MEXICO FLIGHT OF LINDBERGH COMMENCED

Trans-Oceanic Flier Leaves Washington At Noon On Long Hop To Mexico City

Washes Off Well
On Soggy Field

Aly Small Gathering
Is Present To See
Beginning Of Flight

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13.—(INS)—Charles A. Lindbergh, who blazed the transatlantic trail to Paris last year, took off from Bolling field here at 12:29 o'clock today on a non-stop flight to Mexico City.

He plans to make it in less than 24 hours, exact time being dependent on how much the speed of his "Spirit of St. Louis" is retarded by headwinds.

The take-off was almost perfect, despite the soggy condition of the field and the heavy load of gasoline. Prior to the getaway, Lindbergh and some of the Army officers who were on duty at Bolling field were in the cockpit. Lindbergh was given an escort by several Army planes on the getaway. The flight was piloted by Lindbergh, with a co-pilot, Wm. P. McCracken, air secretary of the commerce department.

Lindbergh observed unusual conditions in preparing for the getaway. He had the "Spirit of St. Louis" wheeled to the far end of the field shortly after ten o'clock and had the motor experts go over her with minute care. He finally quitted at the waiting Bureau. Finally, a little after twelve he seemed to think that conditions were right, but he waited for more than an hour after he had given the final word.

Communist Rebels Maintain Authority Overthrown City

HONG KONG, Dec. 13.—(INS)—The avowedly communistic peasants and laborers who ousted the government officials in Canton took possession of the city and still in power today.

Lindbergh Carries Rifle On Long Hop

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13.—(INS)—An army rifle, nestled in the cockpit beside Col. Charles A. Lindbergh today when he pointed the nose of his transoceanic airplane southward toward the 2000-mile flight to Mexico City. Also half of Lindbergh's flight will be over Mexican territory, and there is always the possibility of a forced landing in the desolate and bandit-infested stretches of Northern Mexico. His only other equipment was two Army canteens, one water, an emergency ration kit, and two life preservers, which he carried upon. He carried no parachute.

FINAL RITES FOR MAUD ANNG LAKE HELD ON MONDAY

Hundreds Of Friends Pay Respects To Prominent Sanford Woman Who Died Saturday At Formosa Sanitarium

Final rites for Mrs. Forrest Lake, who passed away Saturday night at the Florida Sanitarium at Formosa, were held Monday afternoon at the Holy Cross Episcopal Church and at the cemetery where a brief interment service was read as the casket was being lowered to its final resting place.

Hundreds of sorrowing friends and acquaintances joined in paying tribute to Mrs. Lake, one of Sanford's most prominent and beloved women. The church was filled when the funeral procession led by full vested choir entered the chapel. Following the flower banked gray casket were members of the bereaved family.

Scenes of handsome floral offerings attending the esteem with which Mrs. Lake was held by a large circle of friends were placed about the casket which rested within the chancel amid a veritable flower bed.

NEW YORK, Dec. 13.—(INS)—The passenger steamship Robert E. Lee, Boston to New York, collided with and sank the tug Neponset off the Southern New England coast, according to a wireless message from the liner today.

STATE SOLONS IMPEACH CHIEF OF OKLAHOMA

Members Of Legislature Who Have Been Interfered With By Militia Gather In Hotel And Vote Against Governor

Chief Justice Also
Impeached By Group

Six Charges Are Brought Against Executive Who Ordered Meeting Be Stopped

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Dec. 13.—(INS)—Members of the Oklahoma Legislature, who have been playing the game of hide and seek from state militia in an effort to meet and vote upon impeachment charges against Governor Henry S. Johnston, met at the breakfast hour today and impeached the executive.

The meeting, which was held at the Luckin Hotel, in a downtown section, O. P. Hill, speaker of the House of Representatives, announced that he had been informed the Senate would meet later and receive a committee from the house with the charges. Members of the Senate last night met in caucus and pledged full support of the house.

Chief Justice Fred T. Johnson of the state supreme court, also was impeached by the breakfast hour session.

Six charges were voted against the governor, the first of which was the case of Gov. J. C. Frank Walton, four years ago, who was "wrongful and illegal suppression of the state legislature and preventing said body from functioning in its legal capacity at the state capital."

Sheriff G. M. Hand Seeks Re-Election In June Primary

Sheriff G. M. Hand today announced his candidacy for re-election in the Democratic primary to be held next June and asked the support of the voters on his record of 12 years in the office which he desires to hold for another four-year term. Sheriff Hand's entry is the second in the sheriff's race, E. E. Brady having announced two weeks ago.

Attorneys For Alleged Slayer Of Cone Fail To Quash Indictment Today

A technical objection to the formation of the grand jury failed to be upheld today in circuit court when attorneys for the defendant based their plea for quashing the indictment on the alleged failure of the grand jury to place the name of Fred Hoffman in a list preparatory to the calling of the grand jury. Hoffman, it is said, was eligible to be excused. After the veniremen had been qualified the clerk prepared the names on slips of paper preparatory to drawing the list of grand jurors from a hat.

COURT SUSTAINS DEMURRER IN THE L. K. D. LAW SUIT

Court Gives Dighton Permission To Amend Bill Of Complaint To Include
Allegations To Make It Sufficient

The first skirmish in the legal fight centered upon the alleged fraudulent transfer of property to the L. K. D. Inc. was won by the defendant Monday when Judge J. C. B. Koonce, sitting in session at Travers, sustained a demurrer filed by the firm of DeCotes and Spencer in answer to a bill of complaint recently drawn by S. R. Dighton, representing E. L. Ashcraft, receiver for the Seminole County bank.

Judge Koonce rendered his decision after arguments had been advanced by counsel for both sides and ruled that the demurrer was well founded and that there was no equity in the bill of complaint. The court gave the plaintiff permission of amending the bill and Mr. Dighton announced that this action would be followed.

Jury Is Selected For Murder Trial

RICHMOND, Va., Dec. 13.—(INS)—Surrounded by his wife, his mother and his five children, John W. Faison, former Country Club manager here, sat in the prisoners' dock and watched his attorneys select a jury to try him for the murder of Mrs. Elsie Holt Snipes, attractive young divorcee. Faison was prepared to take the stand and repeat the story he told police after the killing here Nov. 16, when he declared the young woman shot herself with his pistol, while he was in an adjoining room, during a midnight visit to her apartment. He admitted an illicit love affair with Mrs. Snipes and said he had planned to divorce his wife and wed her.

THE SWEDIE DID NOT WANT TO FLY

In Minnesota cold and bleak When the fierce north wind blows, And huge mosquitoes your blood seek When blooms the sweet wild rose; A thirsty Swede wanted a drink Of whiskey strong and old, Gone was the wren and boblink, And it was awful cold. He came to a small country store Just at the close of day, He had to walk five miles or mo'. From his home so folks say, They told him all the many brands That he could purchase there That town and God-forsaken land Of sorrow, want, despair. "How would you like a quart of Crow?" "The strong and has no foam, I'll get you some before you go And you can take it home." The clerk who was a genial soul Thought he had made a hit, "I did not want to fly" said Ole, "Just hop around a bit". —By Charles M. Bristol.

White Thompson has eye on White House—headline. And that's about as close as he will ever get to it.

We consider it seriously questionable this year whether "it is more blessed to give than to receive."

Next Spring the Republicans will hold their convention in Kansas City. Trying to get the farm vote.

If his favorite remarks is "Live and let live," the next thing to find out is his graft.—Miami Beach Beacon.

Now that both Brady and Hand have announced they are going to run for sheriff, things must be getting back to normal.

Mr. Amos' enemies are keeping our Supreme Court busy.—Ocala Banner. Mr. Amos is keeping the Supreme Court busy himself.

Some of these traveling salesmen have more nerve than any people we ever saw. They don't seem to be a bit afraid of the wolf at the door.

John D. Rockefeller, eighty-three, has spent only ten winters in Florida, which goes to show that seventy-three winters of his life has been wasted.

The Seminole County Advertiser has made its appearance. The Advertiser is a neat, well printed little booklet, and we think can fill a hitherto vacant niche in this section.

To date we have seen no barnstorming rush on the part of local landlords to emulate the example of Frank Evans by giving tenants December rent for Christmas presents.

Okeland pitched a big welcome for George Haldeman, which he richly deserved, while the rest of the world has almost forgotten just who the dickens it was that flew Ruth Elder's plane.

Someone has suggested that the Chamber of Commerce sponsor a great get-together meeting, a sort of love-feast barbecue on the edge of town somewhere, but someone else insists that if his observations have been correct the affair would probably break up in a great free-for-all fight.

The sale yesterday afternoon of $225,000 worth of refunding bonds at a price higher than any city bonds have sold in this state within the past year indicates—important things. The first is that the city's credit is above par, and that good bond buying houses have opened in both the city and the surrounding area. The second is that the northern money markets have renewed confidence in Florida.

"Practicing What He Preaches"

The lessons we gain from those who are the embodiment of what they teach are always the most impressive. The influence of such counsel is even more profound and far reaching when it comes from those, who by their achievements, have attained national and world prominence. Judge Gary's code of business conduct and his rules for success are read and remembered because he practiced them and attained success and also because his position as head of the greatest steel combine in the world added force and emphasis to his advice.

Similarly any thing which Mr. James Joseph Tunney, better known as Gene Tunney, the heavyweight champion of the world, has to say with reference to clean living will have a more wholesome effect than if such a suggestion came from those who are not so well known. To the small boy, who is given to hero worship, Tunney represents their idol just as much as Babe Ruth. He is the embodiment of physical prowess, which is the aim and hope of every youngster. So when the champion goes from one city to another, addressing the youth of the nation and urging them to keep clean mentally, morally and physically, there is no minimizing the influence which his example yields.

Here is an extract of what the champion, one of the finest physical specimens in the athletic world today, has to say to the boys:

"The hardest battle of my life was not with Jack Dempsey or any other fighter of the ring, but with myself. Every boy must fight this battle within him and success comes only with the development of the power of will. Just as muscle and wind may be developed by proper exercise, so may the power of will be developed by similar methods. Give up something you greatly desire; it will strengthen your will power. Once a boy has decided what he is best fitted for, the will to win, associated with natural qualifications, cannot be defeated.

"Some boys will meet with misfortune and quit; others will continue to fight. The game man never says 'quit'; he fights back even when he is down, and he is going to last. Keep clean in mind and body. Don't fall into bad habits by imitating others. You don't have to swear and smoke and drink and dissipate to be a man. And then play the game of life according to the rules. He doesn't shoot out of season; he doesn't take advantage of the weak; he doesn't hit anyone that's down. Try to be a sportsman. Sportsmanship is that quality of spirit that makes you manly and keeps you within the rules of the game. Fight the battle of life gamely, fairly and honorably."

Which is good advice for all of us to heed, whether we be the hero worshipper of twelve or the business man of forty or fifty. It is an inspirational message for youth from one who appreciates every temptation that befalls the boy of today. The advice of Gene Tunney, the idol of millions of youngsters throughout the land comes from one who "practices what he preaches" and his message is as good a sermon as any boy could hear.

Alexander H. Stephens

The unveiling last week of the figure of Alexander H. Stephens in the Hall of Fame of the National Capitol recalls to mind some of the acts of greatness of one of the South's leading statesmen. Born in Georgia in 1812 he spent his life of seventy-one years in the service of his state, and the service of his country, as long as the interests of each were not in conflict.

Stephens was born of poor parents and his early training was secured to a large extent in the school of hard knocks. Later a society for the education of young men for the Presbyterian ministry became interested in him and he was sent to Franklin College, now the State University, from which he graduated with highest honors in 1832.

He did not like the ministry, however, and after teaching school for a while, finally turned to law, at which he proved very successful. At the age of twenty-nine he was sent as a representative from Georgia to Congress. He remained there for sixteen years, advocating among other things the annexation of Texas, but opposing the war with Mexico.

When the Confederacy was created in 1861, he became its vice president and served in this capacity throughout the Civil War. He was at the head of the commission which met at Hampton Roads with President Lincoln to confer upon terms of peace. He was placed in prison for six months during 1865, and the following year, after being elected by his state to the United States Senate, was refused a seat by that body.

It was not until 1873 that he entered politics again, being elected at that time to the House of Representatives from which he had voluntarily retired fourteen years previously. He served as representative until 1882 when his state again signally honored him by making him its governor. His death, however, the following year cut short his work in this capacity.

In front of Liberty Hall, at Crawfordville, Stephens' boyhood home, the Stephens Monumental Association erected in 1893 a monument which bears on its four faces these inscriptions:

On the north side: "The Great Commoner, the defender of civil and religious liberty. He coveted and took from the Republic nothing save glory. Non Sibi. Sed. Aliis: Erected 1893." On the south side: "Born February 11, 1812, member Georgia house of representatives, 1836 to 1840, member Georgia state senate 1842, member U. S. house of representatives, 1843 to 1859, retired from Congress 1859. Vice-President Confederate States, 1861 to 1865. U. S. senator-elect from Georgia, 1866, member U. S. house of representatives, 1873 to 1882. Governor of Georgia, 1882. Died in Atlanta, Ga., Sunday morning, March 4, 1883. Author of "A Constitutional View of the War Between the States" and "A Compendium of the History of the United States from Their Earliest Settlement to 1872." On east side: "I am the History of the United States from Their Earliest Settlement to 1872." On east side: "I am afraid of nothing on earth or above the earth, except to do wrong—the path of duty I shall ever endeavor to travel, fearing no evil and dreading no consequences." Here sleep the remains of one who dared to tell the people they were wrong when he believed so and who never intentionally deceived a friend or betrayed an enemy.—Extracts from Augusta speech 1855." On west side: "Throughout life a sufferer in body, mind and spirit, he was a signal exemplar of wisdom, courage, fortitude, patience, and unwearied charity. In the decrepitude of age called to be Governor of the State he died while in the performance of the work of his office, and it seemed fit, that having survived parents, brethren, sisters and most of the companions of youth, he should lay his dying head upon the bosom of his people."

As Brisbane Sees It

Dangerous Beauty. Educated Blood. Let Them Try. $600,000,000 a Year. By Arthur Brisbane Copyright 1927 by Star Co.

SOME "BEAUTY experts" use the X-ray to remove "superfluous hair." Dr. Knoble, of London, says that is apt to cause cancer, which is also superfluous. X-rays are sometime properly used in fighting surface cancer. But, by constant irritation of the skin, they can cause cancer, as can any other prolonged irritation of tissue.

INTERESTING EXPERIMENT with malaria germs prove that the blood like the brain of man can be educated. Paresis, softening of the brain, in many cases is cured by implanting germs of malaria in the sick man's blood. The malaria germ fights paresis, cures it, nothing else will.

GEORGE H. Kirby, of New York, says "In our experience it has been all but impossible ever to produce malarial infections in negro subjects."

Exposed to such infection for a thousand centuries the blood of the negro race has been educated in resistance to malaria and other diseases, just as northern blood has been educated to resist measles, tuberculosis and other things, including whiskey.

THE GOVERNMENT'S proposition to supervise, regulate and control airplane building, needs also careful supervision and regulation. Aviation is new, needs new ideas. The government has not shown any ability in that direction, and should not interfere with ideas in others.

EVERY PLANE should be carefully inspected, not allowed to carry passengers until approved. That would be going far enough. Let every inventor and builder try anything he chooses, and fly it himself at his own risk.

Flat Head Indians shaped the heads of their little papooses, making them flat in the back. Uncle Sam mustn't do that with his aviation papoose.

NEXT SEPTEMBER Germany begins paying real money under the Dawes plan. Soon annual payments will amount to $600,000,000 each year in gold, with no definite date for stopping payments.

Whoever imagines that Germany will pay out so much gold every year indefinitely imagines what is not so. Germany is allowed to accumulate $1,250,000,000 in Germany in case foreign exchange cannot be bought. That provision will probably be to force a revision. The world at large will be better off when that indefinite debt is settled on some definite, possible basis.

DRYAN Dyke, professor emeritus at Princeton says Americans don't know how to read, and they won't take the pains to learn. Therefore they do not care for poetry which must be read intelligently, and they "mangle" the English language.

Free verse, Dr. Dyke describes as "literary laziness which is neither free nor verse." All true. Few read and the majority of those that do read, read trash.

THE PRESIDENT recommends a 10-year plan for Mississippi valley flood prevention involving $297,100,000. Altogether $25,000,000 would be spent the first year and $30,000,000 a year thereafter. Why not spend every year as much as can be spent wisely to hurry the work rather than risk to the course of 10 years another flood that might cost in destruction more than the total appropriation. Secretary Mellon could borrow the money for 3 per cent, if he couldn't take it out of the surplus. Haste is important, floods don't wait.

WARDEN LAWES of Sing Sing prison is inundated with requests to witness the killing of Ruth Snyder in the electric chair. It might facilitate police work to finger print all that send such requests. They may however, be disappointed. New York's governor takes pride in his state and knows its glory will not be increased by tying a helpless woman, however wicked, into an electric chair, the top of her head shaved, the calf of her leg exposed to the deadly electrodes and then killing her.

The state refrains from executing clergymen, however unworthy because of the sacredness of their calling. It might also respect the sacredness of motherhood, however unworthy the individual.

7th CONGRESS MIAMI NEWS

A "congress" lasts two years, the length of term of members of the house of representatives. The new congress now assembled is the 70th. Sixty-nine congresses have served their terms. The United States has lived through 138 legislative years. Independence began 151 years ago, but the Constitution with its two congresses was not adopted and put into effect until 1789, when Washington began his term as president.

This new congress assembles under a less glowing prospectus than common. Each new congress, as a rule, is the object of great hopes. Those hopes gradually fade until, by the expiration of the congress, it is pronounced a great disappointment. The congress which met two years ago had in prospect: marvelous tax reductions, a solution of the problem of Muscle Shoals, and the return of agricultural prosperity. It died in the clutch of Senator David Reed's filibuster against an investigation of Pennsylvania political corruption, failing to make appropriations for essential government activities. The anti-climax was complete.

In the record of that congress, doubtless which restrains optimism over the prospects of the new congress, there is, besides, a tendency now to extremely critical of legislative bodies. They are condemned as alluring machines rather than doing machines. The senate is nicknamed the "cave of the winds."

It is well to remember, however, that talking is a necessary and essential process in self-government. Congress represents, not only business men with the habit of acting quickly and decisively in their own interest, but a great mass of people of the most diverse ideas and interests. The government might be for the time more efficient if congress stayed at home and the government were left to the despotic spirit of great administration. But a country needs to be stable as well as efficient, and to be stable its government must reflect the average views and interests of the great complex mixture of human beings for which it acts. It is congress' job to find and express that stable average. It takes time and talking to do that.

The current disposition to regard slightly such legislative bodies as the senate is not a wise or safe one. It is a reflection of a present superficial habit of glorifying the dictator. A new dictator broom, like Mussolini and his Russian contemporaries, sweeps clean. But only when it is new. When one remembers how two great nations, Russia and Germany, have been within a dozen years led over the precipice by dictators, he will, if he is wise, pray that his own country may always go by the surer, albeit slower path of government by congressional "talk."

DESERVES A FAIR DEAL PALM BEACH INDEPENDENT

Mrs. Euth Bryan Owen, wife of a British army officer, has mailed an announcement from Mason City, Iowa, that she again is a candidate for Congress from the Fourth Florida Congressional District. Recently Mrs. Owen was in Chicago and in conversation with some Republican ladies told of her ambition to go to Congress. We are waiting for additional announcements from other remote sections of the nation. Because of her marriage to a subject of King George of England we do not consider Mrs. Owen an American citizen. We do not even consider her a resident of Florida. She would make the congressional race just as quickly from California, Oklahoma, Maine or Texas if she thought she stood a better chance for election.—Tallahassee State News.

Now, Byron, don't try to be a feeble imitation of Big Bill Thompson, for you will do yourself more harm than good. We are not favoring the fair Ruth for congress, but regard for the truth impels us to state what you should know—namely, that the law causing an American woman to forfeit her citizenship by marrying a foreigner has been repealed. It was a bad law any how. Mrs. Owen's husband who was an officer in the British army, is a very fine man, and is yet suffering from the wounds received in fighting against Germany, the enemy of both America and England. There is no doubt that Mrs. Owen is legally a citizen of the United States and Florida. We do not believe she is entitled to enter Congress from this state, and we don't like her ambition to use Florida as a stepping stone to Washington, and its our opinion that there are a large number of men in this district who can represent it in Congress better than she; but it is no more than the truth to say she is a mighty woman; and, as for her husband being an Englishman, a majority of the people of the United States, including Mr. West, and our humble self, are descended from men and women who came to America from the British Isles.

The Cream of the Tobacco Crop

You, too, will find that LUCKY STRIKES give the greatest pleasure—Mild and Mellow, the finest cigarettes you ever smoked. Made of the choicest tobaccos, properly aged and blended with great skill, and there is an extra process—"IT'S TOASTED"—no harshness, not a bit of bite.

Allan Dwan,
Noted Motion Picture Director,
writes:

"The director of film plays must take even more care of his voice than the actor. Into his voice he must put every emotion that appears upon the faces of the film players. While directing 'The Joy Girl' I used my voice twelve hours daily for weeks—often having to shout directions in the open to ensembles at a great distance. And I always kept my package of 'Lucky Strikes' in my pocket for I have found they are the only cigarettes which I now really enjoy and which I can smoke without impairing my voice. I'm grateful to 'Luckies.'"

Library Column

The library is a depository of human thought; consequently much of its contents are contradictory. This exchange and freedom of thought is the primary function of a library and in keeping with the American ideal of a free press. Any other course would lead to an arbitrary censorship as detrimental to American political liberty as to American academic thought.

A public library where all sides of a question may be fairly presented, where Mark Twain grins across at Science and Health, and Dean Inge frowns at Samuel Smiles. Here the great exponents of authority and democracy marshal their arguments in dignified silence. Here if anywhere sane conclusions may be reached, well-balanced opinions. In the public library Roundhead and Cavalier each has his hearing. In peace Robert E. Lee evermore confronts General Grant. Hamilton and Jefferson present the eternal struggle between liberty and order.

It is important for us to read authors with whom we do not agree. How can we grow if we seek ever an echo of our own thoughts? Yes, it is even important that we be irritated. Then we think, at least. We use our minds.

That when a person thinks without curiosity, has an opinion because he likes it and believes what is handy, then he thobbs.

And here librarians stand today recognized as members of a profession whose object is to help people to become happier and more useful to themselves and to others.

The public library is the great central power station, the great intellectual public utility. We hear a great deal about socializing industry—let us socialize intelligence.

And in spite of the fact that Christmas is fast approaching and everybody is busy getting ready for it, this particular library is lending more books and magazines.

The Wheeler Girls Entertain For Friends

Karla and Louise Wheeler, young daughters of Mr. and Mrs. V. Wheeler entertained a party of their small friends last fully Saturday afternoon at home on Magnolia Avenue. Some of this attractive home suggestive of spring with chrysanthemums and other flowers accentuating the colors of yellow and green.

Afternoon hours were merrily spent with games of all kinds together with a number of clever puzzles for which prizes were given. Jane Lloyd and Mildred were given dainty pocket watches while Arthur and Jack Vidler won bags of marbles.

The conclusion of the contests children were asked into the room for refreshments. Here the colors of pink, green and blue were featured. The refreshment table was spread with exquisite lace cover and center with a large cake iced in white topped with tiny pink candles and colored holders, embedded with rose buds and chrysanthemums.

Opposite the central decorations were tall yellow cathedral hats in white swan harkens. Arrangements of pink and yellow stream and individual cakes in the preferred colors were prepared by Mrs. Wheeler assisted by Victor Check and Mrs. Wheeler. Favors of gay colored paper and baskets of candies were given each child.

SCREEN STARS IN HOLLYWOOD ARE SHOPPING EARLY

Foresighted Artists Tagging Gifts For Friends To Wait For Santa; Prepared Gifts Include Unusual Things

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Dec. 13.—(INS)—If fan letters remain unanswered for the next few weeks it will be because our movie stars have been reading Santa Claus' mail.

Foresighted film folks have done their Christmas shopping early and many a secret has seeped from the shops along Hollywood Boulevard.

Further information from friends of the players and from the actors themselves has revealed what the cinema celebrities will give and receive for Christmas.

Clara Bow has placed an order with an old Grand Banks fisherman, living in Matha's Vineyard settlement, for ten ship's models and these are boxed and taged, waiting the arrival of Christmas morning for delivery to the homes of ten of her closest friends.

Maybe A Roadster

And the film flapper's father has hinted that when she pokes her head out of the front door on the same morning she can expect to find a new sport roadster with a special-built body waiting in front of the house, a greeting card bearing the inscription "From Dad," dangling from the steering wheel.

The Clive Brook family, living not far up the street from the Bow home in Beverly Hills, will observe the Yuletide in old English custom. The actor-father has placed an order with the chef of his London club for dozens of savory plum puddings and these will be his gifts to his friends. Of course, there will be a tree, and mother and her two lovely children have a surprise in store for their famous dad.

Behr Daniels, whose gift list includes the names of hundreds of studio friends, has set up a Christ-

TELEMOTION NEW PATENT GIVEN BY ENGLISH EXPERTS

Device For Seeing By Radio Is Work Of Young Experts; Invention Will Record Greyhound Or Horse Race Events

LONDON, Dec. 13. (INS)—Yet another device which claims to embody practical television—seeing by radio—has been patented here.

Called "Telemotion," it is the work of two young British engineers, and, if the claims made for it are substantiated, in the near future it will be possible for the radio fan to switch on his set and not only hear but see a baseball match or horse race.

For Trial In U. S.

Negotiations have been entered into for the device to be given through trials in the United States, France and England.

"Telemotion," according to the patentees, is an elaboration of electrical timing of any movement. The invention will record, for example, the running of greyhounds on a race track. As the dogs race around the course their progress will be "written" by radio signals, which can be broadcast, so that the person having the necessary apparatus at home can see the reproduction of these signals on a miniature track or on a screen, and so watch the actual race run before him.

It is the same with horse-racing or with any sporting event in which the movement of the figures is organized and proceeds on definite lines.

"We can transmit practically any moving objects," said Dr. J. H. T. Roberts, one of the inventors, to reporters.

Trade Possibilities

"The reproducing arrangement may be connected to a cinema projector, and the race or other sporting event shown on the screen to the audience as the event is actually taking place. One important point about the invention is that it depends entirely upon established electro-magnetic principles. "Telemotion" does not in any way employ photo-electric cells on the phenomenon of refraction of light, which have, hitherto, possessed such enormous difficulties in the development of television.

It is claimed that the invention has also a number of other commercial possibilities.

FORECLOSURE OF MORTGAGE. NOTICE OF MASTER'S SALE.
 Notice is hereby given that under and in pursuance to that certain Final Decree of Foreclosure and Sale made and entered on the 22nd day of November, A. D. 1927, in and by the Circuit Court in and for Seminole County, Florida, in Chancery, in a certain cause there pending wherein PITON MOHEMAN and ELIZABETH MOHEMAN are complainants and RAYMOND W. GREENE, Greenacres Incorporated, and Berkley Blackman are defendants.
 I, R. H. GRIFFITH, Special Master of said cause by said decree appointed, shall offer for sale and sell to the highest bidder for cash at public outcry before the West door of the Court House in said Seminole County, Florida, in the city of Sanford, Florida, on Monday the 22nd day of January, A. D. 1928, between the hours of 11 in the forenoon and 2 in the afternoon, the property described in said decree, lying and being in the County of Seminole, State of Florida, and described as follows:
 The Northwest quarter (SW 1-4) of Section 23, Township 21 South, Range 36 East, in Seminole County, Florida, containing thirty acres more or less, all in Seminole County, Florida.
 Together with all the tenements, hereditaments and appurtenances thereto belonging or in any way appertaining, the same to be sold to satisfy the said decree, dated at Sanford, Florida, the 22nd day of November, A. D. 1927.

Is Raising Horses Business Or Hobby Question At Court
 WASHINGTON, Dec. 17 (INS)—The question of whether raising blooded horses is a business or a pastime was taken under advisement today by the district court of appeals. Heirs of the late Reginald C. Vanderbilt, who had a stock farm at Sandy Point, L. I., contends that raising thoroughbreds is a business; the government contends it is a hobby and a pastime.
 Some $92,000 in income taxes hinges upon the outcome. The Vanderbilts heirs contend that the late "Regie" lost heavily in his "race horse business." The government contends that it was more of a fancy than a business, and cited the fact the barns were built of tile and marble and resembled palaces rather than paddocks.

Here's Something We Don't Charge for

We don't charge for it because it makes money for us, just as it saves money for you. It's the specialized service we give with every tire you buy from us.
 It isn't too much to say that this service is just as important as quality in the product. We know that more miles are built into Silvertowns than in any other tire. But to get that mileage you need to keep them in the right condition. We can help you do that, with little trouble to you.
 Think not only of the price you pay per tire, but the price you pay for tires per year. Drop in and let us show how we can make a definite saving in money for you.

"Not to be opened until Christmas!"

Nothing is worse than last-minute Christmas shopping.

The label—"Not to be opened until Christmas!"—is the true symbol of the shopper who considers others and does buying early, and most often this enviable person is a reader of advertising.

Every newspaper is an unending suggestoin list of things that father, mother, sister, brother, sweetheart, wife, husband, nephew, niece uncle and aunt would really appreciate.

Why not make this one a Merry Christmas for yourself?

Advertising will do more to help you solve the Christmas shopping problem than anything else.
