NATION IN BRIEF

Probe Turns Up 19 Harmed By FBI Campaign

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Justice Department says it has found 19 people who suffered actual harm because they were the targets of an FBI harassment campaign in the 1960s and early 1970s.

One person was fired from a job and others suffered from invasions of their privacy. Some lost face with their colleagues because they were falsely branded police informers

Department officials reported those findings as they discussed their four-month effort to locate the victims and tell them what the FBI did to them.

Eucharistic Congress Opens

PHILADELPHIA (AP) - Thousands of candles flickered in the wind and a Catholic choir sang of Christ as "the Bread of Life." The 41st International Eucharistic Congress opened with prayer, pageantry and possibly the biggest religious parade in American history.

Police said 300,000 persons, including cardinals and bishops who waved and cheered, watched 50,000 men, women and children Sunday in a four-hour, two-mile march from Independence Hall to the Cathedral of Saints Peter and Paul.

The day began with prayer, in a stirring Mass before 2,000 notables in the cathedral, and ended with a candlelight benediction that asked God's blessing on mankind.

New Russian Tank In Works

WASHINGTON (AP) - Russia reportedly has moved into major production of an advanced battle tank that is still largely a mystery to U.S. military officials.

The Soviet army has not yet deployed the T72 tank outside Russia and this has made it difficult to obtain detailed technical information on its characteristics and performance, U.S. sources said.

Normally, U.S. intelligence learns much about new Soviet weaponry by observing it with Russian units in East Germany or other Soviet bloc countries, or when such weaponry is provided to nations in the Middle East and elsewhere.

Data Puzzles Scientists

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) - Information that may - or may not - point to the existence of life on Mars continues to pour in from Viking 1. Scientists are trying to figure out just what it means.

Viking scientists said Sunday that the data, including an unexpected abundance of oxygen in one of Viking's lifeseeking probes, might be signs of Martian life. But they also said nonliving chemical agents - such as peroxide crystals - could be causing the reactions. "It would just be silly of us to say we know what the data means," said Dr. Gerald Soffen, chief Viking scientist.

Harris Trial May Halt

LOS ANGELES (AP) - The prosecution in the William and Emily Harris trial is considering asking that jury deliberations be halted until a controversy surrounding the judge is resolved.

The defense centends Superior Court Judge Mark Brandler is guilty of misconduct for failing to tell attorneys that he had been told some jurors might be biased against the Harrises.

A hearing on the controversy was scheduled to resume today. So were jury deliberations, which had recessed over the weekend.

WORLD IN BRIEF

Chinese Fear Aftershocks Will Bring New Earthquake

TOKYO (A) - Foreign residents left Peking and Tientsin today for places of safety as the Chinese government reported 110 aftershocks - an average of nearly five an hour - in the devastated Tangshan area. The aftershocks Saturday night and Sunday, combined with such other indications as nervous behavior of animals in the Peking Zoo, prompted new warnings from Chinese seismologists that a new major quake was imminent. It was the third such warning since Friday. David Dean, deputy chief of the U.S. Liaison Office in Peking, said 18 wives and eight children of members of the American staff were leaving today, but there were no plans yet to evacuate any of the 31 staff members.

Americans Still In Vietnam

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) - About 20 Americans and Vietnamese with American passports are believed still in Vietnam following the arrival in Bangkok of 49 Americans and dependents of Americans from Saigon.

One of the arrivals, Frederick Gulden, 54, an architect from Chicago, Ill., reported that Vietnamese who were moved out of the cities to new agricultural areas being opened up are "dying like flies" from disease and lack of medical care.

Several of the evacuees said the Communist government wants to get rid of all the several hundred foreigners still in Vietnam. Most of them are French or Vietnamese with French citizenship.

Chinese Keep Up Service

MIAMI (AP) - An American tour in Peking last week continued to receive first-rate hotel service and elaborate meals although the city had been struck by two major earthquakes, a Miami woman said. "They never failed all the way through to serve us a meal - and an elaborate meal at that," Althea McNulty said Saturday after returning from the long trip via

And, while convoys of trucks roared past the ornate Peking Hotel taking troops and equipment to areas where thousands were killed by the quakes, the hotel laundry was washing the American group's clothes, she said. Davis is to present an ordinance regarding trailer tie-downs. E. Celery Ave., Sanford. General public charge. Call 323-9340 for registration.

FLORIDA IN BRIEF

Four Persons Die

In Nursing Home Fire SEBRING (AP) - "I don't think I'll ever get over it," says Ida Ruley, the owner of a boarding house in which four elderly persons died in a smokey blaze. "These people are just like our own family." Fire officials said the four victims were too old to get out of bed fast enough to open windows for fresh air when fire and smoke swept the second floor of the Sebring Boarding

Home Sunday. "They were asleep and it happened so fast," said firefighter Ken Haynes. "They weren't burned; they died from smoke inhalation. They're all old people and couldn't move that fast."

Eight others were injured, but 28 were evacuated to safety. Fire officials said the cause of the blaze had not been determined.

Tall Ships Visit Miami

MIAMI (AP) - "I used to ride them and watch the people on shore waving," retired sailor Al Ringer recalled as five Tall Ships paraded into the Port of Miami. "Now I'm the one looking out. Sometimes I wish I was out there."

As Ringer, a 71-year-old retired U.S. Merchant Marine sailor, and tens of thousands of others watched just as wistfully Sunday, South Florida held its own version of New York's Fourth of July Operation Sail gala. Officials said 50,000 to 70,000 spectators lined the shores of two islands and a causeway linking Miami and Miami Beach to watch the U.S. Coast Guard bark Eagle lead the procession down Government Cut.

Binford Petition Ready

Seminole County Commission candidate Thomas Binford says he has secured enough petition signatures to qualify as an independent hopeful in the September 7 primary election. Binford, who is opposing Democratic incumbent Michael Hattaway in the county commission's First District, said he planned to turn his petition over to Seminole Supervisor of Elections Camilla Bruce a day before the August 3 deadline.

The petitions of all county independent contenders must be certified by the elections office to insure that each candidate has secured signatures from at least 10 per cent of the registered voters in the area he wishes to represent.

Binford, who recently completed a term as chairman of the Seminole County Port Authority (SCOPA), said his petition contains around 2,600 names. This is about 20 per cent above the required 2,185 in District 1, with the extra signatures providing insurance against those which may be thrown out as "invalid."

Farm Pamphlets Are Boondoggle

Government pamphlets explaining work dangers to farmers and ranchers are sparking controversy because of material one congressman says must have been written "for a New Yorker about to visit a farm for the first time."

The booklets, prepared at a cost of almost $500,000 by the Occupational Safety and Health Administration are designed to help farmers and ranchers understand new federal safety rules, so they say.

One pamphlet, "Safety With Beef Cattle," declares in large, bold print that "hazards are one of the main causes of accidents" and explains, "You can make your work area safe by finding hazards and removing them."

Sen. Carl Curtis, R-Neb., says the language is "so incredibly arrogant and insulting that it nearly leaves me speechless." He said OSHA material for other industries is not so childish and that apparently only farmers have been singled out for such treatment. (Like, for instance, Senator, the OSHA regulation requiring separate male and female toilets for family owned and operated firm-$?)

The beef cattle booklet has the American National Cattlemen's Association "laughing with tears in our eyes" with such advice as: "When floors are wet and slippery with manure, you can have a bad fall. You could also trip over junk or trash.

The pamphlets are being distributed in cooperation with the Extension Service in the Agriculture Department. New federal rules affecting farmers who hire outside labor have been announced by the agency.

One cluster of regulations affecting protective shields around machinery was to have gone into effect June 7 but was delayed until Oct. 25, partly because the informational material, including the pamphlets, was not ready.

Rep. Thomas Hagedorn, R-Mich., said, "The material in these pamphlets seems to be written for a New Yorker about to visit a farm for the first time." He said 155,000 copies of each of 28 pamphlets are being printed at a cost of $347,220 and that the government paid experts at Purdue University $119,500 for developing the material.

Among the pamphlets are: Safety with Front-End Loaders; Beware of Machine Hazards, Rules for Flagmen, Cotton Harvesting Safety, Using Anhydrous Ammonia Safely, Safety with Rotary Mowers, Working Safely with Poultry, and Using Grain Harvesting Equipment.

Sen Herman Talmadge, D-Ga., noted that a new OSHA pamphlet advises farmers to "speak softly to cows." . .

"Then there's one about being careful when you step in manure because it's slippery." (Reprinted with permission from the Santa

While the United States of America has been celebrating its 200 years of nationhood, our friends in Western Europe have taken a step toward forming a more perfect union of their own. The nine countries of the Common Market finally have agreed on the size and composition of a European Parliament to be elected in 1978.

Officially at least, European governments still look upon the Common Market as a framework for eventual political union. Ever since Napoleon's time, the idea of a United States of Europe has inspired some political thinkers as the ultimate key to peace and prosperity on the continent. The survival and growth of the Common Market has kept the flame alive, although realists admit that the ground gets sticky when the confront the issue of submerging political as well as economic independence to the common cause.

An elective European Parliament with 410 members could turn out to be quite an arena for conflict and debate, especially if it presumes to wield any real political power. Britain, France, West Germany and Italy each would hold 81 seats, with the remainder going to the other five countries on the basis of their relative size. While the European governments now are determined to go ahead and set up such a parliament, we won't be holding our breath waiting for it to start assuming any sovereignty. Frankly, we doubt if many Europeans are holding their breath in anticipation, either.

Those who think so may go to the rear of the class and weep for days gone by.

Once it was an article of faith in the nation that citizens mattered above anything else. The thinking was that none of us is important if one of us isn't. When Barbary pirates shelled America's civilian ships, Tom Jefferson sent the navy to Tripoli to retaliate. When some few sailors were roughed up in a Mexican seaport, Woodrow Wilson shelled Vera Cruz until the residents there hoisted the American flag and exercised further penitence by vigorously saluting it. Then, there was Teddy Roosevelt. When a Moroccan bandit named Raisuli kidnaped an American traveler named Perdicaris. T.R. had an immediate solution: "Perdicaris alive," he roared, "or Raisuli dead!" Philosophically, 7,000 Lauda Critical After Big Crash

MANNHEIM, West Germany (AP) - World champion driver Niki Lauda, an outspoken critic of the Nuerburgring, remained in critical condition today from injuries received in a three-car crash Sunday during the Formula I German Grand Prix.

Doctors in the intensive-care unit at Mannheim Medical Hospital were most concerned about Lauda's lungs. damaged by poisonous fumes he inhaled in the cockpit o his burning Ferrari 312 T2, a hospital spokesman said. The 27-year-old Austrian driver also suffered firstsecond- and third-degree facial burns expected to require plastic surgery.

The hospital spokesmen said doctors were waiting for Lauda's condition to improve before they performed any operations and that it might be 14 days before surgery could be undertaken.

Other injuries Lauda received in the third-lap wreck included less serious burns to his wrists and arms, a broken collar bone and other minor fractures, said Dr. Rudolf Zellner, head of the plastic surgery department at another clinic in nearby Ludwigshafen.

The race, which was won later by Briton James Hunt in a McLaren Ford M23, was interrupted for 11/2 hours by the wreck about 6¼ miles from the grandstand at the Nuerburgring track. Hunt is second to Lauda in the championship standings.

Lauda's car lost a rear wheel in the third lap and swerved into a guard fence on the sharp left turn known as Berwerk Corner. The car burst into flames.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose for her vows a formal polyester and dacron gown, fashioned along the Victorian silhouette. The gown and fingertip veil of illusion, which was secured to a Camelot headpiece, were lavishly adorned with Chantilly lace. Seed pearls and iridescents accented the gown. The bride's only jewelry was a family diamond pin which she wore at the high-rise ruffled neckline of her gown. She carried a colonial bouquet of yellow tearoses, white daisies and baby's breath.

Girl Needs Help For Eating Problem

DEAR DR. LAMB - I am a 17-year-old girl with an eating problem. I am so weight conscious I can't really eat a meal without feeling guilty.

About two years ago I started forcing myself to vomit after I'd overeaten. Now it is a regular habit, but now I don't have to force it.

Because of this I either go on weight. For that purpose I am a starvation diet or eat almost sending you The Health Letter continually and then throw up. Did Seeing Burglar Spur Heart Attack? By BOB LLOYD Herald Staff Writer

Sheriff's investigators today said a 67-year-old Casselberry retiree found dead Monday afternoon in his ransacked home apparently died of a heart attack when he came home and confronted a burglar.

Lt. George Abggy said an autopsy this morning showed that Walter Raymond Schultz, 67, 751 Spanish Moss Drive, Casselberry, died of a heart attack. Sheriff's deputies said Schultz was found laying face up near he front door of his trailer home about 5 p.m. by his son, Robert B. Schultz, of Casselberry. The interior of the trailer was in complete disarray and ransacked," deputies said. Abggy placed the time of death at about noon, shortly after Schultz was reported to have taken his wife to work. Investigators said the trailer had been entered by breaking out a glass in the rear door near a patio.

Deputies said today that it is unknown if anything is missing from the Schultz home but the trailer has been sealed pending ESSAY CONTEST further investigation.

Abggy said the are no suspects in the burglary. He theorized that Schultz' heart attack was caused by the excitement of returning home to find a burglar ransacking the residence.
