Murray Urges CIO-Trainmen Merger Today

Labor Chieftan Says Groups Must Fight For Price Controls, & Tax Legislation

MIAMI BEACH, Oct. 10.—President Phillip Murray of the CIO charged today that this nation has a hoarded stockpile of durable and non-durable goods worth $37,000,000,000. The CIO chieftan said he believed the Commerce Department and the Civilian Production Administration should investigate the alleged goods hoarding to determine the reasons for it.

MIAMI BEACH, Oct. 10. (AP)—CIO President Phillip Murray today extended a formal invitation to the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen to join the Congress of Industrial Organizations. In an address to the convention of the independent trainmen, Murray urged them to merge forces with the CIO in a fight for price control and tax legislation to head off what he predicted would be a new depression.

The CIO chief asserted that his unions and the brotherhood long ago had recognized the value of political action. He urged that the two groups stand together against the development of a situation whereby the wage earners would be unable to buy their products.

Murray also upheld the position of the brotherhood in the railroad strike last May which ended only after President Truman proposed emergency anti-strike legislation. The President's action, he asserted, had threatened to spend $2,500,000,000 of union funds to help support the CIO's Executive in the event that Mr. Truman runs again.

Murray assailed the A. F. of L. following a fuddy-duddy leadership during the path of the CIO, and stating, "me too, wait for baby."

Sanford Citizens View Big Celestial Display Last Night

Meteors, hundreds of them, slipped southward last night through the atmosphere, and ended their careers in brief, brilliant bursts of multi-colored flame in one of the most interesting celestial fire-works displays ever seen by local residents, who stood on street corners peering upward. The meteors started flashing at about minute intervals at 10:00 o'clock last evening, as far east by astronomers, who say that the comet Giacobini-Zinner, the head of which passed by eight days ago about 24 million miles away, switched at the end of its tail which was only about 131,000 miles away or half the distance to the moon.

The meteors, of meteorites little orphans following in the wake of the comet, appeared to be heading southward for the most part. The moon did its best to outshine the meteors.

A meteorite is a meteor that has entered the earth's atmosphere and, being intensely heated by impact with the air, is partially consumed before reaching the ground. It is seen at night as a ball of fire, frequently leaving a brilliant trail of incandescent gas behind it. Some meteorites are as big as 10 times more massive than iron ones; in the latter the metal forming more than 90 percent of the mass.

Seven of the applicants propose feeder-type lines, while National Airlines is asking new steps on its already established routes.

The official Pan-American announcement said that until further clarification of the situation, all Pan-American services to middle Europe will be halted in Brussels.

The statement said that a Pan-American clipper from Prague to Vienna had been turned back yesterday by United States military orders. The killing occurred near Miller's farm southwest of Pompano. At this point Mr. Miller entered the controversy and stabbed the boy in the side with a large pocket knife.

Funeral services for young Harper were held Tuesday afternoon in the Methodist Church in Pompano and the burial was in the Pompano Cemetery.

Labor Problems To Be Discussed By F.V.C. Group

Committee Schedules Meeting For Orlando On Oct. 17 - 18

ORLANDO, Oct. 10. (AP)—Labor problems of the Florida vegetable industry will be the subject of a meeting to be held in Orlando on Oct. 17-18. The meeting has been called by Dixon Pearce of Miami, chairman of the labor committee of the Florida Vegetable Growers' Association.

According to Pearce, the purpose of the meeting is two-fold. First, to discuss the labor needs of the Florida producers for the 1947 crop season and to make plans for supplying them. Second, to act on a proposed national program for migratory workers. Foreign labor will be available to supplement domestic workers. This will be necessary, Pearce said, because growers have found that while farm and grove labor demands will be heavier this season, the potential supply of domestic migratory labor will be smaller, due to the fact that the prewar migration schedules were broken up, and the facilities for recruiting and routing domestic workers to areas where needed are inadequate.

Reports will also be made to the labor committees on the recommendations formulated recently by a national conference on migratory farm labor in Washington. The program committee of the conference unanimously proposed a plan under which the state and federal governments would cooperate with farm groups in increasing the available supply of agricultural workers. Tomato growers will also meet. As chairman of the tomato division of the F.V.C., Pearce has called a meeting of the division and of all tomato growers and shippers in the state, to begin at 1:00 P. M. Oct. 17, prior to the labor conference. The basic problems of Florida tomato growers will be the subject of the afternoon session, according to LaMonte Graw, manager of the F.V.C.

Michigan Senator Is Initial Speaker As Debate Is Opened On Romania Treaty

PARIS, Oct. 10. (AP)—Senator Arthur Vandenberg, United States delegate at the Paris Peace Conference, today voiced a determined demand for free commerce on the Danube River and for free trade throughout the Balkan countries.

The Michigan Senator was the first speaker as the debate opened on the Romanian treaty draft. He concentrated his attention on two articles which are being backed by a commission majority over objections of the Slavs.

Senator Vandenberg insisted that a "free Danube is indispensable to the economic health and peace of central Europe." Any failure to open the stream, he declared, would be a "tragic, irremediable mistake."

The Big Four, formidable calls for the final adoption of the Romanian part by the end of the day. It is the second of the five treaties which are being brought before the conference in plenary session.

The opening of the Italian treaty, which appeared early today and then was postponed, the Foreign Ministry said, was the Italian delegation's approval less than a week ago. Italian delegates returned to their seats this morning.

Police Hold Four Men In Connection With Dania Slaying

ST. AUGUSTINE, Oct. 10. (AP)—Police Capt. Virgil Stuart of St. Augustine is holding four men questioning in connection with the Dania Beach murder of Mrs. Florence Eldred, 24, last Saturday night.

One of the men, Roy Burgess, a Hialeah taxi driver is being held on a charge of driving a taxicab where he is wanted on a larceny charge, Stuart said.

The other three, according to Capt. Stuart, were riding in the taxi with Burgess and are being held at the request of Broward county authorities who are sending an extreme description of the man.

Stuart reveals that a 32 caliber pistol was found in the taxi, and from questioning it was learned that the men came from Broward county right before last Sheriff Walter P. Clark of Broward county told Stuart that a 32 caliber pistol was used in the slaying which occurred yesterday.

Wooden Shoes Adding Pinch In Timber Cut

AP N. features REGINA, Sask. — The axeblow of lumbermen now preparing for winter operations will be re-scheduled along the cobbled streets of Amst. rd. by wooden shoes to be carved from Saskatchewan poplar.

The Netherlands government's order for enough poplar to make 225,000 pairs of axots was among the flood of requests from the United States, Europe and Canada which poured into Saskatchewan in the wake of wartime scarcities that costed the annual cut of saw timber from 74,951,118 feet in 1939 to 169,544,303 in 1944.

But the shoe has begun to pinch. Moving to stop rapid depletion of forest resources, the provincial government issued orders slashing to two-thirds of a normal year's cut the amount to be cut this year.

The order followed a preliminary report of a royal commission on forests which recommended that only the annual cut of standing timber be cut each year. The experts said that at the rate lumber was cut in 1944, Saskatchewan's forests would be depleted within five years.

The need for housing, however, modified government plans to the other concessions. Resources Minister J. L. Phelps announced that new areas would be opened up with the building of roads into the forested districts.

THE LOST CORD HONOLULU — (AP) — Everyone flinched when the city-county jail replaced its wood-burning kitchen range with a modern oil burner. No longer may homeowners have old trees cut down by free prison labor.

Census Bureau Says U. S. Population Will Reach 165 Million In 1990

By ALEXANDER H. GEORGE
WASHINGTON—The Bureau of the Census figures that the population of the United States will start to decline after it reaches a peak of about 165,000,000 in 1990. The population now is estimated at 142,840,000.

This slowing down in the growth of the population is the result of a long-range decline in the birth rate. Although the war brought about a marked increase in births during the 1940s, the downward trend in the birth rate is expected to start again.

Some advocates of larger families have expressed alarm of the prospect of "a nation of old people." They have presented a gloomy picture of "a dying race," a future America of tramps, physically and economically weak and inefficient, and powerless in war.

Such Fears Discounted
Population experts, however, say no such situation is in prospect. Dr. John D. Durand, population analyst of the Census Bureau, says the age shifts will play a part in future economic developments but that "the outlook is not alarming."

He points out there may be only moderate changes in age distribution because past upward trends in the birth rate, similar to the big spurt induced by the war, may be resumed at various periods.

The population is growing older because of a slump in the death rate combined with the long-range drop in the birth rate. If these trends continue, the median age of the population is expected to increase from 20 at present to about 37 by the year 2000. Median is the age which divides the population into two equal groups, one-half older and one-half younger than the median age.

Major Age Groups
Children under 16 now comprise about 25 percent of the population. It is estimated this group will comprise about 19 percent in the year 2000. The figure was 32 percent in 1910, 28 percent in 1880 and 24 percent in 1850. At present about 7 percent of the population is 65 and over. The estimates for the year 2000 put 13 percent in this group. Back in 1850 only 3 percent were 65 or over.

Great strides in combating disease have increased the proportion of older persons. Advances in medicine and surgery, improved sanitation and nutrition, higher standards of living and the spread of health education share the credit.

Some observers believe a prolonged period of prosperity with full employment would tend to keep the birth rate from depreciating considerably. The depression '30s brought a sharp decline in marriage and birth rates. The big rise of the '40s was attributed to full employment as well as the war.

Employment the Problem
"If employment can be solved, the old age dependency problem in an older population will be comparatively simple," says Dr. DuRand.

"On the other hand, if we fall back into the economic doldrums of the '30s, the increase of people in the age group over 65 will mean an economic burden of considerable weight. An efficient and adequate system of old-age security will become more essential as the number of aged people grows."

If a third world war should break out 25 years from now, the United States would have between 28 and 29 million men in the military age group, 20 to 44 years of age. In 1940 when the draft law was enacted there were about 25,490,000 men in that group.

AND TRUMAN TERRACE?

Already there is a Roosevelt Road, a Wyoming Way and a Nevada Street.

More than 100 of the prefabricated houses being erected there are of American manufacture. It was that which gave the town council the idea of giving the streets American names.

'Blue Boy' From France Gets New Lease On Life

AP News Service
BALTIMORE—Seven-year-old Jean Michel Duval, of Souillac, France, was his life to a tanned surgeon, but in a sense also to a French newspaper clipping and a group-insurance plan to which his mother belonged.

The clipping—a five-line filler—was handed to Jean's father, M. Claude Duval, last December. It said:

"Thanks to an operation performed by the great Dr. Blalock at the Hopkins Hospital in Baltimore, U. S. A., there is now hope for blue babies. It is said that 80 percent are recovering."

Jean is now among this happy 80 percent.

While Jean was recovering rapidly under an oxygen tent at the John Hopkins Hospital—where Dr. Alfred Blalock operated on him, the boy's father remained.

Jean has been ill since he was 13 months old, but not until 1940 was the malady clearly diagnosed.

A physician, observing the child's characteristically bulging lungs, announced that Jean was a blue baby and probably would die.

Surprisingly, the Devilles waited till the war ended. Then a neighbor brought the father—who taught vocational school—the paragraph from the Toulouse paper. Duval wrote Dr. Blalock. The latter replied immediately.

Then Jean's life became a question of $1,000. The problem was solved when the boy's mother submitted the case to the mutual-aid association of officers of the navy—now nationalized—electric company in Souillac. The board voted a credit of 500,000 francs. Father and son flew to Baltimore. Mlle. Pauline Maguid de Larine, French nurse now on a government scholarship in America, became their interpreter. Duval took a room near the hospital.

Eye For An Eye The Navy Returns 8,500 Binoculars

By W. JOYNES MacFARLAN
WASHINGTON, (AP)—Uncle Sam is finishing up the job of returning binoculars to the people who "rented" them to the Navy during the war.

The Navy's Bureau of Ships hopes such a program will never again be necessary. The bureau says it believes new war-surplus capacity to manufacture precision glasses in quantity will be preserved.

Europe, and especially Germany, always heretofore led the field.

About 8,500 binoculars were "rented" to the Navy during the second World War at a price of $1. Some 20,000 sets were offered but only those which met strict standard were accepted.

More than 5,000 pairs received between 1942 and 1944 have already been processed and returned to owners. Word has gone out to the fleet to get all remaining rented glasses to Washington as fast as possible.

Many of the glasses have not been as used for the Navy's needs. It will be unable to return perhaps 2,000 pairs. Some 100 sets were found to be beyond repair. One large shipment was lost in transit during the war. Others were lost in combat. Some few evidently were appropriated by those entrusted with them.

President Truman has signed legislation to permit the secretary of the present surplus Navy to dispose of similar quality to those whose glasses were lost.

Offering of glasses reported from a gold-plated set used by Joseph Daniels, a former secretary of the Navy, to opera glasses and lognettes. Daniels' glasses were sent to the battleship Pennsylvania, saw service in the Pacific and have been returned.

One set of glasses from Jerusalem, had this message in the case: "I hereby lend these binoculars to my country, the United States of America, with the hope that they may be instrumental in blowing Germany and Japan to Hell."

The glasses were sent to Admiral William F. (Billy) Halsey.

One letter said the owner was sending in glasses which he bought in 1918 when he was commissioned in the German army.

"I shall be happy," the letter said, "to know it will be used in the defense of my new fatherland."

The Navy bought more than 300,000 pairs of binoculars during the war and began gathering up the loan glasses in 1944, but it was a slow job until last year.

Most of the glasses are accompanied by a letter prepared by the officers who used them, telling of their service. Each set is accompanied by a certificate of appreciation signed by Admiral Cochrane.

Experts Ponder Action To Curb Juvenile Crime

ADELAIDE, (AP)—The Australian polar explorer, Sir Douglas Mawson, has expressed the belief that Antarctica contains great deposits of uranium, the vital metal in atomic research.

Sir Douglas, addressing the congress of the Australian and New Zealand Association for the Advancement of Science, declared vast areas of Antarctica resembled the uranium-bearing districts of Arctic Canada. He added that the ice-free and snow-free mountains of Antarctica probably also contained great quantities of other raw materials.

Curfew Slapped On Parts Of Jerusalem

JERUSALEM, Oct. 10, (AP)—British military authorities have claimed strict house curfew in two suburbs of Jerusalem and in Jewish settlements at the border of the city following the latest outbreak of violence in the Holy Land.

Two soldiers were killed and British Jewry and other occupants of an army camp wounded last night in a new explosion.

Three hours after imposition of the curfew the British said they had discovered 84 charges of explosives, along with other arms and ammunition in private homes. No arrests were made.

MacArthur Praises Japanese Prosecutor

TOKYO, Oct. 10, (AP)—General MacArthur today praised the Japanese district prosecutor who refused to prosecute a man accused of violating the dignity of Emperor Hirohito. The Allied commander declared that the decision was a noteworthy application of the theory that all men are equal.

MacArthur's statement followed the prosecutor's refusal to press a charge against Hirohichi Kunisawa, who at the end of the war claimed that he was the real emperor and not Hirohito.

A similar charge still is on file against a Jap laborer who carried a placard which ridiculed the Emperor. The prosecutor's decision may influence the outcome of this trial, which began before the ruling was announced.

DOCTORS REACH NUERNBERG

HARD WORK NECESSARY FOR SUCCESS ON FARM

Every once in a while someone who has retired or has decided that farming will be easier than the job he is getting, rather than jolt after he has obtained his chicken farm, ranch, grove, or general farm and discovers the realities of agricultural life.

Such novices find that an agricultural enterprise just doesn't go along by itself with the owner sitting back and taking it easy. They discover that there's a great deal of hard work to farming. Chickens must be fed and watered regularly; houses and yards must be kept in good repair and cleaned frequently; crops must be grown and harvested; insect pests must be controlled; fertilized, and mowed; livestock must be fed, watered, branded, marked, culled, treated when sick, loaded, hauled, and marketed; and many other things must be done to succeed in a farming enterprise.

Some beginners in farming may succeed, while others fail and return to other work. Those who succeed forget the idea of "taking it easy" and get down to the realistic hard work on the farm.

Although agriculture is a very satisfying and profitable way of life for those who have the ability and determination to do the things that are necessary for success, it is not an easy life. Unless one is willing to work, he had better try something else.

Thousands of farmers think agriculture is the most satisfying life of all to lead, but they are also the first to admit that it is a life of hard work. For the veteran or anyone else who is thinking about going into agriculture and is willing and ready to work, to contend with the vagaries of weather and other factors, and who will make every effort to make a go of things, the "little chicken farm," citrus grove, cattle ranch, or gen-

BIBLE VERSE FOR TODAY

DO YOU SEEK PEACE? HERE IS A CERTAIN WAY OF AT-TAINING IT: Thou wilt keep him in perfect peace whose mind is stayed on thee, because he trusteth in thee.—Isaiah 26:3.

The tropical hurricane, so widely feared Monday night, turned out to be a "tempest in a teapot."

The ACT is planning to almost double its passenger train capacity this winter in order to take care of unprecedented tourist demands.

The collection of Dr. J. D. J. taxpayers' collections, at an estimated high of 99.9 percent, the highest tax collection rate reported by any county in the state. In fact, 99.9 percent is just about perfect. The almost total collection of taxes in this county is due to the efforts of Mr. J. D. J. also upon the taxpayers of Seminole County and their appreciation of the value of their property.

The government is now considering the advisability of importing beef from Argentina to complement with the meat industry of our own country. Our own cattlemen have always managed to feed the people of this country and have some left over for export to foreign lands until the government's "We planned it that way" program put a stop to it.
There is something radically wrong with government policies when the people of this country have to go to foreigners to get something to eat.

President Truman, in a message to the A. F. of L., convention had this to say: "Today, no less than in wartime, our most important need is full and sustained production. Our demonstrated capacity holds out the promise of secure abundant for America's wage and salaried workers, as well as for our farmers and business and professional people. Any group which is doing its best to do his part in obtaining that 'full and sustained production' is interfering with that 'abundance' for the American people."

Even though Florida went to a lot of trouble in preparing for the tropical hurricane which failed to materialize, they were nevertheless smart to get ready for it. An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure, especially when dealing with hurricane. There is very little a family can do about it after his roof begins to blow off, his walls cave in and the rising waters en-gulf all that is left. About nine out of ten hurricanes here get ready for in Florida never amount to much, but the one that does is apt to be a honey. They should never be taken too lightly.

The newspaper shortage is reported today as being the worst since the war began. Our editors tell us that they cannot get a contract from the Canadian mills because of the price ceilings imposed by the OPA and the much higher prices which publishers in other countries are offering for newsprint. One can hardly blame the Canadians for not selling to us when they can get twice as much for it in England. Meanwhile former sources of newsprint, Norway and Finland, have not shipped any paper to this country since the war started.
Russia got it all. The OPA this week is studying decontrol of newsprint prices and if they are allowed to pay more for it, perhaps we will be able to get something on which to print.

A new book, entitled "Education: America's Magic," written by two Iowa educators and published by the Iowa State College Press, says that Florida schools rank first among the 48 states of the union in the percentage of income set aside for educational purposes, and third in the efficient utilization of school funds.
In other words, we don't contribute as much as most other states in the schools, and such fact as we do contribute are not used as efficiently as in other states. The state apparently needs federal aid in view of its small per capita income (total state population) says this book. Yet it may be questioned if it should receive such help as it falls to provide for the schools the measure of which it is clearly able

Wages And Hours

Two things that are being much discussed lately among union labor members are the "annual wage" and the "thirty-hour week." But it seems hardly possible that leaders, whether organized or unorganized, should allow themselves to be drawn into such questionable experiments.

It must be evident, to almost anyone who thinks clearly and honestly on this subject, that short working periods are not only unnecessary in normal cases, but that a working week of only 30 hours would be likely, because of under-production, to deprive workmen in general of benefits that otherwise they might possess.

The workman is certainly "worthy of his hire," and likewise deserving of the rest that comes after labor. But obviously there are limits, in most cases, beyond which neither labor nor idleness is sensible. Just as the physical ideal of work is "a sound mind in a sound body," so the mental and social ideals are work carried far enough to provide workers, properly safeguarded, with ample facilities for their own desired activities.

The annual wage sounds reasonable. Factories which have put it into practice find that it contributes to stability and satisfaction for both labor and management.
But there are such immense difficulties attendant on putting it over in most businesses that it is likely to be a long time before it takes hold to any great extent.

Crusoe's Island

For a novel vacation trip try Robinson Crusoe's Island.
This is Juan Fernandez, 400 miles out in the Pacific from the coast of Chile. The Chilean government will build an air base there, making it an easy destination for the vaca-tioneer.

Robinson Crusoe was not a real person, but Alexander Selkirk, who inspired Daniel Defoe's story, was. Selkirk, put off a ship at his own request, spent four years and four months alone there. From the ten-line account of his experiences, told by Edward Cooke, an 18th century collector of voyage adventure tales, Defoe built up the story of Robinson Crusoe which has captured millions of readers since.

Juan Fernandez, though not inhabited before Selkirk, was a port of call for British and Dutch pirates, who left mounds and plants there for future use. Now it has a colony of about 450 people, and it is reported that they have erected tablets or markers to show the haunts of the island's most famous inhabitants, or provided guides. All that will doubtless be changed when the new air base brings along modern enterprise.

Crime

In reading of gun-men's hold-ups these days, anyone might fancy that Jesse James and his gang were newly come to life. That was the most notorious outfit of freebooters that ever plagued this country in its raw youth.
Even if most of his exploits were exaggerated, there was still plenty of "pep" in them, and blood enough to make a name that still lives.

But there may have been chivalry. In that outfit, as well as nerve. If tradition runs true, Jesse operated in the grand manner. He was bold and also generous, more like an English Robin Hood than any of our freebooters.
In comparison, he makes most of our modern stealers and killers look like rats. Which, of course, is what most of them are.

Inside WASHINGTON

Political Moves May Hit Slames Make Strong Bid
Harmony of War Probers For Friendship of U. S.

Special to Central Press

WASHINGTON—Look for temporary fireworks in the usually harmonious War Investigating Committee—from now until after election.

As a matter of campaign strategy, at least one Republican member may be expected to make moves to embarrass Chairman James Mead (D) of New York, in his New York governorship campaign. Such action also may be taken to hurt the re-election campaign of Senator Harry Kilgore (D) of West Virginia, and prominently mentioned as Mead's successor as chairman.

Moves are already in evidence. Mead's apparent inclination to postpone the inquiry by Senator Owen Brewster (R) of Maine, into the conduct of "high-ranking officers" in the occupation zone, in favor of pushing other probes, was seized upon for criticism.

Likewise, Republicans are going to fan whatever embers of discord they can find among the majority over selection of a chairman. One hears rumors that administration leaders are engaging in a "draft Mead" move to have the New Yorker retain the chairmanship and head off Kilgore—the their apparent.

But observers are noting that those rumors appear only in Republican circles. They can be marked down as political campaigning.

After the election, the committee can be depended upon to go back to its non-partisan basis and function harmoniously.

RELEAGUED SIAM recently made a desperate diplomatic move to snail United States support in its present position by inviting American capital to come in and develop its unestimated but largely untapped natural mineral resources.

Hitherto, Siam has been attached sentimentally to the United States, but financially tied to Great Britain.

Since the war, however, Siam has resented British and French efforts to take the country over along with its rich tin deposits.

Thus, by throwing open its resources to American capital, it is believed, Siam is seeking a friend in the United States with the view that her other friends have failed her.

REP. DEWEY SHORT (R) of Missouri has returned from a 32,000-mile, 40-day tour of the Far East convinced that if the United States is not to be outmanned, it should drill its diplomats in the language of the country in which they are to be stationed.

The congressman said that it was "disgraceful" that American ambassy personnel abroad have to have "native" translators for them. He declared:
"The men in our embassies in China, Japan and Russia may have a smattering of the language but when it comes to something important, they have to get a native to translate for them."

AIR-MINDED AMERICANS are bent for the Civil Aeronautics Board to grant Pan American World Airways' application for domestic routes despite bitter opposition from the lines now serving the nation.

PAA is asking for a route connecting 12 cities from which it already has authority to operate overseas flights.

All of these cities are served by other operators, but PAA contends that this fact is no argument against its application since there are many cities in which domestic airlines which operate overseas can pick up passenger and cargo volumes. All States seeking New real air service. The existence of conflict called continental lines into transoceanic flights and Pan American New York itself faced with intense competition in most of its over-water routes.

THE GREAT BEYOND

Very truly yours,
Claude Pepper

There was never any truth in the headlines of some of our rich and reactionary newspapers that there had been a split between the Democratic National Committee and me. As soon as I returned here from Senator Andrews' funeral I talked over the fall campaign plans with Chairman Hannegan and Congressman Sparkman and they then publicly announced as had been previously agreed that I would speak in various parts of the country for Democratic nominees, and that they were counting heavily on me in the campaign. Hannegan also quoted me as saying that I deem it vital to the future well-fare of our country that the people elect a Democratic Congress this fall.

that the Republican party in the party of the money crowd, the moneycrats today as it was in the days of Alexander Hamilton and they will do what able Republican Congressman of Indiana, Charles La Follette, has just done and "come over into Macedonia" and help us in the Democratic party which essentially is still the party of the people as it was in the days of Thomas Jefferson.

Safety Film Will
Be Shown At Ritz
Oct. 13th And 14th

A new Theatre of Life fact-film, "Traffic with the Devil," produced in cooperation with the Associated Press, will be shown in Sanford at the Ritz Theatre next Sunday and Monday in conjunction with the Sanford Police Department's safety program.

The film reveals that 3,000 Americans who leave their homes each morning will return injured, or not at all. This is the staggering total in human life and limb on U. S. highways today.

Using a new kind of real-life technique, in which characters, background and situations are authentic, "Traffic with the Devil" examines the nation's traffic problem which is growing at such an alarming rate that the President of the United States has called on all Americans to help combat this menace. The film shows how the solution rests squarely on the shoulders of the man behind the wheel.

House Built
On Another's
Lot In Error

AP Newswriters
BUFFALO, N. Y.—A brand new house has been standing vacant at 48 Suffolk St., Buffalo, because of a slip in title to the land. The builder thought the land was his, but it wasn't.

A year ago August Geib and his the city. Last January, with only interior plastering remaining to be done, the Geibs were informed that the city made a mistake.

Three weeks before the Geibs bought the land it had been sold to Edward Eberle.

The courts will have to rule on the mixup.

All the kids have buckled down to their school work and are soda popping at the drug store after school instead of after dinner, except on Saturday nights, of course.

W figured out a new hep-trick so that the kids can rustle-bustle both on date nights. You get one of those little watches that kind that used to sell for $1 before the war, put it on a piece of black velvet ribbon and tie it around your neck. Some of these watches come with alarms. Perfect when you want to dash down to a dull date, don't you think?

Taft Calls For End To O.P.A. Meat Control

Anderson Says Cabinet Session Fails To Produce Solution In Meat Crisis

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11. (AP)—Senator Robert Taft of Ohio today called for an end to all O.P.A. controls on meat. Taft declared: "The public prefers pork chops to price control, politics and Democratic congressmen."

The Ohio Republican issued his statement as President Truman canvassed the next problem at a cabinet meeting.

Secretary of Agriculture Anderson reported the resident Truman is now considering a revision on the meat problem. Anderson said the hour and a half cabinet session failed to result in a solution of the shortage.

The O.P.A. today removed price control from all pure silk wear, apparel and accessories made wholly from silk or pure linen.

An official explains that the action was taken to protect from loss those manufacturers who bought raw silk or linen while prices were uncontrolled, and then were forced to sell their products under ceiling prices.

Price ceilings also were removed from domestic green vines, and Camp Fire Girl uniforms.

Smuts Advocates New Method For European Peace

Regional Grouping Of Nations Urged By Prime Minister

THE HAGUE, Oct. 11. (AP)—South Africa's prime minister, Jan Christian Smuts, today strongly advocated the regional grouping of European nations as a powerful weapon for peace.

The one-time field marshal made his recommendation before the Dutch Parliament today. Smuts proposed that the European states join hands now in an economic council as a step toward the formation of a political council of Europe.

The Prime Minister referred to Winston Churchill's recommendation of a United States of Europe based upon a reconciliation of France and Germany. Then he expressed the fear that such a reconciliation might take too long. Europe's case is too urgent for that, he added. Smuts declared that Europe's small nations should act now or take the risk of being forced to attach themselves as satellites to some great power.

By ARTHUR BECKWITH, JR., Herald Sports Editor

An alert, hard charging Seminole High School machine, led by fullback Willis Anderson, trounced a stubborn DeLand team here last night by a 27 to 19 margin. DeLand, flashing a sparkling aerial attack, was unable to keep pace with the powerful ground offense of the Feds as the locals gained 275 yards by rushing, Anderson picked up 107, Holly Piercy 83 and Jan Jenkinson 29.

DeLand went to the air nine times, completing five passes, two of which were good for touchdowns. DeLand gained 12 first downs by rushing and three in the air while Sanford netted eight, all on the ground.

Sanford opened the tilt by kicking off to the Bulldogs who immediately sent Charlie Beatty skimming the ends. On the fourth play of the game Beatty fumbled and a host of Feds recovered on the 26. Piercy, Anderson and Jenkinson moved the sphere to the 20, Anderson skirted his own left end for 19 to place the ball on the six yard stripe.

Anderson later went over left tackle for the first Sanford touchdown and made the extra point from placement.

The Bulldogs came back in the second period to score as Armstrong and Beatty moved the ball to the Sanford 22. Armstrong, in deep punt formation heaved a pass to McInnis who campered across the twinning for the touchdown. The try for the conversion was no good.

The Feds kicked to DeLand but the Bulldog offensive bogged down on the Sanford 18. Seminole moved the ball to the Bulldogs 49 yard stripe and Anderson, on an off tackle sweep, picked up 46 yards to place the sphere on the four-yard stripe. On the next play the big Fed fullback ploughed across the goal with half of the Bulldog line hanging to his jersey. He then kicked the extra point.

DeLand opened with their passing attack again in the third stanza to move to the Sanford 37 yard and Armstrong moved the ball to the Sanford seven where Borgh went over. The try for the extra point was no good.

An exchange of punts found Sanford on their own 46. Jenkinson picked up five to place the ball on the middle stripe. Anderson, on the next play, picked up six, then took off on a 44-yard jaunt for a touchdown. Anderson converted from placement.

The Bulldog passing attack began clicking again and, with the ball resting on their own 48, Borgh passed to McLaughlin for 27 yards and a touchdown. Armstrong passed to Nix for the conversion.

In the dying moments of the game Anderson and Piercy moved the ball to the Sanford 34 and on a reverse from Anderson to Piercy the Best Sanford left half scampered 66 yards for the final touchdown. Sanford's attempt for conversion was no good.

The number of motor vehicles miles driven in 1941 was equal to 1,797 round trips to the sun plus 270 round trips to the moon.

Thirteen men in all were convicted by the court's decision and were given sentences from six months to death. Three were executed.
