As McCoy takes over in Orlando, Chief Tooley promotes captain

SANFORD — A 23-year veteran of the Sanford Police Department has been promoted to the agency's No. 2 position.

Chief Brian Tooley announced Thursday that Capt. Darrel Presley will serve as deputy chief beginning Tuesday, Oct. 1. Presley replaces Mike McCoy, who is leaving the Sanford force to become the chief of the Orlando Police Department.

"I have a lot of confidence in Darrel and know he will do an outstanding job as deputy chief," Tooley said. "He is a great example of an officer who continually pushed himself to get better and worked his way up the ladder."

Presley joined the department in October 1979 after a 6-year tour of duty as a military policeman in the U.S. Air Force. He began as a patrol officer and served in numerous positions throughout the department. Presley said his varied background will serve him well as deputy chief.

"I've worked different jobs in the department and those experiences give me a better understanding of what our officers face in the field," Presley said. "Half of the officers on the force have been with the department less than three years. I've grown up in this department, so I think my strength will be sharing my experiences with our officers so they can perform at their best. I know what it's like to work a beat and deal with the everyday issues these guys face on the front lines."

Presley said the biggest challenge his new job presents is maintaining the departments

Shots fired during Longwood drug sting

From Staff Reports

The Seminole County Sheriff's Office and Sanford Police Department are conducting an administrative review of an incident Wednesday night. It involves four shots fired by a City/County Investigative Bureau (CCIB) agent, who is a Sanford police officer.

CCIB agents were conducting a reverse drug sting Wednesday night at the intersection of Wildmere Avenue and East Street in Longwood. At 10:29 p.m., a car, operated by George Sandland, 21, of Longwood, stopped to buy crack-cocaine from the undercover agent positioned at the intersection.

Inside the vehicle was Mr. Sandland's wife, Amber Leigh Sandland, 19. Their home address was listed as Skidder Court, Longwood.

Before the drug deal could be completed, Sandland reportedly ripped off the agent of the purported drugs. Other agents, positioned for the takedown, responded. They managed to block Sandland's car. Sandland proceeded to ram a CCIB agent's pick-up, parked in front of him, and a fire hydrant behind him, in an attempt to get away.

During the ramming incident, agents attempted to get the driver to stop by breaking the car's windows so they could reach the keys in the ignition. The move didn't work and Sandland kept going back and forth. As the driver managed to get his car out of being boxed in, the CCIB agent, Larry Blancett, fired four rounds into the right rear tire of the car.

According to the arrest report, an officer had reached into the vehicle attempting to get the

Three promoted to position of division chief

On Friday, officials with Seminole County

EMS/Fire/Rescue announced the promotion of three employees from the rank of Battalion Chiefs to Division Chief. The three new Division Chiefs are Robert E. Carter, Norman L. Miller and Terry Winn.

Carter began his employment with Seminole County EMS/Fire/Rescue on May 21, 1979. He was promoted to the rank of lieutenant in December 1981, and to battalion chief in October 1986. He is a graduate of the National Fire Academy's Executive Fire Officer Program and has a bachelor's degree in business administration.

Miller started his fire service career in Anchorage, Alaska, in 1971. He began his employment with Seminole County

Orlando firm selected to lead center's construction

From Staff Reports

The Seminole County Commission has selected first and second choice among ten companies seeking to represent the county in the construction of the Seminole County Convention Center.

In July, the commission had directed the staff to rank the ten and present the ranking to the commission.

Ray Hooper, with Fiscal Services Purchasing and Contracts Division, said the firm selected would assist in the implementation of design, scheduling and value engineering, provide professional construction, management services during the design and construction of the projects, and oversee the actual construction.

Five officials were selected to handle the evaluation, ranking

FDOT plans workshop for SR-46 bridge

From Staff Reports

The Florida Department of Transportation (FDOT) will hold a public information workshop on the proposed replacement of the SR-46 Lake Jesup Bridge, east of Sanford, at the edge of Seminole and Volusia Counties.

The workshop will be held Tuesday, Oct. 15, from 6 until 8 p.m. at the Sanford Civic Center, 401 East Seminole Boulevard.

The purpose of the project is to replace the currently deficient bridge with a new two-lane (one in each direction) bridge structure on a parallel alignment that meets current design criteria.

The bridge replacement study includes elevating four bridge alternatives.

Aerial maps of the bridge replacement alternatives and other project information will be on display, and FDOT representatives will be available during the workshop to informally discuss the project and answer questions.

Residents are encouraged to come and review this transportation improvement proposal.

Thousands of people will help Sanford celebrate first 125 years

SANFORD — Thousands of people will help celebrate Sanford's 125th birthday during this weekend's Heritage Festival.

Previously held in November, this year's festival was planned for the last weekend in September to coincide with the anniversary of Sanford's incorporation. The three-day event, held in downtown Sanford along Park Avenue and First Street, will include everything from a Bahamian Market Place to fireworks on the lakefront.

Saturday's highlights include the first Sanford Heritage Festival Fine Art, Craft, Antique and Collectible Show. More than 100 artisans from throughout Central Florida will be bringing their wares to town from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. No festival ticket is necessary to attend the show, and admission is free.

Later in the evening, a fireworks show will be held in honor of Sanford's big day. The Coding Edge President Jim McCuen and Vice President Sharon Morikone are sponsoring the spectacular display, which begins at 9 p.m. and will be launched from Memorial Park behind the Bill Heard Chevrolet Stage. According to Heritage Festival Coordinator Ron Rose, the best vantage point for the show will be along Park Avenue in front of the Seminole County Courthouse — right in the center of festival activities.

Saturday's feature concert begins at 7:30 p.m., when Brian Howe, former lead singer for Bad Company, takes the stage. Long established as one of rock's greatest voices, songwriters and performers, Howe will perform many of his hit songs, including "Holy Water," "Bad Company," "Ready For Love," and "If You Needed Somebody." A second show will begin at 9:30 p.m.

Various other entertainers will perform throughout the day, including Phaze 3, The Rogues and cast members from Wekiva River Players production of "Oliver."

For wrestling fans, MFW Pro Wrestling is coming to the center ring — the Bill Heard Chevrolet Stage — Saturday, with the starting bell ringing at 3 p.m., 3:30 p.m., 4 p.m. and 4:30 p.m. Sanford's own Mad Dog will make an appearance.

Sunday is Family Day at the festival, with gates opening at noon. With a coupon, available at Sanford's Wal-Mart Supercenter and many other area merchants, people can ride as many amusement rides as they can from noon to 4 p.m. for only $10. The midway features rides for all ages, including the ferris wheel to the merry-go-round.

Sunday's feature concert will spotlight Orlando's own Triple Image, a rhythmic pop group that includes identical twins Bridgett and Brittney, age 13, and younger sister,

SEMINOLE SUMMARY

A GLANCE AROUND OUR COUNTY

Things that make you think: Don't know what's up with the Orlando daily paper, but their recent story about Seminole County Commissioner Randy Morris raises some interesting questions.

The OS made a big deal about a land development deal Morris is involved with that required county approval. Plenty of opportunity for conflicts, which the paper pointed out.

Just a couple of weeks prior to running the article, the OS gave Morris a glowing endorsement for the Sept. 10 Republican primary. Last spring, Morris was mentioned positively in a series of articles the paper did regarding leadership in Central Florida.

That's not to say the OS — or the Herald or any other media — is wrong to do stories that praise and stories that question our leaders. What's curious is the timing of the conflict-of-interest article, just after the election. Morris's primary opponent, Bill Daniel, pounded Morris repeatedly in direct mail pieces about the very same issue. Daniel beat that drum so hard his campaign slogan should have been "Randy's a crook."

What appears to have peaked the OS's curiosity is a violation of the Sunshine Law. Morris talked with fellow commissioner Grant Malloy about the land project last spring. Both claim the phone conversation was brief, but no matter, Florida's Sunshine Law bars such phone calls. Neither will face substantial, if any, penalties.

My question is this: who dropped the dime? Unless there were others in the room, Morris and Malloy were the only ones aware that a conversation took place. Furthermore, violating that aspect of the sunshine law is like pregnancy: you can't do it by yourself. If Morris is guilty, so's Malloy.

Word Around The Clock is Malloy was the source for the OS story on Morris. Ditto for a story two months ago on Seminole County Tax Collector Ray Valdes. Speculation is Malloy may be eyeing a higher office in 2004. A strong supporter of term limits, Malloy may be looking for a way to keep his term-limit pledge but still feed at the public trough.

Pie-in-the sky? Yet another condo project is being floated for Lake Monroe, this adjacent to The Seminole Herald property to the north.

What are the chances those buildings on the drawings will become buildings on the ground? Not high if you consider the track record of the principals behind the current proposal.

Mehub Manji of QG Investments has had plans to build a medical office park, Lexington Park, just east of Central Florida Regional Hospital on State Road 46. He's also the man behind the condo proposal. Judging from the progress he has made on Lexington Park, I'm betting it will be some time before I'm able to occupy one of Mr. Manji's condos.

Furthermore, the letter Sid Vihlen Jr., who represents Manji, sent to the city came just a couple of days after Sanford Mayor Brady Lessard publicly suggested the city sell the crumbling Police Benevolent Association building and property to fund shortfalls in the Sanford Riverwalk. Lessard mentioned the property might sell for $200,000 to $300,000, and what do you know, Vihlen offers a non-refundable $200,000 to begin negotiating with the city for the PBA property and the city's Public Works complex. City Manager Tony VanDerworp has supposedly been working with Vihlen and Manji for many months.

Word Around The Clock is Lessard is pushing to put the property up for auction to the highest bidder.

Happy Birthday

It's Sanford's 125th birthday Sunday, and people are celebrating in various ways. Thousands are expected to attend this weekend's Heritage Festival, which is being held in conjunction with Sanford's celebration.

Crimes at Churches

Seminole County Sheriff's investigators are seeking the person or persons who threw a rock through a window of First Baptist Church of Tuskawilla in Winter Park sometime between Wednesday night and Thursday morning. The rock was located on the floor of the sanctuary with messages written in black marker on each side. One side of the rock said, "Smile Satan Loves Christians". The other side of the rock said "Your God is dead he was nailed to a cross." No other criminal mischief was reported in the church area. Thursday. When located, charges against the perpetrator are expected to be damage to property/criminal mischief to a church, and hate crimes/criminal acts based on religion.

Jimmy Duval Snell, 37, listed as homeless in Sanford, was arrested by Sanford police Wednesday. An individual at First Methodist Church on Park Avenue in Sanford, told police he saw Snell break into the church and take $47 worth of tools from a storage area. The man said when Snell saw him watching, he put the tools back and fled from the area. Sanford police subsequently located Snell at 4th Street and Laurel Avenue and arrested him on a charge of petty

Stolen Vehicles
Don Michael Seefried, 33 of Deltona, was found by deputies sleeping in a vehicle in the Interstate-4 rest area near Longwood early Friday. A check of the vehicle and its license number revealed both had been reported stolen in Orlando. Seefried was charged with grand theft of a motor vehicle and petty theft of a Florida license tag.

Anthony Richard Sierra, 19, of Valrico, Florida, was found sleeping in a vehicle Thursday in Steeplechase Circle. The vehicle had been reportedly stolen from a Sanford woman. Sierra was arrested on charges of grand theft motor vehicle and possession of drug paraphernalia.

Traffic Stops
George Francis Reilly, 59, of New Smyrna Beach, was arrested by Sanford police Wednesday after his vehicle was stopped on Orlando Drive near Lake Mary Blvd. He was charged with driving under the influence (DUI) of alcohol/drugs.

Raymond Norris, 45, of East 9th Street, Sanford, was stopped on his bike by sheriff's deputies at 9th Street and Orange Avenue Wednesday. He was charged with possession of cocaine, tampering/destroying evidence, and resisting an officer without violence.

Robert John Kearney, 33, of Santa Barbara Drive, Sanford, was stopped by Sanford police early Friday at 15th Street and French Avenue. He was charged with DUI alcohol/drugs.

Bryan James Stow, 42, of Deltona, was located by Florida Highway Patrol troopers Thursday as the result of an accident at the intersection of CR-415 and SR-46, east of Sanford. He was charged with DUI.

Domestic
Crystal Renee Taylor, 20, of Memory Court, Sanford, was arrested by sheriff's deputies Wednesday as the result of an altercation with a female at her residence. She was charged with battery, domestic violence.

Sanford Cops & Lobsters tops in Orlando area

The Red Lobster at 20 Town Center Circle in Sanford was the top fundraising restaurant in the Orlando area during this year's Cops & Lobsters event.

The Sanford business raised $3,128 during the annual fund-raiser for Special Olympics.

During the restaurant company's annual Cops & Lobsters program, police officers and sheriff's deputies in the Orlando area assisted Red Lobster servers during lunch and dinner, raising $20,430 in "tips" for Special Olympics. Law enforcement officers in the Orlando area raised the ninth most money of any other metropolitan area in the nation.

Cops & Lobsters, which just completed its eighth year, generated $1.2 million nationwide for the third consecutive year, bringing the total raised for Special Olympics to more than $7 million since 1995.

Other top fund-raising cities during the 2002 Cops & Lobsters campaign were Los Angeles, $49,996; Washington D.C., $42,365; Atlanta, $29,887; Tampa/St. Petersburg, $27,793; Philadelphia, $26,382; Chicago, $23,718; Detroit, $23,367; Minneapolis/St. Paul, $23,053; and Waco, Texas, $20,371.

During the annual fund-raiser, which took place at more than 600 Red Lobster restaurants this spring, thousands of uniformed law enforcement officers waited on tables at the seafood restaurants and donated their "tips" to Special Olympics.

Special Olympics is an international year-round program of sports training and competition for individuals with mental retardation. More than 1 million athletes in more than 150 countries train and compete in 26 Olympic-type summer and winter sports.

Our View

125 and counting

Sunday marks the 125th anniversary of the incorporation of the city of Sanford. That's quite an accomplishment though our in-state sister city to the north might scoff a bit. St. Augustine, the oldest city in America, outranks us when it comes to age, but 125 ain't so shabby.

During that century and one-quarter, Sanford has experienced the rise and fall of citrus, celery and railroads. The Navy base has come and gone, replaced today by a thriving international airport.

During the next year, take time to enjoy some of the festivities as Sanford and her residents celebrate an important milestone. This celebration also provides an excellent opportunity learn more about the city we live. Sanford is blessed with three outstanding museums that offer a treasure trove of information: the Sanford Museum, the Seminole County Museum and the Student Museum in the old Grammar School facility. Each presents a unique learning experience for those new to Sanford as well as those whose families have called Sanford home for generations.

Better yet, find an old-timer and get him or her to tell you some stories about Sanford. Charlie Carlson, Grace Marie Stinecpher, Douglas Stenstrom and Christine Kinlaw-Best, to name a few, can spin yarn so well it makes you wonder why we ever gave up those front porch "bull sessions" in favor of television.

What do the next 125 years hold in store for Sanford? Hard to say, but if they're anything like the first 125, it will be a magnificent ride.

Regulations help make cities beautiful

The headline in the top story of the Sept. 25 Seminole Herald said, "City Commissioners agreed to stricter regulations for new used-car dealers coming into Sanford." I am not going to give my opinion on this as I don't know all of the details. Let's just discuss the phrase "stricter regulations."

Nick Pfelfauf

Have you ever noticed how some areas just don't appeal to you when driving around Central Florida, the state, and elsewhere in the nation. Apparently, some cities and counties either have no zoning regulations, or don't bother to enforce the ones they do have. One would think it would be required, but I can't see how this could be judging from some areas I've seen.

I won't focus on any particular area here in Central Florida, but you can easily recognize areas where there apparently is no zoning. People appear to be allowed to build or make changes in certain areas without permission, and (in my opinion) without even using common sense.

While many governments have a "grandfather clause" that prevents changes to pre-existing structures, at times, this, nevertheless, causes an eyesore to passers by or neighbors. There are areas where one-third of the structures are broken down and abandoned, one-third are old mobile homes with broken down cars and other junk in the yard, and the rest are relatively newer homes, owned by people who try to take care of their property, keep lawns mowed and junk out of their yards. But the rest of the area makes their hard work seem useless.

With proper zoning restrictions and enforcement, these old structures would be allowed to or forced to be torn down, and the overall area cleaned up. I've seen Sanford call for some structures to be torn down. If the owner doesn't do it, the city does it, and places a lien on the property to recoup the cost of the demolition.

Of course you can't just take a person's property and order it to be destroyed, but if there were limits on how long a structure may remain in deplorable condition and/or abandoned, this could probably be accomplished.

New cities have it made in regard to Planning and Zoning. Take Celebration for example. It's entirely new, and before the first land was cleared and the first structure started, there were restrictions in place. Yes, they are very severe, but you can bet, two or three decades down the road (unless something drastic happens), Celebration will remain a beautiful city.

It's too bad some of the older cities can't start all over again, but that's life.

Until then, we must give praise to areas where restrictions are not only maintained but enforced.

Just a few weeks ago, driving through a certain community, I told my wife, "You can easily see that this town needs a planning and zoning department. It's a mess. Who would want to live here?"

We shouldn't want anyone to say that about our communities.

Officer Camargo appreciated for show of support

To the editor

My name is Ivy Jordan and I work for Ross Dress for Less stores as a District Loss Prevention Investigator. I currently have 13 stores in the Central Florida area. One of my stores is located in Sanford at the Seminole Towne Center Plaza. This particular store has experienced quite a bit of shortage due to constant shoplifting. Since Ross only employs a few LP detectives, the store has little to no coverage.

Officer Danny Camargo has been a great help to the company. He has frequented this particular store on many occasions. He takes the time to talk to management, who feel very comfortable with him and are grateful for his presence. He seems to genuinely care about their well being and makes it a point to be as visible as possible. As a result of Officer Camargo's frequent visibility, the bad element has almost disappeared. We really appreciate Officer Camargo's efforts and show of support. He is a fine example of what a Law Enforcement Officer should be.

Thank you

Heritage thanks Officer Rivera for job well done

To Chief Brian Tooley, Sanford Police Department

I wish to commend a member of your Department for exemplary police work. Officer P. Rivera was involved in a case regarding perceived violations of Section 812.155(3).

As a 55 year old former Deputy, I know how easy it can sometimes be to place into low priority a situation which does not include violence or imminent threat thereof. From what the Division Legal Affairs Coordinator John Koblatz and store personnel told me, your officer not only did his job, but he did it exceptionally. The net result was a new awareness as to the quality and caliber of your sworn officers.

In my four years with Bi-Rite Co., Inc., an ongoing problem with Law Enforcement has been a nagging issue, i.e., law enforcement perceiving thefts, pawing, disposing, or concealment of our property to be civil, not criminal. In July, 2001, Governor Bush signed an amendment to Sec. 812.155 FS, authored by me and co-sponsored by Senator Victor Christ and Congressman Skip Baxley, simplifying, primarily as an aid to Law Enforcement, a Statute designed specifically for rental property crimes. With this amendment, law enforcement is no longer burdened with decision making as to "is it 812.014 or 818.01/818.03/818.05?"

Thank you, Chief Tooley, for the training given your officer. Thanks to Officer Rivera for his professionalism and swift resolution of this matter. He is a credit to your Department.

Officer Kelly commended for recent donation

To Brian Tooley
Sanford Chief of Police

Dear Chief Tooley
My name is John Dybed and I am the Program Director of the Girls and Boys Town Emergency Adolescent Shelter here in Sanford. I am writing to you today to express my personal gratitude for the exemplary actions continually displayed by one of the officers under your command, Officer Shawn Kelly.

Many times, Officer Kelly has been called out to this shelter for various reasons and he, as well as every single officer from your department, has always demonstrated the highest level of professionalism, competence and personal respect. Officer Kelly goes above and beyond that, though. Yesterday, after responding to an alarm call, some of the boys were talking to officer Kelly about what they like to do around the shelter. I was so impressed that he took those moments to talk to these youth about their everyday life. So many of these young people are either terrified of police officers or have a great dislike for them based on their experiences in the past. Officer Kelly gives many of them the first opportunity in their life to see a police officer as a positive entity, as someone who genuinely cares about them.

Also, while he was talking to these boys last night, they mentioned that their Playstation was broken. This morning when I walked in the door, the only thing any youth was talking about was the fact that Officer Kelly had come over and dropped a new Playstation off for them.

Chief Tooley, this type of dedication to these young people is a clear indication that there is something right in the Sanford Police Department. By investing in these young people and sharing in their lives, Officer Kelly helps to make it more likely that they will run to and with the police rather than at or against the police. This helps to give these kids a chance at a healthy life in their communities and this enriches us all.

I have enclosed letters written by some of the boys which I wanted you to see but would so greatly appreciate if you would pass on to Officer Kelly. One of them was written by a 16-year old boy who cannot spell at all. It took him a significant amount of time to write even one sentence, but he did it because he wanted to.

Thank you for your leadership in this community which is clearly evidence by the high caliber of your officers. I look forward to our continued relationship as we serve the youth and families of our community.

D. John Dyben

(Youth's letters as follows)

Dear Mr. Kelly
I thank you for buying us that Playstation because our Playstation broken broken but not the Playstation is broken but the Playstation cord is broken but you said that you can't find a Playstation cord so you bought us a new Playstation, and a Playstation cord was in it and if we lose a Playstation will have another Playstation to play with.

Love, Devon Johnson

Dear Officer Kelly
Thank you for bringing a Playstation.

Thanks, from Charlie Smith

Dear Officer Kelly
Thanks a lot for the Playstation. You really didn't have to buy the whole thing. This world needs more cops like you. I usually am not very comfortable around cops, but you're OK. I really don't like cops so I feel really weird writing this letter. But like I said you're pretty cool. You don't know how much you buying a Playstation means to us. You showed us how much you cared about kids. Just for that you will always have full respect from me.

Your friend, Ezequel Annyoy

Former resident not happy about city's decision

To the editor:

Commissioner Art Woodruff, although no longer a residing member in the City of Sanford, I am a property owner of several properties and therefore have a concern for what takes place in the City. Last night at the City Commission meeting I was extremely disappointed that the City Commissioners allowed a 90 day extension for the AOK Tire store on 17-92 along with several other properties.

Ma. Teto, you all but assured me verbally that extensions are not granted in cases of such extreme dilapidation as that at the AOK Tire store. As I feared, you were mistaken and I am taking this opportunity to say "I told you so".

Mr. Woodruff, the commissioners seem to take "staff recommendations" seriously in most city matters but when it comes to the Code Enforcement department it is apparent that the whims of the commissioners rules. I would submit that in most cases of extensions to demolition that emotion rules as well. Mr. Woodruff, demolition is not a "dirty" word when used for the removal of structures that are unsafe, a health hazard or that allow unlawful activity to take place in and around them. Several structures were given extensions to demolition last night at the commission meeting that should not have been allowed to remain standing one day longer. The Mayor admitted that one structure that appears to have historic significance from the outside, but in fact, has been torched and has no salvageable worth.

While a resident for the past 2 1/2 years, I have heard many of my neighbors give voice to their concern with the Code Enforcement portion of the City not doing a good job. Neighbors, from what I observed last night (and on other occasions), the problem with Code Enforcement in the City of Sanford is not just with the department given the task to make recommendations but with the commission given the task to protect the safety of the people of Sanford. Since I am no longer a voting member of the community, I would challenge those that remain to vote wisely when elections roll around again.

Sincerely
Monarcha Marcell

The Herald asks people what they think ...

Eradicated from nature more than 20 years ago, the U.S. government is now worried small pox may be used as a bioterror agent. Recent discussion has focused on offering the small pox vaccine to every American. However, the vaccine carries rare but serious risks, including death, complicating any decision to inoculate the entire population. We asked people if they would get the vaccine, if offered. I received the vaccine when I was a very small child. I travel a great deal, and received the vaccine at least four times until, wrongly, they said there was no need for it anymore.

Area shopping malls join together to provide food for neighbors in need

All six Orlando-area malls have joined forces in a community-wide food drive, October 4-13, in an attempt to help replenish non-profit food providers struggling to keep up with an increase in clients needing assistance.

During the ten-day food drive, shoppers will be invited to bring canned goods or other non-perishable food items to the customer information booths located at Altamonte Mall, The Florida Mall, Orlando Fashion Square, Oviedo Marketplace, Seminole Towne Center and West Oaks Mall.

In appreciation for charitable donations of five items or more, each donor will receive a coupon for a free sandwich from Chick-fil-A.

"Our local emergency food pantries continue to experience a demand that is at least 40% higher than expected this year," said Greg Higginson, Development Director for the Second Harvest Food Bank. "We anticipate that the donations these malls receive will be a big help getting the pantries stocked."

The Food Bank expressed a particular need for non-perishable food staples such as rice, beans, canned fruits and vegetables, canned meats, soups, peanut butter, dry pasta and "meals in a can" such as ravioli, spaghetti, etc.

Donations will be accepted from October 4-13 at mall customer information booths between 10 a.m. and 9 p.m. Monday-Saturday and Noon-6 p.m. Sundays.

This food drive, to benefit Second Harvest Food Bank, is the first time area malls have united together to host a community program.

"While it may seem unusual for malls managed by different owners to work together, the urgent need for food provided a perfect platform to partner," explained Kristen Moore, Group Vice President of Marketing for Altamonte Mall. "While one mall could host a successful food drive, six malls working in unison provide a better opportunity to help meet the increasing demand for food assistance."

"As shopping centers, we draw thousands of people daily and are able to provide a convenient location to drop off food donations. We hope customers will respond to the call."

For additional information about the Food Drive taking place at area malls, please contact your local mall: Altamonte Mall, (407) 830-4400; The Florida Mall, (407) 851-7234; Orlando Fashion Square Mall, (407) 896-1131; Oviedo Marketplace (407) 977-2400; Seminole Towne Center (407) 323-2262 and West Oaks Mall (407) 294-6033.

The Way We Were: Florida's first controversial presidential election

Since others have contributed articles for this issue about early Sanford, I have opted to give you information on Rutherford B. Hayes, who was President of the United States beginning in 1877, the year Sanford was incorporated.

I doubt that he ever knew about our city, but Florida certainly knew about him as his election was very similar to our recent presidential election.

Florida's electoral votes, as in 2000, were his margin of victory and there were charges of fraud.

I wrote this for the special anniversary edition of the Sanford Historical Society newsletter of which I have been editor for the past eight years. Other articles in it are entitled "Sanford Becomes a City", "The Spymaster and the Boatburner", "Henry Shelton Sanford: The Museum Reaches Middle Age" and "Sanford's Social Center". Join the society and receive our newsletter six times a year.

Rutherford B. Hayes, known as the "Healer President" was born October 4, 1822 in Delaware, Ohio and died January 17, 1893 at Speigel Grove in Fremont, Ohio.

His nicknames included: "Dark Horse President", "Rud", "Rutherford", and "His Fraudulency."

His domestic policy highlights included civil service reforms, patronage political appointments, veto confrontations, railroad strikes of 1877 and economic recovery.

Foreign policy highlights were Panama Canal, border disputes with Mexico and Treaty with Samoa.

A Life in Brief

"Rud" Hayes' father ran a successful farm and whiskey distillery in Ohio; he died ten weeks before Rutherford was born. Raised by his single mother, Rud developed a very close relationship with his sister, Fanny Hayes, who encouraged him to pursue law as a career. With the help of a wealthy uncle, Hayes went to Harvard Law School and then made a name for himself as a successful criminal defense lawyer. He married Lucy Ware Webb, a girl who came from a wealthy liberal and politically active family. Lucy was a strong believer in women's rights and in abolition. Her nickname was "Lemonade Lucy" and she influenced her husband to believe strongly in these causes as well.

Patriot of the Union
When the Civil War broke out, Hayes was already nearly 40 and the father of three children. Nevertheless he was one of the first volunteers, stating that he would rather die in the conflict than live having done nothing for the Union. Using his political connections, Hayes was appointed a major in the 23rd Ohio Volunteers. An officer with no military experience, he had to work hard to gain the respect of the enlisted men, a task he accomplished with his "intense and ferocious" demeanor on the battlefield. Hayes turned down safe desk jobs and higher ranked positions with other regiments because he was so loyal to the 23rd. By the end of the conflict he was a major general and was awarded a medal for "Gallant and distinguished" services.

During this time he was asked to run for the U.S. House of Representatives, but refused to campaign stating that "an officer fit for duty who at this crisis would abandon his post to electioneer for a seat in Congress ought to be scalped". When word came to him that he had been elected, Hayes responded that Congress would have to wait; there was a war on to be won.

Rocky Road to the White House
After the Civil War, Hayes

served as a member of the U.S. House of Representatives (1865-68) and then as governor of Ohio. Republicans quickly recognized the scrupulous Hayes as presidential material, hailing as he did from a voter rich state.

The election of 1876 came down to a fight between Hayes and Democrat Samuel Tilden of New York. Florida's electoral votes were cast for Hayes and were his margin for victory. There were charges of fraud while national political figures worked feverishly in Tallahassee. Because of this and other widespread charges of fraud, Congress was forced to set up a special electoral commission which awarded the disputed votes to Hayes.

Much of Hayes inaugural address was devoted to calming down the citizenry. He quickly announced plans for election reform and pledged his earnest desire to heal the rift between North and South.

Two months after taking office, Hayes ordered federal troops out of the South, ending Reconstruction all together and allowing the Democratic Party to sweep in and assert total dominance of the region.

Upright Family Life
The Hayes family was religious, clean living and unassuming; rare qualities in 1870's America. Hayes himself did not drink or smoke. Lucy Hayes, a firm believer in the temperance movement, refused to serve any alcohol in the White House. She was college educated, Politically astute, a champion of social causes and the equal of her husband. Though she dressed simply and wore no cosmetics, she was greatly esteemed by the public.

The death of Lincoln, the impeachment of Johnson, and the failures of Grant had left the presidency at its weakest state ever. A decent and principled man, Rutherford B. Hayes helped to restore prestige to the office and to heal the deep wounds left by the Civil War.

Bossy bride rides herd on wedding attendants

DEAR ABBY: I received the enclosed "memo" from a friend. When I read it, I was floored. Once you read it, I'm sure you'll understand why.

What's your take on this?
AGAPE IN SYRACUSE, N.Y.

DEAR AGAPE: If the document you sent me is on the level, the bride-to-be appears to have an abundance of unresolved control issues and an astounding lack of tact. Read on:

MEMO TO MY ATTENDANTS: Hey, girls! Mom has your dresses for the wedding. She'll bring them to the shower next weekend. You can pick them up there. "Allison" sent me an e-mail asking what style shoes and jewelry to wear. Great question, Allison! There are so many details. I keep forgetting to tell my girls what to do.

This is an excellent opportunity to go over my expectations for each of you:

About the shoes, please wear tasteful flats. Most of you are taller than me. I'd rather you not all tower over me.

I want all of you to wear your hair down. Since "Babs" and Allison have similar hair, I'd prefer that Babs straighten hers and let Allison be the curly-haired girl. After all, she's my friend and you are just bridesmaids! I'm sure you understand. "Judy" and "Molly," you have both mentioned that you intend to shed a few pounds. This would be the perfect time! Watch your diets; we will all start weekly weigh-ins. Allison could use some trimming down, too.

Also, you should all stay away from alcohol for at least a week before the wedding. None of us should be puffy or bloated. I think this is mainly for Babs, as none of my ladies drink all that much.

Other than that, I don't have any real suggestions. Oh, please don't go tanning! I prefer to blend in with you than stand out as the pale one!

Judy, Allison and Molly, please call me. There are a few other things that I need to go over with you on this topic. Babs, you are "Scotty's" friend so I wouldn't presume to tell you what needs to be corrected — plus, your own wedding is coming up after mine. So I'm sure you're already more than a little aware of what you need to work on.

See ya'll on Saturday. Babs, remember you'll attend the shower with us girls rather than the paintball fun with the boys. Dress accordingly, dear!

DEAR ABBY: I recently married a wonderful man. I am 31; "Cliff" is 42. His mother, "Margie," is the problem. She lives down the street. Margie bought furniture for our home and gives us money when we come up short. Because of this, she thinks she can stick her nose into our personal business whenever she wants.

Don't get me wrong; I appreciate everything Margie has done for us because, without her, we wouldn't be nearly as well fixed. But how do I get her to back off and let Cliff and me live our own lives?

WANTS NO STRINGS ATTACHED IN OKLAHOMA

DEAR NO STRINGS: When you accept money, there are usually invisible "strings" attached. As long as you continue to accept your mother-in-law's money, you will have forfeited your right to "live your own lives." You won't truly regain your independence until you have repaid her the money.

DEAR ABBY is written by Abigail Van Buren, also known as Jeane Phillips, and was founded by her mother, Pauline Phillips. Write Dear Abby at www.DearAbby.com or P.O. Box 69440, Los Angeles, CA 90069.

For an excellent guide to becoming a better conversationalist and a more sociable person, order "How to Be Popular." Send a business-sized, self-addressed envelope, plus check or money order for $5 (U.S. funds) to: Dear Abby — Popularity Booklet, P.O. Box 447, Mount Morris, IL 61054-0447. (Postage is included in the price.)

McDowell named Forest Ranger of the Year

Eugene McDowell of Geneva, Senior Forest Ranger in Seminole County with the Florida Division of Forestry, has been recognized by the Florida Forestry Association as the Forest Ranger of the Year for 2002. McDowell was honored this month in Panama City Beach.

Throughout his seventeen-year career with the Florida Division of Forestry, McDowell has always provided exceptional service to the public, as well as his fellow employees. As the Wildfire Prevention Coordinator in Seminole County, and as a member of the Orlando District Wildfire Prevention Team, he has presented many interesting and innovative wildfire prevention programs to local elementary and middle school students. He also pays special attention to such events as local fairs and parades, always seizing the opportunity to further promote the fire prevention theme. McDowell's educational efforts have not gone unnoticed, as the DIV-I-DENDS school volunteer program of the Seminole County School Board has officially recognized him for the number and quality of the programs he regularly presents. McDowell is also known for providing invaluable training in fire control. In the past year he assisted in the indoctrination of two new rangers in the Orlando District. Additionally, he has recently begun teaching Florida Fire Behavior coursework to new firefighters with the Seminole County Fire Department.

The Forest Ranger of the Year Award is presented to government Forest Rangers who work beyond the call of duty to serve and protect forest landowners by: promoting wildfire prevention; advocating the use of controlled fire as a management tool; suppressing wildfire; and educating the public on fire-related issues.

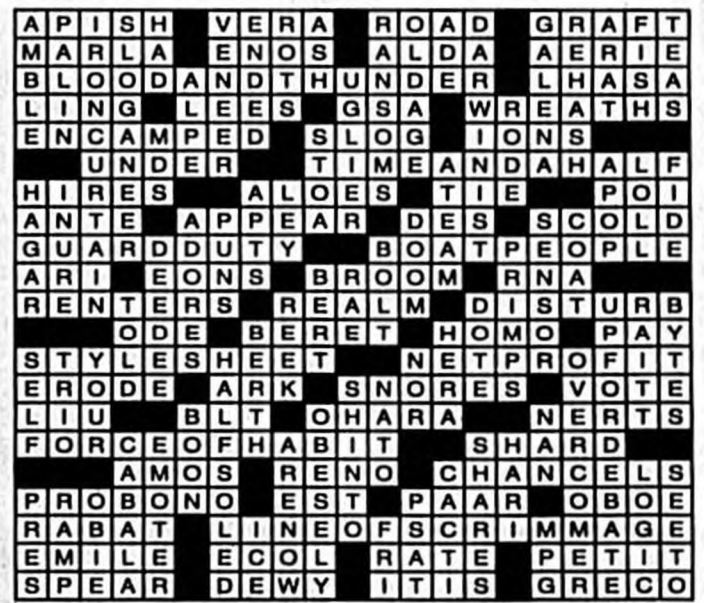

The Florida Forestry Association is the only statewide, non-profit trade organization representing the interests of landowners, loggers, foresters and the forest products industry in Florida.

Jazz Ensemble concert planned for next month

The Altamonte Jazz Ensemble, directed by Mike Arena will present a special concert with a tribute to the music of Quincy Jones, Sunday, Oct. 27 at 7 p.m. at Winter Springs High School Auditorium, 130 Tuskawilla Road, Winter Springs. Admission is $5 at the door.

Quincy Jones music has spanned five decades along with superstars such as Frank Sinatra, Michael Jackson, Steven Spielberg, Oprah Winfrey and others. Jones has appeared with Lionel Hampton and Count Basie.

 Brianna, 11. The trio will perform songs from their recently released debut album, "Celebrate." Opening acts for Triple Image include Phaze 3, Jj, Girl Zone, Lura and drew michaels.

One of the more colorful and exciting attractions at past Sanford Heritage Festivals, the Bahamian Market Place is returning this year to offer an array of unique food, entertainment and fun. For the fourth year, a delegation of 50 Bahamians will arrive in Sanford from the island of Eleuthera to continue a special relationship between Sanford and Gregory Town, Bahamas. Caribbean foods, crafts and entertainment will be showcased at the Bahamian Market Place and Stage, located on Fulton Street. Throughout the weekend, street performers, vendors and other festival exhibits will take over downtown Sanford during what's become the city's trademark event. The festival opens 10 a.m. Saturday, and gates close at midnight. Sunday, gates open at noon and close at 8 p.m. Admission is $5 — children under 12 get in free — and includes all concerts and events.

Presley's advancement to deputy chief creates a ripple of promotions in the department. In making his announcement on Thursday, Tooley also publicized the promotions of three other officers.

Lieutenant Jerry Hargrett was promoted to captain, filling Presley's position. Hargrett joined the SPD in June 2001 after a 20-year career with the Orlando Police Department.

"Jerry brings a wealth of information to our department and will be an asset to the city," Tooley said.

 keys, and became trapped in the window. The shots were reportedly fired by Blancett in an attempt to get the vehicle to stop and avoid further injury to the other officer. The officer did sustain cuts to his hand. The car sped away with the back tire flattened. The incident was captured on video.

Law enforcement officers pursued. Sandiland eventually wrecked the vehicle on Pressview Avenue near Roxboro Road, near Longwood. He then bailed out, leaving his wife behind. After a short foot chase by deputies and Longwood police, he was apprehended.

His wife, Ann, was arrested after being pulled from the vehicle by law officers. Both were booked into the Seminole County Jail accused of aggravated battery on a law enforcement officer, purchasing cocaine, and resisting an officer/aggravated fleeing/attempting to elude law enforcement with injury or property damage.

Eckstein, Angels make playoffs

By Dean Smith
Sports Editor

ANAHEIM — It had been 16 years since the Anaheim Angels last made the playoffs.

All they needed was a sparkplug from Sanford to lead them. The Angels ended many years of frustration on Thursday, easily getting past the Texas Rangers, 10-5, to clinch the American League Wildcard spot. Seminole High School graduate David Eckstein, who has become the heart and soul of the Angels, went hitless in the series with the Rangers and has seen his average fall from .300 to .294, but did score a run in the playoff clinching victory.

Anaheim, which had lost four straight games prior to the clinching win, will open the playoffs with the New York Yankees in Yankee Stadium on Tuesday. The first two games of the Best-of-Five Series will be in New York before moving out to Anaheim. The Oakland Athletics, the AL Western Division Champions, will host the Minnesota Twins, the AL Central winners, in the other Best-of-Five ADLS. The winners of the two divisional series will meet in a Best-of-Seven Series to decide the American League Champion and a spot in the World Series. Check local listings for the time and television station on which the games will be played. Eckstein was not the only local resident to have a big day on Thursday. Sanford's Tim Raines Sr. was honored prior to Thursday game by the Montreal Expos to recognize the many years he spent in an Expos uniform. Raines, who began his Major League career with the Expos in 1979, then got to make a rare start in leftfield for the Florida Marlins, his current team, to allow the Montreal fans get look at one of their heroes in what will probably be his final appearance at Olympic Stadium. The start was another milestone for the See Baseball, Page 3B

Rams roll over Terriers

Lake Mary defense to strong for Titusville

By Dean Smith
Sports Editor

LAKE MARY — Titusville has one chance to score on Lake Mary and when that attempt ended in fumble it was all over.

The Rams thoroughly dominated their Class 5A-District 3 opponents in all aspects of the game, romping to an easier than appears 28-7 triumph over the Terriers at Don T. Reynolds Stadium Friday night.

Titusville (2-2 overall, 1-1 in 5A-3) looked like it might make a game of it as the Terriers took a short kickoff to start the game at their own 43. But three plays later the visitors had lost three yards and were punting.

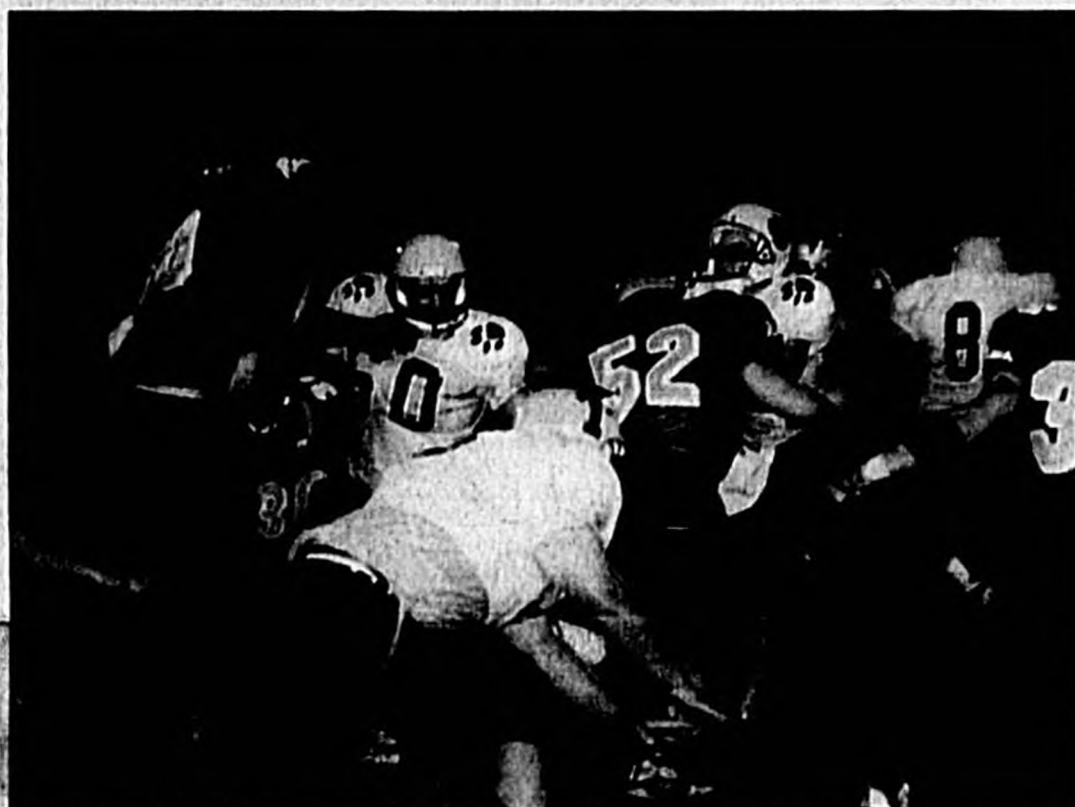

An unsportsmanlike penalty on the Rams after the punt buried Lake Mary deep and it could only muster eight yards in three plays.

Titusville's Mike Bernard then showed outstanding speed and moves, returning a Ryan Pasconi punt from his own 33 to the Lake Mary two.

But a five-yard penalty for illegal substitution put the ball back to the seven and two plays netted five yards. Then came what would be the biggest play of the game when a fumbled snap was recovered by the Rams at the three.

Lake Mary still had trouble moving the ball on offense, but the Terriers would not threaten again until late in the fourth quarter, long after the

This was the story of the night (above) for Titusville quarterback Mike Pateto as Lake Mary's R.J. Meyers (No. 52) wraps up the junior signal-caller as he attempts to get off a pass. The Terriers and Pateto struggled all night and did not score until late in the game with the hosts leading 28-0. The Rams' offense, led by senior running back Reggie Campbell (left), had an efficient night with Campbell scoring one of Lake Mary's three rushing touchdowns on a 13-yard scamper in the third period as the Rams won 28-7 to improve to 4-0 overall and 2-0 in Class 5A-District 3 play. Lake Mary will meet district rival Mainland at DeLand's Spec Martin Stadium next Friday night in a crucial 5A-3 contest.

Remembering the Babe

Compiled by Nick Pfeiffert
Staff Writer

This is a historical week for Babe Ruth fans. Local sports enthusiasts of course remember when George Herman "Babe" Ruth played ball right here in Sanford.

But it was 75 years ago on Sept. 30, 1927, when the Babe set a home run record by hitting his 60th home run of the season off Tom Zachary of the Washington Senators. The record stood for 34 years until Roger Maris hit his 61st, on Oct. 1, 1961. Maris' record was broken by Mark McGwire in 1998 with 70 home runs and of course Barry Bonds hit 73 just last year.

This coming week is also the anniversary of Babe pointing out in the field and slugging a home run into the grandstands.

It was 70 years ago (Oct. 1, 1932), in the fifth inning of game three of the World Series. The score was three to two with Cubs fans shouting "unpleasant!" remarks to the Babe. He is than said to have pointed to the center field bleachers at Chicago's Wrigley Field, and followed up by hitting to the very spot to which he had gestured.

With his home run, the Yankees went on to sweep the series with four straight victories.

For almost three-quarters of a century, the question remains, Did Ruth actually call his shot on that day? Even eye witnesses disagree.

Joe Williams of the New York Times wrote, "In no mistaken motions, the Babe notified the crowd that the nature of his retaliation (to the crowd's jeers) would be a wallop right out of the confines of the park."

But Cubs pitcher Charlie Root said, "Ruth did not point at the fence before he swung. If he'd made a gesture like that, I'd have put one in his ear and knocked him on his"

Ruth's daughter later said that he had denied it. But the Babe himself always claimed he had. Fact or fiction - it's still a legend.

Ruth, the "Bambino", played his last game as a Yankee on Sept. 30, 1934, reportedly angry that he was never named Yankee manager.

He died of cancer in New York City on August 16, 1948 at the age of 53. In his lifetime, he hit 714 home runs in 22 seasons and played in 10 World Series.

Seminole hanging onto slim lead in Slowpitch

By Dean Smith
Sports Editor

LONGWOOD — Kara Lively blasted her fifth home run of the season as Seminole defeated homestanding Lyman, 5-1, in Girls Slowpitch Softball League action Wednesday night.

The Triumph was important because it gave the Tribe sole possession of first place in the Seminole Athletic Conference.

But Lake Mary stopped the Fighting Seminoles express in the other game at the Carlton D. Henley Sports Complex as the Rams blanked the Tribe, 3-0, and now five teams stand within a game-and-a-half of the SAC lead.

Lake Brantley was the main beneficiary of Seminole's loss, sweeping a doubleheader, 9-2 over Lake Mary and 12-11 over the Greyhounds.

Ruff swung the big bat in the win over the Rams, driving in a pair of runs to back the pitching of Richard (3-1).

In the nightcap, Sadlowsky (3-1) was the winning pitcher and helped her own cause by ripping a double and driving in three runs.

Thursday night at Lake Howell, Oviedo pulled into a tie for third by sweeping its two games, 4-3 over Winter Springs in eight innings and

Road is unkind for 6A schools

By Dean Smith

JACKSONVILLE — A road trip to Jacksonville for the three Class 6A schools from Seminole County proved to be disaster Friday night.

All three, Lake Brantley, Oviedo and Seminole, suffered tough losses, raising the possibility that the SAC may not have a representative in this year's football playoffs.

The Patriots and Fighting Seminoles both lost by 24-21 scores, Lake Brantley falling to 0-2 in the district at Mandarin and the Tribe dropping their first 6A-1 contest of the season to Sandalwood, which won for the first time this season.

The big shocker, however, was at Ed White where the Commanders pulled off their second surprise in as many weeks, humbling Oviedo, 22-8.

This was not only the first loss of the season for the No. 5 state-ranked Lions, it was also the first time that the Oviedo defense had allowed a point all season, including the preseason game.

Ed White is now in command in the 6A-1 race with a perfect 2-0 record.

In other games, Lake Howell and Winter Springs both won for the first time this season, the Silver Hawks getting past Atlantic, 24-18, in double overtime and the Bears outscoring Lyman, 34-30.

A full recap and statistics from these games will appear in Wednesday's Herald.

Paint, plaster & parties

Plasterrific offers unique pastime for children and their parents

By Michelle Jerla
Managing Editor

The shelves that line the walls at Yvonne Jones' Lake Mary business are stocked with tiny white plaster sculptures. Among the hundreds of colorless figurines, there are unicorns, dinosaurs and small ballerinas. The studio is a young artist's dream.

Jones is the owner of Plasterrific, a paint-it-yourself plaster craft shop for kids and adults. It's a place where people can create their own unique masterpieces without spending a lot of money.

"People can come in and spend hours painting their item," Jones said. "I've heard people say it's more fun and cheaper than going to the movies."

The premise behind Plasterrific is the same as a ceramic studio's. A customer chooses a plaster craft item and then uses the paints and tools provided by the studio to transform it into a masterpiece. However, unlike ceramics, there's no firing or cleaning, which means many selections can be completed within an hour or two.

Prices for the small, plaster figures can range in price from $2 to $6. Larger pieces cost a little bit more, and there are no sitting or instruction fees tacked on to the total cost.

"People can stay here until they finish their piece," Jones said. "Since there are no sitting fees, they pay for the piece they paint, and that's it."

It's not surprising Jones spends most of her week with children, plaster and paint.

She has always had an interest in children's arts and crafts and spent years volunteering with Seminole County Public Schools, especially with art classes.

She got into the plaster painting business about five years ago after a friend opened the Lake Mary store.

"My kids loved coming to the studio and wanted to come every weekend," she said. "I kept begging my friend to let me become a business partner, and she eventually agreed,"

Jones said. "And then, three years ago, her husband got a job transfer, and I bought her out."

Many of the plaster items are made from molds Jones keeps at home in her garage.

"There all over my garage," she said. "I guess you can call it a craft gone haywire."

Although things can get a little messy at home and at the studio, Jones doesn't mind. One of the studio's benefits is not having to worry about spilled paint.

"Here, children can come, paint and not worry about getting stuff on the floor or the table," she said. "That's another reason why parents like it here. There's no mess at home."

Plasterrific offers a unique birthday party location. Plaster Party packages are available, and there's even a Pizza Fun Night every Friday. For $9.95, children can choose three different items to paint, eat pizza and watch a movie.

Plasterrific, however, isn't just for children. Carmen Hamilton of Apopka has been coming to the Lake Mary studio for more than two years. It's become a place where she gathers with friends once a week to relax and catch up with things.

"We talk over the weight of the world," Hamilton said. "We laugh, we cry and we relax. It's just a lot of fun."

For more information about Plasterrific, which is located at 3821 Lake Emma Drive in the Albertson's shopping center, call 407-804-9944 or visit its Website at www.plasterrific.com

The studio is open from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. Wednesday and Thursday; 11 a.m. to 8 p.m. Friday; 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. Saturday; and noon to 6 p.m. on Sunday. It's closed Monday and Tuesday. Walk-ins are welcome, and appointments can be made for larger groups.

Woman's Club hosts fete for prospective members

Lots of hugs and smiles highlighted and brightened, for sure, the first gathering of the fall season when members of the Woman's Club of Sanford Inc., met for the traditional membership and welcome luncheon. Hosted by the Board of Managers, the event included the entire membership in addition to prospective members.

President Mindy Tooley greeted members and guests at the door and they were provided name tags by Carole Kirchhoff before entering the spacious auditorium, which was decorated in a patriotic motif. Arrangements of red and white carnations, interspersed with royal-blue purple flowers, accented the dining tables with other arrangements placed at vantage points.

Jean Fowler, former club president, arrived early wearing a black outfit with imprinted red roses enhancing the slim jacket. This was one of her first outings since she was injured in a fall. Other past presidents attending were: Betty Jack, Ruth Gaines, DeLores Lash, Hazel Cash and Bettye D. Smith.

Helen Polgar, second vice president in charge of membership, was chairman of the luncheon, assisted by Phyllis Hodge as co-chair. Helen introduced the following prospective members: Linda Hayes, Edna Burns, Debbie Von Herbulis, Linda Miller, Jean Rose, Linda Dittman, Iris Sefried and Renee' Hermendez and Rita Holcomb.

President Tooley briefed the women on the history of the club, founded in 1913, and summed up its functions and charitable endeavors. Chaplain Frances Mitchell read an appropriate message and led the membership in reciting the Pledge of Allegiance.

Ann Howland and Carolyn Cornelius volunteered to co-chair as club historians.

Those attending enjoyed a tasty luncheon of gourmet chicken salad, croissants, fresh fruit, cake and iced tea.

The first general meeting of the year will be held Wednesday, Oct. 2, at 11: a.m. at the clubhouse. Luncheon reservations are required through the telephone committee. Sandy Goard, Seminole County Supervisor of Elections, will speak on "Voting Update."

Beach Wedding

Dr. and Mrs. William C. (Bill and Nancy) Rape have returned from Alabama where they attended the wedding of their son, Dr. William Gregory (Greg) Rape, and Melissa Wilemon of Trussville, Ala. Also attending the wedding festivities were Sam and Carrie Greene.

Greg is the widower of the late Laura Greene Rape who succumbed to cancer about three years ago, leaving four children who are 16, 13, 10 and 8 today.

The wedding was held at Perdido Beach on the Gulf of Mexico and "was real sweet," Nancy said. The newlyweds are making their home in Trussville, near Birmingham, where he practices orthodontics.

Fourteen members of the Rape family attended the event and also members of the Greene family. Carrie said the family feels so blessed over the happy union and she is so pleased that her grandchildren have such a lovely new mom.

The Greens were away for about six weeks visiting children and other relatives along the way.

Juniors Reunite

Several members of the Junior Woman's Club of Sanford Inc., recently gathered at an Altamonte Springs restaurant for a mini reunion. Gail Smith, who now makes her home in Winter Park, was heralded as ring leader of the clan. The former Junior Director of the Florida Federation of Women's Clubs has received her MBA degree from Rollins College.

Before disbanding several years back, the Sanford Juniors were extremely active on the local front, "a group of go-getters," an insider said.

Many of them still live in the Sanford area. Although Beth Abruzzino lives in Ocala, she keeps in touch with the group. Another leader, Beverly Huffman, was unable to attend this gathering.

Gail said they looked at old pictures which generated a smile here and a tear there. But mostly, they enjoyed just being together and poring over old times.

Ruth Gaines, the charter president, attended the recent fete. According to Gail, Ruth is the only one of the former members who still belongs to the FFWC. Others attending the reunion were: Jean Clontz, Gail Stewart, Peggy Deere, Debbie Shannon, Rosalie Morales, Sharon Baragona and Nancy Crawford.

They're Back

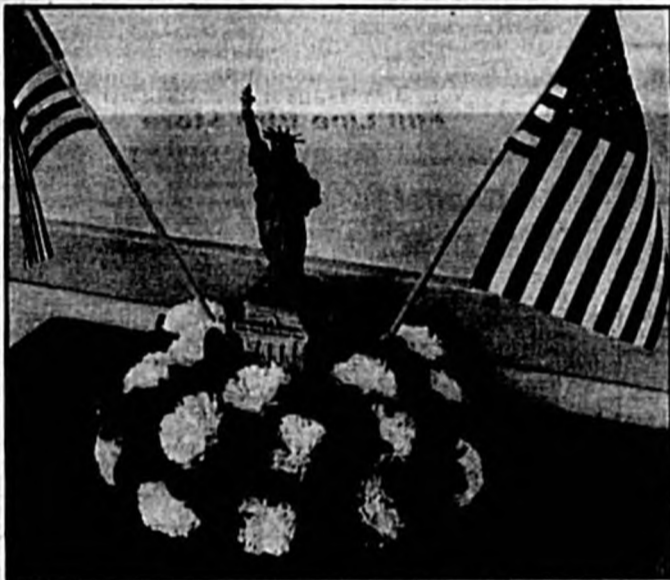

Marian and Lester Rethwill have returned to their Sanford home after hitting the road for about two and one-half months. Previously, the Rethwills made summer pilgrimages in their motor home, which now has new owners. This year they covered many miles driving which they enjoyed.

The trip began in Toronto, Canada, where they attended the Pilot International Convention. The eight days were "very nice, not super hot and not super cold," Marian said.

After the convention, the couple headed to Minnesota where they visited family and friends and attended Marian's 57th high school class reunion at St. Peter. They detoured back to the Southland, visiting many cousins they didn't know they had. In Kentucky, they stopped over to visit Florence Taylor, formerly of Sanford. "We just visited and bounced around," Marian said.

Holiday Festival

Members of Ixora Garden Club are putting the final touches on "Making Spirits Bright," an annual holiday festival. Crafts, other decorations, plants, homemade goodies and luncheon will be the order of the day on Saturday, Oct. 12, from 10 a.m. to 2:30 p.m., at the Sanford Civic Center. Tickets, at $8 each, are available from any member or by calling 407-829-2639.

The Woman's Club of Sanford opened its fall season with a patriotic theme.

Schools, a 501 (c) 3 non-profit organization, raises more than $500,000 each year to further enhance the superior performance of Seminole County students and teachers.

The Foundation Board works diligently to enhance the quality of education in our community by raising and awarding funds, fostering involvement in the schools by businesses and the community, and providing recognition and rewards for extraordinary performance.

Programs such as Take Stock in Children, Grants for Great Ideas, and various scholarship and recognition programs are just a few of the many initiatives this board leads.

For additional information regarding supporting The Foundation, you may call Tina Calderone at 407-320-0180.

Ad Litem program needs volunteers

The Seminole County Guardian Ad Litem program is in need of volunteers to advocate for the best interest of abused, neglected and abandoned children in a court proceeding. To become a Guardian Ad Litem volunteer you must be 21 years of age or older, possess good judgment, common sense and be capable of helping a child in crisis. You must present favorable references, consent to have your background checked and complete 24 hours of training.

Guardian Ad Litem training will be held at Juvenile Justice Center, 190 Bush Blvd. in Sanford on Nov. 8, 9 and 15. For more information phone Tina at 407-665-5376.

'The class clown' tries to use humor as self-defense tactic

QUESTION: I'm a teacher and I love my students. However, there is one kid in my sixth-grade class who drives me nuts. He works overtime trying to make everybody laugh. What drives this impish child? Why does he want to make life miserable for me?
DR. DOBSON: We all remember the kid you're talking about. He's called "the class clown," and some other things that are less flattering. He is a trial to his teachers, an embarrassment to his parents and an utter delight to every child

James Dobson
"Focus on Family"
who wants to escape the boredom of school. There are millions of class clowns on the job today. It's my belief that boards of education assign at least one such kid to every class just to make sure that school teachers earn every dollar of their salaries. These skilled little disrupters are usually boys. They often have reading or other academic problems. They may be small in stature, although not always, and they'll do anything for a laugh. Their parents and teachers may not recognize that behind the boisterous behavior is often the pain of inferiority. You see, humor is a classic response to feelings of low self-esteem. That's why within many successful comedians is the memory of a painful childhood. Jonathan

Winters' parents were divorced when he was 7 years old, and he said he used to cry when he was alone because other children teased him about not having a father. Joan Rivers frequently jokes about her unattractiveness as a girl. She said she was such a dog, her father had to throw a bone down the aisle to get her married. And so it goes. These and other comedians got their training during childhood, using humor as a defense against the pain. That's usually the inspiration for the class clown. By making an enormous joke out of everything, he conceals the self-doubt that churns inside. That understanding should help us meet his needs and manage such a child more effectively. QUESTION: I am a single mom who is struggling to survive. Of all the things that frustrate me, I am bothered most by having to send my kids to visit their dad for three weeks in the summer. That will happen next month and I'm already uptight about putting them on the plane. Can you help

The luncheon will be Oct. 21, at 12 noon at Lutheran Haven, 2014 W. SR-426 in Oviedo. Call LBT for reservations at 1-800-532-4253, and ask for Peg Seitz.

Volunteers Needed

The Christian Sharing Center in Longwood has an urgent need for volunteers to fill various positions. Receptionists and interviewers are needed to interview families in crisis situations and to assist them in meeting their needs.

me accept what I'm about to go through?

DR. DOBSON: Maybe it will help to know that many other single parents have similar feelings. One of these mothers expressed her frustration this way:

"I stand in the terminal and I watch the kids' airplane disappear into the clouds. I feel an incredible sense of loss. The loneliness immediately starts to set in. I worry constantly about their safety, but I resist the urge to call every hour to see how they're doing. And when they do call me to tell me how much fun they're having, I grieve over the fact that they're living a life completely separate from my own. My only consolation is knowing that they're returning soon. But I'm haunted by the fear that they won't want to come home with me."

If the anxieties of that mother represent your own feelings, let me offer some suggestions for how you might make the most of your days alone. Instead of seeing the next three weeks as a period of isolation, view it as an opportunity to recharge your batteries and reinvigorate the spirit.

Single parenting is an exhausting responsibility that can cause burnout if it knows no relief. Take this time to enjoy some relaxing evenings with your friends. Read an inspirational book or return to a hobby that you've set aside. Fill your day with things that are impossible amidst the pressures of child care, recognizing that your children will benefit from your rehabilitation. They'll return to a re-energized parent, instead of one coming off six weeks of depression.

Greenwood Lakes students learn about wild side of Florida

A recent magazine article listed Florida as the number four destination for people relocating. New businesses are moving in along with more people than we have water and space for. It may be great for the economy, but it's wreaking havoc on the original inhabitants of Florida, the wildlife.

Bonnie Rainbow and her assistant Joan Bucci from the Panther Outreach Program spent a day at Greenwood Lakes Middle School in an effort to educate the students about the plight of the Florida panther and other Florida natives. Bonnie and Joan didn't come alone. They brought a few friends with them.

A Florida box turtle named "Troy" was the first friend Joan showed the students as Bonnie talked. When Bonnie found Troy, he was not in very good shape. He had a cracked shell. Turtles can recover from a cracked shell on their own if it's not a major crack. The danger in the wild from even a minor crack is when infection sets in. Turtles seldom survive infections. Troy is recuperating beautifully and will now be used in the education program.

Florida turtles can close up and hide in their shells. With one exception. The common snapping turtle is the only one who can't fit fully in their shell. Troy is a box turtle. Box turtles have a hard, almost rock like shell. Soft shell turtles prefer living in water and have a leathery shell. Both can be spotted on the highways of Florida. Do not endanger your own life to save a turtle on the road, but if you can save one, do it! Just remember to wash your hands with antibacterial soap afterwards because turtles can carry the salmonella bacteria.

Snakes also come out on the losing end when cars are in the picture. There are a large number of snakes living in Florida.

Mary Rowell

Diamond back rattler, pygmy rattler and the cottonmouth or water moccasin are the pit vipers that live in Florida. Pit vipers have a triangular shaped head and inject their venom when they strike. The coral snake is the other venomous snake that lives in Florida. A coral snake doesn't strike. They grab hold of their victim and chew through the skin, injecting venom as they chew. The Florida king snake has a similar coloration to the coral snake. Rather than trying to remember the nursery rhyme about which snake is not the venomous one, the best bet to be safe is not to touch either one. This is not the kind of thing you want to be wrong about.

Venomous snakes are not really very aggressive. Surprisingly, the non-venomous ones are usually a little meaner (after all, they don't have that venom to get the upper hand.) The Florida hog-nose snake will play dead. So if you see a snake that looks dead, don't pick it up. The Florida hog-nose is not venomous, but he will bite! The red rat snake is a constrictor. (Joan introduced the students to "Fire" as Bonnie talked.) They squeeze their prey to death and then swallow them whole. So, why do we want snakes around? Snakes eat rodents and other pests. Remember that whole bubonic plague thing? Rats caused it! That's why we like snakes!

At one time, the American alligator was one of the most endangered animals in Florida. Alligator pumes, alligator shoes, destruction of habitat, DDT...all took their toll on Florida's most famous reptile. Bonnie told the students about alligators as Joan walked around with Squiggy. If there was ever proof that conservation works, the alligator is that proof. The American alligator is the first animal ever taken off the endangered species list. Alligators, once rare in Florida, are now so abundant that hunting is allowed during certain times of the year. In captivity, alligators grow about 1 foot a year, but a little less than that in the wild, where food is not a given. Being taken off the endangered species list doesn't mean that alligators are out of the woods. Human encroachment on wild habitat will always be a threat. Dangerous alligators are not relocated, as bears are. Dangerous alligators are destroyed.

Alligators will never become tame. That's why Squiggy's mouth was taped during the education program, to save fingers. The tape was taped to itself and not to Squiggy's skin. It doesn't have to be strong tape. Alligators have no strength in opening their jaws. Their strength is biting down! If you feed a dog, the dog will be grateful and consider you a friend who provides food. If you feed an alligator, the alligator, with the reptilian brain he has, will see humans not only as source of food, but AS food. That's why it is illegal in the state of Florida to feed the alligators, and many other forms of wildlife. Not only should you not feed the alligators, but you really shouldn't feed ducks either. Sure, when you feed the ducks, you only see the ducks. But the truth is, if it's Florida, if it's fresh water, there are alligators, no matter what your real estate agent says! That means there are probably alligators watching you feed the ducks. The alligators may start depending on the food you feed the ducks and they may start looking at people as food. Keep in mind that whatever holds true for alligators, also holds true for crocodiles. Florida is the only state that has alligators and crocodiles.

The American crocodile has not rebounded the way the alligator has. There are only about 300 crocodiles remaining in Florida, most of them in the Everglades. How do you tell an alligator from a crocodile? Crocodiles have a more pointed snout. But DON'T get close enough to tell the difference. Either one will take your hand off!

The star of the Panther Outreach was, of course, the panther. Zach was so incredibly beautiful that most of the students wanted to see him and touch him. Florida panthers are smaller than the Western cougar, but just as magnificent. Bonnie has worked with Zach since he was 10 days old. When Zach was only 2 months old, Bonnie gave him a stuffed toy lion. If Zach is given any toy or blanket now, he will tear to shreds, but he is very gentle with the toy lion he was given as a baby. When Zach was very small, he was raised indoors; much as a mother panther would keep her cub in a den.

Now, Zach lives outside in a big wooded area with 2 other panthers. Zach has no front claws (for safety reasons), but he can still climb. A Florida panther can jump 10 feet from a standing position; running, they can jump 14 feet. This great manual dexterity has not given the Florida panther the edge it needs to survive in Florida. Shrinking habitat, car collisions and in-breeding are the biggest threats the Florida panther faces. Male panthers need 250 miles of territory, females need 50. With the intense human encroachment into their territory, it is amazing they still survive today. Some help has been forthcoming.

So what can you do to save one of the most endangered animals in the world? Adopt a panther! Or at least buy a T-shirt or a license plate that supports the Florida panther. For more information about the Florida panther, contact the Panther Outreach Program at 352-347-2970 or email popbr549@yahoo.com

Aristolochia: Pipevines with exotic flowers

The genus Aristolochia is formed by a group of mostly climbing vines with heart-shaped leaves and unusual flowers with no petals and a twisted calyx that resembles resting birds such as pelicans or swans. The name pipe vines are given to these plants because their flowers resemble the meerscham tobacco pipes.

Flowers are pollinated by flies that are attracted to them by somewhat unpleasant odors. The flies are actually trapped inside the flower until pollination takes place and the insects are then released. Some of the best known plants of this genus are the Calico flower, the Dutchman's pipe, the Pelican flower, and the birthwort. These plants are the food source of the caterpillars of two important butterflies, the Polydamas swallowtail and the Pipe vine swallowtail.

Al Ferrer

Pipe vines contain toxic substances that are acquired by the larvae and adult butterflies as they feed from these plants and give them protection from predators such as birds or lizards.

The Plant Calico flower, one of the most popular of the pipe vines, is a perennial vine native to Brazil. Leaves are heart-shaped and about 4 inches wide. The flowers, borne on long stalks are about 3 inches in diameter and have purple veins on the back and maroon markings on the front. Flowers are bisexual but the female organs become active ahead of the male organs. Unlike other pipe vine flowers, Calico flowers do not produce offensive odors. In most pipe vines pollination is carried out by flies which are attracted to the flowers by a strong unpleasant odor.

The flowers act like a trap once the insect is inside the flower and will not release the flies until pollination takes place. The fruit is dry, about one inch long, black at maturity and splitting to spill the seeds as it rocks in the breeze hanging from four slender strings.

Culture

Plant during the warm months of the year in a sunny location with some shade in summer. Soil should be well drained and amended with organic matter such as peat or compost for best growth. Use a fertilizer in the spring to promote good growth and summer to help the plant during the blooming period.

Morris presents three bags of school supplies to the Harbor

Jeanne Morris, Seminole County School Board vice-chairman, surprised students at the Harbor Literacy and Learning Center recently with three huge bags of school supplies. They were essential supplies such as spiral notebooks, packages of paper, pens, pencils and other supplies which will be placed in the Harbor Seaside Store.

The children will receive points for reading books and writing book reports. They will trade points for incentive prizes which were donated by various business partners and Harbor supporters. Harbors I and II have received overwhelming support from the community local businesses during the holiday season and throughout the year.

The Harbor Literacy and Learning Center's initiatives of Seminole County Public Schools Title 1 Department extends appreciation to all dedicated volunteers, business partners, and supporters who Water frequently as they tend to wilt if it gets too dry. Some shade at midday is recommended for this vine. Provide some structure such as a trellis for the vine to climb. Plants can be propagated from seed in spring or from cuttings in summer.

Use

Calico vines can be used to cover verandah columns or a pergola and is grown as an annual in areas with freezing temperatures in winter. In some countries the plant is used to induce abortion, and used in popular medicine to treat colds, fever, parasites, and other ailments. Native pipe vines were the source of the active ingredients in the cure-all "snake-root oil" sold by traveling peddlers in the old west. Pipe vines were also used to aid in birth and the removal of the placenta from the uterus, thus the name "birth-worth" used in reference to some of these plants!

Butterflies

Pipe vines are the food source for the caterpillars of two beautiful butterflies, the Pipe vine Swallowtail and the Gold Rim or Polydamas Swallowtail. Pipe vines provide the caterpillars not only with food but their toxic compounds give them protection from predators such as birds and lizards, thus increasing their survival opportunities. The Pipe vine Swallowtail is a large black butterfly with a short tail on each hindwing and a row of small whitish spots on the upper hindwing.

On the underside of the hindwings they have a row of large orange spots embedded in a metallic blue patch. The Gold Rim Swallowtail is a large blackish butterfly with a greenish-yellow band on each wing. The underside of the hindwings are brown with brick-red spots and a small yellow patch. This butterfly is the only swallowtail in Florida that lacks tails.

Tailgating: Tips for everyone

Tailgating used to be an activity centered solely around football games, with fans bundled up in team gear, sharing the pre-game excitement in the parking lot. Today, tailgating is not limited to football — people are taking advantage of the opportunity to share good food with family and friends before other kinds of events, such as the kid's soccer games, baseball games and music concerts.

Experienced tailgaters come equipped with tables, chairs, carpets and grills — all the comforts of home — and prepare the all-important meal ahead of time. For the first time tailgate party coordinator, Tupperware offers the following tips for year-round success:

- Thoughtful food preparation. The perfect recipe for success is a simple, yet delicious, menu. Choose food that can be prepared in advance and transported to the event. A tasty tailgating meal should include a little something for everyone. Tupperware has a variety of on-the-go products to tantalize tailgating taste buds, including the Tupperware® Impressions Bowls for stylish and easy transport of salads, pastas and all types of festive dips and sauces.

- Remember the details. The purpose of tailgating is to get people excited for the event they're attending, so bring a bit of the action outside. Hang balloons in the colors of the team or play music from the band you're about to see. The little details also make it special, so pack a colorful tablecloth to add flair to the food spread and beach chairs for added comfort.

- Avoid slips and spills. As the lot gets more crowded, drinking beverages can certainly become a messy endeavor, so bring cups that seal your fate for a dry, happy bunch.

- Weather watch. Whether it rains or shines the tailgate shall go on. Check the weather forecast before you leave to be prepared for whatever Mother Nature has in store. Depending on the forecast, bring umbrellas, gloves, sunglasses or, even a portable fan.

- Go all out. To really heat things up, nothing beats grilling — seasoned steaks and burgers are a sure-fire hit. For a real crowd-pleaser, simply marinate vegetables and meats in a container in advance.

- Leave no footprints behind. You've planned the perfect tailgate, now comes clean up. With proper preparation, this should be a snap. Transporting the meal in resealable food containers means all you have to do is re-seal the leftovers for the ride home and run off to watch the event!

Tailgating serves up tantalizing tastes

Dining on the asphalt

Tailgating — It's becoming as much a part of football season as the sport itself. In fact, for many ravenous football fanatics, the tastiest part of the game is the cookout before the kickoff.

The fine art of dining on asphalt remains a mainstay of football fun, according to Mike Zeller, Corporate Developmental Chef at the Wisconsin-based Johnsonville Sausage. The fare can range from simple to extravagant.

"Spike up your tailgating bash with a seasoned sausage like bratwurst," suggests Zeller. "Its savory flavor complements the hearty fare that football fans crave. And it's easy to prepare and simple to serve in any outdoor setting."

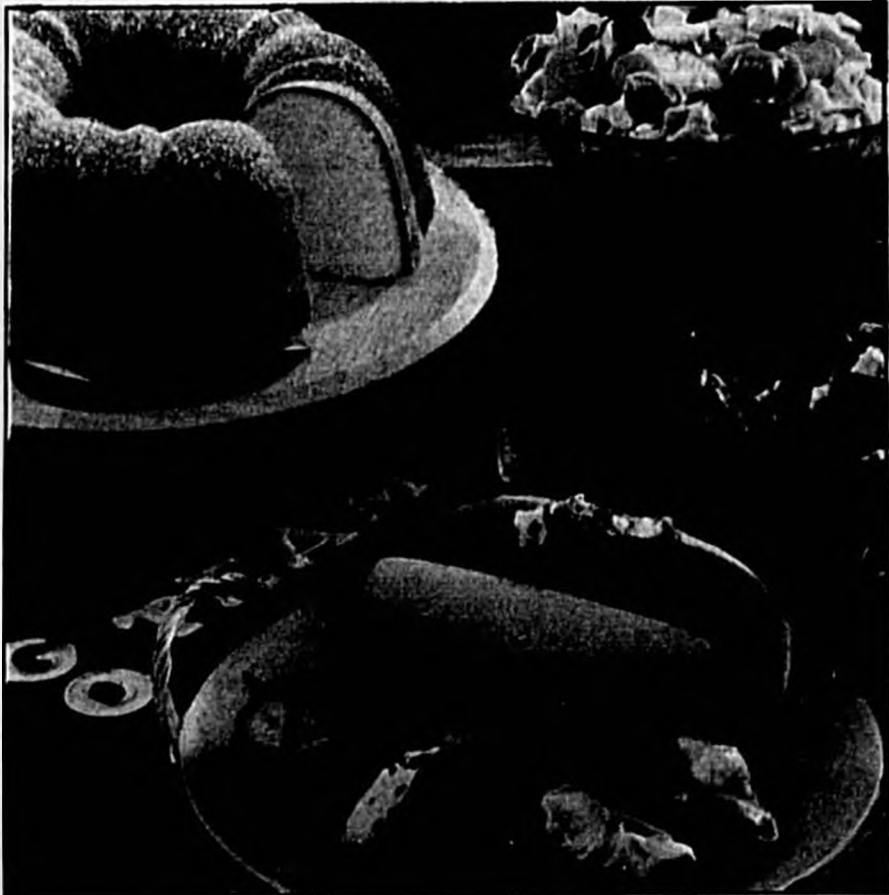

Zeller suggests grilling fresh bratwurst — a subtly seasoned pork-based sausage of German origin — and serving it on a crusty hoagie bun. Add kick by topping the brat with a pungent relish of raw red onions and crumbled blue cheese — Roquefort, Stilton or any favorite blue-veined variety.

While you're stoking the coals, skewer up some veggie kabobs with harvest-fresh zucchini, yellow squash, cherry tomatoes and carrots. In the cooler, stash a chilled pasta salad featuring ricotta-filled tortellini and broccoli, and flavored with fresh thyme. For dessert, serve a buttery old-fashioned pound cake. Top cake slices with maple glazed apples, a tart confection sweetened with brown sugar, butter and maple syrup. And wash it all down with a mug of hearty beer or hot cider garnished with a cinnamon stick. What a way to celebrate the season.

Backfield Bratwurst with Onion and Blue Cheese

- 1 medium red onion, thinly sliced
- 1 cup (4 oz.) crumbled blue cheese
- 1/4 cup olive oil
- 2 tbsp. red wine vinegar
- 1 tbsp. steak sauce
- 1 tsp. fresh chives, chopped
- 1 tsp. parsley, chopped
- 1/2 tsp. garlic, minced

Pump up your pigskin party with a terrific tailgating menu that features hearty brats topped with onions and blue cheese, and paired with a tangy thyme-flavored tortellini salad.

- 1/4 tsp. salt
- 1/4 tsp. black pepper
- 5 links Johnsonville fresh bratwurst
- 5 hoagie buns

In a bowl, combine the first ten ingredients; cover and refrigerate for at least two hours or overnight. Prepare bratwurst according to package directions; place in bun and top with two tablespoons of onion mixture. Yield: 5 servings.

Tight End Tortellini 'N Thyme Salad

- 2 pkgs. (9 oz. each) refrigerated cheese tortellini
- 2 cups fresh broccoli florets
- 2 cups fresh cauliflower florets
- 1 cup fresh carrots, thinly sliced
- 1 cup bottled Italian salad dressing
- 1 tsp. fresh thyme, minced
- Salt and pepper to taste

Prepare tortellini according to package directions; drain and rinse with cold water.

In a large bowl, combine remaining ingredients. Add tortellini; toss and refrigerate until served. Yield: 8-10 servings.

End Zone Tart Apple Topping

To serve over pound cake

- 6 large tart apples, peeled, cored and thinly sliced
- 1/4 cup butter
- 1/4 cup brown sugar, packed
- 1/4 cup pure maple syrup
- 1/4 tsp. maple flavoring
- Pinch of salt

Melt butter in a nonstick skillet; add sugar and syrup. Cook over medium-high heat for one minute. Add apples; cook and stir for 5-6 minutes or until apples are tender. Serve over pound cake. Yield: 3 cups topping.

What's Your Game? After-game treats the whole family will love

This chili comes together quickly so you can relax before the big game.

After the big game, surprise all the little superstars of the team with an after-game feast that they won't soon forget. Win or lose, you can still show your team spirit with a little creativity and time spent in the kitchen.

Before the main course, be sure to keep plenty of snacks within easy reach. A healthy alternative to potato chips can be The Pampered Chef's Barbecue Snack Mix. Line a hat or helmet with a napkin or clean cloth in your favorite team colors and fill with this crispy snack mix. To spruce up a vegetable tray, use the V-Shaped Cutter to cut a bell pepper into a fun, spiky holder for dips and spreads.

For an easy-to-prepare main course, dish out bowls of this crowd pleaser, Mexican Two Bean Chicken Chili. Made with prepared salsa and a few pantry ingredients, this chili comes together in minutes so you can relax and hear all the details of the big game. Serve with a variety of do-it-yourself toppers such as shredded cheese, green onions and fresh cilantro leaves, and let each child concoct their own unique chili creation.

These recipes and other great ideas can be found in The Pampered Chef's Celebrate! Cookbook. To learn more about The Pampered Chef, hosting a What's Your Game Kitchen Show, Gift Certificates, or to find a Kitchen Consultant, call (800) 266-5562 or visit www.pamperedchef.com

Mexican Two Bean Chicken Chili

- 1 medium zucchini, coarsely chopped (about 1 1/4 cups)
- 1 can (15 ounces) black beans, drained and rinsed
- 1 can (15 ounces) pinto beans, drained and rinsed
- 1 can (8 3/4 ounces) whole kernel

corn, drained

- 2 cans (14 1/2 ounces each) chicken broth

- 1 jar (16 ounces) thick and chunky mild salsa
- 1 can (8 ounces) tomato sauce
- 3 cups shredded cooked chicken
- 1 garlic clove, pressed
- 1 1/2 to 2 tablespoons chili powder
- 1 teaspoon ground cumin
