At Key West President Truman is said this afternoon to be holding him in a long conference as the deadline nears for his shadow fight against John L. Lewis. Secretary Charles Ross said no communications on the coal crisis have been sent to the White House, so far as he can learn.

However, Ross said Mr. Truman is very pleased by what he has done and is giving him full public support of his orders to prevent a walkout.

He has ordered his aides to use whatever means are available to the government to avert a strike.

The news said today it is ready to move troops in.

Governors of all states have started for brawnsome. Some congressmen are demanding a labor-management bill while others want to keep the coal miners from striking.

The southwesterly distributor of the only "powered glider" manufactured and known in the "Nelson Dragon Fly" had a hard day on the job.

The 20-year-old, Fred Wilson, was introduced to Fred Wilson, Jr., by Alexander E. Gandy, president of the Florida Power and Light Co. in Daytona Beach, who has a 77 year run. On Saturday the first play from semipermanent stage was given at the Glider Field, and the show went over the center of the forward wall for the extra "giggle."

Mainland opened the center, by kicking to Sanford Donald, Del-loring, the 11th hour, to get the ball on the ball in the Black market to Johnson. Alexander, who had announced today to Keweenaw by Roy H. Brown of the Sanford power plant, that he would not go to the Daytona Beach for the final meeting on Saturday, pending the termination of his contract with the government. The local lawyer's law office, which was the scene of the shooting, was packed up and left.

The shooting, according to police, took place in Ellerby's car which was parked near the Rose Bowl. It was reported that the dead man had been dependent over unemployment and financial troubles. (International)

BIBLE VERSE FOR TODAY

NO YOU HAVE NOT DONE ENOUGH GOOD, FORGET THE PAST AND PRESS ON: Forget-ing the things that are behind and reaching forth to those which are before.—Phil. 3:13.

Senator Byrd has offered to cooperate with the Republicans in reducing government expense. But it is the Republicans who should co-operate with him. He thought of it first.

Alabama's constitutional amendment requiring all would-be voters to be able to "read and explain"
various provisions of the Constitution of the United States was adopted in that state last week. Though ostensibly aimed at mass registration of negro voters, the amendment is not discriminatory as it would bar whites as well as blacks who cannot read. And when you stop to think about it, an intelligent vote can hardly be cast by one who cannot understand as well as read the Constitution of his country.

P. P. Campbell brings us in a copy of the Herald published in 1946. The issue contained a story of his arrival here and his new feed store; hence its survival. Interesting items included promises of government "experts" that food prices would soon go up, that the market basket which then cost $10 would cost as much as $11 or $12.
That the government experts did their job too well is indicated by an ad which quotes breakfast at Laney's for 29 cents: one egg, two strips of crisp breakfast bacon, buttered toast, apple jelly and coffee.

Before American delegates vote to abolish the veto power in the UN Security Council, they had better consider well the prospect that the day may soon come when the United States will be resorting to that veto as often as Russia is today. There are five nations represented on the Security Council. They are Britain, France, China, Russia and the United States. France voted communist last week. Britain is a socialist government now. China is in the midst of a communist revolution.
Russia is ... well, you know what Russia is as well as we do.

Both Democrats and Republicans, they say, are anxious to avoid the ills of inflation, followed as it inevitably is, by deflation and depression. But the Democrats would avoid inflation by holding prices down while government spending and wage increases put more money into the pockets of the people with which to bid prices up on the article while the fire burns underneath. The Republicans would cut government spending, reduce taxes, seek to do away with some of the pressures underneath prices. They would, in effect, take the kettle off the stove.

We see where Italy has made an urgent appeal to UNRRA for larger shipments of grain from the United States if "exceptionally grave consequences" to the Italian people are to be avoided. It seems that it was only a short time ago that German people were shooting Americans down on the beaches of Salerno and Anzio. It also seems to us that most Italians spend most of their time these days rioting in the streets and bombing foreign embassies. Would it not be reasonable for UNRRA to limit food shipments to those countries which show some repertence for the things they have done, some appreciation for what is being done for them now, and some willingness to try to solve their own problems?

At last we know who won the war. It was not the GIs shelling through the mud, or the artillery battering down the walls of Saint Lia. It was not the Navy's Hell divers, or the Army's aircrewmen,
or even the United States Marines.
It wasn't Montgomery's Desert
Hats who drove Marshal Rommel back from Egypt's desert sands, or the brave people of London and Coventry who took all the Germans had to offer and kept right on fighting. No, it was none of these. It was the Communists —Not the Russians who stopped
the Germans at Stalingrad
but the Communists of all nations.
We have it from no less an authority than Emmanuel Levin, head communist in Louisiana, who writes: "We—the Communists—won the war, and we will defeat any other coalition that tries to beat us."

Youth Enters Politics

A 19-year old war veteran, Harris Wofford, Jr., has published a book, "It's Up To Us," in which he urges youth to work for a federal world democracy. Citing the fact that veterans and young people in colleges in increasing numbers are studying politics and government, he believes young people today are searching for new ideals that "will stretch at least through the twentieth century."

He is encouraged by the adoption of a world government plank by the first convention of the American Veterans Committee. He tosses out of the window as archaic the old notions of "splendid American isolation," or Western hemisphere protection. Peace cannot be achieved by sovereign nations cooperating through diplomatic or leagues, he contends. Nothing less than a United States of the World is his aim, and that of American youth.

The future certainly belongs to the Woffords and their generation. It is to be hoped he is right in feeling politics is the interest of his contemporaries. They certainly can't make more of a batch of the world than their parents did.

Weird Words

The American vocabulary these days is functioning under a terrific strain. And so are people who use it. It seems as if something malign and terrific has happened to our beloved language. No longer is it the easy and familiar means of our business conversation and other associations, but we have come to speak and write in a more horrific and alien manner than our oldest citizens can remember.

What has happened to make us speak or write in such heathenish terms as AUWPAP, CTNIRB, ICCHWA, OCD, CCC, and so on indefinitely, while uninformed listeners or readers gape and wonder what strange speech it is, and from what language or planet it has emanated?

Really, there ought to be a law!

But anyhow, some of these weird words are going back into their holes as the alphabetical agencies disappear.

Simplicity

Hugh Walpole, University of Chicago professor, went to war recently on the use of big words, holding that so-called "Basic English" can convey most thoughts. The layman hopes lawyers will listen to this, and the doctor, too.

Technical language is necessary, of course, to express exact and specialized concepts. But one wonders if common phraseology is not often merely the indication that the idea has not been worked through to ultimate clarity.

Not only in language but in life, simplicity should be the aim. The person who has shed foggy thinking and eliminated scattered, useless activities, goes far and accomplishes much. Emerson had a phrase for it: "To be simple, is to be great." That goes for the English language, and for people.

Gordon R. Clapp To Boss Payoff
Of Tennessee Valley Dam Building

By ESCAR THOMPSON

KNOXVILLE, Tenn.—The man designated by President Truman to direct the Tennessee Valley Authority into what has been described officially as the "second phase" of its program is a mild-mannered, scholarly individual who was born in the garden Rufus Clapp literally grew up with the government's power and flood control agency. He joined it fresh out of the University of Chicago where he just won his Master of Arts degree in July, 1933. And he has been mastering the art of TVA ever since.

To the TVA official family, who know him as an expert in public administration, Clapp was a logical choice as successor to David E. Lilienthal when the latter was named by Mr. Truman as chairman of the nation's Atomic Energy Commission.

Seven Years At Helm
Clapp had been directing the administration of the sprawling agency for the last seven years as general manager and also was quite familiar with all its problems and ramifications.

The 41-year-old sandy-haired executive is described by his associates as an individual who never loses his temper.

"He never raises his voice even when he is obviously in boiling. He actually talks more precisely when he is mad," one of them declared.

Clapp chose public administration as his career immediately after graduating from Lawrence College at Appleton, Wis., in 1927. He spent five years in administrative capacities there before entering the University of Chicago for post-graduate work.

The opportunity to join TVA came after he had completed the first year of work toward a doctorate. He became an assistant to the personnel director and had much to do with assembling the agency's staff.

Clapp is one of those executives who is never through with his work. Nightly when he leaves his offices here he takes a sheep of papers to his Norris home.

Although a devoted family man—he is married and has two sons—Clapp says he doesn't have much time to devote to his wife and sons.

Once a year, however, he likes to slip off to Keeneland race track myriad lakes that dot Norris Lake for a camping trip.

Second Phase in Payoff
The Authority's "second phase," which former Chairman Lilienthal said the agency was entering, is as Clapp sees it, aimed at helping picke Tennessee Valley communities on a flourishing basis. "This second phase is less dramatic than building dams, but it is the payoff from dam building," he declared.

We have the largest and best integrated power system in the world. We must now mobilize the resources of the Tennessee river and help the people of the valley to make use of the river and its tools.

Exotic Fruit Freeze Heads Toward Market

NEW YORK, (UPI)—Exotic fruits, which formerly only the very wealthy could afford to grow for eating fresh, will soon be available to the average American, says Theodore U. Delson, head of Southland Product Company.

be between the "millionaire" fruits and the average American's is that the latter will be quick-frozen, Delson says. Research is well under way on the company's 800 acres of experimental farms in Florida in growing and quick-freezing varieties of fruits that could never be shipped fresh because they are too delicate to stand long hauls.

The Agricultural School at the University of Florida is cooperating.

An advertisement for Southern Bread. The top half features the brand name "Southern" in large, bold letters, with "BREAD MADE FRESH" underneath. Below this, the word "BREAD" is written vertically next to a small illustration of a baker's hat. The bottom half shows a stack of several white bread loaves. One loaf is prominently displayed in the foreground with the words "SWEET-FOOD KITCHEN SANDWICHES" printed on it. The overall design is clean and classic.

LEWIS CHARGED WITH COURT CONTEMPT

CIO Calls For Substantial Wage Hike.

Murray Declares CIO Is Not Threatening Strikes But Wants Clean Bargaining

ATLANTIC CITY, Nov. 21 (AP)—The CIO convention today unanimously adopted a resolution calling for substantial wage increases—but no exact figures were named.

The move came after Walter Reuther, fiery leader of the auto workers, said that the purchasing power of American worker earnings had been cut 20 percent since January, 1945. Later Reuther said he did not mean to imply that 20 percent would be the amount of the wage increase which his union will demand this winter.

CIO President Philip Murray declared that the CIO is not threatening strikes—that all it wants is what he calls decent, straight, clean, honorable collective bargaining.

Murray also denied that the CIO wage fight would agitate inflation or jeopardize American economy. He made these statements after Reuther also called for a $10,000,000 CIO common fund to back any single union in a fight for higher wages. He asserted that it was the duty of the CIO to defeat what he terms the myth that you have got to have higher prices to give higher wages. After Reuther and Murray spoke, the CIO convention unanimously adopted the resolution for substantial wage increases.

Florida Jaycee Official Praises Seminole Group

Body To Ask Commission For Permission To Paint City Zoo

Mrs. J. R. Davidson Dies This Morning At Local Hospital

Red Powell, executive secretary of the Florida Junior Chamber of Commerce and editor of the state organization's monthly newspaper, praised the Seminole County junior trade body today at the club's weekly luncheon meeting for its outstanding record and activity since its reorganization last December.

Mr. Powell said that the Seminoles Jaycees were more enthused over their program and other activities than the majority of the much larger organizations throughout the state. He told of the reputation the Sanford delegation gained at the recent conference of St. Augustine by openly expressing the result of "good constructive thinking."

The Jaycees official also stressed unselfishness in Jaycee activity, not only in Florida but throughout the United States, which was recently measured when the State Department asked the national organization to have a permanent observer at functions of the United Nations.

The Jaycees approved a motion to send their president, Jack Ratigan, before the City Commission and ask that the members of the local group be permitted to paint the Municipal Zoo if the City would furnish the required materials.

Briley Odham asked the body to extend every courtesy to welcoming winter visitors to Sanford and reported that a large number of tourists have arrived in the County.

Chinese Join U.S., Russia For Troop Reports

Delegates Tell U.N. Americans Are In Chinese Territory At China's Request

LAKE SUCCESS, Nov. 21 (AP)—The British this afternoon turned thumbs down on a Russian proposal for reports to the United Nations on the disposition of troops on foreign soil. British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin told the U.N. Assembly today that he could not accept the Soviet proposal, as is. Bevin said the plan should be amended to cover forces on domestic fronts and the whole broad picture of disarmament.

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Nov. 21 (AP)—China declared today it will go along with Russia on the proposal for reports to the United Nations on the disposition of all troops outside home borders.

In taking that stand, China also joined the United States in demanding that the figure cover domestic armed forces.

The Chinese position was stated before the U.N. Assembly political committee by delegates from Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov who yesterday indicated the failure of United States troops to leave China is a cause of anxiety.

On that matter, Koo asserted the United States troops are in his country at the specific request of his government. He said the Americans are "not interfering in internal affairs" and will be withdrawn in due course.

ATHENS, Nov. 21 (AP)—A Greek government announcement today that the battle of Skra with leftist raiders has been terminated and the commander of the victorious Third Army Corps—General Ventris—is turned to his headquarters in Saloniciki. Earlier dispatches described how the leftists had been driven across the Yugoslav border.

Meanwhile, police in Athens seized three newspapers which printed a purported Communist Party communiqué. The communiqué denied that bands of northern Greeks are receiving aid from outside the country. The newspapers were later released after removing the communiqué.

The funeral will be held Friday at 3:30 P. M. at the First Presbyterian Church in Sanford, and burial at Greenwood Cemetery in Orlando at 5:00 o'clock.

"Old Timers' Night" To Be Held By VFW

Adjutant John Sauls of Seminole County Post No. 3282 of the Veterans of Foreign Wars announced this afternoon that the organization will have an "Old Timers' Night" when the club meets next Monday evening at the Legion Hall.

Following a dinner which is to be served at 7:00 o'clock, a business meeting will be held and a complete report on the recent Fifth Army conference held in Daytona Beach will be made.

Plans will also be discussed for the next area convention to be held in Sanford in January.

Adjutant Sauls declared that all members of the club, particularly the World War I veterans, are urged to attend this meeting.

"We are attempting," Sauls added, "to get every member closely acquainted with our organization to insure a brighter future for the post."

Truman Is First United States President To Dive In Submarine

KEY WEST, Nov. 21 (AP)—President Truman made history today. He became the first president of the United States ever to take a dive in a submarine.

While the cabinet in Washington carried on his flight over the closing of the nation's soft coal mines, the vacationing president went 140 feet down into the Atlantic in a captured German submarine. He was under water a total of 44 minutes.

Among those who went on the submarine with the Chief Executive were Recreational Director John Steedman and Fleet Admiral William Burke.

Federal Attorneys Request Judge To Cite United Mine Workers Chieftain

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21 (AP)—The government won its fight this afternoon to have John L. Lewis held in contempt of court. A federal court order holding Lewis in contempt also covers the United Mine Workers Union. Both are ordered held in contempt as a result of the soft coal shutdown.

(By Associated Press)

Federal Attorney John Sonnen asked Federal Judge T. Alton Goldfarb in Washington this afternoon to cite John L. Lewis for contempt of court in connection with the coal strike.

Goldfarb refused to rule on the question in view of the fact that the miners' case had been argued before him in the Senate.
