Marks His 80th Birthday Last Fuehrer Is Alone

By HUBERT J. ERD
Associated Press Writer
AUMHEIHEL, Germany (AP) — The last Fuehrer of the Reich lives alone less than two miles from the burial place of Bismarck, the Iron Chancellor who founded the modern German Empire a century ago.
Otto von Bismarck, who extended old Prussia's glory from Königsberg in the East to Alsace and Lorraine in the West, is simply called "Der Fuehrer," or "the leader," by local residents. His burial vault is a chapel overlooking the family estate with his private train station where his heirs still live.
Karl Doentz, unlikely successor to Bismarck, shares an old villa in the neighboring village of Aumhehle with other tenants. A sign announces the house is for sale. His neighbors call Doentz, "Der Alte Herr," the old gentleman, who just marked his 80th birthday.
It is Doentz's claim that all ready in 1944 he began putting together a task force of merchant and passenger ships with warship escort that records show successfully evacuated three million Germans from the path of the Russian Red army. He emphasized he received full government cooperation in carrying out this seafaring, described by German historians as the greatest ever launched, despite Hitler's order to stand fast everywhere. Doentz proudly declared that losses ran less than one per cent while refugees moving by land in the great German trek from the eastern Reich lost 18 per cent killed, many in air raids.

Gainesville's Drug Traffic Multi-Million $$$ Business

By THE GAINESVILLE SUN
During the past two years this All America City's drug traffic has soared to a multi-million dollar business, but law officers say the narcotics are not controlled by big-time crime men and most of the arrests involve drop-outs and part-time students.
Contrary to public opinion, those arrested generally are not students at the University of Florida.
"A student who uses drugs with any regularity cannot maintain the regular life pattern necessary to attend classes and complete homework assignments," said Dr. Robert Gervais, director of Alachua County's heroin addict program.
Region II Narcotics Director Ron Stanley provides statistics which show that only nine of 40 persons arrested for the sale of drugs in the first six months of this year were enrolled at the UF. And only eight of the 33 arrested for possession of any kind of drug attended the UF.
But Alachua County court records reflect the dramatic increase in felony drug arrests. Between Jan. 1 and Sept. 8, 1968, there were about 235 felony charges of all kinds filed in the county. Only 14 of the total involved arrests for drug violations. During the same period in 1971, 167 of about 530 charges

Woman Is Shot; Suspect Is Jailed

By BILL SCOTT
A shooting at the Victory beer garden early Thursday night sent a Sanford woman to Orange Memorial Hospital in "critical" condition. According to Det. Sgt. William Lykens, Naomi Burnett, 42, Goldsboro, was wounded when two slugs from a .38 caliber pistol were fired into her body, one lodging in the abdomen and the second in her chest.
King David Thomas, 37, Sanford, was charged with carrying a concealed weapon and is lodged at the city jail, awaiting further investigation of the case.
Still under investigation is a report that the woman also was armed.
Thomas was arrested just after the shooting while he walked along First Street, just blocks away from the Third and Sanford Avenue beer garden.
A fire last night in the Midway community, east of Sanford, destroyed the home of Calum Moore Jr., according to the sheriff's department. The blaze reportedly started when an oil heater exploded and set the Jetway Avenue house ablaze.
Midway and Lake Mary volunteer fire departments were called to extinguish the blaze that started at 11 p.m.
A break-in at Cowan's department store on First Street resulted in the theft of 18 new men's suits valued at $85 each.

From the GOOD NEWS Department . . . Mrs. Imnich called and told us of her son's washing car, along with other members of the Seminole High Band.
Somehow, his wallet got lost. The next thing they knew, it turned up in their mail box, in a big brown envelope . . . EVERYTHING INTACT.
On behalf of a grateful family . . . thanks to that good Samaritan.
You never know . . . Vesta Harper of Lake Mary had a blank money order in the amount of $48.80 on the front seat of her car.
Yes, you guessed it . . . sometime between 11 a. m. and 6 p. m. on Tuesday, it disappeared.
Mrs. Harper would "love" to know of its whereabouts . . . preferably have it returned. Her number is 323-0842.
The other day we printed in this column a poem published on the front page of the Seminole Junior College newspaper CONTACT. Unfortunately, we didn't get the name of the poet . . . one about the troubles presently in Ireland, remember? Well, today we were pleasantly surprised when a charming young lady visited with us and identified herself as being responsible for this prose . . . Helen Richard.
I thought it was outstanding. Ironically a short time earlier it had been submitted to a professor (somewhere in the southern part of the state, as I recall it) and Helen was told that it just didn't have "it."
Funny . . . but, I've had a number of readers call and tell us of how much they enjoyed reading it . . . and yet, that "Prof" . . .
Should be a moral there . . . somewhere!

CASSELBERRY — Harlan Hanson, past director of the Orange Seminole Osceola Planning Council, was appointed planner of the CALNO Council of Local Governments last night and immediately put to work completing applications for state and federal funding which must be in Tallahassee by Monday.
Studies for which the Council requested funds are inter-governmental cooperation and coordination among the member cities of Casselberry, Altamonte Springs, Longwood and North Orlando, utility service including water, sewer, solid waste, capital budget, parks and recreation and drainage.
Meanwhile in Longwood, some dissension in the organization was seen with Acting Mayor E. Williamson leveling criticism at the Council and particularly its chairman, Altamonte Mayor Lawrence Swafford for calling a meeting on the same night as the regular Longwood City Council meeting.
Williams said if Swafford cannot schedule meetings at a time when Longwood delegates can be present, perhaps he should "forget about the

County Approves Aid To Community Project

By ANN SHECZKOWSKI
Among the myriad of details covered by the Board of County Commissioners was the problem of the railroad crossing on 25th Street.
Sidney Vilhen Jr. mentioned the number of serious accidents which have occurred at the crossing on 25th Street in spite of the flashing lights. "I wonder if a crossing gate might not be advantageous because of limited vision in that area? Some times the lights are on, the train is some distance up the track and people race across — some don't see the race. The gates would prevent this dangerous practice and save some lives."
County Engineer William Bush was requested to run a survey at the cost of signal construction at this site.
In other action, Al Davis reported that residents in the Lake Harriet area are involved in a community project of removing hydrants from the lake. The residents on a recent weekend hauled away 30 truckloads to the dump at a cost of about $50. There would have to be another similar expense before all the hydrants are removed.
Davis asked if the board could give some relief to the equipment to do the job.
Sign J. C. Lavender said his crew can not go on private property to pick up hydrants and even if they were removed

Another Bright Aspect Of Seminole County

Take a look at what's going on in Seminole County in the overall field of crime detection, judicial disposal, confinement and correction and there are some very bright spots in this very difficult and often dark prospect.

Lawbreakers are being apprehended and arrested in a manner which is increasingly cool, calm and effective. Of course this must stem from leadership in the sheriff's office, the municipal police departments and the State Highway Patrol which points this way.

Alarm Bell Rings

Members of the Seminole County Board of Public Instruction and all involved in the apparatus which is charged with educating the young folks would be well advised to keep their eyes and minds opened to what is happening in their chosen field.

Research, study, discussion and proposals are coming from almost every source and at every level. Every once in a while however, there is a hard news story which cuts through all these and rings an alarm bell.

Such an event took place in Independence, Mo., home of the wise former President Harry S. Truman whose famous desk sign "The Buck Stops Here" is quite pertinent.

"For the seventh time in two years," reads the UPI dispatch, "voters rejected a tax hike to finance schools." Joe Peters, a school board member commented "... a black mark against America. It's sickening."

Not at all. It is further evidence that the taxpayer is getting more and more realistic in appraising what his educational tax dollar is buying.

Nor were the Independence voters unaware that closing the schools in mid-term was a tactic which the board could employ and did with disruption of the educational process, the price.

The proposed tax increase would have been about $61 a year for the homeowner. Lack of funds to pay teachers' salaries was the excuse the board used for shutting down the schools.

It is not theoretical at all that the demand all over the United States within the education systems is an immediate halt on expenditures which common sense will not O.K.

It is a demand which will not be silenced in Seminole County nor in Florida where the state educational system is due for a major overhaul.

Hal Boyle Says: "Watch Your Step" - Up Or Down

NEW YORK (AP) - People are always going up or down in this world. The summit is the goal but it is a crowded, restless place and hard to perch on for long. It behooves a man, therefore, to know whether his career is ascending or declining. In a world of sham this isn't always too easy. But there are certain guide marks.

Helen Fuller Says: Nixon Acting Like A "Bender"

WASHINGTON - Presidential advisers find that, after pulling and hauling and seeming to go through great agonies to painful decisions, the President usually winds up in a position approved by most moderates in the first place. So much has Mr. Nixon become the "bender" in the wind that sportsmen have reason to doubt a still another "new Nixon." Most recent example is his choice of new Supreme Court Justices. These choices show what a "bender" does under heavy pressure.

Japan Feels Downgraded Now

TOKYO (NEA) - Severe resentment against President Nixon in high Japanese circles is not being suppressed. David Hendin Says: Good Diet A Curb On Killers

By DAVID HENDIN
NEA Editorialist
The medical affliction responsible for the most deaths in the United States today is coronary heart disease. Experts say that heart disease is epidemic in our country, and they link it closely with another problem of epidemic proportion - obesity. New research scientists believe they have found a close connection between overeating and the nation's No. 1 killer disease - cancer.

Berry's World

There has been much research into the relationship of obesity, fat intake and other nutritional factors to heart disease. Experts in the field generally agree there is an optimal state of nutritional balance to most successfully avoid coronary heart disease. Now the possible relationship between nutrition and cancer is receiving a great deal of attention by scientists. At the recent annual meeting of the American College of Surgeons in Atlantic City, Dr. Robert Good, a University of Minnesota physician-researcher, said that he had been able to induce resistance to certain blood and breast cancers in rodents by changing the amounts of protein in the diet.

Teague Luncheons Will Be Changed

A different type lunch will be served at Teague Middle School at Forest City, when that facility reopens on double sessions Monday.
Hugh Carlton, school auxiliary services director, reported to the School Board that due to the time allocated for students to eat and the requirement that services be twice daily rather than at the regular lunch period, the school menu will consist of a special type lunch.
Exact nature of the meal was not disclosed, except that it would be "a little more than a bag lunch but less than a regular meal." Cost has been reduced from 45 cents to 35 cents per meal. Another school development, Herbert Muse, transportation supervisor, will transfer to the post of school maintenance supervisor, effective Tuesday.
Woodrow Burned, chief transportation mechanic, will move to the transportation supervisory position, also effective Tuesday.

Heard in the public hearing session of the County Commission meeting was a request of John H. Smith for rezoning from R-1 Residential to C-1 commercial at Grapeville Avenue and 27th Street.
"I was asked for a building permit to build a store room. It was refused until the area is rezoned. I still just want to build a store room. I also want permission to expand my store-there will be no other kind of business-just a store 18 by 40 feet."
"Rezoning would allow a 'juke box,'" Farr said.
"This store is already licensed to sell beer and wine. And we have a day nursery run by a church in the area. I am opposed to this rezoning," Mrs. John Williams, a resident in the area, said.
Mrs. Williams said in response to query from Chairman Greg Drummond she would not object to a C-1 zoning as long as there was no "juke box." Drummond said, "I feel we should encourage and discourage the small business man."

Magic Carpet Trip To Scenic Hawaii Sparks DeBary Garden Club Meeting

By DOT DREW
DeBary—Forty-three members and guests attending the recent meeting of the DeBary Garden Club in the community center, were transported on a magic carpet to view the splendor and scenic beauty of our 50th state—Hawaii.

Mrs. Harold S. Johnson, club member, showed slides accompanied by a graphic commentary of some of the sites visited by her and her husband during their year's stay in Hawaii—the Sandwich Islands in 1966 years ago described by Mark Twain as the "loveliest islands anchored in any ocean."

Slide highlights depicted Aloha Week, celebrated at Waikiki each year with its participating floats of live flowers; the lei huts of Oahu festooned with gardenia, plumeria, shell ginger and orchids all used in the making of leis.

Also a visit to King Street and the golden feathered cape worn by former kings of the islands; Louis Stevenson's hut, and the country-side with the brilliant flowers found throughout this bit of "Paradise on Earth." The travogue was climaxed with scenes taken on the day "Statehood came to Hawaii"—a day the churches could not hold all those who came to thank God for their blessings!

Mrs. Ernest Quastler, Mrs. Frederick Metz and Mrs. Joseph Meyer, three new members, were welcomed. A formal presentation of the new members in planning for the Dec. 2 meeting when each will be presented a corsage.

In other action Mrs. Creston Overstedt, program chairman, announced that the planned "Tour of Homes" during December be postponed. She suggested that the tour be renamed "Tour of Gardens and Homes" to be held during the early Spring, preferably April. Mrs. Garvice N. Hammond is chairman of this event.

MRS. HAROLD S. It was pointed out in the pecans can be kept in the tree for use throughout the year. Mrs. Alvin Becker, horticultural chairman, gave the following timely gardening hints: Caladium bulbs can be lifted now, cuttings made of geraniums and begonias and crepe myrtle cut back sharply for more and larger future blooms.

The large shrub pecans offer Mrs. Arthur Peterson a monthly continuing advice on Parliamentary Law procedures discussed the classifications of motions—particularly a main or principal motion to be brought before an assembly for consideration as being debatable and subject to amendment.

Mrs. Arthur Peterson was appointed representative to the DeBary Public Affairs Committee. Mrs. H. M. Gilhuly is the current president of the DeBary Garden Club.

Other officers include Mrs. Creston Overstedt, first vice president; Mrs. Rudolph Berkebaum, second vice president; Mrs. Alvin G. Becker, third vice president; Mrs. Charles I. MacNeil, fourth vice president; Mrs. Ernest Quastler, recording secretary; Mrs. J. M. Scott, corresponding secretary; Mrs. John M. Buff, treasurer.

CHULUOTA
Mr. and Mrs. Fadil Osman of 30 E. Third Court, are a happy couple. They entertained his brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Niazal Osman from London, England.

This is the second trip to the United States and to Chulota for the Osmans, who are vacationing a month in Chulota. They have toured Cape Kennedy, Disney World, Busch Gardens and all other interesting places that our beautiful State of Florida has to offer tourists.

Visiting in Chulota last summer was the first reunion in 10 years for the Osman brothers. Fadil Osman presented his brother with a gift, a battery transistor radio and clock. Mr. Osman said their home is wired for 220 voltage. Therefore, our electric radios, etc. cannot be used in London.

The Niazal Osmans are owners of a Travel Agency in London. Both families are originally from the Island of Cyprus, previously a British Colony.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry E. Willett, 211 Seventh St., have returned home after a three-week visit with his brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur M. Willett who live in Scotland, Md.

The brothers fled and craved in the Chesapeake Bay and caught some nice sea trout.

A family reunion is being held at the home of Mrs. E. J. Willett in Arlington, Va. with Mrs. Willett serving a buffet supper. It had been two years since the entire Willett family has been together.

They, know what? We went to Titusville Sunday and stopped at the American Legion where they were having a turkey shoot. Husband, Shorty, fired a couple of times, almost winning a turkey by a near-miss.

Todd-Hauptkorn Nuptials Spoken

Miss Kathy Todd became the bride of George Hauptkorn Nov. 8, 1971 at Tampa. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carlton O. Todd, 2027 South French Avenue, Sanford. She attended Seminole High School and is a graduate of Seminole Junior College.

Mr. Hauptkorn is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Hauptkorn, 1860 Chase Avenue, Sanford. He attended Seminole High School and was recently graduated from the University of South Florida.

The couple is making their home at 1008 E. Tampa, where the bride is an integral part of the week's schedule, so Mamma was horrified. "Well," she challenged, "did you swear at your sister?" Billy denied the charge.

"Yes, he did too!" firmly affirmed his sister. "I did not," just as arrogantly protested Billy.

"Then why does your sister say you did?" persisted Mamma. "Well," replied Billy, "what does Rotterdam mean to you?" His mother wrinkled her brow momentarily.

"Oh, that's a big city in Holland," she answered. "Well, all I told her was that if she ever stole another piece of my candy, I hoped I'd rotterdam teeth out!" Billy proudly exclaimed.

Holiday Arrangement Tips Presented To Geneva Club
GENEVA—The Geneva Garden Club met on Nov. 5 at the living room of Mrs. W. D. Dunn. The meeting was opened by the reading of a meaningful poem by Mrs. Calvin Oldham and was followed by the club prayer.

It was suggested to have the birthday observance at night and to invite the husbands of the members as well as any of the past presidents who were able to attend.

A discussion followed with the various committees to report their findings at the next regular meeting.

Worry Clinic

By GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE 8-16: Dr. J. C. Higginson, aged 88, is the oldest dental surgeon in Danville, Ill. Occasionally he drops into the office of my son, Daniel, to reminisce about dentistry.

For he has a keen mind and also a superb sense of humor. Until their firstborn son arrived earlier this year, Dan was a vivacious wife, Judy, helped in the dental office.

So when Dan was at the YM-Ca on Monday, Wednesday and Friday noon playing volleyball with his team, Judy would be regaled with Dr. Higginson's stories.

One of them involved Rotterdam. Dr. Higginson said a little girl called to her mother to "lattle" on her 12-year-old brother.

"Mother," gleefully exclaimed the girl, "Billy swear at me!" Well, this was a good mother home where Sunday School was an integral part of the week's schedule, so Mamma was horrified.

"Well," she challenged, "did you swear at your sister?" Billy denied the charge.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My problem is my children's family for entertainment. I should pay for the children until we are married. My argument is that since we do this only occasionally, it is not too much to expect Harold to treat them. Harold is not stingy. He says it is "accepted etiquette" when dating a divorced woman.

WONDERING DEAR WONDERING: Harold may not be "stingy" but he's no big spender either. My friend my Vanderbilt (who is the last word on "accepted etiquette") says that when a divorcee and her children are invited out, the "host" picks up the tab for ALL the guests (P. S. If you plan to marry Harold, establish all the financial ground rules in advance or prepare for some serious money fights).

DEAR ABBY: I am a 24-year-old housewife and mother of two. I have bronchial asthma and can't tolerate smoke, so I put a large "No Smoking" sign up in my home. When I absolutely must go where people are smoking, I have to take medication in order to breathe, and when I come home I need a clean atmosphere to recuperate in.

DEAR ABBY: I am a divorced man with four children. I've been dating Harold for two years and we plan on marrying. Here is my question: Harold contends that if we take my children out to eat, or for entertainment, I should pay for the children until we are married.

DEAR ABBY: My problem is my husband's family. He told my sister that he will not visit us if he has to go outside to smoke. My sister means the world to me and I want to see her once in a while, yet I can't allow her husband, or anyone else to smoke in my house because it's not worth getting sick over. Thank you for your help in this matter.

Gainesville's Drug Traffic Multi-Million $$$ Business

By THE GAINESVILLE SUN
 During the past two years this All America City's drug traffic has soared to a multi-million dollar business, but law officers say the narcotics are not controlled by big-time crime men and most of the arrests involve drop-outs and part-time students. Contrary to public opinion those arrested generally are not students at the University of Florida.

"A student who uses drugs with any regularity cannot maintain the regular life pattern necessary to attend classes and complete homework assignments," said Dr. Robert Gervais, director of Alachua County's heroin addict program.

Region II Narcotics Director Ron Stanley provides statistics which show that only nine of 49 persons arrested for the sale of drugs in the first six months of the year were enrolled at the UF. And only eight of the 30 arrested for possession of any kind of drug attended the UF.

But Alachua County court records reflect the dramatic increase in felony drug arrests between Jan. 1 and Sept. 8, 1968, there were about 225 felony charges of all kinds filed in the county. Only 14 of the total involved arrests for drug violations. During the same period in 1971, 107 of about 550 charges involved drugs. Drug arrests are more than seven times what they were just two years ago while other charges averaged a two-and-a-half-times increase.

Gainesville Sun staff writer Carl Wilson's interviews with students "here" come" figures an addict on the county methadone program and his personal experience as an undergraduate and graduate student of the University of Florida campus led him to support the proposition that full-time students are not the main problems.

Wilson reported that his findings showed many of the young people involved in Gainesville's drug scene were dropouts who hung around with other drop-outs in an effort to postpone facing failure when they return to their hometowns.

"The people here let you alone and let you do your thing," said one young loner who identified himself only as "Blue Six."

"The cops don't hassle you until you get stopped in just about every town on the way home."

The hippie is to be no means harmless. He usually has made what is called the "total break" and lives in a small, closed group. They are not political activists as a rule and spend most of their time getting stoned (high on drugs) and listening to music.

Members of the group do not steal from each other because they do so means ostracism. Wilson reported that his sources told him they were petty thieves, burglars, and worst of

Marks His 80th Birthday Last Fuehrer Is Alone

By HUBERT J. EBB
 Associated Press Writer

AUHMUEHLE, Germany (AP) — The last Fuehrer of the Reich lives alone less than two miles from the burial place of Bismarck, the Iron Chancellor who founded the modern German Empire a century ago.

Otto von Bismarck, who extended old Prussia's glory from Koenigsberg in the East to Alsace and Lorraine in the West is simply called "Der Fuehrer" or "prince" by local residents. His burial vault is a chapel overlooking the family estate with its private train station where his heirs still live.

Karl Doenitz, unlikely successor to Bismarck, shares an old villa in the neighboring village of Ahmuehle with other tenants. A sign announces the house is for sale. His neighbors call Doenitz "Der Alte Herr" the old gentleman, who just signed his first contract.

Doenitz, who was arrested for 24 days near Adolf Hitler's Third Reich, now lives in Bismarck country.

He has worked as a nurse in World War, while Doenitz served a 10-year term for war crimes. He joined her in the modest three-room Ahmuehle flat in 1956. When she died in 1962, Doenitz was left alone except for a married daughter. He lost his two sons in the sea war he commanded for Nazi Germany.

Doenitz started building up Germany's U-boat fleet in 1935 and began wartime operations in 1939 with 18 craft. In 1943 he became German naval commander as grand admiral the same year the sea was turned against his U-boats.

Doenitz at 80 is tall and slim, but hard of hearing. He received his visitor in the manner of the lifelong career officer that he was a man used to command.

It is Doenitz' claim that at least in 1944 he began putting together a last force of river steam and passenger ships will show successful, evacuated three million Germans from the Baltic to the Russian Red Army.

He emphasizes he received full government cooperation in carrying out the results described by German historians as the greatest ever launched, despite Hitler's order to stand fast everywhere. Doenitz proudly declared that losses ran less than one per cent while refugees moving by land in the great German trek from the eastern Reich lost 15 per cent killed, many in air raids.
