Teen pleads guilty

SANFORD — Anthony Bernard Boykins, 16, pleaded guilty Wednesday to manslaughter and shooting into a vehicle, under a negotiated agreement. Boykins was indicted for first degree murder Sept. 30 in the death of Guy Taylor, 24, Deltona. Boykins entered the negotiated plea during his trial. Under a plea agreement, Boykins will be sentenced to seven years in prison including a three-year mandatory term for use of a firearm, served concurrently. Boykins was tried as an adult. His sentence includes eight years probation following his prison term, according to assistant state attorney Carol Wilder. The shooting took place Sept. 2, 1992 in the Lockhart subdivision near Goldsboro.

Autumn begins

SANFORD — The days won't have an immediate change, but autumn officially begins in the Northern Hemisphere at 8:22 p.m. this evening. The change in seasons is brought on by the autumnal equinox. On this particular day, except at the north and south poles, the sun rises due east and sets due west, with daylight and darkness nearly identical in length.

Breakwater to be replaced

SANFORD — The City of Sanford plans to replace the existing breakwater on the west basin of the Sanford Marina. The city's Engineering Department has estimated the cost at approximately $60,000. Several of the boards and supports show signs of rot and weakening. Additionally, some pieces of the wall have been breaking loose and are considered a potential hazard to boat owners. During a city commission meeting earlier this month, a consensus approval was given to City Manager Bill Simmons to place the matter out for bidding. Simmons expects money for the replacement will come from contingency funds or reserves as the matter is not a budgeted item.

Monroe Meadows open house

SANFORD — Monroe Meadows, located off South Sanford Avenue, a tenth of a mile north of the Lake Mary Boulevard intersection, will be holding an open house for the public this Saturday. Special events are planned to introduce the public to the newest affordable housing community developed by Suda, Inc. Several model homes will be open for tours. For further information, phone 331-5900.

Art competition still open

SANFORD — Although the deadline for submission of entries in a watercolor competition was supposed to have ended, the First Street Gallery is extending the dates, and will continue to accept entries. Originally planned to open this Friday, the exhibit is now being planned for early October. "Florida Scenes" is the theme for the juried exhibit, to include sea and landscapes, still life, people, wildlife, or anything that depicts life in the Sunshine State. Entry fees are $10 per piece of art. Size requirements are a maximum of three by four feet and must be framed, ready for hanging. For further details on the watercolor competition, phone the First Street Gallery, 203 E. First Street in downtown Sanford, at 323-9178.

Sex case mistrial

Sanford cop accused of molesting boy: New trial

Guy Brewster in court Tuesday.

By SANDRA ELLIOTT
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — A new trial will be scheduled within 90 days for a former Sanford Police officer charged with molesting a police Explorer between 1987 and 1989. The first trial in the two-year old case ended Tuesday, after a judge declared a mistrial.

Guy Brewster, 37, told Circuit Court Judge Alan A. Dickey he wanted a mistrial declared after the chief witness against him described a sexual encounter which Brewster is not charged with committing.

Brewster is now charged with 85 counts of engaging in sexual activity with a child in custodial custody. Just prior to the scheduled beginning of Brewster's trial Tuesday morning, defense attorneys Jeff Deen and Bob Fisher successfully argued that eight counts of a 93-count amended information should be dismissed because the time period, during which they could be prosecuted, had expired.

Assistant state attorney Meryl Allowas said the dismissal of the eight counts is not fatal to the state's case.

"I was very pleased with the jury and the way the testimony was going," Allowas said, after the mistrial was declared. "I'm disappointed we weren't able to complete the trial."

Prosecuting attorney Meryl Allowas

"What this underscores is the problem when you have on-going sexual activity with young victims," she added. "The victims don't remember it the way the legal system wants them to."

Deen, who claims the state's case is a weak one, said the testimony relating to acts not charged points out that the youth keeps changing his story.

During questioning by Allowas, the now 21-year old chief witness against Brewster described how he met the policeman through a friend while Brewster was the school resource officer at Lakeview Middle School. The youth was in eighth grade. Later, the youth joined the police Explorers which Brewster led. He also testified

Kids learn to respect differences in others

By VICKI DeSORMIER

SANFORD — As the world gets smaller and smaller, everyone will have to learn to get along a little better.

A program started last year in Seminole County and a year before in Orange County, is training volunteers to teach students to appreciate the similarities and celebrate the differences between themselves and others.

The Green Circle program is a national human relations enrichment program for second and third graders.

The purpose is to encourage positive self worth and promote mutual respect through appreciation for human differences, said Jane Lane, a spokesman for the Dividends school volunteer program that is helping to organize training for local volunteers.

"It's a really neat program," Lane said. "It talks about how we're all alike and how we have so many differences that are good."

There are already 25 people trained in Seminole County to conduct the multicultural program. See Circle, Page 5A

Murder suspect still sought; family of slain girl is quiet

By VICKI DeSORMIER

CASSELBERRY — The family of a little girl and her grandmother who were murdered in their Casselberry home on Monday morning is quietly trying to put their lives back together again.

Elizabeth "Betty" Dick, 58, and her granddaughter, Toni Neuner, 8, were allegedly killed by a boarder in their home at 111 Cloister Cove in Casselberry. Another granddaughter, Wendi, was bound and gagged by the assailant, but managed to escape.

Two other children in the home were not harmed.

Patrick Simpson, a spokesman for the Casselberry Police Department, said the family has chosen not to come forward to talk about the tragedy at this time, but that they are still in the area.

"They want to stay out of the spotlight for right now," he said.

The preliminary autopsy report, completed Tuesday, showed that the grandmother had been stabbed to death. Though she was found partially nude, police said, she had not been sexually assaulted.

The report also showed, however, that the eight-year-old had been "brutally, brutally raped" before she was strangled, Simpson said.

Her nude body was found stuffed between the wall and the bed in the suspect's room.

The prime suspect is Eddie James, 32, who had been living in the home for about a month and a half.

James is still at large, though police believe

Lake Mary may sport shiny, new fire truck

By NICK PFEIFAU
Herald Staff Writer

LAKE MARY — The Lake Mary Fire Department is seeking approval to purchase a new fire truck. A request is to be presented to commissioners Thursday night.

The purchase would be arranged through a "piggyback" agreement with the City of Clewiston. Under such an agreement, a joint contract is allowed by the state, which results in a lower charge than if Lake Mary was to enter into a singular contract.

The purchase price has been set at $188,795. An additional amount of related equipment, estimated not to exceed $15,000 will be required for the new unit.

It is expected that 40 percent of the debt service on the vehicle will come from impact fees.

The truck would be obtained from Emergency One of Ocala, which

Retirement home fire hospitalizes 7

UNDERHILL — Electrical problems in a hot water heater were suspected in a retirement home fire that sent seven people to area hospitals, the fire chief said.

Tuesday's fire was confined to a storage area, but 52 residents were evacuated around dawn when smoke spread through one of the four buildings at the Lauderhill Family Care retirement home, Broward County sheriff's deputies said.

Five residents ranging in age from 72 to 95 and two employees were hospitalized, and an 83-year-old man was admitted in stable condition at Florida Medical Center.

The fire started in a storage area where the water heater was installed, said Fire Chief Chuck Farends.

Edison's fishing tackle discovered

FORT MYERS — A curator at the Thomas Edison museum stumbled across some fishing tackle belonging to the inventor's wife. It had been neatly packed away a half century ago.

"It had not been disturbed. Everything was wrapped in newspapers dating from 1935 to 1945," said Michele Wehrwein, who made the discovery while cleaning out a closet in a caretaker's home at the Edison & Ford Winter Estates in this Southwest Florida city.

The fishing gear officially was unveiled Monday at the museum by Florence Black and Berne Davis, two of Mina Edison's friends.

"There was this wonderful material. All of it was labeled, which is a godsend," said Wehrwein, adding that much of the writing was in Mina Edison's own hand.

For Edison devotees, the collection of 60 lures and other fishing paraphernalia offers a glimpse into the life of Mina Edison.

"She fished, and she was a serious angler. These things show she was not the kind to just sit on the end of the dock," Wehrwein said.

Pot-smoking catches up with lawyer

TAMPA — A lawyer expected to become a federal magistrate withdrew his name after district judges objected to his use of marijuana while a college student and a law clerk during the 1970s.

Peter J. Grilli, a trial lawyer with a background in international business law, said he took his name out of consideration last week after some of the nine federal judges in Florida's Middle District expressed concern about his marijuana use more than a decade ago.

Grilli applied for the newly created post last winter and was among five candidates selected by a panel to be interviewed by the judges.

During his interview, Grilli was asked whether anything in his background would disqualify him. He said no.

The judges made him their top choice in April, but a formal announcement was not made pending both FBI and Internal Revenue Service background checks.

Grilli pointed out to the FBI that he had used marijuana on several occasions while a law clerk to senior District Judge Ben Krentzman in the late 1970s.

Airman sentenced for continuing affair

TAMPA — An airman has been sentenced to four months in prison after ignoring orders to cut off an affair with his sergeant's wife.

Joel Topper, a MacDill Air Force Base security policeman, pleaded guilty at a court-martial Monday to having sex with someone else's spouse and disobeying orders to end the affair.

Prosecutors argued the case wasn't really about adultery, a rarely cited chapter of military criminal law.

"Order and discipline set the military apart from civilians," said Air Force Capt. Todd Anderson. "The accused's actions show disdain for order, for rank and military discipline."

Col. James Blommers sentenced the 24-year-old unmarried airman to four months in jail, forfeiture of $600 pay for each month and reduction to the Air Force's lowest rank.

Judge's memorial service scheduled

TAMPA — Memorial services for James E. Lehan, a former judge of the 9th District Court of Appeal, will be held Thursday at St. John's Episcopal Church.

Lehan, 84, died Sunday at H. Lee Moffitt Cancer Center. He was appointed to the appellate court by then-Gov. Bob Graham in 1982 and elected chief judge a decade later. He resigned in July because his bout with lung cancer was interfering with his work.

He was named Outstanding Jurist of the Year in April by the Tampa Hillsborough County Bar Association's Young Lawyers sections.

Lehan received his bachelor's and his law degree and his master of laws in judicial process degree from the University of Virginia.

Florida health care Chiles wants employer mandate 'finetuned'

By JACKIE HALLIFAX
Associated Press Writer

TALLAHASSEE — Parts of President Clinton's health care plan, namely the employer mandate, need some work but the proposal generally fits in well with Florida's reforms, Gov. Lawton Chiles said.

"Overall I think we're going to be in good shape," Chiles said. "There are a couple of things that we're still trying to get them to fine-tune."

Chiles travels Wednesday to Washington to be on hand when Clinton presents his plan to Congress. The president will travel to Florida the next day to talk about reform with Tampa Bay residents in a nationally televised meeting.

Like the reforms Chiles pushed through the Legislature, the president's plan calls for regional alliances, a hallmark of the "managed competition" theory of health care reform.

Florida lawmakers passed a law this spring setting up regional alliances to consolidate the purchasing power of small businesses and provide the companies with enough information to make choices on competing health care plans.

But Florida's law lets businesses decide whether or not to join the alliances and does not make employers provide workers with health care. However, requirements may be added under a 1992 law if the private sector can't reform the state's $38 billion health-care system to provide affordable coverage to all Floridians by 1995.

In contrast, Clinton's plan would make employers pick up 60 percent of the cost of health insurance of workers.

Chiles expressed some concern about that difference.

The governor said Florida is eager to climb on board with the national plan, which calls for states to sign up between 1995 and 1997 once they have plans for universal coverage.

However, he said he didn't think there were any large states that could make force employers to have plans ready that fast.

He wants the federal government, to give Florida the chance to show how much can be done on a voluntary basis — and that means giving Florida the money to help small businesses pay for health care.

"We're trying to say let us come in for the subsidies, but give us a chance to show how that works," Chiles said.

Civil rights case against 2 cops lacks evidence

By Associated Press

WEST PALM BEACH — Prosecutors say there isn't enough evidence to pursue civil rights charges in the case against two police officers involved in the beating death of a hitchhiker.

Prosecutors initially believed Stephen Lee Rollins and Glen Thurlow deserved to be prosecuted for deliberately violating the civil rights of Robert Jewett, according to Assistant U.S. Attorney Neil Karadibi.

"I thought this was a guy who got beat to death for no reason," Karadibi said. "But I can definitely say we will never prove it, in my opinion."

A variety of factors — conflicting testimony, Jewett's heart condition, his cocaine use the day he died, and medical evidence that supports the accounts of Thurlow and Rollins — made a civil rights case difficult at best, according to Karadibi.

Dan Gelber, a spokesman for the U.S. attorney's office in Miami, said Tuesday that a review of the facts did not support prosecution.

"We opened quite a bit of time reviewing this case," Gelber said. "In no way is this a vindication of any officer's conduct."

"We just felt after careful review that we would not be able to prove the intent element (of a civil rights prosecution). There's a very high standard in civil rights cases."

Civil rights attorneys within the Department of Justice in Washington, D.C., who conducted a separate probe of Jewett's death, reached the same conclusion, said James McAdams, who heads the U.S. Attorney's Office here.

Roberto Martinez, the U.S. Attorney for Florida's Southern District, drove from Miami Monday to break the news to Jewett's mother, Louise.

"He might as well have stayed home," Louise Jewett said after the meeting. "There is no justice. I really expected justice, because I believe in it."

Youth gun ban FDLE chief proposes tougher laws for minors

By CURT ANDERSON
Associated Press Writer

TALLAHASSEE — Florida's top cop has toughened his proposed ban on possession of guns by anyone under 18 following the slaying last week of a British tourist.

The latest draft of the bill would require first offenders to serve a minimum of five days in jail and do 100 hours of "highly visible" public service, said James T. "Tim" Moore, Florida Department of Law Enforcement commissioner.

For a second offense, the youth would serve an automatic 10 days in jail and perform 200 hours of community service.

"We want physical labor that can be observed by the public at large," Moore said Tuesday. "We don't want them sitting in a library somewhere flipping index cards. We want them somewhere the other kids can see."

The teen-ager's drivers license could be suspended for six months to two years.

Minors could have guns legally only if they were hunting or target shooting under adult supervision.

Moore cautioned that banning anyone under age 18 from possessing handguns, rifles and shotguns won't completely solve the state's growing juvenile crime problem.

But he added, "The fact that kids have these guns so easily and so openly, we can do something about."

The fatal shooting Sept. 14 of 34-year-old Gary Colley of Britain at an Interstate 10 rest stop is blamed on teen-agers, although no one has yet been charged in the case. Youths as young as 13 have emerged as suspects.

Moore initially proposed his gun bill the day before Colley died. That version, which didn't include the jail time or community service, was modeled after a similar measure passed this month by the Colorado Legislature.

The original draft proposed drivers license suspensions and fines for violations, but Moore said that wouldn't be a strong enough deterrent.

Gov. Lawton Chiles said Monday he supports prohibiting juveniles from carrying guns but hasn't yet announced whether he will include the bill in a special legislative session planned later this fall on insurance.

Ron Sachs, the governor's communications director, said the gun ban was being considered along with several public safety issues for possible inclusion on the session's agenda.

Moore said he has been contacted by more than 30 legislators who want to sponsor the gun bill. The prime sponsors will be Sen. Ron Silver, D-North Miami Beach, and Rep. Elvin Martinez, D-Tampa, he said.

POLICE BRIEFS

Drug raid

Members of the City/County Investigative bureau raided a home Monday at 2821 Mohawk Avenue. Armed with a warrant, officers searched all rooms in the residence and reported finding several amounts of what was proven to be marijuana, much of which was contained in plastic bags, as well as drug paraphernalia. Two residents of the home were arrested. Cheryl Ann White, 31, was charged with possession of marijuana, under 20 grams, and possession of drug paraphernalia. Kimbene Calhoun, 33, was charged with possession of marijuana, over 20 grams, with intent to distribute, and possession of drug paraphernalia. After the two women were taken to the John E. Polk Correctional Facility, deputies found Calhoun was also wanted on two outstanding warrants issued in Orange county for violation of parole on previous convictions of driving under the influence of alcohol, and escape.

Man flees on bicycle

Sanford police arrested Steven Lawrence Whitted, 31, of 201 Randlewood Drive, Sanford, on Monday. Police were called regarding the theft of three packs of cigarettes from a convenience store in the 100 block of N. French Avenue. Whitted was identified, and spotted in the 400 block of S. Maple Avenue, but police said he fled on a bicycle. He was eventually apprehended at 4th Street and Holly Avenue. After he was arrested on a charge of petit theft, it was found the bicycle he was riding had been reported stolen earlier in the day from a residence in the 2500 block of Palmetto Avenue. In connection with the bike, he was also charged with burglary.

Trespasser arrested

Sanford police arrested Mark B. Morrison, with no local address, at a convenience store in the 100 block of N. French Avenue Monday. Police said he had been given written warnings against trespassing in the past. When he was located at the store Monday, he was arrested on a charge of trespassing.

Warrants served

•Wanita Robinson Lewis, 32, 104 Anderson Circle, Sanford, was arrested at the jail Monday. She was wanted for failing to appear on charges of purchase of cocaine, and possession of drug paraphernalia.

•Xay Chanthana, 33, 42 Airport Blvd., was arrested at his residence Monday by sheriff's deputies. He was wanted on an Orange County warrant for violation of parole on a conviction of purchase of cocaine.

•William Dale Postema, 33, 109 1/2 Park Avenue, was arrested by Sanford police Sunday. He was wanted on three Orange County warrants charging him with obtaining property with worthless checks.

Domestic cases

•John Dickerson, 61, 106 Balboa Court, Sanford, was arrested by sheriff's deputies at Creekwater Terrace near Lake Mary Monday. Deputies said he had been in an altercation with his step-daughter. He was charged with battery, domestic violence.

•Sonia A. Vance, 25, 2471 First Street, Sanford, was arrested by sheriff's deputies at her residence Sunday, following a confrontation with a man. She was charged with aggravated assault, domestic violence.

Incidents reported to authorities

•The theft of a dress, valued at $51, was reported to sheriff's deputies Monday, at a residence in the 2400 block of Water Street. The victim told deputies she believed the dress was stolen sometime Sunday or Monday, during which time her bedroom had caught fire.

•A 1984 Oldsmobile, reportedly stolen in Sanford on Sept. 15, was located by Sanford police on W. 14th Street Monday, between Williams and Sheppard Avenue, in a residential area. Police said the windows and the steering column had been damaged.

•Over $110 in items was reportedly stolen Monday in a burglary of an occupied dwelling in the 100 block of Scott Drive.

Amtrak plunges into bayou

By GARRY MITCHELL
Associated Press Writer

SARALAND, Ala. — An Amtrak train jumped the tracks and plunged into a foggy bayou before daybreak today, and 70 people were unaccounted for.

The Coast Guard, using helicopters and boats, pulled scores of people from the water, spokesman Lt. Randy Scott said.

Seven of the eight cars on Amtrak's Sunset Limited from Los Angeles to Miami derailed just after 3 a.m. in a remote, swampy area on the northern outskirts of Mobile, authorities said.

One car was completely submerged and another was partially underwater, said Richard Hutchinson, a Coast Guard group operations controller in Mobile.

"It's indicated that 60 passengers are unaccounted for that 10 crew members are unaccounted for, but that the balance of passengers and crew are safe and awaiting pickup by another Amtrak train," Amtrak spokesman Clifford Black said in Washington.

Black said 189 passengers and unknown number of crew members were believed to have been aboard.

Hutchinson said at least one person was hurt, with a possible broken shoulder.

NOTICE OF CHANGE OF LAND USE

The City Commission of the City of Longwood, Florida, will hold a public hearing at 7:00 p.m. on Monday, September 27, 1993, or as soon thereafter as possible, in the City Commission Chambers of the City Hall, located at 175 W. Warren Avenue, Longwood, Florida, for the purpose of considering making a recommendation to the City Commission regarding the adoption of an ordinance to amend the Comprehensive Plan of the City of Longwood, Florida.

The public hearing on plan amendments may involve the change in the use of land throughout the incorporated city limits of the City of Longwood, Florida.

The proposed ordinance will bring the Comprehensive Plan into compliance with the conditions set forth in the Stipulated Settlement Agreement between the Florida Department of Community Affairs and the City of Longwood. The Stipulated Settlement Agreement has previously been approved.

At this public hearing, the City Commission will consider the final reading and the adoption of Ordinance No. 93-1143 entitled:

An ordinance of the City of Longwood, Florida amending the City of Longwood, Florida Comprehensive Plan to meet the objections of the State Department of Community Affairs; adding "Exhibit 1" to the cover of the Comprehensive Plan; amending the introduction to clarify concurrency management requirements; amending the Land Use element to clarify the types of applications to be reviewed, to address infill development, and to clarify the applicability of wetland types affected by land use policies; amending the Conservation Element, to clarify the applicability of wetland types affected by conservation policies, to add a wetland buffer, to provide for innovative zoning techniques, and to provide mitigation measures for when wetlands are altered, and to clarify language; amending the Public Facilities and Services Element to address infill development and to clarify applicability of policies; and amending the Capital Improvements Element to address infill development; providing for conflicts, severability and an effective date.

A copy of the proposed Ordinance is posted at the City of Longwood's Planning Department and may be inspected by the public. At the meeting, parties may appear and be heard with respect to the proposed Ordinance. This hearing may be continued from time to time until final action is taken by the City Commission.

Any person wishing to appeal any decision made by the City Commission with respect to any matter considered at this hearing will need a record of the proceeding, and for such purpose, will need to ensure that a verbatim record of the proceeding is made which record includes the testimony and evidence upon which the appeal is to be based.

Persons with disabilities needing assistance to participate in any of these proceedings should contact the A.D.A. Coordinator, at (407) 260-3481, at least 48 hours in advance of the meeting.

Study: Cigarettes may pose more cancer risk for women than men

By MALCOLM RITTER
AP Science Writer

NEW YORK — Pack for pack, cigarettes may pose more of a lung cancer threat to women than to men, a study says.

The results suggest that overall, female smokers may run about twice the risk of getting lung cancer that male smokers do for a given number of cigarettes smoked in their lives, Dr. Harvey Risch said.

Risch, an associate professor of epidemiology and public health at the Yale University School of Medicine, said he had no adequate explanation for the disparity.

He presents the new work in the current issue of the American Journal of Epidemiology with scientists from the University of Toronto and the Ontario Cancer Treatment and Research Foundation in Toronto.

Other scientists called the work interesting but said more studies must be done before its conclusion can be accepted. Surprisingly little research has looked into the question, said Dr.

Jonathan Samet, a professor at the University of New Mexico School of Medicine.

The study used data from four groups: 442 women with lung cancer, matched with 410 healthy women of similar ages and living in the same sections of Toronto, and 403 men with lung cancer and 362 similarly matched men.

The information was gathered from interviews with the lung cancer patients or stand-ins such as spouses, and with the healthy people.

After learning each person's smoking history, researchers estimated the number of cigarettes each had smoked. The answer was expressed in "pack-years," the number of cigarettes a pack-a-day smoker would smoke in a year, which equals 7,305.

In fact, most participants who smoked averaged about a pack a day and had smoked about 40 years, Risch said.

For current and past smokers, the male-female disparity became greater with increasing numbers of pack-years.

For current smokers with fewer than 30 pack-years, women ran seven times the risk of a nonsmoking woman, while men ran five times the risk of a nonsmoking man. For 30 to 60 pack-years, women ran 27 times the risk, men 11. For 60 pack-years and above, the numbers were 82 versus 23.

Dr. Michael Thun, director of analytic epidemiology for the American Cancer Society, said no single study should be taken as proof that women are more prone to lung cancer from cigarettes. Scientists generally want to see a consistent pattern from multiple studies before accepting such a proposition, he said.

Prior research, in fact, has shown that American male smokers run a higher risk of dying from lung cancer than female smokers do, he said. At least part of the difference in findings might be explained by the fact that women have a better chance of surviving lung cancer for at least five years, he said.

"Whether women are more susceptible to lung cancer than men, the risks to both are enormous," he said.

Teachers make a difference

While parents, educators and other experts are bemoaning the dismal test scores and basic educational skills of students in the state, there are some teachers who are not sitting back waiting for someone else to do something about it.

Regina Phillips from Hamilton Elementary School and Diane Cuozzo of Idyllwild Elementary School were recently given mini-grants by Southern Bell that will allow them to continue educational enhancement programs they began last year.

Phillips, seeing a need to raise the reading skills of the third graders in her class who were not reading up to par, formed literature study groups pairing students with strong reading skills with students who had much to learn.

The students read at their own level, worked on skills and discussed the literature they were reading with one another.

They not only learn to read better, they develop stronger social skills and begin to experience more successes in school.

Cuozzo, seeing a growing need to teach multi-cultural skills to students at a Sanford school with changing demographics, has developed a program that will help students and teachers learn about the differences and similarities between cultures.

We applaud both teachers and Southern Bell for their contributions toward better schools.

And we encourage other businesses to support the efforts of other innovative teachers striving to enhance the learning process.

From battle, stained with blood ...

Outside the White House, on the day of the signing, we pass a group of teenage girls, Orthodox Jews, dressed in green plaid skirts and white blouses. They are from the Beth Rivkah school in Crown Heights, in Brooklyn, up since 3 a.m. to travel five hours, to demonstrate against the Israeli-Palestinian peace agreement. I ask: "Why are you against it?" The answers come: "Arafat is a terrorist," "there is blood on his hands," "now Arafat and the Arabs can exterminate the Jews."

I am entering the South Lawn. An Arab from Gaza comes up to me, smiling, and says, "Shalom! It's wonderful." I shake his hand and say, "Salaam."

On the White House grounds, the crowd is coming in. Across the way I see a neatly stenciled sign that reads: "Israel and Palestinian Delegations." I remember a time at a U.N. Conference in Mexico City, talking to a group of Arab officials, when an Israeli diplomat, an old friend, came up to say hello. I looked around and the Arabs had vanished.

The sky is blue, the weather balmy. We are soaked in sun. There are no planes overhead. There are many things the White House cannot control but the flight pattern isn't one of them. A helicopter approaches, working a lazy perimeter over the White House grounds. A wise guy says: "I hope it's one of ours."

The first appearance of an official on the stage is a junior diplomat who sets down a pitcher of water and several glasses. I am wondering: Did someone test the water?

What an array of dignitaries, all so proud! And so many blacked Gen. Powell, Gov. Wilder, Secretary Brown, Rev. Jackson. How very different from when I worked at the then very white house, more than a quarter of a century ago. Things can change. Can they change in the Middle East? Perhaps.

There are no trumpets, no anthems, as the official party enters. And here they are. Clinton, Rabin, and Arafat. Arafat? At the White House?

There are many things the White House cannot control but the flight pattern isn't one of them.

I am asking myself, "Why is this happening in America?" Because we are the only superpower around. Because we are the only universal nation. Because we are the only nation that can offer legitimacy. We should be proud.

President Clinton is giving a fine speech. There is much from the Bible in it. He has been talking a lot about religion lately. He credits those who went before, including Jimmy Carter, here in the audience. And Israel's late prime minister, Menachem Begin, the tough little hawk. His Likud party is now resisting the moment, at least momentarily.

I'm thinking that hawks can make things happen, remembering the late Sen. Henry M. Jackson, "Scoop," who did as much as any American to make Israel strong enough to reach this moment.

And here is Yasir Arafat, on the platform. At the White House. No pistol, no holster, neatly attired in his dress khakis, a little man, almost pudgy, speaking in Arabic. His words hardly matter. He's up there, shaking hands with Israel's Prime Minister, Yitzhak Rabin, the war hero.

Tiger's Eye president blasts commission over decision

My name is David McMillan and I am the president of Tiger's Eye Productions. Much has been written lately in the local media concerning the Seminole County commission's decision to close down Tiger's Eye Productions Exotic Animal Training School effective Oct. 1, 1993. I would like to set the record straight concerning the issues in this case.

I moved my animals to Seminole County in 1986 with the county's approval. I am currently licensed by the Florida Department of Education as a school in order to teach young men and women who enroll here from all over the country. The training they receive enables them to help care for endangered animals in captivity. The reason these animals are in captivity is because we humans have taken the wild away from them and built cities, shopping centers, etc. where these animals belong. It is crucial we do not allow the Seminole County commission to take what is left of their lives in captivity away from them.

Point No. 1. Your readers should know that the Seminole County Land Management Planning Manager recommended to the commission on June 22, 1993 our school should be allowed to remain open. The land management office is the office to whom the commissioners look for expertise in zoning issues. The commissioners chose to override their own expert's opinion.

Point No. 2. The commissioners cited area incompatibility and traffic as the reasons for denying our extension. First of all, we are zoned A-1 Agriculture which under zoning is the appropriate zoning for a school. When the commissioners approved the extension of the east-west expressway which opened in 1990 and is less than one mile away, they knew this would cause extra traffic which it is intended to. On our same street less than one-quarter mile from me are 10 acres of commercial property for a shopping center. In 1988 these same neighbors refused to allow Seminole County to build a county road down Oak Hollow Lane by refusing to give up their 20 ft. easement required by law. That is why we are still a dirt road which has a large private road sign. Now these same neighbors are asking Seminole County to police the very same road they asked the county to stay out of a few years earlier.

Since we moved here in 1986, Seminole County has approved the construction of over 1,000 homes less than one-half mile from our location. One such individual is a Phillip Holden who moved to Oak Hollow Lane in 1989 approximately. If Mr. Holden does not like the fact that this is home to these animals, maybe he should consider moving because he, unlike these animals, has a choice where he lives. Mr. Holden came after these animals to Oak Hollow Lane and has no rights before their rights.

It is a fact whenever development and the environment clash, our environment and the helpless wildlife living there usually lose.

These animals for whom I am speaking have no economic or political power or any voice except the voice of the people. These animals at Tiger's Eye Productions are the true homeless of our planet and need the help of all people. It was easy for the commissioners to say, close down in 90 days, however, where do we go with a guarantee that in a few more years people with money on their minds will want the animals to move yet again, again and again. The commission has used their logic to say the animals can remain but the school must close down, knowing full well the economic lifeline for these precious creatures is the school. They know once the school is gone, eventually the animals must follow. These elected officials are supposed to be representing the people of Seminole County, not just seven property owners who live down a private road they fought to keep the county out of. The commission has had hundreds of letters and phone calls from residents who are disgusted by the commission's decision and only one letter of approval, that from an individual called Harry Martin who runs an environmental magazine. So eager were the commissioners to have this man's endorsement they sent out his report to all the local media. Only the Sanford Herald gave him any credibility without even checking his credentials out. The commissioners sent out letters to the people who complained to them about their decision to close the school down. They refer to Mr. Martin's organization as "a highly reputable environmental organization." Unfortunately the commissioners did not check on Mr. Martin whom we understand to be the only employee. Several days ago in The Orlando Sentinel it was reported Mr. Martin pleaded no contest to a charge of committing a lewd act on a child, a felony. The children involved were two 10 year olds and one eight year old.

It appears the commissioners are doing absolutely no checking on any of their issues as not one of them ever visited Tiger's Eye to get the facts on a very important issue. To have such an individual representing Seminole County is absolutely amazing.

In a time when we are losing our natural resources at an alarming rate, a time when we are realizing our planet is not an unlimited supply of wildlife, forests and clean water, we all should understand that the survival of our wildlife is crucial.

Tiger's Eye Productions has been into over 200 schools, 36 churches, and numerous other handicapped groups educating our children as to the importance of wildlife in our society. We teach children our snakes are important to our ecosystem and our future use of antibiotics. We show them a real leopard skin fur worn by a real leopard and explain the fact beautiful furs are worn by beautiful animals, not beautiful people.

The commissioners do not have the support of the citizens of Seminole County concerning Tiger's Eye Productions. These are the same commissioners who voted to make the Seminole County Humane Society pay thousands of dollars in impact fees on their new facility because of the tragedy with the fire killing so many other helpless creatures.

It is time for our society to take a stand for animals who cannot speak for themselves, a time to put politicians on notice developers can no longer take our environment, which are the homes of animals with no place to go. We at Tiger's Eye Productions would like anyone concerned with the protection of our wildlife to contact Seminole County commissioners at County Services Building, 1101 East First St., Sanford, FL 32771, telephone no. (407) 321-1130.

I hope this letter clarifies some of the real issues in this dispute. It would not be wrong for the commissioners who have given developers approval to build everywhere they wish, given borrow pit owners' permits to tear up our beautiful county, it would not be wrong for them to say, maybe, just maybe we were wrong and give us some reasonable amount of time to move. It is time for the voters of Seminole County to speak to Pat Warren, Daryl McLain, Dick VanDerweide and Larry Furlong.

David McMillan
Oviedo

P.S. It would be interesting to know how the commissioners' children/grandchildren feel about their very inappropriate decision.

Consensual sex on campus

BOSTON — When they call, reporters ask the dean the same question: Are you serious about this? The fine print in The Antioch College Sexual Offense Policy could provide raw material for a dozen campus parodies.

New students who arrive on the venerable Ohio campus, it turns out, are not only told about rape, assault and harassment. That's standard freshman fare these days. At Antioch, they are handed a script for safe, community-approved consensual sexual relations.

Consent, it says, is not something to be assumed. Consent is not silence. It's not the absence of a "no." Maybe in the movies a lover can say "yes" with her eyes but on this campus, she must say it in words.

And she must say it more than once. The policy generated by students themselves says, "Verbal consent should be obtained with each new level of physical and/or sexual contact in any given interaction regardless of who initiates it."

By now, Marian Jensen, the dean of students, has heard all the dialogue that would-be-gagsters write for such an elaborate scene of verbal consent. "May I touch you?" "Here?" "Where?" By now, she has explained that the school doesn't expect to put these precise words in the mouths of students. But they are very serious about making students think.

The Antioch policy — of which this is one small part — is not unique. It is just a more explicit, more detailed, more exaggerated version of messages coming from date-rape workshops and sexual-violence seminars on hundreds of campuses.

These days, students and administrators everywhere are struggling with sexual fears and sexual politics. The codes are written in proper gender-neutral terms, but they are trying to protect young women from assault and exploitation. They are trying to change the definition of sexual agreement. They are even trying to change the terms of intimate relationships. To level the sexual playing field.

It's no surprise that this is happening on campus. Colleges have long held a pivotal role in The Sexual Evolution. Some 25 years ago, students were the ones who began the move from a sexual double standard to a single standard.

But that standard was, in effect, the old male standard. A generation of young women changed more, or at least more quickly, than men. Women won the right to say yes. It became harder to say no. They won the freedom to do it his way. They didn't necessarily win the confidence to determine her own way or the power to get him to do it her way.

In some places, the Liberated Woman has met up with The Spur Poase. At some times, her sexual freedom has been his sure thing. Saturday night's expectation of pleasure became Sunday morning's regret mixed with a sour taste of exploitation.

Over this time, layers of sexual consciousness have built up without replacing each other: sexual repression, sexual license, sexual anxiety. The fear of pregnancy lifted, and the fear of AIDS clamped down on the joy of sex. And permitting all those layers and disturbing that freedom has been the lingering fear of violence.

As recently as last week, 63 percent of the college women in a Massachusetts survey expressed concern that they could be victims of date rape. Only 26 percent thought that men at their school accepted a woman's right to say no at any point.

At Antioch, they are handed a script for safe, community approved consensual sexual relations.

Demjanjuk arrives in U.S. free of war crime charges

By NEIL McFARLANE
Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK — Seven years after he left the United States in handcuffs on charges he was "Ivan the Terrible," John Demjanjuk returned today a free man.

Demjanjuk, convicted and then acquitted in Israel of being the notorious Nazi death camp guard, arrived on an El Al jet that touched down at 6:40 a.m. at Kennedy International Airport.

He was heckled by passengers during the flight and burned in effigy at the airport by demonstrators from a militant Jewish group, but he didn't see them. "He looked like he was happy to be here," said his son-in-law, Edward Nishnic, who accompanied him from Israel.

"It is time for him to fade back into normal life," Nishnic said.

Accompanied by two police cars, Demjanjuk was driven in a van to a small plane. Its exact destination was not disclosed.

Nishnic said the use of the plane was donated.

Nishnic said Demjanjuk would be kept in seclusion somewhere in Ohio for some time and might not return to his home in suburban Cleveland for weeks.

The Ukrainian-born Demjanjuk, 73, a retired autoworker, had been imprisoned in Israel for 7 1/2 years, five of them under a death sentence.

He had been extradited from the United States and convicted in an Israeli court of being "Ivan," a sadistic guard at the Treblinka camp.

Demjanjuk said he was a victim of mistaken identity. He was captured while serving in the Soviet army and says he was held in German POW camps.

Since the conviction, evidence has emerged from Soviet archives casting strong doubt that Demjanjuk was "Ivan." The Israeli Supreme Court overturned the conviction in July, but said there was strong evidence Demjanjuk had served as a guard at Sobibor, another death camp in Nazi-occupied Poland.

Demjanjuk had remained in prison until all appeals were exhausted.

Before he was extradited, Demjanjuk had been stripped of his U.S. citizenship and ordered deported. A federal judge in 1981 ruled that he lied about his wartime whereabouts to conceal his role as a Nazi guard.

But the U.S. 8th Circuit Court of Appeals ruled in August that he must be allowed to return while the court investigates the legality of his extradition.

Attorney General Janet Reno has said she would pursue his deportation.

During the flight from Israel, Demjanjuk's bulletproof vest could be seen beneath his shirt during the flight from Israel.

"Anyone who has been stigmatized about being the worst monster in World War II has to be concerned about security," Nishnic said.

specializes in fire-fighting equipment.

"This one will be built from scratch," said Fire Chief Duane Mehl. "It will also be done on what they call a quick-build, which means they will have the unit done within 120 days of our contract, rather than six to eight months as usually required."

Mehl said the unit would replace a 1981 pumper truck.

He had earlier explained how the new unit would be able to house more firefighters on an emergency call. "Our old unit doesn't hold enough men," he said, "and they must be seated and seat-belted, not hanging on to a side-rail like they used to do in the old days of fire-fighting."

"To be honest," Mehl said, "this new truck is really needed because our old unit is simple tired."

He added that the new truck would not only provide improved fire-fighting capabilities for the City of Lake Mary, but in surrounding areas where the department could be called on a First Response basis.

A request for authorization for City Manager John Litton to enter into a contract to purchase the unit will be presented during Thursday night's city commission meeting.

The meeting will begin at 7 p.m., in the commission chambers of Lake Mary City Hall, 100 N. Country Club Road.

Guidance counselors at each school have been invited to call the Dividends office when they feel the students in their school could benefit from the program.

Mistrial

eventually he and Brewster went to movies, baseball practices, and to Brewster's mobile home, where youths rode four-wheelers in a 10-acre compound. Sometimes, Brewster and the youth were alone at the home, he testified.

The testimony which brought the trial to a close involved the activity on Nov. 30, 1987, the youth's 16th birthday. The witness testified after Brewster took him to a bicycle shop and bought mirrors for the youth's bike, they went to Brewster's home and engaged in sexual acts. Brewster is not charged with the acts on that date.

The defense attorneys claim all of the sex charges against Brewster are false.

"There is no physical evidence any sexual acts ever took place," Deen asserts.

When the youth, whose mother allowed him to lived with Brewster, refused to obey rules, the policeman said the troubled youth could not continue to live with him. According to court documents, Brewster and the youth lived together in several different locations. The youth is the youngest of 10 children. The defense lawyers claim the sex allegations are the youth's attempt to get back at the former policeman.

Brewster's accuser is serving jail time on bad check charges. A few years ago, a juvenile case against the youth for having consensual sex with a 14-year old girl was resolved through a supervised Department of Health and Rehabilitative Services program. Brewster reportedly assisted the boy in that case.

Allwas said the youth received expensive jewelry, cars and money from Brewster, then took advantage of him.

The six jurors and two alternates were chosen Monday. Tuesday morning, they reported for duty but were told to return at 1 p.m. while some legal matters were cleared up. When the afternoon trial began, they were taken in and out of the courtroom several times as legal motions and points were argued before Judge Dickey. The opening statements of the attorneys began about 2 p.m. Tuesday.

After the mistrial was declared, Dickey commented he was sure none of the jurors would ever be called for jury duty again without requesting to be excused, because of their experience in the Brewster case. Due to the number of charges Brewster was facing, Dickey issued note pads to the jurors for note taking. It was the first time he had done so in a criminal case.

Cap

is needed.

But Suber said if the court applies the cap to tax year — considered unlikely — a complete new tax roll would have to be calculated and some refunds issued. That process would cost taxpayers plenty because of the extra work, Suber said.

Circuit Judge Wallace Pack ruled in June that the "Save Our Homes" limit on property values, which Florida voters approved last November, should take effect in 1994.

That doesn't suit Lee County Property Appraiser Ken Wilkinson, one of the main forces behind the amendment, who wanted it to be in place this year. "The state Department of Revenue maintains it shouldn't take effect until 1995."

The Revenue department appealed Pack's decision; the state Supreme Court decided last week it will hear the case Nov. 2. A ruling is expected before year's end.

The constitutional amendment limits the annual increase in the appraised value of homesteaded residential property to 3 percent, the rate of inflation, or the change in the home's market value when it's sold, whichever is lowest.

Although most amendments include an effective date, Wilkinson did not write one into the "Save Our Homes" initiative. A mechanism outlined in Florida's Constitution would make it effective in 1995. Wilkinson said voters intended for it to take effect in 1993.

The Revenue department also needs until 1995 to ensure it can correctly review each county's property rolls, said assistant attorney general Lee Rohe, who's handling the state's case.

"And many property appraisers would find it difficult to get ready for 1994," Rohe said. "They have to bring all homesteaded property to uniform levels before this goes in place, or any unfairness that exists will be perpetuated. There won't be a chance to fix it in the next year."

But Wilkinson said he plans to ask the court to make the change effective in 1993, a proposal Pack rejected in his June ruling. It's too late to change this year's tax rolls even if the court agreed, Wilkinson said, but it might be possible to adjust next year's for 1993 and 1994.

Murder

Simpson said James is known to be "heavily addicted" to crack cocaine and that he took $400 and Dick's car when he left the bloody crime scene.

Simpson said police believe James will spend the money on drugs and that he will live in the car, in wooded areas in Orange and Seminole counties or with fellow drug addicts until his resources run out.

"We've been told that he is pretty resourceful, though," Simpson said.

Simpson said that the 5'9" slender man, who is missing his front teeth, has a receding hairline, but wears what's left of his blond hair in a spiked cut. He has a pock-marked face with a scar across his right cheek.

Police said he was arrested twice in 1991 for violent behavior, but was not prosecuted in either case.

They said he was arrested for shooting a neighbor in the chest during an argument, but charges were dropped when he claimed to have done it in self-defense. Police said he was also arrested after a female companion claimed that he had tied her up with a telephone cord and beat her. Those charges were dropped, however, when she refused to cooperate with investigators.

Police said they are searching for James nationwide, however, as he has been somewhat of a transient through most of his adult life.

Investigators found that he has lived sometimes in the woods in a variety of cities in Florida, California and New York over the last few years. He is a day laborer and will, Simpson said, "work for anyone who will pay him cash."

Investigators said that he has, within the last few years, lived at various locations in Casselberry, in Longwood, in Winter Springs, in Branford, in San Francisco and in East Hampton, N.Y.

The last time James was seen, he was in Orange County, in the Conway area of Orlando. It was on Monday evening about 8:30. He was driving Dick's gray 1984 Chevrolet Cavalier.

The Pennsylvania plate on the car is AHG 0207.

Crime Line is offering $1,000 reward to anyone who can offer them information that will lead to his arrest. Anyone who sees James should call Crime Line at 423-8477 or 1-800-423-8477. They can also call Casselberry Police at 263-3940.

Health care: What Clinton must do in tonight's speech

By TOM RAUM
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON — President Clinton steps to the podium for tonight's health-care address to Congress with at least one big advantage: He's already gotten the public's attention on the issue.

The tricky part comes next. "What does he need to do? It's simple," said Democratic consultant Paul Begala, who helped draft tonight's speech. "He has to explain the most complicated domestic policy issue of the past 50 years ... in straightforward, human terms."

After spotlighting health care since early in his presidential campaign, Clinton finally is getting his chance to deliver his opening pitch before a national television audience.

How he carries it off could bear heavily on his ability to steer the massive program of change through a Congress that to date has given him little margin for error.

The last major Clinton initiative — his deficit-cutting legislation — passed Congress last month by the slimmest of margins, two votes in the House and one in the Senate.

Clinton's history on major addresses is mixed.

He can be eloquent and effective. But he also has been known to bog down in details and to speak too long.

White House aides say

Clinton's 45-minute speech will deal with the general outlines of the plan to extend health care protection to all Americans and not dwell on details.

Learning from the mistakes of the budget battles, the administration has taken great pains this time to lay the groundwork for the plan by reaching out to Republicans and building coalitions among various interest groups.

First lady Hillary Rodham Clinton, put in charge of a task force that developed the plan, and other senior administration officials spent hours briefing lawmakers on the plan in advance.

The speech will build on all that advance work, administration aides say. "So far, he's doing all the right things," said James Thurber, an American University political scientist. "He's got to keep the speech simple, keep it eloquent, and persuade people that his plan can get things done. And that's a major task."

Polls suggest the major problem Clinton faces: While most Americans want the health-insurance system overhauled, most of those with insurance like their current coverage.

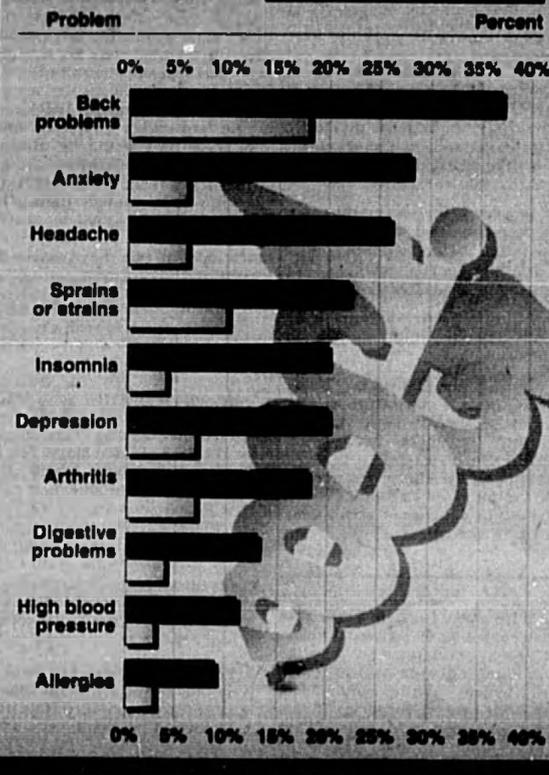

"That makes them very nervous," said Democratic pollster Mark Mellman.

Mellman said Clinton needs to convince these Americans in his speech that "no harm will come to them."

Discovery landed under cover of darkness today

By MARGIA DUNN
AP Aerospace Writer

CAPE CANAVERAL — Discovery and its five astronauts touched down on a floodlit runway today in the first shuttle landing in the Florida darkness after completing a rehearsal for the Hubble Space Telescope repair mission.

The winged spaceship glided through clear skies and landed at Kennedy Space Center just before 4 a.m. EDT. Rain had ruined NASA's plans to bring the shuttle home Tuesday, forcing the space agency to extend the flight to 10 days.

About 250 people, including the astronauts' families, were on hand to greet the crew as Discovery rolled to a stop on a three-mile runway illuminated by banks of powerful, 1 billion-candlepower xenon lights at one end.

"Congratulations, Frank, on making the first night landing of the space shuttle at KSC," Mission Control told commander Frank Culbertson Jr.

Mission Control had the pilot quickly turn off two of Discovery's three auxiliary power units because of what appeared to be flames billowing from the exhaust at the tail. NASA said it was a precaution only; the units — which power the hydraulic system used to steer the shuttle on the way down — worked properly.

During the nearly flawless flight, the astronauts tested tools and spacewalking techniques another crew will use to fix the Hubble's blurry vision. They also released an experimental communications satellite.

They accomplished their last major task on Sunday, the capture of an orbiting telescope they released six days earlier. Astronomers were eager to get their telescope and data back; it observed six dozen objects, mostly stars.

Discovery circled Earth 158 times and traveled 4.1 million miles during its journey, which began two months late on Sept. 12 after five launch delays.

After being instructed to stay aloft an extra day Tuesday, Culbertson joked that it seems to take him and his crew "a little extra time to get anywhere."

Of the 58 previous shuttle flights, only five landed in darkness — all of them at Edwards Air Force Base in California's wide-open Mojave Desert.

NASA prefers to bring shuttles back to Kennedy to save the one week and more than $1 million it takes to ferry cross-country, even though there is less margin for error at Kennedy, where alligator-filled swamps surround the runway.

Daylight landings are preferred because pilots have fewer visual cues when bringing the spacecraft down in the dark.

Air controllers pronounce new radar system squirrely

By JAMES H. RUBIN
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON — Air traffic controllers say their new $839 million radar system has some gnawing flaws: planes vanish from screens, phantom images appear and even a wayward squirrel can chew up the network.

The FAA acknowledges the problems but insists the system overall is outstanding.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration said it has received many complaints at its Ames Research Center at Moffett Field, Calif., home of NASA's aviation safety reporting system.

The National Air Traffic Controllers Association said the system could pose dangers in many places unless the bugs are eliminated.

"The controllers and the pilots make it work," said Will Faville, head of safety and technology for the controllers union. "It's stretching the rubber band. Pretty soon it could snap."

The system is called ASR-9, short for airport surveillance radar. It began operating in 1989 and is being used in 82 airports now, including eight military bases. That total, according to the schedule, will more than double by 1995.

So far, Faville said, there have been no accidents caused by the system. But there have been close calls.

A midair collision almost occurred in Walla Walla, Wash., in October 1990, the controllers group said, when the radar did not pick up an aircraft flying at 8,500 feet that came within 200 feet of another plane.

NASA withholds the identities of those who complain. Here are some examples from NASA files:

—In Cleveland, a controller said the radar failed at least a dozen times in an 18-month period. "The design is obviously flawed," the controller said.

—A jet at Baltimore-Washington International Airport relied on a visual landing over Labor Day weekend in 1990 when the radar failed. Controllers said the system was down for several hours.

—Controllers at St. Louis International Airport said there are instances when two planes take off at the same time on parallel runways and one of them disappears from the screen. "It seems to me St. Louis is an accident waiting to happen," one controller wrote NASA in August 1991.

OCS Rams kick Luther

MAITLAND — Seven different players scored goals as the Orangewood Christian School Rams ripped Luther 9-0 in a 1A-District 2 boys soccer match Tuesday evening.

Orangewood Christian, ranked No. 4 in this week's Florida Athletic Coaches Association state poll, led 3-0 at halftime.

Scott Armstrong and Iker Unzuu both scored two goals for the Rams. Hunter Tolbert, Ben Mitchell, Chris Hill, goalkeeper Ben Maynard, and Jakob Hardrick each scored a goal.

Orangewood outshot Luther 34-0, forcing the Luther goalkeeper to make 12 saves. The Rams also had a 4-0 advantage in corner kicks.

The Rams (5-2-1) will host No. 2-ranked St. Petersburg-Keswick Saturday at 11 a.m.

SHS Boosters golf

SANFORD — The Seminole High School Boosters Club Golf Tournament will be held at Mayfair Country Club this Friday, Sept. 24.

The entry fee is $75 per person, which includes greens fees and cart, drawings for door prizes, prizes and/or trophies for winners of different flights, two complimentary drinks on course, a special auction for FSU/Bowden and UF/Spurrier autographed footballs and a Bar-B-Que chicken dinner.

Registration is from 11:30 a.m.-12:30 p.m. with shotgun start at 1 p.m.

For more information contact either, Roger Stewart (323-5340), Bobby Lundquist (323-4352, ext. 103) or Jerry Posey (322-0431).

AROUND THE STATE

All-star game moved

ORLANDO — Due to World Cup Soccer matches, this year's meeting of Florida and Georgia high school football stars will be played in Daytona Beach rather than here, game officials announced Tuesday.

Daytona Beach's municipal stadium was chosen as the site of the 10th annual matchup after Florida Citrus Sports officials considered Lowndes County Stadium in Valdosta, Ga., and Florida Field in Gainesville.

The site shift will be the only change in the game's format, which will be played June 18.

AROUND THE NATION

Dykstra's dinger sinks Marlins

PHILADELPHIA — Lenny Dykstra's two-run homer in the seventh inning rallied Philadelphia to a 5-3 victory over the Florida Marlins on Tuesday night and enabled the Phillies to extend their lead in the NL East.

The Phillies' victory, coupled with Montreal's 18-5 loss to Atlanta, gave them a 5½-game lead.

The Phillies trailed 3-2 in the seventh when Kevin Stocker walked to open the inning and scored from first on a sacrifice bunt error. Reliever Rick Rodriguez fielded Ruben Amaro's bunt but hit Amaro with his throw.

Dykstra followed with his 19th homer.

Lightning still unbeaten

PEORIA, Ill. — Brent Gretzky and Chris Gratton scored only 111 apart in the second period as the Tampa Bay Lightning held on to beat the St. Louis Blues 5-3 and remain unbeaten in the NHL preseason.

The Lightning (4-0-1) went ahead 3-0 on goals by Gerard Gallant, Petr Klima and Brian Bradley before Kelly Chase scored for the Blues.

Tough night for Tribe

'Hounds work past 'Nole girls

By TONY DeSORMIER
Herald Sports Editor

LONGWOOD — So little positive happened in Tuesday night's high school girls volleyball match between Seminole and Lyman that everybody walked away somewhat dissatisfied.

The only reasonably positive result belonged to the Lyman Greyhounds, who posted a 15-2, 15-10 victory, but even that was dulled somewhat by their inconsistent play.

"It wasn't bad," said Lyman coach Christy Tibbitts with a shrug. "We have a tendency to play to the level of the team we're playing against. They get up for a strong opponent, which is good, but then they let down."

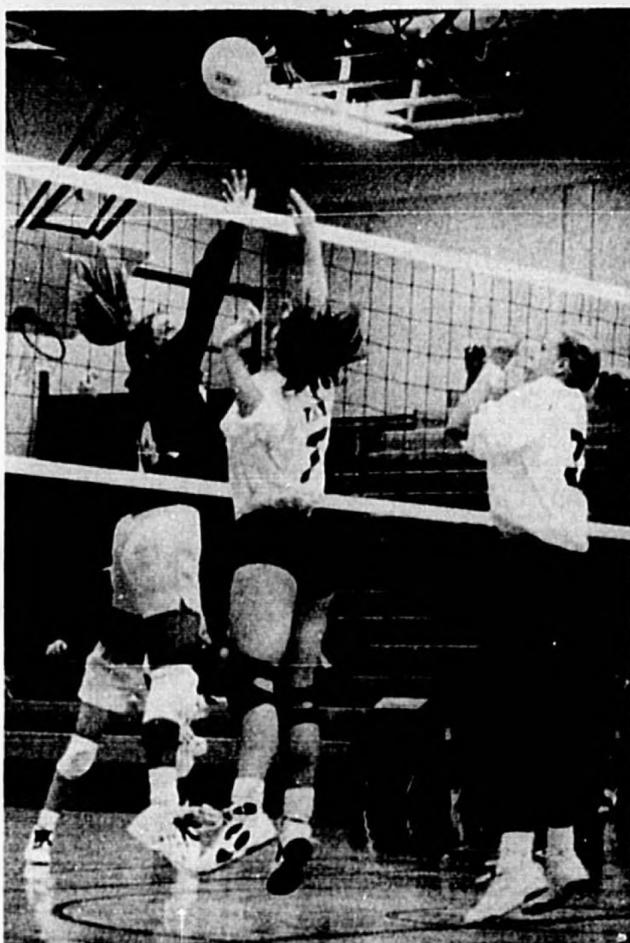

For example, Lyman played an exceptional match in sweeping defending 4A-District 10 (now 5A-District 5) champion Oak Ridge, then labored in the win over 1-B Seminole.

Things got off to a bad start Tuesday night when the match began early (or late, depending upon your point of view). The fact that play almost started before one of the coaches got there disrupted things even more.

Finally, as if in an attempt to make up for lost time, the officials forced the match to be played at an uncomfortably quick pace.

The situation was created a month ago when Tibbitts agreed to move the starting time of the match back to 7:30 p.m. in order to accommodate Seminole coach Beth

Boys make advances in defeat

From Staff Reports

SANFORD — They're almost there.

Seminole High School's boys volleyball teams continued its steady improvement with a strong showing in its match with the visiting Bishop Moore Hornets Tuesday evening but still has little to show for it, losing 15-9, 15-12.

"They're playing so much better," said Seminole coach Beth Corso, whose squad fell to 0-5. "In both of those games, we played 20 to 25 minutes at 0-0. It was good volleyball, the serve going back and forth."

"We're that close to breaking through."

Because of the high number of service rotations, several Seminole players were thrust into unusual playing situations. For example, front-row hitter John Dickson had to stay in and take several turns across the back row.

"John normally doesn't play the back row, but because of the number of rotations, he had to go across a couple times," Corso said. "His passing game was really, really on. He was called on to play the back row and he did a great job for us."

Both of Seminole's setters had exceptional evenings. David Campbell ended up with six assists and 24 other good sets while Josh Elliott had one assist and seven good sets. The twosome also contributed several dinks or off-speed hits for kills. Elliott putting five down and Campbell collecting four.

Lions continue winning ways at expense of Pats

From Staff Reports

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS — Any team that's 10-1 doesn't need much help.

Make that 11-1.

Taking advantage of the generous play of their hosts, the Oviedo Lions swept the Lake Brantley Patriots 15-4, 15-4 Tuesday night in a Seminole Athletic Conference girls volleyball contest.

"Oviedo didn't have to do too much," said Lake Brantley coach Stan Cutler. "We gave a lot away. Oviedo looked real good. They looked solid, but we didn't make them do anything spectacular."

The win improves the Lions to 11-1, 3-0 in the SAC. Lake Brantley falls to 0-5, 0-3 in the SAC.

Amy Plourde had three kills and a block for the Patriots while Stacey Stuller played well on defense and serve reception.

Oviedo also won the junior varsity match, 15-4, 11-15, 15-7.

The Lions travel to Merritt Island this evening before hosting Lake Mary Thursday in a battle for first place in the SAC. Lake Brantley plays at Bishop Moore tonight and at Seminole Thursday before returning home to play Deltona on Friday.

OCS RAMS SWEEP

MAITLAND — It took one of their best efforts for the Orangewood Christian School Rams to beat one of the best teams on their schedule.

On Tuesday night, the OCS Rams registered a pair of convincing wins, including a 15-2, 15-8 sweep of Trinity Preparatory, traditionally one of the most competitive Class 1A teams in the state.

"It was a good game," said Orangewood Christian coach Diane Pruitt. "They're probably the team from that district to beat. I expect them to be the best. We always play real good games with them. They have a very good program."

Orangewood also defeated Luther 15-1, 15-5.

The Rams improve to 12-1 while Trinity Prep falls to 10-2 and Luther drops to 2-6.

Stephanie Noiseux and the Oviedo Lions ran their record to 11-1 with a 15-4, 15-4 sweep of the Lake Brantley Patriots Tuesday night.

the two matches. Amy Vanderstreek compiled eight kills and four blocks. Allison Hershey had six kills while Andrea Hart recorded four kills.

In junior varsity play, the OCS Rams lost to Trinity Prep and defeated Luther.

Orangewood Christian will host a tri-match this Friday, playing The Master's Academy at 5 p.m. and Deltona's Trinity Christian at 7 p.m.

Discount Propane explodes late to rout Orphans

From Staff Reports

SANFORD — How quickly things can change in a slowpitch softball game.

Through four innings Tuesday night, the Orphans controlled its game with undefeated Discount Propane, holding a 3-2 lead. Even after five innings, Discount Propane held just a 4-3 advantage.

Then the flood gates open.

The league leaders exploded for five runs in the sixth inning and six runs in the seventh to turn the tightly-fought contest into a 15-4 rout in the Sanford Recreation Department Men's Tuesday Night Fall Slowpitch Softball League at Chase Park.

In other games, Gager Pest Control took a 2-0 lead in the top of the first inning, but Monroe Harbour Marina scored the next 13 runs in rolling to a 13-3 win and Ken Rummel Chevrolet raced to a 7-0 lead and cruised to a 9-4 victory over Florida Manor.

With the win Discount Propane improved to 3-0 on the season, while Monroe Harbour and Ken Rummel Chevrolet both advanced to 2-0. Completing the standings are Whelchel & Howard (which was idle Tuesday night) at 0-1 and the Orphans, Gager Pest Control and Florida Manor all at 0-2.

From Staff Reports

SANFORD — The mastery continues. Myers Tree Service used a five-run seventh inning to break open a close game and knocked off Hopkins Meat Packing for the fourth straight time, 8-1, to remain undefeated in the Sanford Recreation Department Women's Fall Slowpitch Softball League at Pinehurst Park Tuesday night.

Included in that run is Myers' win over Hopkins in last spring's championship game.

In other games, Lake Monroe Inn plated 12 runs in the bottom of the first inning and cruised to a 13-4 victory over Investex and Hungry Howies/Crazy Wings kept pace with Myers Tree Service by bouncing Investex 13-1.

Myers Tree Service and Hungry Howies/Crazy Wings are tied for the top spot with 2-0 records, while Lake Monroe Inn is just a half-game back with a 2-1 mark. Trailing the leaders are Hopkins Meat Packing (0-2) and Investex (0-3).

Next week's schedule is still up in the air because of a problem created by the rain outs the opening week of the season.

The Myers Tree Service-Hopkins Meat Packing contest was actually closer than the score indicated as Myers scored a run in the top of the first inning and the score remained 1-0 until the fourth inning, when Myers added its second run. The third run came in the fifth inning before the big outburst in the seventh. Hopkins' lone run came with two outs in the bottom of the seventh.

Tune-up turns into win for Bramlett at New Smyrna

By PAUL MARSEGLIA
Special to the Herald

SAMSULA — St. Cloud's Scott Bramlett survived a first lap incident, Saturday night at New Smyrna Speedway, to win the 25 lap late model feature event.

Bramlett was running the high groove, when early race leader James Powell Jr. lost his drive shaft on the front straightaway.

"I decided to race the outside groove so I would be in a better position to set up James (Powell) for a pass," said the 21-year-old Bramlett, who has been racing late model for two years. "Coming out of four, James lost his drive shaft and stuff was just flying. I was in a good position to miss everything."

Despite four caution periods that brought new re-starts, Bramlett held off a hard charging Ricky Wood.

"We came here to fine-tune the car for the Florida Pro Series that will be here in a few weeks," said Bramlett, who is currently ranked in second place in points for the series as well as being the top rookie contender. "Not only did we find a good set-up, we also won the race. All that makes for a good night."

With three laps remaining in the event, Jimmy Sills and John Kennedy got around Wood who suddenly fell off the pace.

Roger Favreau filled the top five behind Sills, Kennedy and Wood.

"We were running real good considering what we have," said Wood. "We broke a sway bar and that threw the handling off real bad. We run as hard as we can, but we only have a limited late model motor in our car. We'll have a new Boyd engine soon and we should be competitive."

Wally Semrow took advantage of a late race caution flag, in bomber action, to overtake leader Gary Frosh. Once in command Semrow cruised to his 24th checkered flag of the season.

Chasing Semrow and Frosh to victory lane were Mike Trocki, Johnny Mitchell and George Spears.

Conrad Grenier outduelled Bobby Sears and Ted Vulpius to take top honors in the mini-stock main.

Rick Maguire and Buddy Ingersole filled out the top five.

After several laps of bump and run racing with current FASCAR limited late model points leader

Jacob Warren, Jimbo Bjorkland charged to victory lane to snag his first ever feature win.

Leith Balga was second, Michael Williams third, Warren, who spun to the infield with three laps to go, still finished fourth, trailed by Danny Bancroft.

Mike Fitch wasted no time in picking up his third consecutive modified win. Fitch who dominated racing action led Gary Slavatore, Danny Keintz, Dave Savicki and Tom Hall Jr. to the flag stand.

Art Chapman was the winner of the sportsman 20 lap race. Second to fifth, respectively, were Barbara Pierce, David LeBeau, Dick Douglas and Steve Reditt.

Brad Cogswell was the winner of the run-about feature.

Corso, who also coaches the Seminole boys team which played Bishop Moore earlier in the evening at Seminole High School.

But when the junior varsity match got over in a hurry (Lyman winning 15-3, 15-7 to improve to 5-2), the officials instructed the varsity teams to begin warming up even though Corso still hadn't arrived at Lyman.

Thanks to a little creative heel-dragging by both teams, the start of the match was delayed just long enough for Corso to get there. Unfortunately for Seminoles, the confusion surrounding the start seemed to affect them as they quickly fell behind 10-0 in the first game.

The disorder also robbed Corso of the time to explain the changes she wanted to make in her team's attack.

"We need a practice," said Corso. "It's hard to make changes without a practice to work through them. I need to get with them and work with them on some things."

In spite of the confusion and the frenetic pace dictated by the officials — as soon as there was a point or a side-out, the next serve was immediately whistled in — there were still some fine individual performances.

For Lyman, Lisa Bridges opened the first game with a five-point service run. Laurel Ecker also served five points in the first game and contributed four assists. In the second game, Carolyn Crager had a five-point service run.

Seminole co-captain Yuleyma Otero turned in a solid setting performance while Vilaphone Ratanavong and Aubrey Nelson provided strong play off the bench.

Both Seminole (1-8, 0-3 in the Seminole Athletic Conference) and Lyman (5-2, 2-1) will return to action Thursday night in SAC matches. Seminole hosting Lake Brantley and Lyman entertaining Lake Howell.

Doing the hitting for the Orphans were Dave Coas (two singles, two runs, RBI), Duke Ferrato (two singles, two RBI), Chuck Cornetto (two singles, run), Bill Zaladonis and Buddy Lennon (two singles each), Don Baldwin (single, run) and Allan Truskauskas, Ruben Garcia and Jim Reid (one single each).

Monroe Harbour built its advantage much more slowly, scoring one run in the first and four runs in the second to erase the 2-0 deficit to Gager Pest Control. The winners then scored two runs in the third and three runs in each of the fourth and fifth innings to build an 11 run lead.

Pacing the Myers Tree Service attack were Mary Wilson (double, two singles, run, RBI), Debbie Riley (three singles), Cindy Campbell (double, single, two runs, RBI), Robin Baggett (two singles, run, two RBI), Lynn Pell (two singles, RBI), Jane White (double, run), Dolores Dalle (single, run, RBI), Linda Kenny (single, run), Dandi Balogh (single, RBI) and Sheri Peterson (run).

Doing the hitting for Hopkins Meat Packing were Willa Falardeau (single, RBI), Shelli Walters, Jamie Hart, Joy Weaver and Cindy Perry (one single each) and Renee Lanza (run).

All 11 batters in the Lake Monroe Inn lineup got on base and scored in the bottom of the first inning before Investex could record an out. The winners scored their 13th run in third inning before Investex scored all four of its runs in the top of the fourth inning to conclude the scoring.

Doing the damage for Lake Monroe Inn were Dino Wilson (double, two singles, run, RBI), Denise Hornack (three singles, run, three RBI), Julie Albertson and Sue Bagley (two singles, one run and one RBI each), Ann Lanza (single, run, two RBI) and Tereasa Finck (single, two runs, RBI).

Also hitting were Nina Turchon and Chris Tipton (one single, one run and one RBI each).

After a slow start Tuesday night, Seminole co-captain Yuleyma Otero and her teammates turned in a solid defensive effort in their match with the Lyman Greyhounds.

Boys

Seminole co-captain Jason Wilermuth turned in a strong all-around game, collecting three kills and four other good spikes while making good on 16 of 18 digs on defense.

Richard Doss contributed three kills, five good spikes, eight digs, and one block while Nathan Morgan came up with a pair of back-row kills, three good spikes, 10 digs, and two blocks. Danny Watson added three blocks.

While they're not scoring enough points to win, the fact that the Seminoles are collecting more and more positive statistics has Corso believing that the Tribe is on the right track. The problem now is guarding against any backsliding.

"We go to Lake Brantley tomorrow night (tonight) and that's going to be a tough match," said Corso. "I hope we go after them. I don't want to go backwards like we did last week against Lake Howell (when Seminole suffered a 15-6, 15-2 sweep).

"I hope we've gotten past that. The boys have improved so much. They're real close to making some real good headway toward being a good team. I really want them to get a win soon."

The Seminole junior varsity squad now is 2-1 after beating Bishop Moore 15-1, 8-15, 16-14 Tuesday evening.

Tonight's match at Lake Brantley is scheduled to start at 7 p.m. The junior varsity contest is scheduled for 6 p.m.

Sam Raines continued his hot streak with the bat over the past two games as he followed up last Thursday's five-for-five night with a four-for-four effort for Monroe Harbour. Included in the effort were two triples, four runs scored and three RBI.

Also participating in the offense for Monroe Harbour were Danny McGinty (three singles, run, two RBI), Sonny Eubanks (two singles, two runs, RBI), Aaron Johns (two singles, run, two RBI), Joel Lipscomb (double, run, RBI), Mike Merthie (double, two runs), Greg Hardy (single, RBI), Calvin Bryant and Tony Smith (one single and one run each) and Arthur Barnes and Earl Williams (one RBI each).

Providing the offense for Gager Pest Control were Scott Wade (double, single), Todd Morgan (two singles, RBI), Ron Cardell (two singles), Frank Turner (double, two runs, RBI), Wayne Walker (double, run), Stan Imrich (single, RBI) and Donnie McCoy, Phillip Sutherland and Wayne Gager (one single each).

Ken Rummel Chevrolet scored four runs in the first inning and three runs in the second inning to take a 7-0 lead before Florida Manor scored all four of its runs in the third inning. Ken Rummel added insurance runs in the fourth and sixth innings.

Pacing the Ken Rummel Chevrolet offense were David Goldstick (triple, two doubles, four runs, RBI), Scott Murphy (three singles, two RBI), Steve Woodley (two singles, four RBI), Brian Curtis (two singles, RBI), Cary Keefer and Joe Irvin (two singles and two runs each), Mark Aten (single, run), Jeff Futrell (single, RBI) and Jeff Bergman (single).

Doing the damage for Florida Manor were Brett Molle (three singles, RBI), Spencer Baggett (two singles, run, RBI), Robin DeVall (two singles, RBI), Noy Rivers (two singles, run), Matt Morgan (double, run), Vic DiBartolo (single, run) and Joe DiBartolo and Jerry DiBartolo (one single each).

Sills fends off late model field at OSW

By PAUL MARSEGLIA
Special to the Herald

ORLANDO — Veteran racer Jimmy Sills outgunned a host of strong opponents to capture Friday night's FASCAR-sanctioned late model feature at Orlando SpeedWorld.

Although Sills drew the pole, his run to the checkers was not without several challenges, but when it was all said and done it was division tookie Roger Favreau settling for a close second place.

Ed Meridith came back from several bump and run incidents, which put him to the rear of the field at one point, to take third.

Chuck Abell spun while battling Sills earlier in the race, yet came back to finish fourth.

Florida State Representative Bill Posey made his first start since winning his house seat in October of 1992 and, despite a sick engine, finished fifth.

Meridith backed up his third place late model finish with a sizzling drive to win his first modified feature of the year.

Second to fifth, respectively, went to Bruce Thompson, Kelly Jarrett, Jon Compagnone Jr. and Howard O'Steen.

Gene Van Alstine stopped Bobby Sears' winning streak in the mini-stocks at nine as drove wire-to-wire to claim the checkered flag.

Sears dropped out of competition with engine problems with Kelly Jarrett taking second over Gene Merritta, Richard Newton and Fireball Maguire.

Limited late model honors went to Michael Williams as he led green flag to checkers over Jimbo Bjorkland, Gary Schlichter, Mark Miller and Wally Patterson.

Barbara Pierce notched her seventh sportsman win, another flag to flag effort. Dick Douglas, Bill Loomis, Rick Johns and Jeff Rule trailed.

Glenn Castro claimed the bomber main event ahead of Wally Semrow, Glenn Cordell, Don Lake and Bobby Stevens.

Jerry Orn won the run-about feature. Steve Moldon was the winner of the mini-bomber event and Eugene Miller was the winner of the four cylinder endure.

Wife irked at 'Momma's Boy'

DEAR ABBY: I heard my husband talking on the phone this morning. He said, "Sure, Mom, it's OK...it will be just fine...no problem for us."

After he hung up, I asked him what that was all about, and he hit me with the news that it was his mom's turn to have the annual family party at her house but she had volunteered our house for the occasion. I got really upset because he didn't even ask me — he just agreed to take it over without consulting me. Our house is small, but we have a large porch and a pool.

I know we will end up paying for all the food and drinks, and nobody in his family will offer to lend a hand in the work involved before, during or after the party. I flew off the handle and told him I would go away for the weekend and he could handle the whole thing himself.

He says I'm overreacting because I hate his family, which is not true. He's got a couple of sisters I'm not crazy about, but I don't hate them. I guess I'm upset because he didn't consult me before agreeing to have the party at our place. Am I wrong, Abby? And what should I do?

MARRIED TO A MOMMA'S BOY

DEAR MARRIED: He should

ADVICE

have consulted you before making the commitment, but don't make a federal case out of it. The fat is in the fire.

Make a list of things to do before the party, food to be served, etc., and then appoint your mother-in-law as your co-hostess. Call her — and between the two of you, decide who should bring what. Paper plates and cups, and plastic forks, knives and spoons should make your picnic-style party a breeze. By cooperating, you will save face for your husband and avert a lifetime of possible resentment from his family.

DEAR ABBY: I just read a letter from a female medical student who was studying to become a doctor. It reminded me of a riddle that I heard recently:

A teen-age boy had been in a serious car accident. The hospital called his father so he could sign a consent form to authorize surgery if it was needed. His father went to the hospital and signed the form.

After the boy was wheeled into the operating room, the doctor looked at the boy and exclaimed, "I can't operate on him! He's my son!"

Question: Who is the doctor?
Answer: His mother.
PROUD NOT TO BE STEREOTYPED, CHERRY HILL, N.J.

DEAR ABBY: This is in response to the letter stating that it was tacky for the spouses not to be invited to the class reunion pool party.

I refuse to attend any of my class reunions for the very fact that spouses are invited to everything. Come on, grow up, people! I had absolutely no sexual relations with any of my classmates, but we did have some really crazy, fun times that I am sure the spouses would not enjoy hearing about. I do not see what the harm is. A class reunion should be just that — a class reunion, not a bunch of strangers there being bored. If I have not and will not attend my husband's class reunions, either. Let him go and enjoy the past.

It's his past, not mine!
I think all class reunions should be for class members only.

FLORIDA GRADUATE
DEAR GRADUATE: To this I say, "Amen, sister."

DEAR ABBY: My dad has been bald for years. I have seen pictures of him when he had hair, and they just don't look like Dad.

Mom got him to get a hairpiece — the kind they cut and style for the individual. When Dad came home with it, he looked so strange to me. He is 44 years old, Abby, and he doesn't have to look like a kid of 20. Mom is crazy about it, and I'm not sure whether Dad wears it to please Mom or himself, but he wears it all the time.

I can't get used to it. Do you think he ought to wear it or not?

HIS DAUGHTER (AGE 18)

DEAR DAUGHTER: If Dad likes it, he should wear it. Keep quiet. You'll get used to it.

(Problems? Write to Dear Abby. For a personal, unpublished reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Dear Abby, P.O. Box 69440, Los Angeles, Calif. 90069. All correspondence is confidential.)

TOPS king visits local club

John Easter, the Florida State King of TOPS (Take Off Pounds Sensibly), shows the local members of the TOPS Club - 79 a pair of jeans he wore when he weighed 329 pounds in 1991. Today, at age 47, he lost 132 pounds in 13 months by eating sensibly and riding his bicycle nine miles daily and 30 to 40 miles on Sundays. He also runs two miles daily. The regularly scheduled meeting was held at the First Christian Church in Sanford with Johnnie Futrell, club leader, as chairman.

Garden-ripe tomatoes favorite all seasons

By MARIALISA CALTA

I never really got to know my father's father. We called him Nono, which is Italian for grandfather, and he seemed old and foreign to me, and smelled of the horrible little cigars he smoked. He was more comfortable speaking his native Italian than my native English, so our communication was somewhat limited. He died when I was about 12. Years later I dreamed that he came from the hereafter to visit me, and invited me in perfect English — or maybe, it being a dream, I perfectly understood Italian — out to dinner. We sat in an outdoor cafe and ate fresh, ripe tomatoes, and talked.

I awoke smiling from that dream, and the memory of it still makes me smile. It brought back to me the hours spent in childhood trailing Nono in his garden. There, among the neatly tended rows, my grandfather seemed relaxed and at home; his "foreignness" dissolved. There was no language barrier when we rejoiced over the discovery of a small, round watermelon bulging through the leaves, or ate green beans right off the vine. When the tomatoes were ripe, he would pick them and, carefully extracting a small pocket knife and, wiping the blade on his worn gardening pants, would cut me a slice. These tomatoes, still warm from the sun, needed no salt or seasonings. We gobbled them in conspiratorial silence, then harvested more for my grandmother's kitchen.

Which is a long-winded way of saying that tomatoes, in their season, are one of the nicest gifts in Nature's larder. Enjoy them with your loved ones, and may your memories grow.

OVEN-DRIED TOMATOES

- 4 pint ripe plum tomatoes
- 12 fresh basil leaves
- Olive oil

Preheat oven to 150 degrees.

Slice tomatoes in half lengthwise and remove seeds. Place halves in single layer on cookie sheets, flat side down. Place sheets in oven.

Tomatoes will take between 12 and 24 hours to fully dry, and they will look and feel like fruit leather. Pack in 2 sterilized 1 pint jars, alternating with layers of basil. Cover with olive oil, place lids tightly on jars, and store in refrigerator.

Yield: 2 pints.

Recipe from "The Cook's Garden," by Shepherd and Ellen Ogden (Rodale Press, 1989).

BRUSCHETTA

- 1 loaf crusty French or Italian bread, split lengthwise
- 4 tablespoons extra virgin olive oil
- 4 cloves garlic
- 4 ripe plum tomatoes, sliced
- A small handful of fresh basil, chopped

Salt (preferably Kosher) and freshly ground pepper to taste

Preheat broiler or toaster oven.

Toast bread, cut side up, until light brown. Liberally brush cut side of each piece of bread with olive oil. Rub toasted bread with raw garlic, or press garlic through press and spread resulting puree onto bread. Top with overlapping slices of tomatoes, drizzle with a bit more oil (if desired), and sprinkle on chopped basil and salt and pepper to taste. Place under broiler again until tomatoes are heated.

Yield: 4 servings.

This recipe is my own.

flower or fried potatoes over warm chicken and then boiled carrots. Next, layer rice over vegetables. Pour water that chicken has been simmered in over all ingredients, making sure rice is covered completely. Add more spices if desired. Put in hot oven covered, letting ingredients boil for 10 minutes, then lower heat to simmer for 10 minutes, adding more water if needed. Uncover and serve with a salad or fresh, plain yogurt.

Salad:

Cut up tomatoes, cucumber, parsley. Mix in other half of sliced onion. (Chopped, fresh garlic may be added as well.) Add salt, lemon juice and olive oil. Add 1/4 cup of water if desired. Serve with Makluba.

Serves 8 if 1 1/2 lbs. of rice used.

TABBOULEH

- 3 bunches parsley
- 1 bunch green onions
- 1 cucumber
- 2 tomatoes
- 2-3 lemons or 1/2 cup lemon juice

Romaine lettuce

Salt
Olive oil
1 1/2 cups of Bulgur
Buy bulgur (or burgul, Arabic spelling) at health food store or at an Arabian market such as Salam Market, 9080 Aloma Ave., Winter Park, Telephone 657-5580.

Soak bulgur in cold water about 2 hours. Chop parsley, green onions, cucumber, tomatoes in small pieces. Mix vegetables with bulgur after it has been hand squeezed to remove all water.

Add salt, lemon juice and olive oil to vegetable-bulgur mix.

To please the eye, tear pieces of Romaine lettuce and assemble on plates. Place Tabbouleh (vegetables-bulgur) over leaves, add lemon slice on top, if desired.

BEEF STEW WITH OKRA

- 2 lbs. beef stew meat
- 1 bag frozen or fresh okra
- 1/2 clove of garlic
- 1/2 onion, cut in small pieces
- 4 cups water

Pinch of curry powder, garlic powder, black pepper, Arabian spices (may be obtained at market mentioned above)

1 can (8 oz.) tomato paste

1 Tbsp. vegetable oil

Rinse off stew meat and simmer in 4 cups water for 1 hour. After 1/2 hour of simmering, add onion and spices. While meat simmers, fry okra in 1 Tbsp. oil for 10 minutes on medium heat. At this point more add water if needed (approx. 3 cups required). Simmer for 5 minutes. Add tomato paste. Fry garlic until slightly brown then add to meat and okra combination. Serve with rice.

Serves 6.

Easing a cancer patient's final days

DEAR DR. GOTT: Will abstinence from eating eventually cause death, and how long might it take? I suffer from cancer and wonder if this form of dying is painful.

DEAR READER: If you don't eat, you'll die of starvation in a matter of months; if you don't drink, you'll succumb much sooner. I don't believe this is a realistic option for you. Starvation is uncomfortable -- at least in the early stages. I think that you and your physician could work out a more humane way, when the time comes.

For instance, most caring doctors are willing to prescribe drugs, such as morphine, to make the final days of a cancer patient more bearable. Also, tranquilizers, such as Valium, often make patients with terminal illnesses more comfortable. Don't misunderstand me. I'm not advocating "mercy killing." I'm referring to the completely ethical medical responsibility of easing pain in a hopeless situation, such as terminal cancer, a role that any doctor worth his salt should be willing to adopt.

I suggest that you have a frank discussion with your physician, during which you both can review your wishes, his obligations and the many resources (such as a hospice) in your community. Cancer patients should not have to consider starving themselves to obtain relief; there are more appropriate methods to ease the pain.

DEAR DR. GOTT: What is your opinion of bungee jumping? I feel that such a fall and the quick jerk is not good for the body.

DEAR READER: I think it's nuts. But then I don't sky-dive either. I believe that you're correct to be concerned about the potential consequences of a sudden tug at the end of a bungee cord. This could certainly cause injury to the neck and head.

In all fairness to the devotees of bungee-jumping, I am unaware of anything more than sporadic reports of injuries and deaths sustained during the proper execution of a jump -- assuming the equipment is ship-shape, a real source of concern. Nonetheless, to paraphrase the famous poem, when it comes to a bungee-jumper, I'd rather see than be one.

MEDICINE

WIN AT BRIDGE

By Phillip Alder

It is interesting how often one can read some poetry and assume the author is teaching his grandchildren, in a rather subtle way, the secrets of bridge. For example, in "Psalm of Life," Henry Wadsworth Longfellow wrote, "Let us then be up and doing, With a heart for any fate; Still achieving, still pursuing, Learn to labour and to wait."

When playing in a trump contract, one is naturally inclined to draw trumps as quickly as possible, lest an opponent score a cheap trick with a low trump. But on many deals it is important to wait -- to delay drawing trumps until the due moment.

South's two-heart rebid was forcing, asking for more information. North, who felt he couldn't rebid one of his four-card suits, gave preference to spades.

West led a heart, East playing three rounds of the suit. South ruffed and drew all the trumps, turning it into a no-trump deal. Now South had to hope he could establish a third club trick without letting East on play. However, as you can see, it was impossible. And when East won with the club queen, he had two heart winners to cash: two down.

When you are in danger of running out of trumps, usually it is best to keep a trump in dummy and establish your side suit first. Declarer, after ruffing at trick three, should have played three rounds of clubs immediately. East may win and play a fourth heart, but declarer lets it run to dummy, overruffing West if necessary. Now trumps can be drawn and the long club trick cashed in peace.

HOROSCOPE

By Bernice Bede Osoi
YOUR BIRTHDAY
Sept. 23, 1993

In the year ahead larger strides than usual can be made where your work or career is concerned. The benefits and advantages you're capable of generating could be extraordinary.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Everything good might start coming up roses for you as of today. In fact, this may mark the beginning of things you'll long remember. Trying to patch up a broken romance? The Astro-Graph Matchmaker can help you to understand what to do to make the relationship work. Mail $2 and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Matchmaker, P.O. Box 4465, New York, N.Y. 10163.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Good things are developing for you at this time, but they might not be too obvious. This is because what transpires will be behind the scenes screened from everyone's view, including yours.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Loyal associations are your most valuable assets in this time frame, because they can help bring into being your high hopes. Pals will be willing to assist where they can.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Devote your efforts and energies today to your most important objectives, because your chances for succeeding are better than they've been for a long time.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) You're a positive thinker today who has the ability to inspire others and help them elevate their hopes and expectations. Don't let this gift go unused.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Conditions in general should go rather smoothly for you today, but your most impressive moves are likely to be in joint ventures.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) You have the potential to make a big hit today with a person who is essential for putting together an arrangement you'd like to formulate. Developments can benefit both parties.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) A door might open for you today which has been previously barred against you. It could represent the type of break for which you've been looking to put you on the threshold.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Today you could be luckier than usual in your social encounters. Keep in touch, with any new commercial contacts you make while socializing, because one might be very meaningful.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) You're a very good stretch runner today and if you apply yourself with consistency, things should work out to your expectations. Don't lose sight of your objectives.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Being in the right place at the right time might be a big contributor to your success today. The other factor will be your ability to capitalize on what the moment offers.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Influences are now at work that could substantially help to improve your financial position. You're in a very lucky cycle, so don't limit your thinking as to how you can make money.
