Agriculture Office Calls On County To Raise Gardens

By H. W. HOCHBAUM

U. S. Department of Agriculture Extension Service WASHINGTON—The Secretary of Agriculture has asked for 20 million gardens in 1948 to help make it possible to ship more food to the distressed areas abroad. Now that garden planning and seed ordering time is here, what should our gardens be like in town and city?

The garden first of all should be large enough to produce an adequate supply of fresh vegetables from early spring until early winter. Many town and city gardens are entirely too small and the few carrots, green onions, lettuce and radishes they produce, while enjoyable, do not contribute much in providing sufficient quantities of health protecting food. About one-third of our non-farm gardens are only 500 square feet in size. They ought to be at least 1,000 or 1,500 square feet.

Freedom gardeners—and may be one-fourth of these will be novices—should not try to grow the kinds of vegetables that require large amounts of space. Sweet corn, pole beans, squash and peas are out for them.

The first choice of vegetables should include as many as possible of the green and leafy vegetables, yellow kinds and tomatoes. These are vitamin suppliers and health protectors. Included should be lettuce, chard, collards, kale, Chinese cabbage, broccoli and cabbage. Then green and yellow snap beans and, of course, yellow turnips, carrots and lots of tomatoes. Chinese cabbage, kale, cabbage, collards, and kale will produce greens late in the summer and early fall.

A good garden starts with a good plan before seeds are ordered. This plan plainly marks each row of vegetables, the distance between rows and the crops to follow as each row is harvested.

Too many gardeners make only one planting. Then the garden produces little in summer and fall. Surely, we want early radishes, green onions and lettuce. But a well planned garden provides for succession sowings and plantings, especially of kinds that do not require the entire growing season.

Thus plantings of snap beans, beets, carrots, should be made so that some of these can be enjoyed all season and provide some for winter storage. When one crop is maturing another should be coming along. No part of the garden should be bare of growing vegetables. The garden planner also selects varieties which vary in the time it takes to maturity, thereby extending the season. Thus, a gardener having early leaf lettuce like Grand Rapids should also have Shobit, which does not go to seed so soon and thereby extends the season. Good planning also takes in account the quantity of any one kind a family can consume before this kind becomes over mature. So a ten-foot row of radishes, for example, is sown every week, say, for three weeks in early spring instead of one 40-foot row. The same holds true for lettuce.

All these things hold true also for farm and suburban gardens. Many of these gardeners do not supply sufficient amounts of vegetables for fresh use, storage, freezing or canning. Nor do many of our farm and suburban gardeners realize the advantage larger garden spaces gives them in growing a wide variety of vegetables. They should try to grow more kinds, thereby getting new taste thrills and extending the garden season. Besides they can produce much more for winter use.

During the war, our Victory gardeners canned about 3,500,000 quarts of food. Their gardens produced about 8,000,000 tons, 40% of our fresh vegetables. Now our Freedom gardeners can do as well. Thereby they will release other foods for shipment abroad. They won't eat so much bread and breadstuffs. They will save money, and set a better table.

Local information on the "how to do it" side of home gardening can be had from your county agricultural agent, usually located at the county seat, or from your State Agricultural Extension Service at your State agricultural college. General information may be had by writing the Office of Information, U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington 25, D. C.

BIBLE VERSE TODAY

GOD IS ANXIOUS THAT HIS CHILDREN ENJOY LIMITLESS ABUNDANCE... Ex. 16:4: Then said the Lord unto Moses, behold I will rain bread from heaven for you.

LITTLE WILL SAVE ME (From The Step Ladder) What shall tide me over When the long green days Are done... when the lush clover Is a soft white haze?

What shall keep me going Through the cold dark night With no wind blowing, And the fields in blight?

What harvest can I gather Against the promised dearth, When the marigolds wither, And frost stencils the earth?

Oh, little will save me Or help very much But the sun that you gave me In the warmth of your touch. MAE WINKLER GOODMAN.

We have said many unfriendly things about Henry Wallace, ever since he began taking pigs out of production in order to reduce the amount of bacon available for the people to eat...

From George Nelson, state chairman of the Communist Party of Florida with headquarters in Tampa, comes a denunciation of the House un-American Activities Committee which recently conducted an investigation into subversive activities in the Miami area.

We hear a lot about germ warfare, as we did after the first World War. We ever hear it said that while Russia does not have the atomic bomb, she is far advanced in the production and distribution of germs...

We were especially interested in the editorial from the Tampa Tribune last week on "Recognizing A Lottery". One of the most discouraging things in life is the number of fine people who habitually come to us asking us to violate the law about publishing notices of lotteries.

Farm Clean-Up

America's annual "farm clean-up week," designed to reduce livestock and poultry losses caused by disease, parasites and injury, has been set for this week.

"Clean up barnyards and lots. Old piles of refuse and manure are often heavily infested with parasites.

"Get rid of old strawstacks; plow under or scatter the straw. Old stacks harbor parasites and germs.

"Drain or fence-off low spots in barn lots. Stagnant pools and mud are breeding places for parasites and insects.

"Pick up nails, glass or other sharp objects which might cause cuts, or be swallowed by livestock.

"Check for protruding nails, broken stails, or other defects which could injure stock. Wounds are more than injuries; they are openings for infection.

"Move young animals to fresh, clean ground as early as possible. As further protection against disease, have pigs vaccinated against cholera, and against erysipelas where permitted by state officials and indicated by the veterinarian."

Individual farmers as well as livestock and farm organizations throughout the country are being invited to cooperate in helping make the week a success, the Foundation said.

Example At Trieste

The return of Trieste to the news has brought widespread recollection of an incident last September, immediately after ratification of the treaty with Italy.

The significant point is that the Yugoslav attempt at a coup was stopped not by force but by the mere symbol of strength.

The United States, if it is strong today, has within reach the symbol which could be used to stop international lawlessness in Europe and elsewhere.

Ten American soldiers stopped two thousand Yugoslavians at the border of the Trieste zone because there was no doubt of the fact that the ten represented the will and the strength of the United States.

If the United Nations can be given the same assurance that it represents the will and the strength of the nations which are interested in peace and morality, then it will be able to speak with the same effective authority which rested with the commander of ten American soldiers last September at Trieste.

Blind Germans

The small underground group in Germany which engineered the plot against Hitler in 1944 has few survivors, and those few are losing their grip, according to David M. Nichol.

The leader of this aggregation, Carl Friedrich Goerdeler, was executed, but his son still lives. Young Reinhard Goerdeler was imprisoned in a concentration camp, where he remained until released by American military authorities.

"The men with my father weren't fighting anything political. They weren't looking for new jobs. They were opposing something they felt was basically evil."

This young law student believes that this viewpoint is not held in present-day Germany. The people are suffering the same post-war troubles as are other Europeans, and are adopting a nostalgic attitude toward conditions under the Nazi regime.

SELECTIVE SERVICE FIRST

A majority of the Senate Armed Service Committee now accept the need for enacting at once both limited Selective Service and Universal Military Training. A substantial minority of the Senate say they favor both measures.

THE WORLD TODAY

By DEWITT MACKENZIE AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

The inter-American conference which is opening today in Bogota, Colombia, is regarded by many diplomatic observers as the most important meeting of its kind since the initial session at Washington in 1890 when the Pan-American Union was organized.

Its importance lies in two reasons: (1) The world crisis caused by the fight between Bolshevism and Democracy calls for an overhauling of hemispheric solidarity; (2) Latin America is on the move and has the urge for economic and political development.

So the 21 republics meeting in the fine old Colombian capital—a setting enriched by 400 years of history—are hopeful of making the inter-American system the strongest association of peace-loving nations. That is their hope—but it is recognized that the going may not be easy, for there are numerous controversial problems to be solved.

This conference is expected to last some six weeks, and if we needed any other indication of its importance we should have it in the fact that not only Secretary of State Marshall but Secretary of Commerce Harriman will be in attendance, and Secretary of the Treasury Snyder will be on call.

There are many subjects on the agenda, but in the main they can be summed up under three objectives:

- 1. To increase economic cooperation among the 21 nations. 2. To reorganize the 58 year old Pan-American Union as a regional branch of the United Nations. 3. To set up machinery for settling disputes among American nations.

In short, the conference is aiming at the creation of what has been described as the "Little

These trainees would not be soldiers. They could not be called upon for any sort of military service. At the end of six months they would have the option of (1) enlisting in one of the regular services, (2) or in the National Guard, (3) or of pursuing any of several prescribed college courses planned for military value.

It is hoped that in time enough would elect the regular services to fill up the ranks. Dr. Karl T. Compton thinks it would take five years to realize the full results. Certainly the regulars would get little benefit under two years.

Limited Selective Service would induct men directly into the ready forces. Only the strength and availability of these forces are likely to convey the warning that is needed to preserve peace.

Adding this up, the way to a preparedness neither too little nor too late seems clear: Enact Selective Service at once. Then enact a form of UMT which would "stockpile" as Dr. Compton terms it, training time for a sizable pool of reserves, yet carry a specified expiration date.

Events meanwhile determine whether or how long that date should be extended.

Watson To Enforce Right To Work Act

JACKSONVILLE, Mar. 30 (AP)—Attorney General J. Tom Watson brought his gubernatorial campaign last night with a reiteration of the major points of his platform.

Uppermost among the remarks he prepared for his listeners was his promise of strict enforcement of the "right to work" law. He said "the open shop is a benefit to the employe, the employer and the labor union."

The law simply makes it possible for employes to work where and when they please without any loss of pay or benefits.

J. E. Albritton, district wildlife officer of the Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission said his crew had been working in Desoto, Charlotte, Manatee and Sarasota counties and will begin rescue operations in Hendry and Lee counties this week.

STRANDED FISH

TALLAHASSEE, Mar. 30 (AP)—About 80,000 pounds of fish, stranded in southwest Florida potholes and shallows by receding high waters, have been rescued by state wildlife officers this month.

J. E. Albritton, district wildlife officer of the Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission said his crew had been working in Desoto, Charlotte, Manatee and Sarasota counties and will begin rescue operations in Hendry and Lee counties this week.

Story League Meets At Methodist Church

The Sanford Story League met last night at the Methodist Church with Mrs. F. C. Williams, president, presiding at both the social and business meetings. Plans were discussed for the story to be held at the Sanford Library.
Mrs. R. A. Cobb, program chairman for the meeting, then presented an enjoyable program. Dwight Peck was introduced by Mrs. Cobb and rendered on the organ "Starry Night" by Hobson and "Pilgrim's Chorus" by Wagner. Mrs. Victor Greene related two stories to the group, the first being "John Wayne's Letter" and the second, a humorous tale entitled "Jes' Compunctious" by William H. Frazer which was received with much laughter by the group.
Mrs. W. M. McKintion presented an appealing story, "The Story of the Rainbow" which had been told to her as a little girl by her mother. The story held many fine moral points for both children and adults. The study course was conducted by Mrs. P. R. Stephenson who gave many helpful pointers for story tellers.

It acted after Carroll E. Wilson, general manager of the Commission, emphasized what he called the urgency of meeting the "armed services" requirements for atomic weapons. Most of the new money, Wilson told the committee at a closed door session, "will be directed toward insuring the continuity of production of fissionable materials, the fabrication of these into weapons, and the conduct of research and development."
Without elaboration, Wilson said the military interest "goes far beyond atomic bombs."
He added that production facilities for weapons are being dispersed and duplicate sources for weapon parts and assemblies are being built. Hereafter they have been centered at Los Alamos, N. M.
If Wilson and David E. Lilienthal, commission chairman, told the committee how many atom bombs this country has, it didn't get into the printed record. But committee members told reporters privately they are satisfied with the Commission's progress.
The committee gave its okay to a request for $5,750,000 in cash and $4,000,000 in contracts an authority for construction of a road connecting Seward and Anchorage, in Alaska.
This is an Interior Department project. But the committee said Secretary of the Army Royal had described it as "of major importance to the planned military program in Alaska."
The U. S. Information and Recreational Exchange Program, which sponsors the "Voice of America" broadcasts to Europe, was given $3,000,000 of the $5,120,000 it asked for the remaining three months of this fiscal year.
The committee said it is not satisfied with the way the program is handled and said "a sound and effective program" of combating Soviet propaganda abroad should

Baseball Infield At High School Is Being Completed

A crew of City workers has been busy at work for the past three days laying out the infield of the Seminole High School baseball field, which should be completed this week, declared Principal Herman E. Morris this morning. A backstop will be erected.

The workers, under direction of City Engineer Ralph Lubinski, were placing the clay in the infield of the standard sized diamond. The large area is owned by the school system and was formerly planted in corn and other vegetables by the Future Farmer group.

This time, the Future Farmers of the school under direction of Kenneth Eddy, instructor, worked hard at leveling ground and mowing grass, said Mr. Morris. The County cooperated by providing the clay for the infield. County Commissioners H. B. Pope and J. F. McClelland aided in promoting the project, and John Krider and the rest of the City Commissioners gave fine cooperation, Mr. Morris revealed. He expressed much enthusiasm for the project, and said that it will be a "wonderful thing for the boys to have their own field to use at any time for games or practice." It can also be used by gym classes.

Flooring has arrived for the two 40 by 50 foot frame buildings brought to the school grounds from Pinecastle Army Air Base. These will be eventually joined together by removing side partitions in order to serve as headquarters of the High School Band. Small practice rooms will be added.

James Grant, Orlando High School junior and winner of a state wide, American Legion sponsored, oratorical contest, spoke this morning to students at the High School auditorium on the subject of "world peace." He was introduced by John Sauls, first vice-commander elect of Campbell-Lossing Post 53 of the American Legion.

Jane Whitner of SHS recently received a DAR award for her essay, "Florida Under Six Flags." This was the first prize for girls throughout Florida. Kenneth Gabriel of Jacksonville won the boys' prize.

COMMENTS from the SIDELINES

By ARTHUR DECKWITH, JR., Herald Sports Editor

Giants Farm Clubs
Welcome to Sanford. We extend this greeting to the 15 farm clubs of the New York Giants Farm System, under the supervision of Carl Hubbell, director of the Giants Farm Clubs organization.

Sanford is just a "small town" to many of the fellows here, but in our small town way, we say that we are more than glad to have each and every man on the teams, and the officials connected with the organization.

Carl Hubbell is justifiedly proud of the training site and has declared many times, "It is a great set up."

We turn the pages of time back to one sunny afternoon last fall, after John Krider, who had managed the Sanford Celery Fed entry in these Florida State League, had heard of the Giants' idea to establish a base for their farm club organization, and he learned that Carl Hubbell was in the state looking over several of the old Army and Navy air bases with the idea in mind.

John decided that he would contact Hubbell and invite him to come to Sanford to look over the property at the Sanford Municipal Airport.

Hubbell agreed to come and upon viewing the layout, decided that this was the place that he had been wishing would be available. Krider immediately went "to bat" for the Giants and their organization, completing arrangements for Hubbell to send John Lobert here to the former Sanford Naval Air Station property to build the eight diamonds, now known as a part of "Hubbell's Thirty Acres."

Upon arrival, Lobert immediately began getting his crews of men set to work. In the matter of a few days Lobert had over 30 men busily engaged in mending the sod at the Airport, and small patches of rye grass planted here and there took form, only to be recognized as eight perfectly arranged baseball fields.

Dressing rooms were constructed for the men and shower facilities were erected. Locker room spaces for 600 men were also built. The place was becoming a beehive of activity.

About this time, Charles Marian came into Sanford to start setting up "housekeeping" at the Junior Officers quarters.

Marian purchased electric stoves, ovens, refrigerators and complete kitchen equipment, suitable to feed all the men to be quartered in the building. He was also in the process of acquiring beds, mattresses and blankets for 500 beds to fill the 101 rooms of the building.

One of Marian's biggest headaches was finding a supply company to furnish towels, sheets and pillow cases for the men, however, he completed the arrangements for 10,500 towels each week, 1,000 sheets and 500 pillow cases.

Marian cleaned out the old bar which was in the building and set up a complete notions counter with cigarettes, candy, ice cream and many other articles for his "children", as he called them.

The Giants Farm Clubs Training Base was finally beginning to take shape, and it was looking like a real training camp.

By this time, Lobert had completed his work on the fields and it was the first of February.

The Giants were ready to send their baseball school to Sanford to open the camp.

Youngsters with an ambition to play baseball began to stream into Sanford, and the baseball business was on the march.

After signing over 50 players from the school, the fields received a two week rest, and he rushed the 15 farm clubs of the Giants, so here we are right back at the point from which we started.

Once again we say—WEL-

Sports Roundup by HUGH FULLEKTON, Jr.

NEW YORK Mar. 30 (AP)—The tail man with the large expanse of bare forehead and the idea behind it that Lexington, Ky., is the world's greatest place to live was Brownie Leach. . . . Brownie is supposed to be here for a vacation, which just happens to coincide with the University of Kentucky's Basketball Tournament appearances, but he can't entirely escape his job of publicizing the Kentucky Derby.

It Dates Him
The Derby date is a bit earlier than usual and that's bound to revile talk about early racing being harmful to colts. . . . It's true, Leach admits, that several Derby winners never amounted to anything afterward, but he adds that some of them were un-sound horses when they scored their great triumphs, others were retired to stud early so as to cash in on their reputations and a great many more not only won further racing fame became celebrated sires. . . . That's an important matter in the Kentucky horse-breeding country and names like Gallant Fox, War Admiral, Johnstown and Whirlaway are something to remember. . . . Last year's winner, Jet Pilot, didn't do too well in later races but will earn a lot of money in stud fees. So will Assault, which won and went on to a great four-year-old season despite his bad foot. . . . Brownie's argument is that it isn't just racing a mile and a quarter in May that causes trouble. A lot of good horses have won the futurity and then faded out; none ever has won the Derby. And some winners of the Belmont, hailed as "a true lery test" have faded as badly as the Kentucky champs.

Happy Hunch
This one Brownie doesn't guarantee because he hasn't checked it, but the entry list shows one son of Gallahadion (1940 Derby winner) named Marvin's Tip and Leach comes up with this picture of how the colt probably got his name. . . . Marvin Childs, a famous old-time trotting horse driver, was manager of Henry Knight's Farm, where Gallahadion stands. . . . The colt wasn't sent to the 1946 yearling auctions and Brownie figures his present owners (Corum and Morris) visited the farm to look over the yearlings; Childs pointed out the one he liked best and they bought it because of Marvin's tip.

Eyes of Texas
Another out-of-town visitor, Waco's Jim Tucker, tells how it, but the entry list shows one son of Red Oxon, stumbled over a heap of sweat suits as he was leaving the court one night last season. . . . The coach decided it was time to have Owen's eyes examined and he was fitted with contact lenses. . . . The first time Red stepped on the court wearing them, he looked around and remarked: "I didn't know you were supposed to see clear out to the side like this." So he went on this season to become an outstanding defensive player.

Earlier today, convention delegates heard George Googe of Atlanta, southern representative of the American Federation of Labor, and James A. Harper of West Palm Beach, Florida Federation president.

Farm Prices

(Continued from Page One) March were 115 per cent of parity, compared with 112 per cent a month earlier. Parity is a legal standard for measuring actual market prices.

Records of all candidates are being studied, he said, and "this political movement we have started has awakened the people."

$2.17; dry beans $10.90 and $8.32 per hundred pounds; apples $1.52 and $2.37 a box; grapefruit 23 cents and $2.05 a box; oranges $1.14 and $3.76.

Exchange Strike

On the floor of the exchange, members, some of their employees and workers from other Stock Exchange departments carried on clerical duties formerly performed by clerks.

They said 85 percent of the clearing was taken care of by seven o'clock last night and that things were normal today.

Demo Candidates

(Continued from Page One) Warren told Orange county voters at an Orlando rally last night that he will give citrus problems his immediate attention if he is elected.

The Jacksonville lawyer said "a few greedy men" are spoiling the market for Florida fruit by shipping immature, inedible oranges and grapefruit.

McCarty pointed to the fact that he is father of two children and "could under no circumstances use the schools as a political football."

Lewis Bows

The attorneys piled into Lewis' big car and were driven by his chauffeur to the court 25 minutes before the deadline set by federal Judge Richmond B. Keech for Lewis or his lawyers to "show cause" why he ignored the board's subpoena.

Spanish Aid

"Probably it is bad politics in Western Europe," he said. "But the way Spain would be written in would be rather innocuous, so we will go along."

Until the Foreign Affairs Committee considered the Spanish question this morning, House leaders had figured the vote could go either way.

McCarty Speech

(Continued from Page One) In citing his qualifications for governor, McCarty declared that he is the only man among the nine running for that office who has the interest of the farmers and growers "close to his heart."

He stressed the need for more adequate highways to carry the increasingly heavy traffic of Florida and termed as "vitally important" the need for farm-to-market systems of roads throughout the state.

McCarty pointed to the fact that he is father of two children and "could under no circumstances use the schools as a political football."

He said money spent on this program is "an investment in the future prosperity of the state" and assured his audience he would "do all in my power to provide teachers' salaries and other necessary expenditures for improvement."

An expanded advertising program was urged by the candidate so that "Florida may receive greater benefits as a result of what we have to offer as a home, site for new industry and as a playground both summer and winter."

He termed the sales tax as "another form of income tax" and pointed out that the state constitution prohibits a state income tax.

The State Constitution was described by the candidate as being "encumbered with more than 70 amendments" and in need of revision.

He concluded his talk with a statement that he favors increased old age assistance and gave his pledge to assist veterans with their problems.

NEWS MEN UPHELD NEWBURGH, N. Y., Mar. 30—(AP)—Jail sentences and fines imposed on two newspapermen here for refusal to disclose sources for information have been ruled illegal in a final state Supreme Court order.

The order, disclosed today, directed that the fines of $100 each be remitted.

Gruber Expresses Satisfaction With Sanford Ball Club

Skipper Says Team Is Young And Inexperienced But Willing To Learn

The Sanford Giants entry in the Florida State League is a new baseball team listed on the New York Giants Farm Clubs roster and will be operated by the Giants for the 1918 season under the direction of Manager Hal Gruber.

The new Sanford skipper has expressed satisfaction with the baseball park, the club houses and fields. "Now that we have reworked the infield I think that we have the best field in the league, and it certainly is the best I have ever seen," Gruber asserted.

The Sanford skipper is still unable to determine just who will be in the starting lineup when the Sanford nine tangles with Orlando in the season's opener in the Orange County City on the night of April 16.

The local club will not be definitely set until after Minneapolis and Jersey City make their cuts in their player rosters and then in the other Class A and Class B clubs make their trimmings.

"We are looking for some help from Knoxville and Trenton when they make their roster cuts," Gruber asserted.

Benefit Donkey Cage Game Will Be Held Tonight

Funds Go To Buy Uniforms For Local High School Band

The donkey basketball game being sponsored by the Seminole County Junior Chamber of Commerce tonight at the high school auditorium is billed as the sensation of the night. The proceeds of the game will be used for the purchase of uniforms for the Seminole High School band. The contests are scheduled to start at 8:00 o'clock.

The evening will be packed with many laughs, since all of the players are mounted on donkeys and regular basketball rules will be used except all players must throw the ball and shoot while astride the donkeys.

The donkeys to be used are Santa Fe bred burros, which have been specially trained. They will all be equipped with specially made shoes of compressed rubber, which prevents damage to the gym floor. The tops of the boots are of elk hide and fasten over the hoofs with straps.

The games will be played between the Kiwanis Club, Jaycees, Lions Club, Veterans of Foreign Wars, American Legion, Rotary and two groups of high school girls.

The high point of the comedy will be the Lady Godiva Race to be held between two teams of "ladies" who will surprise all of those who attend. This race will be the feature of the evening's entertainment, and will be run during the halvers of the games.

The object of the race will be to see which team can take a suit case filled with women's clothes, ride from one to the other of the gym floor, unpack the clothes and put them on, get back on the donkey and ride to the other end of the court, take off the clothes again and put them in the suitcase, then hand them to the team mate who repeats the performance. The first team which completes the ordeal first wins the race.

BARNEY ROSS JOINS VOLUNTEER LEGION
NEW YORK, Mar. 30 (AP)—Harney Ross, former boxing champion and Marine Corps hero, has joined the George Washington Legion, an organization of American volunteers recruited to fight for the Jewish state in the Holy Land.

The 39-year-old Ross held the lightweight, junior welterweight, and welterweight titles before serving in the Pacific area with the Marines. On Guadalcanal, he won the Silver Star and Presidential Citation for gallantry.

"It's high time something should be done for our people in Palestine," Ross said yesterday. "Jews can't hope to be at ease here if there is unrest over there. I'm ready to leave immediately if so ordered."

More than 1,000 men, mostly World War II veterans, have volunteered in the last 10 days, Maj. Samuel Weiser, commander of the Hebrew Legion in England, said. Weiser said he hoped to recruit a division of 15,000 to 20,000 men. The recruiting he added, will be accompanied by a drive to raise between $5,000,000 and $10,000,000 to buy equipment for them.

Johnny Neun Has High Hopes For Cincinnati Reds

Woes Of Last Year Are Gone As '48 Club Holds Drills

TAMPA, Mar. 30 (AP)—A year ago now the Cincinnati Reds were blue. Even their best friends were telling them that with good luck they'd probably finish in the basement of the National League. The club seemed to have gone about as far as it would go, with blowout patches covering blowout patches and the whole team rattling like shutters on a haunted house.

Johnny Vandermeer had a sore arm. Eddie Miller had not reported. Frank Baumholtz was an untried rookie. Babe Young still was with the Giants. Manager Johnny Neun still was learning the names of the players.

This year Johnny Vandermeer feels fine. Eddie Miller is gone, necessarily, and a kid named Virgil Stallcup seems to be doing okay at shortstop. Baumholtz had a good year, and now is classed as a veteran. Babe Young is very much among those present. And some youngster pitchers such as Howard Fox, Herman Wehmeier and Tommy Hughes appear good enough to stick, and win a few games.

All in all, the bleak picture of a year ago has mellowed into a rosy panorama of things to come. Not that the Reds are pennant contenders, as the league is going to be full of improved teams this year. But it seems to be a better team than the one which finished a surprising fifth last year.

A good share of the positions still are quite wide open. There is doubt, for instance, as to whether Ben Zientara or Bob Adams will be on second base most of the time. Johnny Woychik, obtained from the Phillies, is currently the center fielder, but he has competition. Hank Bauer wants to play left field, but so does Augie Galan. The very fact there is competition for positions is taken as a good omen.

Blackwell, still is hazy. Vandermeer might have a great season, but that's a question. Fox looks like a sure winner in the big time. There are veterans such as Ken Haffenberg, Everett Lively, and Al Peterson, and the perennialucky Walters, who could or could not have good years. Time alone can tell that. But, compared to a year ago, the Reds are walking on air.
