Lead Found In Beating Death

By Susan Loden Herald Staff Writer

The badly beaten body of a woman found Sunday dumped on the lawn of a vacant house near Sanford has been identified as a 26-year-old Airman Apprentice stationed at the U.S. Naval Training Center, Orlando, and lawmen have a lead in the case.

A passing Sanford mortorist found the partially clothed body of Pamela J. Cahanes of Stillwater, Minn., at about 7 a.m. Sunday. Sheriff's spokesman John Spolski said today Ms. Cahanes had probably been beaten to death and then shoved from a car into the yard at 2418 Old State Road 46, near Chase

A Sanford man reported to sheriff's investigators today that he saw two vehicles parked at that house Saturday afternoon. A white Chevrolet Malibu and the 1965 or '66 Ford or Chevrolet pickup truck were pulled up where the body was later found, the witness reported. Spolski said the man initially thought the vehicles belonged to someone there cleaning the house, or potential buyers. since the house is up for sale, but he saw no people at the house. The man came forward with the information after he heard about the murder, Spolski said, adding that investigators have had no indication that anyone was at that

Ms. Cahanes had been dead about 12 hours when her body was found crouched on all fours in the front yard of the house. She was dressed only panties. Spoiski said, and her Naval uniform had been discarded beside her body, it has not been determined if she was sexually assaulted, but Ms. Cahanes had been beaten severly about the head and face, he

"She was kind of adventurous. I was concerned because she was so far from home." Pamela's mother, Alice Cahanes, said from her Minnesota home. "I hope he doesn't do it to See BEATING, page 3A

Unions: Halt Slave-Master Negotiating

Herald Staff Writer

Ron Boeth, spokesman for the Seminole County school district's unionized employees. threatened today to go to court to stop what he called the emergence of the "old slavemaster" relationship between employees and school officials during contract negotiations.

Pointing specifically to the school negotiators' demand to remove "the right to file a grievance" from the contracts with the four unions representing the employees, Boeth insisted that right is guaranteed by state law.

He named Superintendent of Schools Robert Hughes, by law the chief negotiator for the school district, as the culprit.

Meanwhile, Ernest Cowley, chief school negotiator, called Boeth's remarks the "usual rhetoric you hear at this time. They are getting anxious," he said.

"We have only had four meetings so far and I think progress is being made. We are negotiating the non-economic sections of the contracts first to get them out of the way," Cowley said.

"Of course there must be a grievance procedure in the contract and we will have one, but it doesn't make sense to repeat the whole state law in the contract. The SEA negotiators wanted the entire six page law in the contract first and then said they would settle for a sentence. The sentence they want refers to the

rated in the contract," Cowley

Boeth said salary is another hot issue in the negotiations with the schools side insisting only a pay raise of 1.8 percent annually in the 1984-85 school year, the same as this year, will be allowed.

"The employees have been kicked one too many times and are now ready to take appropriate measures to force good faith bargaining," said Boeth, executive director of the Seminole Education Association and chief spokesman for the teachers, bus drivers, clerical and non-instructional personnel.

Calling the 1983-84 school year "miserable," fraught with employee frustrations because of the less than 2 percent pay raise granted, Boeth said the Florida Legislature in its 1984 session gave special funding to all school districts to grant pay raises of 8 percent and higher.

He also blasted those school principals who he said falled to abide by the law requiring them to keep personnel files and to review teacher performances.

executive session at 2 p.m., Wednesday, on the progress of the negotiations with the unionized employees.

When negotiations for 1984-85 school year contracts opened in early July, Boeth and Ernest Cowley, chief school administration negotiator, were optimistic that contract talks would be fruitful and conclude before the new school year opens late this month.

Boeth said at the time that the teacher negotiators would use "creative pressure" to get a 15 percent average teacher pay raise for the new year, ranging from a low of 3 percent for beginning teachers to as much as 30 percent for experienced

He hinted that the SEA might qualify candidates to run against Hughes and the two school board members - Nancy Warren and Joe Williams Jr. - up for re-election.

...A Great Olympics For Women'

By Fred McMane UPI Sports Writer

LOS ANGELES (UPI) - When the Olympic Games were first created, the only torch carried by women was romantic in nature for the competing athletes.

On Sunday, women carried a torch of far greater meaning, one that symbolizes not only the strides they have made but the flaming spirit of the Games as

The embodiment of the grit and determination it takes to participate in an Olympics perhaps was best demonstrated by Gaby Andersen-Scheiss, a 39-year-old Swiss marathon runner. Despite severe exhaus-tion and dehydration, she stag-gered helplessly the last 400 meters across the finish line crowd of 85,000 and millions of television viewers. "I felt fine until 40 kilometere were left, then there's a blackout," said Andersen-Scheise. "I remember coming into the stadium and I thought I could still finish."

But why did she want to? Medical personnel tried to stop her but she waved them off. Under Olympic rules, if they had touched her she would have been disqualified.

"I think a lot of it is reflexes. I don't remember too much," she said. "I don't know (if it should have been stopped). I don't feel too bad now. I don't think there's any lasting effect. I'll probably be a little weak for a while but I can walk around. I feel fine."

The indomitable spirit of women, forbidden in ancient Greece to even view the Games, was in evidence everywhere Sunday.

There was Joan Benoit, a 27-year-old from Freeport, Maine, who underwent arthroscopic surgery last spring and fought off weary legs and intense heat to win a gold medal in the first marathon ever run by women in an Olympics.

Then, too, there was hometown girl Evelyn Ashford. gaining the unofficial title of 'world's fastest woman" by winning the 100-meter race only six weeks after suffering a severe hamstring pull.

And there was Ecaterina Szabo of Romania, upstaged by little dynamo Mary Lou Retton in the all-around competition. reaching back for something extra and winning three gold medals in the women's individual gymnastics competition.

The U.S. women's basketball and volleyball teams also showed Olympian poise under pressure. The basketball team broke open a close game and routed Canada 92-61 to reach the gold medal game and the voileyball team downed its old nemesis, Peru, 16-14, 15-9, 15-10 to reach the gold medal

"This has been a great Olympics for women," said swimmer Tracy Caulkins, who won three gold medals for the United States then announced her retirement. "You saw what Joan did and we have Mary Lou Retton and (middle distance

Woman Abducted, Raped In Pickup

A Sanford woman told police she was kidnapped from a Sanford laundry early today and raped in the back of a pickup truck.

The 29-year-old woman said she was abducted from E-Z Coin Laundry, 2587 Park Drive, by two men at 1:15 a.m.

According to a Sanford police report, the woman was at the laundry when the men approached and hit her in the face, breaking her glasses. She said she was forced into their blue truck - possibly a Toyota - with a camper on the back.

They told her they had a knife, according to the

She said she was driven around the Sanford area for nearly two hours before the men stopped. According to the report, the pair put her in the back of the truck, which contained a quilted blanket, and then raped her. After the assault, the men freed the woman about 3:15 a.m. near a Cumberland Farms store at 3100 S. Sanford Ave.

The suspects were described as white, both standing 5-foot-10 inches tall. One suspect had shoulder-lenght blond hair, a mustache, and a "big belly," the report said. The other man, stocky, had shoulder lenght brown hair and spoke with a "Carolina" accent.

Land Eyed For Well Site

The Sanford City Commission was scheduled to meet in special session at 4 p.m. today to discuss purchasing 23 acres off state Road 48 for $170,000. The city would use the site for a new well field.

City Manager W.E. "Pete" Knowles said the city should be able to drill at least five and possibly six wells at the site.

If the commission approves. closing on the property will take place prior to Dec. 1, Knowles

Prior to closing, test wells must be drilled, the site analyzed by a hydrologist to see whether it is suitable for a well field and approval must be obtained from the St. Johns River Water Management District, he said.

The city has three operating well fields - at Mayfair Country Club, at U.S. Highway 17-92 and Airport Boulevard, and in the park at the Hidden Lake Development.

Army Doctor Accused Of Making Tests On Unconscious Patients

WASHINGTON (UPI) - Patients laying unconscious were the subject of unauthorized experiments by the former chief of anesthesiology at Walter Reed Army Medical who pleaded guilty last year to taking $4,000 from drug companies, invistigators have learned.

The A.H. Robins Co., the pharmaceutical firm for which Dr. (Col.) Robert Watson allegedly performed the tests, was among the companies that made payments to Watson.

Referring to one of the patients, a secret report by the Army inspector general's office, a portion of which was obtained by United Press International, said there was "no Indication that these tests had resulted in any short- or long-term adverse impact on the patient's care or condition.

The report from the Army inspector general's office did not specify what type of "experimental medical device" Watson is charged with testing, but federal sources said he administered drugs and breathing devices on several unconscious patients without their prior consent or knowledge.

Security Violated In Siege?

The prisoners, who seized control of the second floor of a building at Mecklenburg Correctional Center at 12:30 p.m. Saturday after stabbing and severely beating two guards and taking seven other hostages, surrendered around 7 a.m. Sunday as officers prepared to storm their stronghold.

The convicts presented 14 demands, among them an end to "brutality and harassment" and the resignation of Warden Sherman Townley, who took over after the May 31 death row escape by six killers, who were recaptured.

But Robb and corrections officials refused to negotiate the demands and the convicts finally surrendered.

Business As Usual At 7-Eleven

DALLAS (UPI) - About 400 7-Eleven stores conducted "business as usual" today and copies of Playboy and Penthouse remained available to customers despite picketing by an organization protesting sales of the sex

'We've told our district managers and store personnel basically to stay inside their stores," said Alisa Martin of The Southland Corp., which operates and franchises 7,300 7-Eleven stores.

The Rev. Don Wildmon, director of the National Federation for Decency, said the pickets also had strict guidelines. In Southland's Dallas headquarters, a brochure explaining the action will be distributed to customers, he said. But in other places, he said, pickets are not to hand out any type of material.

Trial Runs For Assault On Russia?

A-Bombing Solemnly Recalled

HIROSHIMA, Japan (UPI) — A solemn crowd of 50,000, some holding lighted candles and brushing back tears, gathered in a downtown park as a Buddhist temple bell mournfully tolled the exact minute a U.S. atomic bomb incinerated the city 39 years ago today.

The peals of the Hiroshima Peace Bell rang out at 8:15 a.m. (7:15 p.m. EDT Sunday), the time 39 years ago when the Army Air Force bomber "Enola Gay" dropped the "Little Boy" bomb on the city of 343,000.

Some members of the somber throng fell to the ground and lay still to commemorate the victims of the blast.

In Moscow, the U.S. nuclear attacks on Hiroshima and on Nagasaki three days later were called trial runs for an eventual assault on the Soviet Union.

The editorial in the official Izvestia newspaper Sunday did not mention World War II, but said the United States is now willing to sacrifice the lives of millions of Europeans just as it killed hundreds of

It was referring to the NATO deployment of U.S. medium-range nuclear weapons in Western Europe. NATO has said the Jeployment is to counter a buildup in similar Soviet Union weapons.

Hiroshima and Nagasaki were "testing ranges and demonstration grounds for an eventual U.S. attack on the Soviet Union." izvestia said.

The Japanese ceremonies began a week of observances to mark the Aug. 6, 1945 atomic bombings. About 105,000 people were killed and 95,000 were injured in the two attacks.

Hiroshima Mayor Takeshi Araki added to the roll of victims the names of 4.315 people who died during the year of bomb-related causes, bringing the total number of victims of the Hiroshima bombing on record to 113,271.

NHK. Japan's public television network. began a two-part series Sunday on the effects of nuclear war. The first segment, "The Earth Burns Up," showed how a 1-megaton bomb detonated over Tokyo would destroy the city.

The second part. "The Earth Freezes," to be broadcast tonight, depicts the "nuclear winter" some scientists believe would follow a large-scale nuclear exchange.

According to the theory, the ash and debris caused by multiple nuclear blasts would block 95 percent of the sunlight reaching the Earth. The global cloud would lower the surface temperature below freezing, eventually destroying most forms of life.

In other activities, anti-nuclear groups sponsored by the Japanese Socialist and Communist parties held separate meetings in Hiroshima to call for a ban on nuclear wcapons.

Another anti-nuclear group, the Japan Sufferers of Atomic Bombs, released a survey Sunday showing that 62 percent of 3.690 atomic bomb victims surveyed feared for their health and that of their children.

About 368,000 people are recognized officially as atomic bombing survivors, the group said.

Arson Suspected In $20,000 House Fire

Arson is suspected in a Sunday night fire that did $20,000 damage to an unoccupied Sanford home.

According to fire and police reports, a fire was reported at 1401 W. 7th St. shortly before

When firefighters arrived, the north end of the home was in flames and it took eight firefighters with four units 30 minutes to bring the blaze under control. While only the corner of the house was damaged by flames, the rest of the home received heavy heat and smoke damage, according to the reporta.

Homeowner Annie Mae Gathers, of 1730 Blackston Ave., Sanford, said her daughter, Beverly Gathers now of Clearwater. had been living in the home until a few days ago. She said she believes the fire was set because of some past incident not mentioned on the report.

Egypt Taking Measures To End Red Sea, Suez Minina

CAIRO, Egypt (UPI) - President Hosni Mubarak announced today he has ordered measures to end a series of mine explosions threatening shipping in the Red Sea and Gulf of Suez and find out who is responsible. He did not give specifics of what the measures involved.

Defense Minister Field Marshal Abdel Halim Abu-Ghazala said two countries, which he refused to name, were responsible for the blasts that have damaged ships in the past two weeks. Speculation centered on Iran and Libya.

Beirut newspapers said an anonymous telephone caller to a news organization in Paris claimed the Islamic Jihad Organization was reponsible for mining the waters of the Red Sea. The same group claimed responsibility for a suicide bombing that killed 241 U.S. servicemen in Beirut

The statement came a day after the Liberian-registered oil tanker Oceanic Energy was reported sinking in the southern Red Sea after it hit a mine. It was the 10th vessel hobbled by mines in the past two weeks.

Bodies Recovered From Crash

Self-Fulfilling Tax Prophecy

No matter who wins in November, Walter Mondale told cheering Democratic convention delegates, taxes will have to be raised. At that point in Mondale's speech, delegates were cheering anything that he said. But at least in this one respect they were being consistent. Already approved were party platform planks that oppose the other deficit-reduction remedy of spending cuts.

The Democratic nominee's promise of new taxes also has been praised by some in the media as "candor." This is pleasing to his campaign tacticians, who believe that a "Fritz will tell the truth, even when it hurts." approach is a good strategy to make President Reagan appear too general and evasive.

Walter Mondale has had plenty of practice profiting by nasty campaigning during the primaries. Considering the tax-and-spend mind-set that has guided the former vice president throughout his career, his new tax talk has all the makings of a self-fulfilling

But the Mondale prediction also risks being swamped by an enduring torrent of good economic news from Washington. The latest is that the economy, as measured by the gross national product, grew at an annual rate of 7.5 percent during the April-June quarter, or nearly two percentage points higher than the preliminary estimate.

GNP growth during the first quarter also was much higher than estimated — at a 10.1 percent rate. Meanwhile, inflation hovered at a 4.4 percent annual rate during the first quarter and 3.2 percent during the second.

This has confounded many economists, who have been predicting less growth on the assumption that heavy consumer and business borrowing would drive up interest rates and prices and choke off the recovery.

A robust economy, combined with a lack of inflation, lessens the chance that this current economic boom, the strongest since 1950, will be quickly followed by a bust cycle. Equally important to the taxpayer, the greater the economic growth the more revenue raised to offset the deficit.

Already, those $200 billion-plus annual budget deficits everyone was worryng about carlier this year have shrunk, thanks to the increased revenue. The deficit for the fiscal year beginning next September is estimated at approximately $177 billion, which is still horrendous. But it's also about $50 billion less than originally projected, thanks to "Reaganomics.

If Walter Mondale, on the other hand, continues with his gloom and tax talk, "Fighting Fritz" may end up as the Chicken Little of American politics.

Soviet Beachhead

"We face a special threat in Central America where our own national security is at risk. Central America is too close to us, and our strategic stake in the Caribbean sea lanes and the Panama Canal is too great for us to ignore reality," President Reagan said in a speech last year.

Democratic presidential nominee Walter Mondale disagrees. In his acceptance speech he said he would end the "illegal war in

For the sake of the freedom of the people of Nicaragua and that of their neighbors, as well as the security of the hemisphere against communist expansion, the rebels in Nicaragua should be given U.S. support and it should be given legally and openly.

Opponents in Congress should not be allowed to put a stamp of illegality upon the efforts of Nicaraguans to defend themselves against the oppression of a Soviet bloc junta or the efforts of anti-communists in Congress to provide them with aid.

The buildup of a Soviet-Cuba front in Nicaragua has been abetted and tolerated too long. Too many people in Congress, no matter how well intentioned, seem not to realize the results risked by their essentially pro-Soviet position on this issue.

Wemen's lib - Equal opportunity has apparently seeped into the female sub-conscious. University of Mississippi researchers have found that men and women dream with similar frequency about aggression, misfortune and social interactions while a number of years ago there were major differences in the contents of men's and women's dreams. Researchers speculate the sexual revolution is behind it all.

Smoker's D.T.'s - The nicotine content of just two cigarettes can give one the trembling hands of a heavy drinker. A University of Florida psychologist asked 23 smokers to abstain from smoking overnight then tested their hand tremor rates the next day before and after smoking two cigarettes. Their hands shook twice as much after smoking.

Inherited risk - The Salk Institute is researching brain wave tests for spotting people with genetic risk of becoming alcoholic, it's long been known that adopted children are likely to show the drinking habita of their biological - not adoptive parents. Tests suggest there's a specific neurological flaw underlying alcoholism and might provide a screen for genetic predisposition.

Fiscal Roller Coaster

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (NEA) - Most of the nation's governors have inadvertently boarded a roller coaster - and they're not especially thrilled about the ride.

States that traditionally could rely upon at least a modicum of fiscal stability now must deal with a volatile economy whose future gyrations are unpredictable and which produces alternating budget surpluses and deficits.

The participants at the annual meeting of the National Governors' Association, which was held here recently, are at least temporarily delighted about their states' partial recovery from the deep recession of the early 1980s.

As a result, governors no longer face the flerce pressure of recent years to drastically reduce services and simultaneously increase taxes to produce the balanced budgets required by virtually all state constitutions.

But many of the state executives already are concerned about the implications of another downturn in the national economy - possibly as early as next year - and the impact It will have on their budgets.

For example, Michigan Gov. James J. Blanchard, a Democrat, Is simultaneously ecstatic about the initial signs of recovery in his state and fearful of "the roller conster effect, not only as it relates to our budget but also to the economy in general in the coming years."
In the depths of the recession,

Michigan was forced to impose a surtax on state income tax payments. The surtax was scheduled to expire at the end of this year, but the improved economy enabled the state to advance the repeal date by tour montas.

Similarly, Minnesota and Wisconsin imposed emergency income surtaxes last year but were able to lift them ahead of schedule this year, while Illinois allowed its surtax to expire as scheduled at the end of June.

At least 10 states already have reduced income or sales taxes this year, moving in the opposite direction from last year when 39 states enacted income, sales, gasoline, cigarette, liquor and other tax increases. Also last year 41 states imposed austerity measures that reduced or eliminated services pre-

Deaf Children Helped

By Rebecca Kolberg

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Scientists trying to give profoundly deaf children a sense of sound are reaching beyond their ears and sending electronic vibrations to the

The new vibrotactile devices, playfully dubbed "baby buzzers," use electronic circuitry to translate sound vibrations into vibrations that a child who has been deaf from birth can feel on the sensitive part of the chest.

Moise Goldstein, the Johns Hopkins University electrical engineering professor who developed the device, first tested the vest-like contraption in the late 1970s on Tabitha Kryger, a 2-year-old Baltimore-area girl who was deaf from birth.

"Before this device she had no sense of sound - she didn't know there was such a thing as sound," Goldstein said. "My main impression was the device gave her that sense. It let her know when people move their mouths there is a sound.'

A vibrotactile device does not enable the deaf to hear in the way a normal person does. Instead it is intended to be a learning tool to help deaf children learn to lip read and speak properly, and a warning device to alert them to approaching vehicles, someone entering the room and other possible dangers.

"When Tabitha came to us she only had a vocabulary of five words and was quite frustrated," Goldstein said. "By the end of the first year she had more than 400 words and, more importantly to me, she appeared to have developed good language skiils.''

Although most profoundly deal students are retarded in reading, Goldstein said Tabitha, now 9, is able to read at the average for her

Comprised of a tiny microphone, circuitry and a button-like vibrator that presses against the breastbone. the device started out as a clothcovered vest and eventually evolved into a set of elastic straps and a leather or metal package containing the electronic equipment.

"I think it brought out a lot more speech from Tabitha as far as syllables and everything. She was more aware that there was such a thing as syllables in words," said Tabitha's mother, Diana Kryger, 33, of Dundalk, Md.

Although the vibrotactile device has proved beneficial in teaching children who are deaf from birth. Goldstein said he does not think the device would do much for people who become totally deaf later in life.

July 18 And Spain

Amid all the excitement of the Democratic Convention the date July 18 passed unnoticed, and yet when the history of the 20th century is written from a betterperspective than heretofore, July 18 is likely to loom as very important Indeed.

There is a good deal that is similar about Marshall Tito, the late dictator of Yugoslavia and General Franco, the late dictator of Gymin, and Tito has had a much better press in the democratic West. There is a good deal to be said in favor of Tito. At a crucial point in history he chose Yugoslav nationalism over the communist ideology to which he had until then devoted his life. Tito defled Stalin. He refused Stalin supply and infiltration routes into from communism, and himself from Stalin. He kept Yugoslavia outaide the Soviet orbit, and ran a much less repressive system than the others in the East bloc.

But Franco, though it will be an unwelcome thought to many who consider him a fascist, may have played a key role in saving Western Europe itself, the whole thing and not just Greece. It is fair to say that Franco laid the foundations for the Spain of today, which is not just freer than the East bloc nations but freer than Yugoslavia. Spain is a new and reasonable workable Western democracy.

But it all goes back to July 18, a date that used to be celebrated as Spain's national holiday, with fireworks and song, but which has been muted since the advent of democracy and Spain's desire to join Europe and the Common Market, and to forget old scars.

On July 18, 1936, rebellion broke out all across Spain. Spaniards who called themselves nationalists and patriots attempted to seize power from a disintegrating popular front government in Madrid and restore some sort of order in the Iberian peninsula. Within a few short days of that week, 50 churches had been burned in Madrid by the left, and the political militias of the communist and anarchist political parties, called "pistoleros," were waging open warfare in the streets against their opponents.

General Franco, a hero of Spain's African wars, had been sent to the Canary Islands by the Madrid government, as too powerful a nationalist figure to risk keeping on the mainland. On July 18, a small chartered private plane, a Dragon Rapide, leased in England by Catholics and anti-communists. took off from the airport in Mellila, Canary Islands, with Franco aboard, dressed in civilian clothes. The tiny plane made its way to Morocco, blue water and white sand, where Franco took command of the Spanish Foreign Legion and the Moroccan forces there available. They then began the difficult crossing of the Straits of Gibraltar - most of the Navy remained loyal to Madrid. The rebellion had succeeded in the north and west of Spain, and as Franco's troops moved into Seville and Malaga, it succeeded there, too. Franco broke the seige of the apparently doomed Alcazar in Toledo, and marched on Madrid. But the rebellion had failed in Madrid and in the east, in Barcelona and Valencia and Alicante, which meant a divided Spain and a cruel civil war.

Crime Force Members Investigated

WASHINGTON - Current and former members of the federal organized-crime strike force in Los Angeles are themselves under investigation by the Justice Department. They have been accused of delaying or failing to pursue grand jury action against underworld figures in California and Hawaii.

learned that the targets of the investigation are the current strike force chief, Jim Henderson, and his predecessor, Richard Crane, who is now in private law practice in Los Angeles. The investigation by the Justice Department's Office of Professional Responsibility was begun under pressure from Rep. Charles B. Rangel, D-N.Y., chairman of the House Select Committee on Narcotics. Both Henderson and Crane vigorously deny any wrongdoing.

Over the past year, a special investigator for the House committee has interviewed organized-crime figures and state and local law enforcement officials in California and elsewhere. His principal informant, however, has been Jerry Van. a self-described muscleman for California's top racketeers and arsonists.

Van, now serving a prison term on extortion and assault charges, has been cooperating with state and federal authorities since 1979. Information he has given investigators, as well as his testimony before grand juries and in criminal trials, has led to almost a dozen indictments and convictions for such crimes as murder, arson for profit, mail fraud and drug smug-

Federal and local lawmen describe Van as one of the most valuable and credible witnesses against organized-crime figures in more than a decade. Because of threats on his life, he is in the witness protection program while in

Van also gave information to Rangel's committee. In a letter to Attorney General William French Smith, the congressman said that Van provided information "concerning allegations of official corruption and dereliction of duty relating to narcotics enforcement in the southwest area of the United States."

Rangel added: "Mr. Van's allegations are directed specifically against the Los Angeles strike force, its former chief, Richard Crane, and its current leader, Jim Henderson. Crane, supervisor of the strike force in Los Angeles for 13 years, resigned his position and went into private practice. ... When Crane's clients have problems with the Los Angeles strike force, they are rarely touched because the current chief, Jim Henderson, is a friend and former subordinate of Crane's."

Rangel urged the Justice De-partment to "undertake a vigorous investigation" of the charges, as well as allegations involving Eddie Nash, a convicted felon who was Van's boss. Though the allegations were first made in 1979-80, there were no indictments in the Nash case until 1983. "Mr. Van surmised the indictments only occurred when the strike force realized the House select committee was looking into the matter," Rangel wrote.

The congressman wrote that it was not his intention to "involve this committee with investigating allegations of misconduct by federal officials," and added: "I have every confidence that the Justice Department will obviate the need to do

Michael E. Shaheen, head of the Office of Professional Responsibility, has informed Rangel that "we have initiated an inquiry into Mr. Van's allegations."

Although federal authorities have used Van's information in selected criminal cases, until now there has been no investigation of his broader charges that organized crime flourishes in California because of ineptitude and conflicts of interest within the strike force. He had provided written detailed information — names, places, dates, times - to the strike force, the Justice Department's Criminal Division and the California attorney general's office.

Van's charges were substantiated by law enforcement officials interviewed by a House narcotics committee investigator. Regarding recommendations for indictments in two investigations code-named Coco and Firebird, a Hawaii strike force official said: "They (Los Angeles) just sat on it. People were willing to talk, we had high quality informants and excellent work by the Drug Enforcement Administra-tion. But the Los Angeles strike force just screwed it up."

year's team returning and a number of talented newcomers, District 14 will start its quest for the World Series as the Little League Baseball Southern Region Big League Tournament gets under way today at Tinker Field in Orlando.

District 14 will play its first game today at 5:30 against Beaumont, Tex. Beaumont blanked Barbersville, Ky., 4-0, in Sunday's opening round game.

District 14 is going for its fourth Southern Region title since 1979. District 14 also won in 1980 and 1983. Mable, who coaches at Oviedo High, has been at the helm of the District 14 Big League team for five years. Mabie said he feels this year's team will be contenders.

'We have five players returning from last year's team and we have our goals set on the number one spot this year," Mabie said. The selection of this team was tough because there were so many talented players to choose from and we feel the players who have been chosen will each strive together as a team to reach our goal.

"If we come out smoking with the bats, I don't think anybody can beat us."

Mable will send one of his own, left-hander Jeff Greene, against Texas in today's opener. Greene compiled a 6-1 record during the regular season as Oviedo tinished second in the league.

Behind the plate for District 14 will be

Todd Maufroy. The infield from first to third will be Dean Hazen, Todd Auckland, Charles Brooks and Jeff Lowrey. Oviedo's Darrin Reichle will be in left field, Dwayne McLeod will patrol center while Lake Mary's Kevin Wick is in right field.

A victory today would send District 14 against the Cocoa-Bristol, Tenn. winner of today's first game at 2 p.m. Cocoa won the Florida state championship by defeating Venice at Lake Wales last week.

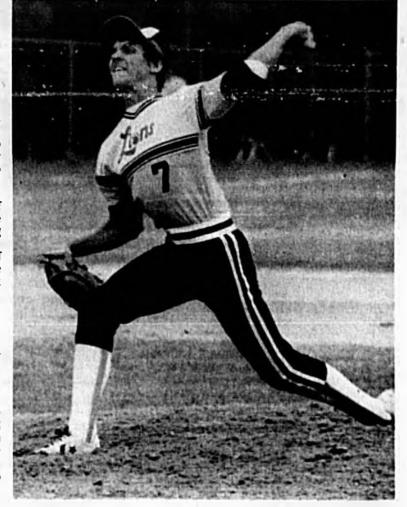

This year's team includes a number of outstanding local high school and college players. Here is a look at the 1984 District 14 Big League All-Stars.

Todd Auckland, pitcher, second base - Auckland was one of the aces of last year's District 14 pitching staff and he came through with some tremendous pitching performances. He was named All-World Honorable Mention at last year's Big League World Series. Auckland lives in Mount Dora where he starred for the Mount Dora High team for three years and he played three years in the Eustis Big League. Auckland played for Brevard Community College this past baseball season and he will be returning to Brevard this fall.

Charles Brooks, shortstop — Brooks completed an outstanding career at Mount Dora High with a fine senior season in 1984. He played for four years on the Mount Dora varsity and played for two years on the Eustis Big League team.

Benoit's Marathon Win Erases Weaker Sex Label For Women

LOS ANGELES (UPI) - Never again will women ever have to stand still for the vicious

Never again will anyone ever be foolish or presumptuous enough to try to perpetuate such a

Not after what Joan Benoit showed the whole world Sunday. Or what Gabriel Andersen-Scheiss did. If you saw their performances for yourself, then once and for all, no matter what sex you belong to, there can't possibly be much question in your mind that under certain conditions endurance as men. Believe it or not, sometimes

Until now, the International Olympic Committee, in what it thought was its infinite wisdom but what turned out to be only its hidebound tradition, refused to allow women to compete in any greater distance than the 1,500 meters in the Olympics. The IOC felt women weren't strong enough to endure much more than that.

Joan Benoit, a remarkably dedicated. economy-sized, 27-year-old running marvel from Freeport, Maine, offered the most positive possible proof of how mistaken the IOC has been all these years by winning the Olympica' first women's marathon. The 5-foot-3, 105-pound little lady violated all accepted strategy in winning her gold medal. She broke away from the pack at the start of the third mile and stayed in front the rest of the way. covering the classic distance of 26 miles and 385 yards in 2 hours, 24 minutes and 52 seconds to finish a good quarter-mile in front of silver medalist Grete Waltz of Norway. Rosa Mota of Portugal was the bronze medalist.

'Two months ago, I decided I'd have to run my own race, no matter what," said the freckle-faced, black-haired Benoit, a Bowdoin University graduate who underwent arthroscopic surgery the last week in April, only 17 days before the Olympic Trials.

"That's what I did," went on Benoit, who seemed to know exactly when to take a drink of water and throw some over her head during the race. "I knew I was hydrated. I wasn't overly worried about that."

Neither was Andersen-Scheise, the Swise girl who lives in Sun Valley, Idaho, and holds dual citizenship. She literally staggered across the finish line 25 minutes after Benoit did and then collapsed, but maybe she should've been.

She flat out refused to quit. She could hardly stand up but she was going to make that final 500 meters across the finish line in the Los Angeles Collecum if it killed her, and it nearly did.

Barely able to stand much less run, Andersen-Schetse had the crowd of 85,000 cheering for her one second and praying for her the next as she tried to walk the last few yards. Every step was than an effort, it was a tortuous demand on her body and soul. The deafening cheers from those exhorting her on acted like some jackhammer on her brain and she stuck her fingers in her cars to try to drown out the sound. Every faltering step she took looked as if it might be her last before she'd give up, but she never did. The indomitable Swiss-American runner fell into the arms of two doctors as she lurched across the finish line.

Benoît had no such problems.

She had sufficient reserve left so that she was able to take another victory lap around the track after her relatively easy victory. Normally, she doesn't show much expression, but for some reason she suddenly did break into a smile around the halfway mark. What made her do it was seeing someone among the spectators along the sidelines waving her school colors.

Carl's Comet Gives Way To 3 U.S. Golden Oldies

LOS ANGELES (UPI) - Before the Carl Lewis Olympic comet streaks across the southern California sky for the second time today, it's time to salute three of the elder statesmen of the U.S. track team.

Joan Benoit, Edwin Moses and Evelyn Ashford brought their special qualities to the Los Angeles Memorial Colliseum Sunday and boosted the United States' gold medal count to five in nine track and field events.

Competition continues today with seven finals. Lewis, who took his first step to a four-gold medal week Saturday night by winning the 100 meters, is the overwhelming favorite in the long jump after qualifying first with a leap of 27 feet, 2 % inches. Before that, however, Lewis has a first-round heat in the 200 meters. Americans also are thought to have a shot at the gold medal in four other events - the 800 meters and 110-meter hurdles for men and the 400 and 800 meters for women.

On Sunday, the courageous Benoit, 27, who had won the U.S. Olympic trials 17 days after undergoing arthroscopic knee surgery, captured women's merathon sun-baked streets of the metropolitan area in 2 hours, 24 minutes and 52 seconds.

Moses, 28, won his 105th consecutive race and 90th straight final to pick up his second Olympic gold medal in the 400-meter hurdles in 47.64 seconds. Moments earlier, Ashford, 27, plagued by hamstring injuries since last year's World Championships, captured the women's 100 meters in an Olympic record time of 10.97.

Olympics

The common thread in the post-event statements of the three Americans could be summed up as: "Retire? Me? No way!"

"It's one challenge after another but I enjoy it." said Benoit, who holds the world record of 2:22:43. "I plan to continue competing. I still feel I have a PR (personal record) in me in the marathon."

"I've been hearing rumors that I'm going to retire and they're not true," Moses told reporters after indicating he might be retiring in a television interview immediately after the race. "For people who ask if this was my last race, it's absolutely untrue."

"I got a roll going now," said Ashford, who suffered a hamstring injury in the Olympic Trials that prevented her from qualifying in the 200 'I will continue as long as I think I hav the speed and can be competitive with the best. I don't see myself retiring now."

The other gold medal decided Sunday was in the men's javelin where Finland's Arto Haerkoenen unleashed a winning throw of 284 feet, 8 inches. Americans Tom Petranoff and Duncan Atwood were eliminated after three

Benoit, of Freeport, Maine, took the lead at the three-mile mark of the race and gradually stretched it out. Surprisingly, no one, not even archrival Grete Waitz of Norway, was able to

"I promised myself I would run my own race," Benoit said. "But nobody came out there with me. I was surprised because the time for 10K (10,000 meters) was slow. I can't believe it worked so well."

Waitz won the silver medal and Rosa Mota of Portugal took the bronze.

Moses, of Laguna Hills, Calif., was never challenged after the first couple of hurdles as a roaring crowd of more than 90,000 cheered him on. Eighteen-year-old teammate Danny Harria captured the aliver medal and West Germany's Harald Schmid, who handed Moses his last loss in August 1977, won the bronze.

'There was a lot of pressure at the start (of the competition) and I knew it was going to get more intense each day," Moses said. "I'm just very could stay around for al win another gold medal."

Ashford zoomed into the lead at the 50-meter mark and won going away, fulfilling her goal to run the race in under 11 seconds, although it was short of her world record of 10.79.

Tournament Trail Takes Long Twists For Seniors

By Sam Cook Herald Sports Editor

CORAL SPRINGS - When Altamonte manager Gene Letterio was assembling his Senior League All-Star team in early June, he told all the parents to cancel any summer vacation because "we are going to tour the state winning tourna-

Not even Christoper Columbus, though, could have envisioned the long distance journeys which were in store for his All-Stars. First, they went upstate and west to Niceville, a 400-mile journey to win the sectional. Then they went downstate and west to Fort Myers, another 180 miles to take the state. Now, they are lodged in Coral Springs, a 210-mile downstate trip for the Southern Region.

"The kids seem to be in pretty good shape," laughed Letterio Monday morning. "But I think the travelling has certainly been wear; on the parents."

The travel and the winning. nevertheless, have been nonstop. Altamonte took the tough route in both sectional and state championship battles. The Seniors fell into the loser's bracket in both tournsments, but came back to win. They knocked off a strong Jacksonville Arlington Heights squad twice to win the section and came back with two straight wins over perennial nemesis Tampa Belmont Heights to take the state.

"The only thing I'm worried about is that the boys don't get satisfied with the big wins over Belmont Heights," said Letterio. "They have to realize we're just three victories away from the World Series in Gary, Ind."

One of those three could come tonight when Letterio sends acc right-hander Mike Schmit against Birmingham, Ala. "We played games (with our pitching rotation) in the state," said Letterio. "We're going with Schmit, somebody else (probably Neal Harris or Anthony Laszaic) and Schmit in this tournament. There won't be any measing around."

Altamonte opens tonight's action at 6. On Sunday, Abilene, Tex. crushed Greeville, S.C., 11-0. "They hit a bunch of home runs," said Letterio about the Texans. "But they didn't look that crisp, although they had a pretty good defense." Tonight's second game has host Coral Springs against Abilene. An Altamonte win will pit the Seniors against tonight's second game winner Tuesday at 8:30. If Altamonte wins Tuesday, it will not play against until 6 p.m. Friday. A loss Friday would force a championship game at 8:30 p.m.

Letterio said he will start the same lineup as he did in Friday's win over Belmont Heights. With Schmit on the mound, Ryan Lisle will be behind the plate. Neal Harris is on first, Shane Letterio will handle second while Laszaic will take care of shortstop with Mark Cosley at third base. The outfield from left to right will be Eddie Taubensee, Bill Henley and Randy Green.

3 Medals Can't Appease Retton

LOS ANGELES (UPI) - It may be hard to believe that Olympic allaround champion Mary Lou Retton was a little disappointed with her three-medal performance in the Individual gymnastics apparatus finals Sunday night.

But she was, at least for a while. Retton is much like her coach, defected Romanian Bela Karolyi, who, in explaining why the two worked together so well together, told the press earlier in the day, "I love to win. I hate to lose."

Retton is not greedy: She was very happy to win a bronze medal on the uneven bars and satisfied to take the bronze on floor exercise during the four apparatus finals at UCLA's Pauley Pavilion.

But she was not pleased to finish as sliver medalist on vault behind Romania's Ecaterina Szabo, who made up for her second-place finish in the all-arounds by winning three of the four gold event medala awarded Sunday night. You could see it in Retton's face as she stood on the medals podium, uncharacteristically somber, during the playing of the Romanian national anthem.

Besides winning vault, Szabo took the gold in floor exercise and shared the balance beam gold with Romanian teammate Simona Pauca, the all-around bronze medalist.

Two-time Olympian Julianne McNamara, who trains with Retton under Karolyi, became the United States' first individual event gold medalist, tying for first on uneven parallel bars with China's Ma Yanhong and later won the allver on floor exercise.

Kathy Johnson, at 24 the "old lady" of the U.S. team, won the bronze on balance beam and cried throughout the medals ceremony. Minutes later she announced, reluctantly, that she was retiring.

Royals Sweep Tigers

United Press International

Sparky Anderson isn't crying "The sky is falling," but if the Detroit Tigers don't start shaping up, the sun may begin to set on their glimmering season.

The mighty Tigers, who rose to the top of the baseball world with one of the fastest starts in major-league history, appear to be coming back to earth. With a double-header loss to the Kansas City Royals Sunday, the Tigers have dropped six of their last seven games and their 12-game lead in the AL East has dwindled to eight.

Anderson says his team can't afford to look

"Today's gone," said the Detroit manager after losses of 5-4 and 4-0 to the Royals. "We've lost six of seven, but we can't snatch those back. If you can't do that, then you'd better look ahead to something else.

Blue Jays 4, Orioles 3

At Baltimore, Cliff Johnson set a major-league record by blasting his 19th career pinch hit home run to power the Blue Jays to a sweep of their three-game series. Johnson, batting for Willie Alkens, broke Jerry Lynch's record when he hit his 11th homer of the season, off Tippy Martinez, 4-8, to snap a 3-3 tie. Jimmy Key, 3-4, was the winner.

Yankees 4. Indians O

At New York, Vic Mata hit his first major-league homer and Ray Fontenot and two relievers combined on a one-hit shutout to lift the Yankees to their eighth straight win. Fontenot, 5-6; did not allow a hit until Brook Jacoby singled with one out in the sixth.

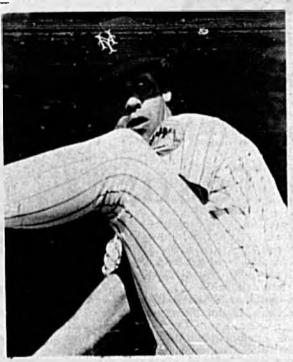

Red Box 4, Rangers 2

At Boston, Tony Armas smacked his 30th homer and Rich Gedman his 13th to lead the Red Sox. Rookle Al Nipper, 4-4, got the win and Mark Clear struck out the side in the ninth to record his fourth save.

White Sox 7, Milwaukee 0

At Milwaukee, Greg Luzinski and Julio Cruz collected two hits apiece and each drove in two runs to send the Brewers to their eighth straight loss and pace Chicago's sixth win in its last seven games. Richard Dotson, 12-8, was the winner.

Twins 4, Angels 2 At Anaheim, Calif., Tom Brunansky drilled a two-run shot in the third inning for his third homer in as many games to vault the Twins into first place in the AL West by one-half game over the Angels. Ken Schrom, 4-5, got the win and Ron Davis recorded his 21st save.

Nell Allen had trouble finding the plate Sunday. The St. Louis reliever walked in the winning run as the Cardinals lost to Philadelphia.

Glants 7, Braves 4

If Frank Robinson's presence had motivated the San Francisco Giants as well as his absence did Sunday, he still might be their manager.

Robinson's firing Saturday night in Atlanta by Giants owner Bob Lurie inspired at least one San Francisco batter, Jeff Leonard, to the heights of hitting heroics. Leonard belted a ninth inning grand slam to lift San Francisco to a 7-4 triumph over th Braves - and he didn't let his bat do all the talking.

"My motivation was the firing of Frank," Leonard said. "I would like to dedicate that home run to him. I feel that as a person and as a manager, he's made me a better ballplayer."

Mets 3, Pirates 1

At Pittsburgh, George Foster's 10th-inning single scored Wally Backman and Mookie Wilson to help the Mets extend their winning streak to three while the Pirates dropped their third straight. Wes Gardner, 1-0, was the winner and Don Robinson 1-5, took the loss. Lee Lacy homered for the Pirates.

Reds 2, Dodgers 1 At Cincinnati, Cesar Cedeno scored all the way from second base on an infield grounder by Dave Van Gorder in the bottom of the 11th inning to spark the Reds. Ted Power, 6-5, pitched one inning for the victory. Jerry Reuss, who replaced Los Angeles starter Fernando Valenzuela in the 11th, fell to 2-5.

Phillies 6, Cardinals 3 At St. Louis, reliever Neil Allen walked in two

Kyle Petty 98 Percent Sure Of Switch To Wood Brothers

WINSTON-SALEM, N.C. (UPI) - A move by Kyle Petty to drive for the Wood brothers NASCAR Grand National racing team would leave Buddy Baker without a ride and the Petty team without a driver for the first time since Petty said he is "98 percent sure" he will leave Petty Enterprises to drive for the Wood brothers next season, the Winston-Salem Journal reported Saturday.

His departure would leave his team without a driver for the first time since his grandfather, Lee Petty, founded it in 1949. Richard Petty, Kyle's father, left last year after 25 years with the team.

"We might simply sell the whole place," Kyle Petty said.

Girl Goes To Williamsport

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa. (UPI) - A young lady from Belgium has broken a barrier by becoming the first girl ever on the championship roster of the Little League Baseball World Series.

Victoria Roche is a reserve outfielder on a Brussels team that won the European regional tournament to reach the championship, league spokesman Steve Kenner said over the weekend.

Girls have played Little League baseball since 1974, but Roche is the first girl on a championship team in the 38-year-history of the league, he said.

"Victoria is a very spirited girl," said Brussels manager John Fader. "We're happy to have her with us. Having a girl on our team has been no problem."

Martina Takes Slims Title

NEWPORT, R.I. (UPI) - Martina Navratilova, No. 1 ranked women's tennis player in the world, won the $150,000 Virginia Silma Tennis Tournament Sunday with a 6-3, 7-6 finals victory over Gigi Fernandez of San Juan.

"I've been saying all along that she's (Fernandez) a pretty good player and she proved that this week," said Navratilova.

"She served erratically but she was strong when her first serve was in," Navritolova said.

Navratilova had lost just eight games in eight sets in her previous four matches, but the 20-year-old Fernandez managed to win nine games.

Wardle's Walk Costs O-Twins

COLUMBUS, Ga. - Orlando reliei ace Curt Wardle walked Ty Gainey with two out and the bases loaded Sunday to give the Astros a 2-1 nine-inning Southern League victory over the Twins.

Wardle, who hasn't been scored on in 4415 innings, came on with the bases loaded and proceeded to walk Gainey on five pitches. The loss was charged to Mark Cartwright (3-5). Hot-hitting Greg Morhardt supplied the only offense for Orlando with a solo homer in the fifth inning.

Orlando, which trails first-place Charlotte by two games.

Bucs Use Fumbles To Humble Oilers

TAMPA (UPI) - Three fourth-period fumbles by the Houston Otlers were parlayed into a pair of touchdowns and a field goal in the Tampa Bay Buccaneers'

30-17 win in NFL pre-scason play. Michael Morton, who had 106 yards rushing, broke loose for 46 yards after the first fumble by quarterback Brian Ransom to set up a one-yard touchdown run by James Wilder to give the Bucs the lead they never relinquished. Midway through the final period, Ransom fumbled again when he was blindsided on a blitz. Tackle Brad White recovered, setting up a 35-yard field goal by Obed Ariri.

Pro Football

On the following kickoff, Kevin Baugh fumbled and Keith Browner recovered on the Oiler 28. Quarterback Steve DeBerg then raced 17 yards on a keeper for the final Tampa score.

and a 17-yard pass from Jack Thompson to light end Jerry Bell. The Otlers, who had a 30-yard field goal by Florian Kempf in the first period, moved field goals of 20 and 42 yards by Bill Capece ahead in the third quarter on one-yard runs by Stan Edwards and Larry Moriarty.

But then the Tampa defense took control, giving the offense the opportunity to blow the game apart.

Eastwood Improves With Age, Wins Memphis

Pro Golf

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI) - Bob Eastwood has known some long. lean years on the PGA tour, but now it's all starting to pay off for the 38-year-old Californian.

He won the second tournament of his 15-year career and the second in four months Sunday by playing a steady, even-par 72 to win the Memphis Golf Classic by two shots.

"Maybe I'm getting better with age," said Eastwood, who struggled for 13 years before he broke the $100,000 mark for the first time in 1983. "Maybe I'm a amarter player. I don't have any explanation for it. Maybe I'll win again this year. Who knows?"

Eastwood won $90,000 Sunday, almost as much as he won in all of 1982. It boosted his winnings to $188,794 this year and to $684,721 for his career. Realistically, he attributed the turnaround to his physical condition. He no longer suffers from tendinitis, which bothered him up until last year."I'm feeling good," said Eastwood. "Now I can practice.

He played 72 holes over the tough 7,282-yard Colonial Country Club course at eightunder 280 with rounds of 71-69-68-72.

Two shots back at 282 were Mark O'Meara, Ralph Landrum and Tim Simpson , who all charged out of the pack to mount a challenge after it looked like Eastwood would coast to the win. O'Meara shot a 3-under-par 69, Landrum had a 67 and Simpson had a 70.

MILLER TAKE CLASSIC

WHEELING, W.Va. (UPI) -Alice Miller nearly lulled herself to sleep when she rolled in a six-foot birdle putt to go up three strokes with seven holes remaining in the $150,000 West Virginia LPGA Classic.

But Miller was quickly

reawakened by a bogey on the par-four 13th which cost her a stroke and led to a charge by her former Arizona State teammate. tour unknown Vicki Singleton. who birdled the 12th and 13th to close within one shot of the leader.

"It got me back on my toes. It got me a little nervous," said Miller, who survived the rapid turn of events Sunday to win her second straight LPGA Classic

Visiting Surgeon From Greece

Dr. Kenneth Wing of Sanford, left, exchanges ideas with Dr. Dionysios Botseas, a surgeon-lecturer who visited the Sanford Kiwanis Club Wednesday. Dr. Botseas, brother-In-law of Dr. Nicholas Pastis, chief of staff at Central Florida Regional Hospital, has published 25 medical articles and lectured at the hospital Tuesday.

SCC Offers Tailoring Class

Woman Claiming She's Celibate Seeks Friends

DEAR ABBY: I'm a 54-yearold financially independent professional woman who has had many suitors. The list includes a film producer, a psychiatrist, a novelist, a banker and a chief of staff in a large hospital. I enjoy the company of men, but I am celibate. My problem: These relationships end when I tell them I'm celibate.

These men and I have found each other mutually interesting. I wonder why they don't continue seeing me and get their sex elsewhere. I'd like to meet some gay men or celibates like myself. of equal social position, who enjoy female companionship. Where do I find them? NOT FRUSTRATED IN L.A.

DEAR NOT: Try the Gay Community Services Center or the Catholic clergy. But why not give sex another chance? You could win up happily married to a film producer, a psychiatrist, a novelist, a banker, or a chief of staff in a large hospital. DEAR ABBY: I see by your column that the U.S. Postal Service goofed when it put the wrong colors on the rump and tall feathers of the American bald eagle. However, it doesn't make a whole lot of difference if the feathers are dark or white. Now let me tell you about a more serious mistake made by our government that has yet to be corrected on a national scale: I wonder how many people know that the first battle of the American Revolution took place on Oct. 10, 1774, at Point Pleasant, which is now in the state of West Virginia. This was six months and eight days before 'the shots heard 'round the world" were fired at Lexington and Concord.

I am very much annoyed that our history books still state that the opening battle of the American Revolution took place at Lexington and Concord on April

Can you help me and other proud West Virginians to set the record straight once and for all? FURIOUS IN WEST VIRGINIA

DEAR FURIOUS: This historical gaffe in strictly "for the birds." (Here we go again!) May I respectfully suggest that you enlist the help of your U.S. senator, Robert C. Byrd.

DEAR ABBY: You just saved my summer! You had a letter in your column about the duck hunters using Avon's Skin-So-Soft as a mosquito repellant. I have always used that product, but this summer I didn't order any, and now I know why the bugs are having a feast every day on my person!

In past years when I used Skin-So-Soft I never had trouble with mosquitoes. I never knew it was an insect repellant, but that's exactly what it did for me. I've already ordered a bottle. Thanks a million.

GRACE IN BACO, MAINE

DEAR GRACE: You're welcome (P.S.: For the record, I have no stock in Avon Co.)

DEAR ABBY: "Downhearted" complained because she and her husband had not had any sexual relations in seven months. She wrote, "I know he's not cheating on me because he never goes anywhere except to work, and then he comes directly home."

I'm retired now, but I used to work with a middle-aged woman job would mean another operation at my expense. I can't afford It now.

Does a person have any legal rights in a case like this? It's too embarrassing to ask a lawyer. DON'T USE MY NAME

DEAR DON'T: Go back to the plastic surgeon and tell her that you are sorrier than she is, but if she doesn't redo the job at no additional expense, having said it would be a permanent thing, you will take it up with the complaint or peer review department of the medical association of which she is a be a permanent thing. Heavy Exercise Won't Cause Weight To Rise a well-known national weighter. I hear many excuses. Right some that are not so good. A now I need to know about heavy exercise: riding bikes, running, swimming and such. Can exercise cause a person to weigh more when weighing in? is this care, and not abandoning a just an excuse or is it possible that one will be heavier?

DEAR READER - You are being conned. The only way heavy exercise could increase a person's weight would be if he drank a lot more fluid than he lost from sweating or stopped to cat a lot of food after his

The truth is that heavy exercise is more likely to make a person sweat. One can lose several pounds of water with lots of exertion and sweating. But that is water, not loss of body fat. and will be regained as soon as the body regains its normal healthy hydration.

What you should expect is that immediately after heavy exercise the person may weigh in "light" despite not having lost any body fat at all and having not stayed with his dict.

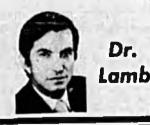

Exercise can cause a person to gain weight, but that's from developing muscles which weigh more than fat. That takes longer. But that is the reason why a person on a good fitness program may be disappointed in what the scales read. As the person loses body fat he gains muscles. This represents a net loss of calories from the body and It's healthy

DEAR DR. LAMB - This letter relates to drugs. My mother is in a rest home. After they used all her money they put her on welfare. Then somebody got greedy. The place puts the 62 Defense orpatients on some kind of drug that either puts them to sleep or makes them disoriented.

DEAR READER - I hope just publishing this will help. I doubt someone is getting a kickback, but I don't doubt that a lot of people in similar circumstances are overdrugged. They are quiet then and require less care. You might complain to your county

WIN AT BRIDGE

By Oswald Jacoby and James Jacoby

Oswald: "I see you used the Jacoby transfer bid to play four hearts from the strong hand in today's deal. North's threediamond bld forced you to bid three hearts, and North then placed the contract."

Jim: "The hand was not easy to play, particularly since my opponent was Midwestern expert Zeke Jabbour. I took the opening lead in dummy and led a low heart. East (Jabbour) played the 10 and I won the king. I could have played a second heart, but I didn't want East to win that trick and perhaps lead a spade. diamonds and trumped a diamond, happily noting that they split 3-3. Then what? Jim: "I came to my hand with the club ace and played a good diamond. West sluffed a club, I threw a spade from dummy and Zeke trumped with the queen of hearts. Back came a spade, and I had to decide whether to play the spade ace and lead another diamond to throw dummy's last spade, or to finesse against the spade king, in which case I could win the queen and play a heart, hoping that the ace and nine would fall together," Oswald: "I know you went up with the ace and played another diamond. Why?'

Jim: "Two reasons, When 1 played the good diamond to throw the first spade. West had no problem. Since he didn't think about trumping with the Oswald: "So you played A-K of nine of hearts, he probably tamonds and trumped a didn't have it. Second, I've had hard sledding against Zeke Jabbour in the past and thought It likely that he would false-card with the queen of hearts."
