by M.L. Raborn Sr., the business was purchased in 1930 by M.L. Raborn Jr. The laundry, located at 215 West Third Street, serves the laundry and cleaning needs of area residents.

Free pickup and delivery is available. Thousands of pieces of clothing are handled each week. A buy-tag system consisting of numbered racks and keyed slots insure the proper return of each piece to its owner.

All clothing is washed in naturally softened water to assure complete cleanliness and prevent gray color and souring.

A half million gallons of water are used per month. Both true soaps and detergents are used. The proper one is selected for the particular job needed.

After removing excess moisture with a centrifugal extractor and doing the necessary starching, the pieces are ready for drying or ironing.

Large pieces such as sheets and table linens are ironed on a flatwork ironer, commonly referred to as a mangle. Shirts are ironed by being draped over cotton padded, nylon covered forms. A steam heated press does the actual ironing.

Pieces needing only to be dried are fluffed in a revolving cylinder by hot dry air. Thermostatic controls signal the operator when the clothes are sufficiently dried and ready to be folded.

Sanitone dry cleaning, nationally advertised and recommended by leading clothing manufacturers, is a feature of the Seminole County Laundry Co. This process is guaranteed to be odorless.

"Visitors are welcome to come in and see our operation," Raborn said. "We are proud of our quality workmanship with which we serve the laundry and dry cleaning needs of many families throughout the area."

Just for the record there are 30 teachers in Seminole County schools that don't have college degrees. . . .

County School Board meets tomorrow and among the most interesting items will be a discussion of that bus mishap by Sunland. . . . We hear there are two conflicting stories. . . . One the state and one the bus driver! . . .

After the County Commission discussion on the Osceola Airstrip yesterday afternoon, the members of the Seminole Timing Association that attended took off for the strip and proceeded to pick up over a truckload of junk that littered the runways. They also swept down the runway used by the association and, the judge says, "did a fine job of policing the whole area." This is a demonstration of good citizenship, that perhaps more people should emulate. . . .

Did you know there are 16,000 feet of perfectly good runway out there and the total area of the airport is 1,150 acres? Lt. Chuck Allen, SNAB, who knows a lot about such things, says it would take over $2,000,000 to duplicate the Osceola layout. . . .

It would seem appropriate for Merle Warner's C of C Airport Planning Committee to forget putting a Seminole County facility in Volusia County and busy themselves working on ways to use Osceola. After all, with $2,000,000 worth of runways and land out there, where else should the County Airport be? . . .

Steps have been taken to correct all discrepancies in county financial divisions, as listed by the state auditors reports, County Commissioners were told Tuesday. . . .

The County Commissioners plan to look into the matter of electric water coolers for the courthouse to replace the big old-fashioned water jugs now used in some places. "City water is good enough for us, I think," said Cmmr. Vernon Duan. . . .

Just Littered With Trash

The Osceola Airstrip was termed "decrepit" and "littered with trash, broken bottles and beer cans" by Lt. Charles Allen, a Navy aeronautical engineer, who addressed the County Commission on the airstrip situation Tuesday afternoon.

The future of the 1,150 acre Osceola Airstrip was discussed by Allen, SNAB, in a statement to the commission pointing out the present condition of the facility. He said the Seminole Timing Association had erected poles and a judge's stand which constitute a serious obstacle to the use of the strip by aircraft. . . .

Other County Commission stories will be found on page 2. . . .

It was pointed out that the Federal Aviation Agency has given the county three alternatives for the strip, either to close it entirely, keep it partially open or to restrict its use to aircraft on a full time airport for the county. Allen suggested the appointment of an airport authority to exercise control over the facility and regulate its uses to the best interests of the county, including non-aviation activities which would be suitable.

Municipal Judge Kenneth McIntosh, sitting as a citizen and lay adviser to the Timing Association, pointed out that the association is properly chartered as a non-profit organization and has as its primary purpose that of curbing automotive delinquency by the youth of the county who have previously used the highways for drug strips. . . .

Out of the discussion came the suggestion that a committee be appointed to study the combined use of the Osceola strip for both aircraft and the activities of the timing group and to coordinate the planning and use of the facility. Allen and McIntosh indicated they would serve on the committee. . . .

Officials of the Florida Symphony Orchestra, a fully professional organization, expressed enthusiasm for the plans of the principals and pledged their complete cooperation in the project. . . .

Principal Harp, a trained musician, said Tuesday night he would endeavor to work out a program of informal instruction based on the numbers to be played by the orchestra to acquaint the children with the music they will hear, and introduce them to the lives of the composers and their various styles and meter. . . .

Commissioners Turn Down Full Time Attorney

Commissioner Vernon Dunn's proposal to hire a full time county attorney met with a silent reception from the other County Commissioners Tuesday and died for lack of a second. . . .

Dunn had proposed that in place of the County Attorney, Zoning Attorney and School Board Attorney, at separate salaries, one full time counselor be hired to do all the work at a salary of $12,000 a year. He expected that the school board would continue to include the $1,500 they have budgeted for an attorney. . . .

Proposed included a secretary for the attorney at a salary of $3,600 a year. Commissioner Ted Williams' proposal of a second pay raise for Zoning Director Robert Brown and one for Mrs. Maxine Thompson, met with the same silence and also died for lack of a second. . . .

The board did approve hiring a full time maintenance man at a salary of $3,200 a year, to maintain all county property, under general maintenance, working under the direction of Zoning Director Robert Brown who was also authorized to accept and pass upon applications for the job. The present part-time maintenance man who drives a school bus mornings and afternoons will be dropped. . . .
