

Ballor Fights In Korea After His Navy Discharge

CHICAGO, Aug. 15.—(AP)—Henry G. Olasewski thought he was in the Navy when he was ducking down Communist bullets in the Korean war zone.

Now Olasewski, 34, a little bearded, is at the Great Lakes, Ill., Naval Training Station awaiting his official discharge. He was discharged, really, before all this came about.

This is his story: Olasewski became a machinist apprentice, first class, in World War II. He saw action at Okinawa and Saipan and then came home to his wife, Loretta, in Chicago. They now have a son, Joey, 17 months old.

After Olasewski returned, he was attached to a naval reserve unit. Then, in 1950, he applied for his discharge.

On Oct. 9, 1950, however, he was ordered back to active duty. He inquired about his discharge, but was told it hadn't gone through.

Olasewski was shipped to Korea and assigned to the Askari, an M-17. He saw action in the Pusan operation and was wounded for 10 days last December. He moved on to Pusan in April, 1951, and saw more action. He won the Korean medal and managed to escape wounds.

One day, while Olasewski was resting up for more battles, a seaman, or ship's clerk, approached him. He had been studying Olasewski's record.

"Say, bud," the seaman said, "you might as well lay down your tools."

"Why?" asked Olasewski.

"You haven't been in the Navy since July 17, 1950," the seaman replied. "That was the day you were discharged."

Olasewski landed back at Great Lakes June 1. He's sitting there waiting for the Navy to get unangled. A Navy disbursement officer ruled that Olasewski can't be paid, because he's not in the Navy.

A Navy spokesman explained the matter was just a slip-up, which might happen in any organization. Olasewski's only comment was:

"I am a little bewildered."

Crime Probe

(Continued from Page One) with his wife and daughter the morning after O'Dwyer's request. He went to Salisbury, Md., then Ocean City, Md., and finally to Daytona Beach, Fla., before returning to New York after the election.

Sherman said the word that O'Dwyer wanted him to leave town was "get out of town." Sherman, a New York City detective now dead, was the man who originally introduced him to O'Dwyer, Sherman said.

Sherman said he was at a dinner in New York a few weeks before the 1948 election when a man whom he did not know called Sherman over.

"Gorman returned," Sherman related, and said "the general just put word he would like for you to leave town and would like for you to leave immediately."

Gorman called O'Dwyer "The General," the witness said. The ambassador was a brigadier general in the Air Force in World War two.

Under questioning by committee Chairman O'Connor (D-Md.), Sherman said after he left New York he "stayed out of sight and just kept traveling."

C Of C Meet

(Continued from Page One) announced that he would soon appoint a committee to supervise the election and the mailing of ballots to Chamber of Commerce members as provided for under the revised by-laws.

Manager Ed Whitney reported on the St. Johns-Indian River canal and declared that it is being delayed by buck-passing between the U. S. Army Engineers and the Federal Wildlife and Game Service. After considerable discussion it was recommended that the chairman of the waterways committee (that the canal be pushed through Rep. Hezlet).

Manager Whitney also called attention to inquiries being received with respect to the operation of a Tourist Center in Sanford next year and pointed out that present facilities are being utilized by service men from the Naval Air Station. He declared that immediate attention should be given to providing a recreation center for tourists during the next winter.

Under questioning by committee Chairman O'Connor (D-Md.), Sherman said after he left New York he "stayed out of sight and just kept traveling."

Two RFC

Republican Senators Caphart (Ind.) and Bricker (Ohio) prepared the other report. They talked before today's committee session of trying to get their version approved as a majority report.

But Caphart told reporters that this was never put to a vote and that he gave up the idea since it appeared to lack the necessary support.

"All I got was frowns," he said. "The Republican report is understood to contain some biting thrusts at President Truman, the White House staff, and William M. Hoyle, Jr., Democratic National Chairman."

After his decision on the reports, the Banking Committee called W. Stuart Livingston, Jr., who is of the RFC, before it for what the members termed an "accounting of stewardship."

Meanwhile, the House debated the huge foreign aid bill today but delayed until tomorrow a vote on a Republican-sponsored drive to slash a billion dollars from the total.

The Foreign Affairs Committee, which knocked only $51,250,000 from the $8,500,000,000 assistance measure, said in a formal report yesterday that money, not manpower, is Europe's biggest defense need.

A majority of the committee apparently feels that the full amount in the committee authorization bill must be voted, that Western Europe can afford no greater economies.

Ten Senators urged Congress to go on record for "total world disarmament" in order to expose Soviet Russia's Communist propaganda along this line.

Senator Flinders (R-Vt.) offered the proposal on the Senate floor on behalf of himself and nine others. He said earlier disarmament proposals by President Truman "are still not presented with the vigor appropriate to their importance."

The Vermontier called attention to the recent proposal by President Shvernik of the Soviet Republic for partial disarmament, in answer to an American expression of friendship for the Soviet people.

He said Shvernik "again puts forward the disingenuous disarmament proposals which his government has so often presented,

The Warden said Raymond Jenko, 20, white, who also was sentenced to die for murder, was asked in Williams cell in the death row. He and Williams and Jenko were together in the escape plot, but that Jenko remained in the cell.

The jail break here was one of two prison disturbances in the nation yesterday.

At Point-Of-The-Mountain, Utah, the third riot in as many months in Utah's new multi-million dollar prison was put down without bloodshed.

Two prison officials who had been held as hostages under threat of death most of the day were released. The State Board of Correction ordered all inmates confined to their cells.

The uprising ended when Joseph W. Dudley, State Commissioner of Public Safety, conferred with riot leaders and said an investigation would be made of their grievances.

Officials said 22 men were in the cell block which the prisoners took over during the riot.

The slain jail tower guard in the Chicago break was George Turley, 43. Turley, his head and chest crushed by vicious blows, died in the Bridwell Hospital a half hour after the assault.

"We can and we will demonstrate our ability to live with controls temporarily in order to live permanently with freedom," he concluded.

John Pearson introduced four local scouts, Craig Whitney, Allen Maffei, Jimmy Whelan and Charles Russell who have recently returned from a visit to Cuba.

Young Russell described their trip to the United States island neighbor and told the Kiwanis club of some of the different and peculiar customs of the Cubans.

It said that the women of the family with whom he lived did not eat with the men, but waited until they were finished before going to the table.

Russell told of visits to ancient Spanish shrines and a factory where tobacco was being made. He wasn't particularly enthusiastic over the cleanliness of the methods he noticed there.

Fred Wilson told the club its quota of tickets for the Fifth District nominating convention being held in Orlando on Sept. 14 was 15. He announced that Irving Morse had been suggested as a candidate for Lieutenant Governor.

Mr. Wilson also announced an inter-club meeting at Bushnell scheduled for Monday night at 7:00 P. M.

Dr. Luther Doas announced that votes for the club primary election must be in by Aug. 22. Ballots were distributed at the meeting.

Al Collins, chairman of the program committee, told the program he had made repeated unsuccessful attempts to contact Sheriff F. A. Moro in an attempt to have him address the club. He said he would continue his efforts.

House Votes

Some members of the House said they feared the language of the action would let the government interfere with local operation of schools, even opening up the possibility of delegating their operation to religious groups.

Saying he wished to keep the bill clear of religious controversies, Rep. Spruce (D-Ky.) manager for the measure, announced he would move to strike out all authority for government construction or operation of schools.

Spruce, who is chairman of the banking committee, which developed the legislation, said it gives private enterprise every opportunity to build the houses needed around expanding defense plants and military installations, with the government authorized to step in only when private builders can not or will not do the work.

One of the principal helps would be $100,000,000 expansion of the government's mortgage insuring authority. The bill also sets up $75,000,000 for public housing if needed; $100,000,000 for community facilities and services; $20,000,000 for pre-fabricated and $10,000,000 for acquisition of sites in isolated defense areas.

The Senate voted only $50,000,000 for public housing and $60,000,000 for community facilities and services. Walcott said an effort would be made in the House to cut the total authorization back to the Senate figure.

All housing programs in the bill not already set up on a permanent basis would be extended through June 30, 1953.

The ULPF is scheduled to meet here on Aug. 28. A luncheon with Secretary of Defense George C. Marshall will be part of the program. An AFL spokesman said that meeting still is due to go on as scheduled.

The AFL convention will be held in San Francisco beginning Sept. 17. The AFL council of 16 members, including Green and Meany and all the vice presidents, makes policy between the annual conventions.

Jap Treaty

No charges, as far as could be learned, were made in appease Russia's vehement objections.

Once the treaty is ratified by the majority of the signers at the San Francisco meeting, it will formally end the war declared against Japan nearly 10 years ago.

The Western Powers hope this will bring Japan back into the ranks of the major countries banding together to resist Communist aggression.

The key paragraph in the treaty text dealing with reparations, as now drafted, says:

"It is recognized that Japan should pay reparations to the Allied powers for the damage and suffering caused by it during the war. Nevertheless, it is also recognized that the resources of Japan are not presently sufficient, if it is to maintain a viable economy, to make complete reparation for all such damage and suffering and at the same time meet its other obligations."

The big difference between this and the previous section on reparations is that the word "complete" describing reparations was substituted for "adequate."

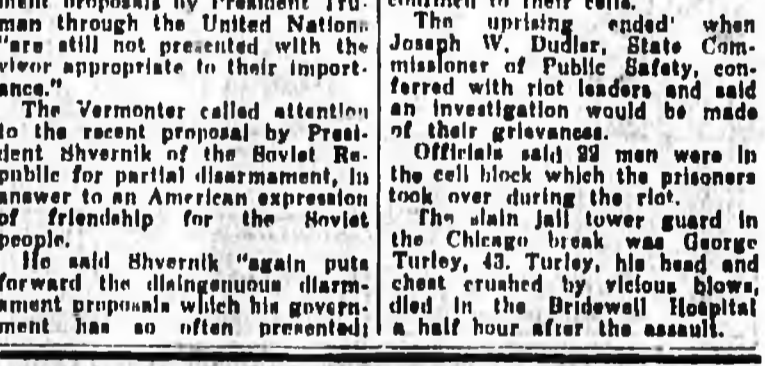

This apparently was designed to make it clear that Japan should try to meet reparations demands despite its present poverty. The old section dealing with reparations said: "Japan lacks the capacity, if it is to maintain a viable economy, to make adequate reparation to the Allied powers and at the same time meet its other obligations."

Iranian Oil

(Continued from Page One) government statement issued by Fateni showed clearly that Premier Mohammed Mossaddegh and his cabinet are not budging from their nationalization plans to take over the properties of the British-controlled Anglo-Iranian Company.

The Iranians still are insisting on two laws which strip AIOC of all profits from Iranian oil — 75 per cent going directly to the Iranian government and 25 per cent impounded against possible Iranian claims.

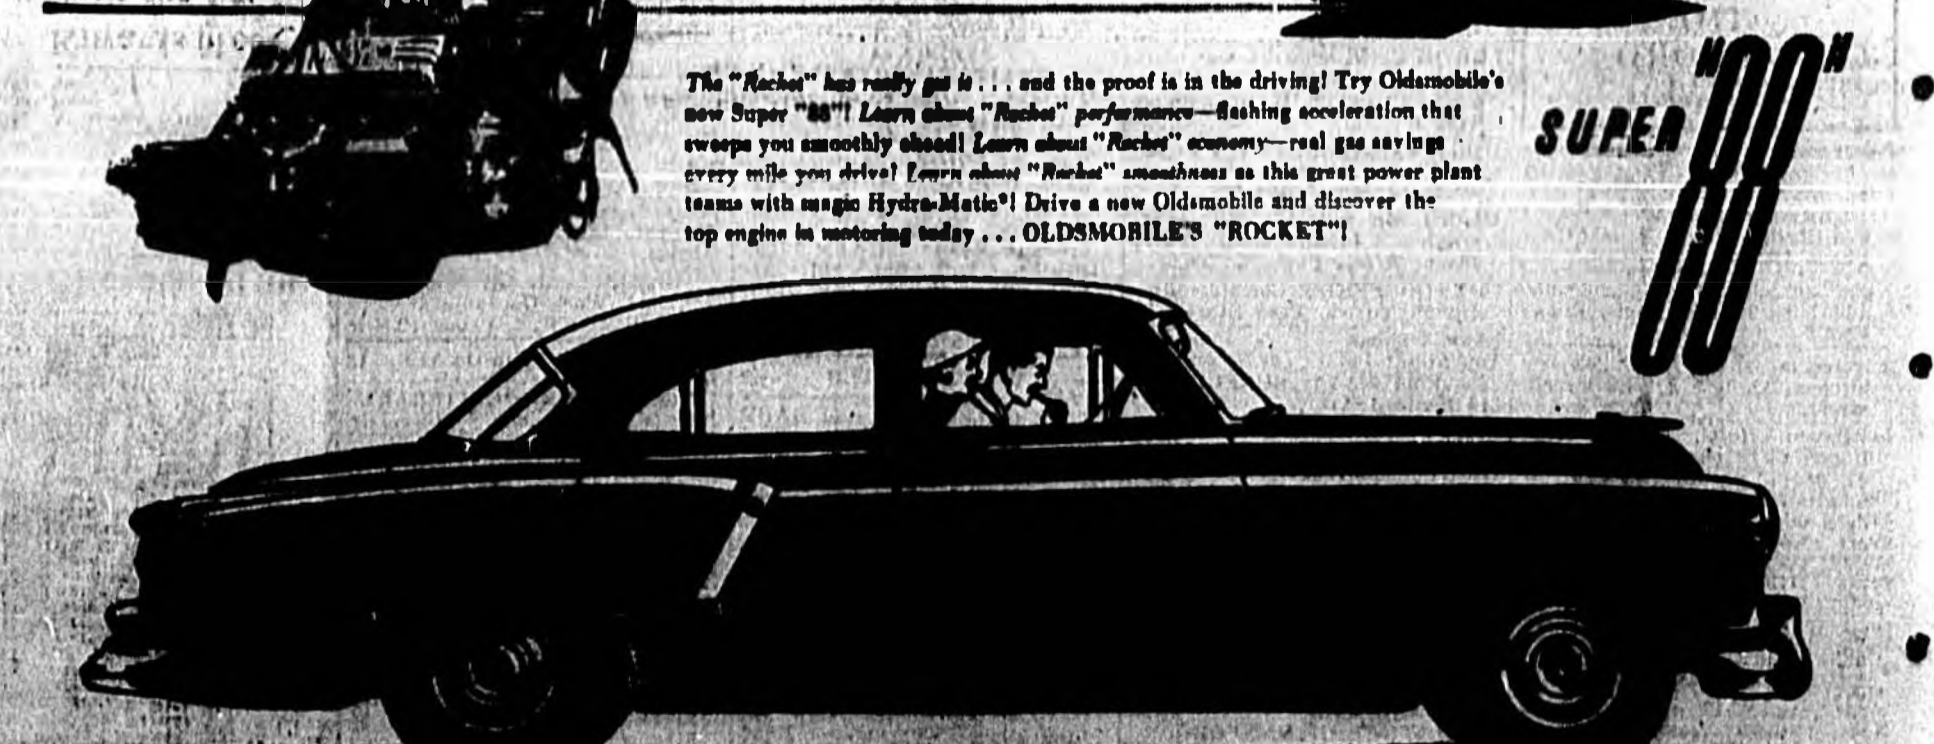

Mossaddegh explained that under the British proposal, Britain

Wealth should be a side product, not the main objective. Service and love of fellow-men sometimes does bring wealth as an incident, but as end to itself it is wholly evil.

We are glad to see that the Texas heat wave is cooling off. Maybe it will reach us in a day or two.

Sanford is going to have a new City Directory. And we suspect that we will find many new businesses here which we did not have five years ago when the last one was made.

It is going to cost you four cents to mail a letter if you are not careful. The Senate Postoffice Committee has just approved such an increase in a bill expected to raise a total of $363,000,000 a year for the department.

A White Leghorn rooster will eat 171 grains of corn in three and a half days if given all he wants, according to the fair committee at Germantown, Ky. How do they know? They counted them.

For lack of a nail, the shoe was lost, for lack of a shoe, the horse was lost, for lack of a horse the battle was lost, and so on, someone has said. And for lack of a site, Seminole County's roadside parks which the State is prepared to spend $5,000 on may also be lost. Such roadside parks are a great convenience to tourists and an inducement to get them to remain here.

John D. Rockefeller, Jr. who got married yesterday at the tender age of 77, is probably not the richest man in the world, but he is a good catch in anybody's language. His personal fortune is now estimated at between 250 and 400 million dollars—probably he doesn't even know himself—and that's after giving away to various charitable institutions about $750,000,000.

General Albert C. Wedemeyer says that no American boy should ever be required to fight in Europe or Asia. "Let the people who want liberty fight for it," he says. "Let us equip them, help them, support them with our technical skills, but let them do the fighting for their own freedoms." We should hardly insist that they should have liberty thrust upon them.

Sanford church groups are up in arms over the change in liquor regulations permitting sales on Sundays. If liquor sales on Sunday were a good thing for a community, if they tended to reduce drunken driving and highway accidents, make for better family life or keep young men out of trouble, you'd think Orange County would permit them, but it doesn't. Liquor sales are banned on Sundays down there.

Civil Defense Administrator Caldwell, former Florida governor, is not enthusiastic over progress being made toward civilian defense in the event of all-out war. Charging "fiddling and fumbling" by Washington officials, he says he has kept his hat near the door and is ready to walk out at any time. There is a great deal of "fiddling and fumbling" by Washington officials, he says, in all departments.

The U. S. House of Representatives today passed a bill to favor of breaking up the American Communist Party.

German Obsession

In Germany it has been revealed that a new development in military rockets has been brought to the testing stage. It is a model of a rocket craft which, in full size, would be able to carry troops or equipment at great speed and land them at remote outposts, or behind enemy lines.

Not the least remarkable feature of the development is the fact that it was engineered by German scientists working in secret, and in violation of occupation statutes which forbid such military projects. When the model was brought to the limit of clandestine work, when the next step was a test which could hardly be done in secret, Allied occupation officials were permitted to discover it. The scientists who worked on it had slipped away and apparently had got out of Germany; they would naturally have been jailed if they had stayed.

The incident may be a revelation of the German nature. Are their scientists, engineers and other leaders so intensely interested in military sciences that they cannot endure to be cut off from this field? Every people has some paramount interest, a compelling urge which they will follow despite all obstacles. Is this paramount interest, for the Germans, in the creation of new military weapons and new techniques of using them? This is a question for the Allies to ponder well.

Fur In Disguise

"A rose by any other name would smell as sweet," said Juliet in Shakespeare's play. Her logic might hold true for roses, but when it comes to furs the man who sells them had better be specific about names. A new law forbids false or misleading advertising or labeling of the furs that go to make mildew's coat.

The law was prompted in part by the fact that ordinary rabbit fur has been sold on the market under some thirty aliases. Evidently the legislators, who are frequently criticized for failing themselves to call a spade a spade, feel differently about calling a rabbit a rabbit, and not a "Baltic Lion."

To the wearer what the fur is called will make little difference. Her main concern will be whether she can get a purse and hat to match whatever fur it happens to be. It probably will not trouble her husband too much whether the fur in his wife's new coat is honestly called rabbit or whether it uses the less accurate pseudonym "electric beaver." He will be likely to eye the bill, shake his head and return to Shakespeare, who asked "What's in a name?"

Maintaining Morale

In a speech at the dedication of a new U. S. O. center in Washington, President Truman emphasized the role of civilians in maintaining the morale of servicemen. He said that they have not been receiving the sort of treatment they deserve in many parts of the country and he called for better recreational facilities and for adequate housing for families of married servicemen.

During an all-out war a soldier is generally regarded highly. He is feted and made much of. But often when actual fighting ends the general attitude is changed, and he is ignored or merely tolerated in places where he was made welcome before.

It seems apparent that we shall have to keep a large number of men in uniform for a long time. These men will be from all parts of the country and many of them will know the loneliness and boredom which come with being away from home and among strangers. We must remember that they are doing a job for us. While it is their duty to do that job well, it is up to us to make their lives as pleasant as we can while they are doing it.

2 Human Guinea Pigs Die In Test At Medical School

Doctor Says Wrong Bottle Was Used In Lab Experiment

VERMILION, S. D., Aug. 16 (AP)—A 28-year-old doctor said today in a signed statement "I gave the wrong drug," taking the lives of two "human guinea pigs" at the University of South Dakota.

VERMILION, S. D., Aug. 16 (AP)—Dr. Donald Slaughter, dean of the University of South Dakota Medical School, said today the death of two "human guinea pigs" in a drug experiment occurred when a doctor on his staff "muddled up the wrong bottle."

The staff doctor, whose name was withheld pending an inquiry, had planned to participate in the experiment himself, along with a fourth person.

Dr. Slaughter said the staff physician called him after injections had been given to Jack Clifford, 20, laboratory technician, and Mrs. Ardy Pearson, 20, a secretary. The injections were given Tuesday afternoon and Clifford and Mrs. Pearson died 24 hours later.

Dr. Slaughter said all known antidotes were given without effect after his assistant phoned him and said "They made a mistake."

Dr. Slaughter said seven statements by persons present when the tests were conducted were given to representatives of the county's criminal investigators.

The tests involved combination of drugs to study pain-killing effects. Dr. Slaughter said he would not make a statement until he had had a conference with the county's criminal investigators.

Philippine Treaty

(Continued From Page One) make precisely the same kind of commitment. In the case of Article Four, the wording of each treaty is the same in substance.

This article says: "Each party recognizes that an armed attack in the Pacific area on either of the parties would be dangerous to its own peace and safety and declares that it would act to meet the common dangers in accordance with its constitutional processes."

"Any such armed attack and all measures taken as a result thereof shall be immediately reported to the Security Council of the United Nations. Such measures shall be terminated when the Security Council has taken the measures necessary to restore and maintain international peace and security."

The Philippines Alliance, along with the other defense pacts, is aimed at building defense in the Pacific against Communist aggression. Eventually, there may be a broad defense plan for the area similar to the North Atlantic Alliance.

LATEST EUROPEAN ARMS SITUATION

Congressman Herlong Reports

The House has just passed with only two dissenting votes a big appropriations bill for the Defense Establishments. That's a lot of money, even when you say it fast. Of course the entire Florida delegation voted for the bill—but it was not as easy to do as it might appear. Certainly all of us are going to do everything possible for the defense of our country. That is the prime consideration and outweighs all others.

During the course of the hearings on the bill I talked frequently with George Mahon of Texas, the chairman of the subcommittee handling the bill, and with our own Florida Congressman, Bob Sikes, who is also a member of the subcommittee. My questions were, whether they were finding any evidence of the various branches of the Armed Services "padding" their requests for money. Their answers were that they were constantly looking for just that, and when they found it they were eliminating it.

They did cut about a billion dollars off the bill. Their difficulty was, however, that they could not always know. It just is not possible for anyone to know in a job so hot. Their job is not made any easier by the fact that the only witnesses who appear before the committee are those representing the Armed Services, so they actually hear only one side. There is no question in my mind but that there is waste in the military, but a vote against their appropriation bill would be interpreted as a vote against national defense—so there you are.

The other day I talked to a Pentagon officer who was charged with the responsibility of preparing the request for a certain section of the military. I asked him whether there was any "padding." He simply looked away and said: "I didn't hear a word you said."

Because none of us wanted to put out anything that was necessary, our doubts were naturally resolved in favor of the military. We did, however, take this precaution: A "watchdog" committee was set up whose objective is to constantly ride herd on the military during the spending of this money to see that waste in man-to-a minimum. Just because money power, money, and material is held is appropriated does not mean that it has to be spent. At the same time no one wants to be a party to crippling the military through lack of the necessary funds.

We had some nice visits with Floridians in Washington this week. Among them was our old friend "Chapple" Burns, formerly of Eustis, now of Orlando, who was here visiting his mother. She lives in suburban Washington and was celebrating her 75th birthday. Mothers certainly are wonderful.

THE WORLD TODAY

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16 (AP)—President Truman has just made a lengthy attack, in a speech to the American Legion, on "scare-mongers" and "hate-mongers."

It was the longest talk Mr. Truman has made on that subject. And it was interpreted here as aimed at Senator McCarthy, Wisconsin Republican, and other congressional members who have charged there are Communists and Communist-sympathizers in the government.

But the President never once mentioned by name McCarthy or anyone else. Immediately McCarthy accused the President of speaking in generalities and renewed his charges against the State Department, where he has concentrated his fire.

Since the President was sufficiently troubled by the attacks on his Administration to make this long speech about it, the question which comes to mind at once is this:

"If he meant McCarthy, why didn't he name him?"

A check through the files since Feb. 10, 1950, when McCarthy opened his campaign against the State Department, seems to indicate the President and Secretary of State Acheson have had a policy of avoiding mention of McCarthy directly in any way.

On Feb. 10, 1950, McCarthy whom McCarthy finally came to call the "Red Dean" denied there were Communists in his department but, as for McCarthy himself, Acheson said "I don't intend to get into an argument with the Senator."

He has stuck to that policy himself pretty much although other officials of the State Department many times since have denied McCarthy's charges and accused him of "smearing."

The President has expressed contempt for McCarthy several times, but very briefly, in news conferences when the Senator's name came up. One he said McCarthy was the Kremlin's greatest asset here. But otherwise the President hasn't said much about the Senator.

Maybe only the historians will ever be able to explain why—for political reasons, if for no other—the President and Acheson have shown such reluctance to tackle McCarthy at length and by name.

There's no doubt McCarthy has done the Truman Administration political damage, filling the minds of some people with doubt and suspicion about the State Department's operations and the efforts of the Administration to weed out any Communists left in government.

McCarthy certainly had a very direct hand in helping defeat the Democratic Senator Tydings of Maryland who, with two other Democrats investigating McCarthy's charges last year, called him a liar and said his charges were a fraud and a hoax.

It may be that Mr. Truman and Acheson got together and decided, when McCarthy began his attacks in February, 1950, that if they just ignored him he might go away. But he didn't.

U. S. Business Man Jailed In Shanghai

HONG KONG, Aug. 16 (AP)—The U. S. Consulate was told today that Dill D. Kanady, an American business man, has been jailed a second time by Reds in Shanghai.

He was arrested first on Apr. 28 when Communists grew suspicious of his many telephone calls to his fiancée in the U.S.

Travelers from Shanghai said July 12 that Kanady was returned to his Shanghai home, Ill., and held under house arrest.

The consulate report said he was thrown back in jail when he regaled his feet. It gave no details.

Kanady is Shanghai manager of Edward T. Robinson and Sons Company, cotton weighers.

Friends said Kanady formerly lived in Texas and Louisiana but they did not know where.

HOLLYWOOD

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 16 (AP)—See what I mean about Hollywood going all-out for realism? Here's a war picture with more realism than a Notre Dame-USC football game.
 The picture is now called "Fixed Bayonets" (formerly "Old Soldiers Never Die"). Here is the casualty list:
 Gene Evans, injured actor; Bill Brown, broken leg; James McGill, broken wrist; Katie Shaw, bayonet wound in foot; Michael O'Shea, smashed knee; West Grump, knocked unconscious in a shell blast.
 The cause of all this mayhem is a man named Sam Fuller. He is the writer and director of the picture, and a stickler for realism. An army veteran himself, he wanted his actors to feel their pain. They did, and will for months. Not even Fuller escaped injury; he wrenched the cartilage in his right foot in a fall. There is no evidence that an actor push-

 "It is hailed about on the "Fixed Bayonets" set that director Fuller might even possess more than the actors. I don't know how many one could get that idea, except perhaps from his outfit, which includes a three-star general's cap, a Zanzibar cigar, combat boots, a cane, and a handkerchief. Fuller holds a rifle with two guns which he fires for various dramatic effects.
 "At any rate, Fuller is getting his realism. It even amuses Larry Chapman, special effects man who sets off the explosions for the movie scenes.
 "I've never set off explosions closer to the actors than on this picture," reported Chapman, veteran of many a movie war. "A funny thing's not much danger to the actors, although they must think so. I use a magnesium compound for the explosive; it provides noise and flash only. We could make the bomb without the noise, but that provides a dramatic reaction from the actors that you couldn't get otherwise."
 The technician has been having a merry old time with this film. "This morning I blew off 41 bombs in one shot," he glowed, gazing at the battered set. "I really had this place rocking."
 The picture has a blue-ribbon technical adviser—Capt. Raymond Harvey of Pasadena, Calif. President Truman recently presented him with the Congressional Medal of Honor for bravery under fire in Korea. I asked Capt. Harvey how the Korean war differed from World War II in technical matters.
 "The composition of fire power is different," he remarked. "In today's army, all weapons are inter-related; each supports the other. That is something we, as well as other modern armies, learned from the Germans in the last war. In the Chinese army it's different; it's every man for himself."
 During one scene I watched Director Fuller was shooting off his pistols to simulate enemy fire. At the end of the scene, a job-shop dumped some stuffed ducks from the rafters.
 Fuller was as amused as anyone. When I left, he was fingering the three stars on his cap. "You know," he confided, "if this picture is a hit, they're going to make me a general of the armies."
 P.S.: In the real war, he was an infantry corporal in the European theater.

Hints to Housewives

By JOYCE BEVIN

Speedy, easy ironing starts at the wringer of the washing machine or at the clothes line, tea-tie and clothing specialists of the U.S. Department of Agriculture remind housewives at this season when the family ironing load is especially heavy and hot weather adds to the fatigue of the job.

To prevent stubborn wrinkles that take extra time and strength to iron out, fold each article smoothly and evenly as you feed it into the wringer, they advise. Clothes that go through in a lump will come out with needless wrinkles as firmly creased that they may be difficult to remove and fabric or wringer may be damaged.

Care in hanging clothes saves both ironing and clothes. If clothes hang straight on the line, some will need no ironing, others very little. Instead of pinning straight articles such as handkerchiefs, towels, and pillow slips by the corners, hang them straight over the line with edges even. Place hems of sheets over the line. Then all they need is a quick pressing of hems. It often pays to hang dresses and men's shirts on wooden hangers and then fasten the hangers to the line for the sake of keeping them in shape. Otherwise, the best rule is to hang each garment by its strongest point—dresses by seams, shirts by tails, trousers by waist. Many housewives find that wire stretchers for trousers save ironing by holding these garments in shape to dry. Summer nylon clothes often need only a touch of the iron—perhaps at hems, seams and collars—if they hang straight to dry. Best treatment for rayons, rayon and nylon mixtures, or silks, is to roll them up in a turkish towel until excess moisture is absorbed, then hang on wooden or rust-proof hangers until they are just right for ironing. Fragile fabrics—rayons, silks and summer wools—should never hang in the hot sun or the wind.

Many articles need no ironing if they dry straight—for example, dish towels and bath towels, seersucker, crinkled nylon, and knit-ware.

Ava Gardner and Robert Mitchell share a romantic moment in this scene from RKO's "My Forbidden Past," showing Thursday and Friday on the RKO Theatre screen.

Housing Bill

 revolving fund for acquiring housing sites around defense and military installations in related areas. Once tentatively adopted, the Columbia amendment was thrown out on a rollcall, 199 to 155.

Wadsworth succeeded in knocking $65,000,000 off the total in the bill as approved by the banking committee. Amendments by him held down the fund for housing to be built by the government to $50,000,000 in stead of $25,000,000 and for the construction and operation of community facilities and services (such as waterworks and sewage systems) to $30,000,000 rather than $10,000,000. The Senate had approved the smaller figures.

The bill also contains $15,000,000 for loans to spin the production and distribution of prefabricated housing.

Klaus Homers Twice As Giants Defeat Leesburg 5 To 2

Sanford Moves With In One Game Of 4th Place On Strength Of 7 Straight Wins

The Giants meet the Orlando Senators here tonight in what may be one of the most crucial games of the year as a tie for fourth place may hinge on its outcome. Manager Richie Klaus was secretive over his pitcher for tonight if Bob Callahan's arm has come around, he is the most likely choice. With Buddy Lake on the mound, however, the Sanford manager may well call on him for his first mound chore of the year.

Riding the crest of a seven game winning streak, the Sanford Giants have an opportunity tonight to move into the first division if they can down the Orlando Senators and Gainesville takes one game from Leesburg.

Manager Richie Klaus led his rumpaging Giants to a crucial victory over the Packers last night with a perfect night at the plate including two towering home runs over the left field fence. The Giants won 5 to 2.

The Giants, as has been their habit recently, jumped into the lead in the first inning when Frank Therina singled and Joe Parise walked with both men advancing on a passed ball. The stage was set for Tim Dolan's single which pushed them both across.

In the second frame Richie Klaus hit a three-two pitch over the fence. He did it again in the ninth to insure the Giants win.

Ferry Schults, with help from Ray Schmidt, notched his tenth victory of the year allowing only four hits in his five inning stint. Defensively the Giants were superb, committing no less than five double plays to keep the pitchers in a comfortable position.

COCOA, Aug. 12 (AP)—The Cocoa Indians went on the way with last night and blasted out 30 to 2 victory over the Gainesville Braves in a game which was a real slugfest. D. Murdock took over the guidance of the team as a bench manager today.

Every man in the Indian lineup got in his column, scored a run and got a run batted in as the Indians batted around in three different innings in a parade of four home runs.

ORLANDO, Aug. 12 (AP)—Orlando's Senators defeated Deland's Red Hats, 4 to 2, last night.

PALATKA, Aug. 12 (AP)—The Daytona Beach Islanders and the Palatka Asahs split a doubleheader here last night. Palatka won the opener, 6-5, while Daytona Beach claimed the 1-3 rematch.

Straight from the Horse's Mouth

By ED HARPER

Incubus Jones, the Herald's aging sports forecaster, dropped by the office the other day for the first time in several months and, after declining his offer of a bite of cut plug, we asked him what he thought of the local club's chances of finishing in the first division.

"If you'll recall, Sonny, I picked your flea bitten crew of miscompleted fugitives from a paddock to be in fourth place on Aug. 31—and I ain't seen no reason to change my prediction," Incubus opined. Fetting his wizened frame into this writer's chair and creaking his feet up on his desk, Jones spat an accurate stream of muddy brown tobacco juice into a convenient crack in the floor and began to expatiate.

"You take the outfield," he said by way of beginning, "Parise's the best dog, defensive rightfielder in the league—and I ain't excluding Ernie Gravelas. Joe covers more ground and he's got a better arm than that little runt." Jones pointed out.

"In center you got Dolan whose habit to plug that ball over the fence when he quite thinking about his girl and get his mind on the game. Good kid Dolan. Just let him live a while and he'll work out. Like the feller said, though, he might get killed by a fly ball if he don't watch it."

"Now Ed Jackson is a different proposition. Quiet sort of a boy. Don't never say much—but he caught a foul ball the other night that just didn't look possible. He ought to get some elastic to hold up his pants, though." Incubus chewed away for a while as a little juice dribbled down his unshaven chin onto a vest that had seen better days.

"Now the outfield ain't in my opinion—and my opinion ain't no to be lightly regarded, young feller. Look at that kid, Ed Jackson. Potential as a center fielder. If I saw one, I'd sign him right now. He's got a good swing and plenty of guts. He'll get in front of a semi-regular and be confident he can hit it. At shortstop, Richie Klaus is a class ball player in a D league and anybody who argues with that estimate better get himself a new set of eyes."

Incubus thumbed through a copy of Esquire and his mouth began to water as he reached one of the whiskeys ads.

"That St. Louis boy on second base, Therina. I think his name is. He's the most improved ball player in the league. Don't say much, but he learns real quick and his head is always up. Real dependable fellow, Therina. And then there's Max Phifer. Max is a deceptive ball player. He comes up with a play that saves a ball game and everybody just says like it was easy... but ain't it like that? Max just makes it look that way. He's hitting cleanup lately and his average has been going up—I'll keep on top of my name ain't Incubus Jones?"

"Now behind the plate you got to have a smart one and that's what Bailey is. He ain't no 300 hitter, but he knows the weaknesses of every batter in the league and if there's a better man on a pop foul around this part of the country I haven't seen him."

"The hitting has been good all year and with Buddy Lake getting back to his old ways he has a tough time finding any team in the league with a better rebound punch. This big fellow Swiderick, is as good a prospect as I've seen and that left-hander who looks like a barn door—Schults they call him—he can throw the ball by the best of them."

"Then you got Bob Callahan, Al Neville, Bill Ward, Ray Schmidt and Terry Porter—as good a bunch of pitchers as there is in a hundred."

Coach Ottis Mooney To Hold First Football Practice Session Friday

Ottis Mooney, new Seminole High School football coach, announced today that practice sessions will begin Friday morning at 9:00 A. M. with a squad of more than 40 players expected to be on hand for the initial meeting of the former Miami High mentor with his squad.

All students interested in football are urged to attend the practice as that Coach Mooney will be able to appraise his prospects for the coming season.

Among the boys expected to be out this season are the following: Hamilton Blaise, Jr., Rodman Brumley, John Carter, Terry Correll, Gerald Covington, Ray Davis, Eugene Estelberg, Melvin Fincher, Jimmy Fox, Kenneth Gano, Edward Gordon, Robert Graham, Ross Hamann, George Harden, Wise Hardin, Leslie Holcomb, J. B. Howell, Joe Hutchinson, Jimmy Krier, Edwin Lockett, Russell Mann, Edward McCall, Warren McCall, Taluadge Metz, Robert Morris, Nolley Nance, Hanks Register, Harry Rinkavage, Mike Rotunda, Walter Routh, Jack Schward, Phillip Skates, Frank Stenstrom, Jimmy Wade, Mike Wheeler, Calvin Wright, Raymond Yates and Joe Mullins.

Coach Mooney has tentatively decided to scrap the double-wing formation in vogue at Seminole High during Coach Kettle's reign in favor of the simpler single wing attack.

He is searching for a good tailback to take over the heavy duty job in this power formation's back-field.

24 Swimmers Make Attempt To Cross English Channel

ABOARD THE YACHT GIN-ASAL IN THE ENGLISH CHANNEL, Aug. 12 (AP)—Dusky, muscular Hassan Hamman, leader of a long, splashy line of swimmers today in the English Channel derby. With the halfway mark passed, Hamman was ahead of last year's winner, another Egyptian, by 300 yards.

CAP GIRL NEZ, France, Aug. 12 (AP)—Twenty swimmers from 10 countries plunged into the waters of the English Channel today in a race from France to the cliffs of Dover 23 miles away.

The contestants—13 men and seven women—started at the water at 8:32 A. M. GMT. The first man, first woman to arrive will each get £1,000 ($2,800) from the London Daily Mail, which annually arranges the swim circuit.

The swim has been postponed four times because of bad weather. But today the skies were clear and the water was as smooth as glass.

At its best, the Channel is one of the toughest grinds in the world, with its tricky currents and its stunning cold.

Kyoy's three victories—including last year's winner, A. Hassan, Abel El Behin—are favored to take the men's prize. Favored among the women is 23-year-old Ellen Fenton of Britain, who won last year.

The swimmers were on the beach an hour before takeoff time, getting prepared in individual tents which were fenced off from the crowd of some 500 spectators. The preparation consists largely of coating the body heavily with grease as protection against the cold.

The swimmers took off from the beach in the slush of this bluff named Cap Gris-Nez—Cape Grey Nose—which is still cluttered with the wreckage of German shore defenses from World War II. It was as close as the Germans ever got to England.

Ten of those swimming today already have conquered the Channel. Behin last year set a new men's record of 10 hours and 49 minutes. Miss Fenton's time last year was 15 hours and 41 minutes.

Those who finish second will get less than $1,000 and all others who complete the grind will get $250 (700).

Davis Meets Bremer In Valley Tournament

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Aug. 12 (AP)—The form chart goes out the window here today when top-seeded Bill Davis of Knoxville meets unranked Johnny Bremer of Wilmington, N. C. in the Mississippi Valley tennis tournament.

Bremer made his move yesterday in upsetting Don Tate, No. 6 man, from Memphis, 6-3, 1-6, 6-3. Davis has breezed through previous matches without difficulty but Bremer figures to beat the Southeastern Conference champ's stiffest test thus far. The Knoxville native beat Cecil Thompson of Memphis, 6-5, 6-3 yesterday.

Third rated Don Merritt of Memphis, Tulane tennis star, engages with the No. 8 man, Bill Islar of Miami. Merritt beat George McIntosh of Memphis, 6-3, 6-4, 6-3.

Two outstanding matches saw the second and fifth seeded players exchange blows coming out on top.

Second ranked Kermit Stengel, Tennessee, won three sets before leading Ed Roark Jr. of Memphis, 6-3, 6-6, 6-2. And Alon Waldorf, No. 5 from Memphis, beat Morgan Shalton of Miami, 6-4, 6-3, 6-4.

cracked down and the swim was prevented. Later they went to France and Tongay had to pledge there also, that the children would not be sent into the Channel.

Tongay was referring to the refusal of English and French officials to permit the family to enter their countries unless Tongay promised not to let Bubba, 5, and Kathy, 4, try to make the grueling Channel swim.

OSS Murder

Heard was described by his neighbors in Peabody as a typical lawmowing, home loving suburban commuter.

He apparently had sub-leased a home, where he lived with his wife and two children. The lease was due to expire tomorrow, neighbors said.

The former cloak and dagger agent Carl G. Lodice, 29, accused of actually killing his leader while on a secret mission in Italy in 1944 has been attending a trade school under the G. I. Bill.

Lodice has completed two years of a three-year course in electrical engineering at Rochester Institute of Technology, according to George H. L. Caine, an advisor at the school.

Caine said last night that Lodice was expected to return to the school in the fall from a job with Bargent & Greenleaf, manufacturers of door locks.

Lodice refused to see reporters last night, but his wife, Ruby, and two children, said they were not at home.

His husband does not want to make any statement until he finds out what this is all about.

The Defense Department yesterday named Lodice as the man who fired two fatal shots into Holohan's head. He is an Italian.

...of the American press, the government would never have said anything about it.

Holohan said that ten days after he received word from the Army that his brother was "missing" in February, 1946, a mysterious telephone caller who would not give his name suggested that he call the New York OSS office to find out what happened to the Major.

The OSS supplied no information, Holohan said, but he started corresponding with any one who might have known the Major in Italy.

After the official "killed in action" notice came in December, 1945, Holohan said, there was something that "kept gnawing at me."

"I could not put my finger on it but I knew, somehow, I had not yet heard the truth about my brother," he stated.

Holohan said that in February, 1946, he met with Icardi in New York and received a "seemingly accurate and complete story" of Major Holohan's death, supposedly in a German ambush.

There were further letters from persons he did not know in Italy, Holohan said, then one day he received a letter from a man who said the Major's body was recovered from a lake.

Donovan also told of an investigation into the death just after the war when there were rumors that the Major was murdered.

"I ordered an investigation, but we were going out of business, and we had no chance to press it," Donovan said, and added: "I didn't know then and don't know now whether he was murdered by his own people or partisans. We heard both stories. Then, about a year and a half ago, his body was found, and another renewed the request for an investigation."

Houston, counsel for the Central Intelligence Agency, and he began his own investigation. Then, last winter, when I was in Italy, I did my own questioning of people."

County will also be disclosed by the experiments.

Of particular importance to local growers is the knowledge of the fall of the artesian head during the dry season when pumping is accelerated greatly.

An important phase of the investigation will be an analysis of rock samples from wells now being drilled to determine the geological conformation of the areas in which water is found.

Mr. Heath has requested that he be notified in the County Road office at the Court House of the existence of any unused wells with a diameter of more than six inches which might be suitable for the investigation.

SUEZ CANAL

NEW YORK, Aug. 16.—(AP)—The Big Three Western powers introduced a resolution in the U. N. Security Council at a meeting in New York today calling on Egypt to end its blockade restrictions on international shipping through the Suez Canal.

The U. S., France and Britain said the blockade was not only interfering with goods for Israel, who brought the complaint to the council, but also denied "to nations at large time connected with the conflict in Palestine valuable supplies for their economic reconstruction."

SPRAYED WITH BULLETS

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 16.—(AP)—An air force jet plane today accidentally showered groundport in Franklin county with 1,700 bullets from his .50 caliber machine guns. No one was hurt in original reports.

Lockbourne Base officials reported the shooting. They said the machine guns on a jet fighter plane "short circuited."

The pilot was Capt. Nelson J. McDonald. His rank and home city were not immediately available.

Hospital Meet

It was pointed out that the only feasible method of raising this money is through a county bond issue in that amount.

Federal aid is at present only a possibility, the meeting was told, and even if granted would probably be insufficient to cover more than a third of the $400,000 needed.

The case of the DeLand hospital was given as an example of the federal aid which might be expected. The government has so far approved an allocation of only $10,000. Another $250,000 has been promised but no provision for the money has been made, after the federal appropriation of $150,000,000 has been cut in half by the present Congress.

The meeting also discussed the need for more land on which to build the hospital and it was reported that owners of lots on adjacent property are being contacted.

Fish Estate trustees who attended the meeting were W. A. Laffler, John Galloway and Fred Wilson.

Senate Bill

Administration's $8,500,000,000 foreign aid bill from being slashed in the Senate.

Mr. Truman and Administration leaders met for an hour and 15 minutes at the White House with Senate leaders of both parties to plead for the bill as it stands.

The senators told reporters afterward that they were warned that any cuts either in economic or military aid funds would seriously interfere with the battle against Communism.

But Republican Senator Bridges and New Hampshire said he had made no commitments against cuts. And even Chairman Connally (D-Tex.) of the Foreign Relations Committee conceded there probably will be sizable reductions.

The meeting came as the House began debate on the measure, already trimmed to $7,848,750,000 by the House Foreign Affairs Committee. Some House Republicans were aiming for a still bigger reduction.

Senators at the White House parley were the top-ranking Democratic and Republican members of the Foreign Relations and Armed Services Committees—Connally, Bridges, Russell (D-Ga.) and Wiley (R-Wisc.).

Bridges said others at the session included Secretary of State Acheson, Under Secretary of Defense Lovett, Administrator Foster of ECA, and General Omar N. Bradley, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

Early debate in the House on the measure developed considerable misgivings on the part of members but no organized opposition to the aid program.

Rep. Smith (D-Va.) told the House he was "apprehensive" about the possibility that American tanks and guns given to newly friendly nations might be turned against this country later. For example, he said, no one knows today on what side Iraq may be in the future.

MORE TROUBLE

CHICAGO, Aug. 16.—(AP)—A Negro bus driver said today he's determined to live in a suburban Cicero where mobs rioted for three days when he attempted to move into an apartment.

"It's a matter of principle," said Harvey E. Clark, Jr., at a news conference arranged by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

Clark said he'll go back to Cicero, a former State Department official, to prison. His was convicted of perjury for falsely stating that he never gave government information to a Red spy ring.

In the prime committee hearing Baldwin described the witness as Joseph Rheinfield, a top man in this northern New Jersey bootlegging syndicate and commented: "I worked on the Waxey Gordon and Dutch Schultz (former New York and New Jersey gangsters) cases, and they were pickers compared to the Rheinfield syndicate."

Truman Conference

Asked about reports that General Douglas MacArthur would attend and speak at the treaty signing, he said he did not know but the deposed Pacific commander would be welcome. He added it would be all right with him if the State Department invited MacArthur, but added that Ambassador John Foster Dulles, who handled treaty negotiations, had covered the situation pretty well.

Politics, as usual of late, broke open today's news conference. A reporter commented that General Dwight D. Eisenhower is not a candidate and Senator Douglas (D-Ill.) isn't either, so "who is left, besides you?"

Mr. Truman said he could not answer that. Then he added there are plenty of people, ambitious for the job.

He was asked about a previous statement that Eisenhower would not be a candidate on the Democratic ticket.

Mr. Truman replied he did not say that, but had said he did not think, with emphasis on think, that Eisenhower would be a candidate on the Democratic ticket.

He was told that Senator Douglas had promised to support him if he were a candidate and was asked whether he would that any cuts either in economic or military aid funds would seriously interfere with the battle against Communism.

But Republican Senator Bridges and New Hampshire said he had made no commitments against cuts. And even Chairman Connally (D-Tex.) of the Foreign Relations Committee conceded there probably will be sizable reductions.

What Is World's Most Valuable Metal? - No, Not Gold, But Iron

By HAL BOYLE

HIBBING, Minn. —(AP)—What is the world's most valuable metal? A merchant might say, "Gold!" that word has never lost its luster. A scientist, thinking of new experiments in the atom bomb, might say, "Uranium."

But in terms of everyday living, the most valuable metal is still that old servant—iron. You have to eat iron to live. And iron is the muscle of steel, the framework of all great modern civilizations of war and in peace.

A nation without iron today is a nation with muscle. Americans use more iron than any other people. Yet they know as much about it as the average Chinaman does about the cause of athletes' foot. Here are a few facts and figures about iron you can paste up for a quiz test:

Some 26 per cent of all the iron produced in the United States comes from the Mesabi range here. It is in a great pocket of glacial drift about a hundred miles long and up to seven miles wide. So nature concentrates her bounties.

Mesabi, also spelled Mesaba and Missabe, comes from a Chippewa Indian term meaning giants, who—legend says—once inhabited the region. The word "range" means "district" so the Mesabi range is "the district of the giants."

But iron is the only giant left. It is a giant that has poured its strength into plowshares and skyscrapers, put snows in swords and tanks. Without the Mesabi range America could hardly have fought and won two great world wars so handily. Or arm itself so well for a third one.

Iron used to be clawed by picks in underground tunnels. Some still is. But now huge shovels that do the work of scores of men strip off the covering soil surface, then scoop up five cubic feet of heavy ore as it weans so much ice cream. The shovels work down almost to the five-hundred-foot level, creating great valleys of rust.

One mining company in the Hull-Rust-Manning pit, the world's largest, has 50 miles of railroad track within this single vast hole. Ore also is trucked to the surface in 22-ton trucks by a conveyor belt 40 stories tall.

An odd sidelight: Most visitors think the redder the earth the richer the ore content. "That's not true. The richest ore is blue-black and crumbly. Red rock bearing low grade ore, is called "paint rock" by the miners. A cleaning up operation, in which ore pockets are washed out by hydraulic pressure, is called a "scram job."

Iron ore is sorted into 23 grades before it is trucked to Duluth in mile-long trains of 100 cars. Each modern car now can carry 70 tons. Nobody has ever been known to steal a loaded ore car. "He wouldn't find it easy to peddle," a rail official said. "That's one of the nice things about the business."

The ore goes from the Duluth-Superior docks to the nation's smelters via the Great Lakes. The brig Columbia carried only 122 tons in the first shipment in 1888. Big new modern vessels now carry 16,000 to 20,000 tons. And they can be loaded in four to six hours.

What about the future, when the high-grade ore is exhausted? One answer is taconite, or low-grade ore. There are millions of tons of it. One company is spending more than $25,000,000 in research on ways to utilize it commercially. A pilot plant now is powdering taconite rock, separating the iron particles magnetically and molding them into "iron eggs" richer than the best natural ore deposits. The process is called "beneficiation" and shows even the iron industry has its brand of gobbledygook.

Another answer to America's coming iron shortage lies in the discovery of new ranges. They no longer look for them through explorers for iron by airplane now. The plane carries a gadget called a magnetometer. When its hit-or-miss test drillings... The

House Bill Would Ban Tax On Water In Scotch Whisky

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—(AP)—The House Ways and Means Committee listened soberly today to arguments for and against taxing the water in Scotch whisky.

It is taxed at present. Although distilled and imported at 80 proof, the tax at 90 a gallon is levied just as if it were 100 proof (80 per cent alcohol.) Thus about one-seventh of the tax is paid on water.

A bill proposing various simplifications in customs procedures contains a section which would revise the system of collecting taxes on imported distilled spirits in order to make the tax apply only to the alcoholic content. That would mean a reduction of some 30 cents on each fifth of 80-proof Scotch.

Harry L. Lourie, executive vice president of the National Association of Alcoholic Beverage Importers, told the committee that was a very fair and sensible plan. He said the present system discriminates against the imported beverages, since domestic liquor is taxed on its actual alcoholic content.

But R. E. Hoyce, vice president of the National Distillers Products Corporation and spokesman for 21 other U. S. whisky makers, registered a vigorous protest against the proposed change. "The proposal stripped of all its fancy discrimination masquerade is simply an attempt to effect a further reduction in the import duty for foreign shippers on cased whisky," he said.

Los Angeles Jaycees Jealous Of Florida

MIAMI, Aug. 16.—(AP)—And so the California fish came back to their natural habitat—in Florida. The Los Angeles Junior Chamber of Commerce sent an emergency air shipment of Gambusia affinis—tiny fish that feed on mosquito larvae—to Miami to get rid of an unusual infestation of mosquitoes.

"The Everglades is the natural home of the Gambusia—the water out there is thick with them," said Fred Stutz, chief of mosquito control for Dade (Miami) county. "In fact, Louisa G. Lennert, who used to be state sanitary engineer for Florida, first introduced them to California. They grow wild in Florida but the Californians have to cultivate them. If there's one thing Florida doesn't need, it's Gambusia."

J. Arnold Mims, president of the Miami Junior Chamber of Commerce, telegraphed Fred Walker, president of the Los Angeles Jaycees, saying "It would be inhuman to put these specimens in the same waters with our great game fish which have made Florida fishing world famous."

Mims said he believed the mosquito infestation was due to the "great influx of summer tourists and that the insects, not to be outdone by intelligent, fun-seeking humans, find Miami a most enjoyable place to be in summer."

He added the California fish "wouldn't even be a good meal for our screwiest mosquito."

needle begins to flit about, that means "metal below" . . . And the more of this precious metal is found, the more money is America's industrial might. But so far they can't mine it from ralsies, unfortunately. . . . Had your iron today?

Five Day Walkout At Pasco Packing Plant Is Settled

DADE CITY, Aug. 16.—(AP)—A five-day walkout at the big Pasco Packing Company Plant ended yesterday just when things looked most threatening.

The pickets again had massed at the gates 100 or more strong since Monday withdrew yesterday afternoon.

Walter Nelson, union representative, said the strikers—estimated at 400 to 1,000—would return to work today.

He said they agreed to go back on a company promise to negotiate union grievances. These included protests against working Sundays on short notice and against the firing of 40 men who complained about Sunday work.

Company officials were not available for comment. However, Sheriff Leslie Resinger, whose peacemaking efforts were credited with helping the settlement, confirmed Nelson's statement.

"The Sheriff has been very cooperative, trying to do his duty to both sides," Nelson said.

Only this morning the Sheriff had brought in 25 deputies from other counties and 10 State Highway Patrolmen as a precautionary measure.

There had been rumors through this small town, 35 miles northeast of Tampa, that violence might break out, especially if the company tried to send workers through the picket lines.

Circuit Judge O. L. Dayton, Jr., said "a potentially dangerous situation" existed. He issued a temporary order forbidding pickets from interfering with anyone who wanted to enter or leave the sprawling citrus processing plant.

Sheriff Resinger said he never had to bring his reserve force to the gates and sent the outside officers home yesterday afternoon.

The strikers are members of the Food, Tobacco and Agricultural Distributors, Processors and Office Workers of America (Independent).

Teachers In Half Of Counties Are Assured Of Raise

TALLAHASSEE, Aug. 15.—(AP)—Teachers in more than half of Florida's 67 counties already have been assured pay raises for next year, but not many of them are for the extra $30 they want.

A Florida Education Association survey showed 36 counties have granted annual pay raises ranging from $50 in a few isolated cases to teachers out of local funds. Seventeen counties have given no raises, and there were no reports from 14 other counties.

Some teachers' organizations still are hoping for a special session of the legislature to provide $300 a year cost-of-living pay increases from state funds, but Governor Warren has given no indication that he will call the legislators back.

After the Legislature adjourned its regular session June 1 without reaching agreement on a last-minute move to finance the $300 pay raise, some counties undertook to boost teachers' pay with local money.

The State Department of Education estimated today that the average salary of Florida teachers will be up $85 to $3,083 for this year. That includes a normal increase for improved educational qualifications.

It figured that amount at 2.8 percent and set it against U. S. Bureau of Labor reports of an 8.3 percent increase in the cost of living since the outbreak of the Korean war and an average wage increase of 11 percent for factory workers.

The department of education said Florida's average teacher salary for next year is slightly above the national average for last year, but other states have granted increases which probably will put Florida below average again.

Counties which reported increasing teachers' pay locally said they did it by boosting tax millages, using reserves, cutting down on expenditures for equipment and repairs, and holding back on construction of new buildings.

Here are the raises reported in the various counties:

- Alachua $100, Bay $100, Bradford $150, Broward $300, Charlotte $100, Citrus $100, Dade $100, (plus a $200 bonus on next year's salary), DeSoto $175, Duval $100, $100 to $300, Gilchrist $50-$300, Gulf $75-$150, Hernando $150, Hillsborough $100-$350 (mostly $100), Jefferson $100, Lake $325, Leon $150, Levy $100, Manatee $200, Marion $100, Martin $200, Monroe varied raises up to $750 for a few teachers, Nassau $100, Okaloosa $50, Okechobee $50-$150, Orange $150, Osceola $150, Palm Beach $200, Pasco $200, Pinellas $240-$480, Polk $150, Putnam $200, St. Lucie $100, Seminole $150 (plus $150 at the end of the year), Volusia $200-$450, Wakulla $100, Walton $50, Washington $50-$100.

No raises at all were given by

O. K. France of Miami will be the new executive director of the Children's Home Society of Florida, according to an announcement made by S. Kendrick Greenery, president of the Society, in Jacksonville today. Mr. France will succeed Marcus C. "Daddy" Jagg who will complete his fifty-first year of service as State Superintendent and executive director Sept. 15.

Loans Are Available To County Farmers

Loan funds are now available for the making of operating loans to Seminole County farmers. It was announced today by Curtis I. Green, Seminole County agent, or with the Farmers Home Administration.

Mr. Green said these loans are available to full time family type farmers for the purchase of needed livestock and equipment and for necessary farm operating costs.

The Farmers Home Administration also has loan funds available for the making of farm ownership loans and Farm Housing loans.

You Can Square Things With Your Wife - Buy Her A Diamond Necklace

NEW YORK, Aug. 16.—(AP)—You can make your wife happy with a convertible diamond necklace. This helpful hint for a happy home is only one among many in today's parcel of news from the business world.

For instance, if your wife gestures while she talks, you can make her happy with a watch that needs only wrist movement to keep it wound. Or a watch with a built-in slide-rule calculator will help her at the most market.

These helpful items, and many like them, can be found at the American National Retail Jewelers Association's "Gift Guide" for this week. The value of its watchmakers' convertible diamond necklaces is estimated as high as $10 million. And made of your own choice of gemstones.

But if you have your wife trained by now not to expect too much from you in the way of jewelry, there are other ways to give her—and who knows how many businessmen—a little touch of happiness.

More shoulder pads, for instance. A more widespread acceptance of shoulderpads is the aim of a new organization announced today. It is sponsored by the Women's Apparel Shoulderpad Association and a local of the International Ladies Garment Workers' Union and is called "The Public Relations Committee."

The organization wants to establish a list of standards in feminine shoulder padlet apparel. The "union" will "protect" the women in the ingredients that let your wife express her own individual personality. A rather expensive personality maybe, but press her self? That is, if she has any trouble about it.

The council also wishes to hold that "in her home a woman may be her own individual self. Helpfully, it will have you select from the coffee if it falls in. More recently the DCA has come in for some head-on opposition with regard to the "housewife" if that the "housewife" is not an impulse $5 per cent of the time.

All you have to do now is to convert your wife's impulse buy from diamonds to doughnuts.

Senate's MacArthur Group Votes Against Making Report Public

Russell Says Revival Of Controversy At This Time Bad For Korean Talks

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17—(AP)—Republican senators today won the right to file a sharply critical report on the RPT investigation in the Senate records.

The Senate Banking Committee which investigated charges that political influence was exerted in the granting of Reconstruction Finance Corporation loans, voted at a closed-door session to submit a majority report in words in such simple language, but to allow the Republicans to file a minority statement of their own. The two will be published together as a single document.

Terms of the trial reports were ordered kept secret until Monday noon, when both will be filed with the Senate.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17—(AP)—The Senate's MacArthur Inquiry Committee voted 20 to 1 today against making any report on its two months of hearings.

Chairman Russell (D-Ga.) told reporters the majority feeling was that any report at this time on the firing of General Douglas MacArthur would only "revive bitter controversy at a critical period in the Korean peace talks."

He said the decision against a formal report was made on motion of Senator Saltonstall (R-Mass.). However, it was decided to let individual members file a statement of their views to be included in the hearing record to be transmitted to the Senate.

Hurricane Grows In Importance To Florida Residents

MIAMI, Aug. 17—(AP)—The British island of Jamaica was subjected to a tropical storm in the Caribbean Sea gained a 100-mile-an-hour kick.

Grady Norton, chief storm forecaster in the Miami Weather Bureau, reported the increasingly violent storm was moving along a path which should take it over or just south of Jamaica tonight.

The forward pace of the whirling winds was 18 miles an hour to the west-northwest. This is a fast clip for a tropical hurricane, and Norton predicted it would slow down as it gained violence.

Jamaica is a rich, mountainous island with great sugar cane fields, banana plantations and rum distilleries. The capital, Kingston, on the south coast, is a city of 120,000. The island is the largest of the British West Indies. It is separated from Cuba by 80 miles of indigo blue Caribbean waters.

Norton, whose office here cooperates in storm forecasting, suggested Kingston today that hurricane precautions are in order.

The storm, second of the year to reach hurricane force, was yet in the development stage, said Norton.

"It is getting into a position now which increases its importance to Florida, and we are watching it very closely for any decided change of course," the storm forecaster reported.

Stomach Ache

NAPLES, Aug. 17—(AP)—Pietro Fabrizio, 8 years old, complained of a stomach ache.

He was taken to a hospital here where doctors operated and removed from his stomach 79 pills, pieces of barbed wire, a length of copper wire, to pens and 12 pieces of tin.

Plane Missing

ANCHORAGE, Alaska, Aug. 17—(AP)—Another plane was missing today in Alaska—the fourth in less than a month.

The latest search was for a plane by veteran Alaska bush pilot Glen Hudson. It failed to return from a flight Wednesday to a lake near Dead Man Mountain, about 170 miles northeast of Anchorage.

Army Sergeant Denies Plotting Death Of Leader

Former OSS Men Say They Will Be Proven To Be Innocent

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17—(AP)—A former Army sergeant said today he was "shocked and astounded" at charges that he and a lieutenant plotted the death of their commander on a secret war mission in Italy seven years ago.

Carl G. Lodice, named as the trigger man in the shooting of Maj. William V. Holohan, declared he would be proved innocent when the "complete, true story" is given out by authorities.

The Defense Department in a statement Wednesday charged that Holohan, leader of the OSS mission behind enemy lines, was killed by Lodice and former Lt. Aldo (Doc) Leland of Peabody, N. J., with the help of two Italians.

The department said Lodice had made a written confession. Lodice acknowledged today at a news conference in his home town of Rochester, N. Y., that the confession was in his own handwriting but said:

"I refute and repudiate the confession as it appeared in the press. It is incomplete."

Leland likewise has denied the charges, terming them "fantastic." Support for the two came from other former servicemen in the OSS—Office of Strategic Services.

Former Sgt. Arthur P. Clark, who once worked with the accused men and Holohan, told reporters at Milford, Mass., he (Continued on Page Six)

Sanford Jaycees Accept Challenge Of Orlando Club

The Seminole County Jaycees accepted a challenge from the Orlando club last night to participate in a talent contest to be held at the Pine Hills Country Club Sept. 14 with the losers paying for the beer.

Delegates to the summer convention in Ft. Pierce were instructed to vote against any change in the by-laws of the State organization. Rick Farrell and Bill Stemper will represent Seminole County at the annual meeting.

The Jaycees heard progress reports on the fishing map of Seminole County which is now being copied by the Orlando club on a larger scale. The map, which will locate all fishing areas and camps, is expected to be in production soon.

Another Jaycee project, a folder of pictures of the local sea, is also in the process of being completed.

The club voted to refer to Rep. Earl Berman a letter from the Florida, Ariz. Chamber of Commerce asking the state's support of a proposal to divert water from the Colorado River to ari- (Continued on Page Two)

Grass Roots Farm Policy Survey To Be Started Here

A "grass roots" survey of U.S. Department of Agriculture farm policies is getting under way in Seminole County. O. Leo Butner, Chairman of the County Agricultural Mobilization Committee, said today.

The survey, known as the Family Farm Policy Review, is part of a State-wide canvass designed to touch every farm family. The County Agricultural Mobilization Committee, composed of persons representing various State and Federal farm agencies, will be responsible for conducting the survey. Mr. Butner said.

He explained that the purpose of the survey is to get a critical analysis of the Department's farm policies, with the ultimate objective of improving services to farmers.

Korean Aid

TOKYO, Aug. 17—(AP)—The United Nations has given the Republic of Korea $254,000,000 in relief supplies, equipment and services since the war began, the Far East command announced today.

Of the total, $240,000,000 came from the United States.

An additional $140,000,000 is programmed for delivery during the fiscal year 1952.

Fields' Estate

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 17—(AP)—Testimony has been completed in the latest contest of comedian W. C. Fields' estate and the court's decision will be announced Aug. 24.

Comedian Ed Wynn was the final witness yesterday in the suit of Mrs. Edith Williams, 71-year-old Chicago blind woman, for a widow's share of Fields' $771,428 estate. She claims Fields married her in 1930 under the name of Billy Ward and later changed his name to Bill Williams.

OPS Launches Drive To Fix Cattle Prices

Beef Industry Meets Wednesday To Consider Imposition Of Ceiling Prices

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17—(AP)—The government, reporting signs of a black market, launched a nationwide drive today to enforce the price ceiling on beef. "Immediate action" against any violators was promised.

At the same time, plans for sharply changing the price ceilings themselves were disclosed.

Michael V. D'Salle, head of the Office of Price Stabilization, said a large part of the OPS enforcement staff will concentrate on checking cattle sales prices. Immediate checks are to be made at slaughter plants to find out whether abnormally high purchases involve any over-ceiling sales.

D'Salle also disclosed that the beef slaughtering industry and many others have been called together here next Wednesday to consider steps to be taken with respect to ceiling prices on cattle in view of the abolition of "laughing quotas."

A. Carraway And W. A. Patrick Are Back From Canada

City Commissioner Andrew Carraway and W. A. Patrick, former president of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce, returned yesterday from a two-week fishing trip to Wisconsin and Canada.

Mr. Carraway said he was most impressed during the trip by the tremendous amount of building in building and in the north. Everywhere gleaming new industrial plants of brick and glass with clean, modern working conditions were rising, he said.

"I looked around as if the country were lying in ruins, a foot of open space with a building or factory" he grinned.

"And the corn in the middle-west extended for miles after miles in solid rows, and then some," he declared in describing the journey through Illinois.

Arriving in Wisconsin, the two vacationers were highly impressed by the extensive dairy operations there. Mr. Carraway said they drove through the center of the cheese manufacturing section of the state—an area of neat well kept farms and small cities.

"The fishing at Stone Lake and Lake Nipigon in Canada was fair, but nothing compared to that here in Florida," the City Commissioner said.

Smaller bass, walleye, pike and speckled perch were the principle varieties. The Canadian lake was situated in the midst of a virtual wilderness of virgin timber and wild, uncharted forests. Mr. Carraway said he expressed himself as surprised that the country was so undeveloped.

On the trip back the two vacationers followed a route which took them through the mountain regions of the Appalachians in Kentucky and Tennessee.

"The biggest thing you get out of a trip like this is an understanding of different points of view in other sections of the country," Mr. Carraway concluded.

Three Bradley Basketball Men Indicted For Throwing Games

NEW YORK, Aug. 17—(AP)—Three Bradley University basketball players including All-American Gene (Spray) Melonzo and eight alleged "fixers" were indicted today in the college basketball gambling scandal that has involved six colleges and 31 players.

The players, Melonzo, William K. Mason and George M. Chonakos, were accused of receiving and soliciting a bribe and conspiracy to accept a bribe.

The United States District Court in Chicago and two other Bradley players were indicted in the college basketball scandal that has involved six colleges and 31 players.

The players, Melonzo, William K. Mason and George M. Chonakos, were accused of receiving and soliciting a bribe and conspiracy to accept a bribe.

Polish DP Kills Girl Friend And Mother, Suicides

LAKEWOOD, N. J., Aug. 17—(AP)—A lone-eyed, out-of-control Polish DP, who had killed his girl friend and mother, then shot himself to death, police flushed him out of a third floor apartment today.

A third woman was rushed to Park Emanuel Hospital with a 32-caliber bullet lodged in her spine. She was in poor condition today. A fourth woman, who was in the room with the victim, was also injured.

Police identified the dead woman as Mrs. Anna Tulpin, about 40, of Hillside, N. J., and her 37-year-old mother, Mrs. Kazimierz Kowalski. Wounded in the wild attack was Mrs. Alexandra Kowalski of Passaic, N. J., a sister of the deceased.

Their apartment was identified as 45-year-old Paul Wawrzyniak, a Polish DP believed to be from New York.

Wawrzyniak was arrested and held out a 32-caliber revolver and blasted away at the women during a quiet family gathering. He fled the house after setting it after but returned to the scene a short time later only to turn his gun on himself as police closed in. (Continued on Page Two)

Diary At Last

GRANBURY, Tex., Aug. 17—(AP)—Jesse James, the Missouri outlaw, is dead—last seen by J. Frank Dalton, actually the man who terrorized the Midwest in the '30s.

Dalton, who said he was 107, died here Wednesday night.

The aged man, who came here recently from Texas City, claimed three years ago, while living at Lawson, Ohio, that he was James—that the man who was shot at St. Joseph, Mo., in 1933 by Bob Ford actually was Charlie Bigelow.

But Jesse E. James of Los Angeles, son of the outlaw, and other members of the James family denied Dalton's claims.

Storm Insurance

TALLAHASSEE, Aug. 17—(AP)—Florida insurance agents and company representatives agreed today they need higher wind-storm premium rates—and need them before the state has its first hurricane of the season.

Miami Beach hotel and apartment owners and city council representatives sent letters or telegrams of protest which were read at today's hearing. None appeared in person with objections.

State Treasurer and Insurance Commissioner Ed Larson said he will "try to come up with a decision one way or the other in a few days."

Wolffhound Cited Somewhere In Korea

MOSCOW, Aug. 17—(AP)—The Soviet press published today an official announcement apparently intended to inform the United States that Soviet Russia will present proposals to the Japanese peace treaty conference in spite of the Americans' stipulation to the contrary.

Western observers here say the Soviets are expected to raise many objections to the draft treaty which Washington described as final. But there are some among these diplomatic observers who say that Russia may go along with the treaty after stating her objections.
