

Court Dismisses Adler-Draper Suit Against Housewife

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 2 (AP)—A Federal court has dismissed the $200,000 libel action brought by entertainers Larry Adler and Paul Draper against a housewife who called them Communist sympathizers.

A court attaché said yesterday that the action came after the two performers failed to request a retrial of their cases against Mrs. Hester H. McCullough of Greenwich, Conn. She is the wife of John R. McCullough, a picture editor for Time magazine.

Mrs. McCullough was cheered by the dismissal. She said: "I'm awfully glad it's all over."

Adler, a harmonica player, and Draper, a dancer, had asked $100,000 each for alleged injury to their personal and professional reputations by Mrs. McCullough's remarks.

She had protested their appearance in a joint concert in January, 1949, sponsored by the Greenwich Community Concerts Association. Mrs. McCullough, a member of the group, returned her tickets and said the two had been described as pro-Communists.

Her remarks were printed in the Greenwich Time, a newspaper. Then she repeated them before the Greenwich Kiwanis club, and the two entertainers brought suit.

The case went to trial in May, 1950, at Hartford, Conn. The three-week proceedings ended in a hung jury. The eight women and four men failed to agree on a verdict after 11 hours of deliberation.

At the time, Draper and Adler said the result "was a vindication" of their "loyalty to the United States."

Mrs. McCullough received $25,000 in contributions for a defense fund after a pre-trial attachment of her property tied up her resources. The attachment, then permitted under Connecticut law, was lifted before the trial.

Warren Raps Sen. Kefauver At Gatlinburg

Governors' Conference Hears Bitter Attack On Head Of Crime Committee

GATLINBURG, Tenn., Oct. 3.—(AP)—Florida's Governor Fuller Warren lashed out today at Senator Estes Kefauver of Tennessee as a "madly ambitious political hyster."

He accused Kefauver before 45 of the nation's 48 governors in conference here, heading a Senate Crime Investigating Committee merely for political reasons and to seek the vice presidency of the United States.

Warren did not call Kefauver by name, but alluded to him as "that ambition-crazed Caesar" and that "shyster politician who is running desperately and I believe futilely for the vice presidency of the United States."

Kefauver headed the Senate Crime Investigating Committee which named Florida as one of the major centers of organized gambling and crime in the United States and by indirect means was strongly critical of Warren.

Gov. Val Peterson, Nebraska Republican, said after Warren had concluded that it "grieved" him to hear "this attack on Senator Kefauver."

"Senator Kefauver is a grand American and he and other members of the Senate committee did a grand job," Peterson said.

He added that he didn't want to debate the merits of the Florida situation because he knew nothing about it.

The Florida Governor spoke in a panel discussion of organized crime.

He declared the crime committee's charges against Florida were "a lot of rot and lies." He insisted he had done more to suppress open gambling in his state than any other Governor.

Dean Denies Big Atomic Weapon Production Could Halve Costs

By WILLIAM F. ARROGAST
WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—(AP)—The chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission has put a "flat no" to theories that an immediate big scale switch to atomic weapons might avert another war and halve 1952 military costs.

But AEC Chairman Gordon Dean did say the United States now has tactical atomic weapons, and made a cautious disclosure that new atomic weapons are being produced.

Dean testified last week behind the closed doors of a House Appropriations Subcommittee. The testimony was made available to a reporter today. Dean was asked by Rep. Thomas (D-Tex.) about recent statements given to the AEC which might avert a war and save up to half of the 1952 military budget. Thomas did not say whom he was quoting.

"Not the answer, Dean replied, is a 'flat no.'"

He said the extra money could not be translated immediately into more atomic weapons because of the time factor involved in producing them.

Thomas then asked Dean if he knew of any new supplies of raw materials by which atomic bombs could be produced by the thousands.

"I have to go into figures," Dean answered. "I would rather not talk of numbers."

Thomas then wanted to know about a prediction made in a Senate speech Sept. 18 by Senator McNamara (D-Calif.) that if, as McNamara urged, the United States (Continued on Page Two)

Stassen Dares Acheson To Deny Charge

Secretary Of State Accused Of Opposing Supplies For Nationalist China

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 3.—(AP)—Harold E. Stassen flatly challenged Secretary of State Dean Acheson today to deny that he had recommended cutting off all military supplies for China.

Stassen's challenge followed a State Department reply to his testimony before a Senate hearing on Monday. He said then that the late Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg (R-Mich.) had told him of a White House meeting at which Acheson and Philip Jessup had proposed halting aid to the Nationalists.

The State Department reply was issued last night by press officer Michael J. McDermott who said "I fear Mrs. Stassen's memory is playing him tricks."

McDermott said that in checking the records failed to indicate that the meeting of which Stassen said Vandenberg had told him ever took place.

Stassen, former governor of Minnesota, said in a brief statement today (full text) "My attention has been called to the State Department's release of Oct. 3.

"I will make a more complete statement later."

"But I immediately ask this direct, specific question of Secretary Acheson: Do you deny that you were at a conference with President Truman and Senator Vandenberg in 1949 at which you recommended cutting off all military supplies for the China Nationalists, and at which Senator Vandenberg proposed such action?"

Stassen did not indicate when or how he would make the "more complete statement."

His Secretary, who telephoned today's first statement to reporters, said there was some possibility another might be issued later today.

Income Check Demanded By Revenue Head

Dunlap Orders Look At All Employee Tax Returns For Last Three Years

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—(AP)—Internal Revenue Commissioner John B. Dunlap announced today he has ordered inspection of the income tax returns of all Internal Revenue employees for the past three years.

Dunlap said the order applied to everyone in the bureau from the "commissioner on down."

Testifying before a House Ways and Means Subcommittee, Dunlap declared he had been given a "free hand" by President Truman and Secretary of the Treasury Snyder to create public confidence in the bureau.

He told the committee, headed by Rep. King (D-Calif.), he had received the "personal assurances" of President Truman and Vice President B. H. Brien in establishing "complete integrity" within the service.

Dunlap, however, objected to "psychological reasons" to the committee's suggestion that Internal Revenue employees be required immediately to fill out questionnaires of their net financial worth and business connections.

"No one would question for a moment the propriety of a request from this committee," he said. He added, however, he did not think now was the time.

The committee deferred until it hears from Secretary Snyder, a motion by Rep. Byrnes (R-Wis.) to have Dunlap circulate the net worth questionnaire immediately.

"I think the public interest is more important than the views of some employees," he said.

King said he was "frankly disturbed" by reports reaching him that some employees of the bureau would resign rather than sign the questionnaire, and that out of some employees, "Byrnes said, 'employees were 'inflaming' the taxpayers.'"

King said Secretary Snyder had approved the questionnaire proposal last July, but that word had not come to him since that time. He said he had "changed his mind" in discussing reasons for irregularities in the service, Dunlap said he had "changed his mind" in discussing reasons for irregularities in the service.

Senate Approves Legislation Authorizing 7 1/2 Billions To Foreign Nations

By FRANCIS J. KELLY
WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—(AP)—House and Senate conferees on the new tax bill agreed today to increase the normal tax on the first $25,000 of a corporation's earnings from 25 to 30 per cent.

It was the first announced decision on the bill since the conference committee of senators and representatives met yesterday to adjust differences in the multi-billion dollar tax raising measure.

The conference group also decided:

1. To make the corporate tax increase effective April 1, 1951, the date voted by the Senate. The House bill called for making the tax retroactive to Jan. 1, 1951.
2. To make the corporate tax rate least terminate Mar. 31, 1954. The House had set no termination date. The Senate had voted for Dec. 31, 1953.

Meanwhile the Senate approved compromise legislation authorizing $2,100,000,000 in foreign military and economic aid.

The bill provides for continuation of the entire assistance program in the White House.

Senate approval of the measure sent it to the House, which is expected to act on it Wednesday. Terms of the compromise were approved last week by a Senate-House conference committee.

The $2,100,000,000 total of the bill is $107,500,000 more than the Senate originally voted, and $15,300,000 less than the House approved.

The new total is roughly $1,000,000,000 less than President Truman's original proposal.

Breckenridge Is Named Secretary Of County C. Of C.

Live Oak Man Is 34 Years Old And Will Take Over Oct. 9

Forrest E. Breckenridge, 34, of Live Oak, has been selected by directors of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce to serve as manager to succeed Ed Whitney, who recently resigned.

Jack Hall, acting president, announced today that Mr. Breckenridge, who for the past two years has been manager of the Suwannee Chamber of Commerce, is scheduled to assume his new duties on Oct. 9.

He is married and has two small sons.

The former operator and co-owner of an appliance, hardware and building supplies store in Valdosta, Ga., he understands merchandise and its problems. He has served in an executive capacity with two radio stations, WFLA-TV, WTVT-TV, commercial stations WTVT-TV, WTVT-TV, and an advertising manager.

His chamber of commerce training includes both freshman and advanced courses in Chamber of Commerce work at the University of North Carolina.

He has been working closely with the State Park Department and the Historic Memorials Board in the development of the Suwannee River State Park and is vice president of the Highway 120 Association.

Originally from Selma, Ala., he is the son of Mrs. H. M. Breckenridge and the late Mr. Breckenridge.

Among the organizations with which he is affiliated are Kiwanis, the Jaycees, the Suwannee County Farm Bureau, the American Legion, the Suwannee River Valley Development Association and the Brotherhood of the First Baptist Church of which he is a member.

Rep. Andrews Is Main Speaker At Kiwanis Meeting

Citizens Are Urged To Take More Interest In Politics

State Representative Charles Andrews, Jr. of Orange County today reminded Kiwanians of their responsibilities as citizens and outlined a three-point program to counteract the trend toward more and more centralized government.

He spoke at an inter-club meeting here attended by nine members of the Winter Park Club, and was introduced by R. R. Johnson, Winter Park, and Fred R. Wilson of the Sanford Club. President Joel Field welcomed the visitors.

Mr. Andrews defined a three-point program to be followed by citizens who desire to do their part in bringing about better government on a local, county, state and national basis.

The first step, he declared, is to contribute more time to government. The second step is to be better informed about what is going on in government, and third, to get out and vote.

He urged that citizens dedicate a part of their time to public affairs and to serve on boards and commissions if possible without salary. He pointed out the "pressure" that has been made lately in some localities to put members of school boards on the payroll and told of one instance where this pay amounted to $400 a month. He also told how the pay of members of county commissions is being increased.

If the government becomes entirely controlled by paid workers it will become dictatorial, he stated. In the early days of the country (Continued on Page Six)

Lithofold Stenographer Testifies To Secrecy Of Salary

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—(AP)—Senator Nixon (R-Calif.) today said Senate investigations subcommittee today Democratic National Chairman William M. Boyle Jr. had a $10,130-a-year employee of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation (RFC) "on his payroll" in 1949.

Senator Harry (D-N.C.) the committee chairman, promptly ordered an inquiry, to determine whether Boyle's employee, should be called as a witness.

The surprise development marked a hearing at which a pretty St. Louis stenographer testified that as an employee of American Lithofold Corp. she had copies of records on other employees of the fact that Boyle was listed on his payroll.

Miss Janet Boone, 29, the witness, swore she prepared monthly reports for Boyle, but that she never saw or heard of Boyle, long after Boyle had testified he no longer worked for them. She said she did not recall whether the stenographer recorded any money due him and does not of her own knowledge know they were mailed to him.

The committee is looking into charges that Boyle received $8,000 in fees from Lithofold in connection with government loans to the St. Louis printing firm. Boyle has (Continued on Page Six)

U. N. Artillery Pounds Enemy's Supply Efforts

Bradley Headed Home Following Secret Army Conference

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—(AP)—U. S. 8th Army Head QUARTERS Korea, Oct. 3.—(AP)—A thunderous United Nations artillery barrage rained down the scene from today while planes tried to break up the largest Red supply effort since the last Communist offensive.

Red troops who held Allied infantrymen to no gains yesterday pressed a two-battalion sized pushing attack of their own today.

A "partial blackout," frequently a sign of an impending offensive by either the Reds or the UN, was dropped on news from the war front's Wednesday.

The tightened censorship was announced by Tokyo headquarters of the United Nations Command.

The partial blackout of news was imposed until further notice.

While there were indications of a possible impending Red offensive, a broad United Nations artillery barrage rained down the front today.

The partial blackout recalled a Red Chinese broadcast Saturday asserting the Allies were preparing to attack the Yalu River.

Deals In Oil

The controversy between Iran and Great Britain over ownership and exploitation of the Iranian oil fields has been followed with concern by most Americans.

The Russian angle becomes very interesting in the light of a deal which has been made by the Anglo-Iranian Oil Company, the British government-owned firm which operated the Iranian fields and refineries.

An Unhonored Garibaldi

He stained an honored name. That seems to be the harsh epitaph of Gen. Ricciotti Garibaldi, grandson of the beloved patriot who played a major part in freeing Italy from the Austrians.

Giuseppe Garibaldi was an incomparable guerrilla leader whose red-shirted warriors were the right arm of the independence movement, for which the great statesman Count Camillo Cavour furnished the brain.

Giuseppe's son, Ricciotti, with less opportunity for fame, carried on the family tradition, fighting against the Germans in World War I.

But later he was revealed as Mussolini's spy, specializing in stirring up revolts in order that the ringleaders might be discovered and destroyed.

Guarantee Of Rights

In a letter to the American Bar Association, President Truman urged the barristers not to hesitate to defend "even persons accused of such abhorrent crimes as conspiracy to overthrow the government."

It is part of the glorious paradox of America that we are concerned with the rights and liberties of all individuals, even those who by word and deed have shown contempt for our way of life.

The right of every citizen to a fair trial and to legal counsel is guaranteed by the Constitution. To abridge this right of any citizen, regardless of the crime of which he is accused, would be to defy the Constitution in as destructive a manner as that of the Communists.

Not To Be Quoted

An amazing number of persons have ideas for betterment of the community or of life in general, but are not anxious to receive credit for them.

One might almost think we were a people not accustomed to having ideas of our own; it certainly is not so. Americans are very positive about holding ideas and very quick to make them known.

Owning a good idea is a little like owning a handsome hat. Pleasure and usefulness depend on displaying it.

THE WORLD TODAY

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2—(AP)—The door which Iran unilaterally today to boot out the last of the British oil technicians—opened on an uncertain future for Iran and the rest of the world.

Iran now faces many problems, mainly these: Revenue, oil technicians, ships, customs, and friends; and there will be the struggle between Russia and the west for a 49-51 split with Iran.

The story itself began last spring when the Iranian government took over the oil industry which the British had been developing almost half a century and which the British government controlled.

The British paid Iran a royalty on the oil taken out of its fields, refined by British technicians, and hauled away in 200 British ships. One third of Iran's revenue came from this royalty.

Unless Iran can restore all, or most of this revenue, it will suffer badly and has been suffering since oil production in Iran stopped. But to produce it needs technicians. It doesn't have enough of its own to do the job.

Unless it finally makes some deal with the British—and no one seems to be betting on this now—in let the British technicians return, it will have to find them elsewhere.

But this happens at a time when repeated reports have said there is a world-wide shortage of oil technicians. So Iran has the job of finding replacements for the British.

The Iranians seem confident they will, or so they say for world consumption, for yesterday Deputy Premier Hussein Fatemi said he would proceed immediately to hire other foreign technicians.

At the same time in Hamburg, Germany, the Iranian consul was saying he had received applications from 400 German oil experts to go to Iran.

Even with new technicians hired, Iran must find shipping to replace that British fleet of 200 British vessels to carry the oil away.

In Iran there is a Communist Party which up to now has not been at all dominant, although active. By its very existence this party can be used as a nucleus for a much bigger party if events make it possible to enlarge.

Iran's western neighbor, Russia, apparently isn't feeling any time trying to strengthen what she has with the Iranians.

And an Iranian spokesman said Russia had promised to do her best to increase deliveries of sugar and other goods which Britain has stopped shipping to Iran.

This British move, of course, was an attempt to squeeze Iran a little tighter economically and make her less stubborn about making a settlement with the British. It hasn't worked so far.

The world is off Iran becomes, essentially, the letter the change for the local Communists to increase the number of their members and sympathizers. They feel they must take the lead.

The more the world is off Iran to Russia for help, the closer the ties with, and obligations to, the Communists. It's no bed of roses for the west which now must outwit the Russians in dealing with Iran.

HARVEST MOON IN BRITAIN

Atomic Weapons

Before the House committee, AEC Chairman Dean cautioned against any feeling that the field of atomic energy and United States advances as of today are an assurance of security.

"I do not think that there is any quick and easy method of producing total security," Dean said.

Dean predicted that within decades the United States will have what he called the "beginning" of an atomic air force.

Dean had this to say on new atomic weapons.

"There is already today some feasibility in the program which would permit other uses against military targets, and this will be increasingly so as the other members of the family of weapons enter the stockpile."

Atomic weapons now can be used for tactical warfare purposes and could be occupied by troops in "a reasonably short time," he said.

Production of bombs, he said, "is going up at a very substantial rate" and the present stockpile of bombs would be "very effective" if war came immediately.

Dean testified in support of extra funds, approximately $200,000,000, to continue the AEC construction program already under way.

The Far East Air Forces (FEAF) noted significantly that pilots spotted 4,385 Red trucks on the highways Tuesday night—the greatest number in a single night since the Communists' last abortive offensive in mid-May.

Warships and night-raiding planes concentrated on breaking up this year record volume of supplies being rushed toward the front. An FEAF communique said Red trucks "suffered very heavy losses."

The Allied artillery barrage on the Western front was one of the heaviest of the Korean war. Gunfire reached to within 15 miles of Kaesong, site of disrupted truce talks which the Reds broke off 42 days ago.

Shortly before his departure for Washington the chairman of the U. S. Joint Chiefs of Staff held a secret conference with top American military leaders here amid fading hopes of a negotiated truce in Korea.

The meeting with Army, Air and Navy commanders was presumed to be the most significant session Bradley held in his six-day visit.

Bradley commented only: "It was a very interesting trip—very helpful to us."

His plane left at 7:30 P. M. (5:20 A. M. EST). Bradley was accompanied by his wife and Charles Rohlen, U. S. State Department expert on Russia.

War clouds grew darker over Korea.

For the seventh day Red leaders ignored a United Nations proposal to reopen armistice talks at a new site in No-Man's-Land.

Tokyo sources said the Reds have waited too long to make a favorable reply to Gen. Matthew B. Ridgeway's suggestion to hold seasonal truce talks near Kaesong, about 16 miles from Red-controlled Kaesong, the former site.

Mississippi's Maroons Sharpen Offensive For Game With Bulldogs

By ASSOCIATED PRESS
 Mississippi State's Arthur Mouton says his Maroons can hold their own pretty well defensively, but their offense needs sharpening if they hope to beat Georgia Saturday.

After sizing up the situation thusly, Mouton quickly began work to revitalize his point-getting machine over the place as the Maroons plugged away at passing and kicking.

Freshman quarterback Bobby Baker was effective with long tosses and is expected to perform against the Bulldogs.

Coach Wally Butts, his usual melancholy being as right as left over Georgia's slowing ground, was so far. Several fancy-stepping breakaway runners have received considerable notice, but Butts emphasized that the Bulldogs' ground game—33 yards—is the lowest gaining average for the first two in three years.

"I am afraid Mississippi State, a truly fine defensive club, is getting set to snap down any of our offensive plans," he added. "And we do not improve our running game, we are going to come up short down there at Starkville."

Other SEC coaches were having their troubles too. Kentucky's Paul Bryant reported his Wildcats probably will continue work on fundamental football until it is sure they know it, even if it takes the rest of the season.

And it looks like Kentucky's squad is in for a face-lifting job. Bryant said of the 22 two-plateau starters against Mississippi last week, only seven may hold down No. 1 posts against Georgia Tech. He gave no particulars.

Tech coach Bobby Dodd is still holding auditions for a replacement for regular halfback Leon Foltz. He is expected to hold auditions for sophomore Johnny Hicks and Dick Gandy are the main contenders for the spot. The Jackets spent a lot of time yesterday working on a pass defense to hold Kentucky's ace, Babe Parilli. Tennessee's defensive and offensive units held full-speed scrimmages in preparation for Duke's Blue Devils. The defense practiced against fresh versions of Duke's split-T attack and the offense concentrated on passing, which was weak against Mississippi State.

Coach Bob Neyland summed up the reason for the "blitzing" of the offense, "a little better."

Mississippi Coach Johnny Vaught said he's expecting trouble from Boston College's passers John McKinon and Dick McBride and Mike Hays, a top-notch receiver. He kept his own passers Rocky Ford and Jimmy Lear, busy all afternoon tossing to back Len Foltz and end Bud Blake. It was the Red's first rough work in a week.

Florida continued to polish its pass defense, looking ahead to Loyola's Don Klosterman, fourth in the nation in passing. Loyola is top passing team in the country.

And Coach Bob Woodruff got the bad news that his kicking specialist, Hood Quinn, will be sidelined two or three weeks with a hip injury and that two other top defensive linemen—Hubert Brooks and Curtis King—may be lost for the Loyola game.

Tulane divided its worries about between smoothing out offensive wrinkles and pass defense. Junior Fred Dempsey and sophomore Les Kennedy are given first string quarterback Pete Clement a battle for the starting post against Baylor.

The Tigers of LSU ran through a hard workout, with halfback Leroy Labat and end Tommy Brown being promoted to offensive starting positions.

Alabama coach Red Drew said he was disappointed with the Tide's showing in a long scrimmage. More hustle will be needed to handle Vandy, he said.

A nice blocking exhibition and several nice pass catches won Auburn's freshman end Jimmy Long a starting berth against Wofford.

Giants, Dodgers Decide Pennant Winner Today

World Series Opens Tomorrow Amid Much Uncertainty

NEW YORK, Oct. 3—(AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers and the New York Giants settle the national league championship in the final, tense game of their playoff today with the winner engaging the New York Yankees in baseball's World Series opening tomorrow.

The day dawned warm and humid with a low fog over New York—much like yesterday when unexpectedly in mid-afternoon rain delayed the game 42 minutes. The forecast, however, was for continued fog.

Everything rides on today's game. The Giants won the first of the best two-out-of-three series 3-1, and the Dodgers won the second 10-0, after rain interrupted the game in the sixth. It was resumed in about 40 minutes.

With so much at stake the opposing teams brought forth their best pitchers—Sal Maglie (23-6) for the Giants and Don Newcombe (29-3) for the Dodgers.

It looked like a case of the irresistible force and the immovable body, because Maglie has beaten the Dodgers five out of six times this season, and Newcombe has beaten the Giants five out of seven.

Both are tall, powerful right-handers. Because the final game is being played at the Polo Grounds, the late season surge of the Giants to the fore, the Giants ruled as slight favorites by odds of 6 to 5.

Yesterday's game attracted only 38,000 to the 55,000-seat Polo Grounds presumably because many fans were afraid of a sellout. Today, however, a line formed of substantial numbers at midnight. It was headed by four sleepy students from Benjamin Franklin High School who brought pillows, blankets, sandwiches, playing cards and books.

Baseball's 9th World Series opens tomorrow—a fact that may not exactly news but one that has been overlooked in the future of the Brooklyn Dodgers and the New York Giants trying to decide the winner of the National League pennant.

A few things are certain.

For one, the New York Yankee will represent the American League in most of their third straight world championships.

Altogether, winner of 17 games, including two no-hitters and loser of eight during the regular season, will pitch the opener for the Brooklyn Dodgers at Yankee Stadium, the third, fourth and fifth, if necessary, in the National League winners' park and the next two, also if necessary, on the Yankee grounds. It is a best-of-seven proposition.

But nothing else is known.

The other facts are in the lap of the Gods and the pitching arm of Sal Maglie of the Giants and Don Newcombe of the Dodgers.

In their mound performances today lies the answer to the question of whether it'll be Leo Broucher's miracle men of New York or the Yankees' power-packed team of Brooklyn.

Regardless of the outcome, the Yankees will be favored to win the series. Today's game made them a 6-5 choice to top the opener and a 7-5 to take the opening game.

Stengel's powerful mound crew headed by Reynolds, Vic Raschi (21-10) and Ed Lopat (21-8), is well rested. The pitching plans of Durocher and Dressen were turned on a turn by the hectic National League finish and the playoffs.

Unless, however, something very odd, either Durocher or Dressen can lead with one of their aces in the series opener.

Preacher Roe, winner of 22 and loser of only three but knocked out of the box in his last appearance, is certain to get the nod in the second half of the Tulane game. The passing game is being given a thorough going over.

Ticket sales for the Miami-Florida State game have been tremendous and there is strong indication now that one of the largest opening crowds in the history of Hurricane home games may be on hand to see the battle Friday night in the Orange Bowl.

But from there on, the Yankees can throw fresh hurlers into the

Gator Tossing Star, Sullivan, Is Ranked With Kentucky's Parilli

GAINESVILLE, Oct. 3—(Special)—A Florida Gator football team capable of almost any colorful caper in the offensive bag will be shooting for an intercollegiate victory when it bumps with Loyola's Lions in the Rose Bowl Stadium next Saturday night.

Lanky Haywood Sullivan—if 199 passes on a six-foot-four-inch frame can be considered lanky—directs the T-formation attack from his quarterback spot and handles a major portion of the passing.

His excellence as a gridiron marksmen has prompted Vanderbilt's Coach Bill Edwards to rank him ahead of Kentucky's Babe Parilli as a passer and caused Paul "Big Boy" McLean, former Furman coach, to refer to him as a football pitcher who can hit the corners inside or outside and break a slow curve across the middle.

In his first 12 games—ten in 1950 and two in 1951—Sullivan completed 101 of an attempted 191 passes to pick up 1204 yards and ten touchdowns.

Pacific Coast Football fans may be in for the top aerial attraction of the year when Sullivan matches his passing brilliance against highly regarded Don Klosterman of Loyola. Klosterman, for example, completed 117 of 300 passes for 170 yards in his first showing this year.

Rick Casares, sophomore understudy to Sullivan who also operates from a fullback position in contraband moves in the running attack and distance to the kicking game, gives the Gators a two-way aerial punch.

Sullivan and Casares will be joined at the top by Jim French, Bobby Knight, Don Brown and Jack O'Brien on the flanks, plus the speedy Florida backfield crew.

Running duties will fall mostly to fast-moving Billy Roddick, Sam Cofer, Buford Long, J. Hall and cover runners Floyd Hurdless and Rod Oster.

Offensively the Florida probable starting lineup consists of 100 yards a week in over 200 yards from end to end and 100 yards in the backfield. The Gator defensive line averages 195 from end to end and 182 in the backfield.

The two backfielders Florida linebackers, Arlen Jumper and Bubba Ware, are two of the smaller men on the team. Jumper weighs in at 182, while Ware pushes the pointer only to 177.

Stetson Reserves To Battle Packets In DeLand Meeting

DELAND, Oct. 3—(Special)—The 435th Troop Carrier Wing Packets will bring an offensive starting squad to DeLand Thursday for a game with the Stetson Hatter reserves which averages 170 pounds. The defensive squad averages 188 pounds, probably the heaviest to face this year by the Hatters.

The game will be played at Hulley Field and kickoff time has been set for 2 P. M. The public is invited. There is no admission charge.

Head Coach Joe McMullen drilled his reserves yesterday in an effort to have a smooth working combination to face the Packets. He indicated that Frank Singletary would start at Quarterback. Jack Collins, Jim Nance and Joe McLeod, the "Three Jays," probably will be a starting backfield combination. All saw service against the Jacksonville NAS Saturday when the Hatters coasted to a 42-0 victory over the Flyers.

Packet offensive ends will be Ray Puppe, of Redwing, Minn., and Buddy Lawrence, of Tifton, Ga. Tackles are Herb Carithers, of Miami and Don Pierce, of Elk City, Okla. Guards are Joe Waldron of Hughes Springs, Tex., and Horace Corkern, Franklinton, La. At center will be Sam Givens, Birmingham, Ala.

In the backfield will be Andy Chiles, Demopolis, Ala. Halfbacks are Paul Nutley, Cincinnati, and Bill Ray, Miami. At fullback is Bob Theil, Bradford, Pa.

Plan For Football De-EmpHASIS Given By Head At Vandy

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 3—(AP)—A six-point program for de-emphasis of intercollegiate football was offered today by Chancellor Harvie Branscomb of Vanderbilt University, who said certain aspects of the sport were "educationally wrong."

In his annual "State of the University" message mailed to 20,000 Vanderbilt alumni, Branscomb said over-emphasis has compelled Vanderbilt toward new policy concerning football and "only by some program can football be saved as an undergraduate activity."

The six points he outlined were:

(A) Reduction of time demanded of the college football player, specifically elimination of spring practice.

(B) Elimination of bowl games because they place such extraordinary premiums upon winning.

(C) Reduction in the number of football scholarships to a point where the athletic budget is no longer a major financial risk of the year.

(D) Limitation of intercollegiate competition to bona fide college students and planning of physical education courses, when offered, from the standpoint of the student's future service to society rather than from the standpoint of getting and keeping athletes in school.

(E) Elimination of unlimited substitutions which result in a boy's being trained for one play or one type of play and in a specialization, foreign to the amateur spirit.

(F) Elimination of special funds for current athletic support, whether contributed by race tracks, downtown quarter-back clubs or alumni.

Branscomb's proposals agree in a large measure with the program recommended last week by the Southern Conference.

Seminoles Of FSU Have Hurricane's Mentor Worried

CORAL GABLES, Oct. 3—(Special)—The orthodox system of attack which has given the Seminoles 28 victories in the 30 games they have played under Coach Don Voller has the Hurricanes of the University of Miami deeply concerned.

Called "a cockeyed T" formation, the Seminoles' plays actually spring from what is virtually a single wing power formation. The single wing rarely met with these days is all the more effective against teams not accustomed to facing it, as the Hurricanes have found out to their sorrow over the past few campaigns.

Making the Seminoles' attack even more potent is the presence of Mike Sellers, 212 pound fullback who was all-state last year and Nick Italiano, 180 pound fullback who also has passed. He tossed eight touchdown passes a year ago.

Coach Andy Gustafson at Miami makes no bones of it that he is worried about these two men who have proven themselves outstanding backs. Gus knows that Florida State will be keeled to a high pile for the game and could suffer a second disastrous loss for the Miami ball club in two ball games.

George Trogdon, who coached the Seminoles last week against Troy told the Hurricanes again today that they had better be on the alert for a tough football team with great fighting spirit. "Miami is no cinch against this ball club. They have great team speed and hit like nobody's business," Trogdon said.

Gustafson has been spending a lot of time this week, prepping the Hurricanes for the game. He has been working the club on defense against Florida State formations while he also has been working on the offensive which failed to go in the second half of the Tulane game. The passing game is being given a thorough going over.

Ticket sales for the Miami-Florida State game have been tremendous and there is strong indication now that one of the largest opening crowds in the history of Hurricane home games may be on hand to see the battle Friday night in the Orange Bowl.

Seminoles Of FSU Have Hurricane's Mentor Worried

CORAL GABLES, Oct. 3—(Special)—The orthodox system of attack which has given the Seminoles 28 victories in the 30 games they have played under Coach Don Voller has the Hurricanes of the University of Miami deeply concerned.

Called "a cockeyed T" formation, the Seminoles' plays actually spring from what is virtually a single wing power formation. The single wing rarely met with these days is all the more effective against teams not accustomed to facing it, as the Hurricanes have found out to their sorrow over the past few campaigns.

Making the Seminoles' attack even more potent is the presence of Mike Sellers, 212 pound fullback who was all-state last year and Nick Italiano, 180 pound fullback who also has passed. He tossed eight touchdown passes a year ago.

Coach Andy Gustafson at Miami makes no bones of it that he is worried about these two men who have proven themselves outstanding backs. Gus knows that Florida State will be keeled to a high pile for the game and could suffer a second disastrous loss for the Miami ball club in two ball games.

George Trogdon, who coached the Seminoles last week against Troy told the Hurricanes again today that they had better be on the alert for a tough football team with great fighting spirit. "Miami is no cinch against this ball club. They have great team speed and hit like nobody's business," Trogdon said.

Gustafson has been spending a lot of time this week, prepping the Hurricanes for the game. He has been working the club on defense against Florida State formations while he also has been working on the offensive which failed to go in the second half of the Tulane game. The passing game is being given a thorough going over.

Ticket sales for the Miami-Florida State game have been tremendous and there is strong indication now that one of the largest opening crowds in the history of Hurricane home games may be on hand to see the battle Friday night in the Orange Bowl.

Randy Turpin's grandfather was Tom Whitehouse, British bare-knuckle fighter in the pre-Marquis of Queensberry Era.

Barons Take Third In Dixie Playoffs

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Oct. 3—The Birmingham Barons and the Houston Buffs explain today their Dixie titles, with the Barons holding a 3-2 edge over Houston. Ralph Brinkley, a tall right-hander, pitched and batted the Barons to a 4-3 win last night in the fifth game of the best four seven series.

The victory put the Buffs, League champions, with one back to the wall in the home meeting tomorrow night.

Houston Manager Al Hollingsworth said he expected to come back with Mike Clark, while Baron pilot Marion will call on little league hero in hopes of winning things up.

The great young football player, (Vicente) Miscal, who led the Buffs last night in a three-point game, was expected to come back with the Buffs. He was expected to come back with the Buffs. He was expected to come back with the Buffs.

YANKEE PRIVACY

NEW YORK, Oct. 3—(AP)—The New York Yankees, American League champions for the third straight year, have been the forgotten team of baseball this week.

The Yankees have worked out every morning since the season closed Sunday but unlike other years there was no crowd standing around, no reporters talking with the players, no photographers snapping pictures of the champs in action.

As Manager Casey Stengel remarked: "The workout was so private that even the stadium pigeons flew the coop."

At the end of the American Revolution there were 43 newspapers in the colonies.

The Civil War developed an appetite for news among the people.

Americans Shell Out Billions For Sports Each Year

By SAM LAWSON

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—(AP)—Baseball mania slows the pace of industrial and office life down to a walk this week. But any loss of time and product to industry as a whole is more than returned in dollar value in the course of a year by the money Americans shell out for sport.

Americans pay millions of dollars on spectator sports. To see the Dodgers and the Giants play off their tile, to watch the tired winner face the Yanks, to crowd into costly football stadiums, basketball gymnasiums, and race tracks, with or without benefit of books.

These millions of dollars are dwarfed by the billions that Americans pay out for other sports such as bowling and softball and those other sports that draw few crowds or none at all—hunting, fishing, skiing, boating and golf—but more money is spent on them annually than on tickets to the spectacles.

All sports require some equipment—often costly, usually some special apparel, and often transportation, lodging and meals. Providing them is highly profitable to many businesses and in industry, and service firms all over the land. This looks like a banner year.

This year, too, business firms are spending $500 million on sports and recreational activities of their employees—more than ever before.

It is estimated that nearly 75 million workers and members of their families will participate in such company programs.

A National Industrial Recreation Association official says that last year some 20,000 firms spent $480 million on sports and recreation for their employees. This was about double what industry spent in 1947, and also tops the wartime peak spending on these morale building activities. Companies, the official says, find that company sports cut absenteeism and improve labor-management relations.

More is being spent this year than last, the official believes, because of the rising total of employment, meaning there will be more workers to participate. Also, higher tax rates make it easier for the company recreational director to squeeze more money out of the company controller by arguing that the expenditures will have little drag on the net profits.

In addition to sports for their workers, businessmen also sponsor "little league baseball" for boys 12 and under. There are more than 700 such leagues with some 3,000 teams and 60,000 players in 38 states. The American Legion also sponsors the famous Junior Baseball championships.

Even the New York Stock Exchange takes part in "sports" new business assets in its home organ, where C. F. Robbins, president of A. G. Sautling & Ross, writes that bowling is the most popular of sports in industry. More than a million employees throughout the country play.

The Industrial Sports Journal estimates that 600,000 workers are softball players, 100,000 are golfers and 200,000 are in basketball teams.

But it's the unpublicized hunter and fisherman who really runs up the big total. Sporting goods houses estimate that Americans will spend around $9 billion this year on these two sports, if you count in all the accessories—boots, clothing, trailers, tents, clubs, dunes, cabins and campers.

Transportation to and from the haunts of game and fish will take the largest single sum. Next will be the money spent on licenses, with fishing tackle, bait, fishbait, traps and lures for fishermen and hunters run into large sums each year, while around $100 million will be spent on ammunition.

No business houses and factories may suffer from sports. In fact, during the world series, and from inattention of workers during game time. But business as a whole can't complain.

Billions are poured into the industrial stream to pay for sports. Many industries, like sports apparel, benefit directly, either from participants or spectators. Worker morale is built up by sports. Inevitable delinquency is held in check. And anyway, how can the boss complain? He isn't here. He's out at the game.

Mother Bears No Ill Will Toward Daughter's Killer

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 3.—(AP)—Dorothea Willard Hooker, descendant of two presidents—said today she bears no hatred for Thomas Cahill, unemployed bell-boy who told police he slayed her daughter to death.

"I bear him no ill-will. I cannot find it in my heart to hate him," Mrs. Hooker said. She flew from New York to claim the body of her daughter, Dorothy, 28, Cahill's common-law wife.

Cahill, informed she was en route, had told reporters: "She'll say she wants to shoot me. Maybe it would be better at that."

Mrs. Hooker, of Newport, R. I., is a descendant of presidents John Adams and John Quincy Adams.

"Out of this tragedy, she said, 'I know I will learn some good. It will teach people there is no happiness in alcohol.'

Cahill said heavy drinking preceded the knifeing in his dingy flat.

He told police: He slashed Dorothy repeatedly with a butcher knife Thursday after she arose from bed and threatened to leave him. Then, drunk and hysterical, he sat beside the nude body in a macabre wake that lasted three days and nights.

Finally he realized his crime . . . notified police and surrendered . . . and was charged with suspicion of murder.

Mrs. Hooker, widow of Marine Col. Richard A. Hooker who commanded the fourth marines in China before World War II, was unaware her daughter had been a B-girl (bar waitress) here.

"I guess she was spoiled," the mother said. "She was strong and violent, and I never could give her advice."

She said Dorothea and Cahill were married in 1946. Cahill told police he and Dorothea had kept their common-law status a secret; that they couldn't marry because he had a wife in the east.

Mrs. Hooker said she is determined to find the couple's son, Michael, born in 1948. Cahill said the child is in a foster home.

"I take him back to Newport with me—to bring him up as a 'Hooker, proud of his name,'" she said.

Police said Cahill's sister, Lt. Mary Cahill A. Navy nurse stationed at Herndon, Wash., told them:

Her brother, "never mentally well," was given a psychiatric discharge from the Navy. She also confirmed Cahill's story that he was estranged from his family and that his father, now dead, was a wealthy Philadelphia tavern owner.

Psychiatrists are examining Cahill.

Legal Minority Rules Senate. CIO Auto Chief Claims

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—(AP)—Labor Leader Walter R. Reuther today accused the Senate of unlawfully yielding to rule by minorities and "the dead hand of the past."

Reuther, president of the CIO United Auto Workers, assailed a disputed Senate rule under which southern Democrats have talked to death proposed Federal civil rights legislation.

The Senate rules committee is holding public hearings (10 a. m. EST) on resolutions designed to end the threat of filibusters in the Senate.

Reuther argued that Florida has one of the lowest incidents of major crime in the nation. He said as governor he only has power to suspend elected local law enforcement officers and their removal from office must be done by the state senate.

In most cases where Florida governors have suspended local officers, he said, the senate has refused to remove them from office.

which opponents of a bill make speeches until the proponents give up.

Among the pending resolutions are proposals to allow the Senate by majority vote of those present to impose "cloture"—a time limit on debate.

Senate leaders of those moves concede frankly they see little hope of averting a probably lethal talk-show against any move to change the rule. Senator Benton (D-Conn.), conducting the hearings, denounced filibusters as "an evil" but questioned whether those who share his views could outlast the speaking powers of the other side.

Sensors Humphrey (D-Minn.) and Lehman (D-Lib-NY), sponsoring moves to rewrite the filibuster rules, declared at the hearing they saw no hope of averting a "probably" successful filibuster against any attempt made.

Newspapers consistently fight corruption and incompetence in government.

Anglo-Arabian Oil Company Employees Get Out Of Iran

ABADAN, Iran, Oct. 3.—(AP)—The British pulled out of Abadan today to give Iran full possession of the world's greatest refinery.

The British cruiser Mauritius with some 275 Anglo-Arabian oil company employees, sailed at the end of Anglo-Arabian talks to Basra, Iraq, early this afternoon.

From Basra, the evacuees are to be flown back to Britain.

The Mauritius was accompanied by five AIOC sailing tugs, on board and four landing boats.

Forty other AIOC employees left by plane this morning.

The British departure came after months of Iranian pressure. It was a big and solemn affair.

The evacuees privately said this was one of Britain's most humiliating moments. It was, indeed, in contrast to the proud days when they were the British lion made world take notice.

That was the way it was when the British came to Iran in the years of the century.

The country had granted to them under a royal agreement that was to be lasted until 1979.

There was a noticeable change in the mood.

They had seen when they appeared on the scene, Iranian officials had already taking over the oil refinery complexes step by step.

They had seen some British officials in some and more AIOC employees in some.

Kiwanis Speaker

try, men like Thomas Jefferson were consecrated to their ideals and did not ask for "travel expenses," he said.

Urging that citizens be better informed on what is going on in government, he pointed out that too many people are too busy to read in the newspapers what is going on in Congress, and declared that very few people know what are the issues in their local government.

"They can't intelligently take a part in the government if they do not know what it is all about," he declared and suggested that in addition to reading the newspaper, citizens should read magazines dedicated to national affairs.

People are so busy making a living and looking out for their own interests that they do not have time to vote, he stated. During colonial days, 90 percent voted. Now less than 50 percent of the people of voting age express their choice through the ballot. Less than 20 percent vote for constitutional amendments in Florida, he said.

Members of the Winter Park Kiwanis club present were Mr. Andrews, Mr. Johnson, G. N. Dunning, Robert F. Frank, Col. W. G. Gooch, Mel O'Brien, Mel Roy, R. R. Johnson and William Cotter. Joel Field introduced Pastmaster G. N. Dunning, Winter Park Club guest speaker. Local Commit. E. J. Harmyer, of the F. A. R. C. introduced the Sanford Naval Auxiliary Air Station, Tom Burgess, M. Dora, Hurlon Isay, Orlando and James Davis of the Key Club.

Warren Blast

Warren said "this ambitious crazed Casanova who imagines himself a statesman" came to Florida with other committee members and formed a "coalition with a little mob" of his (Warren's) political opponents.

He said they hand-picked the witnesses who testified and did not permit others to be heard who would have told "the real facts" about gambling in the vacation land.

Warren declared that open gambling had existed in Florida for the past 50 years and some gambling spots had become "hotbeds" to which the people made pilgrimages "from all parts of the United States."

But he insisted he was the first governor to try to suppress gambling and that his Legislature "has done more to suppress gambling than any other in all the history of Florida."

He said the Kefauver committee "feels about conditions that existed before 1940—and not after that time."

He referred to "those little outfits that call themselves crime commissions" and said that for more than 50 years gambling was as open in Florida as "filling stations and grocery stores" until his administration moved to clean up the situation. Before that, he insisted, it was "indiscreet" for a governor even to mention suppression of gambling in the state.

He added that state legislation had not eliminated gambling—but had succeeded in "suppressing" it.

He said in the current year the federal government has issued 4000 slot machine tax licenses to Florida operators.

Warren argued that Florida has one of the lowest incidents of major crime in the nation. He said as governor he only has power to suspend elected local law enforcement officers and their removal from office must be done by the state senate.

In most cases where Florida governors have suspended local officers, he said, the senate has refused to remove them from office.

2 Of 118 Seized In Cicero Riot Enter Guilt Plea

CHICAGO, Oct. 3.—(AP)—Guilt pleas were entered by two of the 118 men who appeared in Cicero police court yesterday in connection with race riots in the suburb last July.

Minimum fines of $10 each were levied against the two men, Charles Hanned, 21, Cicero, and Ronald Lusk, 10, on their pleas of guilty to unlawful assembly.

Seventy-eight others pleaded innocent and 30 received continuances. Bonds of 18 defendants were forfeited when they failed to appear.

The 118 men were seized after state troopers were called to restore order among some 6,000 persons. The rioting broke out after a Negro family attempted to move into the all-white community.

The Cook County grand jury recently returned indictments against six persons, none of them rioters, in connection with the disturbances. Those named included Erwin Knovsky, Cicero police chief.

However, a Federal grand jury investigation into the riots has been ordered by Attorney General McGrath. His action followed protests by civic and civil liberties groups of the county grand jury's inquiry.

The first printing press was imported into this country in 1639.

Jessup Hearing

Washington came during a Senate hearing on confirmation of Jessup to be a U. S. delegate to the United Nations. Jessup, now a U. S. ambassador-at-large, has been opposed by Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) who charges that Jessup has "followed all the twists and turns of the Communist line."

Jessup testified today in Washington that he has not been a follower of the Communist Party line. His testimony was in reply to charges by McCarthy that Jessup has "followed all the twists and turns of the Communist line."

Testifying under oath, Jessup denied—as he did last year—McCarthy's accusation that he had "an unusual affinity for Communist causes." The ambassador-at-large, a top advisor to Secretary of State Acheson, also declared:

"I will submit evidence which will demonstrate a x x that I have not been a follower of the Communist Party line."

Jessup said he is proud of his membership in "a number of organizations which I think do indicate my affinities." He listed among them the America Legion, the American Bar Association, Carnegie Endowment for International Peace and the Foreign Policy Association.

Declaring that an objective discussion of his activities should cover such organizations as he cited, Jessup added:

"For once I agree with Senator McCarthy when he said to the Truman requested.

The bill provides for abolition of the Economic Cooperation Administration (ECA), which now handles economic aid to anti-Communist countries.

The ECA's functions would be transferred to a new agency. It would be headed by a $25,000 a year mutual security director too.

A Senate-House conference committee, working late last night, approved $57,200,000,000 for defense, after whitening a Senate-approved $5,000,000,000 for extra air power down to $1,000,000,000.

Only one out of an original 57 differences between the Senate and House bills remained unresolved.

Both Senator O'Mahoney (D-Wyo.) and Rep. Mahon (D-Tax) said Pentagon leaders had failed to produce detailed plans for spending the five billions.

"And the extra billion should meet all demands until Congress meets again in January," Mahon added.

O'Mahoney, who had pushed the air fund through the Senate, said that instead of plans for insure air power, the Pentagon sent up details on buying real estate for the Air Force and financing public works for the Navy. But O'Mahoney had said last week, after the Senate passed a tax bill far below the committee last Thursday, "I am sure we must take the entire history of this man."

Cornell President Warns Bankers of Leadership Needs

CHICAGO, Oct. 3.—(AP)—Cornell University's president, told the nation's bankers today the country urgently needs their leadership to avoid dangers ahead both at home and abroad.

Deane W. Malott warned some 7,000 members of the American Bankers Association that "these are not times for traditional sedateness."

He addressed the 77th annual ABA convention which closes today with election of officers.

C. Frances Cooke, Roanoke, Va., slated to succeed James E. Shelton of Los Angeles as president, W. Harold Hamilton, president of the State Bank of Des Moines, Iowa, was reported the unanimous choice of the nominating committee for the vice-presidential post vacated by Cooke.

"Storm signals are flying in the very financial structure of this nation, and the future of the world is literally in your doorstep," Malott told the bankers.

No banker, he said, "would allow any customer to get into the position of our federal government."

President Truman requested, that he would agree to trim the extra Air Force funds in the appropriation bill. Only in that way, he said, could this year's budget be balanced.

denied it but has acknowledged getting $1,250 as a retainer fee. He has insisted that the retainer had nothing to do with the $565,000 in loans which Lithoford obtained from the RFC. The loans have since been repaid.

Miss Boone, a slender five-foot-five brunette, was the last scheduled witness in the inquiry.

Hoey recessed the Boyle hearings after her testimony, announcing the committee would turn its attention tomorrow to contracts between the RFC and Boyle's opposite number—Republican National Chairman Guy G. Gabrielson. Gabrielson, he said, would be the opening witness.

But Hoey left the door open for resumption of testimony in the Boyle inquiry later, and ordered the check into Nixon's report.

In a prepared statement to the committee Nixon said Boyle's bank account records, seized in the inquiry, show payments of $1,275 to Turney Gratz, then a RFC employee. Gratz later quit the RFC and became one of Boyle's Democratic National Committee aides.

The Boston Tea party was planned in the back room of the Boston Gazette.

President Defends His "Gag Rule" On Security Publicity

Truman Has No Comment on Byrnes Report He Will Not Run Again in '52

By D. HAROLD OLIVER
WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—(AP)—President Truman said today his order authorizing civilian agencies to withhold security information from publication was prompted by a survey showing that 95 per cent of the nation's secret information had been published by newspapers and slick magazines.

He said publishers have a responsibility not to print information that might be of value to an enemy even though it had been cleared by a government agency.

Mr. Truman also told reporters:

1. John Foster Dulles, Republican adviser to the State Department, turned down the ambassadorship to Japan yesterday with a statement that he preferred to stay in civilian life and save the Republican Party from going isolationist.
2. He is not sure, but he hopes the explosion of another atomic bomb within Soviet Russia has not brought World War 3 closer.
3. He could not comment on a prediction by Gov. James F. Byrnes (D-SC) that he, the President, would not run again.
4. He had no recollection of a White House conference in 1940.

Seeks Re-election

City Commissioner Bill Stemper today announced his candidacy for re-election to the City Commission.

Last year he was awarded the "Jaycees' Good Government Award" for courage and outstanding accomplishment in good government.

Bill Stemper To Seek Re-Election To Commission

Candidate Pledges To Continue Work For New Industries

W. H. (Bill) Stemper, local grocery merchant, today announced his candidacy for re-election to the City Commission.

Mr. Stemper, who has served for the past three years on the Commission, was born and raised in Sanford.

He graduated from Stetson University in 1937 with a B. S. degree in chemistry and mathematics, later returning to teach mathematics at Seminole High School for two and one-half years. For 13 years while going to school he delivered papers for the Sanford Herald.

After working for the Florida Power & Light Co. as a chemist for a year, he was associated with the Florida Department of Agriculture as a chemist for two and one-half years, prior to entering the U. S. Navy as an ensign.

After serving four years during World War II, Mr. Stemper was released to inactive duty as a lieutenant. He returned to work for the Florida Department of Agriculture for a short time before returning to Sanford to enter the grocery business.

He is a member of the First Baptist Church, is past president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce. Since returning to Sanford he has been actively engaged in civic betterment activities.

TRAIN WRECK
OCALA, Oct. 4.—(AP)—A main line and track of the Seaboard Airline Railway were blocked for more than 18 hours yesterday by wreckage of 18 freight cars which jumped the track and overturned about a mile south of Ocala. There were no injuries.

A trainman at the scene of the wreck said that a set of wheels had been sliding and the derailment occurred when the car hit a tree.

Newsprint Situation Is Reported Tight

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—(AP)—A special house committee reported yesterday that the newsprint situation, beyond the immediate situation, will require most careful watching and planning.

The committee, headed by Rep. Brewster (D-TX), said that the newsprint shortage is not a temporary phenomenon, but a long-range problem.

Rep. Brewster (D-TX), meanwhile, offered a bill to authorize the Reconstruction Finance Corporation (RFC) to make loans of up to 50 per cent of the cost for construction of newsprint plants.

Infantrymen Burn Hole In Red Defense

Peace Talk Renewal Proposed In Exchange Of Allied, Communist Notes

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—(AP)—Gen. Omar Bradley came back from the Korean war zone today with word that "there is a chance of winning a military decision in Korea."

The chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff arrived by military plane after a week of conferences with military leaders in the Far East. He was accompanied by Mrs. Bradley and State Department Counselor Charles H. Jackson, an expert on Russia. Neither the general nor Jackson would discuss the stalemate of cease-fire negotiations.

U. S. 8TH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Korea, Oct. 4.—(AP)

Flames throwing infantrymen from nine United Nations burned two narrow wedges in Chinese defenses on the western front today in some of the fiercest fighting of the Korean war.

But smashing Red counter-attacks stopped the two-day old Allied offensive cold along much of its 40-mile front.

Gains up to four miles were hammered out in two days. At other points gains were so limited the yardage was not announced.

Red-battle raged over all of the shrub-covered hills in the Imjin River sector northeast of Kaesong, site of the disrupted bridge.

United Nations offensive was launched by five divisions behind one of the heaviest artillery barrages of the war. American, British, Canadian, Australian, New Zealand, Greek, Turk, South Korean and Filipino troops participated in the attack. Tanks and planes supported them.

The Chinese fought so stubbornly from their deeply dug-in positions they've been digging in since truce talks started three months ago—they had to be burned out by flame throwers or blasted by hand grenades.

County Offers To Sell Lot To City For Telephone Co.

Sanlando Springs Developers Request Road Improvements

The County Commission this morning told City Manager Clifford McKibbin that the County would take $1,500 for its interest in the property at Laurel Avenue and Ninth Street which the City is seeking to acquire in order to sell it to the Southern Bell Telephone Co. for its new location here.

Mr. McKibbin pointed out that the City holds paving liens with interest of $1,482 against the property and tax liens with interest of $1,358, a total of $2,840 in liens.

J. E. Robinson, Orlando, a trustee of Sanlando Springs, and Paul L. Hayes, manager of the Springs, requested that the County consider the improvement of the road from Longwood to Forest City, a six mile stretch that includes the present narrow paved road from Longwood to Sanlando Springs.

It was pointed out that due to rains, the clay portion of the road from the Springs to Forest City is in bad condition and that school buses cannot get through there.

Commission Chairman McClelland pointed out that the group did not have time at the meeting to discuss a new road program (Continued On Page Six)

Mrs. Meisch, Sr. Pioneer Resident Of Sanford, Dies

Mr. John Meisch, Sr. died at 3:00 P. M. yesterday in the local hospital following a brief illness. She was the wife of the late Mr. Meisch, prominent celery grower who served for many years as chairman of the County Commission.

Born in Secaucus, N. J., Mrs. Meisch moved to Sanford in 1904. Her residence was at 2114 Park Avenue. For a number of years she was treasurer of the Sanford Woman's Club and was an active member of the First Congregational Church.

Burials include one daughter Mrs. Dean Smith of Chicago; three sons Edmund and John J. of Sanford; and Joseph A. Meisch of Tampa; nine grandchildren, Mrs. William C. Blair, St. Louis; Mrs. Robert McGinnis, Orlando; Mrs. John Sarah and Dean Alden Smith, Jr., Chicago; Joseph A. Jr., U. S. Navy and John Meisch of Tampa; two great grandchildren Mason Wharton, Jr. and Candon Wharton, Kissimmee; one sister, Miss Charlotte Starke of New Haven, Conn.

Funeral services will be held at the First Congregational Church tomorrow at 4:00 P. M. with Dr. J. B. Root officiating. Interment will follow in Evergreen Cemetery.

Vegetable Outlook Is Reported Good

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Oct. 4.—(AP)—Water vegetable growers of the United States, Cuba and Mexico have decided to suspend their shipment quota arrangements for another year.

Luther Chandler, president of the United Fruit and Vegetable Association, announced to his government that the quota plan is effective again this winter to prevent market glut. Only minor adjustments were made.

Growers were told that the outlook for the coming winter growing season was good but were warned during a recent market glut.

Truman Said To Have Killed Plan To Cut Aid To Nationalist China

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—(AP)—The State Department last night said President Truman, on advice from Congressional leaders at a White House conference early in 1949, turned down a proposal to cut off military aid to Nationalist Chinese forces.

The announcement partly confirmed—but still left partly disputed—testimony by Republican Leader Harold E. Stassen before a Senate investigating group.

Stassen raised the subject before a Senate Internal Security subcommittee Monday. He said the late Senator Vandenberg had told him Secretary of State Acheson and Philip Jessup, now ambassador-at-large, recommended shutting off arms shipments to Chiang Kai Shek's forces at a White House meeting some time in 1949. Jessup is being considered for the post of a U. S. delegate to the United Nations.

The day after Stassen spoke, the State Department said it could find no trace of such a meeting in late 1949 or early 1950. Stassen's memory, the department announcement said, was "playing tricks."

It announced last night, that digging farther back into 1949 records, it had turned up a meeting on Feb. 8, 1949, attended by Senators Connally (D-TX) and Vandenberg, the late Rep. Sol. Bloom (D-NY) and Rep. Katon (R-NP). Jessup was not present, said Michael J. McDermott, State Department press officer who made the announcement.

He said the meeting considered (Continued On Page Six)

Gambling Big Shot Is Found Shot To Death

Police Hunt Killers Of Willie Moretti, Close Friend Of Underworld Elite

CLIFFSIDE PARK, N. J., Oct. 4.—(AP) Bigtime gambler Willie Moretti who hobnobbed with the elite of the underworld was shot to death today apparently by four men in a restaurant across the street from an amusement park.

The 51-year-old Moretti who testified about gambling before the Senate Crime Investigating Committee and was a pal of the late Al Capone, Frank Costello and Joe Adams was shot in the chest. A waitress who had been in the restaurant kitchen found the body sprawled across the floor.

Authorities who began an immediate hunt for the killers, pieced the story together from Dorothy Novak, the waitress in the restaurant, Jack Elbow Room at 794 Palisades Ave.

Two men entered the lounge, sat at table near the door. A few minutes later, the 57-year-old Moretti, immaculately dressed in a brown suit and maroon tie, came in and took a seat at a table near the lunch counter.

One of the two men walked out and returned shortly accompanied by two other men. All began talking in a friendly manner. At 10:15, one turned one of the waitresses toward the bar. The waiter, New York Mayor William O'Dwyer.

Miss Novak went into the kitchen to get a menu at this point. She heard four shots ring out and hurried back to the dining room to find the victim and (Continued On Page Six)

Koslo's Fine Pitching And Dark's Homer Do The Trick

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—(AP) Dave Koslo pitched the inspired New York Giants to a 5-1 victory over the favored World Series opener before 65,673 Yankee Stadium fans on a dark windy afternoon.

Al Dark's three-run homer off Laverne Lee Reynolds in the sixth plus Monte Ivan's steal on home and Whitey Lockman's run-scoring double in the first, accounted for the Giants' scoring.

It was the first Yankee opening loss since 1946 when Carl Hubbell beat Red Kuffel, 6-1. They won eight straight in between.

Koslo, a 31-year-old lefty from Menasha, Wis., gave up only seven hits and none of all from the fourth to the eighth.

Ivan led the 10-hit Giant attack with three singles and a triple, tying a Series record of four hits in one game held by three players. Trying for his fifth, he lined out in the eighth.

Still riding the crest of the wave that swept them past Brooklyn to the National League pennant in yesterday's dramatic thriller, Lee Durocher's Giants held command all the way.

Reynolds, a no-hit winner in his last start, yielded all five runs and eight hits before he retired after six innings. Seven walks helped keep him in constant trouble. Bobby Hogue and Tom Morgan averted further scoring.

Under cloudy skies that threatened rain, the game was finished under lights from the seventh inning on. It packed little of the drama of yesterday's play-off clincher.

The most stirring moments came in the first inning when the late arrivals were hunting for their seats.

With two out, Reynolds walked Hank Thompson, Ivan followed with a single and Lockman bounced a ground rules double into the lower left field seats, scoring Thompson.

Reynolds' second ball to Hogue, Ivan hit out for a home run to score without an attempt. It was the first steal of home in a Series since 1921 when two Yankees, Mike McNally and Bob Messel pulled the trick on the Giants.

Working along the way, due to his wildness, Reynolds escaped further damage until the sixth. Then again it struck with two out when Dark blasted a homer into the lower left field seats, scoring Westrum, who singled and Stanky who walked.

The Giants left 13 on base only one short of a Series record in the seventh but they failed to get at least one man on base. The Yanks left none there on the second when they had their big chance to get Koslo.

McDougal doubled to left with one out. When Thompson fumbled Coleman's single, McDougal scored on the error. Joe Collins forced Coleman, but Reynolds came through with a single and Alvey. Mantle walked to load the bases.

Rizzuto bounced to Lockman, who struck out.

It was Reynolds' first loss after three Series wins, and Koslo's first appearance in a Series.

The Giants ripped into Reynolds for two runs in the first inning after two were out. Hank Thompson walked and raced to third on Monte Ivan's single to right. Whitey Lockman's ground rules double that bounced into the left field seats scored Hank Thompson and moved Ivan to third.

While Reynolds was pitching a second straight ball to Bobby Thomson, yesterday's hero, Ivan stole home. Thomson walked but Ivan fled out to end it.

Ivan went to the wall to rob Hank Bauer's bid for a home run after Rizzuto had singled in the Yankee's scoreless half of the inning.

Ivan's steal of home was the seventh in series history. The last two times were by Mike McNally and Bob Messel for the Yanks against the Giants in 1921.

Reynolds handed out his third walk when he passed Westrum to open the Giant second. Koslo, trying to sacrifice, forced Westrum and Stanky into a fancy double play—McDougal to Coleman to Collins.

McDougal's double and Coleman's single that Hank Thompson fumbled for an error let the Yanks get one run back in the second. McDougal raced home from third while Thompson juggled Coleman's rap.

The crowd was about 70,000 as the clava swung into the third. It was still dark and gloomy but no rain had fallen.

Reynolds got himself in trouble with two out again. Ivan singled to right, Lockman walked and Thompson smashed a line single to left that loaded the bases. Mays hit a soft liner to Coleman to end the threat.

Koslo put the Yanks down in order in the third, retiring Bauer,

House Of Commons Ouits As Members Face Oct. Voting

LONDON, Oct. 4.—(AP) The House of Commons wound up its affairs today with traditional closing scenes, including a momentary rally in anger over the loss of the oil refinery at Abadan and shock at the news of a British vote and dollar advance.

The formal preparations to dissolve Parliament in advance for the Oct. 25 elections went off without a controversial hitch. The impartial speaker ruled that the House should not discuss the danger of complacency toward government. "Many of us don't take the price in (Continued On Page Six)

Accident Is Result Of Automobile Race

Two automobiles were damaged yesterday afternoon in what police described as a race southward on Elm Avenue. The race ended abruptly when one car, a 1942 Buick, stopped suddenly at Thirteenth Street and was hit from behind by a 1949 Chevrolet convertible.

The driver of the Buick, Horace Edwards, Negro laborer, started to flee from the scene of the accident, but was stopped and brought back by David Fatchel, a witness, said Police Chief Roy G. Williams.

Edwards was charged with careless and negligent driving and leaving the scene of an accident.

Eldar G. Orin, driver of the Chevrolet, was booked on a charge of driving while intoxicated, a fact confirmed, said Chief Williams, by a drunkometer test.

Damage to the Chevrolet was estimated at $950 and to the Buick at $75. No one was reported injured. The accident occurred at 3:58 P. M.

GM Drum Dies

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—(AP)—Funeral services for retired Lt. Gen. Hugh A. Drum, 72, who died yesterday of a heart ailment, will be held Saturday. A solemn requiem mass will be celebrated at St. Patrick's Cathedral by Francis Cardinal Spellman.

Burial will be in Arlington National Cemetery on Monday.

Yanks Couldn't Get Margin In Game 1

When they turned the lights on to start the seventh, Bobby Hogue, a chunky right-hander, came out to pitch to the Yanks.

Hogue retired the Giants 1-0-1. It was the first inning the Giants did not have a man on base.

Bobby Brown, pinch hitting for Hogue, fanned as the Yanks went down in order again. The third inning, since Collins singled with two out in the fourth.

Tom Morgan, another right-hander, was the third Yankee pitcher starting the eighth.

Official post-game attendance was 65,673.
