Major Battle Develops In Chinese War

Handred Thousand Chinese Troops Engaged In Attempt To Halt Japanese War Machine Bugged Down

Bank Movement Begun Because Of Resistance Found

SHANGHAI, Feb. 23.—(AP)—A major battle developed today at Linghoh in central provinces where 100,000 Chinese troops were struggling to halt a sweeping Japanese offensive along the extreme western flank of the Central China war zone.

The Japanese, stilled in their Central China campaign by a Chinese resistance along the Yangtze River, shifted their attack to the west in a flank movement, declared to affect Japanese positions near the Yangtze River.

The Japanese claimed to have struck China's air force a paralyzing blow in a great air battle over the Yangtze River, "servicing" the Japanese air force, in central provinces.

Japanese said 50 of their own planes were shot down and estimated damage inflicted on the Japanese naval command destroyed.

Chinese asserted they destroyed eight of the Japanese planes and mentioned other losses to their own fleet.

Charles Edison Tells Congress Defense Needs

Assistant Secretary Of Navy Says U. S. Should Have Parity

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—(AP)—Charles Edison, assistant secretary of the navy, told congress today that the future peace of the United States depended directly on the maintenance of a defensive force "sufficiently strong and expertly trained that other nations will not risk war with us."

Edison, before the House Naval Committee on behalf of the $1,184,000,000 naval expansion program, said he was "thoroughly and sincerely" in favor of it.

While he conceded battleships could be sunk if hit often enough in the right places, Cook asserted it would take 4750 bombers to deliver fire power equal to that of the 15 battleships the Navy now has.

Control Group Asks Prorate Of 75 Percent

Committee Requests Surplus Commodities Corporation To Buy 65 Carloads

A prorate for the coming week of 75 percent of the available supply of Florida celery was for the third consecutive week, recommended in the Secretary of Agriculture by members of the Celery Control Committee at its weekly meeting last night.

The RCC agreed to purchase 60 cars of celery during the current week, but because the program was launched late only an estimated 30 cars can be purchased.

Committee members were optimistic over the effect of the reduction in the average daily truck holding which was reported as only 100 for the current week as compared with over 200 for the prior week.

Reports at the meeting indicated that there are 800 acres of Florida celery available for shipment; quality was reported as the best in several years and yields in some sections were estimated as high as 600 cwt. per acre.

Florida Is Bright Spot Of Country, Says Frank Evans

Business conditions in the North are unusually "flickery" just at this time, said Frank Evans, chemical and dye manufacturer of Boston, Mass., who is maintaining a residence in Lake Wales, Fla.

When asked what was the cause of this condition, he said that everyone is scared to death, scared about business conditions, scared about what the government is going to do, and scared by the danger of war abroad.

Brightest spot in the nation, said Mr. Evans in Florida, unless it is Washington, D. C. which he said is having a real boom.

Flames Destroy J. C. Hall Home On Celery Avenue

Fire, fanned by a brisk wind, completely destroyed the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Hall on West Celery Avenue last night.

The fire department was called but firemen were unable to do more than keep the flames from spreading to the nearby Flowers' residence, which was smothered from the heat of the burning two-story structure.

A large amount of clothing and furniture was saved from the room home but members of the family indicated that a large amount of the furnishings had been destroyed.

Brown Shirts Angered By Schuschnigg

Fatherland Front Admits That Critical Situation Exists; Hitlerites Silent

VIENNA, Feb. 23.—(AP)—Austrian Nazis, seething with dissatisfaction, declared last night they planned a fight to the finish against Chancellor Schuschnigg and his determined stand for a free and independent Austria.

Fatherland front members of Austria's only legal party, pleased as they were by the chancellor's defiance of Nazi hopes in the German and Austria, admitted the situation was critical.

The forthright speech of Schuschnigg to parliament Thursday last led to wide conjecture that somebody or something had given him the assurance to speak so boldly of independence and freedom in the face of German support of Austria's independence.

Although Italy and Germany are linked in the Rome-Berlin axis, Mussolini has been considered generally to have a closer tie to the German side of the axis.

Lack of official German comment on the speech—which was broadcast to Germany—led some observers to maintain that German Nazis were keenly pained and surprised by the strong tone of the speech.

High Tribunal Makes Ruling On Labor Act

Sustains Board In Action Directing Bus Companies To Cease Union Recognition

Court Also Rules On Income Taxes

Holds Liquidators Of Bank Must Pay Tax On Revenue To U.S.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28.—(AP)—The Supreme Court today sustained orders of the National Labor Relations Board directing two bus companies to withdraw recognition for collective bargaining purposes from labor organizations they were alleged to have formed and dominated.

Government attorneys studied the decision closely to ascertain its effect upon what the labor board described as "company dominated" unions. The orders were directed against the Pennylvania Greyhound Lines, Inc. and the Pacific Greyhound Lines, Inc. The companies contended that when the board acted no election had been held.

Linfen Reported Captured By Japs In Central China

BEIJING, Feb. 28.—(AP)—The Japanese army drove southward through Shensi Province to the western end of the Great Central China front reported today that it had captured Linfen and driven Chinese defenders in route toward the Yellow River. Linfen has been the provincial capital since the Japanese captured it, 130 miles to the north-east, three months ago. The reported fall of Linfen indicated the Japanese had driven some 40 miles in two days since smashing the Chinese resistance center at Lingah. On route the invaders took Hsuehshien and Chaocheng in heavy fighting. Japanese reported they had killed or captured 5,000 Chinese at Hsuehshien alone. Yesterday Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's invigorated forces were reported to have broken up Japanese troop concentrations on the north bank of the Yellow River. The bombardment further slowed up the vast southwest offensive of Japanese armies against the Lanzhou railway corridor through Central China. One Chinese attack plane was said to have shot down a captive balloon from which observers were directing Japanese artillery fire near Mengzhou on the northern bank of the river, in North western Honan Province. While the balloon bombs were dropping Japanese airplanes along the river, which in Honan Province parallels the vital railway from which 100,000 Chinese have held off several divisions of Japanese both from the north and south for weeks. Last week's Chinese counterattacks virtually halted the whole offensive and in some sectors actually repelled the attackers back. Opposed forces on the north bank of the river fought a major encounter.

Summerall Stand On Canals Given Severe Shelling

Retired General Sees Ditch As Possessing No Military Value

WINTER PARK, Feb. 28.—(AP)—Taking issue with General Summerall's recent address in Mount Dora in which he stressed the military value of the cross-State canal, Avery D. Andrews, retired brigadier general of the United States Army, yesterday issued a memorandum pointing out that the General Staff, whose chief duty is to prepare for national defense, has never recommended, so far as he knew, the construction of the Florida canal as an "essential element of our national defense even during the four years when General Summerall was chief of staff."

General Andrews, a Winter Park resident, who has had a distinguished career both as soldier and business man, was in General Pershing's class at West Point and was graduated in 1888. He was a member of Pershing's staff during the World War and served as deputy director of transportation in France from November, 1917 to March, 1919, during which time he had occasion to gain first-hand knowledge of intricate transportation problems during war time. The contention that the Florida canal could not be kept open to United States shipping in case of war, the general disagrees with the assertion that "an enemy, to operate successfully in the Florida Straits, must establish and maintain important bases nearby where none now exist; not a simple matter in time of war."

General Andrews' memorandum follows the brief summary of General Summerall's address at Mount Dora on Feb. 22, a publication in the press, it appears that the distinguished soldier and World War commander stressed.

Relief Measure Is Blocked In Session

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28.—(AP)—A disagreement between the House and Senate over how relief money should be spent today jammed the Administration's $250,000,000 deficiency appropriation bill in a joint House-Senate committee. Senate conferees refused to accept a House imposed requirement for spending the money over the next four months with no provisions for meeting any new emergency that arises. Senator Adams, Colorado Democrat, said the stand of the Senate committee members meant the matter would have to be brought before the entire Senate.

Growers Seek Protection On Tariff Rates

Wheeler Instructed To Contact Solons In Behalf Of Local Celery Shippers

Whether Florida celery interests should seek a further reduction in present Canadian tariff rates was discussed by leading shippers following the adjournment of the Celery Control Committee meeting Friday night. Chairman of the meeting H. F. Wheeler of Orlando was instructed to contact Florida Senators in behalf of the shippers and ask that they protect the interests of the celery industry.

W. M. Scott, divisional manager of the American Fruit Growers Inc., made the following statement when he brought up the matter for the consideration of the other shippers present: "The State Department at Washington is negotiating a trade agreement with Canada and the Chief of the Food Staffs Division, United States Department of Commerce, has sent us various information on this subject with the suggestion that if we are interested in any of the exports or imports involved, we should file a brief, not later than Mar. 12. Then there will be a public hearing on the matter on Apr. 14."

"Under the latest trade agreement effective between Canada and the United States, effective since Jan. 1, 1936 the ad-valorem tariff rate on celery going into Canada was reduced from 30 percent to 15 percent based on the c. b. shipping point value of the celery."

"The question is, are we satisfied with the rate, or should we appeal for a further reduction, under the proposed new trade agreement? This would necessitate employing an attorney to prepare a brief; setting out further reasons why a lower rate should be put into effect. A considerable mass of data as to the amount of celery produced, the amount exported into Canada, the character of labor employed, etc. must be submitted. "In a letter from the National League of Wholesale Fruit and Vegetable Distributors, Washington, D. C. it is recommended that Florida and California join in the presentation of a brief or other information. "We have corresponded with our Los Angeles, California office as to what California is doing in this connection, and we are advised that no action has been taken yet, but that our office has suggested to the secretary of the Western Growers Protective Association, (Continued on Page Four)

Fire Chief Urges Extreme Care In Making Yard Fires

Cleveland Describes Method For Disposing Of Materials

With the advent of strong Spring breezes and a large amount of dead grass, shrubs and fallen leaves everywhere, Fire Chief Mark Cleveland today urged housekeepers in Sanford to use every precaution to burn yard trash in their yards because of the dangers of grass and brush fires and the possibility that the flames may be spread to nearby buildings. "The fire chief declared that he sympathized with home owners in their desire to keep their premises clean and neat, but pointed out that fires, even though carefully watched, sometimes spread to nearby buildings. "The best method, if it is absolutely necessary to burn material out of doors, is to make the fire in a wire basket or some other container that will keep the fire from being scattered by the wind," Chief Cleveland said. Jackson Approved By Senate Group

Judiciary Body Puts Okey On Successor Of Stanley Reed

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28.—(AP)—Hernard Baruch, the New York financier, today told a Senate committee that the government policy was more responsible for unemployment than anything else. Meanwhile the Senate Judiciary Committee approved the nomination of Robert H. Jackson to be solicitor general. Nazi Minister In Austria Refuses To Aid Uprising

GRAZ, Austria, Feb. 28.—(AP)—Fuehrer Adolf Hitler's key man in the Austrian Cabinet early today refused to aid 50,000 Austrian Nazis against 3,000 federal troops, armored cars and fighting planes rushed here to break up a reported Nazi plot to seize the city and march on Vienna. Three battalions of troops, sent to this hitherto in Styria Province adjoining the Italian and Yugoslav frontiers, set up barricades in the streets turned back thousands of pro-Nazi peasants converging on Graz from all sides. The Nazis, mobilizing 50,000 followers, were kept by the guns of Chancellor Kurt Schuschnigg's troops but appealed to Minister of Interior and Public Security Dr. Arthur von Seyns-Inquart to hurry to Graz. The answer of Seyns-Inquart was the dispatch of units of the State Police "political branch" in Graz, 85 miles south of Vienna, to augment the military forces. The Nazi Minister is expected to come to Graz late today however.

smaller countries may not be able to defend themselves in direct combat, so their only recourse is to go in on the other side, which, of course, means war just as much as any other process.

World Trade At Stake... Of course, if a big, strong country like the United States were willing to abandon its foreign commerce and withdraw any promise of protection to such of its nationals as go into business abroad, it might escape involvement. But, on the other hand, it would have to sit down quietly while all the other commercial nations took the whole of the world prestige.

We have had half a dozen major wars in our comparatively brief history as a nation, but not one of them has been attributable to an overvalued navy. On the contrary, the War of 1812, for instance, would never have come about had we been big enough and strong enough to take care of England on the seas at that remote date.

There used to be certain rules which distinguished what we call civilized warfare. These rules, and even treaties, barn up when countries find themselves engaged in a death struggle. So twenty years ago, despite the progress that the world thought it had made in the advancement of the humanities, we saw unfortified cities bombarded, civilians slain by bombs dropped from the air, peaceful merchantmen torpedoes, and poison gas established as a weapon of combat.

Naval Needs... It would be lovely if we could regard ourselves immune from war; if we could be sure that other nations, regardless of their own plans and policies, would respect the rights and protect the persons of our non-combatant citizens abroad. But history does not record any great nation that had this immunity except when it was strong enough to compel that respect. So we have always got to regard war as a possibility at least, which brings us to the very practical question of what kind of a war would cause us the least damage and the least restriction.

A big navy is expensive, but a month of actual warfare nowadays might easily cost more than the entire price of the largest navy afloat. Assuming that, through no fault of our own, we should be forced into a struggle, it would certainly be much better for us to have that war decided by a victory the other side of the seas than one off our own harbors. That is the military reply to the suggestion that we should never fight except in the emergency of invasion or other assault on our own territory. Obviously, to get this condition we have got to have a better navy than the other fellow.

The Senate Race

The United States senatorial campaign in Florida got underway in earnest last week with the opening address by Mark Wilcox in his own home town on the lower East Coast, where he admitted that he had supported practically all New Deal measures but had incurred the opposition of the Administration in his race for the Senate by opposing the Supreme Court bill.

Word comes from Dave Sholtz that he has been shelling the woods in West Florida and that he will make the opening speech of his campaign at Pensacola tomorrow night. It was at Pensacola that Sholtz made his first address in his campaign for governor, and in starting there again this time, he undoubtedly hopes that his previous sweep of the state will be duplicated.

Senator Pepper has yet to open up but he has been doing a little quiet missionary work and believes that his fences have been repaired at least sufficiently to prevent any unduly large number of votes from slipping through. He evidently is planning to let his two leading opponents have their say before making any serious efforts in his own campaign.

Incidentally the Senator is already assured of two large blocs of widely divergent voters, and apparently has the blessing of a third. There can be no doubt that the Roosevelt Administration is doing all that it can to influence the voters in Pepper's behalf. At the same time he has been endorsed by the Townsendsites, who ordinarily are not regarded as ardent New Dealers, and also has the support of Gov. Cone who does not seem to get along well with Washington either.

It would appear from this that Pepper has behind him an unbeatable combination. And yet his endorsement of the cross state canal is certain to cost him an avalanche of votes throughout south Florida. Reports from Tampa, Fort Myers and Miami indicate that even those who did not like Mark Wilcox for various political reasons will not vote for Pepper as long as he persists in making the canal an issue in this race.

They no doubt will turn to Sholtz. And while the former governor has more bitter enemies than both the other two combined, his strength even in north Florida should not be discounted. While chief executive of this state, he had an opportunity to do many people and many sections, many political favors, and some of these, particularly around Tallahassee which enjoyed something of a boom while he was in office, are not likely to forget it.

And so while it looks as if Pepper is a sure winner, the race is by no means won, and there is a long road ahead.

MAN ABOUT MANHATTAN

by GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—Here's a tinfoy wrong. You can't be too palkey in an informal rehearsal of a play walsey with Casey. You can jolly in New York. The Group theatre with him only when he lets you in getting ready to present "Casey You've got to be more in awe of Jones," and Charles Bickford is him—hang on his words. You're the star. With him are Peggy actually embarrassed by his pro-Conklin, who plays Portsmouth, his daughter; Van Hefflin, Jed, his Bickford: "Kaz, what about that pal; Charles J. Dingle, Collins, a scene where I kiss her. I'm thoryard superintendent, and perhaps a dozen others.

It is about 4 p. m. and the rehearsal is held on the stage of the Belasco. Ella Zaxan, the director, comes in and yells: "Everybody on stage, please."

Bickford, who plays the title role, comes in wearing a turn-down felt hat, a light blue shirt, a trim double-breasted coat with trousers of a slightly lighter shade. He flops down at a table, lights a cigarette, sinks chin in his hand.

Peggy has on a red sweater and a blue skirt. She is chewing gum and covering in an undertone with her dog, a Scottie, who strolls here and there about the stage. Van Hefflin takes time out to balance a pool cue on his chin. There is a pool game scene in the play and he likes the feel of that cue. Zaxan, whom everybody calls "Kaz," speaks up: "If you handle all your cues as you do that one we'll have a hit."

Zaxan is a meticulous director and doesn't hesitate to get to the bottom of things. He has a stack of notes a foot high which he has made while watching countless rehearsals and he goes over each flaw, each change, with every one individually.

Suddenly he jumps up: "I think we're landing; Casey a little too much," he says. "And that's the interior of the cab of a great locomotive. . . . It'll be authentic down to the strap attached to the whistle, which 'breaks into a scream' whenever you touch it. . . . And I have a hunch that Casey touches it. . . . This is the first time a train has been on the stage of a New York theatre since '20th Century Limited' four years ago. . . . I want to be there when she starts rolling.

Plot. . . It's about old Casey, the famous engineer, at the end of his career. . . . From watching those rails whiz by his eyes have become bad. . . . They want to put him to hauling freights, take him off a fast express. . . . But Casey doesn't want that. . . . Yet he is faithful to the road. . . . He finally decides to retire on a pension rather than lapse into the role of a "has-been."

Note: One of the scenes will be the interior of the cab of a great locomotive. . . . It'll be authentic down to the strap attached to the whistle, which "breaks into a scream" whenever you touch it. . . . And I have a hunch that Casey touches it. . . . This is the first time a train has been on the stage of a New York theatre since "20th Century Limited" four years ago. . . . I want to be there when she starts rolling.

Fire Chief Urges Extreme Care In Making Yard Fires

Particular care should be taken about a fire in or near cold drains, leaves and brush left over from last summer. The materials dry out and burn quickly, often spreading the fire out of control.

Chief Cleveland also emphasized the desirability of having a fireproof watch every fire unit. It is entirely cost-free. It is not done. It may avoid the expense. Chief Cleveland said nothing that there have been many instances where small children were burned under these circumstances, often making a game of seeing who can come the closest to the flames or taking turns jumping over or through the blaze.

In discussing spring breeches, the Fire Chief also cautioned boys on flying kites. He warned against the use of metal wire for use in flying a kite as it might come in contact with a live electrical wire and transmit the current to the boy on the ground.

He also warned youngsters of the dangers of climbing poles to get kites off electrical wires. "Boys should be taught to regard all electrical wires as live wires," he said. "If they do, they will leave them alone and will not be in danger of being badly burned or electrocuted."

Guy Lacy Named As Manager Of Sanford Entry In State League For Season Of 1933

Lacy Was Formerly With Boston Braves, New York Giants And Cleveland Indians During Extensive Ball Career

Guy Lacy, former American and National League baseball player, has been named to manage the Sanford entry in the Florida State League for the season of 1933, it was announced yesterday through a newspaper release from Americus, Ga.

The Herald sports editor this morning contacted Zinn Beck, scout of the Detroit Tigers in the American League, and learned of Lacy's baseball career. It was learned that he has been active with three major league clubs, the Boston Bees of the National League, the Cleveland Indians of the American circuit and also the New York Giants.

Lacy broke into the national pastime in 1919 when he signed to play for the Columbia, S. C., entry in the Piedmont loop under the managerial reigns of Zinn Beck. At the end of the 1919 season, Lacy looked so promising that the Boston Braves bought him from Columbia. Fred Mitchell, pilot of the Braves at that time, thought it would be best for Lacy to stay in lower ball for several more seasons. Lacy was returned to Columbia the next season.

During the Spring of 1921, he was sold by Columbia by permission of the Braves, to New Haven, Conn., of the Eastern League.

New Haven kept him during the year and in 1923 he was sold to Greenville, S. C., in the Piedmont loop. Beck was also named pilot of the Greenville outfit that season and Lacy spent another year under the guidance of present Detroit talent hunter.

Sanford entry in the Florida State League for the season of 1933, it was announced yesterday through a newspaper release from Americus, Ga.

Greenville, in 1924, sold Lacy to the Richmond club in the Virginia League. In 1925, he got his second major league break when he was bought as a second baseman by the New York Giants of the National circuit. The Giants, as did Boston, returned him to Richmond in 1926 and late in the 1926 season, Richmond sold him to the Cleveland Indians of the American League.

He spent a season with Cleveland and later returned to Richmond where he managed three years and ended his stay there by winning two pennants. Lacy in 1931, moved down to Charlotte where he managed for three seasons. Lacy was sent to Jackson, Miss., to manage for two seasons before he came to Americus last year.

Lacy led the American Cardinals last season and ended in second place. He was recommended by Beck to pilot the local entry and he signed last week to do so. Lacy is a playing manager as he holds down the first base position and he is a right-handed batsman and thrower. Lacy has won six championship flags while managing Class "B" and "D" baseball.

It was not learned when Lacy would come to Sanford to take over his duties but it is expected that he will arrive about March 15.

Apaches Back In Wampum On Finish Of 15-Year Plan

SAN CARLOS, Ariz.—(AP)—"The poorest, saddest people on earth 15 years ago; today, operators of their own $1,000,000 cattle industry."

That's the metamorphosis of the Apache Indians in the phrase of James B. Kitch, Kitch is superintendent of the reservation here and the ancestor of his charges were, half a century ago, the scourge of the Southwest.

From 1890 to 1923 the Apaches degenerated, economically and spiritually. A third of their number was on the federal ration roll, the rest floundering in dismal lethargy.

In 1918, Kitch was superintendent of the Cheyenne Sioux reservation in Wyoming. He came to the San Carlos reservation to buy cattle. This, he says, is what he found:

A vast reservation of bountiful range; while men operating seven big outfits with 45,000 head of cattle; Indians owning less than 2,000 head of cattle and those almost worthless.

Kitch says that right then he determined to start a rehabilitation movement. He says he kept at it for five years, for five years with his plan to make independent cattlemen of the Apaches. In 1923 he was made superintendent of the San Carlos reservation.

He says his first move was to pacify suspicious tribal leaders and draft with them a 15-year program to drive out the white cattlemen and set up the Indians in business. The Apaches, he found, were natural cowboys and cattlemen.

The fifteen years ended last January 1. On that day Kitch and his Indian cattlemen drove from the reservation the herds of the last white cattle outfit that had operated on the lands of the Apaches.

Castling up their accounts they found this:

Cattle sales by tribesmen amounted to $318,000 in 1932; their herds were valued at $958,000 and there were 572 individual cattle owners.

Since 1923 the tribal population increased from 2,600 to 1,000. Fifteen years ago the tribe got $80,000 a year in grazing fees; last year the revenue from cattle and earnings from federal projects approached $500,000.

The Apaches are looking forward to making 25,000 cattle grow where 23,000 grew now.

The first watches with coiled springs came into use in the 17th century.

The first European university was founded in the ninth century at Salerno for the study of medicine.

Paul Jones, the American-born, became an abolitionist in 1839 when he sailed for London to help the cause of the freed slaves.

Registration For Coming Election Set For March 7

books are in the various precincts. Mr. Thigpen pointed out that such will be of a convenience both to the persons registering and to his office, in that the 1937 Legislature in advancing the primary election dates from June to May failed to change the registration law, so that books will not now close until almost on the eve of the first primary, placing an additional amount of work on the Supervisor in getting the books in readiness for the election day.

The law requiring payment of poll taxes as a prerequisite for voting was repealed by an act of the 1937 Legislature, hence, would-be voters will not have to make a visit to the Court House to pay either their delinquent or current poll taxes before registering, the Supervisor stated.

Places for registration will be open each morning from 9:00 until 12:00 o'clock and each afternoon from 2:00 until 5:00 o'clock. Mr. Thigpen stated, with the exception of Sunday's.

The Forest City precinct, No. 12, was recently divided by the County Commissioners and precinct No. 16 was created for persons in Bear Lake vicinity.

The first primary election will be held on the first Tuesday following the first Monday in May, which is May 3, and the second primary will be held on the fourth Tuesday following the first Monday which is May 24. The general election will be held on the first Tuesday following the first Monday in November which is Nov. 6.

Goering Boasts Of Nazi Air Strength

Neighbors Warned German Planes May Be Used To Protect National Elsewhere

Tension Grows In Graz, Austria Troops Are Rushed From Vienna To Prevent Nazi Revolt

Berlin, Mar. 1.—(AP)—Germany's air field marshal, Gen. Hermann Goering intimated today that the nation's gigantic new air force may find its first use for the protection of German minorities outside the country's borders.

Bernard Haruch, Wall Street financier, and friend of President Roosevelt, yesterday told the Senate Unemployment Committee that he believes a national income of $100,000,000,000 a year can be attained only if the government changes its present policies.

WPA Boat Basin Project Receives Commission Okey

Declaring it to be one of the most needed developments in Sanford at the present time, the City Commission at their regular meeting of the City Hall last night unanimously agreed to authorize City Engineer Fred T. Williams to secure data and submit a WPA project for construction of a municipal boat basin to follow the lines of the old project.

A tentative program discussed by the City Engineer called for a total expenditure of approximately $30,000 with the City's share, approximately $15,000, to provide for the construction of 850 feet of reinforced concrete wall similar to the 125 foot wall, which is all that remains of the old basin.

The protective wall for the old basin was constructed of piling driven into the river bottom but after several years the breakwater was in such a dilapidated condition that the Commissioners order the removal of the piling. The reinforced concrete wall will replace the piling which the City Engineer declared never furnished adequate protection for boats anchoring in the basin.

During the past several weeks attempts have been made to interest yacht owners in a trip up the St. Johns River to Sanford. Several yachts have made this trip, Commissioners mentioned but because there was no protection offered their craft from the rough lake they remained in Sanford only a short while.

It was the consensus of opinion of the Commissioners that satisfactory protection must be offered yachts before their owners will be interested in visiting Sanford for any length of time. The breakwater wall will enclose approximately 5 acres and depths in the basin will vary from 8 to 20 feet thereby providing docking facilities for the largest pleasure craft that ply the river.

An entrance for craft on the east side was discussed but was eliminated because of the many access offered for water hyacinths. (Continued on Page Five)

House Navy Group Okeys 30 Million Experiment Fund

Construction Of New Navy Dirigible Is Seen As Possible

WASHINGTON, Mar. 1.—(AP)—The House Naval Committee today recommended a $30,000,000 experimental fund for the Navy. Of this sum $3,000,000 would be for the construction of a new dirigible to replace the destroyed Akron.

The committee acted during consideration of the Administration bill to authorize a $1,171,000,000 expansion of naval air forces. Chairman Vinson, Georgia Democrat, said the experimental authorization recommended would consist of a $15,000,000 appropriation and authority for the Navy to negotiate contracts for a similar amount.

He said the fund would give the navy $5,000,000 to develop small surface craft, assumably of the "mosquito fleet" type used by foreign powers, and $7,000,000 for bombs, torpedoes and other inventions. Final House approval today sent to the White House $250,000,000 emergency relief appropriation for the next four months. The House accepted the report of a joint conference committee which the senate approved yesterday.

Chautemps' Reign Is Threatened By Salary Deadlock

PARIS, Mar. 1.—(AP)—The government of Premier Camille Chautemps was threatened last night by a lightning deadlock between the Senate and the chamber of deputies over how closely the French workman's salary should be tied to the cost of living.

The life of the government was staked on reaching a compromise. But neither branch of parliament appeared willing to make concessions on the first of two bills designed to replace the arbitration law and collective contracts expiring at midnight tonight.

The principal point of difference was over a change the Senate made in the measure yesterday despite the premier's warning that such action might block agreement with the chamber of deputies and force his government to resign.

As approved by the Senate the bill authorizes an adjustment of workers' wages every six months in the event living costs increase 10 per cent. The chamber previously had passed a similar measure fixing 8 per cent as the living cost increase at which wages would be readjusted.

Chautemps' warning of a deadlock was borne out today when the chamber labor committee quickly rejected the Senate amendment, voting 15 to 2 to return the bill to its original provisions. The chamber will debate the question later. The powerful General Confederation of Labor approved the measure as passed by the chamber. It was just such a deadlock as this which brought about the fall of the Leon Blum cabinet in June, 1937. The Senate then refused to approve a financial measure passed by the chamber.

Work On Fort Mellon Park To Begin Soon

Commissioners Lease Baseball Park To Henry Watson For Five-Year Period

Declaring that work on the $33,000 WPA improvement project for Fort Mellon is scheduled to begin about Mar. 10 and that covering the seven acres included in the project with five inches of muck is one of the initial steps in the improvement of the plot, City Engineer Fred T. Williams, discussed with the City Commissioners last night the acquisition of muck for use on the park property.

No definite action was taken on the matter last night but Superintendent of Parks James Moughton and Mr. Williams were instructed to obtain tests of muck in various locations, and also to obtain prices for the 5000 yards required for the park. Commissioners negotiated a contract with Henry Watson, president of the Sanford Baseball League, leasing the Municipal Baseball Park to the City for a period of five years and for the consideration of $4,000 to be paid in installments during the playing season. The lease will be required to pay all incidental expenses in the operation of the park and will also be allowed to make any improvements.

Group insurance was further taken into consideration by the board members and D. L. Thresher, local representative of the Prudential Life Insurance Company, explained details of the policy by the firm he represents. The matter was referred to a committee composed of Commissioners Walter S. Coleman, M. J. Lodge and A. W. Lee.

City Clerk Frank S. Lamson in a report of water collections for the past year reported only $57.62 in had debts of a gross business of approximately $45,000. Charity donations of water amounted to $254.82. Hawkins County appeared before the board at their regular semi-monthly meeting and discussed the advisability of break-down insurance for the diesel engines and for the electric generators at the water plant. The matter was deferred for further consideration but it was indicated that insurance will not be taken until after the expiration of the one year guarantee of the Fairbanks Morse Company, from which the equipment was recently purchased.

Court Denies Mandamus In Flogging Case

Majority Holds Trial Judge Cannot Be Compelled To Preside Over Retrial

Judge Dewell Disqualified

Decision Opens Way For Appointment Of New Judge In Case

TALLAHASSEE, Mar. 1.—(AP)—The Supreme Court decided today that Judge Robert T. Dewell of the Polk county criminal court could not be required to continue as presiding judge in the Tampa flogging case trials. It was a four to two decision with Chief Justice W. H. Ellis and Justice Rivers Buford saying Judge Dewell should continue to preside.

The Court refused to issue a mandamus which would have compelled Judge Dewell to preside at the retrial of C. A. Brown, Sam E. Crosby, John P. Bridges, F. W. Switzer and C. W. Carlisle.

The decision said Judge Dewell properly disqualified himself when State Attorney Rex Farrow of Tampa, acting as special assistant county solicitor in Polk County filed a suggestion that the judge was prejudiced and biased against the state's case.

The flogging case was transferred from Tampa to Bartow on a change of venue asked by the defendants. The Supreme Court said the defense had no right to demand that Judge Dewell continue as presiding judge. Justice Ellis wrote the dissenting opinion for himself and Justice Buford, saying Farrow had no right to move for disqualifying the judge and presented no showing of bias or prejudice in his petition.

The court's decision opens the way for Gov. Cone to assign some other judge to preside in the case where five former policemen are charged with kidnaping Eugene F. Donohue, Paulnet, Sam Rogers and Joseph Shoemaker were abducted outside the Tampa police station on Nov. 20, 1935 and flogged. Shoemaker died later.

Criminal court judges who are eligible to appointment to preside in trials are Ben C. Willard of Miami, William J. Porter of Jacksonville, John R. Himes of Tampa, William V. Albury of Keywest, W. H. Murphy of Orlando and John L. Moore of West Palm Beach.

Gov. Cone said he would study the Court's decision before deciding upon assigning a new judge. He said, however, there would be no delay in his office in handling the matter.
