Russia, West Hit Agreement On Discussions

No One Is Injured In Auto Collision On State Road 415

An accident was reported last night at 10:25 o'clock on State Road 415 (Celery Ave.) about one mile east of Sanford with two persons involved.

The first car was a 1949 Buick sedan driven by Albert Saunders, 27, whose address was given as Rt. 1 Sanford.

The other car was a 1949 Dodge pickup truck driven by Thomas L. Frasier, 27, who lives on Celery Ave.

It was reported that the truck was in the process of turning in a driveway. There was another truck behind it that stopped so that the Dodge could make its way. The Dodge reportedly went around the stopped truck and hit the left front side of the Dodge pickup. There were no casualties although the driver of the truck was "shaken up a bit".

The Buick then traveled about six or eight feet and hit a telephone pole. Charges of improper passing were made against the driver of the Buick.

Damages were estimated at about $800 for the Dodge pickup and a total loss to the Buick.

Investigating officers were P. W. Williams and Deputy E. L. Eubanks of the sheriff's office.

Minimum Wage Gets Roadblocked As Lawmakers Feud

WASHINGTON (AP)—Only Senate House agreement on an effective date stood in the way today of a $1-an-hour federal minimum wage.

The House yesterday overrode, 180-148, President Eisenhower's request for a limit of 80 cents an hour and by a top-heavy 262-54 vote approved the higher wage floor for most workers in interstate commerce. The present minimum is 75 cents.

The Senate, which previously had approved the same 80 figure, had voted to make it effective next Jan. 1. The House voted for March 1.

The House sent its bill immediately to conference with the Senate for a compromise on the date.

Yesterday's House action climaxed two days of debate in which supporters of the administration's 80-cent limit predicted a new inflationary spiral would be touched off if a higher pay figure was enacted.

Secretary Of Navy Foresees More Subs

GROTON, Conn. (AP)—Secretary Charles Thomas said today the Navy, with eight atomic submarines already authorized, hopes to build many others "in rapid succession thereafter."

His remarks were prepared for launching ceremonies for the second atomic-powered sub, the Seawolf, a short distance away, as if to emphasize the growing speed of the program, workmen prepared to lay the keel for a third during the day. The first was the Nautilus.

The three ordered to congressional action this year in approving four additional atomic-driven submarines and added:

"This means that this fiscal year the Navy will have eight nuclear-powered submarines in being or under construction and, in rapid succession thereafter, many others."

Knowles Announces Opening Of Road

City Manager Warren E. Knowles announced that the San Marcos Ave. from Second to Fourth street will be closed today and opened to traffic.

He also said that the department will start on Fortification Ave. from San Marcos St. south to the railroad tracks. They will be closed today and opened.

GENEVA (AP)—Russia and the Western powers reached substantial agreement today on plans for continuing discussions of German unification and European security after the summit conference.

The foreign ministers met this morning for almost two hours and reportedly put the program in shape. Then they arranged a special meeting of their heads of government to submit it for approval.

There was no immediate information as to details of the plan, but Western sources disclosed they hoped for a meeting of the four foreign ministers in Geneva in October to take up the two key problems.

This would allow three months for the experts of the four countries to study all the proposals made at the summit meeting. The Western powers also would have a chance to observe the outcome of the visit of West German Chancellor Adenauer to Moscow.

The heads of governments—President Eisenhower, Soviet Premier Bulganin, British Prime Minister Eden and French Premier Faure—planned to take up the disarmament question after disposing of the arrangements on Germany and security.

The only official announcement on the foreign minister's discussions was a brief communique.

Loyalty Of Taylor Found By Papers

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Washington Post and Times Herald said today a U.S. security board has found "reasonable doubt" of the loyalty of this country of William Henry Taylor, an official of the International Monetary Fund.

The paper said the finding was made after a hearing by the International Organizations Employees Loyalty Board. Because the IMF is an international body not under U.S. government control, the board's finding was an "advisory recommendation." The agency itself must determine what action, if any, to take.

"The board is convinced," the paper quoted its opinion, "that the employee (Taylor) has engaged in espionage and subversive activity against the United States... and that he was and possibly still is an adherent to the Communist ideology."

Ronald S. Garner Accepted By UofM School Of Medicine

Ronald S. Garner of East Seminoles Blvd., Sanford, has been accepted as a pre-resident in the 1955-56 freshman class at the University of Miami School of Medicine, according to announcement by Dr. Homer Marsh, Dean. He previously attended the University of Alabama.

He will be among the 76 Florida residents, accepted from 180 applicants. This freshman class, representing 25 counties, is the largest accepted in the three-year history of the University of Miami School of Medicine, which opened September 22, 1952. The total four-year student body now numbers 203.

The first permanent unit of the school, a three-story air conditioned out-patient building at Jackson Memorial Hospital, Miami, was dedicated in ceremonies last Sunday (July 17). Junior and senior medical students will receive a large portion of their clinical experience at this facility.

Bible School Sets Closing Exercises

Closing exercises for the Church of God Daily Vacation Bible School will be held tomorrow night at 7:45 p. m.

Awards will be presented to outstanding students, and to all who have perfect attendance records. The program will feature the theme, "Shining With Christ," and will be directed by Mrs. Donald Whitten and Mrs. Bruce Green.

A display of handicraft work by the children will be shown, the Rev. Harry Henderson, pastor, said.

LEGION SET TO HOLD
HAGERSTOWN, Md. (AP)—Fairchild Aircraft Division has announced plans to build a light jet plane suitable as an executive transport for industrial companies. The program will feature the four-seat plane which carries a crew of two plus seven passengers, and would cost at $20 million per hour.

All-Around Slate Presented SHS Band Members

Five members of the Seminole High School band are combining sunshine and expert band instruction at the Summer Band Camp of the University of Miami in Coral Gables. This camp is an annual affair and SHS band director, Ernest Cowley, is now serving his third year as an instructor there for the five weeks period.

High school band students from seven states are receiving five weeks of intense musical instruction along with a full schedule of beach parties, free movies and tickets to the Pop Concerts of the University of Miami Symphony Orchestra every Sunday night.

Director of the Band Camp is Fred McCall, University of Miami bandmaster, and honorary director and advisor is Henry Fillmore, known all over the country for his marches.

The students have played under the batons of Morton Gould and Leroy Anderson, as well as Fillmore. The camp will end July 22.

12 Soviets Begin Two-Day Course On U. S. Farming

AMES, Iowa (AP)—Twelve important Russian Communists start today a two-day course at one of the leading U.S. agricultural schools. Their subject—techniques and technology of capitalist farming. The school—Iowa State College.

The dozen visiting Soviet agricultural dignitaries cut quite a swath across the state of Iowa in their initial three-day journeyings through rich corn country and also stopped to inspect individual farms.

They got a glimpse of Iowa's farms and Iowa farmers got a peek at the Russian visitors.

But for today and tomorrow the program is rather different. The Russians are to be given a general picture of the activities of an American agricultural school and more important the chance to indulge their specific curiosity in particular subjects.

Railroad Workers Present New Watch To D. C. Spivey

Effective April 30, 1955, D. C. Spivey was granted an annuity by the Railroad Retirement board. He entered the service of Atlantic Coast Line Railroad Co. on July 19, 1922, as a laborer and was later transferred to car repairer helper, then to car repairer.

At the close of the day's work Monday co-workers in the car department presented Spivey with a Waltham watch. The presentation was made by general foreman L. M. Cornell who stated that Spivey's record was clear and that he regretted losing such an employee from the service of the company as well as from personal association.

The retiring railroad man makes his home in Sanford with his family at 1615 W. Third St.

Mrs. B. Grantham Tells Of 'Hot Seat' On Greyhound Bus

Have you ever gotten a "hot seat" without wanting one? Well Mrs. Belle Grantham, who works for County Agent C. R. Dawson and AEC County Committee as secretary, almost did.

Mrs. Grantham rides to De Land every night on a Greyhound bus. A few days ago she had just taken a seat behind the driver and had settled back to enjoy the ride. Just passing the lakefront where the buses turn there was a cry from two Orlando college girls and a gasp from her friend. Under the seat, where she was sitting, was pouring out black smoke. "I didn't feel a thing," she commented.

A shortage in the lines somewhere had caused sparks and there was no damage to the passengers or the bus. "My first thought was the gasoline tank," she said. "But of course I learned later that it was in the back." The passengers got off and took the bus directly behind them.

Masked Bandits Hold Up Mail Train At Manhattan Stop

NEW YORK (AP)—Two masked desperadoes held up an outboard mail express train last night as it stopped briefly in an open cut below the Manhattan River level near the Hudson Street shore.

As in a Wild West movie scenario, they bound and gagged a mail clerk and dumped eight mail sacks on the tracks. Then they disappeared into the night with the bags.

Police said today the bags contained worthless canceled checks, each bag insured at $50.

The bandits apparently jumped on the 11-car New York Central train when it stopped for inspection of its air brakes.

An interstate alarm was flashed for two men described as in their 20's and wearing dark suits and hats. Both were armed. The FBI joined in the hunt.

"They were hearse and clever," said Deputy Police Commissioner James Kennedy. "They knew exactly what they were doing."

AEC Official Says Budget Cuts Force Slowdown

WASHINGTON (AP)—The head of the Atomic Energy Commission says cuts in the agency's budget voted by Congress would force a slowdown in the production of weapons materials.

The Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee has promised to seek an added 101 million dollars for the AEC. Other legislators said the AEC money bill, already enacted into law, was inadvertently reduced more than was intended.

The Senate appropriations committee, considering a miscellaneous money bill to which new atomic funds can be added, heard a plea for such action yesterday from AEC Chairman Lewis L. Strauss.

Strauss said the original cuts would "force us to cut programs... primarily... the production of weapons materials and the development of reactors for both military and civilian uses."

Peggy Is Settled In New Quarters

Peggy the bear was transferred this morning from her old cage to the new one that has just been completed.

Peggy is blind and must learn to feel her way around the cage and know it inch by inch. When first entering the cage this morning she fell into the pool and bumped into the bars but found her way into the den without a misstep.

The new cage, for which plans were drawn up by Mrs. Arnold Hood, zoo keeper, has a swimming pool, all concrete floor, a den and a shower which may be turned on at any time. It is roomier and cleaner than the old one.

Attendance is good in all groups. A total of 329 have registered in the younger age group (6-11). A conservative daily average attendance of youngsters and teenagers is 225. Participations per week of all youngsters in all activities average from 2,000 to 2,500.

Christensen has planned for Aug. 5, the last day of recreation, to be a big day. A picnic will be held at the Scout Camp site on Silver Lake to which all age groups and their parents are invited. Games will be the order of the morning and after lunch a huge dance is being planned at the Crater, and the hope is to hire a band for this gala event.

Schumacher Chosen For Farmers Group

Henry J. Schumacher, Rt. 2, Sanford is the new member of the Seminole County Committee for the Farmers Home Administration. His appointment became effective July 1, 1955. Curtis J. Green, the agency's county supervisor announced.

Schumacher operates a large truck farm and has a long background of successful farming experience in Seminole County. He formerly served one term as a FFA commissioner.

The other two members of the committee are Carter H. Hart of Geneva and William H. Wright of Sanford, both successful farmers and long time residents of Seminole County.

There is a Farmers Home Administration county committee in every agricultural county in the country. The committee determines the eligibility of applicants and helps the county supervisor adapt the agency's loan policies and services to local conditions.

Each member is named for a three-year term, and one appointment expires each year. A member completing his three-year term cannot succeed himself. At least two of the members must be farmers.

The Farmers Home Administration makes loans to farmers to buy, improve, enlarge, or operate efficient family-type farms. It also lends money to farmers or their nonprofit associations to establish and carry on approved soil and water conservation practices. Purposes include establishing and improving permanent pastures, terracing, soil erosion practices, and many other conservation measures, as well as irrigation and farmstead water improvements. Most of the soil and water conservation loans and loans to buy, improve, or enlarge farms are made from funds advanced by private lenders and insured by the agency.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Passman (D-La.) accused foreign aid officials yesterday of giving misinformation to senators and said, "We will demand they either retract what they told the Senate or... be discharged."

If no retraction is forthcoming, he said, he will seek to have all foreign aid funds held up for an inquiry into "the whole mess."

Passman held a House Appropriations subcommittee which cut $27 million dollars from new foreign aid funds.

Passman said in an interview foreign aid officials had misrepresented to the Senate committee that Rep. Taber (R-N.Y.) had given his sanction to their action in raising money voted in previous years.

"I never approved such a thing," said Taber, senior Republican on the House appropriations committee. "It is a stinking mess."

Second Nuclear Sub Launched By Navy

GROTON, Conn. (AP)—The Navy, racing to keep supremacy over Russia in the means of undersea warfare, launches its second nuclear submarine, the Seawolf, today and lays the keel for a third.

Eight atomic-powered subs have been authorized.

The first Asubmarine, the Nautilus, was built here at the yards of the Electric Boat Division of General Dynamics Corp., where the Seawolf and the third boat are building. The Nautilus was commissioned six months ago and now has thousands of miles of operation, hundreds of dives and a long cruise to the Caribbean on her log.

Externally, the Seawolf will look much like the Nautilus, but with a somewhat sleeker hull. Official statistics on the Seawolf show her to be about 3,000 tons displacement 330 feet long, with a 27-foot beam.

Mrs. A. Vaughan Presented Emblem

Mrs. Alexander Vaughan, 101 W. 20th St., Sanford, recently won a Sterling Silver Honor Emblem by The Reader's Digest, in recognition of outstanding service as a subscription representative of the magazine.

Sterling Silver Honor Emblems are awarded to only one in every fifty Digest Representatives, and Mrs. Vaughan's achievement is noteworthy.

Bullet Misses Chief Leader Is Held From Firing Back

PARIS (AP)—A shot was fired in French Morocco today at the powerful old pro-French Pasha of Marrakech, Thami el Glawi. The French Press Agency said the bullet missed and only the intervention of French police prevented the Pasha's death—in his 60s—from shooting back.

The assassination attempt occurred during general excitement occasioned by the first visit to Marrakech of France's new resident general in French Morocco, Gilbert Grandval.

Elsewhere in the city of 200,000, Moroccan police killed two nationalist demonstrators in a crowd which set fire to a tobacco shop. The French Press Agency gave this account of the shooting attempt on the Pasha:

El Glawi had just left Grandval at one of the Pasha's palaces and was being driven away alone in a big black sedan. Suddenly demonstrators blocked the street and one shot rang out.

The fiery old man grabbed a repeating carbine he had with him, climbed out of the car and raised the gun to shoot. French police stopped him from firing and Moroccan police then fired on the demonstrators, injuring several.

'I Led Three Lives' In Sanford Library

"I Led Three Lives" by Herbert A. Philbrick, Citizen, Communist, Counterespionage, has just been obtained by the Sanford Public Library.

This is an exciting inside story of Communism in the USA told by an American patriot who was for nine years a counterespionage for the F. B. I. and reported everything as it happened.

The government's case against the eleven top communists was largely based on evidence supplied by Philbrick, who was chief witness against them at the trial before Judge Medina.

NEW PARK FORMED

City Manager Knowles announced that on 24th St. and Sumnerlin Ave. the departments are working on an old pond and have succeeded in making a nice park area. Eventually shrubbery and walkways will be put in so the children will have a place to play tag and mothers take their children for a walk.

Summer Recreation Program Big Success

BY MARGARET MALLOY
Sponsored jointly by the city and the County Board of Public Instruction, the summer recreation program began with registration on June 18 under the direction of E. W. Christensen.

The activities are planned for these two large groups: the younger children ages six through 11 and the older children ages 12 through 18. Varied activities have been planned to include these and other groups. Some are the City Wide Tennis Tournament, the City Softball League, managed by Howard Gordon and a Fishing Contest open to anglers six through 18.

The teenagers follow this schedule in the afternoons: Monday and Wednesday they play tennis; Tuesday bowling with Gordie; Thursday and Friday, water skiing on Lake Mary. In addition the High School Gym is open on Tuesday and Thursday mornings.

under the supervision of Fred Ganas who also teaches tennis and water skiing. For those with less active interests the High School Library is open Monday through Thursday mornings. Miss Edna Chittenden, a very helpful librarian, has a book binding and repair session with the youngsters on Friday morning.

The Celery Crata is open for the teenagers to drop in on Monday and Wednesday evenings. On Tuesday and Thursday they receive dancing lessons from an Arthur Murray instructor. Every Friday an organized dance is held from 7 until 11 p. m. Miss Gene Nunnally helps supervise these groups.

The younger group follows this schedule: every Monday they see a movie at the High School; Tuesday through Friday they are on the lakefront playground from 9 until 11:45 a.m. Here they are divided into three groups according to age which are the 6 and 7's, the 8 and 9's, and the 10 and 11's. The groups are given an hour each of directed play, swimming, and arts and crafts. One hour weekly each group goes bowling.

On the playground such sports as volleyball, softball, and basketball are popular with the older ones while games are favored by the youngest. Miss Caroline McInnis and Miss Peggy Wilson direct their play activities.

In the swimming pool all children are given instructions and careful supervision by Miss Bebe Bisbee. At least 31 have passed the Red Cross beginners swimming test to date in the two older groups. The youngsters spent the first few weeks getting adjusted to the water and now they are also receiving instructions. They are expected to be able to swim the width of the pool by the end of the program.

Down at the little house the arts and crafts are supervised by Miss Gail Bittling and Miss Margaret Malloy. Here the children have made and used such favorites as colored felt beanies, leather coin purses for their wrists, puppet boxes, paper sculpture, and modeling clay.

Attendance is good in all groups. A total of 329 have registered in the younger age group (6-11). A conservative daily average attendance of youngsters and teenagers is 225. Participations per week of all youngsters in all activities average from 2,000 to 2,500.

Agriculture Dept. Sends Out Report On Crop Production

WASHINGTON — The Agriculture Department issued a crop production report this week which indicates possible trouble for GOP year in the corn belt.

The report forecast a corn crop that would be the second largest of record and bumper harvests of other livestock feed grains.

These big crops could well carry to the corn belt a bitter taste of surplus problems that have been centered heretofore largely in cotton and wheat producing areas.

In last year's congressional elections, Republicans fared well in rural districts in the big corn-hog region extending from Ohio west to Nebraska and embracing Indiana, Illinois, Iowa, and Minnesota.

But there is the possibility that by late this year, prices will drop to levels where farmers will complain and possibly demand government action to improve their markets.

At that time, farmers were disgruntled with a drop in grain prices. The Democrats charged the Republican controlled 80th Congress was to blame because it failed to provide storage facilities for surplus grain that had no place to go except to markets where it depressed prices.

This week's forecast of the big feed grain crops came shortly after the department reported a sharp expansion in hog production is under way.

Eva Peron Still Smiles Down

BUENOS AIRES, (AP) — Eva Peron, a one-time actress as dramatic in death as she was in life, still smiles down on Argentina's millions.

Alongside her handsome husband Juan Peron, dictator, general and president, she adorns street and subway walls, government offices and vestibules, store windows and private homes.

Eva's name is never out of sight. La Prensa carries a daily "Eva Peron labor page" decorated with a profile drawing and her oft-quoted pledge: "Alive or dead, I will always be with the workers."

And Democrats, staunchest press friend of Peron, displays on its front page a meathard profile ringed with a wreath of her words: "A thousand times, I would do it for Peron and for my people."

La Plata, a city of 300,000 and capital of Buenos Aires Province was renamed Eva Peron. Eva Peron is the name of a province, an oil well, uncounted streets, school houses, parks, soccer championships, a luxury passenger liner— an unending stream.

Her birthday, May 7, is "Saint Evita's Day." Across the land, her faithful lay fresh flowers at the foot of countless shrubs and statues.

Eva once declared: "Without fanaticism, one cannot accomplish anything." Imbued with this spirit, the vibrant 5 foot 2 figure stormed the screen and radio and into the arms of a husky Army Colonel.

next night, Peron regained his dominance. And the nation's radio listeners heard the government announcer as of old at 8:25, honoring the hour of Eva's death.

An eternal torch burns above a bust of Eva in front of headquarters for the six-million member General Confederation of Labor, the backbone of support for Peronism.

It is a mystery where her body lies. But the tallest funerary monument in the world is rising in the heart of Buenos Aires as her tomb.

The 460-foot memorial will tower higher than St. Peter's in the Vatican, New York's Statue of Liberty or Egypt's Pyramid of Cheops.

A stream of letters addressed simply "Eva Peron, Agusto 2502" still flows to the side entrance of the presidential mansion.

These calls for aid are answered by a special foundation. This massive organization, probably unrivaled in the world, was the cornerstone of her power and is the key to perpetuation of her memory.

Under the foundation's all-embracing wings have sprouted low cost housing, hospitals, homes for women, unwed mothers and the aged, a sprawling nursing school and even a chain of low-priced grocery stores.

But both bounded back by the criticism of Eva's fashioning this foundation to trample the charities long run by high society and of wielding it as a political weapon and fountain for personal funds.

Under the foundation's all-embracing wings have sprouted low cost housing, hospitals, homes for women, unwed mothers and the aged, a sprawling nursing school and even a chain of low-priced grocery stores.

The foundation also speeds mercy missions to other countries, flying doctors and nurses and supplies to disaster areas in Ecuador, Colombia, Peru, Venezuela and Bolivia.

'Behind-The-Scene' Move Is Believed

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Herald Tribune said Wednesday the Russians have made a behind-the-scenes move at the summit conference in Geneva to make direct contact with high West German diplomats.

The newspaper, in a dispatch from Geneva, said the Russian move was immediately turned down by Bonn officials in Geneva as conference observers.

The Herald Tribune story said the move amounted to a Soviet bid to establish a communication channel to West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer and to drive a wedge between the Bonn government and the North Atlantic Treaty Alliance.

Very Good C. I. A.

It is common knowledge that pretty good is not good enough for the Central Intelligence Agency. This little understood arm of the United States government has the vital function of providing intelligence on which the highest policy decisions are based. It must therefore be as nearly perfect as is possible.

That is why Congress and the American people must pay special attention to Gen. Mark Clark's report on the study of the CIA and related intelligence agencies that he and a special task force made for the Hoover commission.

The fact is that Central Intelligence emerges pretty well from this study. The investigators found no evidence supporting charges that the CIA is riddled with subversives. They consider the intelligence agencies to be led by men who are "sincere and dedicated to the service of the nation."

But the Clark report also concludes that more and better information could be obtained from behind the Iron Curtain. It advocates some reorganization, and more and better information could be obtained "hitherto" in intelligence operations. The task force recommends that Congress and a commission of private citizens keep a continuing watch on CIA operations.

Who Knows About Wives Of Future?

NEW YORK (AP)—Items from the mailbag:
Everyone knows that the American wife of today is like. But what about the wife of tomorrow?

Well, the chances are she'll be better groomed than her mother, and know more about the technique of understanding a husband than the technique of running a store.

A lot of some 100,000 senior high school girls by General Mills disclosed that—83 per cent were well informed on the art of keeping themselves looking neat and pretty, 71 per cent had studied up on how to keep a husband happy, 64 per cent had a good knowledge of the mechanics of housekeeping, but only 58 per cent had acquired real cooking skills.

One surprising result of the survey: Only 45 per cent could answer correctly questions on child care. This seems odd in view of the trend toward earlier marriage.

It seems like everything a person does now—from sneezing to buying a greeting card—reflects his deep, hidden personality.

For example, do you always send your mother-in-law an expensive, highly sentimental greeting card on her birthday; do you hesitate to send her one in a humorous vein? Well, it might be because you secretly are nursing a grudge against the old girl.

Anyway, this is one of the conclusions reached by a Chicago greeting card firm after a survey of several hundred thousand customers.

The survey, as interpreted by a psychiatrist, showed:
Children and young women prefer red cards. Most women avoid buying yellow cards as they associate it with a yellow complexion. The favorite color of men—and executives in general—is blue. Those who choose green cards of ten are stingy and have a suspicious nature.

Those who like to send perfumed cards are generally extroverts with a tendency to show off—the "life of the party" type.

Do you ever pick a greeting card featuring a sea scene or a like view? It may be a sign that privately you wish the water would wash away the person whom you send the card to.

Personally, I'd like to send a card like that to the psychiatrist. Just how complicated do we want to make life?

The Exit Is Open

Life's most uncertain job may well be a baseball manager's. Success one year by no means guarantees that he will hold his position the year following. Roger Hornsby, after piloting the St. Louis Cardinals in 1926 to a pennant and a world championship, was let out the following year and traded to New York.

Now Leo Durocher, whose New York Giants last fall not only won the National League championship but defeated American League's highly rated champions, the Cleveland Indians, in four straight games, might be on his way out. His team has been losing more games than it has won, and worse than that, is far behind the Brooklyn Dodgers, a rival for the big city's affections.

The wisecracker think that Durocher won't be around much longer, and he himself does not deny it. They have even picked New York-owned Minneapolis team.

Probably players' deficiencies are responsible for the Giants' downfall. But it is always easier to get a new manager than new players.

Man's Humanity To Man

Much has been said about man's inhumanity to man. The evidence of it are all about us. Yet there is an opposite quality, also characteristic of humankind, that might be called man's humanity to man.

A case in point is the sequence of events after two U. S. air force flyers went down in the Pacific. These young men were not left to their fate after a perfunctory search. Instead, scores of ships and aircraft were deployed over the area in an intensive effort to snatch the flyers from a lonely death.

In most ancient societies, life was cheap. A man lost at sea or in the desert had to fare for himself. Unless he was wealthy or politically important, his chances of being searched for were remote. He certainly could not expect that hundreds of his comrades would drop all else and spend days at the job.

This is no longer true. The case of the lost flyers is only one of many possible illustrations. Men are cruel and heartless toward one another in our time, as they have always been. But there is evidence that we are moving away from inhumanity toward greater human concern for individuals.

Inside Washington

WASHINGTON—Only the strongest arguments by Britain and France—which seem to think highly of the idea—will ever get the United States to go along with the proposal that the Atlantic Pact nations sign a non-aggression pact with the Soviet bloc.

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles has made it plain it seems silly to him to "pile" non-aggression pact on non-aggression pact, since the Russians have already promised not to be aggressors by their signing of the United Nations charter.

However, the main argument against the idea is that it would seem to tell the Russians that whatever they have taken up to now is all right—but just don't take any more. Such a non-aggression pact, in other words, would deprive the captive peoples of any hope for ever escaping their Communist bonds.

Also, according to United States officials, a non-aggression treaty would seem to say that the Soviets have some real reason for fearing the West will engage in aggression. The fact of the matter is, of course, that the Atlantic pact was formed purely as a defensive measure against Russian expansion.

Whatever the Wante—President Eisenhower won't get everything he wants before Congress adjourns. His recent blast at the Democratic leadership only resulted in making the leaders angry and is not expected to accomplish anything.

The President listed 15 "Must" bills on his list but expectations are that he won't get even half of them before the House and Senate quit, now expected about July 30.

The measures that seem definitely dead for this session include Hawaiian matched; the proposal for an atomic ship to cruise the world and demonstrate United States peace intentions; school construction; the health bill with its reinsurance proposal; amendment of the refugee act and military survivors benefits.

Power—The Democrats are certain to make the Dixon-Yates power fight an issue in the 1956 campaign and the Republicans are anticipating just that.

This indication came after President Eisenhower's unexpected decision to order a review of the contract. Senate GOP Chief William F. Knowland promptly issued a warning to the Democrats.

Knowland said that Democratic strategists may be "including" public opinion if they try to make campaign capital out of any reversal of the controversial project.

However, Democrats take a dim view of Knowland's contention. They feel they have a good issue to take to the voters and already have started grinding out ammunition against the power contract.

Housing—President Eisenhower's public housing program also appears to have little chance of survival. Sources close to the House rules committee see no possibility of that group reversing its refusal to clear the measure.

The decision by the rules committee, on a 6 to 6 tie vote, points up again the tremendous power held by that body and the influence of the Republican-Southern Democrat coalition in the House.

Chairman Howard Smith (D), Virginia, is an outspoken foe of public housing and has the backing of GOP members. The Republicans may be subjected to White House pressure, but they will stand by Smith.

The legislation, which was approved by the housing banking committee, would authorize construction of 90,000 public housing units, including 20,000 for the nation's aged persons.

Big Companies Enter New Fields

NEW YORK (AP)—A tire company is getting into the motion picture business. An automobile manufacturer is testing a radically new train. An oil company takes a flier in cosmetics. A household appliance company makes incense. A chemical company makes fabrics.

The big corporations are stepping out into so many fields these days that it's getting to be a rare one whose principal product can be identified by the corporate name.

A subsidiary of General Tire & Rubber Co. is buying RKO Radio Pictures Corp. from Howard Hughes. It was already interested in the television business, was a major producer of plastic sheeting and film, and a maker of rocket motors.

Its rivals in the tire industry are deep in diversification themselves. They make shower curtains and footwear, airplanes and chemicals, run cotton plantations and citrus groves.

Diversification as a corporate practice has flourished in the post-war world.

Sometimes it has grown out of the firm's original business. For example, a chemical company develops a new test-tube mixture and finds itself in the textile business.

Sometimes diversification is deliberate—an effort to find more than one basket for the profit eggs. For example, a maker of cold remedies takes on a cosmetic company as a hedge for the day when someone will find a cure for the common cold and make medical treatments obsolete.

Sometimes the diversification has come through mergers. A leading textile firm is planning to take over a telegraph company.

Sometimes it comes about through seeking consumer outlets for its primary production function. A leading steel company is deep into the kitchen cabinet field. And another has long been in the shipbuilding business. Oil companies are ship operators.

General Motors has long made diesel locomotives for the railroads. It is now testing a radical new departure in entire trains.

Du Pont produces chemicals and explosives, of course, but it also makes motion picture and X-ray film and photographic papers. It turns out not only textile fibers and fabrics but also fabricates plastic articles.

Peace-time use of the atom is opening up an entirely new field for diversification. Utility companies are obviously interested. But so are oil companies, chemical companies, food processors, and the electronics industry.

Every time the forms went out, Shull said, back came piles of acid complaints from taxpayers. The trouble lay in one little sentence in the form:

Now, in many cases this was just not true, Shull said. Often, the government did have a "record of response." Sometimes, the response contained part payment of the tax due and sometimes it simply said, "I ain't got the money right now."

Nevertheless, under the manual's iron-clad rule, the forms had to continue going out until the last dollar was in.

Shull suggested the objectionable phrase be replaced with this one:

West, Russians Still Miles Apart

WASHINGTON (AP)—The West and Russia still are miles apart at the Big Four Conference in Geneva, in spite of all the pleasant talk there.

For years the Russians have had three main goals and, as Prime Minister Bulganin made clear this week, they haven't changed.

1. To break up the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, of which the United States is the most powerful member.

2. To prevent the rearming of West Germany and keep it out of NATO. The NATO allies agreed to let it join this year.

3. To get American troops out of Europe and force the United States to give up its overseas bases.

What Bulganin proposed at Geneva is almost exactly the same thing that Russia's Foreign Minister Molotov suggested in February 1954 when he met at Berlin with the foreign ministers of the United States, Britain and France.

At that time the West wanted Russia to let West Germany be united with Communist East Germany.

In the 10 years since the war Russia has blocked every pie for German unification. At Berlin Molotov proposed that NATO be killed. In its place he advocated a new, 50-year mutual security organization of 32 European nations, but not the United States which would have to get its forces out of Europe. Molotov said East and West Germany could join the new security organization until such time as they were united. Molotov didn't say when that would be.

The Western ministers said this was a scheme to bring all Europe under Russian domination. They turned Molotov down.

Now at Geneva Bulganin has dusted off the Molotov proposal and presented it again, with per-

Bulganin offered exactly what Molotov had suggested in 1944—a security system for all European countries—with one variation: he would let the United States be a member. That sounded a little better, but then he said when this new organization was created all foreign troops would have to be withdrawn from the "territories" of European states.

That would force the United States to withdraw its forces not only from Europe but from European territories, such as France's North Africa, where this country has air bases.

So while Bulganin in one breath said he was willing to let the United States be a member of the new European security system he proposed, in the next breath he would forbid any U. S. forces in Europe on European territories.

In short, the United States for all practical purposes would be only an onlooker.

And what about NATO? It would be abolished and replaced by the new organization urged by Bulganin and Molotov. And when would Germany be reunited? Bulganin said not while West Germany is a member of NATO and not until Bulganin's new security organization was set up.

That would take years.

hallet and took the boat trip down the river. On the way home we stopped at Bartke's restaurant at the International Airport and had Frank fix us some of his out-of-this-world steak dinners.

Of course a summer visit to Florida would not be complete without a fishing trip so we went after tarpon the next day. My friends had never caught anything larger than a river cat or a sunfish, and when I used a whole catfish for bait I knocked them for a loop.

The tarpon were not very cooperative but we did catch a big drum, several good sized jacks and a snook. Twice some hefty critter, probably a shark or a mahi-mahi, tore up our lines and smashed our tackle. A little after sunset we pulled anchor and headed for home but I kept a couple of troll lines out fitted with tarpon spoons—then it happened! A silver king hit one of the trolls and leaped ten feet in the air, shaking his head like an angry bulldog. He threw the hook and it came sailing back toward the boat at express train speed. My friend had to duck to keep from being hit with the snooker.

His eyes were bugged out and he was in a cold sweat. I never saw a guy so excited in my life. When we reached shore he registered in the Rudy Shaefer Fishing Contest and the Tampa Tarpon Tournament—and couldn't sleep all night for thinking about going out again the next day. Now he knows why I like to live in Florida.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

ANITA LESLIE has written a revealing biography of her great grandfather, Leonard Jerome, one of the most remarkable characters on the New York scene during much of the nineteenth century. He founded the Jockey Club, raced yachts across the Atlantic, helped launch The New York Times, has a park and an avenue named after him in the Bronx, juggled railroads as though they were Scrabble letters, opera stars, and dollars—but none of these achievements is his chief claim to fame today. It was his beautiful daughter, Jennie, who really put the name Jerome among the high and mighty. She did this by marrying Lord Randolph Churchill and, in 1874, presenting him with a son. They named him Winston.

Child Offers Youth's View Of Disneyland

HOLLYWOOD — Child's eye view of Disneyland is turned in their reports on the Disneyland's splendidly colorful and lively interest in bugs, books and boys, in that order; and Janet Thomas, also blonde, sturdily-built and as resolute a three-and-a-half-year-old as you'll find.

The two subjects were immersed in the lore of Disneyland via the mass media of TV. Newspapers, comic books, etc. Due to the Wednesday night TV show, Walt Disney has become virtually another father to them, and one they consider much more attractive, at that.

Nancy and Janet stood wide-eyed in the town square of Main Street U.S.A. and look in the fabulous sights. All around them were the old-time stores and buildings in the scale, which made the place seem more like the girls' kind of world. They were asked if Disneyland looked the way they expected.

"No," Nancy replied. "I didn't expect all these people." It was true. All the pre-opening propaganda about the Disneyland streets empty. There was no reason for her to anticipate the crowd which poured into the place.

Janet spotted the ancient horse drawn fire wagon pulling out of the firehouse. "I wanna ride the horse," she said. On to Adventureland, and now the girls' eyes began to grow bigger. They hopped aboard a river boat called the Gopher Gal and peered at the sights that went by. "Look out!" shouted Nancy as a bath-size (plastic) hippo swam menacingly toward the boat. She was fascinated by the munching giraffe, yawning crocodiles and chattering monkeys and feared we would all be dunked in the waterfall (the boat swerved at the final moment).

In Frontierland, the girls saw someone they recognized — Davy Crockett. "And his pal, Charlie Russell," Janet added.

Next came Fantasyland and the girls agreed with Walt that this was the best of all. They wanted to try all the rides, but settled for the Peter Pan fly-thru.

"Close your eyes until you round the corner," said the man as the girls settled into the tiny galloon. They clamped their heads over their eyes. When they looked again, they were sailing out the window of the Darling House. They zoomed over London, narrowly missing Big Ben, and headed for the second star to the right. Soon they were over Neverland, peering down on skull rock and almost being snared by Captain Hook.

The girls were breathless; not to their parents. Tomorrowland would have to wait until tomorrow. End advance Pass Thur. July 21

The Business and Professional Women's Club met for a picnic supper last night at the home of Mrs. W. E. Baker in Lake Mary on the shore of their beautiful lake.

Cool As An Iceberg!

Certainly, you want to be calm, cool and collected at your own party... especially if you're the cook as well as the hostess. So, when planning refreshments to delight your guests be sure they're little or no trouble to prepare.

This Iceberg Cake, for example, which looks so cool and luscious, is one you can prepare in a few minutes using vanilla instant pudding and sponge cake layers.

Vanilla Cream Iceberg Cake
2 cups cold milk
2 packages vanilla instant pudding mix
1 cup whipping cream
Two 8-inch sponge cake layers

Four milk into mixing bowl. Add pudding mix and beat with egg beater just until well mixed, about 1 minute. Let stand until slightly thickened—takes about 5 minutes. Whip the cream and fold it into the pudding. Cut the cake layers through center horizontally, making 4 layers. Spread the mixture between layers and on top and sides of cake. Garnish top of cake with slivered almonds and chocolate chips. Chill before serving. During summer, refrigerate left-over cake.

Suit Yourself In Fall Fashion Of Any Design

NEW YORK — Whether you like your suit jackets long, short or medium — fitted, semifitted or loose, you'll be able to suit yourself next fall.

Every conceivable jacket length, from the briefest boleros to seven-eighths length tunics, will be in the shops next fall, as has been ascertained by members of the nation's fashion press winding up a week of New York fall fashion previews.

Adelle Simpson shows five different suit and costume silhouettes in her fall collection of smooth styles for sleek sophisticates. These range from a tiny curved bolero which cups the bust to a long tubular tunic coat reaching almost to the skirt hemline. In between are the 26-inch fitted jacket, the short boxy jacket and the straight, loose, fingertip-length little overcoat—all worn with either shawl dresses or slim skirts.

Whether her jackets are long or short, whether boleros form a cuff around the hips or a band beneath the bustline, all of Adelle Simpson's shawl dresses are carefully shaped with slim, easy midriff and drape allowances for "natural" bosom curves. Most of her skirt-and-jacket outfits have matching or coordinated overblouses, fitting smoothly around the hipline.

This pint-size but mighty designer likes high colors for fall, such as American beauty red and forest green, in addition to every shade of brown, from café au lait to black coffee. She espouses the long, lean look, though she herself is less than five feet tall. For dinner and cocktail wear she likes short sheaths of metallic brocades, and for more formal wear shows long, slinky, floor-length gowns in dazzling laces and brocades, often with matching fur-trimmed jackets.

Explaining that "there's a little busy in every woman," Mollie Parins presents the slow curve silhouette for fall, stressing double alliance costumes with jackets and sheath dresses with artfully alluring necklines.

Mrs. Eisenhower's favorite dressmaker also recommends the Sunday school look for the new season, showing a group of well-bred little afternoon dresses with self-trimming, no sequins or jewels, and an air of conscious modesty.

Dramatically contrasting, in mood is her Shady Lady cocktail sheath, of brown lace over beige satin, with a pleated bodice of autumn chiffon.

Jennifer Jones Back At Work; Seeking Roles

HOLLYWOOD — Jennifer Jones is back at work and talking, which is news in itself.

The actress, who is one of the less approachable of film stars, was feeling pretty chipper on the opening day of "Good Morning, Miss Dove" and discussed on love in films and sundry matters.

She was made up as a New England schoolteacher of 60 years or more, with severe hairdo and shapeless dress. Complimented on the makeup job, she replied, "Flattery will get you nowhere."

In the film she has no love interest whatsoever. That, she sighed, is symptomatic of most films today.

"They don't seem to make the love stories they used to," she commented. "Just when we start going back to love, someone comes along and makes a wonderful picture with only men in it. That sets the girls back again."

"I think we ought to get even and make a movie with no men," Miss Jones added that she enjoyed doing romantic pictures like "Love Letters" — "that's what makes the world go 'round." She said that her last picture at 20th Fox, "Love Is a Many Splendored Thing" with William Holden, has a strong love theme in it.

Steele, chairman, was hostess for the meeting. The devotional, based on Luke Evans Rogers, "My Spiritual Diary" was presented by Mrs. J. M. Moye and a report of the various group captains was given. Mrs. Rogers urged the members to visit on Thursday, which is the church's regular visitation day.

Following the business meeting Miss Marcia Bumgarner played a number of selections on the Hammond organ. She was accompanied by Mrs. Guy Bishop who played the piano. A number of songs were sung by the group after which the hostesses served delicious refreshments.

Those present were Mrs. W. A. Kratoch, Mrs. Christine Woodruff, Mrs. Guy Bishop, Mrs. Bert Gause, Mrs. O. C. Bordoerf, Mrs. B. K. Hardison, Mrs. O. P. Wade, Mrs. C. A. Sheppard, Mrs. W. R. Brilliant Pitching Shows Up

By ED WILKIN
The Associated Press

Every now and then this season the smoke sent up by the sluggers, zeroing in on the major league home run records with 1,400 to date, clears away and some brilliant pitching shows through. Yesterday was one of those days.

Boston's George Sussie Jr. was the leader, giving Kansas City just one hit in a 6-0 victory. It was the fifth one-hit job in the American League this year and eighth in the majors.

The 24-year-old right-hander, son of the A's bullpen coach, gave up a leadoff single to Vic Power in the first and that was all.

Big Don Newcombe came close to his second one-hitter of the season, but Chicago wound up with two singles off the Brooklyn right-hander as he won his 16th in the first game of a two-nighter 10-1. The Cubs snapped a nine-game losing streak in the nightcap 5-3.

It was relief pitching that won a fifth straight for Washington, with Pedro Ramirez hurling 2 2/3 innings of hitless ball to beat Cleveland 6-4. Ray Narleski, Don Mossi and Mike Garcia, incidentally, tossed no-hit stuff in 6 1/3 innings of relief for the Tribe.

Saul Rogovin allowed just five hits as Philadelphia beat Cincinnati 6-0 and Curt Simmons followed it up with a four-hitter as the Phils won their ninth straight in the second game of the two-nighter 4-2.

Clutch pitching paid off for the Chicago White Sox, who barely made an 8-0 lead hold up in an 8-6 victory over New York that sent the Yankees' Al lead to two games again. Billy Pierce, third Sox pitcher, ended it with runners on second and first by getting Mickey Mantle to hit into a force-out.

In the other AL game, Baltimore snapped Detroit's four-game streak 5-3. And in the National, Milwaukee fell 1 1/2 games behind Brooklyn with a 4-3 loss at Pittsburgh while St. Louis whipped New York 5-2.

Sussie, now 5-3, fanned five and walked three while topping the A's to their ninth straight defeat. Four runs in the second inning cut three singles and Billy Goodman's double wrapped it up for the Red Sox.

Newcombe struck out eight and after Clyde McCullough's single in the second inning, didn't allow a runner until Dee Fondy singled to open the eighth. The Brooks smacked five home runs in his support, two each by Don Zimmer and Duke Snider, who now has 23.

The Cubs rallied for three runs in the seventh to salvage the nightcap with Frank Baumholtz's pinch hit cluding Jim Gilliam's shoestring try in the left for a two-run triple.

The White Sox rapped loser Bob Turley for four runs in the first and topped Johnny Kucks for four in the third—then Kucks and Bob Wiesler held them hitless the rest of the way. Dick Donovan won his 12th, although chased in a five run Yanx seventh.

Cleveland, now still four games behind, tumbled in the third when the Nats scored four times. Loser Early Wynn set off the inning with an error and Jose Valdivia capped it with a two-run triple.

Rogovin, released recently by Baltimore, battled home two runs with a double, and Andy Semick swatted a three-run homer in the Phils' first-game victory. Willie Jones gave Simmons a 3-0 lead with his leadoff homer in the fourth of the nightcap.

The Braves lost their second straight to the Nats despite Ed Mathews' 26th homer that furnished an early 3-0 lead. Fraction Ward hit a pinch homer with two on to tie it 3-3 in the seventh and Jack Shepard lined a pinch, base-leader single in the ninth to win it.

Tom Patsky, who never had beaten the Giants since entering the majors in 1951, gave 10 hits, but had three of the Cards' 15 mistakes. Stan Musial leveled his 21st homer with one on.

Ray Moore held Detroit hitless for 5 2/3 innings, then gave way to a 3-0 Tiger lead on homers by Ray Boone and Frank Thomas.

Little Sanford is bossman of the Florida State League today. The Cards, who waited until almost midseason before catching fire, overhauled the perennial leader Orlando last night by beating Cocoa 11-2 while the Flyers lost 7-5 to Lakeland.

An appreciative crowd of 1,146, largest of the season at Sanford and nearly one-tenth of the city's population, was on hand. John Bartek set Cocoa down on three hits and his mates took advantage of Ray Bernstein's wildness. Bernstein allowed only seven hits but gave a dozen walks Terry Terrell led Sanford's attack with two triples which produced three runs.

RON SCHMITT STILL WITH CARDINALS
A release from the Florida State League that was published Tuesday stating that Ron Schmitt had been released by the Cardinals was erroneous.

Lakeland's Wibur Tomberlin pitched one-hit ball at Orlando for seven innings, then was lifted because of wildness. Dave Corright sparked Lakeland's offense with a triple and two singles good for two runs.

Rolando Ortega benefited from St. Petersburg errors as Gainesville beat the Saints 7-2. The ace righthander allowed eight hits in pitching his 18th victory against four defeats. Three errors along with a trio of singles and two walks gave Gainesville five runs in the fourth.

Daytona Beach defeated West Palm Beach 7-6 when catcher Vern Watercutler singled home Frank Miricelli in the last of the ninth. The winners had to overcome a 5-0 lead built up by West Palm in the first three innings.

City Tennis Club Begins Play Today; Challenge Is Made

The Sanford Tennis Club will start today with its annual Single Elimination Tournament having six matches to be played by Sunday.

Gene Tucker, defending city champ was given a bye with the other players drawing as follows: Hubby Proctor and Harold Heckenbach; James Davis and Billy Park; Thomas Stringer drew by; Bill Fleming and Charles Park Jr.; John Morgan and George Rock; Stanley Katz and Joel Moss and Leon Taylor and Earl Evans. Second round matches will have to be played by Wednesday July 27.

Charles Morrison, member of The Sanford Herald advertising staff, known locally as "the granddaddy of tennis", filed his entry in the senior-senior division but unfortunately could find no opposition in his age group. Bemoaning the fact that there are no active tennis players over 50 years of age, Charlie was challenged by one of his listeners, little 13 year old Wally Phillips Jr., a very promising left-handed juvenile star, to play an exhibition match during the progress of the tournament.

Morrison tried to laugh off the challenge claiming that the difference in their ages of over 40 years, well, "the experience gained in that time", Charlie stated, was just "too much" of a handicap for a youngster such as Wally Jr. to overcome.

However, little Wally was so insistent and in view of the fact that he had made such an excellent showing in a recent tournament in Orlando, the challenge was accepted by the veteran of 43 years (young) and announcement of the date of the important sports event will be made later. Both participants will soon undergo strict training; Little Wally by playing several hours a day and Morrison by resting an equal number of hours, daily.

Hialeah's 1956 racing season will run from Jan. 17 through March 2.

Sailing Devotees Set For Regatta At Orlando Soon

ORLANDO — Sailboat devotees throughout the state will be converging on Orlando August 21 for the second annual regatta of one of the newest international sailing classes . . . the "windmill". Commodore Floyd Purcell, Orlando Chamber of Commerce sailing chairman, announced that the Florida State Windmill Sailing Championships will be held on Lake Fairview and more than 20 entries are expected to compete for the rotating "Windmill" trophy donated by the Greater Orlando Chamber. The trophy was won for the first time in 1954 by Charles Morgan of St. Petersburg.

In addition, a first, second and third prize will be awarded immediately following the conclusion of the third heat.

All windmill skippers and crews will be guests of the Orlando Yacht Club Commodore at a dance at the Elk's Club the night before the race and will be feted at a Chamber of Commerce dinner on Sunday.

Registration will be held at the Orange Boating Clubhouse on Big Lake Fairview beginning at a. m. Sunday, August 21, and the first heat is timed to start at 10 a. m.

Jack Fleck, U. S. Open golf champion, rode a bus to the Texas Open, his first professional tournament, in 1940. He failed to qualify.

Using a brand new putter, he shot a 2-under-par 69 yesterday to seize the lead in the first of two qualifying rounds at the 4,703-yard, par-71 layout.

WEST JORDAN, Utah (U. S. A.)—A Utah shot next winter appeared today as a possible reward for big Bob Baker, of Pittsburgh, after he counterpunched and jabbed his way to a close decision over Utah's red-hot Rex Layne.

Baker, a big Negro, went into the ring with a four-pound weight and a three-inch reach advantage over Layne, who weighed 210. He took it comparatively easy early in the fight, counterpunching the slugging Layne and pounding his mitt in the clinches. But in the later rounds he opened up with left jabs and had Layne bleeding from several cuts on the 18-rounder end.

Campanella Is Hit By Pitched Ball

BROOKLYN (U. S. A.)—Brooklyn Catcher Ray Campanella, a steady victim of the injury bug, was hit in the first game of a two-night double header with Chicago Wednesday night. He stayed in the game, but did not return batted ball for the nightcap.

Campanella, who is leading the City Softball League, will be on the top class 2 team in the Orlando Federal League, the Orlando Federal League, in a doubleheader game on the 18th night of the season.

Archie Footloose Since Olson Kayo

NEW YORK (U. S. A.)—Since the night he knocked out Bobo Olson with the greatest of ease, Archie Moore has been footloose and fancy free—Toledo, Denver for the jazz festival, Washington to meet with Ike and now New York.

Somehow the man man has been catching up with Archie. Loads of mail, enough to make a table sag. All about how to beat Rocky Marciano, whom he meets Sept. 20.
