DEPUTY COLLECTOR HERE ALL THIS WEEK TO MAKE INCOME TAX RETURN

Harry Brown Will Be At Court House Day And Night

TIME IS NEARLY UP

MARCH 15TH IS TIME LIMIT FOR MAKING OUT INCOME TAX RETURN

Now is the time to make your income tax returns for the time is up on the 15th of this month. In order that all those who do not know how to make up their returns may have expert help Harry Brown is here this week representing the government and being from the office of Collector J. M. Cathcart in Jacksonville.

Mr. Brown will be at the court house this week from 9 to 5 in the day time and will also be there at night from 7 to 9 in order that those who are obliged to work all day and cannot get there in the daytime can see him at night. This is very accommodating on Mr. Brown's part and will give every one in this county the chance to consult him on their returns.

Since no man can ferret out the secret of how to make out these returns properly and the man who made up the blanks in Washington is puzzled over them it behooves every one to see Mr. Brown and get the right slant on how much to pay the government in your income and there are very few who are exempt from paying an income tax. If you are exempt Mr. Brown will tell you and you can go on your way rejoicing and then if you are due a tax and you have failed to make out your returns you will be fined by the government and may have to spend some time in jail.

It comes hard this tax business but Uncle Sam says pay me and we must pay all that is due.

FRENCH ARE BADLY HANDLED

WHEN MIX UP OVER GERMAN SONG TAKES PLACE

Berlin March 9 (By Associated Press) The French officer roughly handled while at the Bremen barracks while the Germans sang Deutschland Uber Alles, the Vossische Zeitung also reports that the crowd assaulted the allied officers in the Bremen streets when the latter stopped a German soldier who failed to salute.

PEOPLE SHOULD NOT PAY

FOR SERVICES THAT HAVE NOT BEEN RENDERED BY SOUTHERN UTILITIES CO.

Several weeks ago the Herald called upon the City Commissioners and the City Manager and the City Attorney to enjoin the Southern Utilities Co. from collecting bills for service that had not been rendered. In other words the people of this city received bills all during the months of December, January and February that were higher than they were when the company was furnishing real service. What the people want to know is how in the summer breezes can a consumer use the gas, electric lights and water when there is no such animal for many days at a time. It would be impossible to use the current, to use the power, to use the gas and to use the water if it was shut off half of the time and the people do not think they should be made to pay these exorbitant bills. They also think they should be protected in this matter by the City Commissioners and the City Manager and the City Attorney since all of these gentlemen are servants of the people. Up to date no action has been taken by the commissioners or the City Attorney but action will certainly be asked at the meeting of the commission on Wednesday night. If they are averse to taking this step we can cite them to another instance of this kind taken from the press despatches yesterday as follows:

Durham, N. C. March 7.—Prior to his departure tonight for New York in company with City Attorney S. C. Chambers, Mayor M. E. Newsome issued a statement in which he called upon patrons of the Carolina Power and Light Company in this city to postpone payment of gas bills until further notice. The action of the mayor came as a result of a gas shortage through which the city has passed covering a period of several months. The mayor and city attorney are going to New York for the purpose of holding conferences with directors of the company. They will demand rebates for the gas consumers in this city.

OF THE ALLIED COUNCIL'S DECISION REGARDING OCCUPATION OF CONSTANTINOPLE

Paris, March 6 (By Associated Press) Premier Millerand instructed the French ambassador at Washington to ask President Wilson's opinion of the Allied Council's decision regarding Turkey, says the Echo de Paris. The paper says Lloyd George proposed the occupation of Constantinople and the War Ministry to order the arrest of the Anti-Allied Turkish statesmen but Millerand gained a few minutes grace by stipulating no action until the reply of the allied commissioners at Constantinople could be received.

BIG TREES FAMOUS IN HISTORY

NOMINATED FOR HALL OF FAME AMONG THEM BEING ONE FROM FLORIDA

Washington, Mar. 9.—"The Great Tree on Boston Common" and "The Green Tree Hotel" at Le Claire, Iowa, the most famous tree on the Mississippi River were today nominated for a place in the "Hall of Fame for Trees" being compiled by the American Forestry Association.

The Great Tree on Boston Common is nominated by J. Collins Warren, of Boston, who sends a complete history of the tree which was blown down in a storm February 15, 1918, the centennial of the year in which the colonists gathered around the tree and started for Lexington to give battle to the British.

"The Green Tree Hotel" at Le Claire, Iowa, is nominated by J. W. Barnes, who as a boy, played leap frog beneath the branches of this tree with one Willie Cody afterward known to fame as "Buffalo Bill." The historic elm is well known on the Mississippi River because to the river men, reports Mr. Barnes, "it was the waiting place of men out of a job and looking for a trip. Therefore they give it the name of 'The Green Tree Hotel.' It is considered to be 120 years old.

Other nominations for the Hall of Fame include the DeSoto Oak at Tampa, Fla. from which DeSoto started for the Mississippi and the West; the Octopus Tree in Charles City Co., Virginia, nominated by Meade Ferguson as the largest and oldest tree in the state; the two oaks at Marlinton, W. Va., marked in 1751 by General Andrew Lewis nominated by Andre Price; the tallest tree in the Balkans at Podgoritza nominated by the Red Cross which had headquarters near it during the war.

The Committee called Secretary of the Treasury Houston and Governor Harding of the Federal Reserve Board for the meeting on Thursday.

CAN'T TAX DIVIDENDS ON STOCK

SUPREME COURT SAYS UNCLE SAM MUST GIVE BACK THE MONEY

Washington, March 8.—Stock dividends may not be taxed as income, the supreme court held today in declaring unconstitutional the provisions of the 1916 income tax act taxing as income such dividends declared by corporations out of earnings and profits accruing after March 1, 1913. The court divided 5 to 4, Justice Pitney rendering the majority opinion. Justices Holmes and Day joining in one dissenting from the opinion, Justices Clark and Brandeis combining on another.

The court upheld federal court decrees denying the authority of congress to tax stock dividends and awarding to Myrtle H. McComber $3,167 which she paid had under protest on 1,100 shares of new stock received in January, 1916, as a stock dividend from the Standard Oil Co. of California. The case was one of a series in which J. P. Morgan, Herbert J. Pratt and others had questioned the validity of the act. Court officials said the case was one of the most important at this term and that determination of the question affects thousands of investors.

Justice Pitney, in rendering the court's opinion, said stock dividends are no more than a "book adjustment," and do not change the nature character, mutual relations or interests of a corporation. The court divided 5 to 4, Justices Holmes and Day joining in one dissenting opinion and Justices Brandeis and Clark in another.

Millions of dollars in taxes collected on stock dividends must be refunded by the government under the court's decision, but internal revenue bureau officials, have not yet made an estimate of the total.

COUNTERFEIT MONEY IS BEING MADE

MEXICAN FOREIGN OFFICE SAYS BOLSHEVIKS ARE DOING IT

Washington March 9 (By Associated Press) The Mexican foreign office has warned the Mexican Guard against counterfeit money made in the United States and says it was made by the Bolsheviks as a reprisal for the persecution of the radicals in the United States. The Mexican consul in New York has reported two million dollars in spurious money in circulation.

MINERS WILL REFUSE FINDINGS OF COAL COMMISSION UNLESS WAGES ARE RAISED

Indianapolis March 9 (By Associated Press) The United Mine Workers will refuse to accept the findings of the bituminous coal commission unless a substantial wage increase and improved working conditions are provided. This is inferred in a statement issued today at headquarters. The officials are absent and those in charge refused to comment on the statement.

American Meat Bill May Be Reduced By Buying Cheaper Cuts

Washington March 8.—Plans for reducing the American family's meat bill have been announced by the department of justice which will urge housewives to turn from the high priced cuts to less costly portions of the steer.
Fair price commissions in every state will be asked to direct an educational campaign, with the cooperation, of retailers, wholesalers and packing companies, and the department will undertake to see to it, that the consumer receives good meat at low prices and that no abnormal profits are taken on the lower priced portions.

"The housewife holds in her own hand the remedy for high meat prices," said the announcement. "By turned from expensive to inexpensive cuts she not only will drive down the price of choice cuts, and make it possible for meat to be merchandised more economically."

Cadell Mayor of Kissimmee
Kissimmee, March 8.—At the city election Saturday John S. Cadell was elected mayor over T. C. Bryan by a majority of 55 votes. A. S. Gilbert and J. W. Thompson were elected to the council; the former re-elected. The latter will succeed W. H. Arnold.

From the result it appears the voters did not take into consideration the commission form of government proposition. Cadell favors such action and so does Thompson but Gilbert had not expressed himself one way or the other. Arnold, who was defeated for re-election, was a commission form of government candidate. J. R. Gilbert was elected city clerk, leading the ticket. He has held this office for years and had no opposition. J. Z. Roberson was elected city treasurer and W. C. Bass, Z. Bass C. A. Carson Alan J. McDonough and J. W. Persons were selected members of the city executive committee.

Another Hotel For Orlando

Out of the varied rumors and divergent ideas that have filled the atmosphere during the past few years concerning an up to date tourist hotel in Orlando, the Reporter-Star is in a position to state that the most concrete and tangible plans for a 432 room establishment highly worthy of the name are now being assembled into workable form by Stout, Miller & Hughes, of this city, and that this hotel will be located on the entire block facing Eola Lake and Eola Park on the north side of the lake separated therefrom only by Fobinson avenue. It is situated between Cathcart street on the east and Hillman on the west, covering a space of approximately 80 feet square.—Reporter Star.

Celery Is In Fine Condition Despite Cold

MOVEMENT INCREASE

ABOUT TWO HUNDRED CARS WILL GO FORWARD THIS WEEK

The recent cold snap did no injury to the great celery crop of Sanford and beyond making the tops a trifle yellow one would never know that the cold had visited the celery fields.

Just now the growers are getting into the very height of the shipping season and the roads are filled with tourists every day watching the cutting and packing of this great money crop. Many of the largest growers are cutting celery this week and it is almost certain that this and next week will be large weeks in the shipping of celery. Last week about 125 cars were rolled from the Sanford section and this week it is estimated that about 200 will be shipped which is a good record for this year and much better than was done last year although the price is not as good.

Prices were falling last week on account of the heavy snows in the northern cities and the intense cold that stopped much of the buying and this helped materially in reducing prices but yesterday the grower were getting $2.50 per crate in the field which is not considered bad when conditions are taken into consideration.

The high price of labor and materials this year make it incumbent for the grower to get a much better price this year than ever before in order to come out with any profit and it is hoped that the price will go much higher before the big shipments get ready to roll.

As usual there are many buyers here to take care of the trade and the fact that the cash buyers come here to take the celery in the field is a big thing for the Sanford and Sumnule County growers for it makes an f. o. b. market which is the biggest inducement in the world for those who are seeking a real growing section of Florida.

The celery is looking exceptionally fine this year and will probably be one of the finest crops that Sanford has ever shipped.

of Mrs. Clark, the Custodian, we sent a copy of the Flag Code to General Grant's Memorial Home at Mt. Grey, N. Y. One Revolutionary relic presented to us by Mrs. Mabel Fernald has been sent in to Memorial Contentual Hall.

We have given one tree to Victory Park. This park is a Memorial to our Seminole County Soldiers and Sailors, and is the work of our Woman's Club. We have adopted as a permanent memorial and tribute to the boys of our County who made the supreme sacrifice, that every one, eight in number, shall have placed on the monument erected to their memory in our City Park a wreath of evergreen on Christmas morning. (This monument was given by the former President of the City Council—Frank Mule—and was the first monument erected in the State to the memory of the brave dead of the World War.)

We have had one Rummage sale which netted a neat sum—we gave to the County Home, canned goods, and material aid to a deserted wife of a soldier. Also one $6.00 pair of shoes to an old colored Mammy.

We have organized to raise a fund for a Memorial to the United States Service men of our County. A committee of our County's most prominent business men has been appointed to work with the Chapter for this cause.

The Chapter has three new members and one associate member—there are ten applicants now working on their membership, the infant daughter of our charter Secretary.

We presented "Miss" Thigpen with a D. A. R. spoon. Another gift that the Chapter thoroughly enjoyed giving was a box sent to one of our home boys who was in the Poly-

Four Military Records have been sent to Washington and the State Historian—we have had our Chapter Charter framed, and have selected white and green for our colors. We have had several presents—and the one that we all prize the most, is a beautiful American Flag that was presented to us at the last State Convention by Governor Dixie Regent and the Sallie Harrison Chapter. Other unique gifts was a "home mail" used by a doctor in the A. E. F. and mounted with the Silver Identification Tag of the River, Major A. B. Patterson of the 27th N. Y. Cavalry. This letter is used as a "key" in the "Key History" that was presented by R. W. Stans of Jacksonville.

During the Forty Red Cross Bell our Chapter was signed up 100 per cent for work; one daughter was Assistant County Chairman on Publicity, and one had the distinction of securing more members than any other worker in the county.

The Queen of England, in appreciation of original war work done by the Sallie Harrison Chapter last year sent an invitation to one of our members to attend a reception given by her at Buckingham Palace.

At our December meeting it was passed that we give a series of card parties and other entertainments to raise money for our treasury. This is the work we will begin right after the lentil season.

F. J. McDaniel of Owasso, Michigan who owns a home south of the city on the Sanford Orlando road and who is one of the greatest Sanford boosters we have with us in the winter is here for a short visit. His many friends are giving him a warm welcome.

BEARS IN COMBAT

Savage Fight Put Up Between Two Caged Brutes.

Marvelous Strength Exhibited by Mad-dened Brown Bear Almost Beyond Belief, According to Witness of the Struggle.

"Once we saw Ivan fight with a bear of his own size (at that time)," writes Dr. William T. Hornaday in an article on "The Alaskan Brown Bear," published in Boys' Life. "It was a fearful sight. It came about through a mix-up of cages. I cannot recall why a change was made, but at all events the female cagemate of Admiral—another big Alaskan brown bear abiding in the adjoining cage—was temporarily shifted from him into Ivan's den."

"Admiral felt that that was not a square deal and it made him furious. At once he set to work to tear his way through the steel partition and get into Ivan's cage. I reached the scene while he was in the very act of finishing the job."

"The partition was made of flat steel bars, woven closely together in a basket pattern, and set into heavy steel frames that were bolted into place. The ends of the flat bars were fastened by bending them over while hot; and everybody was quite sure that those panels were strong enough to hold elephants."

"Admiral went to work with his great strength and his enormous claws to pull one of those woven bar panels out of its frame, and thus make a hole in the partition that would let him through. It seems impossible, but he did it! He did what a steam roller could not have done. I saw him finish tearing that steel basket out of its frame, smash it down and rush over it through the opening and into the next den."

"And then in an instant Admiral and Ivan were in combat."

"At that time those two bears were of the same size and weight, and evenly matched. They fought strictly head to head and mouth to mouth. Not once did either of the fighters swerve by a foot and expose his body to attack. Round and round they raged, and the female grizzly shrank off in a corner, terrified. Presently the two fighters reared on their hind legs, each holding the other by a cheek, and in silence they waltzed and chewed."

"And then the keepers had their chance. Carrying their arms full of hickory poles, handles, each one weighing about five pounds, they slipped in at the front gate and took positions. They yelled at those bears as if they meant to tear them to pieces, and they slammed those pick handles into them until they won. The hickory hurricane was too much to endure and the bears let go and fell apart. Their attention—and pick handles—was concentrated on Admiral, who soon retreated through the hole he had made into his own den, and the fight was over."

Marines Get Practice

Ten million rounds of ammunition were fired by United States marines on rifle ranges in the last 11 months, according to the report of the inspector of rifle practice, given out at marine corps headquarters in Washington.

This is the answer to the question: Why are marines always crack shots? which has been asked over and over again by their opponents at recent military rifle matches, when they saw the "sea soldiers" walk away with most of the trophies.

Nineteen thousand of the 21,000 men who fired qualified as marksmen or better. In 1919 marines fired on ranges in ten foreign countries—and possessions, as follows: Ireland, Siberia, China, France, Germany, Cuba, Santo Domingo, Haiti, the Azores and Nicaragua, and in 19 states, territories and possessions of our own country.

Army Physique

A careful study revealed a gain during three and one-half months at the camps, among national army recruits of 6.4 pounds weight—almost entirely in muscular tissue; and 23 per cent increase in chest expansion. A similar investigation in the navy showed almost the same average increase, individual gains running up to 33 pounds individual beneficial losses reaching 23 pounds—and the average very inadequately recording "the enormous benefit the life . . . has done these men physically." In fact, the driven chief of the medical department, hampered by the lack of statistical clerks (who cost $1,000 to $1,500 a year!) remarked forcefully that the improvement in physique was so evident that details are as needless "as to demonstrate mathematically that peas grow in a pod."

Time's Great Changes

When Queen Elizabeth was present in the hall at Middle temple, in London, on the occasion of the first performance of Shakespeare's "Twelfth Night," it would have been a rash man who would have dared to predict what would be the next occasion on which women would be permitted in the hall in an official capacity. Such a one would, in fact, have had to look forward more than 300 years, for if historical records are to be depended upon, the latter occasion was when the four women, who have recently been admitted as students to the temple, formally "dined in the hall" with the benchers.

Concerning the Sabbath

According to the Bible the Lord created the world in six days and rested on the seventh. As Saturday is the seventh day of the week, the Jews observe it as the Sabbath, as do certain other denominations following the old Mosiac law. When Christ said: "The old things have passed away; behold, they are become new," his followers regarded this as a command to change the old order, and they made the day of his resurrection the Sabbath.

The first requisite for you to do is to think—this will bring forth ideas of two kinds; viz: Imperfected and Perfected Ideas. The Imperfected Idea is one where you think you will some day do it. The Perfected is where you ACT AT ONCE and save for thrift's sake. Which course will you take? You know which is best and We Know where we can help you. Will you Come HERE?

CAIRO AND CAPE TOWN
 Air Service Now Ready, Cuts Ten Week Trip Between Cities to One.

London.—Cairo and Cape Town, representing the extremes of the African continent, have at last been linked up by an air service. The British air ministry has announced that the air route over which engineers have spent long months of labor amidst great difficulties is finally ready for traffic. This means that the time heretofore required to traverse the continent—from ten to twelve weeks—has now been cut down to about one week and that therefore secluded sections of Africa will be opened to the world.

The total distance by the old methods of communication is 6,223 miles, for which from fifty-nine to seventy-five days would be required. Against this, the air ministry points out, the total flying distance of the aerial route should not exceed 5,200 miles. Taking 100 miles an hour as a fair average flying speed under favorable conditions and when the route has been firmly established, only fifty-two hours' actual flying time would be required to cover the distance, or about a week, flying eight hours a day.

AND HE LOOKS HAPPY

The religious "villain" of India has an idea that by making himself uncomfortable in this world he will have things soft in the next. His seat is a board dotted with spikes upon which he has sentenced himself to stay awhile, partly as a penance, partly to convince the believers that a holy man is insensible to the things that are extremely painful to the average person. He must have convinced himself as well, for even a stole would balk at smiling in such an uncomfortable place.

The striking uniformity of size among the Japanese is illustrated by the fact that measurements taken of an infantry regiment showed no variations exceeding two inches in height or twenty pounds in weight.

HUNTING LAIR OF SEA SERPENT

Scientists' Search Leads to Discovery of Many Strange Monsters of Deep.

BIG SEA LIZARD EXTINCT

There Are Still Sharks to Be Found, However, Forty Feet Long—Dangerous Marine Creatures Not the Largest.

New York.—Imaginative sea captains and their followers on returning to local ports entertain their friends and unsophisticated strangers with highly colored narratives of great sea serpents and other unfamiliar monsters of the deep that they have encountered on their voyages. That monsters of the deep exist today as in olden times is well known to science, but they are quite different from those described by the old salts.

"The sea serpent," said Dr. John T. Nichols, head of the department of recent fishes at the American Museum of Natural History, "as that creature is pictured in the popular mind is a purely mythical animal. Although there are doubtless many strange beasts in the sea, as yet unknown to science, it is highly improbable that such a monster will be found."

Big Sea Lizards.

The nearest approach perhaps to this monster that ever existed was some of the big sea lizards which used to navigate the globe in prehistoric times. The most authentic reports of sea serpents nowadays when traceable at all turn out to be faulty observations of some ordinary marine creatures. A school of porpoises stretched out in line and rolling their backs above the surface in unison, may readily enough appear like the coils of a great sea monster to an observer with an active imagination. Nevertheless, true sea snakes swim among the islands of certain parts of the western Pacific which, though they do not reach a great size, are often very poisonous. They have flattened tails like muskrats to enable them to swim the better.

There are plenty of monsters in the sea, though none equal in size the largest of the whalebone whales. The largest of such creatures are something like 90 feet in length. If there are larger specimens they have been remarkably successful in eluding accurate measurement. In order to find sufficient food such gigantic creatures must be content with a humble diet. Hence they have developed their whalebone—a substance in which no limitation can compete in the manufacture of high-grade whip handles and corset stays—for the purpose of straining an abundance of small fishes or other animals from the sea water.

Inhabiting the deep are two gigantic sharks, either one of which may reach a length of 40 feet. The basking shark is found in northern seas, occasionally straying southward to our coasts, and the whale shark seems to have its principal habitat in the Indian Ocean, though stragglers have turned up as far away as the shores of Florida. One such, mounted, is on exhibition at Miami and will repay a visit to any one who chances to be in that vicinity.

Plenty of Sea Monsters.

There are plenty of monsters in the sea, the giant devil fish, or manta, which probably grows to be over 20 feet between the tips of its great wings. The model of an individual of 18 feet or so is on exhibition at the American museum. The manta has hornlike processes directed forward, one at either side of its broad head, and there are well-authenticated instances of a devil fish "dying" through the water, catching a boat's anchor between its horns by chance, lifting the anchor and towing the astonished boatmen out to sea. At certain seasons the devil fish is common along the Gulf coast of Florida, where it furnishes exciting sport for big-game fishermen.

The dangerous marine creatures are in general not the largest. The killer whale, which is 20 feet or so in length, will attack and devour almost anything that swims in the sea. Sometimes they join in schools and hunt the big whalebone whales like a pack of hungry wolves. The man-eater shark, seldom more than 20 feet long, is one of the fiercest of sea creatures. He is as rare as he is dangerous. The big sperm whale seems to feed largely on large specimens of octopus, for which it dives in deep water. Some observers assert that they have seen spectacular contests between such a sperm whale and an octopus which it had brought to the surface.

The octopus also goes by the name of devil fish, though it is an entirely different animal from the manta.

Goes Into Navy.

While here he heard of a navy recruiting officer being in the city on a recruiting mission, and, although he had only been out of the army a few days, enlisted in the navy. He is one of four brothers in his family who were in the army during the world war. Rear Admiral Rodman of the United States navy is a cousin of the youth.

Lies.

Many tell lies in order to deceive us, and many because they themselves are deceived. Some seek to win our favor by false accusations and invent wrongs in order that they may appear angry at our having suffered them. One man lies out of spite that he may set trusting friends at variance; some because they are suspicious and wish to see sport and watch from a safe distance those whom they have set by the ears.—Lucius Annaeus Seneca.

MEMBER OF THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Sanford can never be any kind of a city when gas, water, light and power are shut off for two entire days each week. The Sanford Herald is waging a fight which will ultimately make the Celery City bigger and better. Keep it up, Editor Holly.—Orlando Sentinel.

Tonight the Sanford Board of Trade will have the annual election of officers and will get ready for a big campaign of advertising for the season of 1920 and 21. Let all the real boosters of Seminole County be there and put new life into the organization. Sanford and Seminole county will never be anything without a live Board of Trade.

The people of this city who have the interest of the city at heart and want to see the city prosper should not let this idea of municipal ownership get away from them. Regardless of what the Southern Utilities Co. expects to do in the future Sanford should own her utilities. All of the progressive cities of the state own their utility plants and Sanford should fall into line.

THE BATHING GIRLS

The Mack Sennett Bathing Beauties are scheduled for Sanford today Thursday, March 4th. We do not expect to receive the Sanford Herald of date of Friday, March 5th, as none will be published. The editor of that paper is bald-headed and past fifty—just the kind of man that a flock of femininity can run crazy.—St. Augustine Record.

Herb, old dear, those Hebes of which you rave about were here and we did not even see them. It we ever go crazy about any of them we will not need to leave Florida beaches or take Jazz Tonic over Mack's girls although from all accounts we believe they are very, very nice girls in every way. After seeing thousands of the dear things in England, France New York and other seaports we are "rawther blasé" don't you know, dear fellow, and a few bathing girls here and there make but little difference in the pink and green setting of our senility that you talk about in describing our appearance. And then we are only forty three and not past fifty admitting the "bald" charges to be true. Of course it makes a difference in one's life and habits according to the town in which you live. Living in the "Ancient City" is apt

OUR COMMUNITY SPIRIT Occasionally, but not often, we hear of some community which is blessed with a rare and priceless spirit—the spirit of "live and let live" But it is so rare as to be almost non-existent in this day of sharp practices and bunco games.

There is much of that precious spirit in this town, but there is room for more.

We have fully our share of good will and tolerance, but we could cultivate more with honor to ourselves and profit to the community.

Life to each of us consists mainly of what we make of it. We can cast the soft rays of sunshine and happiness over our existence, or we can fill our lives with the shadows of greed and avarice and insatiable longing for those things which we may not possess.

This is our home—the place where most of our lives will be spent—where memory is always dear to us.

Shall we seek to cast out what there is of the spirit of greed, and suspicion, and ungenerous rivalry among men?

Shall we supplant it with one of kindness, of tolerance, and of good will toward each other?

Shall we make honorable thrift the watchword of our community?

It is the ideal existence, and is possible to any community where the people have the will and the courage to follow the path of honor and gentleness wherever it may lead.

PEOPLE'S FORUM

Mr. Robt. J. Holly, Editor Sanford Herald, City.

Dear Sirs: I enclose you herewith copies of open letters this day written by me to Mr. G. C. Abbott City Manager, and to the City Commissioners. As the matters and things therein complained of are of a public nature, I kindly request the publication of these letters in your paper.

Thanking you for favor requested I beg to remain,

Very truly yours, GEO. A. DECOTTES.

March 6, 1920.

Hon. H. R. Stevens, Hon. S. O. Chase, Hon. C. E. Henry, City Commissioners, Sanford, Fla.

Dear Sirs: As an advocate of the law and a believer in the orderly administration of municipal affairs in strict accordance with the provisions of existing legislature enactment, providing for the government, jurisdiction and powers of the present municipality of the City of Sanford, Florida, I am addressing you this communication and, as the matter I herewith present for your consideration is of a public nature, and covers a subject that has been entirely warranted in addressing this open letter to you through the press.

I have also this day addressed a communication to Mr. G. A. Abbott, City Manager, on the subject enclosing a copy of an article written by me which appeared in the Sanford Herald under date of the 28th of February.

It is my desire to make this communication as concise as possible, therefore, I merely call to your official attention the article heretofore published by me, a copy of which is enclosed, and refer you to my letter of even date to your City Manager.

Please be kind enough to officially advise if it is your attention to continue to ignore the mandatory provisions of the present City charter regarding the eligibility of officers and employees of the City of Sanford.

Your City Attorney and one of your Commissioners, Mr. H. R. Stevens, are both disqualified to hold office under the present charter, and as a matter of law are defacto officers.

I also desire to advise that you can not legally pay any funds or moneys of the City of Sanford to your defacto City Attorney, as he is not duly qualified and legally acting officer of the City. I also desire to further advise you and put you on notice that as a taxpayer and citizen of Sanford, I intend to hold you, and each of you, personally and individually responsible for any and all sums of money which you heretofore, or may hereafter pay to the present defacto City Attorney of Sanford.

A prompt reply to this letter is requested so that I may be advised how to proceed to fully protect the legal rights of myself and other taxpayers of the City of Sanford, with reference to the unlawful expenditure of public funds in the payment of any compensation to a de facto officer.

Awaiting your immediate reply, I am, Yours very truly, GEO. A. DECOTTES. March 6, 1920.

Hon. G. A. Abbott, City Manager, Sanford, Fla.

Paragraph (a) of Section 33 of Chapter 8361, Laws of Florida of 1909, provides that the City Manager shall be responsible for the proper administration of all affairs of the City, and to that end it shall be his duty "to see that the laws and ordinances of the City are enforced."

Therefore, I feel it incumbent upon me as a citizen of the City of Sanford to call to your official attention the flagrant violation of certain provisions of the present City charter. As the violations of the charter provisions, hereinafter set forth, vitally effect the legality of the City of the administrative officers of the City of Sanford, I deem the matter under discussion to be of sufficient importance to warrant me in openly addressing this letter to you through the columns of the Sanford Herald.

The violations of the provisions of the City Charter to which I refer have heretofore been fully discussed in articles written by Mr. J. J. Mason and myself. Both of these articles were published in the Sanford Herald. As possibly you failed to see the article written by me published in the Sanford Herald under date of the 28th of February, I am herewith enclosing for your information and consideration a copy of the article written by me.

It is needless for me in this communication to reiterate what I have already had to say on this subject. The facts are these:

First, that Hon. H. R. Stevens, Master Mechanic of the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad and a City Commissioner of the City of Sanford at the time of his installation had and now has, in his possession, a pass over the lines of the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad.

Second, that Mr. Cary D. Landis of the law firm of Landis, Fish & Hull of DeLand, Florida, the City Attorney of Sanford, Fla, and of Counsel for the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad, is not a resident of the City of Sanford, and also at the time of his appointment as City Attorney had and now has in his possession an annual pass over the lines of the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad.

No doubt you are thoroughly familiar with the provisions of the present City Charter, therefore it is needless for me to point out to you that no commissioner or other officer or employee of the City who is the holder of a pass over any railroad line is eligible to hold office, and that any officer or employee having in his possession a pass or enjoying any special privilege more favorable than granted the public generally shall forthwith forfeit his office.

You are also aware of the fact that Mr. Landis at the present time of his appointment as City Attorney was a resident of DeLand, Florida, and that he is not now and never has been a resident of the City of Sanford, and not being a resident of the City of Sanford is ineligible to hold office under the present charter.

Further than this Mr. Landis is the holder of a pass over the lines, of the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad which fact creates a forfeiture of his office as City Attorney, even though he was not otherwise ineligible because of his non-residence.

The persistent and continued violation of the charter provisions hereinbefore referred to has been a matter of public discussion generally since the new form of government went into effect, and nothing whatever has been done by you as City Manager to remedy the situation.

Therefore, it has become necessary for me to handle this matter with you in this manner, with the view of obtaining direct and positive official expression and information as to whether you as the City Manager intend to respect and abide by the legal provisions of the Charter under which you are operating and performing your duties.

In compliance with the provisions of the Charter, I am hereby advising you that if you fail to promptly reply, I am Yours Truly, GEO. A. DECOTTES.

The Eyes Of The World From The Novel of Harold Bell Wright At The Princess Wednesday and Thursday

When Harold Bell Wright began work on "The Eyes of the World" he was a resident of Redlands, Cal. This story, which has had a sale of nearly 2,000,000 copies (which means according to the publisher's accepted ratio of five readers to each sale, about 10,000,000 readers), has been put into elaborate cinema form by the Clune Company and is to be seen for the first time in Sanford at the Princess theatre on Wednesday and Thursday.

An interesting incident in connection with this fact was related recently by Mr. Wright when the work of translating the book into motion pictures was under way. Much of this work was done in Redlands, for it is the common belief that the author put into the story people whose prototypes he observed while pastor of a church there.

The author's indictment of "society" did not refer specifically to Redlands, but applied equally well to any other community where wrongful tendencies are in evidence every-where and that means practically every good-sized American community now days.

So it seems Fairlands, the scene of many of the incidents of the story, is not a thinly disguised pseudonym for Redlands, but only happens to be the name that sprang into the mind of Mr. Wright for the purpose of his tale of fiction.

Representative John H. Small of North Carolina, who has been elected president of the National Rivers and Harbors congress, succeeding Senator J. E. Ransdell, resigned.

Dwarfs in History.
Dwarfs, until very recent days, have been highly regarded and much sought after. In far-away days kings have fought over dwarfs, and a court that possessed one was considered very fortunate and altogether stylish. Wealthy folk, even, competed with monarchs in the purchase of dwarfs as a sprit of half-mark of aristocracy. A race of tiny people in Equatorial Africa, the Akkas, were much prized by the early Pharaohs. The Romans tried to supply the demand by artificial dwarfing, and had separate words to distinguish the natural from the unnatural dwarf.

Berry-au-Bac is on the north bank of the Aisne, where the ancient road from Reims to Laon crosses. Before the war it was a prosperous village. On the other side of the Aisne was a large sugar factory, now a mass of twisted and rustling iron, stones and mortar. In the town, except where the highway has been cleared for travel, the streets are obliterated, and only projections of corner walls here and there suggest that this was once a place of habitation, writes Francis W. Kelsey, director of University of Michigan scientific expedition, in New York Times.

It is strange how imperceptibly, yet how rapidly, in this climate the healing powers of nature seek to cover up from sight the relics of man's destructiveness. In Reims, luxurious by masks the crumbling walls of courts belonging to wrecked and tenantless houses, and here at Berry-au-Bac weeds and grass have already thrown a mantle over the ruins.

Caesar There in 57 B. C. From ancient times this junction of river and highroad has been strategically important. Such Julius Caesar found it when in 57 B. C. he led a Roman army for the first time into these regions. Even then there was a bridge across the Aisne, apparently at or near the place where the bridge is today. Belgian hosts opposing this invasion assembled and were approaching from the north.

It was Caesar's practice to fortify a camp in a position favorable for himself, and try then to induce the enemy to attack him on his own ground. Not far below Berry-au-Bac the Aisne receives from the northeast a small tributary, the Miette brook. This becomes almost dry in summer, but it is bordered by marshy ground.

Between the Miette and the Aisne, Caesar placed a camp, the location of which has been determined by excavations. The area of the elevation at the point selected was large enough for an encampment of 30,000 or 35,000 men. The camp was surrounded by a palisaded rampart and trench, and strengthened against attack from the northeast by ramparts and trenches running out from opposite corners to the two streams. Caesar placed a small fortification at the south end of the bridge, and posted detachments of troops at both ends.

Romans Opposed Belgians. The army of the Belgians apparently numbering several times as many fighting men as the Roman force, encamped north of the Miette. On the gentle slope of the ridge facing them, on the opposite side of the brook, Caesar drew up his infantry in battle formation, hoping that the impulsive foe would be intimidated into charging across the marsh and up the hill against his triple line.

But the Belgians, whose bravery the Roman general more than once commends, were not so easily tricked. They concluded that it would be better to ford the Aisne, destroy the Roman troops guarding the bridge and break the bridge down. This would cut Caesar's line of communications, and prevent the bringing of supplies to him from the direction of Reims. Below the junction of the Miette, the Aisne on that day happened to be fordable. No sooner was the movement of the Belgians started than Caesar's patrols hastened to report it. Instantly he dispatched cavalry and a contingent of sharpshooters, consisting of slingers and bowmen, across the bridge. When these detachments reached the south bank of the Aisne, only a few of the enemy had crossed, and these were quickly surrounded by the cavalry. The sharpshooters stationed themselves opposite the fords and killed so many of the Belgians in the stream while crossing that the river was choked with their bodies. Over these the indomitable host continued to press forward till the appalling losses checked their ardor, and they gave up the attempt.

Distant Retreat. As their provisions were running low, the Belgians decided to adopt a different plan of combating Caesar, and in the night started for their homes, only to be done to death the following day by the rapidly pursuing Roman forces, which cut them down without mercy.

This battle of the Aisne was of great importance to Caesar. Yet what a mild affair it seems when contrasted with the means and methods employed in the war which lately closed.

For reasons analogous to those which made this part of the Aisne a scene of battle in Caesar's time, in the autumn of 1914, and in the last two years of the war, the struggle took place at Berry-au-Bac. In the angle formed by the Miette and the Aisne, and on hills so frequently mentioned in the dispatches.

Hill 105 is directly east of Berry-au-Bac, on the other side of the Aisne, and is of a whitish chalk formation, easily worked. It was mined and countermined until the whole surface became a complex of yawning mine craters. One of these, near the west end of the hill, is some 60 feet deep and 250 to 300 feet across at the top.

Below Berry-au-Bac, near the beginning of October, in 1914, French and British troops constructed pontoon bridges in the face of artillery fire accurately directed from the high ground on the north side of the Aisne, and again, as was reported by dispatches at the time, the Aisne was choked with corpses. Near the Aisne in October, 1919, 12 months after the Germans withdrew from this region, we found a few temporary wooden buildings erected to house the men who were cleaning away the debris. Over near the Miette brook, at the left of the highway leading north, is a camp for German prisoners.

Tanks Where Caesar's Army Stood.

On the slope where Caesar's army was drawn up are the wrecks of two French tanks, one of earlier, the other of later pattern. The latter had not reached the first German trench when it was hit by a shell which blew the motor entirely out of the machine. It stands just as it was when abandoned.

When we came back the second day a group of German prisoners was searching the battlefields for scattered graves, that the bodies might be gathered in a cemetery. Such quests are not idle; for in casually crossing the field to examine the nearer tank one could see, among the weeds on the edge of a shell hole, part of a human spine and thigh bone; possibly the victim had been buried as he plunged forward and the earth washing down the side of the shell hole had exposed a part of the skeleton. We did not have the heart even to report the find.

All day long, when in this region, from different directions, we could hear explosions, as skilled men, clearing the zone of combat, blew up concealed mines that had not been touched off, and exploded shells in pits. Such, at any rate, was the process described to us; we did not venture to pass near enough to obtain exact information.

Piles of Shells.

The amount of unexploded shells in this region is almost incredible. Small collections of shells are not uncommon; and not far from Laon, between the highway and the railway running parallel a few hundred feet away, there is a large ammunition dump where shells of various calibers are piled in cords like firewood, but unfenced and exposed to the weather. The French military authorities are clearing up these places as rapidly as possible, but on account of the lack of men the work goes slowly.

The shells buried in the soil are a source of danger as soon as cultivation begins.

It is seriously proposed to abandon many of the villages in the devastated zone of France, compensate the owners of the land, and turn large areas into forest. In seventy-five or a hundred years the investment would have reimbursed the state for its outlay, and by that time, in case it should be deemed best to use the renewed soil for agriculture, the explosives hidden underneath would become harmless.

MISS JULIA DAVIS

Miss Julia Davis, the pretty and talented daughter of the American ambassador to Great Britain, is a popular member of London's younger social set.

The good-natured man with a well-known name is here, simple in his dress, goes around fighting his way through to right and left unscathed. He does not need to be easy to be good natured. He can be firm in his convictions, and immovable from his principles, and yet he can assert himself in that quiet, sincere way which wins the respect even of his opponents. Blunders of Novelists.

Baroness Orczy, in "Petitcoat Government," makes the crescent moon rise over the far eastern sky at 11 o'clock on a June evening; and Miss Stevens, in "The Veil," credits her full moon with rising and setting in less than three hours! But, toughest of all bluffs, is that created by Miss Marie Corelli, when, in her "Treasure of Heaven," she tells of somebody "bringing home eight Highland bull-helpers from pasture."—London Chronicle.

How Auto Cause Fires.

Rigs are fond of eating the insulating material of electric wires, and are responsible for many of the fires ascribed to "defective insulation." They also gnaw holes in lead water pipes.

Use of Plant Foods.

When the pots in which are house plants becomes full of roots and the soil worn out, or exhausted, a little fertilizer can be given them. The soil should be moist, not dry or very wet, when fertilizer is applied. There are good plant foods sold at large seed stores, of which sufficient can be had for a small price to do for a good sized collection of plants for the whole winter. Or a fertilizer can be made by dissolving half an ounce of nitrate of soda in a gallon of water. About half a teaspoonful of this fertilizer every two weeks for a plant in a six-inch pot will be sufficient. Begonias and coleus must not be given too much fertilizer. Geraniums will bear a larger quantity.

Get the Daily Walk Habit.

"A daily walk is infinitely superior in its health-giving effects to the daily aperient and is also more beneficial than working for some time at high tension or than even taking a long rest. Working in spurts and playing or resting in spurts, as the American usually does, is not good practice. Business men and women should ration their outdoor exercise; and the exercise could take the form of walking."—Exchange.
