Let Your Doctor Check Cheek Pain

DEAR DR. LAMB—I'm a 44-year-old housewife. We came to this country 15 years ago. Before I came I developed a pain in my right cheek. The doctor called it an inflammation and gave me an injection to paralyze the cheek for a while. It did relieve the pain. For a long time I had no pain but then sometime later it'd get up the pain started all over again.

DEAR DR. LAMB—Is sleeping in the nude, or just letting your body breathe that way, good for your skin?

DEAR DR. LAMB—Unless you're wearing airtight sleeping garments that trap moisture and body odors, I can't see that it makes a particle of difference.

DEAR DR. LAMB—Is it worth the trouble of getting a facial? You may be referred to a neurologist, a specialist in diseases that involve the nerves, and I don't mean being nervous.

THE HEALTH LETTER number 53, Understanding Your Energy System, explains how your energy system works and how your body uses calories.

WIN AT BRIDGE

South ducked the queen and jack of hearts. West continued with the 10. East played the king and South had to take his trick. The lead was in South's queen and East's ace.

East was in. Ninety-nine of a hundred players would proceed to cash in the last heart if they want to. "But their credibility is suffering now as far as I'm concerned."

In addition to salaries, the proposal from Southern Human Resources Co. called for spending $2,300 to rent office equipment, $700 for delivery and set up of a copy machine and for consumable office supplies, $600 for repair of 10 copiers and 400 for four cassette tape players, and $200 for a Polaroid camera.

But Commissioner Dick Williams called the whole thing a "ripoff."

Major restoration will not take place immediately he said. Immediate work will involve some renovations and repairs to bring the facility up to code.

When plans began moving for live theater presentations, however, Lawson said, it is estimated $50,000 will be spent on restoration work.

"If the beer and wine license is not approved, the project is not feasible," Lawson said.

Lawson, who said he has been working in various facets of the cinema industry from concessions to projectionist to manager for the past 12 years,

Lawson said the deal will be consummated on the purchase after the beer and wine license is acquired. The theater will be reopened three weeks after acquisition, he said.

Lake Mary Petitioners: Don't Cut Police Force

By DONNA ESTES Herald Staff Writer "Keep the police department as it is," is the demand directed to the Lake Mary City Council in a petition circulating within the city of Lake Mary.

One copy of the petition with the demand had been signed by more than 200 Lake Mary citizens and merchants by this morning. The petition was placed in the "Shop and Go" store on Country Club Road by Assistant Manager Roberta Driscoll with the permission and full support of the store manager, Nancy Gagnon.

A second copy of the petition is displayed at the Lake Mary 66 on Lake Mary Boulevard.

The council where cuts can be made in the police department budget.

The majority of the city council—Councilmen Gene McDonald, Ray Fox and Francis Mark—last week rejected a plan presented by Councilman Vic Olivera to levy a utility tax to make up the anticipated deficit in city operations for the current fiscal year.

McDonald zeroed in on the police department by noting that it is spending more city money—36 percent of the budget—than any other department.

McDonald said he got a "message from the people" to manage the city within its income. He said the people do not want additional taxes, as evidenced by the voter turnout 2 to 1 last September of the council's request for an increase in property taxes.

The council had planned to overcome the deficit in operation by dipping into reserve funds.

The latest estimate is that the deficit will range from $13,000 to $20,000 by end of the fiscal year on September 30. Earlier estimates were that the deficit could amount to as much as $40,000.

The city's total reserve fund is about $80,000. Olivera suggested today the council eliminate its monthly expense allowance as one way of saving money. Councilmen are paid $125 monthly to give it up," he said.

The council when it adopted the budget last October removed the allocation for the salary, but restored it later.

Volunteer Fire Chief Jim Orsillo, in a show of unity between police and fire department last week, urged the council to continue the police department as it is. He suggested the council members take the cut in pay and volunteer their services to the city free of charge as the volunteer firefighters do.

Another Reversal: Job Class Loses

By DIANE PETRYK Herald Staff Writer Calling it a "ripoff," the Seminole County Commission Tuesday refused to approve the budget for a private firm to set up job hunting classes for CETA eligibles, despite having approved the program in concept last week.

DAY 200 Iranian Urges U.S. Patience

TEHRAN, Iran (UPI)—The leader of the Muslim fundamentalist majority in Iran's parliament said today the United States must be patient about the outcome of the parliamentary proceedings on the American hostages now spending their 200th day of captivity in Iran.

Ayatollah Mohammad Beheshti, leader of the Islamic Republican Party, said "contentment and submission" would not help a solution of the crisis.

"Therefore, it is in their interest that they (the United States) remain patient till the Majlis decides about the hostages," Beheshti said.

The ayatollah spoke as Muslim militants holding 53 American hostages in 15 towns across Iran bluntly told the parliament they expected it to vote for a trial of the hostages.

It was the 200th day since the hostages were seized Nov. 4, 1979. Three other American diplomats, although not reported to be in custody of the militants, have been in "protective" detention at the foreign ministry.

The Islamic militants holding the hostages said in a communiqué that the newly elected parliament, designated by Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini to decide the Americans' fate, must vote to try the hostages because it was "the demand of the imam (Khomeini) and the nation."

"The militants' demand is expected to set the mood of the 270-seat parliament, called the Majlis. But Iran's ambassador to the United Nations, Mansour Farhang, warned the continued detention of the hostages was leading Iran to international isolation. Farhang's criticism of the Iranian taking was ignored by the Iranian media, indicating growing support for the radicals who want the captives tried.

In an interview with President Abolhasan Bani-Sadr's newspaper, Islamic Revolution, Farhang said, "We have made full use of the hostages for religious, political and propaganda purposes. Therefore, I believe that continuing to keep them is not in our interest at all."

"This international isolation which we have come to face must end," he said. "We must not let the United States use an acceptable excuse to weaken the revolution."

Robert H. Shamaker, who helped raise a flag in honor of the 53 American hostages held in Iran for 200 days, knows the ordeal of captivity. Shamaker, who spent eight years as a Vietnam prisoner of war, told the 1,000 people who gathered a pouring rain in Hermitage, Pa., Tuesday night that the hostages would come home safely.

"Some of my colleagues spent 3,000 nights in captivity and they came through okay," he said.

There was some concern the rain might dampen the activities at Hillcrest Memorial Park, but as one person said, "The hostages have suffered, too, so we can stand the rain. Harry and Alice Metricko, of Olyphant, Pa., parents of hostage Michael Metricko, were the guests of honor at the ceremonies.

McElwain said the boats of different sizes were sighted in the Coast Guard's southern sector closest to Cuba, and all captains were advised by balloons or radio to turn back.

"We're keeping track of them and if they don't come back in a reasonable time, we'll make an active search for these vessels," McElwain said.

One narrows 25-foot boat that returned with a load of refugees Tuesday sank at the dock just after it had unloaded the Cubans. A pump used to get the boat across the Florida Straits without sinking apparently stopped functioning when the boat arrived.

President Carter ordered the service last week to stop all southbound boats, but eight apparently got through Tuesday.

"I guess some are always going to slip through unless we get a barbed wire fence out there," Coast Guard Lt. John McElwain said.

Cuban Sealift Continues Despite Guard Warnings

KEY WEST, Fla. (UPI)—The number of Cuban refugees reaching Key West during a thunderstorm forecast threatened further curtailment, but the Coast Guard said the sealift was continuing despite warnings the shuttle boats might be seized.

A dawn count showed 18 refugees arriving today aboard 10 boats. Tuesday's arrival total was 4,662. The refugee total since April 21 now stands at 67,000.

The Coast Guard reported seas of up to 4 feet and southeast winds of up to 15 knots in the 90-mile-wide Florida Straits. The forecast called for thunderstorms throughout the day.

Cuban news media reported only about 700 boats remaining at Mariel, the departure point from the communist island.

Capt. Jose Gonzalez, who returned to Key West Tuesday with his lobster boat from his second trip to Mariel, forecast an end to the sealift in about two weeks. "They're moving them out pretty fast."

Coast Guard spokesman Lou Parris said four boats were seen heading from Key West to Mariel Tuesday. One sailing vessel called "Shadow," was turned back by the Coast Guard Tuesday.

Quiet Night Passes In Riot Zone

MIAMI (UPI)—Miami's violence-shattered northwest section emerged from its cocoon of curfew today after the first truly quiet night since murder, sniping, looting and arson erupted Saturday, police said.

Dade County Police spokesman Reuben Jones had "no new fires, no looting, no sniping" to report at dawn.

But there were more arrests for curfew violation. The arrest total since Saturday climbed to 1,814, Jones said. It included 960 black men, 183 white men, 95 black women and 14 white women.

Graham made his appeal to Carter Tuesday.

Longwood City Clerk Leaving For New Home In Colorado

Longwood's first appointed city clerk, Linda Martin Zike, has submitted her resignation effective June 30, and the city is looking for a replacement. Starting salary for the job is $11,000 a year.

Mrs. Zike has served as city clerk since January 1979, when she took over the job from her mother, Onnie Shemate, who resigned after 26 years as the city's elected clerk. The new city charter passed by the voters in September, 1978, made the position appointive. Mrs. Zike plans to move to Colorado with her new husband, Bob, who teaches at Seminole Community College.

"We'll miss her," said City Administrator David Chace. "She walked right into Onnie's shoes and was able to take over with only a short training period."

Chace said he will be advertising for a new city clerk in state and local publications and will be in contact with employment agencies. His top choice is to find someone who is an experienced city clerk or at least an efficient secretary with shorthand and typing skills.

Carter To Inspect Northwest Damage

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Carter will fly to the Pacific Northwest tonight to inspect damage in Washington state from a massive eruption of Mount St. Helens, congressional sources said.

The sources said Carter would fly to Portland, Ore., and remain overnight. On Thursday, he will go to Spokane, Wash., and later inspect damage in eastern Washington state caused by mud and ash from the mountain, the congressional sources said.

Chace said he will be advertising for a new city clerk in state and local publications and will be in contact with employment agencies. His top choice is to find someone who is an experienced city clerk or at least an efficient secretary with shorthand and typing skills.

The Decline Of The Navy

It has already been revealed by the Wall Street Journal and confirmed by other reliable sources that the Carter Administration has "increased" military spending for fiscal year 1981 by cutting back the defense budget for the current year, and adding the cuts to the 1981 budget.

The decline in American defense spending in relation to domestic social programs began exactly ten years ago. In 1970, the defense budget was $73.6 billion, and transfer payments to individuals under various welfare programs amounted to $63.2 billion.

In 1972 defense spending was $76.6 billion, but welfare vaulted to $90.8 billion. Then the practice of skimming on defense and throwing bucks at welfare programs really took off.

As the juggling with current budget shows, President Carter, despite some recent tough talk, has done nothing to buck the trend. In the early days of his presidency, he resolved to limit annual growth of real defense spending to an average of one percent.

Ten years ago, according to F.J. West, Jr. director of strategic research at the Naval War College, American military planning was directed at fighting and winning two and one-half wars, even though defense strategists believed that available defense funds were barely adequate for one and one-half wars.

And, just as President Carter still claims this nation's defenses are "second to none," America's top naval commanders, notably Chief of Naval Operations Thomas Hayward, believe that the U.S. Navy will soon be second to one — the Soviet Union.

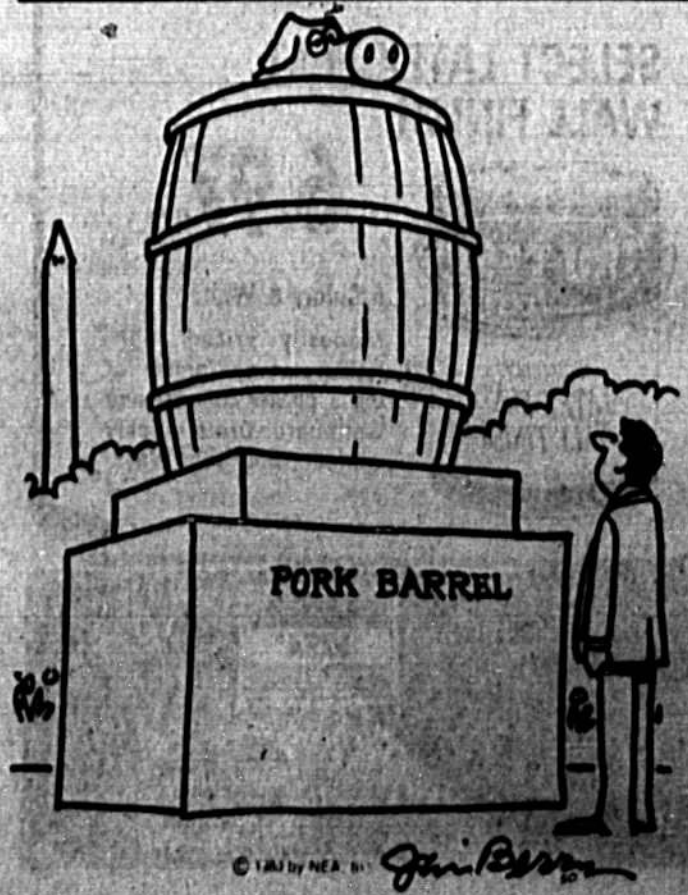

As the Soviets continue their overall military buildup, it is the rapid improvement of naval forces that tells us that they are preparing for war. Until recent years, the U.S. Navy was unchallenged. But the Soviets are building more and faster ships, including deep-diving submarines and missile firing cruisers that will be able to destroy American vessels at long ranges.

Meanwhile, the American naval strategy administered by Defense Secretary Harold Brown, seems frozen in time. The Navy is still asked to "protect the key lines of communication to Europe and Asia — support NATO on the flanks, and contribute simultaneously to a lesser contingency."

BERRY'S WORLD

Around

The Clock

By DONNA ESTES

The judges of the 18th Judicial Circuit, which includes Seminole and Brevard counties, have recommended that a new program be initiated in the Seminole County Circuit Court to help families with domestic problems involving their children.

The plan is to create a mediation or conciliation unit of the court to aid parents and children with cases in the family department or juvenile division.

Family disputes about children often involve great emotional impact and stress that cannot be resolved by judicial decree, the judges point out. Often even the best rulings are inadequate to resolve the underlying problems of hurting families.

Under the family conciliation plan, the parents will meet with a trained family mediator...

Family mediation services have been operating successfully in Broward and Dade counties for the past year and in many other parts of the country for the past 25 years.

Within the next 30 days the proposed program will be presented to the Seminole County Commission for its support and inclusion in the 1980-81 judicial budget.

According to Circuit Judge Dominick Salafi, it is expected the cost of the service will run $33,000 to $36,000 annually with the majority of that cost funded from fees collected from those using the service.

operating a conciliation service is $30.50 per hour and the amount of time expended per case is approximately four hours.

Million In The Middle

By DONNA ESTES

Don't ever say this administration can't get a message — eventually.

The continuing unauthorized ferry service to Florida having provided abundant evidence that there was no policy on the Cuban exodus, official Washington has now decreed one.

Not only the private and illegal boat operation to be replaced by a government-organized airlift or seairlift, but the first phase of the evacuation procedure is to be an orderly screening of refugees.

In Cuba, with the cooperation of the Castro government.

After which the United States is fully prepared to welcome the approved Cuban emigres, as previously promised, with "open heart and open arms."

The plan is beautiful in its simplicity but does raise a question: What makes Jimmy Carter, who chose to position himself firmly at the end of a limb by personally announcing the new policy, believe that Fidel Castro, who has frustrated cooperation in any shape or form since the inception of the crisis at Havana's Peruvian Embassy, will go along with such a reasonable arrangement this time?

Possibly because the administration has had such extraordinary success in applying similarly reasonable policies to Iran.

The conventional wisdom on the Cuban situation is that Castro, having initially made a colossal mistake with his offer to permit all who wished to leave the island, is now deliberately manipulating the consequent disaster to his advantage.

He is using it as a safety valve to relieve internal pressures by exporting dissidents and, by provoking confrontation with the United States, to shore up support among the Cubans who remain. He is using it to distract domestic and world attention from Cuba's grave and worsening economic situation, which he acknowledged in his extraordinarily frank Dec. 27 address to the Cuban People's Assembly. He is using it to embarrass the United States, maneuvering Washington into itself giving the lie to American protestations of concern for the oppressed.

Why he should be agreeable to making the American response to the situation he has created and is manipulating any easier for Washington is a question requiring some persuasive explanation. Certainly to Castro.

There is one potential advantage to placing the emphasis of the proposal not on areas the United States can control — transportation and reception of the refugees — but on the one it can't — Cuba's handling of their departure.

Castro's refusal to cooperate in bringing order out of chaos can be turned against him by the United States for propaganda purposes.

It is certainly understandable that regimes that have wallowed in mutual hostility for two decades should be obsessed with maneuvering and outmaneuvering each other with the ordinary Cubans, potentially millions of them, caught in the middle.

Victor H. Palmieri, the administration's coordinator for refugee affairs, has vividly described the situation to a house committee. Castro, he observed, is practicing a "form of guerrilla warfare that uses people as bullets."

WASHINGTON — The Justice Department has come to the rescue of U.S. District Judge John H. Pratt, who once privately but pointedly assured FBI investigators that he was "very pro-government" in his courtroom.

The Senate Judiciary Committee is quietly investigating the department has reduced to serious allegations against Pratt, and it now appears that important evidence of Pratt's misconduct has been withheld from the committee.

Pratt's is one of 14 politically sensitive cases being looked into by the Judiciary Committee, spurred by Sen. Orrin Hatch, R-Utah. The Justice Department has refused to let the chief of its Public Integrity Section of the department's Criminal Division, Thomas H. Henderson Jr., testify, but instead has sent the Senate committee written responses.

If the department's reply to the charges against Pratt is typical, it demonstrates the need for a thorough investigation of the way cases of official corruption are handled.

I broke the chief of Judge Pratt's misconduct on April 12, 1978. My associate Gary Cohn turned up strong evidence that

OUR READERS WRITE A Councilman's Appeal

Everyone remembers the saying "Now is the time for all good men to come to the aid of their country." I would like to change that slightly to read "Now is the time for all citizens of Lake Mary to come forth and give their views to their city council."

We are in a serious situation with our budget woes again this year. We are very shortly going to cut some very essential services in order to try to balance this already slim budget.

Some members of our council feel the citizens mandated this by voting against the Ad Valorem tax at the last election. I feel through misinformation about the tax increase, it was dropped from the start and the citizens of this fine little city do not want to see any services cut and especially our police department.

Chief Harry Benson and his men stand head and shoulders above any other police department and they have the record to prove it.

In order for my councilman to vote the way the citizens want, they have to get a constant input from these citizens.

At "Lake Mary Day" last Saturday, there were some strong feelings expressed to myself and the other councilmen. I have to say most were in support of the police department that I heard, of course I must add there were a few negative comments about other employees.

I only hope this interest continues enough to have every citizen that can come to our meeting this Thursday at 7:30, come and express his feelings and wishes.

Everyone on our council is an honorable person and it is duty bound to follow your wishes, but if you do not tell us, we have to do what we "THINK" you want us to do.

If you cannot come to this or any meeting, please contact any councilman and tell him how you feel.

Councilman Vic Olvera Lake Mary

Death Of A Princess

By JEFFREY HART

The Saudis have some nerve objecting to the showing of "Death of a Princess" on our TV. What we look at on our TV screen is none of their business, and they ought to be told that for a start.

In fact, this BBC-produced "docu-drama" presents much too favorable a view of Saudi Arabian culture.

Any moral code that demands the execution of a young girl and her lover for having had sexual relations does not deserve to be "understood." It deserves to be extirpated in the name of civilized human feeling. Since we cannot at the moment easily extirpate this barbaric system, we can at least treat it with the contempt and derision it so richly deserves.

That was my original reaction to the 1977 executions, complete with a beheading, no less. And this reaction was reinforced by the "Death of a Princess" film.

Are we really so far gone in self-hatred and cultural relativism that we regard this sort of thing as just another "way of life" or "system of values"?

The film tiptoes around the obvious suggestion that has to be passed on Saudi Arabian culture and society. It wanders about the claims of the individual as against those of the group.

It wanders about alleged Western "materialism" and leaves hanging in the air the notion that we might have something to learn from Saudi "spirituality." Says an Arab university professor: "We still search for inspiration and meaning. For you, life is based on facts."

Again and again, in this film, the point is made that contemporary Western culture might have something to learn from Islam. And I say hogwash, not to use a stronger word.

Not to mince words, the Saudi Arabian moral code really stinks. It is and always has been a savage and pitiless code, spawned in the desert and as unforgiving as the sun over the Sahara.

I agree with the ecumenical view that various religions around the world do have a perception of the divine. But that is far from saying that all religious cultures are in some way "equal." One of the best things that ever happened to Europe was the "reconquista," when the Moors were at last thrown out of Spain by Ferdinand and Isabella. Another good thing was the defeat of the Turks by the Spanish at the battle of Lepanto, which secured European dominance over the Mediterranean. Those events deserve to be enshrined as Western holidays, second only to Christmas and Easter.

What kind of sand-dune fanaticism is it that executes a young girl for sex? Dante considered illicit sex the very last of the sins, and he put his illicit lovers, Paolo and Francesca, in the outermost and most comfortable precincts of hell.

Facing the Israeli mob about to stone the woman caught in adultery, Jesus invited the one who was without sin to cast the first stone. Judging by the behavior of Saudi nobility vacationing in London and Paris, none of them is in any position to begin casting stones.

$2,000 Teacher Pay Hike Suffers Defeat In House

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI) — The movement to give teachers a pay raise averaging $2,000 has suffered a perhaps fatal blow with the refusal of the House Appropriations Committee to increase property taxes to fund it.

The committee by one vote Tuesday approved an amendment removing the item from a $363 million supplemental budget, which was adopted and passed onto the House floor.

The sponsor of the pay raises, Rep. Steve Pajcic, D-Jacksonville, said the hikes would have meant only a tax increase of 19 for the average homeowner.

New McDuffie Probe Starts Today

MIAMI (UPI) — A federal grand jury today begins its search for civil rights violations that would support new criminal charges against ex-police officer involved in the beating death of Arthur McDuffie.

The jurors may just organize today. Subpoenas were issued Tuesday for several Dade Public Safety Department officers for appearances before the grand jury the first week in June.

Both that investigation and a special probe being conducted by Lamar Matthews, general counsel to Gov. Bob Graham, may extend beyond the McDuffie case and the unsuccessful prosecution of ex-police officers by Miami State Attorney Janet Reno.

Acting Miami U.S. Attorney Alton Wampler III says the Justice Department's Civil Rights Division will also review other cases involving blacks, but he hasn't identified those cases.

Matthews said the governor did not "restrict the scope of the inquiry" and hinted his investigation may include a review of the cases of Nathaniel LeFleur, Dr. Johnny Jones and Neal Adams.

Miami's black community began doubting the quality of justice in Dade County after several Dade County officers with a search warrant for narcotics broke into LeFleur's home and allegedly pistol whipped the black school teacher before discovering they had gone to the wrong home. The officers were not disciplined, but LeFleur filed a civil lawsuit against the county.

Jones, the black superintendent of Dade County's schools, was convicted by an all-white jury last month of attempting to use school funds to buy luxury bathroom fixtures for his vacation home in the so-called "gold plumbing caper." Jones, a nationally-known black educator, was suspended when the charges were filed and fired when he was convicted.

Adams, a black former Dade County commissioner, is on trial on lottery and gambling charges. Matthews said his investigation "will not be a re-try" of the McDuffie case, which ended Saturday when an all-white jury in Tampa acquitted the four white Dade County officers of the beating death.

Hebner's Homers Hand John First Setback

Last season, playing for the hapless Mets, Richie Hebner displayed all the virtues of a major league player. But this year appears to be different.

Hebner's homering hand was a factor in his first setback. He hit a home run in the fourth inning to make starter Rich Gale a winner for the first time since Aug. 1, 1972.

Scoring runs was the "in thing" Tuesday in the Sanford Little National League. The league's six teams combined for 100 runs in three games.

Almost half of the runs came in a wild and wooly seven-inning tilt won 23-2 by Poppa Jay's over First Federal.

The first place Railroaders dumped Sunland Corporation 12-4, while Clem Leonard Shell blasted Cardinal Industries 3-5.

Poppa Jay's scored six runs in the top of the first and held the lead until the bottom of the last inning when First Federal pushed five runs across the plate to knot the score at 18-18.

Niekro Nifty In Six-Hit Shutout
By United Press International
For Phil Niekro the past is over and gone, it's the present that counts.

"I don't look back at other games," said Niekro after tossing a nifty six-hit 1-0 shutout at Montreal Tuesday, halting the Expos' winning streak at Central. "I just go out and work today's game."

Niekro and his knuckle ball did not stop the Expos since Aug. 19, 1977. The victory was his third against five defeats this season and evened his lifetime record at 15-13 against Montreal.

"That was my first shutout this year," smiled Niekro. "So I have to say it's the best I have pitched."

As the 41-year-old righthander baffled Expo hitters, Dave Murphy led off the seventh with a single off loser Scott Sanderson. 3-4, advanced to second on Bruce Benedict's sacrifice and scored on Chico Fair's double to left. And that was all Niekro needed.

"That was an outstanding performance by Phil," said Atlanta Manager Bobby Cox. "That victory should give our team a lift; any win helps. Montreal certainly had our number last year."

Longwood, Winter Springs and Casselberry residents and veterans organizations will observe Memorial Day on Monday with ceremonies at area cemeteries.

Though Monday is the day set aside by the government to honor the war dead, the combined veterans organizations of Sanford have scheduled an observance for May 30, the traditional Memorial Day.

The Sanford ceremonies at the veterans memorial at Lake Monroe will be hosted by the Disabled American Veterans, Chapter No. 30.

On Monday, Sanford's firefighters will dedicate the city's central fire station at 1309 South French Ave. at 10 a.m. in memory of two colleagues who lost their lives in the line of duty fighting fires.

William Lloyd, "Bill" Price and Hubert H. Daffron.

Price died Aug. 1, 1979 after being injured at the site of a downtown fire. Daffron died at a fire in a residential area of the city on Oct. 27, 1977.

At Longwood Memorial Gardens, the flag and drum corps and the chorales from Longwood Elementary School and a bugler will provide patriotic music Monday for the Veterans of Foreign Wars Post No. 8207 observance. Graves of veterans will be flagged by Boy Scouts and the Civil Air Patrol will participate in the ceremonies.

VFW Post No. 5405 of Winter Springs and VFW Post No. 10050 of Casselberry will conduct joint ceremonies honoring veterans at the All Faiths Cemetery at 10:30 a.m. Monday. Graves of veterans will be flagged and an honor guard will be present.

Meanwhile, governmental offices — municipal, county, state and national — in Seminole County will be closed Monday, except for the city of Altamonte Springs. Altamonte Springs City Hall will be closed on Friday, the traditional day. No mail will be delivered on Monday in all areas.

Students in the public school system will have the day off Monday. But at Seminole Community College it will be classes as usual.

On May 23, the Longwood Police Department volunteers will sponsor a chicken barbecue dinner and dunking booth from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the city park across from the fire hall on Wilma Avenue to raise money for the Department's volunteer Special Weapons and Tactics team. Police Chief Greg Manning said he will be manning the dunking booth.

Tickets for the chicken barbecue are selling at $3 for adults and $1.75 for children. City Commissioner Bill Mitchell is acting as cook for the occasion.

Longwood and Casselberry city council meetings scheduled for Monday have been canceled, while the night meeting normally held in Sanford on Monday night has been postponed until 7 p.m. Tuesday.

Sanford area veterans traditionally alternate hosting the Memorial Day ceremonies at the lakefront memorial.

Matthew Kudlac, member of the Disabled Veterans board of directors, will be master of ceremonies for the event to begin at 11 a.m. Friday.

At 9 a.m. Monday, however, the Disabled Veterans will present a new flag to the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce to be flown from the flagpole at the chamber's building on First Street.

Principal speaker for the 11 a.m. ceremonies will be County Commissioner Sandra Glenn. Opening remarks are to be given by Sanford Mayor Lee P. Moore and Jack Horner, executive manager of the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce, will introduce special guests and dignitaries.

The Seminole High School brass ensemble, under the direction of band director Duane Earhardt, will provide music. Members of the National Guard from the Sanford Army and an honor guard are to be present. A bugler from Seminole High School will play taps from the top of the courthouse, Kudlac said.

Motown Welcomes Russian Rock

By VERNON SCOTT
HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Maybe the last place on earth you'd look for a rhythm and blues rock group would be Moscow, U.S.S.R., but "Black Russian," Motown's newest sound, is Russian through and through.

A trio composed of Serge and Natasha Kapustin (husband and wife) and Vladimir Sheider (Natasha's brother), Black Russian's first album is due for release this month.

"Natasha was born in Latvia, Serge and Vladimir in Siberia. All three are Jews.

They left Russia for artistic and religious convictions. They wanted the freedom to write and perform western music, uninhibited by commissars.

As Soviet citizens go, the trio were living off the fat of the land. They were TV stars, famous, rich (by Russian standards) and respected musicians.

All three had studied classical music. Serge and Natasha were lead guitarist and lead singer, respectively, of a touring state jazz orchestra. Vladimir toured with his own nine-man group, playing keyboard, arranging and singing.

The three attractive young people, who have made their homes in Hollywood for the past three years, recall their lives in Russia with disdain. They despise the Soviet government but express compassion for the Russian people.

"The government limited what we could play," said Serge who, except for his thick accent, could pass for any American rock musician.

"They wanted to hear Soviet ideological pop. A typical lyric: 'Today your personal life is not important. But what's important is the result of the working day.'"

Russians love American music. They'll do anything to get American albums. They listen to the Voice of America and other European radio stations on short wave to hear rock. They love almost anything American.

Natasha remembers clearly the date they departed Moscow, Dec. 30, 1975. It took months of negotiations and $700 apiece. Had they not been Jews, according to Vladimir, they would not have been allowed to depart their native country.

They flew to Vienna for two weeks before moving on to Rome for a three-month stay. They were intent on reaching America, where they had relatives, to establish themselves as recording artists.

After a year and a half in New York, where they worked at a variety of jobs while practicing together musically, the trio was finally heard by Guy Costa, a Motown vice president, who now manages the group.

The trio moved to Southern California in 1977 where they continued to work outside the music business to make ends meet.

"We had to come to Hollywood," Serge said. "Our sound is purely Motown and this is the recording capital of the world."

"Then, 10 months ago, Berry Gordy (president of Motown) heard us," Natasha put in. "He loved our sound and signed us to a contract last November."

"It took us almost four months to complete our album," Vladimir said. "Natasha is the lead singer with Serge on guitar and me and Natasha on keyboards. We wrote all of our songs. Well, Serge wrote 90 percent of them."

Black Russian blends rhythm and blues with a classical Russian jazz overtone for an altogether different sound. The titles are strictly American — "Move Together," "Love's Enough," "Leave Me Now," "Life Is Too Short."

Serge describes their music as a multi-dimensional sound, one never heard on record before in the United States.

Natasha unquestionably is the star of the trio. She has dark hair, almond-shaped Asian eyes and is strikingly sexy. She has a penchant for the American idiom. She is hip, beautiful and talkative.

"We were allowed to do some American rock," she said, "but the authorities frowned on it. We were able to do 'Killing Me Softly' and 'Ain't No Sunshine When She's Gone' to a march rhythm with rock overtones. If that makes sense."

"When we tried to do more American sounds, our performances were canceled. The government said we were getting too western. We were playing what the young people in Russia wanted to hear — rhythm and blues rock."

"Russians love American music. They'll do anything to get American albums. They listen to the Voice of America and other European radio stations on short wave to hear rock. They love almost anything American."

Barbara Diamond puts Greg Grayson and Alan Berguson through the paces in "Theme From Alfred Hitchcock."

LeAnne Sundvall was among the skaters performing in a colorful segment from "Moon River."

It was hot at Melodee Skating Rink Sunday. In fact, the non-airconditioned atmosphere took many patrons back to former days in the good ole summertime when air-conditioning was unheard of. Of course many attending the "Wheel People" show to benefit the American Cancer Society, couldn't relate to those hot and humid, lazy days.

But who really cared as some mopped at their brows with tissues and others fanned themselves with the programs. Why Jean Leonard even whipped out a folding Japanese print fan.

"Where! It was hot. But some 120 skaters didn't seem to notice as they performed to the peak of perfection in 20 different fast-paced routines. Entertainers ranged in age from 20 months to married adults.

And they were all just super.

The costumes were dazzling and the choreography — exceptional.

Both shows Sunday were very well attended.

The little tykes from Krayola Kollege did "Old Woman in the Shoe" with Tina Kennedy as the "old woman," who assisted the young ones through the shoe door.

In the "Ole Mill Stream" segment featuring dancers of all ages, toddlers Kim Poovey and George Smith were the tiny couple who take a kiss now and then while cuddling in the old-fashioned swing.

The only vocalist in the show was petite Laurie Blair who sang "Can't Smile Without You" which brought "dead" clowers, Debbie Bacon, Barbara Crain, Alan Berguson and Eddie Sessions back to life.

Talented Barbara Diamond did a special routine which she dedicated to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William D. Diamond.

Among those showing up from out-of-town to applaud their "special wheel people" were Nell Blair of Daytona Beach; and Dr. and Mrs. A. W. Egge Jr., New Smyrna Beach (he's a Sanford dentist).

Zona and Arthur Beckwith were there to cheer for their Heather, and Mary Frances and Johnny Davis were all smiles over the performance of their grandchildren, Ben and Bo Davis.

According to Chuck Best, owner-operator of the rink and director of the show, announcement will be made in the near future as to how much the show really benefited the cancer society.

Let's hear it — a standing ovation to the "Wheel People" for their outstanding community efforts in the good ole summertime.

Jean said that all "dayly nuts" are invited to join the group. The chapter has come a long way, she said.

Gender-Bender Slightly Annoyed When Called 'Sir'

DEAR ABBY: The letter from the woman with the deep voice who was tired of being called "sir" on the telephone could have been written by me.

I like the way Bea Arthur handled it on one of the "Maude" episodes. When a telephone caller said, "Yes, Mr. Finley," Maude replied, "This is Mrs. Finley. Mr. Finley has a mustache."

VERA IN LOUISVILLE: DEAR VERA: Should you ever sprout a mustache (and many 45-year-old women do), here's an alternate solution for handling it.

DEAR ABBY: Regarding the 45-year-old woman with the deep voice who is frequently called "sir" on the telephone: Why should anyone assume you are a "sir" or a "misterman"? My solution works great.

Example: Me: Operator, may I have the number of so-and-so? Operator: "Sir, the number is..."

Me: "Thank you, sir." There was one wedding picture of a stunning couple only with "1882" scribbled on the back. How I wish I knew who they were!

Dear Abby

couple, about 60, with "Missouri" stamped on the back. My great-grandparents left Missouri in the mid '20s, so it could be them. But we'll never know for sure.

There were several beautiful baby pictures, but very few had names or dates on the backs and no one in the family can identify them now.

Future family genealogists will bless you for providing names, dates and places for these old family pictures. FRUSTRATED IN EUGENE, ORE.: DEAR FRUSTRATED: Thanks for a great idea. Readers, act now—or all those priceless pictures will become strangers without names, and a precious part of your family history will be lost forever.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I were invited to my cousin's home for a gathering of friends and relatives. (About 20 people.) Food and drinks were served.

As we were leaving, we thanked our hostess most sincerely for the enjoyable evening.

Getting married? Whether you want a formal church wedding or a simple, "do-your-own-thing" ceremony, get Abby's new booklet. Send $1 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped (26 cents) envelope to: Abby's Wedding Booklet, 132 Lasky Drive, Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212.

DEAR PERPLEXED: A writer "thank you" indicates the ultimate in graciousness. A phone call is best. Neither is mandatory—but both show good manners.

However, pointing out your failure to follow through with a second thanks shows your cousin to be more lacking in good manners than you.

Preceptor Beta Lambda Installation Ends Season

The final meeting of Preceptor Beta Lambda Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi Sorority, for the 1979-80 year was held at the home of Glenda Emerson, 105 Goodheart Drive, Lake Mary. Outgoing president Delora Mark thanked the officers and committee chairmen for helping during the past year, especially scrapbook chairman Helen Hamner and yearbook chairman Ruth Hoffon.

Mrs. Mark was presented with a quilt made from squares each chapter member designed, and her president's gavel. Vertis Sauls gave a program on library information.

A mother-daughter brunch was held Saturday at 10:30 a.m. at the home of Vertis Sauls, 146 Country Club Circle. The social committee was in charge of arrangements for members and their guests.

A Beta Sigma Phi Memorial service was announced for May 20 for recently deceased member Terry Moore. Helen Hamner read from the Book of Beta Sigma Phi and Joyce Sammet read the City Council report. The next chapter meeting will be May 29 at the home of Delora Mark, 108 Linda Lane, with Ruth Hoffon in charge of the program. Members are to bring a gift for their Beta Buddy who will be revealed at that time. New Beta Buddy assignments will be drawn. Officers elected and installed to direct chapter activities for the ensuing year were: Joyce Sammet, president; Helen Hamner, vice president; Glenda Emerson, recording secretary; Amoret LaRosa, corresponding secretary; and Grace Marie Stinecipher, treasurer. June Helms, recently elected BSP City Council president, will serve as chapter city council representative and Vertis Sauls will serve as alternate. Handwriting May Reflect Personality

By ELLIE GROSSMAN
Specialist at the Herald

NEW YORK (NEA)—Holmes glanced at the sheet of foolscap and said, "Our murderer, Watson, the man who wrote this, is withdrawn, inflexible and athletic." "But Holmes," Watson exclaimed, "how can you tell? That's simply a grocery list!"

And Holmes would have said, it's not what you write, it's the way that you write it.

So say graphologists, a breed of handwriting experts who tell clients who ask whether to hire a candidate for a job, if so-and-so did indeed sign his will, as the defense contends; or what, in the case of clinical psychologists who use "psychography" as a diagnostic tool, a patient's problem areas might be.

What graphologists say rests, they say, on a "what the handwriting looks like as a whole and how often this or that specific shows up" approach. That, rather than the "your capital A equals B and means you're stingy" tack.

But what makes them think writing reflects personality at all?

Says Dr. Henry O. Teltcher, a New York clinical psychologist and graphologist: "It has been empirically observed as well as researched, starting in Europe in the 19th century, that a relationship between personality variables and handwriting samples exists.

"The reason there is a correlation is that writing impulses emanate from the 'writing area' in the cortex of the brain. From there, they travel through the nervous system into the musculature of the fingers, so what appears on paper is what I call 'brain writing.'"

And you can try to disguise your script but, says Teltcher, "Something of the original pattern is always maintained. For instance, the writing of a painter, whether more or less legible as little goes on, would still show signs of originality: much rhythm, a freer hand, more tendency to print some letters. And a bookkeeper would still show the same administrative abilities in the regularity and school-like penmanship of the writing."

So Holmes wasn't so smart after all. He just knew what to look for in that grocery list, the culprit's slant on "whole wheat, diet margarine," etc., clearly demonstrated that he was withdrawn.

Says Felix Klein, director of Manhattan Handwriting Consultant who has been studying graphology for 56 years, "The way your handwriting slants to the right or left and how far it does, indicates how you feel about yourself and the world.

"In our culture, the left is symbolic of the past, of origins, and the right of the future. Therefore, if you slant to the right, you lean towards people and the future, much the way a gregarious person physically leans toward others. If your writing is vertical that tends to mean you're self-sufficient, and if you slant leftward, it's a sign of withdrawal. You want to get away from the world. Of course, you may be withdrawing at some times and not at others."

The culprit also exposed his narrow-minded inflexibility in "eggs, bananas, green beans, and milk." No friendly roundness in these small letters, just lots of sharp angles.

Dwarf Fights Against Alleged Height Discrimination

BOSTON (UPI)—In the last 18 months, 4-foot-3 Barton Gutterman says he has been turned down for more jobs than he can remember. So he's going into politics and let the voters decide whether he's too short to work.

Gutterman, 27, a University of Massachusetts graduate was standing in front of the Statehouse selling pencils in a tin cup Thursday to dramatize his campaign against alleged height discrimination.

"I really just want to show my indignation to this whole system," he said, waving his brand new Massachusetts vendor's license. "I'm completely qualified to work."

"I've been reduced to selling pencils on a street corner for lack of something better," he said. But Gutterman said he won't be peddling pencils for long. He plans to run for the Massachusetts House from Boston's Brighton section. Why politics?

"I'm trying to show people what happened to me. I want to get off welfare. All I really want to do is work," he said.

Among the jobs Gutterman has applied for was Boston police officer.

There is no height requirement to be a Boston cop, but the department turned him down last summer on grounds that he flunked the medical exam and lied on his application.

A spokesman said Gutterman was disqualified because of "recurring back problems and knee pain" and because he was afflicted with achondroplasia—defined as "a hereditary, congenital, familial disturbance... resulting in a peculiar type of dwarfism."

He said Gutterman also said he lived in the city—a requirement—when he actually lived in a suburb.

But Gutterman said he has a residence in Boston and said the only thing wrong with his legs is that one is shorter than the other from "running around in circles" trying to get work.

"They never had any intention of hiring me anyway," he said.

Gutterman, a psychology major in college, said he's also applied for work at "every branch of state government" in the past 18 months, but had no luck.

Publisher Likes Antique Cars, Super Bowl Type Food

By TOM NETSEL
Herald Staff Writer

George Perkins came to central Florida 11 years ago to help with the sale of a chain of newspapers and stayed to eventually head his own publishing company.

Perkins is president of the Seminole Publishing Company, which is located in a converted house on Hermit Trail in Altamonte Springs. They publish a variety of publications ranging from the "Florida Horseman" to religious magazines for Lutherans and Episcopalians.

They have just started a magazine for social studies teachers and have just completed a 300-page book by an Orlando psychiatrist.

"Pet Talk," the magazine for the Humane Society and "Florida Out of Doors" are other publications produced by Perkins' company.

Perkins is single and lives in Altamonte Springs. When he has time he likes to "dabble in art." Another interest is antique automobiles. For 15 years he has owned a 1928 Whippet. He has owned three of them but this one he has kept and restored though it still needs work. "It needs a new interior and the engine has to be turned down and put together," he said.

The Iowa native also enjoys golf. "I'm a very poor golfer," he said, "but I like to hack around."

He usually cooks for himself but enjoys cooking for others on holidays or on camping trips. "I don't get too exotic," he said when discussing his culinary prowess. "I go in for Super Bowl type of cooking." He explained he likes to have a bunch of people over to watch a football game on TV and prepare food that can be eaten at their leisure.

George Perkins takes to the kitchen on special occasions.

Grill Turkey On Barbecue

It's barbecue time again! For an economical change, try curry-barbecued turkey thighs. Serve with a creamy peanut pill-mild and a fresh fruit salad.

Before starting your fire, form the charcoal briquettes into a pyramid. Then cover with a lighter made especially for barbecues. For safety, do not squirt more fuel on hot coals to hasten the fire.

The grill is ready for use when the coals turn a gray ash color in daylight or glow red at night. Then spread the coals in a single layer for consistent cooking.

To save money, barbecue additional food to refrigerate for later meals.

CURRY-BARBECUED TURKEY THIGHS
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 clove garlic, crushed
1 large onion, finely chopped
3 tablespoons flour
1 tablespoon curry powder
Salt to taste
1/4 teaspoon ground cinnamon
1 (1 1/2-ounce) can chicken broth
1 cup applesauce
2 tablespoons brown sugar
4 small turkey hind quarters or thighs with drumsticks, about 1 to 1 1/2 pound each
Vegetable oil
Prepare grill for barbecuing.
Melt butter or margarine in medium saucepan. Add garlic and onion. Saute until tender.
Stir in broth, applesauce and brown sugar. Heat to boiling.
Simmer on low heat 5 minutes, stirring occasionally.
Rinse turkey. If whole bird, cut at joints to separate drumsticks from thighs. Brush with oil. Sprinkle with salt.
Place on grill, 6 to 8 inches above medium-hot coals. Grill 45 minutes, turning occasionally. Brush with curry sauce.
Continue grilling, turning and brushing occasionally until turkey is fork-tender, about 1 1/2 hours more.
Heat remaining curry sauce and serve separately. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 8 servings.

COONUTTY PEANUT PILAF
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 1/2 cups regular long-grain rice (not quick-cooking rice)
2 3-oz. cans water
2 chicken bouillon cubes
1/4 cup shell, roasted peanuts (unsalted and unseasoned)
3 tablespoons toasted flake coconut
Melt butter or margarine in medium saucepan. Stir in rice until grains are coated.
Add water and bouillon cubes. Bring to boiling. Stir in peanuts. Cover. Cook on low heat until liquid is absorbed and rice is tender.
Fluff with fork. Transfer to ovenproof serving dish. Sprinkle with coconut.
Keep warm in oven or at side of grill until ready to serve. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 8 servings.

Nutritious Rice Perfect Accompaniment To Meal

As more members of a household begin to hold down full-time jobs, meals that can be prepared quickly, yet contain the nutrition that the family needs become more important. All you need to do is select time-saving recipes that haven't taken a short cut on nutrition. That's not always easy to do, so here are some recipes that fill all these requirements for the busy cook.

The flavor and appearance of each recipe is special, too. In Chicken and Shrimp Savoy, a little bit of expensive shrimp serves more when extended with chicken in a lovely sauce accented with sherry. Hot dogs become something special, too, when heated with a package of frozen vegetables with onion sauce, some cheese and a dash of pepper sauce. Also shown here, Steak Imperial, a round steak strips first marinated, then simmered in mushroom gravy and a tart red jelly for a delicious blending of unique flavors. Each is served with rice (also quickly and easily prepared) and the combination contains the nutrition essential for a meal.

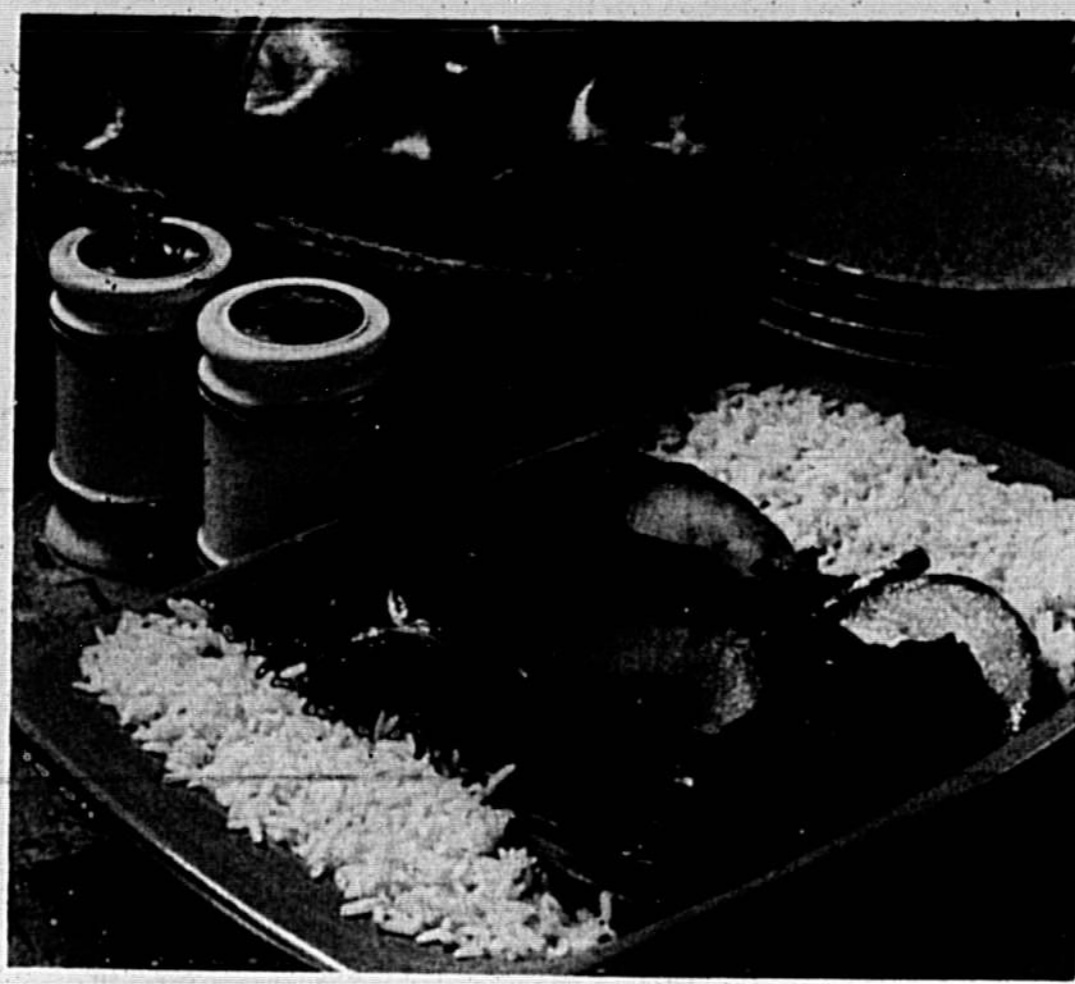

In fact, rice is good to keep on hand for all occasions. It can be stored on the pantry shelf almost indefinitely. And there's no preparation required before cooking. Since rice cooks in about 15 minutes, it can be ready as quickly as the rest of the meal. It costs only about 3 cents per half-cup serving and has the ability not only to add elegance to a shrimp dish, but also to dress up hot dogs. So whether it's the base for a shrimp entrée or served separately, rice is the perfect accompaniment for any meal.

HAWAIIAN STIR-FRY DINNER

3 cups hot cooked rice
2 whole chicken breasts (about 1-1/4 lbs.), skinned, boned, and cut in thin strips
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 package (10 oz.) frozen, Chinese style crispy textured vegetables with seasonings

1 can (13-1/2 oz.) pineapple tidbits (drain; reserve syrup)
1 tablespoon cornstarch
3 tablespoons soy sauce

While rice is cooking, saute chicken in butter for 3 minutes, using a large skillet. Add vegetables and pineapple syrup. Cover and cook 2 minutes. Blend seasonings from frozen vegetables package with cornstarch, soy sauce, and 1/4 cup water. Stir into chicken mixture. Add pineapple; cook, stirring, until sauce is clear and thickened, about 2 minutes. Serve over beds of fluffy rice. Makes 6 servings.

Steak Imperial is a delicious blending of unique flavors. Marinated round steak is simmered in mushroom gravy and a tart red jelly.

America's Trendy Restaurants

Mix Art Deco, Glitz, Food For Sophisticated Dining

The measure of a good Chicago meal used to be by weight—but today a new lighter, more sophisticated dining has evolved in the windy city. With innovative foods and showcase decor, young restaurateurs are creating an ambience that offers more than just a good place to eat. Two of the trendiest places in town are Jimmy's Place and Gordon, each tucked behind storefront facades, and neither located in a remotely fashionable area.

Gordon, a mixture of art deco and glitz, was once a hotel coffee shop. The original tile floor remains, as do the burnished wood paneling and the marble counters, now used as table tops. The menu changes daily, and fresh seafood is the specialty—poached, steamed, grilled or sauteed. Typical of the "nouvelle cuisine" is filet of sole from the North Atlantic stuffed with an Alaska Snow crab mousse and sauced with minted hollandaise, created by owner Gordon Sinclair and chef John Terceak. Chicago's huge wholesale market draws on the world, and Gordon and Jimmy's Place buy fresh fish year 'round, but both restaurateurs are quick to point out that fresh fish is not always available everywhere, while high-quality frozen fish, seafood and frozen and canned Alaska Snow crab are. Handle it properly, they advise... whether you're a week-end gourmet chef or a professional... to create superb seafood cuisine.

The secret is don't "blow" frozen cod, haddock, sole, flounder, ocean perch or pollock before you bake, broil, steam or poach it, and never cook any fish, fresh or frozen, too long. Fish should be prepared with a light touch. Chef de Haute Cuisine Yoshi Katsunuma demonstrates the light touch in full view of guests at Jimmy's Place. The cuisine is international in style, reflecting the chef's Japanese background and his ability to draw imaginatively on cooking procedures from other cultures. Jimmy Rohr, who greets his guests and may take their orders, says today's patrons prefer a variety of beautiful foods in portions not overwhelming in size. On the constantly changing menu, he offers a light and elegant appetizer, perhaps Alaska Snow crab claw with a remoulade sauce.

For dessert, appetizer or entree... or for an entire menu... next time you invite friends to YOUR PLACE to dine, try the new Chicago-style classics featured here for restaurant-style results at home.

FILLETES OF SOLE STUFFED WITH CRAB MOUSSE GLAZED WITH MINTED HOLLANDAISE (6 servings)

6 (2 to 4 oz. each) North Atlantic fresh or frozen fillets of sole
1/2 lb. cleaned and skinned Haddock, Sole, Salmon or Scallops
1 egg white
1 cup heavy cream
1/4 cup chopped fresh mint or 2 teaspoons dried mint flakes, crushed
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon white pepper
2 teaspoons ground nutmeg
Dry white wine
Minted Hollandaise Sauce
Mint Strips

Thaw crab if frozen. Drain and pat dry. Set aside. Wash and dry sole; mix with side of meat cleaver and set aside. In food processor puree 1/2 pound fish with egg white. Transfer to thoroughly chilled mixing bowl of electric mixer. Begin adding cream, 1 tablespoon at a time, beating well after each addition. Fold in crab and seasonings. To assemble, place sole in tinfoil in front of you with the skin side down and tail toward you. Spread an even layer of mousse across the fish and roll up gently. Place all rolls, seam-side down, in shallow 8 or 9-inch butter-proof casserole. Add white wine to cover two-thirds of roll. Bring to a quick boil on range top, remove, cover and bake at 325 degrees F. for 15 minutes. Remove from oven and place fish on broiler-pan serving plate. Cover with sauce and place under broiler until glazed.

MINTED HOLLANDAISE SAUCE (4 servings)

4 egg yolks
1 teaspoon white vinegar
1 teaspoon water
1/4 cup chopped fresh mint or 2 teaspoons dried mint flakes, crushed
1/2 lb. butter, melted
2 tablespoons lemon juice
Salt and pepper, to taste
1/2 cup heavy cream, whipped

Place egg yolks, vinegar, water and mint in blender container. Cover; quickly turn blender on and off. Slowly add warm butter with blender on high speed. Blend until thick and fluffy, about 30 seconds. Season with lemon juice, salt and pepper. Fold in whipped cream and set aside.

If fresh mint is used, fold in mint with whipped cream.

PEARS IN RED WINE (4 servings)

1 can (29 oz.) Bartlett pear halves
2 cups red wine
1/2 cup sugar
1/4 teaspoon ground cinnamon
1/4 teaspoon ground nutmeg
3 tablespoons lemon juice
1 cup milk
3 tablespoons dark rum

Drain pears. In large bowl combine red wine, sugar, cinnamon, nutmeg and lemon juice; add pears. Marinate pears overnight. Transfer all to a saucepan and slowly bring to boil. Remove pears; reduce remaining wine mixture until only about 1/4 cup remains. To prepare rum sauce, in mixing bowl, mix sugar and egg yolks until smooth and lemon colored. Scald milk and pour in a steady stream into bowl. Pour into saucepan and cook on low heat, stirring with a wooden spoon until mixture coats spoon evenly. Remove from heat; place saucepan in cold water until custard is cool, stirring occasionally. Blend in rum.

To serve, place one or two pear halves per serving in a pool of rum sauce and drizzle the reduced caramelized wine sauce very lightly on top.

If custard curdles, beat vigorously with hand beater until smooth.

Linger With Friends Over Casual Plantation Brunch

On a lovely Sunday morning when you have the time, plan to linger over family breakfast or invite a few friends to share a casual meal with you. This one could be called a plantation-style brunch. Even though you may never be closer to a plantation than a movie or a book, it's still possible to have this kind of meal.

With quick or convenience foods such as cornbread or English muffins, packaged, smoked beef and a small can of jar of mushrooms, planning and preparation are simplified. The main dish is a bit unusual in that you saute smoked, thinly sliced beef in butter (whole cornbread bakes) with green pepper and onion, then add flour, seasonings and milk for the white sauce. The creamed beef teams with cornbread squares to serve as the entree for brunch.

Complete the menu with a bowl of seasonal fruit out of which each can help himself or herself. This might even be the centerpiece for brunch because it can include lovely strawberries, grapes, blueberries, peaches, melon balls, apple slices, pineapple chunks or whatever you have on hand. This combination of fruit is enhanced with a sauce, made of brown sugar and cinnamon folded into dairy sour cream.

What beverage would you like? Cafe au Lait (half coffee, half milk) is sophisticated.

CREAMED BEEF OVER CORN BREAD (8 servings)

- Corn Bread:
 - 1 cup all-purpose flour
 - 1 cup corn meal
 - 1/2 cup sugar
 - 4 teaspoons baking powder
 - 1/2 teaspoon salt

Pour into buttered 8-inch square baking pan. Bake 20 to 25 minutes or until wooden pick inserted in center comes out clean. Cool on wire rack. For creamed beef, melt butter in a large saucepan. Sauté green pepper and onion until tender, about 5 minutes. Stir in beef and cook 1 minute longer. Stir in flour and seasonings until smooth. Remove from heat and gradually stir in milk and mushrooms. Bring to boiling, stirring constantly. Boil and stir 1 minute; keep warm. To serve, cut corn bread into squares; slit each in half horizontally. Toast under broiler until golden. Place 2 pieces on each plate; spoon sauce over each.

Main Dish Salads Answer To Eating On 'Lazy' Days

Lazy summer days call for eating to match the weather and activities. That's why the main dish salad has become so popular across the U.S.A., whether you are vacationing, staying at home or commuting to a job.

One of the best is a creamy but tangy chicken salad tastefully seasoned with lemon juice, peel and nutmeg. Celery, chopped pimiento and chives provide crunchiness and color. Sour cream makes a tasty but simple dressing to go with the creaminess of the salad in which the liquid is light cream or half and half. Not only are both types of cream lower in calories than commercial types of dressing, they complement the chicken which is also low in calories.

TANGY CHICKEN SALAD MOLD (8 servings)
Mold:
2 envelopes unflavored gelatin
1 1/4 cups light cream OR half and half
2 1/2 cups chicken broth
2 tablespoons fresh lemon juice
1/2 teaspoon grated lemon peel

- 1/2 teaspoon salt
 - 2 cups finely chopped cooked chicken
 - 1/2 cup chopped celery
 - 2 tablespoons chopped pimiento
 - 1 tablespoon chopped chives
 - 1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
 - Salad greens
- Dressing: (Yield: 3/4 cup)
two-thirds cup dairy sour cream
1 to 2 teaspoons fresh lemon juice
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons slivered almonds
For mold, soften gelatin in light cream in a large saucepan; stir in chicken broth. Heat over low heat, stirring constantly, until gelatin is dissolved. Stir in lemon juice, lemon peel and salt. Chill until jelly-like in consistency. Fold in chicken, celery, pimiento, chives and nutmeg; blend well. Pour mixture in a 5-cup mold. Chill several hours or overnight. Meanwhile, for dressing, combine all ingredients in a small mixing bowl. Chill 1 to 2 hours to allow flavors to blend.

Tangy, colorful molded chicken salad is just perfect for the main dish on a hot and humid summer evening. It can be prepared the evening before.

Braised Bluefish Nicoise is an excellent recipe using seafood in abundance at markets this month.

Best Seafood Buys Are By The Season

Fresh Virginia seafood has been a tradition since 1607 when English explorers bound for Jamestown stumbled onto Indians roasting oysters on the beach. Captain George Percy's diary notes, "we eat some of the oysters, which were very large and delicate in taste."

The abundant oysters, clams, blue crabs and seemingly endless varieties of fish in Virginia's waters became a staple of the colonists' diet and spurred development of one of the state's most important industries. Today, fresh Virginia seafood is shipped to restaurants and retail markets throughout the eastern half of the United States.

Our colonial ancestors couldn't store their catches and had to eat whatever species happened to be in season. Today, the smart consumer still times fresh seafood purchases to seasonal availability to get the best bargains, even though freezing makes it possible to store seafood for many months.

- This spring, Virginia fishermen are hauling in huge catches of bluefish, flounder, spot, croaker and trout. These varieties, like most Virginia seafoods, provide the same nutrition as beef, pork and poultry while offering about one-third the calories. And most species cost less than the other meats.
- This month try bluefish, a bountiful treat more and more seafood lovers are discovering and appreciating. It's high in food value, easy to prepare and excellent table fare. Virginia Chef Richard Tranchard of Le Chateau in Norfolk recommends this recipe:
- BRAISED BLUEFISH NICOISE
- 4 8-ounce fresh bluefish fillets
 - 6 chopped shallots
 - 3 chopped tomatoes
 - 24 sliced green or black olives
 - 1/2-ounce chopped parsley
 - 4 bay leaves
 - 1 clove crushed garlic
 - 1 pinch thyme
 - 1 teaspoon salt
 - 4 half-turns pepper from peppercorn
 - 1 pint dry white wine
 - 4 lemons
 - 4 tomatoes
- Lay fresh or thawed fillets flat on buttered baking tray. Mix together chopped shallots, chopped tomatoes, sliced olives, parsley, bay leaves and crushed garlic with rosemary, thyme, wine, salt and pepper. Spread over fillets. Heat tray over open flame (if available) until butter begins to bubble. Place in preheated 350 degree F. oven. Cook 15 to 20 minutes. Garnish with halves of lemon and tomato. Makes 4 servings.

Reducing Sugar Halts Cavities

Reducing sugar intake is not only good for the waistline. It's also good for the teeth.

And it's good for the pocketbook as the cost of filling cavities continues to rise.

A standard filling used to cost from $3 to $4. Today it costs $10 or even $20. Don't even ask about the price of a gold filling!

Children are major victims of tooth decay caused by eating too many sweets and drinking too much soda pop.

Major responsibility for curbing this epidemic of dental cavities must rest with fathers and mothers.

Don't simply throw up your hands in despair, as many parents seem to be doing these days. Don't rationalize that the children will get their cavities and candies anyway from a grandmother or an aunt or the mother of a playmate.

Be firm! Explain why you are reducing your children's consumption of sugar. Enlist all those concerned with their welfare in your campaign.

The earlier you begin, the sooner your children will internalize their new eating habits.

Don't make the common mistake of thinking that "baby teeth" don't matter. They do! You are risking serious and possibly permanent — damage if you allow your children's first teeth to deteriorate.

Give increased emphasis to brushing the teeth after eating, preferably with a child-size, soft-bristled brush and a tooth-paste containing fluoride. Encourage your children to brush after each meal and snack.

Make sure they are doing a good job of it. Preschoolers often need some help in brushing those hard-to-reach spots.

Also make dental flossing a daily habit for the entire family. If you do not know the proper technique, ask your dentist for instructions.

When was the last time you and the rest of the family had dental checkups? It is recommended that everyone over age 2 visit the dentist every six months for examination and cleaning of the teeth.

If you do not live in a community with fluoridated water, you should also talk with the dentist about painting your children's teeth with fluoride.

Try to make that experience as pleasant as possible for your youngsters. Don't let on to them, for example, that you treat into a cold sweat as soon as you sit down in a dental chair.

If you are shopping around for a dentist, try to find one who is especially sensitive to children. You might wish to consider the use of a pediatric dentist, a dentist whose practice is limited to young patients.

Protein Necessary To Build Muscles

DEAR DR. LAMB—I'm a 16-year-old male, I'm 5 feet 7 and weigh 140 pounds. About a year ago I went on a barbell exercise program and have been exercising regularly for about an hour on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays. My problem is that I cannot build muscle. Also I'm trying to lose some weight and cannot succeed. I thought it might be due to an inadequate diet but I wasn't sure. I eat mostly carbohydrates and I try to eat a correct diet but it doesn't seem to help. Can you give me any advice?

DEAR READER—The two most important aspects of building muscle are the type of exercises and manner in which you do them and the kind of diet that you eat. You should be able to develop muscles on an exercise program three days a week provided it's properly designed. The right exercises, of course, are strength exercises, which include barbells or any of the other devices available in many health clubs and gymnasiums that you can use to contract the muscles against resistance. Some enthusiasts do too much exercise when they're trying to grow muscles. Exercise does use calories and the individual who is doing weight training to develop arm muscles and then spends an excessive amount of time running may burn up the calories that he needs to help build the muscles.

I'm sending you The Health Letter number 54, Weight Training for Energy and Weight Control. It will give you some helpful information on the types of exercise programs needed and how the diet influences your progress. Other readers who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Send your request to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York.

HOROSCOPE

By BERNICE BEDE OSOL

For Thursday, May 22, 1980

YOUR BIRTHDAY May 22, 1980

This coming year offers a whole new set of conditions from which to begin, so don't let past issues cause negative thinking. Be heartened. The change will be a good one.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Restlessness may be your biggest problem today, causing you discomfort if you don't find something challenging to occupy your time. Getting along with other signs is one of the sections you enjoy in your Astro-Graph Letter, which begins with your birthday. Mail #1 for each to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify birth date.

CANCER (June 21-July 21) You can easily be taken in by a bit of gossip or hearsay information today. Take what is passed on to you with a grain of salt.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) The world of finance is not your cup of tea today. You could miscalculate through a lack of understanding of what you're getting into.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Today you have so much to say that you might have to be careful not to dominate conversations. Others want their innings too.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) It isn't like you to be thoughtless, yet today if you're not careful a remark could slip out that another finds offensive. Think before speaking.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Be just as secretive about what a friend has to tell you as you are about yourself. Just because someone confided in you doesn't give you a broadcasting license.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) You could let a good opportunity pass by today because you can't adjust your thinking. Be open to discussion if another is trying to tell you something.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Enjoy the small details you may get your job done faster today, but chances are quality will be lacking. The results will meet with limited approval.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) Your social life may be at a low ebb today because you fail to communicate your feelings. Open up. Let the other person know what's bugging you.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Stay clear of topics that tend to get the family upset. Let time work out the solution, instead of bickering over a futile issue.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) If you're uncertain of how to do something, ask someone who knows, rather than make excuses or a bad mistake. There's no shame in not knowing.

Taurus (April 20-May 20) Your heart and your head may be in conflict when it comes to buying something for one you love. Chances are you'll heed your heart.

WIN AT BRIDGE

South won the opening diamond lead in his hand. At trick two he led a low trump to dummy's jack.

West hopped up with his queen. He realized that if his partner held the ace, the trump contract could be defeated. He switched to his ace and small clubs to defeat four spades.

North criticized his partner for his line of play. He suggested that South overtake his heart queen with dummy's king at trick two. Then he should lead the spade jack to his king and all would be well. The line of play is inferior to the one chosen by declarer.

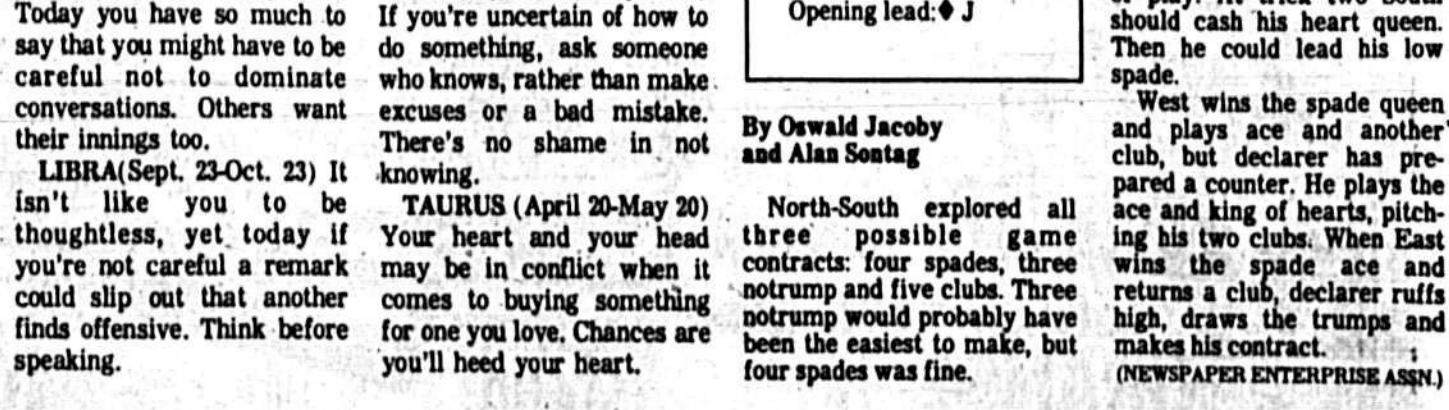

Neither North nor South saw the obvious and best line of play. At trick two South should cash his heart queen. Then he could lead his low spade.

West wins the spade queen and plays ace and another club, but declarer has prepared a counter. He plays the ace and king of hearts, pitching his two clubs. When East wins the spade ace and returns a club, declarer ruffs high, draws the trumps and makes his contract.

By Oswald Jacoby and Alan Sontag

North-South explored all three possible game contracts: four spades, three notrump and five clubs. Three notrumps would probably have been the easiest to make, but four spades was fine.

Make-Ahead Meals Are A Delightful Summer Challenge

Summer meals can be a challenge, but what a delightful one! As weather changes from cool and crisp to warm and sunny, it dictates food to match.

One of the best ways of assuring your family well-balanced meals during summer is to plan and prepare them in advance. Planning avoids repeating foods too often; preparing in advance means that you can assemble foods before the heat wills you.

Salads come in for their share of attention, whether they're creamy and fruited varieties, served with hot rolls, or hearty main-dish types with cheese for protein and substance. Either kind should be chilled thoroughly.

CROWN O'FRUIT SALAD

Salad: 1 can (20 oz.) crushed pineapple in juice 3 envelopes unflavored gelatin 1/2 teaspoon salt 2 cups cottage cheese 2 cups dairy sour cream 1/2 cup chopped blanched almonds 1 tablespoon grated lemon peel 1/2 teaspoon vanilla Fruit topping: 1/2 cup water 1/2 cup orange juice 1 tablespoon sugar 1/2 teaspoon salt 1 envelope unflavored gelatin 1 pint fresh strawberries, halved 1 fresh peach, sliced 1/2 cup fresh blueberries 5 cantaloupe balls

For salad layer, drain pineapple, reserving juice (about 1 1/2 cups); set pineapple aside. Sprinkle gelatin and salt over juice. Heat over low heat, stirring constantly, until gelatin is dissolved; set aside. Beat cottage cheese in large mixer bowl at high speed of mixer until almost smooth. Beat in pineapple, cream, nuts, lemon peel and vanilla. Stir in gelatin mixture. Pour into a 9-inch spring-form pan. Chill until almost set. Combine water, orange juice, sugar and salt in a small saucepan. Sprinkle gelatin over mixture. Heat over low heat, stirring constantly, until gelatin is dissolved; cool to room temperature. Gently press strawberry halves, cut side down, around outer edge of salad layer. Next, overlap peach slices in a circle inside of strawberries; then make a ring with the blueberries. Center the melon balls. Pour gelatin mixture over fruit. Chill several hours until set. To serve, place salad on lettuce-lined serving plate. Remove sides of pan. Serve with Buttery Parmesan Crescents and Creamy Iced Coffee.

BUTTERY PARMESAN CRESCENTS

2 packages (8-oz. each) refrigerated crescent dinner rolls 1/2 cup (1 stick) butter, melted 1/2 cup grated Parmesan cheese

Preheat oven to 375 degree F. Unroll dough. Brush each piece generously with melted butter; sprinkle with Parmesan cheese. Roll up as package directs. Place on unbuttered baking sheet. Drizzle remaining butter over crescents; sprinkle with remaining cheese. Bake 13 to 15 minutes or until golden. Serve warm with Crown Fruit Salad.

CREAMY ICED COFFEE

6 tablespoons instant coffee 6 tablespoons sugar 1/2 cup hot water 1 1/2 pints vanilla ice cream, softened 6 cups cold milk 1/2 pint vanilla ice cream

Combine coffee and sugar in hot water in a 2-cup liquid measure; refrigerate until cold. Place half the coffee mixture in blender container; add half of the ice cream and half of the milk; cover. Blend until smooth and frothy. Repeat with remaining ingredients. Serve in tall, chilled glasses topped with a scoop of vanilla ice cream.

MEAL-IN-ONE BEAN SALAD

MUSTARD DRESSING (4 servings) Mustard Dressing: Yield: approx. 1 cup 4 teaspoons sugar 1 tablespoon wine vinegar 1 teaspoon salt 1 teaspoon prepared mustard 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce 1/2 teaspoon pepper 1 carton (8 oz.) plain yogurt

Salad: 1 package (10 oz.) frozen baby lima beans, cooked and drained 1 can (1 1/2 oz.) red kidney beans, rinsed and drained 1 can (1 1/2 oz.) garbanzo beans, rinsed and drained 1 cup chopped onion 2-3rd cup chopped celery Salt and pepper to taste Leaf lettuce, chilled 4 hard-cooked eggs, sliced 4 ounces Cheddar cheese, cut into julienne strips

For dressing, combine sugar, vinegar, salt, mustard, Worcestershire and pepper; fold in yogurt. Chill, covered, 1 to 2 hours to allow flavors to blend. For salad, combine beans, onion and celery; salt and pepper to taste. Chill, covered, 1 to 2 hours to allow flavors to blend. To serve, arrange lettuce on serving plate. Spread bean mixture over lettuce. Overlap slices of egg in a large circle on top of beans. Place cheese strips in center. Serve dressing separately to spoon over salad. Individuals toss salads until well combined.

CRUNCHY COTTAGE CHEESE SANDWICHES (6 servings) 1 cup cottage cheese 1/2 cup chopped nuts 1/2 cup chopped celery 1/4 teaspoon seasoned salt 12 slices whole wheat and nut bread Butter Leaf lettuce, chilled 6 slices (1-oz. each) Cheddar cheese 24 cucumber slices, chilled 12 pineapple slices, chilled and well drained

Beat cottage cheese in small mixer bowl on high speed until almost smooth, about 5 minutes. Stir in nuts, celery and seasoned salt. Chill, covered, 1 to 2 hours to allow flavors to blend. To assemble sandwiches, butter one side of each slice of bread. Cover 6 slices, buttered side up, with lettuce, one slice of cheese and four cucumber slices. Spread about 1-3rd cup cottage cheese mixture over cucumber slices. Top with 2 slices of pineapple and second slice of bread, buttered side facing pineapple. Serve immediately or cover with plastic wrap and refrigerate up to 30 minutes.

Festival Turns On Charleston

CHARLESTON, S.C. (UPI) - The Spoleto Festival USA, an annual multi-arts extravaganza that has drawn worldwide acclaim, has turned this historic city into a cultural mecca and provided the setting for several premieres, including the debut of Arthur Miller's first play in a decade.

The 17-day festival begins Friday with an opening ceremony and the performance that night of the Bellini opera "La Sonnambula." The event is expected to draw about 100,000 visitors, who will pour an estimated $25 million into the Charleston economy.

"The primary value of Spoleto, which I felt originally would be the case, is its intrinsic artistic contribution to the community," said Mayor Joseph P. Riley Jr., an advocate of the arts.

"The cultural horizons of the citizens of our community have exploded. Spoleto has whetted the artistic appetite of our citizens young and old. The dividends have only just begun to be obvious."

The festival, which is operating on a budget of $1.6 million in its fourth year, has turned Charleston into an art form itself, Riley said.

"What the festival has done and continues to do is tell the world about the great beauty, architecture, splendor and ambience of Charleston," he said.

The festival, founded by composer Gian Carlo Menotti as an American counterpart to one he started in Spoleto, Italy, 23 years ago, includes opera, theater, film, dance, choral offerings, jazz, classical and country music and mime. Menotti also serves as artistic director.

The 18th century city that serves as the festival's American home also is participating by staging Pico Spoleto, a series of mostly free performances in parks, churches, restaurants, theaters and auditoriums that serve as showcases for young artists in music, theater, dance, mime and art.

Pico Spoleto will provide chamber music concerts, folk music programs, arts and crafts fairs and innovative theater pieces.

Tickets sales for Spoleto have been strong this year, running $100,000 ahead of last year and are on target with projections, said James Kearney, general manager of the festival.

Town Will Be Crowded

CHARLESTON, S.C. (UPI) - If you've waited until now to make motel or hotel reservations for the 17-day Spoleto Festival USA beginning Friday, don't expect to be close to many of the events.

"The weekends are pretty booked up," said Joyce London at the city's Visitors Information Center.

"The large crowds are filling quickly because they are small and have only a few availability."

At the first class lodging rates, where a room with double bed generally costs $55 to $65 a night, all the weekend availabilitys have been taken.

CITRUS VEAL ROLLS-UPS

ORANGE DESSERT SQUARES

Veal Roll-Ups Score First In Citrus Contest

Gerhard Kowalski, chef at U.S. Fidelity and Guaranty Co. executive dining room, submitted the winning entry in the sixth annual Sunshine Recipe Contest.

Kowalski's winning recipe, Citrus Veal Roll-Ups, is a delightful combination of thinly sliced veal and veal with fresh orange in the filling. It makes a rich, flavorful dish with the refreshing brightness of citrus.

"As his prize, Mr. Kowalski received $100 and an all-expense paid trip for two to Florida, where he will compete against the winners from other food service firms for the national championship. He and his guest will be staying at the Lake Buena Vista Resort Community, Disney World."

"The sixth annual Sunshine Recipe Contest cook-off was at Webster Adult Education Center, Winter Park. The Grand National Champion, selected by a panel of judges representing consumers as well as specialists in the food service fields, will win an additional $500.

A native of Poland, Kowalski earned his chef's diploma, as well as a master's degree in Business Administration, in Austria. He began his career at the Maxtone Hotel, Austria, where he spent 21 months before coming to the Bannitt Country Club in Baltimore. Kowalski joined U.S. Fidelity and Guaranty Co. nine months ago as the chef in their executive dining room.

INTRODUCING C&C COLA.

TASTES GREAT! COSTS LESS!

Read why and you may never enjoy paying more for Coke® and Pepsi® again!

C&C Cola is here!

Beginning today you don't have to pay more for a cola that has great taste and uses the same high quality cola nuts as Coke and Pepsi.

Why C&C Cola tastes great.

John Ritchie is one of the best soft drink flavor technologists in America. His taste buds are said to be among the most sensitive in the world. John Ritchie has been with Cantrell & Cochrane, makers of C&C Cola since 1962. He formulated C&C Cola's great taste using the highest quality cola nuts and other natural ingredients.

As a very young man, John Ritchie formulated another great cola, Pepsi-Cola.

C&C, Coke and Pepsi are three different great-tasting colas. But, John Ritchie thinks C&C Cola tastes a little bit better, naturally.

Why C&C Cola costs less than Coke and Pepsi.

Depending on where you live or shop, a six-pack of 12 ounce cans of Coke and Pepsi costs you about 30¢ to 60¢ more than C&C Cola.

C&C Cola charges less because Cantrell & Cochrane deliver their cola the inexpensive way—in big trailers direct to supermarket warehouses. One big delivery costs much less.

Coke and Pepsi charge more because they deliver their cola the expensive way—in smaller trucks to many individual stores. Many little deliveries cost much more. If C&C delivered this way, C&C would have to charge more too!

Today, the people at C&C, like John Ritchie, are dedicated to bringing you the finest quality soft drinks in the world—at the right price.

Try C&C Cola. Use the introductory 25¢ off coupon to save even more. Once you taste C&C Cola you may never enjoy paying more for Coke and Pepsi again.

Dexatrim...the time-release way to lose weight.

People from all over the country are writing to us about their results with the Dexatrim Diet Plan. Many tell us Dexatrim helped them lose the weight they couldn't lose alone.

Proven effective in seven years of clinical tests. Just one Dexatrim capsule can help curb your appetite during meals and in-between for up to 12 full hours.

And now, there's Extra Strength Dexatrim, with 50% more appetite suppressant...you can't buy a stronger capsule without a prescription.

So if you want to lose weight without going hungry, try Dexatrim...the time-release way to lose weight!

"Dexatrim helped me lose the weight I couldn't lose alone. After my last child was born, I was having difficulty getting back to my normal weight. Dexatrim helped me lose 10 pounds in just 17 days."
Dobbie Bailey,
Dolton, Illinois

"Extra Strength Dexatrim helped to control my appetite so I could take my weight off. My oldest son was so proud of me that he brought friends home to see how I looked!"
Sue Anne Howe

Drinking Age Going Up To 19

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI) — After weeks of parliamentary maneuvering, the Florida House passed a bill today raising the legal drinking age to 19.

The action appeared to seal the fate of drinking at 18 because the Senate already has approved a nearly identical measure and Governor Bob Graham has said he will sign either one.

The House approved the bill by an 82-27 vote after proponents spent weeks trying to get the controversial issue to the floor.

Both of Seminole County's legislators — Rep. Bobby Brantley, R-Longwood, and Rep. Robert Hallaway, D-Altamonte Springs — voted in favor of the legislation.

Proponents of raising the drinking age employed a parliamentary tool Wednesday to free the measure for a final vote.

Twice this session they had succeeded through parliamentary maneuvering in bringing the issue to the House floor, only to be thwarted at the last moment when the bills were yanked back into various committees.

One of the measures (HB 161), however, had cleared both the appropriations and finance and tax committees and was resting in a category of the House calendar known as "unfinished business."

As the House convened Wednesday morning, Rep. Bill Lockwood, D-Hialeah, moved to waive the rules and consider the unfinished business so he could pull an unrelated bill into his veterans affairs committee.

After his motion was routinely approved, Rep. Fran Carlton, D-Orlando, saw her opportunity and immediately moved to consider the drinking bill as well.

Speaker Hyatt Brown had no choice but to accept the motion and the bill rolled over to a final reading today.

Juvenile Crime Rate Jumps 8% In County

By DAVID M. RAZLER
Herald Staff Writer

Arrests of juveniles in Seminole County rose 8 percent last year, an increase of more than 4 percent, measured against the rise in population.

More children from Sanford were arrested than from any other area in the county.

These are two of the findings in a report released today by the Seminole Youth Planning Council on youth crime in the county from Sept. 1, 1978 to Aug. 31, 1979.

According to the report, made public this morning by Circuit Judge Dominick Salfi, slightly more than 2 percent of the school-age population of the county found itself in some kind of trouble for breaking the law last year.

Close to 1,600 arrests were made of people between the ages of 7 and 18, with the number peaking at 16.

Most of those arrested were male — only 330 girls were charged with crimes during the year.

Of the 1,595 charges filed against youths in 1978-79, 365 were brought against Sanford residents. Longwood youths were charged in 235 cases. Altamonte Springs juveniles were charged with 232 offenses.

The most popular crimes were petty thefts and burglaries, the report says. Grand larceny and shoplifting also were popular offenses, although youths were charged with offenses ranging from use of fireworks to murder.

Last year, three 7-year-olds were arrested, one for theft, one for trespassing, and one for shoplifting.

Two youths, one 14 years old and one whose age was not reported, were charged with prostitution. One of the prostitution suspects was male.

Five youths between the ages of 14 and 17 were arrested for use of obscene language. Nine youths were charged with armed robbery.

Only four of the 1,595 charges filed ended with the defendants found not guilty, although in 453 cases a formal declaration of guilt or innocence was withheld pending reports on future behavior.

Sixteen of the charges led to the youths going into the regular court system, to be tried as adults.

More than 12 percent of the charges filed, 254 of them, were arbitrated by the county's program designed to keep first-time offenders in minor crimes out of the court system, while still making them responsible for restitution.

Four-hundred twelve of the charges were dismissed.

Water rolls over the curbing at 20th Street and Oak Avenue in Sanford Wednesday night after 2.3 inches of rain fell on the city.

Thunder Storm Knocks Out Power, Floods Area Streets

By JANE CASSELBERRY
Herald Staff Writer

A powerful lightning charged storm moved through the Seminole County region late Wednesday afternoon leaving many residents without power for several hours.

The storm also dumped 2.3 inches of rain on Sanford flooding streets and telephone cables.

Florida Power Corp. spokesman Tracey Smith said a total of 10,000 customers were affected by outages caused by lightning damage in several areas of South Seminole County.

More than 7,500 customers in Altamonte Springs and Forest City were hit by outages beginning at about 8:20 p.m. All of these were repaired by 8 p.m. and some were out only one hour, Smith said.

Some 2,000 customers in the southeast Seminole County subdivision of Eastbrook, where lightning hit a transformer, were among those affected.

"There were scattered outages throughout Orange (County) and south Seminole," Smith said, "and some were without power for many hours. There was a whole lot of lightning damage and one of our major power lines was knocked out. That was some kind of storm."

Approximately 100 customers in Longwood were without power for several hours earlier Wednesday afternoon after an automobile ran into a guy wire supporting a power pole at Longdale and Highland avenues.

Scott Burns, district manager for Florida Power & Light Co., reported 3,500 to 4,000 customers were without power Wednesday night in scattered areas of north Seminole and Deltona. Power was restored in most areas by midnight, but repair crews worked all night, he said.

There were some customers affected in Lach Arbor, Pinecrest and Sunland areas of Sanford, but power outages were mostly in outlying areas such as Geneva and Chuluota.

Tree damage to lines was minimal, Burns said, but lightning blew out laterals, burned transformers and knocked out two feeders. He said the storm hit Deltona about 4:30 p.m., moving in to Seminole at about 5 p.m. "There still may be one or two lines out in Deltona," he added.

While the Winter Park Telephone Co. which serves south Seminole did not have any storm-related problems, according to spokesman Brad Johnson, Southern Bell Telephone crews in Sanford were still trying to dry out cables this morning as the result of heavy rains.

Sanford Southern Bell Manager Woody Wilson said crews worked until midnight Wednesday and cleared up 200 trouble calls. He said the wet cables had caused a problem with slow dialing in the central office.

A motorist Wednesday evening drives through the flooded intersection at Mellonville and Crescent Avenues in Sanford, where water backed up over private property.

Twelve-year-old Laotian student Phitsamone studies English with volunteer helper Dorothy Shank at Longwood elementary school. Ms. Shank does not speak Laotian, but has been trained in how to teach Laotian students English by Laotian-speaking Dr. G. E. Roffe. In Seminole County, 145 students are helped to learn English by volunteers who work with them on a one-to-one basis, but school officials admit only 46 volunteers speak the language of the students they are tutoring. Layer To Respond To Feds

By DIANE PETRYK
Herald Staff Writer

Superintendent of Schools William P. Layer will rebut certain federal Department of Education (DOE) charges that the Seminole County school district discriminates against non-English speaking students, although School Board Attorney Ned Julian Jr. advised him against it.

In a letter Layer received May 15, the DOE Office of Civil Rights demanded that the school district explain the action it will take to correct the civil rights violations within 30 days. In 90 days, the action must be implemented, the letter said.

At the school board's regular meeting Wednesday evening, Layer indicated he would send a letter that would rebut two of the five conclusions made by DOE investigators.

"They're not asking for rebuttal," Julian said. "That's not going to get the job done. They've made their decision that what we're doing is not sufficient, whether we agree with it or not. Their findings are factual."

"No, they're not," Layer replied. "I'm going to give you some good common sense advice," Julian said. "Along with arguing with them about their report we need to give some consideration to what it says. If not we will find ourselves in a lawsuit that may take two years."

School officials acknowledge that non-compliance with the DOE's requests could cost the school system $3 million a year in money given to it directly from that department. Federal money given to the district through the state might also be in jeopardy.

The DOE reported it found the Seminole school district failed to:

- 1) Adequately identify students whose primary home language is other than English;
- 2) Adequately assess and classify these students by the level of their English language capabilities and proficiencies;
- 3) Identify any language deficiencies by providing an instructional program designed to meet these students' special needs;
- 4) Provide students an instructional program to acquire skills and concepts necessary for promotion;
- 5) Adequately notify national origin minority group parents of school activities which are called to the attention of other parents.

Layer called the DOE "all wet" on items three and four.

"Three and four are educational conclusions they have no weight of evidence to support. They're drawing these conclusions on the skimpiest evidence you've ever seen."

Layer agreed that items one, two and five should be corrected. He said there has been no board policy on these matters.

"But it has been our practice when any person is brought to the school to enroll who is not proficient in English we try to teach that child English as quickly as possible."

"They (the DOE) have indicated to me," Julian said, "that they are going to be the judge of whether we are fulfilling our legal obligation to those students that speak English as a second language. Whether we agree or not, it's the law. Once they decide we are not going to comply, they'll refer it to the Justice Department."

"We need to do more now than fuss with them about their conclusions. Maybe we'd better spend our energies and talents trying to accommodate them," the attorney said.

But at least one school board member agreed with Layer. "It's time somebody tells the bureaucracy where to get off and not kowtow," said William Kroll.

Although board member Roland Williams said he would favor the board taking action to direct the superintendent to "follow up on compliance," with the DOE's requests, the board took no action since the DOE's letter was addressed to Layer.

"You'd better believe I'm going to respond," Layer said. "I'm the one who will get sued if I don't."

The board did acknowledge Layer's offer to bring his response back to the board for their perusal before it is forwarded to the DOE. The deadline for the response is 30 days from May 15.
